ELEVEN TEACHERS ADDED TO FACULTY

New Teachers to Replace Personnel Who Resigned
At Close of Last Year

Addition of several new teachers to the college faculty and replacement of personnel who resigned at the close of the past year have been announced by Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, president of The Stout Institute.

New head of the art department is Miss Martha Ruth Amon, assistant professor of art. Miss Amon holds her bachelor's and Master's degrees from the University of Wisconsin and has done further graduate work.

Miss Amon has taught in Austin, Minnesota; Wichita, Kansas; Franklin Park and Maywood, Illinois; Miami University; and the Chicago Art Institute. She replaces Mrs. Ruby Niebauer, who has resigned.

Miss Jean Ellen Diefenbach, who is a graduate of Kent State university and has done further work at the University of Wisconsin, has been added to the staff as instructor in clothing and textiles.

She has had experience in the teaching of foods and clothing in both the junior and senior high schools of Independence, Wisconsin, and was a member of the faculty of the Conneaut, Ohio, senior high school.

Assistant professor in home economics education will be Miss Marjory Elliott, who comes to Stout from Iowa, where she was employed by the state as a vocational teacher trainer in home economics. Miss Elliott is a graduate of the University of Missouri, from which she holds both a bachelor's and Master's degree.

Before accepting her position in Iowa, Miss Elliott taught in several high schools, supervised student teachers and home management at the University of Missouri, taught at NWMSTC, and was a supervisory teacher at the University of Hawaii.

A graduate of Gustavus Adolphus college is Mrs. Donald Fahrman, who replaces Miss June Miller as instructor of physical education. Mrs. Fahrman will assist Dean Keturah Antrim in teaching physical education to girls.

Charles U. Frailey has been appointed director of music, with the rank of assistant professor. Mr. Frailey has completed most of the requirements leading to the Ph.D. at the University of Wisconsin and was a critic teacher of music at Wisconsin University high school.

A captain in the army during World War II, Mr. Frailey has had vocal and instrumental teaching experience at Birchwood, Wisconsin, and Fairfield, Montana. He holds both a bachelor's and Master's degree from the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Frailey replaces Harold Cooke, who resigned to go to Rochester, Minn.

Assisting Miss Amon in the art department will be Miss Winifred Hinkley, instructor in art. Miss Hinkley holds a Master's degree from the University of Wisconsin. She will fill the position vacated by Mrs. Marjory Elliott.

PAPER INVITES NEW STUDENTS TO WORK

Fifty Staff Positions Open Including Activities Of Varied Nature

The Stoutonia extends a blanket invitation to all students to join the staff of the Stoutonia. The staff particularly invites new students in The Stout Institute.

There are 50 positions open in all the fields of activity. Miss Lanzer, who has taken the editorship of the Stoutonia, is planning a staff of 30 reporters in order to get a complete news coverage. Many positions as reporters are open. Other interesting jobs are available for proof readers, circulation workers, typists, head-writers, and copy readers.

Experience is desirable but not necessary. The editors feel that the necessary experience can be gained. Other advantages of working on the staff are in remuneration, as all jobs have wage scales, and participation in one of the greatest organizations on the campus.

FACULTY APPOINTED TO EXTRA-CUR POSTS

Appointment of several faculty members to direction of college activities has been announced by President Verne C. Fryklund. Herbert Anderson, instructor of woodworking, will be alumni secretary; David Barnard, instructor of visual aids, production director of the college annual; Thomas Fleming, instructor of English, advisor of the college newspaper; Howard Hoving, instructor of English, literary adviser of the annual; and Tony Storti, head football coach, resident head of Lynwood Hall.

DEAN BOWMAN ACTS AS JUDGE IN SCHOOL FAIR

Annual National Competition For High School Students
Held This Fall at Chicago

Member of a group of nationally known experts, Clyde A. Bowman, dean of the Stout division of industrial arts, served on the judging team for wood and plastics, in the annual Scholastic Industrial Arts Awards, conducted by Scholastic magazine.

The Industrial Arts Awards program stimulates improved student work in industrial arts and trade and industrial courses in both public and parochial schools. Each year students send their best class work to Chicago where it is judged by teams of experts, and the winning pieces are exhibited in a national Fair held in the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry. It is the only competition of its kind in the United States. The event has been approved by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, and it is sponsored by such leading industrial concerns as the Aluminum Company of America, Delta Manufacturing Division, Lafayette-Concord, and American Technical Society.

The Fair is taking place this year from August 21 through October 15. There is no entry fee or other charge to the student.

FROSH EXAMS TO BE HELD NEXT FRIDAY

Next Friday, September 16, is the day set for the freshmen examinations. All freshmen, transfer students, and upper classmen who have not taken these examinations are to report to room 411 in the HE building at 8:45 A.M. These examinations will last throughout the entire day, ending at 3 P.M. Students taking the examinations will be excused from all conflicting classes. Freshmen are automatically from all classes on Friday, Sept. 16, to take these examinations. All other students are to make arrangements with their respective instructors in advance.

The three tests given each year include The American Council Psychological Examination, a reading test, and a high school achievement test. The psychological test is given for the purpose of giving the faculty and the students insight into the native (Continued on page 2)

BIG-LITTLE SISTER TEA IS FIRST OF THE YEAR

The Big-Little Sister tea sponsored by the YWCA of Stout will be held Sunday afternoon in the Harvey Memorial from two to four o'clock in the afternoon. Upperclass women acting as "big sisters" will escort the new women to the tea.

An informal atmosphere of the tea will provide background for the social gathering of old and new students. Tea, cookies, nuts, and mints will be served from a central table. General chairman of the event is Eileen Deetz who is assisted by Mary Lou Groom, Shirley Cox, Jean Winsor, Jean Bulmer, Betty Severson, Elva Lovett, Pat Jones, and Elaine Johnson.

To Stout Hearted Students and Faculty

PRESIDENT FRYKLUND GREETES STUDENTS

As president of the college, I welcome you—those of you to whom Stout has become a familiar place and those of you coming to our campus for the first time, either as learners or teachers.

I welcome you both together because at Stout, students and faculty work together, seek together, learn together in a cooperative educational enterprise which is richly rewarding to both. Each group possesses inalienable rights which all of us respect; each group assumes accompanying responsibilities which all of us are confident will be discharged honorably.

Stout has long been known as a college of progress, and this year certainly will be worthy of that tradition. Numerous skilled teachers have been added to our faculty, the most modern laboratories and kitchens have been completed in the home economics division, the program of redecorating has been extended to the corridors, progress on the street-closing project has been made. And the new library, long-awaited dream of students and faculty, is assured.

But in a brief message of welcome I could not possibly describe the advantages of The Stout Institute. I can but invite you to inspect in many exceptional facilities, to become acquainted with your partners in this educational endeavor, to make a respected place for yourself in the community.

We have before us, as learners and teachers, the inestimably valuable treasure of a college year. I welcome you to share in it to the utmost, asking only that our endeavors be worthy of the struggle and sacrifice by which mankind has made such an opportunity possible.

Stoutonia Staff

First meeting of the newspaper staff will be held Tuesday, 5 p.m., in the Stoutonia office at the printshop in the IE building. All persons interested in writing, copyreading, editing, typing, and related work are invited to attend the meeting. Work will be started on the second issue of September 16.

HEALTH IS FINE ACCORDING TO PRESIDENT

Although he underwent major surgery at the Mayo clinic in June, Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, president of Stout, has completely recuperated and is back in his office as usual.

Anyone observing President Fryklund, busy with activities accompanying the opening of the college year, would not suspect that he had recently been treated at the world-famous clinic. However, for any who doubt the story of his operation, Dr. Fryklund has "evidence" readily available.

WILLIAM BAKER PASSES AWAY DURING SUMMER

Head of Print Shop Known Nationally for Training
Printing Instructors

Loss of William R. Baker, head of the Stout Institute department of graphic arts and professor of industrial education, shocked and saddened both the college and the alumni when he died June 6, in Miller hospital, St. Paul, Minnesota, after a brief illness.

The esteem in which Mr. Baker was held by college and community was evidenced by the throngs attending funeral services held June 9, at Centenary Methodist church, the Reverend Ralph M. Reece officiating. Floral tributes from college organizations, technical associations of which Mr. Baker was a member, and friends banked the front of the church and furnished a background for Masonic graveside services in Evergreen cemetery.

The man who for so long was the symbol of the Stout Institute print shop and to Stout graduates the world over was affectionately known as "Bill" was born in Rockford, Illinois, and was a graduate of De Kalb. Graduate of Stout

Mr. Baker received his Bachelor of Science degree at The Stout Institute in 1925. He did further technical study at Illinois State Normal university and the University of Southern California before obtaining his Master's degree at the University of Minnesota in 1936.

Before joining the Stout faculty in 1933, Mr. Baker was manual training instructor in the high school of Fairbury, Illinois, El Paso, Texas, and Rockford, Illinois. He was printing instructor in Sioux City, Iowa, and Waukegan, Illinois.

He had been a member of the Methodist church for many years and at the time of his death was active in the congregation of the Menomonee Centenary Methodist church. Mr. Baker was Past Worshipful Master of the Menomonee chapter for two years.

Mr. Baker is survived by his wife, Mona, his mother, Mrs. Lena L. Baker; two daughters, Virginia B. May, Tulsa, Oklahoma, and Nancy Ann, at home; and two grandchildren, Michael and Martha Jan May.

Perhaps the greatest testimonials to Mr. Baker's competence as teacher and technical expert may be seen in his development of the Stout graphic arts department and in the graphic arts positions of national importance which he held. He was widely known in vocational and educational circles, both state and national, especially for his leadership in the training of printing instructors.

Leader in Alumni Groups

But it was from his beloved Stout Institute Alumni association that "Bill" Baker obtained his greatest pleasure. He was organizer and leader of that association, and for many years its national secretary. He cheerfully handled the heavy correspondence of that position, thus keeping in close touch with Stout alumni throughout the world.

In whatever he undertook, William R. Baker was an expert. As a teacher, technician, chef, stamp collector, alumni secretary his enthusiasm was boundless, his touch sure.

STUDENTS WELCOME CHURCH NITE

Enjoy An Evening of Fun,
Frolic and Refreshments

In keeping with the tradition of Freshman week at Stout, the various churches of Menomonee will hold annual receptions tonight September 9.

All of the parties will be based on the theme "get acquainted". Games, singing, and refreshments will make up the majority of the programs which are to begin at eight o'clock at the respective places.

Congo club will meet at the First Congregational church at 5th avenue and Wilson. Square dancing led by members of the Docey Do club will be featured. "—So dress informally," urges Wally Bondus, Congo president.

Wesley League of the Methodist church, located at Sixth and Wilson, will meet in the church basement. Lorton Layman, president of Wesley, has planned a full evening of entertainment.

Newman club, Catholic student organization at Stout, has planned a program to be held at the parish school located behind the Catholic church on Ninth and Wilson.

A social gathering of LSA students at Our Savior's Lutheran church, located at Ninth street and Tenth avenue, will be held. Emery Nelson, LSA president, cordially invites everyone and his friends to attend.

St. Paul Lutheran church is holding a reception for students at the parish hall. The church is located at Ninth street and Eleventh avenue.

Grace Episcopal church will hold a Stout student night at the rectory,

OUR AIMS

This is the beginning of a new school year at Stout and a new life for freshman and transfer students. To all, both new and returning students, the Stoutonia wishes to extend heartiest wishes for a successful school year.

To give you all an idea of what to expect these coming nine months, the college paper has formulated the following platform:

First and foremost, the paper is, as stated on the masthead, "more than just a newspaper—It is an educational experiment—written to inform, enlighten, and to give its staff members experience that conforms to good journalistic principles and practice." The Stoutonia hopes, during the year, to reflect the true spirit of the school and its activities and to print material of interest to both students and alumni of the Institute.

The school paper will put on various campaigns during the year which will be announced later. These will be for the betterment of the school and for the benefit of the students. The staff hopes that the students will support this large undertaking of making Stout a school to be proud of.

The Stoutonia will be working throughout the year in cooperation with the Stout Student association on various projects including increased student interest in school activities, unification of the student body in social doings as well as school work, better student representation and more interest in student affairs through the local student government and the National Student association which Stout recently joined. Of course a successful Homecoming in the fall is understood in the aims for the year.

SEND ADDRESSES OF '49 GRADS TO ALUMNI SEC'Y

Help is requested by the mailing department of the Stout Alumni association to complete the Stoutonia mailing lists for the coming year. Addresses are needed for graduates of January and June, 1949. Lists of placements are not yet available for the men and women of the '49 graduating class. The alumni mailing lists, therefore, will not be complete unless the graduates or persons knowing of their whereabouts will inform, via postal card, Herb Anderson, national Secretary and Treasurer of the Alumni Association, The Stout Institute, Menomonie, Wisconsin.

"If the Stoutonia is not received by persons with paid subscriptions, the reason is that no address is available. We need the help of everyone to correct this," emphasizes Mr. Anderson.

ability to learn of each testee. The L score describes the ability of the student to interpret what he reads. The Q score is a measure of ability to do quantitative thinking. The reading test measures four different things, total reading ability, vocabulary, speed in reading and level of interpretation. The high school test checks on the validity of high school marks.

The record of these examinations goes to the president's office, the offices of the deans and the registrar and the psychology department. Examinations are used by the faculty in the interest of the students welfare. Results will never be used in a negative way, but rather to assist the students in personal adjustment and course selection.

Students who take these examinations need to have no fear of the results. All students taking the tests are already enrolled in the Stout Institute and will remain here as long as they make good marks in their college courses, emphasized Dr. Oetting, head of the psychology department.

REPORTS PLANS FROM LYCEUM COMMITTEE

Program This Year Will Include The Ebonaires and Harry Scott

At a recent meeting of the lyceum committee, the program for the 1949-1950 was announced. The dates will be published at another time when final plans are completed.

A preview of the list includes "The Ebonaires," a negro quartet, and Harry L. Scott, pianist and humorist in a program of his own compositions. The followers of Alec Templeton music and varieties will be looking forward to this. Also on the list a complete play of three acts, "The Hasty Hearts", performed by the Theatre Guild Company direct from Broadway of New York, and two colored full length movies.

The committee pointed out also that people at these programs often request certain numbers. It was mentioned that all programs are made out in advance of the tours and cannot be changed. The Lyceum committee has nothing to say as to the number or type of selections to be performed by the artists.

MESSAGE FROM ALUMNI SEC'Y TO BE PRINTED IN NEXT ISSUE

In an open letter, the new national secretary and treasurer of the Stout Alumni association will formally greet the alumni and other Stoutonia readers next issue.

SSA MESSAGE

With registration completed and another school year under way, the all-school mixer tomorrow night at the armory will close a week of juggling schedules, waiting in lines, and greeting old as well as new friends. Together with registration headaches, the week has ushered in the first real Freshmen Week scheduled at Stout. Although it probably hasn't been the most active week, it is a start toward a week of smooth functioning events and social activities that will greet the freshmen in years to come.

The possibility of a Freshmen Week at Stout was conceived by the SSA officers late last spring. It was the belief of the officers that a definite schedule of social activities should be presented the freshmen to help them become better acquainted with Stout, as well as with each other. Although little time remained in the school year, committees were appointed and a tentative schedule of events drawn up. With the cooperation of the student governing board, campus organizations, and many upper classmen, this idea was crystallized into the activities of the past week.

The SSA officers wish to thank all students and organizations who have given their time to make Freshmen Week the success that it has been. Continued cooperation between the student governing board and the student body will insure an eventful year of social activities and student representation in college affairs.

In closing, we wish to greet the student body of Stout and assure them that we will do our utmost to represent the students, guided by their likes and dislikes.

PROGRAMS FOR ASSEMBLIES ANNOUNCED

Committee Describes Talent Scheduled To Appear This Year

Coming assembly numbers for the school year of 1949-1950 were announced by the committee. Speakers, musicians, and other talent will appear on the Stout stage for the varied programs.

One of the outstanding programs will be Sigurd Rascher, a saxophonist. Mr. Rascher is a young professor from the Royal Conservatory of Denmark. He has played with the Boston Symphony orchestra, the New York Philharmonic orchestra, the Washington National symphony, as well as many others. Mr. Rascher has given concerts all over the world. Sir Henry Wood, conductor at Queens hall in London says, "Sigurd Rascher, one of the most astonishing instrumentalists of the day, was heard by the largest audience ever to be assembled at Queens hall." Mr. Rascher shall conduct a woodwind clinic after his convocation appearance.

Another special musical convocation will be Louis Kaufman, violinist, who will be on the campus for two days giving two formal concerts. He comes to Stout from the Association of American colleges under a plan similar to the one which brought artist Grant Reynard to Stout last fall.

Because the program of Young Wisconsin Artists proved so popular this year, plans are being made to repeat a similar program.

Five of the assembly programs will be speakers from the University of Minnesota convocations as have appeared in the past. This next year they will include a series on "Democratic Goals." Martin Hall will speak on "Democratic Goals for Europe," Subodh Chandra Roy on "India," Robert Bradford on "Tolerance and Freedom," and Charles Emerson Boddie, a Negro, on "Christianity and Freedom."

The assemblies will include two illustrated lectures with colored movies. Ava Hamilton, widely known woman explorer, will show a new film of Guatemala called "Land of the Mayas." Clifford Kamen, dynamic young journalist and traveler, will show his new film of "Italy."

The program also includes Bob Gordon the cartoonist, and Dr. Mark Graubard, scientist.

NEW FACULTY ...

Head of the newly-created speech department and an associate professor is Edward Palzer, who is nearing his Doctor's degree at the University of Denver. A graduate of St. John's university, Collegeville, Minnesota, and holder of an M.A. from the University of Minnesota, he has worked in communication and served in the AAF in World War II.

He has taught in high schools in Grand Rapids and Malad City, Michigan, and was an instructor in basic communication at the University of Denver. He has done work in play production and nation-wide radio broadcasting. Mr. Palzer replaces Dr. Marceline Erickson, who has joined the faculty of Mankato Teachers college.

C. Harrison Farmer replaces Melvin Sutker and holds an assistant professorship in sociology. He is a graduate of State Teachers college, Millersville, Pa., and Pennsylvania State college. He has completed his course work toward the Ph.D.

Mr. Farmer has taught at Pennsylvania State college, was head of the department of social science at Manheim Township high school, and taught social science and mathematics at Salsburg Township high school. He served in the Medical corps from 1943-45.

An additional appointment to the faculty is that of E. J. Rawson, assistant professor and teacher of auto mechanics. Mr. Rawson, holder of a bachelor's degree from Peru, Nebraska, State Teachers college and a Master's degree from Colorado A and M, is working on his doctorate at Pennsylvania State college.

In addition to possessing extensive trade experience, Mr. Rawson was head of the department of industrial arts at North Montana college before coming to Stout. He has had additional experience teaching manual arts in Preston, Iowa; Kansas City, Missouri; and Peru State Teachers college.

Another addition to the faculty is Mathew Reneson, who will be an instructor on the industrial ed. faculty. Mr. Reneson holds a bachelor's degree from Fitchburg Teachers college, Fitchburg, Massachusetts, and his Master's degree from the University of Minnesota.

He has had extensive trade experience as a tool and die maker and has also taught in Chicopee, Massachusetts, Trade high school. He served from 1944-46 with the U. S. Naval forces at Bremerton Naval Shipyard.

Norman C. Ziemann will fill a new faculty position as instructor in speech. A graduate of LaCrosse State Teachers college, Mrs. Ziemann has had experience in Antigo and Superior Central high schools where he taught and also supervised practice teachers. He holds the M.A. degree from Northwestern university.

An addition to the administrative staff of the college is Earl L. Conley, who will assist Mr. Schoepf in the business office. Mr. Conley was formerly a resident of Oshkosh and began work at Stout on August 29.

SOCIAL LIFE BEGINS WITH SCHOOL MIXER

Leading off the social activities for this year is the Stout Student Association which is sponsoring the All-School Mixer to be held at the Armory on Saturday, September 10, beginning at eight thirty. Admittance to this all-school function is possible with the SSA card. The Royal Blackhaws will furnish the music for the evening's entertainment.

In past years this all-school mixer has been a very successful event for all who were in attendance. The SSA cordially invites all to attend.

FACULTY ENJOY PARTY WHERE OLD MEETS NEW

Using a decorative theme of "Around the World" in harmony with the travels of many Stout Institute faculty member during the summer, the annual reunion of faculty members and introduction of new faculty persons was held last evening at Tainter Annex. Co-chairman of the event were Mrs. Philip W. Ruehl and Mrs.

Eric R. Oetting.

Guests enjoyed a dinner of roast pork loin, dressing, and "all the fixings" including pie ala mode. After the meal, President Verne C. Fryklund introduced the new faculty members and gave a brief background of each. As chairman of the entertainment committee, Mr. Soderberg and Mr. Betterley directed faculty members in harmony and humor. The evening was concluded with games.

CONFERENCE TEAMS IMPROVED

BLUEDEVILS MEET SAME TEAMS AS LAST YEAR

Nineteen Lettermen Return As Squad Prepares For Practice

"An improved Stout team playing teams which have all improved since last season" is Coach Tony Storti's forecast of the 1949-50 football season for which his Blue Devils began practice September 1.

"We play the same conference teams that we met last year," Coach Storti says, "and they have retained practically all of their lettermen because most G.I. stars won't be graduating until January or June."

Squad Works Hard
Working the squad in intensive two-a-day practices until regular classes get underway, Storti has 19 letter winners in his squad from which to fashion his current edition of the "Wing-T" formation that he introduced at Stout last year.

Storti has been using doses of signal drill, dummy work, and blocking and tackling practice to sharpen up the squad on fundamentals. Practically the same forward wall as last year's is available, but the backfield must provide versatility in running and passing if the "Wing-T" is to show offensive power.

Injuries to Stilp, Pedersen

A serious blow to that necessary backfield speed and poise is loss of Tom Stilp, speedy Neenah halfback, who broke a kneecap in a sandlot workout and will be lost for the entire season. Also missing will be Dick Pedersen, who showed great promise as an end in last year's campaign.

Assisting head football coach Storti, beginning his second year with the Blue Devils, will be Wally Hammerberg, line coach, Lyle Johansen, assistant line coach, and Arnie Potthast, backfield coach.

Letterman reporting for practice include: Hilary Janikowski, Jim Ooley, Don Rhead, Will Malone, John Debrauske, Vaughan Stai, Russ Pollock, Bob Simon, Harter Peterson, Karl Turk, Milo Anderson, Darwin Serra, Ruel Fleming, Gale Woelffer, Bob Young, Fritz Wentorf.

V. A. REMINDS VETERANS OF BENEFITS DATES

There are a number of important deadline dates on G-I Bill benefits which World War II veterans should keep in mind. Veterans Administration officials point out. Although none of these are in the immediate offing, they are listed for the veteran's information.

Education and Training

G-I education and training benefits have two deadlines, one to enter training and another to complete training. Education or training must be started within four years after discharge or by July 25, 1951, whichever is later.

As a general rule, education or training must be completed not later than July 25, 1956. The exceptions from the general rule are veterans who enlisted or reenlisted before October 6, 1946. These men figure deadlines on G-I Bill benefits from that date of their discharges and may start and complete their training later than other veterans.

G-I Loans

Veterans may apply for guaranteed or insurance G-I Loans for the use of buying or building homes, farms or business up until July 25, 1957.

G-I Insurance

Although the deadline for reinstating lapsed G-I Insurance under the easy reinstatement terms is passed (July 31, 1948) that does not mean that veterans with lapsed term insurance cannot reinstate. Lapsed National Service Life Insurance term policies can be reinstated any time before the expiration of the term. If they have lapsed more than three months a physical examination is required.

No Deadline on Hospitalization

There is no deadline on the time a veteran has to apply for medical care or hospitalization. He may do this any time during his life. The same holds true for filing a claim for disability compensation or pension.

Readjustment Allowances

Veterans who were discharged on or before July 25, 1947, can apply for readjustment allowances up to July 25, 1949.

COVEY'S CORNER

The start of school, the approach of fall, and the aroma of liniment in the locker room means the approach of football to the sports fans at Stout.

The prospects for Storti's Blue Devils look good, with the return of most of the old timers and a sharp-looking crop of freshman to bolster the squad. In the backfield, at quarterback, Gale Woelffer has returned for another great passing season and Russ Pollock has been shifted from end to assist Gale. Harter Peterson is back for his third season at fullback, but Hoblich giving him rough competition for this position. Returning halfbacks are Hilary Janikowski, Ruel Fleming, and Krall. Freshman backs are Red Walker, Durand; Louis Lausted, Colfax; Bill Thorpe, Stanley; Bill Kieffer, Hastings, Minn.; Noel Matter, Hurley; John Jacobson, Glenwood City; and Vern Christianson, Hudson.

Pushing the old boys in all positions are Dom Cataldi, Newark, Del.; Herb Markel, end; Bruce Arspamer, end; Hurley; Arlys Everson, tackle, Mondovi; Gregory Spears, guard, Bruce; Clarence Dulek, guard, Thorpe; Dale Dgerness, center, transfer from Eveleth Jr. College; and Tiny Norman, Superior, who is back in the line again this year.

All this adds up to a promising football season for coach Storti, who is starting his second year as the grid mentor at Stout Institute.

Coach Storti is especially anxious that anybody in school interested in football come out for practice. Competition for positions will be wide open for freshman and upper classmen alike.

THINGS COULD BE VERSE

"The boy settled down on his elbow, picked up the phone and after the usual wait heard "Number, please?"

"Look, operator," he explained, "just give me any number. I'm looking for a date. Any number will do."

Always complying and never questioning, the operator did as he asked. The phone buzzed and soon a female voice helloed from the other end.

The lad explained his mission, how it had been accomplished and would she go out with him to the movie?

The voice at Elchelberger answered quickly, "I'm the housemother."

COACHES OUTLINE YEAR IN LIONS MEETING

As guests of the Menomonie Lions Club, three members of the coaching staff of the Stout Institute were speakers at a Lions meeting Wednesday evening, at the Menomonie Country club. Coaches outlining prospects for the coming grid campaign were Mr. Storti, head football coach, Wally Hammerberg, head line coach, and Arnie Potthast, head backfield coach.

Coach Storti gave the Lions club a composite of the strengths and weaknesses of his ball club and closed his talk with a discussion of the facilities at Nelson field, which Lion members have helped in developing. After introductions by Mr. Storti, Hammerberg spoke briefly on the Stout forward wall and Potthast on the Blue Devils' backfield.

SYMPHONICS ELECT NEW OFFICERS AT LAST CONCERT IN MAY

New officers for the Stout Symphonic Singers and the Stout orchestra were elected before the last concert held in May. Big plans for the coming year will occupy the new officers.

Ralph Myhrman was chosen as the new SSS president. Grace Watson was unanimously selected vice-president. Barbara Lovering as the new secretary will contact the SSS alumni and make all of the necessary arrangements for the alumni tour. One of the most responsible jobs in the organization went to Alice Mott as the treasurer.

New orchestra officers include new president Bob Braun, vice president Dave Johnson, and secretary-treasurer Pat Krause.

HOME COMING PLAY TRYOUTS TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

Tryouts for the homecoming play this year will be held in the auditorium next week Monday and Tuesday, September 19 and 20, at 7:00 p.m. Work is being started early this year on the play because time is short before homecoming, October 15.

The Manual Arts Players chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity on the Stout campus, invites all interested students to participate in acting and stage work. Mr. Norman C. Ziemann, the new adviser, promises an interesting and eventful year. "Let's see all of you out there working towards membership in MAP," he urges.

KFS FRATERNITY GIVES "KNIGHT FOR SWING"

KFS fraternity is sponsoring the all-school dance, "Knight For Swing," Saturday, September 17, in the Stout gymnasium. The Royal Blackhaws will furnish music for dancing from 8:30 until 11:30 p.m. According to members of the fraternity, a great deal of entertainment has been lined up for the floor show and this alone will be worth the price of admission.

Fraternity president Merlin Moore stated that various committee members are working hard to make the dance a success. Admission is 45 cents per person and 75 cents per couple.

FRESHMEN WEEK OPENS YEAR OF EVENTS

SSA Organizes Activities For Busy Days During First Week

The first Freshmen Week at Stout especially organized for the benefit of new students was successfully completed Sunday afternoon with a Big-Little Sister tea. The SSA office organized the events of the week last spring to fill in otherwise dull moments between registration and classes.

Following freshmen registration on Tuesday, September 6, women attended a dorm party while men attended a "smoker" in the gym. As registration for matriculated students was conducted on Wednesday, freshmen attended a special convocation.

A "Sports Spree" was sponsored by the Women's Athletic association and the "S" club in the afternoon. Facilities of the PE building were available for use. In the evening freshmen and transfer students "saw the town" with members of the Alpha Phi Omega, who organized treasure hunts.

As registration was completed Thursday, tours of the buildings were conducted by upperclassmen. Students were stationed in the various labs and shops to explain the classes held therein. Following a freshmen-transfer-senior picnic at Wakanda park, home economics students attended the annual corridor dance sponsored by the HE club of Stout.

On Friday, classes convened for all students. Convocation was held in the morning for all students and faculty. After welcoming the groups, President Verne C. Fryklund introduced Clyde A. Bowman, dean of Industrial Education, Mr. Ray Wigen, director of graduate studies, Keturah Antrim, dean of women and Merle M. Price, dean of men. Warren Phillips, Stout Student association president, greeted the students.

Church night, sponsored by the local churches of Menomonie, was well attended by Stout students on Friday evening.

An all-school mixer party was held in the armory Saturday night to accommodate the large group of students. The Big-Little Sister tea sponsored by the YWCA brought the first Freshmen Week to an end on Sunday afternoon.

ADDED TO STAFF AS SUPERVISOR

New part-time member of the home economics education department is Miss Cecelia Zine, supervisor of student teachers. Miss Zine will also assist in the Stout nursery school. She has done graduate work for the past three summers at Stout and hopes to complete her Master's degree this year. Miss Zine is also the house-mother of Eichelberger hall.

Miss Zine graduated from Wayne university in Detroit. She previously taught at Enderlin, North Dakota. When there she was supervisor of student teachers for the North Dakota State college.

SSA MESSAGE

Fellow Students,

The school year is well under way. If the beginning is any indication, this promises to be an extremely successful social year as well.

Organizations on the campus have applied for calendar dates in order that they might cooperate with the SSA in sponsoring various activities throughout the year. Formal dances, old and new time dances, and novelty dances have been scheduled.

The SSA officers want to arrange a varied and interesting schedule for the year. New types of entertainment, other than dances, that will please the majority of the students are being sought to fill in the remainder of the social calendar. The SSA officers will appreciate all suggestions.

NEW BLEACHERS AT NELSON FIELD

New Seating Facilities

"For the first time in the all-sports program of The Stout Institute and Menomonie high school there will be adequate seating for all football fans in Menomonie and vicinity" is the announcement made by Ray C. Johnson, athletic director of the college.

The athletic director's statement is based on the 846 new bleacher seats which have just been erected on the east side of Nelson field. The new bleachers increase the seating capacity to 2106.

Plans call for seating all students, student wives, guests of the college, faculty, and the college band on the west side of the field in the SSA reserved section. Two sections of general admission seats will also be available on that side.

The east side of the field will provide 400 reserved seats in the center section and additional general admission seats on either end.

To direct fans to their seats, 2'x5' signs are being made for every section. A master sign post is also being erected as a guide, thus giving spectators more freedom than ever before in locating their seats.

The new bleachers represent the final step in the improvements at Nelson field. The work included moving the old gridiron, constructing a new crown field, erecting cement retaining walls, and improving seating arrangements.

"The excellent football facilities which we now have for the public are a tribute to the splendid cooperation of Menomonie citizens and businessmen in response to requests from the citizens' committee in charge of the project," Director Johnson reports. "We are proud of our field and believe that the whole community will be too when they see it."

FIRST SCHOOL DANCE BY SSA IS SUCCESS

The success of the all-school mixer sponsored by the SSA can not be summed up in words, but in the enjoyment which everyone had who attended. The dance will remain in the minds of students as an evening of fine music and as a social success.

quired courses at Trick Brothers National Accordion institute, and by the time he left to serve in the army he was showing the brilliance of a fine concert artist. Mr. Deichert has also studied and plays the organ and many orchestral reed instruments. He has arranged and composed for orchestras; he possesses perfect pitch, and even as a youngster he showed tendency of purpose in his practice. He entered the army on his nineteenth birthday, where for three years he served in the United States infantry. During this time he carried his accordion with him, spending twelve months overseas.

Since being discharged from the Army, Mr. Deichert has been associated with Trick Brothers National Accordion institute as assistant of music. During this time he has played numerous concerts throughout the country, plus arranging and composing for the Accordion.

SCOUTING FRAT CONDUCTS TOUR OF TOWN

New Students Shown Places Of Interest Concerning Stout and The City

Alpha Phi Omega, scouting fraternity of Stout Institute, has started out the year by conducting a tour of the town for freshmen and transfer students. Gordon Wasinger and George Kinsler directed the more than 150 students.

The students were divided into groups and guided to the various places of interest in Menomonie. An APO representative was stationed at each place to direct the group to another location. Places of interest which the group saw were Nelson field, court house, infirmary, city hall, police station, post office, bus terminal and the Soo Line railroad station. The tour ended at Riverside park where the group enjoyed doughnuts and coffee. John Lurquin led the students in singing.

In charge of the food committee was Otto Carlson, with Gerald Greischar, Donald Bauer, and Lee Bedsted assisting him. APO men stationed at various posts were Les Duenk, Marvin Halverson, Jim Gehrke, Russ Gerber, Virgil Halverson, Norman Lenius, John Lurquin and Herb Watanabe.

Alpha Phi Omega, the youngest fraternity on the campus, is interested in promoting scouting activities and service for the school and community. APO plans to promote many more service projects this year.

Miss O'Brien, Registrar, Releases Record of 962 Students at Institute

Enrollment of 962 students, largest in the history of The Stout Institute, was revealed in this week's early registration figures made available by Miss Gertrude M. O'Brien, college registrar. Of this total, 633 are men, 329 are women.

Late registrations may eventually bring the total enrollment to 5% over that of last year's record 930. Veteran enrollment will be only slightly under the 458 figure for last year, a decrease caused by a high percentage of non-veteran freshmen.

The freshmen class, especially in the enrollment of women, represents a substantial gain over last year's beginning group. The fact that more freshmen women are enrolled than ever before in the history of the college is attributed by college authorities to the strong demand for home economics graduates.

According to the college administration, even a greater number of girls can be accepted in home economics, especially in home economics education, where they would be helpful in meeting the very heavy demand for Stout graduates. Exceptional placement opportunities are readily available for women qualified in this field.

FURROW QUEEN SELECTED BY DEAN KIRK

Miss Alice J. Kirk on Panel Which Picked "Wisconsin's Queen of the Furrow"

Being privileged to act as judge in the selection of Northwestern Wisconsin's "Queen of the Furrow," was the honor accorded Dean Alice J. Kirk, in Eau Claire, Friday, September 9.

The event, won by Miss Esther Ann Ausman of Chippewa Falls, was sponsored by the United States Soil Conservation department, the Eau Claire Chamber of Commerce, and the Eau Claire Retail Merchants association.

Working with Dean Kirk as interviewers were Virginia Stafford, Minneapolis newspaper columnist, and the Rev. Maurice Haehlin, pastor of the Eau Claire Congregational church. The fourteen candidates were judged during personal interviews on the basis of knowledge of farm life and work, talent, beauty, and personality and poise.

As queen, Miss Ausman won 150 dollars in savings bonds, a silver loving cup, and a trip to Des Moines to compete in a similar national event. Included in the event was a contour plowing contest, sponsored by the Soil Conservation department, to encourage better farming methods. After the cavalcade of queens drove through Eau Claire, Dean Kirk and the other judges addressed 10,000 persons gathered for the Soil Conservation demonstration.

Purpose of the "Queen of the Furrow" competition is to recognize the contribution of women to modern rural life and to honor the Northwest's outstanding young lady born and raised in a rural community.

COMMENTS ON BLEACHERS MADE BY PRESIDENT

"Another example of the excellent spirit of cooperation between the community and The Stout Institute" is President Verne C. Fryklund's reaction to the new bleachers which the Menomonie Citizens' committee have erected on the east side of Nelson field.

According to Dr. Fryklund, the new seating will allow more persons to enjoy football games in comfort. The bleachers chosen are of a very fine type and will eventually be set upon concrete footings.

"I want all members of the Citizens' committee, Menomonie businessmen, and the entire community to know just how much all of us at Stout appreciate their efforts in making these improvements possible," said Dr. Fryklund.

PAUSE A MOMENT

It's good to see everyone again for the new school year. But before going too far into this year, how about pausing a moment and thinking "What do I want to gain from college?" A college education with the degree is probably foremost in your mind now, but lots of people who start college never receive that coveted degree. Many other students attend for one semester or one year or two years. Perhaps, however, they receive benefits from their college experience which mean as much to them in later life as the sought-after degree. One might list just a few of the by-products of education as development of initiative, perseverance, patience, industry; friends and friendships; ability to think clearly, and "to take it on the chin."

So if we see you at Stout for one semester or four years, we hope that college has meant more to you than merely attending classes and studying, and parties. We hope Stout has helped to make you a better person.

EXTRA CURRICS

Extra curricular activities are vital to a well-balanced college program. However, they must be properly evaluated, and not rated above classes and homework.

In other words, students must use discretion in their selection of activities. It is far better to join one or two organizations and be loyal there, than to join everything and support nothing. And certainly it is wise to select activities which best suit one's interests, needs, and abilities.

On the other hand, it is unwise to abstain entirely from extra curricular functions. "Book wormishness" usually results in a lop-sided personality, and lop-sided personalities do not, as a rule, go very far in the world.

So, new students, select your activities wisely, and do not forget that social activities, although secondary to "book learning," in our case are, nevertheless, necessary to the development of a well-rounded personality.

GISMO SAYS--

WELCOME BACK

Hello, gang! Well, I just hope you all had a very pleasant summer along with us who did. I want to say a special hello to the new class of freshmen that has found its way here to Stout. We do a lot of griping here as they do all over now, but along with everything this is a pretty nice place, as you will soon find out.

For those of you peasants who happen to think you know who I am, I will say Gismo has found a new home this year. I will try to carry on in the true Gismo form. But you must remember that good jokes are hard to find and those that are good usually can't be printed.

Goodness, I walked around the campus this week and we certainly are honored with a choice selection of the female branch this year. And true to the "Stout hearted men call," the males are out there trying their best to be known amongst them—some have already had success and then there are those of us who haven't. It was great to see the fellows and girls dancing the other night instead of being in stag lines. Keep it up; that's what makes for a good time.

For those who received a ball and chain this past summer, Glen Brodin and Ted Hiens have a few words for the wise.

It takes nature years to make a man, and it only takes a woman a few minutes to make a monkey out of him.

A wedding is a public announcement of a private intention.

STOUT AUDITORIUM

MONDAY & TUESDAY NIGHTS

7:00 P.M.

I saw a few of the old faces around the campus this week. Tiny Norman is back practicing football with the team. Don Braem is back with his spouse and bewildering offspring. Bob Young has another addition to his family also.

Quite a few students got married this summer. Bob Manson is one of the lucky ones. Bob's wife is the former Betty Miller, a Stout student of years past. Some of the other Stout students who took the vows during the summer were Gloria Clay and John Kuula; Ardelle Knutson and Warren Fish; Helen Halstead and Tom Blissett; Mary Piper and Bernard "Bud" Breitzman; and Virginia Johnson and Bob Grundsted. Vernon Reseland also took a spouse.

I noticed three of last year's couples prancing about the campus these past few days. Lois Jensen and Bob Solberg were seen walking in the rain, oblivious of all going on around them. Charles Jorgensen and Rowena Christen were seen in the union having a more than friendly chat. Bette Rasmussen and Bob Hendrickson are already walking the streets at twilight. They are last year's prom queen and king.

Then we have to mention some of the oddities around the campus this fall. Lee Flanders returned to Stout with a 1928 Whippet. Get the women and children off the streets! I wonder if he is going to teach driver's training in his own car this year? Nights maybe? I overheard Ross Slater and Dave Randall talking over the interesting jobs they had this summer. Ross and Dave worked in the stockyards in St. Paul. Roland Kickbush went to Alaska to do a little construction work. It is said he was building igloos for the Eskimos out of ice cubes. He is the first man to sell refrigerators to the Eskimos. Bob Houghton and Dave Hartzell worked for the park recreation departments in their home towns. Clarence "Clancey" Urankar was a shovel operator this summer. Hand shovel that is. That gives us a good picture of what was being done over vacation. Oh, yes, Roger Randall must not be forgotten. He grew the nicest handlebar mustache over the summer. I see he has now shaved it off, so all the girls are out of luck.

I just happened to be at the all-school mixer last Saturday night when Stanley "Red" Kendall sauntered in with Phyllis Bartosic. They were a nice couple during the summer, too. That was a refreshing punch the girls served at the mixer. I didn't notice Caroline Lanzer at the mixer. Overheard that she was baby-sitting. How old was the baby, Caroline? Jim Papez and Rachel Dautermann made a pretty picture on the dance floor at the mixer. I saw Bob Morris with a pretty freshman girl, but didn't quite catch her name. Maybe Bob will tell me at a later date.

We should all be glad to know that Ed Paul is back to school. Ed was sick for a while with a serious infection. Also heard that Laverne Burns was in the hospital having his appendix removed. Don Winters did a stretch in the sick bay with a blood disease. Heard he had quite a time with the nurses.

Now all you people that are in this column, don't be disturbed. By the time the year is over, everyone will be in here once or more. So long for now. I'll see you next week.

SAA SECRETARY GREET'S ALUMNI IN LETTER

Herbert A. Anderson, Officer Of Alumni Association, Writes to Members To the Alumni:

When I was asked by your executive council "Would I accept the appointment of National Secretary-Treasurer for the Stout Alumni association?" my better judgment said, "No, it would be impossible for me to pick up the reins which our past National Secretary had so masterfully handled. Someone other than I must be better qualified to do the job."

HERBERT A. ANDERSON

New Secretary-Treasurer of The Stout Alumni Association.

Upon reconsidering carefully, I felt that if the council was willing to have me, I'd do all within my power to execute the duties of this important office. I returned to The Stout Institute primarily because President Fryklund asked me to come; however, a desire to serve the school which gave me so much, and to be associated with the grand people who knew me as a student, were other reasons for my return. And now I have the pleasure to serve all graduates as well as the students now on the campus.

Our organization will continue to grow and be an asset to The Stout Institute as well as to all of us, if only each and every member will co-operate with committee members and officers, contribute to the Alumni section of the Stoutonia, keep his membership paid up and encourage others to do the same, and, finally, submit his change of address to your secretary.

May all of us have an enjoyable year at school, at home, and on our job.

Sincerely yours,
Herbert A. Anderson

MANITOWOC HAS 1ST ALUMNI MEETING

First meeting of the Stout Alumni association group in Manitowoc was held this summer. Nineteen graduates attended the first banquet held June 2. Master of ceremonies for the event was Bernard Hagen ('27). Mr. Hagen, Anton Chermak, Mrs. Emma Anderson, Mrs. E. J. Hagarty, Miss Betty Hasslinger and Miss Helen Kransuch were in charge of arrangements. The evening program included movies shown by W. A. Trefz.

Plans are being made for another banquet next year. The Manitowoc group is arranging to extend an invitation to a neighboring Stout alumni group. The following committee was named to take charge of the banquet next year: Anton Chermak, Mrs. L. E. Fenner, Mrs. H. L. Vits, Mrs. Adolph Schwartz and Roy Elfner.

Those present at the initial meeting were Mrs. Emma Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Hagen, Mr. and Mrs. Chermak, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Vits, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Fenner, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Trefz, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Kletzien, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Elfner, Mr. and Mrs. John Ausman, Mr. and Mrs.

Adolph Schwartz, Mrs. Hagarty, Miss Hilma Fondell, Miss Carol Wunrow, Miss Elizabeth Doerfler, Miss Betty Hasslinger, Miss Helen Kransuch, and John Ruedebusch.

"What did the professor say this morning?"
"Nothing."
"Of course, but how did he express it?"

STRONG BACKFIELD OF TEAM PLAYS WELL

Storti Rates Team as "Fair" In Long Intra-Squad Game Saturday

"Fair" was Coach Tony Storti's evaluation of Saturday's two-hour long bruising intra-squad game at Nelson field. Both teams scored several times in the evenly-matched struggle.

According to the coach, all squad members need sharpening up on blocking. Tackling is weak and many players are failing to carry out their assignments.

"We've got increased backfield strength, especially at fullback," Coach Storti admits, "but our passing attack is still very weak and we have practically no depth at all in line replacements."

Linemen singled out for praise on the basis of their play in Saturday's workout include Sam Basile, Fred Wentorf, Jim Ooley, Vaughn Stai, and Dale Digerness.

Veteran backs who turned in good performances, Storti said, were Harter Peterson, Russ Pollock, Ruel Fleming, and Bob Young.

Numerous freshmen backfield men showed promise of development. Especially pleasing to the coaching staff was the work of Louis Lausted, Red Walker, Bill Thorpe, Verne Christensen, Bill Kieffer, George Krall, and Ken Hablich.

"The only cure for our weaknesses is work—and lots of it," Storti warned squad members. There is special need for rapid improvement in the next two weeks, for Stout faces Mankato Teachers college, 1948 Minnesota champions, and Eau Claire Teachers college, 1948 Wisconsin title holders, in the first two games on the Bluedevil schedule.

According to the coaching staff, squad members face eight consecutive grueling games in which conditioning and poise will be the decisive factors. Although the team is ahead of last year's squad for this stage of the season, players and coaches agree that they must go a long way to be ready for the rugged schedule.

Team yells for Stout should be familiar to all of the students. The following cheers and others will be introduced at a pep assembly before the first game. To help the new students better recognize and learn the yells, words without the usual accompanying cheerleaders' motions are given here.

MIKE SETS RECORD AT LYNWOOD DORM

Did you know that Lynwood hall has the distinction of being one of the few men's dormitories which can boast of a member who is less than a year old? As a matter of fact, it is doubtful if many dormitories have students in residence who are under seventeen. Yes, Lynwood hall is a very unique place. The young gentleman, only seven months old, is Michael Storti. Mike is the son of Resident Head Tony and Mrs. Storti. This husky lad is already about 27 inches long, and will probably be a fullback when he grows up. Although he weighs only 22 pounds now, it will not be very many years until Mike will be a 220 pound football player plunging through the line.

SENIOR-FROSH PICNIC HELD AT WAKANDA

Freshmen, transfers, and senior students attended a picnic at Waukanda park, Thursday evening, Sept. 8. The picnic, presented by the senior class, served as a get-together for the new students and the seniors.

Bob Hendrickson as junior class president of last year headed a committee of willing workers who served a lunch of baked beans, salad, buns, ice cream bars, cake, and other picnic fare.

Coach Storti's comment on last Saturday's scrimmage was, "The running game was fair but needs improvement, and the team needs lots of work in passing."

The Blue Devils looked fairly sharp in their scrimmage, considering the key men on the casualty list. Lack of passing can be contributed to the fact that Woelfer and Janikowski were banged up. Absence of Simon and Malone, along with limited play of Rhead, caused momentary shortage of tackles.

The running attack was looking sharp because of the hard running of Peterson, Fleming, Young, and Pollock, who combined with Frosh backs Hablich, Krall, Walker, Christensen, Thorpe, Kieffer, and Lausted.

All the backs have depth, but fullback really looks good. Competition at this position is keen, with Peterson, Hablich, and Lausted providing Storti with three stellar competitors.

The men in the lines had plenty of work stopping the backfields, but the usual dependable effort was shown by Wentorf, Ooley, Stai, Serra, Bogenhagen, Debrauske, Albrecht, and Bredahl. Tiny Norman, Dale Digerness, and Sam Basile along with frosh linemen, Cataldi, Markely, Dulek, Spears, and Erspamer helped support the forward wall.

Constant improvement and another week of practice should have the team all ready to meet Mankato State at Nelson field next Saturday night, September 24.

FRESHMAN WINS A SCHOLARSHIP TO STOUT

Tony Buehner Received His Scholarship From Wisconsin State Council of Carpenters

One of the more outstanding students here at Stout on scholarships is Anthony Buehner, a freshman, better known among his friends as "Tony".

He is an ex-G.I., with 3½ years of service in the army to his credit. Part of this time he was a non-commissioned officer in the Medical corps, and the rest was part of the personnel system for the Army's Specialized Training program at the University of Wisconsin.

Tony is a graduate of the Boy's Trade and Technical high school in Milwaukee. It was here that he, like everybody else, first heard of Stout, where, "all my shop teachers were from Stout." He went directly from high school into the building trades, with his interest centering mainly in cabinet making. This work was interrupted by his service in the army forces, but immediately upon his honorable discharge, Tony returned to the trade and in three years received his journeyman's papers, and his chance to try for the scholarship he is now using.

This scholarship is sponsored by the "Wisconsin State Council of Carpenters." Mr. J. A. Hathaway, 1945 president of this organization, stated the reason for giving the scholarship when he said, "We are convinced that our apprentice members who receive on-the-job training, and, in addition, related instructions in the vocational schools of Wisconsin are the ideal source from which to obtain and develop the needed organizational trained leaders of tomorrow." Therefore, this carpenters' brotherhood made available each year, a scholarship to an apprentice receiving his journeyman's papers in the State of Wisconsin that year.

Tony was qualified for the scholarship for the school year 1949-1950, so in August he went to Madison to take a written and oral competitive examination, the journeyman receiving the highest grade to be awarded the scholarship.

It is obvious that Tony came out on top, because he is with us now, and likes it. Naturally Tony is majoring in woodworking, with cabinet-making his main objective. He is keeping up on his academic subjects also, by taking such subjects as English, speech and psychology.

Tony has the ambition it takes to eventually obtain a high position where his training here at Stout will stand him in good stead. He expects to continue his training here at Stout for at least another year, and return to the trade with a complete background from which to start his climb to a position of leadership and responsibility.

For now, however, you can usually find him bent over his desk in Lynwood hall, where he expresses the typical Stout sentiment in saying, "I'm here to learn, and that takes work; ah, hand me that psychology book."

REVORD, URANKAR, AND DEHNE HEAD CLASSES

Elections for the sophomore, junior, and senior class officers were held at the student assembly, Wednesday, September 14.

Sophomore class officers are Paul Revord, president; Geraldine Tanz vice-president; Jean Archie, secretary; and Lloyd Pickering, treasurer.

President of the Junior class is Clancy Urankar. Assisting him will be LaVerne Ablard as vice-president; Barbara Lovering, secretary; and Bob Houghton, treasurer.

Earl Dehne is president of the senior class. Vice-president is Herb Watanabe; secretary, Madelyn Erickson; and treasurer, Les Springmire.

The freshman class elections for class officers will be held Wednesday, September 21, at 5:00 p.m. in the auditorium.

ERICSONS GUESTS AT DINNER BY I A FACULTY

Emanuel E. Ericson, Santa Barbara State college, California, and his wife were guests at a dinner given in his honor by the industrial arts faculty, Thursday, September 22, at 6:30, in the college tearoom.

Mr. Ericson was the second graduate to receive a four-year degree from the Stout Institute. He is nationally-known for his leadership and authorship in the field of industrial arts. He and his wife are making a tour of the entire nation during a sabbatical leave of absence granted by his college. In a letter to Dean C. A. Bowman, he expressed a desire to stop here to see his old friends.

Mr. Herbert Anderson, national alumni secretary, was chairman of the committee which planned the dinner.

H. C. MILNES SUFFERS BROKEN SHOULDER

The condition of Mr. H. C. Milnes, machine shop and foundry teacher at the college, is reported as "satisfactory and rapidly improving", according to word received from Mrs. Milnes. His injury has been diagnosed as a broken shoulder.

Mr. Milnes was taken suddenly ill Sunday morning. He was rushed by ambulance to Sacred Heart hospital, Eau Claire, where a thorough x-ray examination revealed the injury.

MRS. V. C. FRYKLUND TO ENTERTAIN CLUB

The Stout faculty wives club will meet at the home of Mrs. Verne C. Fryklund on September 27 at 7:30 p.m. Mmes. D. L. Agnew, L. F. Whydowski, H.A. Anderson, H. M. Hansen, and R. F. Krantzsch will be the assisting hostesses.

PAPER EDITOR STARTS WORK FEVERISHLY

Miss Caroline Lanzer, a person well qualified for the position as editor of the Stoutonia, has taken over her duties. Miss Lanzer has been appointed to the position of editor to replace Mr. Ray Cornwell, editor last year, who graduated.

Miss Lanzer is a graduate of Bloomer high school, where she was interested in 4-H club work. During the ten years that Miss Lanzer was active in 4-H work she held the position of reporter, secretary, and president, with major projects in clothing and foods.

In high school Miss Lanzer was an honor student as well as president of the senior class.

Miss Lanzer entered Stout in 1946, at which time she began her career with the Stoutonia by reporting the news. The following year Caroline became desk editor, and this coming year will edit the paper.

Miss Lanzer is a former member of the Stout Symphonic Singers and a present member in Phi Upsilon Omicron, the Young Womens Christian Association, and the Home Economics club. Caroline also works part time in the Stout library.

Miss Lanzer plans to teach after completion of her schooling here at Stout. She is majoring in Home Economics Education.

FACULTY TO ATTEND FALL ROUNDUP

The Fall Roundup for women faculty members will be held again this year at Edgewood lodge at Mikana, Wisconsin. Fifteen have made reservations for the weekend of September 23-25, when the resort will accommodate the Stout home economics faculty only.

MARIA KARASKIEWIECZ AGAIN ADOPTED BY SSA

Little Maria Supported for Another Year at a School In Poland by Stout Students

Little Maria Karaskiewicz has been adopted again this year by the Stout Student association. For one hundred eighty dollars from Stout students, Maria is supported at a school in Poland for a whole year.

Her gratitude and pleasure in school is revealed in the following letters.

Dearest Foster Parents,

I am writing you this little letter with much pleasure and happiness. The weather has changed again, the trees are all in blossom, the meadows are sprinkled with flowers.

It is also the month of May, we go to the meadows to pick flowers to decorate the picture of Maria.

On the fourth Sunday of May, the children here in Gellik have their Holy Communion, it was a wonderful celebration. In June the two highest classes will make a nice trip to the Ardennen, and we made a little pilgrimage to Zuitendaal.

Shortly we shall have the summer vacation, and they will be long. In the evening we are not bored either, the Sister tells the children stories or we play ball. At 8:30 we go to bed.

I am closing my letter now, dearest Foster Parents, with many hearty greetings from your Foster child.

Maria Karaskiewicz

Dearest Foster Parents,

The vacations are over now, and I want to write you and tell you how I spent the 2 weeks. They began on the fifteenth of April.

What a joy that was for me when I saw on the hill my sister arrive. We were so very happy. The Easter vacations were wonderful, and I could play with my little brothers.

The evening before the vacation we could not sleep of happiness. On Easter Saturday I went to the Holy Mass, and while we chanted the Gloria the bells began to toll.

We were so very happy. We could not sit quietly anymore. We thought all the time of Easter eggs. Now, dearest Foster Parents, I must leave you.

Affectionate greetings from your grateful Foster child.

Maria Karaskiewicz

Last year some school organizations sent gifts and letters to Maria. Should any organization care to do so this year the gifts and letters would be appreciated. "Let's let Maria know her foster parents think of her," urge the SSA officers.

ETEA REQUESTS FRYKLUND TO SPEAK

Having accepted an invitation to address the Superintendents' section of the East Tennessee Education association, President Verne C. Fryklund will speak Friday morning, October 28, at Knoxville, Tennessee.

President Fryklund has chosen for his topic "Making Democracy Work Across the Pacific." He will speak to teachers and administrators of thirty-four Tennessee county systems and approximately thirty-two city systems.

For his address, Dr. Fryklund will draw upon his recent experience in Japan as civilian expert of industrial education to the secretary of the army. Included will be material on the socio-economic problems of Japan and the role of the administrator in promoting the type of education necessary to democracy.

A year ago, President Fryklund was invited to speak on the problem of the democratization of Japan before 2,000 Iowa teachers at a state convention in Des Moines.

WARN STUDENTS TO ATTEND CLASSES

Attendance Policy Explained By Regulations Committee For Students Benefit

Students, especially those at Stout for the first time, are warned to give strict attention to attendance regulations set forth by the Committee on Attendance Regulations.

Briefly, the attendance policy is this:

1. For each unexcused absence in excess of two per class, one negative grade point will be recorded.

2. For each unexcused absence from a class on a day prior to or following a vacation, one negative grade point will be recorded.

Each member of the faculty is asked to report daily all absences from his classes. This report is to be made to the dean of men or the dean of women, who will keep the record of absences.

Negative grade points will be reported at the end of each semester to the registrar, by the dean of men and the dean of women.

Hereafter, all excuses will be obtained from either Dean Merle Price or Dean Keturah Antrim. These will cover illness and other excuses as well as group absences.

Excused absences will not be counted in the "cuts" provided for above.

It is expected that by centralizing the recording of absences and the granting of excuses there will be a definite, functioning system at Stout.

PREXY SPEAKS AT MEDICAL MEETING

President Verne C. Fryklund was principal speaker at the fall banquet of the Central Wisconsin Veterinary Medical association, Wednesday, September 14, at the Lake Eau Claire community house.

Dr. Fryklund showed colored slides of his trip to Japan, taken during the summer of 1948, and gave a commentary on the pictures.

After the slides, President Fryklund spoke on education in Japan and the needs of that nation which must be met if Japan is to take its place with the democratic nations of the world.

During the summer of 1948, President Fryklund was a civilian expert to the secretary of the army in planning a teacher training program for Japanese vocational education. The program which he set up will be the basis for new laws governing the training of Japanese vocational educators.

"FIGHT, TEAM, FIGHT"

The first football game of the season is tomorrow night! All of us, of course, are going to be there to support our own Blue Devils as they play Mankato State.

Since getting off to a good start is always important, the team and all the rest of us are especially anxious for a victory in this first '49 battle. We can be certain that the team will do its best on the field, and that confidence should challenge us to do our very best as spectators.

Naturally enthusiasm includes cheering—and we surely will shout our loudest—but more important, it includes good sportsmanship. Last year we displayed some very questionable attitudes and feelings at some of our games. This year let us be so fair and broad-minded so that when we say, "May the best team win," we shall really mean it. But yell for the Blue Devils just the same.

SSA MESSAGE

Dear SSA Members,

You all know the old advertising slogan, "Only—number of days till Christmas." We in the SSA office won't go so far as to give you the daily reminder, but there are only three weeks till our homecoming. Three weeks isn't much time to pack in all the activities which precede Homecoming, so it is going to take an aroused and enthusiastic student body to get everything done.

One of the first things you can do toward helping to have a successful homecoming is get out this Saturday and back our team. By giving them strong support, you'll show the team that you in the winning frame of mind too. Therefore, when the team plays the Quakers at Homecoming, there will no doubt about the outcome of the contest. A fitting climax to the game on Saturday against Mankato will be the Philo dance, which will be held in the gym.

One of the important decisions concerning homecoming will be made this Wednesday at convocation when the homecoming theme will be chosen. When you cast your ballot, select a theme which will have some real significance and which can easily be worked into effective decorations. Now is the time, too, to be thinking about who would be a representative girl to be nominated for Homecoming Queen.

Don't forget we're counting on your support and cooperation to give Stout a most successful homecoming.

Sincerely,
The SSA Officers

ANCIENT EDITIONS OF STOUTONIA FILED

Do you lie awake nights wondering what Stout was like in the days when grandpa was a student here? If so, the library has the solution to your problem.

A complete file on back issues of the Stoutonia, dating as far back as 1914, will be on hand in the school library for students' use as soon as the last few volumes are finished. Although they cannot be taken out, you can get them for use in the library by inquiring at the desk.

Greetings:

Now that we are all getting accustomed to being back in school, it really is nice to see everyone coming out to the social affairs. And speaking of social affairs, the union must be complimented on the many friendships that it has been promoting since the start of school. If you have been in the union this past week, you too, no doubt, have noticed the turnout of students.

The other night while lounging in the union, we sort of accidentally on purpose bumped into Pete Schellinger giving ping pong lessons to Helen Hasse, a transfer student. After mingling around the club room a while, I found out that Pete is giving free lessons in the art of playing ping pong. As you might have guessed, these lessons are for women only.

Did you notice that gleam in Jim Gehrke's eyes last week? Upon investigating I found out that Karol Glass-pool was in town. Karol and Jim were a popular couple on the campus last year. I saw Marian and Carl "Cully" Johnson strolling along the banks of Lake Menomin, and they also made a brief appearance at the dance. How do these fellows do it?

I overheard a conversation by three of the new girls, Doris, Steve, and Mack. I didn't hear any last names, but Doris is a transfer from Platteville now staying at Eichelberger, and Steve and Mack are nicknames of two freshman girls living at the Annex. Well, in their opinion the fellows here at Stout are a bit high strung. They think that the fellows are not as friendly or as easy to get acquainted with as are the men elsewhere. Well, men, get on the ball. Some of you fellows should be able to change their minds.

Evidently Bob Nickols has no complaints about the freshmen women. Friday and Saturday nights Bob was out with Mary Lou Hickcox. Mary Lou is a cute little red-head, for the information of those men who still own lawnmowers. Rose Grzadzilewski seems to have cast a spell over Dick Johnson and Bob Braun. Say fellows, how far can this buddy, buddy stuff go? Pete Schellinger brought Joan Davidson to the dance Saturday night, and Dan Foltman was seen at the dance with Florence Pleszczynski. Does anyone know if Pete and Dan have started to sing that song—"My Old Flame"? Say Pete, how will this affect your ping pong lessons???

Saturday night was really a beautiful night. It was so nice out that Donna Heike and Jack Rutherford just couldn't resist the temptation to go out on the bridge and gaze at the stars. Joanne Buboltz and Ross Slater were also out star gazing. As a matter of fact, I understand that Joanne and Ross were star-gazing six out of seven days last week. I wonder if they got all the stars counted, or just the ones in their eyes.

I saw quite a few of the old couples at the dance Saturday night also. Clancey Urankar and Barbara Pech head the list. Then there were Madge Erickson and Russ Pollock, Jean Waltzer and Dick C. Johnson, Rowena Christen and Chuck Jorgensen, Shirley Donner and Wayne Coleman, Jean Pennigly and Karl Windberg, and Dorothy Grothe and Roger Landgraf.

Gordon Nooyen, Dave Hartzell and Gene Landgraf had quite a time throwing confetti at the dancers. It looked like everyone had dandruff on a large scale. Les Springmire and Bob Christianson did a good job as ticket seller and stamper. Bob tried to stamp the girls on the nose, but didn't succeed.

I saw a few of the married couples at the dance too. Ralph Antes and his wife were there, as were Bob Manson, Gene Tahlier, Bill Jones, Merlin Moore, and Jim Norris and their lovely wives. It is good to see the wardens let them out.

The decorating committee for the dance had a wee bit of trouble deciding on how high the balloons were to be placed. The biggest obstacle in their path was placing them so they would be safe, yet so the dancers could get them at the end of the evening. Vaughn Stai was the biggest problem. He has an eight foot reach while the average is only about seven feet. They solved it some way because the balloons were gone at the end of the dance. Even Dean Price walked out with a couple. I should mention that Ruth Ann Christensen was at the dance with Vaughn Stai.

Well, that about winds it up for this week. I hope I will see a lot of you at the Philo Phrolix after the football game tomorrow night. Let's all get out and cheer for the team. See you next week.

Key and Hole

It's better to be broke than to have never loved at all!

The judge inspected the man on the stand incredulously. "You mean to tell me you have not spoken to your wife in three years? Explain that to the court, if you can."

"Yes sir," said the witness meekly. "My wife does not like to be interrupted."

I wish I were a kangaroo. Despite his funny stances; I'd have a place to put the junk My girl friend brings to dances.

"Papa, what is the person called who brings you in contact with the spirit world?"

"A bartender, son."

Bill P. "Do you believe kissing is unhealthy?"

Ruth S. "I couldn't say—I've never."

Bill "You've never been kissed?"

Ruth "I've never been sick."

Fortune Teller—"You are going to marry a tall, dark man."

Grace W.—"Can't you be specific? All four of them are tall and dark."

LIBRARY RULES ANNOUNCED BY HEAD LIBRARIAN

Library Hours not Changed Some Stacks Closed Must Register at Entrance

Lillian F. Froggatt, head librarian, has announced new library rules to be observed by the students.

A change in library rules closes some stacks and restricts others. The shelves in the small alcove and those near the desk are completely closed to students, and all books desired must be requested by their call numbers.

To enter the stacks in the large alcove to the east, students must sign the register at the entrance to the stacks upon entering and leaving. Students are requested to leave notebooks on the registration table before entering the stacks.

Practice teachers are the only students allowed to enter the closed stacks. This exception is made so that they can find books for their practice classes.

Changes in the collection of fines will also be made in the near future. A more complete statement will be issued at that time.

The library hours have not changed and are as follows:

Monday thru Thursday: 7:45 a.m. to 5:15 p.m.—8:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Friday: 7:45 a.m. to 5:15 p.m.—closed in the evening

Saturday: 8:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

Two little girls were busily discussing their families.

"Why does your grandmother read the Bible so much?" asked one.

She went to Stout, I think," said the other little girl, "and now she's cramming for her finals."

The man who saves money today isn't a miser; he's a wizard.

Visitor: "How many students are there in the Institute?"

Dean Cost: "About one in five."

Bill B. "How did you like that blind date I dug up for you?"

Herb E.: "Did you have to go all the way to Egypt to dig her up?"

Barberg: "How would you describe a miracle, professor?"

Miss Hain: "A miracle, eh? Well, if you were to see a bullfrog that would not be a miracle. Neither would a thistle be a miracle. Even the melodious song of a bird singing would not constitute a miracle. But if you were to see a bullfrog sitting on a thistle and singing like a bird, that indeed would be a miracle."

My! This certainly is terrible weather."

"Yes, all it's fit for is conversation."

"Would you believe it? Dave actually ran away as they were standing at the altar."

"Lost his nerve, I suppose?"

"No—found it again."

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK—

It has been asked why more Americans do not own hippopotamuses. It probably is because none of the installment stores have thought about selling hippopotamuses at a dollar down and a dollar a week thereafter.

DANCE BY KFS GAILY DECORATED

A gaily decorated gymnasium greeted the students who attended the KFS dance Saturday night. The theme "Knight For Swing" was very well carried out. More than 300 persons danced to the music of George Soderberg and his Royal Blackhaws.

The floor show held during intermission was sparked by Clancy Urankar, who acted as master of ceremonies. Jerry Zelinka played his accordion as only Jerry can. A quintet consisting of Bob Hendrickson, Bill Jones, Gene Tahlir, Bob Manson, and Roger Gibbons presented several selections which were well received.

Confetti was thrown down from the balcony before the intermission, which helped to create a friendly feeling among all the guests.

"If future dances are as successful and well attended as this one, Stout will not suffer from lack of social events throughout the year," was one of the favorable comments heard.

STG WILL SELL POPCORN AT FOOTBALL GAMES

The men from the Sigma Tau Gamma will be out at the football game selling popcorn again this season. Committee chairman, Irvin Lathrop, reported that all arrangements have been made for the purchase of the corn.

With homecoming only a month away, President Milton Miller appointed two committees to work in conjunction with each other for the festivities of that weekend. Members of these committees are Bob Crowley and Bohumil Holub who will work on the float ideas as soon as the theme has been chosen, while the alumni breakfast was put into the hands of Lorton Layman and Ed Mauer.

NINE WOMEN MOVE TO MANAGEMENT HOUSE

Nine students are now in residence at the home management house for the first six weeks period. Betty Hoyer, Alice Oates, Doris Eckstein, Ellen McGarty, Norma Cole, Marge Musil, Lila Nelson, Rosalie Orth, and Marvel Oelke have taken over the various duties of the house. Social functions will be planned later.

The work of managing the house has been divided into nine parts: hostess, waitress, assistant cook, cook, guest, laundress, repairer, upstairs housekeeper, and downstairs housekeeper. The students rotate the duties during their six-weeks residence.

YWCA ELECTS OFFICERS AT FIRST MEETING

At a dinner meeting last Wednesday, September 14, the YWCA approved its calendar for this school year as follows:

October 7 or 8All School dance
January 29Mid-Year party
March 10Mother-Daughter banquet
May 1Candy sale
May 8Senior picnic

Following a successful Big-Little Sister corridor dance and tea, the club made plans to increase membership and social activities. A definite time will be set to include new freshmen in this new program.

There are four YWCA activity groups with the following chairmen: Jean Van Lieu, Social Service; Elva Lovett, World Fellowship; Elaine Johnson, Campus Service; and Carol Radtke, Worship Workshop.

Officers for the year are Jean Bulmer, president; Eileen Deetz, vice-president; Jean Loudon, secretary; Bette Severson, treasurer; Shirley Cox, historian; and advisers, Miss McCalmont, Miss Harper, and Miss Hain.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY NEWMAN CLUB

The first regular communion Sunday and business meeting of the Newman club, the Catholic student association at Stout, was held Sunday, September 18, in St. Joseph's school basement after the 10:00 a.m. mass. The members were guests of the St. Joseph's altar society at a brunch held before the meeting.

The business of the day was to elect the officers to serve during the coming year. The following members were elected to the designated positions: Richard L. Johnson, president; Pete Schellinger, vice-president; Barbara Lovering, secretary; and Russell Gerber, treasurer.

With these new officers at the controls and a record attendance to back them, the organization shows signs of having a very successful year.

THETA CHAPTER WELCOMES TWO NEW MEMBERS

Members of Theta Chapter, Epsilon Pi Tau, welcomed two men from other chapters into their ranks at the first meeting of the current school year. Attending The Stout Institute, as graduate students, are Edwin Bergman, Bowling Green State university; and Calvin James, Arizona State college.

Edwin Bergman, Canton, Ohio, is a graduate of Bowling Green university located at Bowling Green, Ohio. He has been vice president of Alpha Gamma chapter, and last year was a member of the initiation team at the installation of Alpha Theta chapter at Kent, Ohio. On this same initiation team were Steve Grudichak, Raymond Cornwell, Omer Benn, and George Zimmerman who managed to get in some good public relations for Stout on the side. However, Mr. Bergman claims that his decision to take graduate work at The Stout Institute was largely influenced by George Bowers and Dewey Barish, two well known graduates of The Stout Institute.

Calvin James, Hayward, Wisconsin, is a graduate of Arizona State college located at Flagstaff, Arizona; he was a member of Sigma chapter at that college. Mr. James said that he had heard of The Stout Institute before attending Arizona State, but his decision to attend The Stout Institute graduate school was largely due to advice given to him by his major adviser at Arizona. James resides at the Fair Oakes housing project with his wife Shirley and two sons, Pete 4 and Mike 2.

RUSHING PARTY HELD IN STOUT GYM

The "Catalog Rushing party" for sophomore and second semester transfer girls was held Saturday, September 17, 1949, at 9:30 a.m. in the Stout gymnasium.

Guests of the Pallas Athene, SMA, Hyperian, and Philomathean societies received invitations in the form of mail house orders. In keeping with the theme, a catalog relay race and an order blank interview formed part of the morning's entertainment. Each society presented the group with its favorite song. Mail order box lunches consisting of sweet rolls, apples, candy, milk, and coffee were served each society member and her guest.

General chairmen for the rushing party were the SMA's. The PA's were in charge of the entertainment, while the Philos prepared the refreshments. Invitations were sent and cleaning was done by the Hyp's.

STUDENT BOARD HOLDS FIRST MEETING

Phillips and Barberg Report On NSA Convention Attended This Summer

The members of the student governing board returned to work again last Tuesday, September 13. At this first meeting of the year the new freshmen orientation program which went into effect this year was commended.

Warren Phillips and Warren Barberg, who attended the National Student association convention this summer, gave a brief resume of the discussions that they attended and a comparison of Stout with other schools.

After a discussion of new homecoming plan, the meeting was adjourned.

PHILO PHROLICS DANCE TO BE HELD AT GYM

Philomathean society is sponsoring its annual all-school fall dance, "Philo Phrolics," Saturday, September 24, in the Stout gymnasium. The dance will be held following the first football game, with dancing from 9:30 until 12:00 p.m. Music will be furnished by the Royal Blackhaws.

Phyllis Bartosic and Nancy Glenn, chairmen of decorations, have announced that the decorations will be in keeping with the fall theme. Admission for the dance is 40 cents per person.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS HELD AT LYNWOOD

New officers for Lynwood hall were chosen at a house meeting Thursday evening. After preliminaries by Resident Head Tony Storti, Donald Straw was elected president and immediately assumed his duties.

Jim Brown was chosen vice-president and also head of all Lynwood social functions. Glenn Brooks was elected secretary and Stan Kendall, sergeant-at-arms.

The Hall will be represented on the council by Dennis Foltman. To continue Lynwood's participation in campus intra-mural sports, Laurence Ryder will direct sports for the coming year.

Freshmen have volunteered to maintain a telephone watch. Usually a schedule is set up so that each one takes his turn at this little chore.

Eichelberger Sponsors Party For Women Residents

Women students at Eichelberger hall were entertained by the house council at a "get acquainted" party, Thursday evening, September 15. Under the leadership of Donna Gardiner, the women played games. Refreshments were served. Kathryn Zeilm, president, was the general chairman of the event.

LYNWOOD CONVERTS OVER TO AC CURRENT

For the past twenty years or more, Lynwood hall has been receiving electrical current from the steam-operated direct current plant in the IE basement. As the whole school is gradually being converted to alternating current, Lynwood's turn came last summer. Mr. Edwin Tiller, head of the electrical department, and the other maintenance men spent five weeks completing the task. A new 220 volt three-wire system was installed from the IE building to the hall. Fortunately, little rewiring had to be done within Lynwood hall itself. As the dorm residents say, "There is a little more light on the subject now, and no ten-thirty blink."

PRESIDENTS FOR TRI-DORMS ELECTED

Presidents for the women's dormitories for the coming year will be Kathryn Ziehm, Charmaine Chopp, and Ann Rossmiller. All officers were elected at house meetings held last week.

Assisting Miss Ziehm will be Donna Gardiner, vice-president; Carol LaBorde, secretary; Donna Heike, treasurer; and Shirley Doner, SSA representative.

Officers working with Miss Chopp, who is both president and vice-president of her hall, are Sumie Doi, secretary; Judy Hinz, treasurer; and Nancy Hauser, SSA representative.

Miss Rossmiller will have help of Mary Lou Bohrnstedt, vice-president; Rita Haack, secretary; Donna Jens, treasurer; and Dorothy Messerschmidt, SSA representative.

LYNWOOD SCHEDULES ANNUAL OPEN HOUSE

Starting the year off properly for the residents of Lynwood hall, an open house for all is scheduled for October 2. In years gone by it has been the traditional thing for all the fellows of Lynwood hall to open their rooms to the public.

Plans are now being laid for the occasion by the officers and members of the dormitory. There will be refreshments and entertainment for all who attend.

The hours the dormitory doors will be open for visitors have not been definitely set, but will appear in the next issue of the Stoutonia.

PLANS FOR HOBO HIKE MADE BY WAA

Hobo hike plans were made at a WAA cabinet meeting held Thursday, September 15. The hike, a welcoming party for freshmen and transfer students, will be the evening of September 22. Bernice Danzinger, president of the organization, led the group in planning for the party.

The WAA scavenger hunt earlier in the week was well attended. After the hunt, the women met in the gym for refreshments.

FORMER STOUT INSTRUCTOR GETS POSITION IN JOLIET, ILL.

Miss Ellen F. Nelson, former instructor of home economics education at Stout, writes from her new position in Joliet, Illinois, at the Joliet Township high school and junior college.

Dear Stoutites,
The past two weeks have been busy but pleasant ones. The first of them was spent in faculty meetings, registering students, and departmental work shops. The students have been attending classes this week. Both the high school students—there are 2500 of them—and the 450 in the junior college seem unusually fine. The 160 plus members comprise a very friendly and happy group who go out of their way to help the twelve new faculty members become adjusted easily.

The fine extra services offered by this school have impressed me favorably. There is a bedside teacher for those children who are unable to attend school because of chronic illness, hospitalization, or accidents. A specialist in handling the deaf is temporarily sharing an office with me, and it is interesting to observe her working with the handicapped and to see their slow, sure progress and the hope with which each is inspired to work against seemingly great odds. A speech correctionist works with those who are handicapped in speech. A well-trained, highly qualified social counselor has been added to the staff this year to help those students who are maladjusted or appear to be having difficulty in getting along well with other people or in pursuing their studies.

An ambitious program in nutrition and health is being carried on, all the way from kindergarten through grade fourteen, in conjunction with the health department of the University of Illinois and the Kellogg Foundation. It is a project which is a cooperative activity sponsored by the community and the schools, and it is receiving national reputation. A number of improvements to the physical plant are being made as a result of the findings of the preliminary survey. A bond issue was floated to provide $250,000 for the installation of fluorescent lighting in every classroom, office, and corridor in this huge four story building covering an entire block. Electric drinking fountains have replaced the old ones to encourage students to drink sufficient quantities of water.

There are six teachers in the home economics department in the high school and junior college. One of them, Gwenneth Sedden, is an exchange teacher from England. We find her an interesting and very charming person, and we are anxious for a slacking up of the stress and strain that accompanies the opening of the semester so that we may learn from her about education in England.

The Joliet junior college, the oldest junior college in the country, is offering courses in home economics this year for the first time. I am teach-

ALUMNI SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS ANNOUNCED

Ardis Manderscheid and James Cook Receive Money for Schooling

Ardis Manderscheid of Malone, Wisconsin, and James Cook of Cambridge, Wisconsin, were named winners of the annual alumni scholarships provided by the Stout Institute Alumni association. Each received a sixty dollar cash award.

Miss Manderscheid, who lives on a farm near Fond du Lac, participated in both the local 4-H club and high school activities which, together with personal recommendations, entitled her to the scholarship. Ardis hopes to teach after graduating from Stout.

Last year, in her tenth year as a 4-H club member, Ardis was named the outstanding girl club member in Fond du Lac county. She carried on junior leadership and frozen foods as projects during the year.

In Chilton high school, Ardis graduated as valedictorian of her class. She served as president of the local FHA chapter during her senior year. Ardis was also a member of various other high school groups including the drama club, Latin club, library club, annual staff, and senior prom committee. Miss Manderscheid was also an appointed member of the student council.

The other winner of the annual alumni scholarship is James Cook of Cambridge, Wisconsin. Mr. Cook lives on a farm near Cambridge and attended high school at Stoughton. James participated in fields of 4-H work, mainly woodwork. Mr. Cook held the offices of president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer in his four years of 4-H work.

James plans to teach after completing his work here at Stout. His major will be in the fields of woodwork and drawing.

ing clothing selection, textiles, and clothing construction to fifteen college girls; introduction to home economics to ten; and dietetics to two classes of fifteen student nurses from Silver Cross hospital. I had worried considerably over the latter course but found that the American Dietetic association has devised an excellent course for study and recommended a good text for the course.

Were I to wish that I might forget The Stout Institute, I could not for there are several reminders around me constantly. Miss Wanda Staciuk of the physical education department has a brother attending Stout; Ronald Ehart, who graduated from Stout a couple of years ago, teaches general shop here. By the way, he married an adorable girl in June and has recently moved into a home he purchased. Mr. O'Blenes in the machine shop has attended several summer sessions at Stout. Miss Evelyn Dietlein of the journalism staff is a native of Bloomer, Wisconsin, and knows Caroline Lanzer very well.

Please convey my best wishes for a happy and successful year to all of the administration, the faculty, and the student body.

Sincerely yours,
Ellen F. Nelson

WEDDING BELLS RING FOR STOUT ALUMNI

Wedding announcements received during the past summer by Miss Gertrude M. O'Brien reveal the nuptials of numerous Stout alumni.

Lorna Little (B.S. '43) was married to Louis Anthony Baron on September 3 in East Troy, Wisconsin. The couple is now living in Kansas City, Kansas.

Geraldine Sinz (B.S. '42) is now Mrs. William G. Cree. The Crees were married August 9 in Seattle, Washington, where they are making their home.

Two Stout alumni, Dora Campbell (B.S. '44) and Joseph Serflek (B.S. '47), were married June 11 in Menomonie. Mr. Serflek is teaching in West Allis and Mrs. Serflek is teaching in Milwaukee, where the couple lives.

Myrth Gochbauer (B.S. '46) is now Mrs. Richard Thompson, following her wedding July 2 at State college, Pennsylvania. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are residing at State college.

FORMER STOUT STUDENT ACCEPTS FOODS POSITION

Miss Patricia O'Conner, a former Stout student, has taken a position in Minneapolis this year teaching foods at Washburn high school. She writes that she is very much pleased to be teaching at her former school. Miss O'Conner graduated from Stout in 1947 with a Bachelor of Science degree.

MASTER OF ARTS DEGREE TO TWO FORMER STOUT GRADS

Donald Maxim Brill (B.S. '47) and George Leonard Sandvig (B.S. '31) recently were awarded the degree of master of arts from the University of Minnesota. The advanced degrees were awarded at commencement exercises at the University of Minnesota, August 25, 1949.

SUPT. DAVEY DIES RECENTLY IN EAU CLAIRE

City Superintendent of Eau Claire Schools Received Master's From Stout

Samuel G. Davey, 52, superintendent of schools in Eau Claire for the past five years, died of a sudden heart attack recently at his home.

Mr. Davey had apparently been in excellent health, although he had mentioned having pain in his chest and arms. He had planned to paint the entrance to his home on which he had been working in his spare time.

He is survived by his wife Bertha; two daughters, Sally Ann and Nancy Lou, and one brother, Mayne.

Mr. Davey had been a prominent figure in the life of Eau Claire for many years. Before being appointed superintendent of schools in August, 1944, he had served as director of the Eau Claire Vocational school for three years. He was principal of Eau Claire high school from Sept. 1928 to Sept. 1941. He had joined the teaching staff of Eau Claire high school in Sept. 1920, as an instructor in chemistry.

Mr. Davey was a veteran of World War I.

Born in Eau Claire May 21, 1897, Mr. Davey was educated in the Eau Claire school system. He was a graduate of Eau Claire high school and Eau Claire State Teachers college. He received his Master's degree from Stout Institute at Menomonie.

During Mr. Davey's early life he learned the plumbing business and during summer vacations while he was a teacher, he often worked at this trade. He frequently remarked that manual labor gave him mental relaxation and that he enjoyed building things, remodeling around his home, and similar activities in off hours.

He was one of Eau Claire's most active citizens in civic affairs, especially those along the lines of social welfare.

A director of the Community Chest for several years, he and the teachers of Eau Claire annually were among the top donors as a group. This year he was on the Chest publicity committee.

He was a member of the city library board, the Salvation Army Advisory board, the Eau Claire Kiwanis club, and the Community Welfare council. He had served in the past as member of the Boy Scout executive board and district committeemen. He had also served as campaign manager for the Anti-Tuberculosis association in sale of Christmas seals and assisted in numerous campaigns and conferences for improvement of health, recreation and general living conditions in Eau Claire.

The superintendent's sudden death came as a distinct shock to his friends and associates.

EXPERT TO AID IN GERMANY

Dr. William J. Micheels, associate professor of industrial education at the University of Minnesota, left Sept. 7 for Germany to help with reconstruction of the German educational system. He will serve as a visiting expert with the United States office of military government. Most of his work will be done in southern Bavaria.

Micheels will return to this country in December.

Another "U" educator, Dr. Leo J. Brueckner, professor of general education, spent several months in Germany last spring in a similar job.

ART ROOM OPEN FOR STUDENT SERVICE

The art room, HE 211, will be open every Wednesday afternoon from 8:00 to 4:00 p.m. as a service period for all home economics students and freshmen who would like help with posters, party decorations, table decorations, and so forth.

Miss Winifred Hinkley will help students cut or draw letters; will show them shortcuts to their work; and will help make their tasks as simple and attractive as possible. She will be glad to discuss ideas with any other group needing help. Students may use room 211 as a work room when a class is not in session. Students should be sure to arrange ahead of time, by appointment with Miss Hinkley, exactly when it is best for them to be working in the rooms.

It will be necessary for students to furnish all their own materials including such items as paste and paint. Students are welcome to use the tools of the department such as brushes and scissors.

GRADUATE CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS AT MEETING

Election of officers and discussion of amendments to the club constitution were the major items of business at the first meeting of the Graduate Men's club, Friday, September 16. Bob Swanson was temporary chairman.

Officers of the organization elected were Bob Swanson, president; Bob Mays, vice president; and Ray Doane, secretary and treasurer. The executive committee includes Jim Payne and Bob Lynch.

The major topic of discussion was the amending of the Graduate club constitution.

REV. JORDAN GUEST SPEAKER AT WESLEY

Reverend George Jordan was the guest speaker at the Wesley Student Fellowship Rally Day program held at the Methodist church, Sunday evening, September 18. Mr. Jordan is the newly appointed state student director for the Methodist student movement in Wisconsin.

Mr. Jordan spoke on the program of the MSM. After the program, he met with the WSF officers to discuss special problems concerning program planning and expenses.

Members from the Eau Claire and River Falls MSM attended the meeting. They were accompanied by Reverend Mr. Friedman, Eau Claire, and Reverend Mrs. Harris, River Falls.

Reverend Fred Smith directed the square dancing and folk games.

PLACE: NELSON FIELD SATURDAY

Nelson field, home gridiron of the Stout Blue Devils, is located between Third and Fifth streets, and Thirteenth and Sixteenth avenues. Starting from the Stout Tower, a person can reach the field by walking two blocks east, and five blocks south. By streets one can get to the field by strolling down Wilson Avenue to fourth street, turning left, and walking until he sees the gates of the field. Those whose minds are too overburden to be bothered with such details, can undoubtedly get to Nelson field by following the crowd.

The lunch, which was prepared by the ladies of the church, consisted of baked hot dish, parker house rolls, cake, and coffee.

Guests included Dr. Guy Salyer, Mr. Herb Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Sipple, and Reverend Ralph Reese.

MSTC GRIDIRON GAME SATURDAY

BLUE DEVILS PLAY HOST TO MANKATO STATE

First Game of Season Here Anticipated to be a Strong Test for Stout

Stout Institute football followers will obtain their first scent of gridiron turf Saturday night at Nelson Field when the Blue Devils play host to a tough Mankato State Teachers college eleven in Stout's season opener.

Mankato is anticipated to be a strong test for Stout. The invaders captured the Minnesota State Teachers college championship last year and have the same full veteran team back again this season.

According to Coach Tony Storti, the Blue Devils go to the post with injuries hampering the squad greatly, especially in the forward wall. This factor has thinned replacements in the line considerably and may play an important role in Saturday night's game. Storti feels that the Blue Devils will be in far from top physical condition for their first opponent.

Veteran linemen upon whom Storti will rely in the Mankato opener are Fred Wentorf, guard; Jim Ooley, guard; Milo Anderson, center; Don Rhead, tackle; and Don Brehdal, end. The Coach added that a number of new faces will be seen in line assignments.

In the backfield, the football mentor named veterans Harter Peterson, Gale Woelffer, Bob Young, and Ruel Fleming as the nucleus, but said he hadn't as yet picked the starters. A few newcomers to the Stout camp have shown promise in scrimmage and may be among the starting group, Storti added.

The Coach went on to say that the Blue Devils have progressed rapidly since the opening of practice, but added that passing isn't up to par as yet and blocking is a big question.

Storti believes the conference this season is the toughest it has been in years, because most teams have a host of returning lettermen.

BLUE DEVILS BLESSED WITH NEW GEAR

Members of the Stout Blue Devil football team were blessed with a supply of new equipment at the beginning of the current season. Foremost among equipment received were sparkling white practice pants, which were handed out two to a player. Many new helmets, socks, jerseys, and shoes were also purchased.

TEN MATCHES SLATED BY RIFLE CLUB

First meeting of Stout Rifle club was held Monday night, September 19th. The match schedule for the coming indoor season includes competition with ten universities and colleges all over the United States. The most distant match is with California State Teachers college. Seven matches are still pending. Return matches are to be fired against the University of Wisconsin and Minnesota and Superior State Teachers college. An intracub match will be held sometime next spring to determine the champion of the Stout Rifle club.

All those interested in shooting are urged to join. There are no requirements, and previous experience is not necessary. All equipment is furnished, and ammunition is sold on the range at reduced rates. Positions are open on the varsity, freshman, and women's team. The rifle club is affiliated with the National Rifle association and holds a class A charter.

The officers of the club are Curtiss Howard, president; Donald Fahrman, vice-president; James Norris, secretary; and Alice Billiet, treasurer. Faculty advisers are Dr. E. R. Oetting, Mr. George Soderberg, and Mr. K. T. Olsen.

Practice shooting will be held on Monday and Friday of each week at 7:00 p.m. on the fourth floor of the Industrial Education building. Meetings will be held Monday nights before practices. An outdoor range is located just outside the city limits.

As in the past, the color guard for the band will be furnished by the Rifle club.

COVEY'S CORNER

If an award were given to the coach whose team had the most injuries, Coach Tony Storti would undoubtedly be one of the leading candidates for this award. Everytime the team scrimmages someone gets hurt. Most of the injuries seem to be plaguing the line, especially the tackles.

Somehow Coach Storti is going to have to put a healthy squad on the field tomorrow night, because the boys from Mankato, Minnesota, are supposed to have a good team according to all reports. Mankato was the Champ in the Minnesota Teachers College Conference last year, and is supposed to be carrying practically the same squad again this year.

Looks like the Blue Devils picked a hard game for the season's opener. One thing for sure is that the whole team, men starting their last season and freshmen alike, are going to have to give all they've got to put this game on "ice."

The team had a few light scrimmages after school last week, but the boys got off without any practice last Saturday. Storti has had to take it a little easy on the men this week because of the injuries. He has to have his men in top physical shape for tomorrow night's contest.

The ends were looking good last week: Pollock has now divided his chores between quarterback and end. Cataldi looked good on pass receiving, as if he had glue on his fingers on some of his catches. Bredahl and Stai are going to provide a lot of height at end, which should give some headaches to the opposing backfields.

Harter Peterson is running harder than ever this year: he should really have another good season. Bill Kieffer's passing is getting sharper. Bill and Gale Woelffer should provide some long passing thrills for the football fans this year.

Most of the injuries on the team seem to be coming in the line: tackle position has really been hit. Bogenhagen's leg has put him out for the season, Rhead's back has been giving him trouble, Ted Hein hurt his arm, and Bill Malone and Tiny Norman are nursing sore legs. The rest of the line is holding up pretty well. There seems to be pretty good depth at center, guard, and end.

Some of the teams in the conference made their seasonal debut last weekend. Eau Claire, defending conference champs, were beaten by Moorhead Teachers 25 to 6. River Falls seems to have lost its backfield punch, and was trounced by St. Olaf 34 to 0. Superior saved the day for the conference; they defeated Michigan Tech 33 to 18. Tech is the same team which beat Stout 13 to 7 last year in Stout's final game.

Michigan Tech had an undefeated season last year and now Superior comes along and really took them to the "cleaners." If Superior defeated the same team as Tech had last year, you can bet that Superior is definitely one of the leading title contenders this year.

See everyone at the game tomorrow night. If you don't know how to get to Nelson Field, follow the crowd.

SSA MESSAGE

Fellow Students,

Now that football season is back and Stout was successful in its first start against Mankato teachers, may we take a few seconds to comment a little on school spirit? Certainly Saturday's game was well attended and the spirit of the local supporters was higher than at many times in the past. However, it was noticed at several times throughout the contest that the energetic efforts of the cheerleaders were all in vain. Time and again they tried to bolster the team with a yell from the fans, but never did they receive the whole-hearted support of all the students. You probably noticed also that six of these seven cheerleaders were new at Stout. It should also be mentioned that these seven people were the only students at Stout who were interested enough to try out for cheerleading. With this in mind, let's get behind the cheerleaders and when they ask for a yell, let's give them one that the boys on the field can hear. The players are giving everything they have to win, but it takes more than that; it takes the loyal support of every student in the stands. Let's get behind the cheerleaders who are there to back the team.

Homecoming is less than a month away and the coming weeks promise lots of work for all of us. The contest for themes was well supported and by the time you read this article you will undoubtedly know the theme for the 1949 Homecoming. It will now be possible for you to get busy and begin making plans for floats and decorations. In so doing, may we remind you that ideas for floats should be registered with the SSA office as soon as possible. In case of duplication of ideas, a priority will be given to the idea entered at the earliest date. Prizes for floats will again be awarded, with crisp ten dollar bills going to the most humorous, the most in keeping with the theme, and the most beautiful.

Petitions for homecoming queen candidates may be received at the SSA office any time. To be eligible, a girl must have been in attendance at Stout at least two semesters. It is not necessary that a girl be sponsored by any certain organization; all that is required is the signature of thirty students who desire a girl to run as a candidate for queen. All petitions must be turned into the SSA office not later than 5:00 o'clock on Wednesday, Oct. 5. The election of the queen will take place in the assembly, Wednesday, Oct. 12. At that time, the girls will be introduced, and voting ballots will be distributed to the student body.

The freshman class seems to be destined for a very successful year under the leadership of its president, Larry Temple. Right now they are making plans for a homecoming bonfire that will surpass those of the past.

Saturday night will bring the second football game of the season and the conference opener. The opponent will be Eau Claire, always a formidable foe, and the contest should be one

JARVIS INVITED TO SPEAK AT CONFERENCE

Mr. John Jarvis, assistant professor of industrial education at Stout, has been invited to attend a State Guidance conference, to be held in Milwaukee, October 3 and 4. He will serve as a consultant in the statistical evaluation of tests which were given by the Wisconsin State Board of Vocational and Adult Education in cooperation with the local vocational schools in the state. The findings of this meeting are expected to be of considerable value to vocational guidance counselors in the vocational schools.

Leader In I A Visits Alma Mater

Emanuel E. Ericson, second from left, visited at The Stout Institute last week with Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, college president; Clyde A. Bowman, Dean of Industrial Education; and Herbert A. Anderson, national secretary of the Stout Alumni association. A was given in Mr. and Mrs. Ericson's honor by the I A faculty.

QUEEN CONTEST CANDIDATES TO BE CHOSEN

Homecoming Queen Contest Petitions Available at SSA Office

Time is again drawing near for the annual Homecoming Queen contest. The queen will reign over a colorful celebration starting with a parade, after which a football game and dance will be held.

Candidates for queen will need no other requirement than to be upper classmen. Freshmen girls are not eligible to enter the contest.

Special petition forms will be made available to anyone who wishes to nominate a queen. The forms may be picked up in the SSA office, Wednesday, September 28. All petitions have to be returned before the 5 p.m. deadline, Wednesday, October 5. The petitions are then filed in the SSA office.

"If you nominate a queen, plan a poster and pep talk campaign for her. Do your best for your candidate and she may become the homecoming queen. Campaigning will begin October 10," says SSA secretary Jean Waltzer, homecoming queen of last year.

Elections will be held before the entire student assembly, Wednesday, October 12. An announcement of the new queen will be printed in the Stoutonia.

To make the Homecoming event a success, everyone must turn out to do his task. The floats for the parade, the decorations for the dance, and the building of the traditional bonfire are all equally important to make a successful holiday, reminds the SSA.

MR. H. C. MILNES IS RECUPERATING AT HOME

Friends of Mr. H. C. Milnes will be happy to learn that he has returned from the hospital and is now recuperating at home.

Although he describes his injured shoulder as "still quite sore," Mr. Milnes is up and around. He is as yet uncertain, however, when he will be sufficiently recovered to return to work.

Mr. Milnes suffered a broken shoulder a short time ago and was rushed by ambulance to an Eau Claire hospital.

STOUTONIA ANNOUNCES STORY DEADLINES

Story deadlines for the Stoutonia were announced recently by the editorial staff of the college newspaper. Deadlines were set up to avoid stories accumulating in the office and to facilitate rapid handling of material. First run stories, including editorial copy, columns, club news, alumni, and feature stories are now due in the Stoutonia office from Thursday to Monday before Friday publication day.

News stories from the administration and faculty, about coming events, and sports are scheduled for the second run, which is due on or before Tuesday afternoon.

Faculty and organizations will receive a special sheet of instructions soon for deadlines, style, and other information.

FOB "DUFFY'S TAVERN" TO BE SATURDAY

Phi Omega Beta, otherwise known as the FOB's, is sponsoring its annual all-school dance, "Duffy's Tavern," October 1, in the school gymnasium. The dance will commence immediately after the football game, and will continue until 12:00 P.M. The music will be furnished by Don Braem and his orchestra.

General chairman of the dance is John Yount, who is also in charge of decorations. Toby Hendrickson is director of refreshments, and Don Braem is in charge of the music. The clean up detail is in the hands of Bob Hanson.

The decorations will include a bar at one end of the gym, where punch will be served. In the past this dance has always been a success, and those in charge assure the public that a good time will be had by all.

Homecoming Theme Contest Winners Chosen by Student Votes at Convocation

Bud Ryder and Charlie Schiferl submitted the winning homecoming theme, Goal Rush of Forty Nine. Nine other themes were voted on by the students assembled in the auditorium, Wednesday, September 28, at 10 a.m. The ten theme suggestions were selected by the SSA officers from those entered in the theme contest.

The theme created by Ryder and Schiferl proved to be the favorite because of its symbolic contents centered around the big homecoming game of 1949.

There were two identical place themes recorded in the SSA office, but Bud Ryder and Charlie Schiferl had submitted their idea first. This had to be the deciding factor between the two entries.

Other very good suggestions for themes were as follows: "Blue Devils Convert Quakers," "Quakers Decline in Forty-nine," "Let's Rise and Shine in Forty-nine," "Alumni's Call Means Quakers Fall," "Cook the Quakers Oats," "Stout Men Will Win Again," "Let's Make the Quakers Feel Their Oats," "Back the Line in Forty-nine," and last of all, "Quake the Quakers."

Five hundred ninety-eight students were present to cast ballots for their choice of a homecoming theme. The activities of homecoming week will follow the idea of the theme as closely as possible. All dormitories, fraternities, societies, and social organizations planning to enter a float can secure a form to fill out at the SSA office. These forms can be filled out not later than 12:00 noon, Friday, October 7.

The floats which are entered in the parade will be judged on the following basis: most attractive, most humorous, and most in keeping with the theme.

Individual classes are assigned to the following homecoming duties: seniors—decorating of school buildings and halls; juniors—decorating of armory and gymnasium for the dance; sophomores—decoration of town; freshmen—building the bonfire, cleaning of the armory and gymnasium following dances.

BLUE DEVILS DEFEAT MANKATO

Thrilling Game Opens Season With A Bang; Passing Is Feature Of Game

The air-minded Blue Devils of The Stout Institute punctured a leaky Mankato State Teachers college defense with a deluge of passes to pant out a breathless one-point, 28 to 27, victory in the opening football thriller of the season, Saturday night, at Nelson field.

The passing of quarterback Gale Woelffer with Vaughn Stai and Dom Cataldi on the receiving end, along with the talented toe of Bob Young, led the Blue Devils to their first win.

The final score, however, failed to indicate how decisive the Blue Devils outplayed the invaders. Stout's football powerhouse completed 12 passes in 16 attempts for 226 yards compared to five completions in nine attempts by Mankato for a total of 156 yards. The Stout football machine racked up 16 first downs to four for the losers. On the ground, Stout also held a wide margin, gaining 231 yards to 82 for the 1948 Minnesota champs. Coach Storti's eleven was held back, however, on penalties. The Blue Devils were penalized nine times for 55 yards, while Mankato miscued six times for 50 yards.

The ground game of the Blue Devils was sparked by veterans Janikowski, and Peterson, with freshmen Christenson, Hobolich, Kieffer, Krall, and Walker racking up considerable gains. All four touchdowns brought out sharply the precise and powerful operation of the Stout line on attack. Almost spectacular was the debut of Sam Basile at left guard. However, veterans Wentorf and Ooley shone, along with a number of freshmen. A good example of their power and finesse was the way in which they formed a perfect pocket of protection for Woelffer to pitch his passes.

But before going to their one-point triumph, the Blue Devils found it necessary to pick themselves off the turf three times and overcome a Mankato lead.

First Score
Mankato strategy enabled them to score mid-way through the first quarter when Neubert completed a pass to Haldy on the Stout 19 yard line and then uncorked another pass to Volk on the 14 yard line. Volk sprinted into the end zone. Mankato attempted to run the extra point, but the Blue Devils line proved too strong.

The Blue Devils unharnessed a threat in the closing minutes of the quarter and drove from their own nine yard line to the Mankato 36 yard strip before bogging down.

The second period was a wild scoring spree with Stout tallying first. Quarterback Woelffer whipped a 40-yard aerial that was grabbed by Dom Cataldi on the 13-yard line. Woelffer then pitched a pass to Vaughn Stai who went high in the air in the end zone to score the first Stout tally. Young converted and the Blue Devils led 7 to 6.

The lead, however, lasted only momentarily. Three minutes later, Thompson passed across the field to Haldy who scored. This time Cuff split the uprights and Mankato forged ahead 13 to 7.

Blue Devils Score

The Blue Devils again pulled together their forces with four minutes remaining in the first half. Woelffer passed to Stai on the 40; Christenson attempted to pass but found no receiver and slashed over end to the 48. Peterson smashed to the 37. Woelffer passed to Stai on the 28; Christenson went around end to the 14, and then Woelffer passed to Christenson in the end zone. Young made his second conversion and the Blue Devils moved into a 14 to 13 halftime lead.

Coach Storti's squad opened the third quarter by threatening to score on ground plays. Peterson, Krall, and Kieffer marched the ball from their own 26 yard line to the Mankato 41 before penalties halted the drive.

Mankato whipped up another score mid-way through the quarter when the Blue Devils fumbled on their own 46-yard line and the invaders recovered. On the following play, Lawsen hurled a 35-yard pass to Haldy on the 16 who lateraled to Swanson, who in turn sprinted into pay dirt. Cuff again converted and Mankato held a 20 to 14 lead.

Devils Passing

The Blue Devils retaliated late in the same canto when Woelffer passed to Debrauske on the 47 yard stripe. Woelffer pitched another aerial to Stai on the Mankato 45. Then Hobolich smashed through the line to

FRESHIES MAKE HOMECOMING PLANS NOW

Freshman Give Vet The Lead In Heated Election Battle: Larry Temple Wins

Freshman class officers for the coming school year were elected in at special meeting, Wednesday, September 25. Chosen were president, Lawrence Temple; vice-president, Malcom Jensen; secretary, Helen Kenna; treasurer, Francis Fritz.

The race for the vice-presidency turned out to be the only hotly contested one, with three counts of the votes necessary to determine the winner, Malcom Jensen. Helen Kenna, the only woman elected, emerged victor by the most considerable margin of the night, more than sixty votes ahead of her next highest opponent.

Faced with their first big task, the building of the homecoming bonfire, the officers feel fairly certain that they, and a number of conscripted "volunteers," will be able to set a new record for the height of the lumber stack. Fair warning, however, is also given to anyone with thoughts of burning the stack before the scheduled time, as adequate measures have been taken to prevent such a thing from happening. Strangely enough, the officers expect more troubles along these lines from upperclassmen here at Stout than from Whitewater students.

Plans at present are to continue the general custom of having the men build the bonfire and the women, the float. All these problems will be taken up at the next meeting of the class, which will take place some time before homecoming.

The president, Larry Temple, who hails from Appleton, Wis., is an ex-GI, married, and the father of three children, ages eight months, two years, and six years. He expects to enjoy working as the president of his class and promises to do his best. He says, "It's a big responsibility, but I expect to give it all I've got."

At the post of vice-president is another ex-GI, with two years service in the Marines to his credit. His big thought at the moment, however, is to beat all previous records in the building of a homecoming bonfire.

Helen Kenna, class secretary, is busy at the moment sharpening pencils with which to perform her duties. Francis Fritz, treasurer, has the ability to do a good job at whatever he undertakes. Says Fritz, "If there are any girls who want to teach me the treasurer's trade, tell them to look me up."

YWCA SPONSORS FIRST FALL CORRIDOR SALE

The Stout Institute chapter of the YWCA sponsored their annual fall corridor sale on Thursday, September 22. Each member donated an article which she had made; among the articles were scarves, aprons, laundry bags, and pot holders.

Elaine Johnson acted as general chairman for this event. Other members assisting Miss Johnson were: Bette Severson, Jean Winsor, Eileen Deitz, Elva Lovett, Jean Van Lieu, Mary Lou Groom, Jean Bulmer, and Shirley Cox. Proceeds from this sale will be used for the general activity fund for the Young Women's Christian association.

At the dinner party a bored young man turned to his fair companion.

"Who is the strange-looking old coddler over there who keeps staring at me so much?" he asked peevishly. "Oh that's Professor Bemis," she said brightly. "He's the famous authority on sanity."

POINT COMFORT SCENE OF WSF PICNIC

Wesley Student Fellowship held a picnic at Point Comfort, last Sunday. The picnic was advertised as a hike and picnic. But it seems that everyone rode out, with the exception of Carolyn Blain, who wandered in an hour late.

The recreation was planned and lead by Ann Banker and Ramona Rathbun. The food committee, headed by Kay Thurston, served hot dogs, potato chips, apples, marshmallows, and pop.

Noreen Kahl planned a very inspiring Galilean worship service. The students sat on the banks of the lake while the service was lead from a boat a few feet off shore. Those who enacted the service were Lon Loebel, Jim Brown, and Dale Maxey.

Group singing around the camp fire climaxed a very enjoyable evening.

FIRST OUTING PLANNED BY CONGO CLUB

Congo club, student group of the First Congregational church, is planning a picnic at Paradise Valley as its first outdoor meeting. The group will meet at the church, located on the corner of Fifth and Wilson, at 4 o'clock Sunday, September 25.

Transportation will be provided. President Wally Bondhus, Jean Bulmer, Larry Johnson, and Shirley Cox are on the committee for planning the meal, entertainment, and worship service.

The Congo County Fair, held on church night, Friday, September 9, started out with games in which all could participate: volleyball played with bright—and breakable—balloons, ping-pong, and shuffleboard. There were lollipops and bubble gum to make everyone feel like a little child again. Mr. Harold Hanson, high school instructor, came in the disguise of a clown to present each of the ladies with a lovely flower. Somehow the flower disappeared, however, and all the lady had was the stem—a bright green straw.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Ruehl, assisted by members of the Menomonee Docey-Do club, led some lively square-dancing. All the club members came in costume: the men in jeans and bright shirts and ties; the ladies in long-skirted dresses. The church basement took on the festive air of a gay country barn dance. After all the activity, the group welcomed the hot dogs, pop, and pop corn served by the ladies of the Evening Circle of the church.

Guy: "Honey, your lips are wet with the dew of passion."
Girl: "Sonny, that ain't dew—it's don't."

SKI BEGINNERS CAN JOIN STOUT CLUB

Full Year of Activities
Planned for Interested Ski Sports Fans

"Send for your skis now," say enthusiastic skiers. The Stout Ski club is planning a big year of winter activities. Beginners should be especially interested. Most of the ski club members are beginners, but the club has some very able men to instruct those who are not familiar with the boards.

"For all who are experts or in-betweeners, here is your opportunity to get in on some intercollegiate ski meets," invite present members. Aside from the many week-end excursions on the slopes around Menomonee, the Ski club plans to sponsor a winter carnival in January. The carnival will consist of an evening of skating, tobogganing, and general winter fun.

An intercollegiate ski meet, a dance, and other activities are still in the planning stage.

The ski meet will consist of teams from several of the following schools—University of Wisconsin; University of Minnesota; University of Minnesota, Duluth branch; Marquette; St. Olaf; Michigan Tech; Carleton. These schools are all members of the Central Ski association. There is a possibility that the CSA will hold the annual cross country match here. The University of Wisconsin does not want the entire combined meet this year and has given Stout first bid on the cross country event.

The first outing of the year is planned for Mount Telemark ski resort near Cable. Skis and boots can be rented there. Besides trips to Mount Telemark, the club plans to go to the Mont du Lac ski area. These trips will be interspersed with many week ends of fun on the hills near Menomonee. These weekends will be a good time for beginners to get lots of good instruction from experienced members.

For all who are interested in skiing, skating, or any other winter sport, whether he or she is an expert or a beginner, the club will have something planned. Students should watch for the ski club posters. The club meets on Tuesday nights at 7:15 p.m.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS AT GRAD CLUB

Election of officers and discussion of amendments to the club constitution were the major items of business at the first meeting of the Graduate Men's club, Friday, September 16. Bob Swanson was temporary chairman.

Officers of the organization elected were Bob Swanson, president; Bob Mays, vice-president; and Ray Doane, secretary-treasurer. Jim Payne and Bob Lynch made up the executive committee.

The major topic of discussion was the amending of the Graduate club constitution.

NEW TWIRLERS SELECTED FOR SEASON

Phyllis Bartosic leads the Stout band this year as the only returning drum majorette. Other upper classmen are Bette Rasmussen, sophomore, and Helen Haase, sophomore transfer. Representing the freshmen are Steve Kosidowski and Prudy Johnson.

Each girl is well qualified for this position for baton twirling. Prudy Johnson, state contest winner who last year lead the Menomonee High School band, is now with the Stout group. With eight years' experience to her credit is senior Phyllis Bartosic of Independence, Wisconsin. Helen Haase, transfer from Stephen's college, lead the Lincoln high school band of Manitowoc, Wisconsin, for three years.

Coming from Beloit, Wisconsin, is Steve Kosidowski. She did majorette work for two years for the Lincoln Junior high school band. A veteran twirler from Sparta, Wisconsin, is Bette Rasmussen.

MISS CARRISON NEW ADVISOR FOR HYPHS

Miss Clara A. Carrison, assistant professor of foods and nutrition, was selected as the new faculty advisor for the Hyperian society. The appointment was made Thursday, September 15, at the first Hyperian meeting, Leona Sexe presiding. As new advisor, Miss Carrison attended the Intersociety rushing party Saturday, September 17, where she was welcomed by the Hype.

Miss Carrison, formerly an assistant professor of home economics at the University of Denver, joined The Stout Institute staff in January, 1948. Holder of an M.S. degree from the University of Iowa, she received her B.E. in the field of foods and nutrition from Western Illinois State Teachers college.

Mrs. Marjorie Postman was the former Hyperian advisor.

DORM'S OPEN HOUSE TO BE IN OCTOBER

Lynwood will hold open house on Sunday, October 2, from two until five p.m.

The open house at Lynwood will be sponsored by the residents of Lynwood hall. Refreshments and entertainment will be furnished by the fellows of the hall for the enjoyment of guests. The tours through the dormitory will be taken care by a special committee appointed by the vice-president, who is in charge of all committee activities.

"Everyone is welcome to attend Lynwood's open house on Sunday. Come to see us," invites dorm president Don Straw.

PROSPECTS ARE PROMISING IN MUSIC GROUPS

All Phases of the Music Dept Have Positions To be Filled

"Prospects for another very good choir, worthy of the tradition of the Stout Symphonic Singers were revealed at the initial practice," stated Mr. Charles Frailey, new head of the music department, when interviewed about the musical organizations of the college.

There are thirty-eight women and twenty-eight men in the Singers. Of these, ten women and fifteen men are new members.

Practices are held at 5:00 p.m. Monday and Thursday, and at 7:00 p.m. Wednesday.

Orchestra Wants Strings

String players are badly needed by the orchestra. There are only four violin positions filled, and no violas, cellos or bass fiddles. Anyone interested should contact Mr. Frailey as he is anxious for a full string section. All instrumental positions have been filled.

The orchestra will participate in the Christmas concert, and it will again accompany the Singers.

Singing For Fun

Plans for the Glee club are not definite. More first sopranos are needed. Since it is not necessary to have an excellent voice for this group, Mr. Frailey invites any girl to try out who is interested in singing mostly for fun.

There are thirty-two girls in the choir now, but forty-five are required to make a good Glee club. The girls practice every Monday at 7:00.

Large Band Membership

The band, with a membership of fifty-five, is well organized, but two sousaphone players and an ebee and basson player will indeed be welcomed, according to Mr. Frailey.

Rehearsals for the band are held every Tuesday at 7:00 p.m. and Wednesday at 5:00 p.m. During football season, special rehearsals are held Friday at 5:00 p.m.

"The band will fashion up into a first class organization, and it has been working hard to be ready for the E. C. football game tomorrow night," the director said.

Mr. Frailey urges that the school give its full support to these musical organization, which promise interesting programs throughout the year.

MARTIN HALL SPEAKER AT CONVOCAATION

Veteran Correspondent Uses "Democratic Goals For Europe" as Topic

Martin Hall, world traveler, educator, lecturer, and author, will be the speaker at convocation, October 5, at 10 o'clock.

A native of Germany, and an American citizen by naturalization, Mr. Hall brings to the platform over twelve years of experience and travel as a journalist in Europe and the Soviet Union. Mr. Hall received his education at the universities of Marburg, Munich, and Berlin. During the pre-war years he covered the continent of Europe as a foreign correspondent for several newspapers, including the "Manchester Guardian," and papers in France and Germany.

An anti-Hitler German and veteran of the German underground, Mr. Hall escaped the Nazis in 1936 and came to America, where he became an American citizen. In 1947 he returned to Europe, bringing back an eye-witness report on the effects on Europe of our current American foreign policy.

His lecture on the topic "Democratic Goals for Europe" promises a scholarly and forceful appraisal of the confusing trends apparent on Europe's divided continent.

SODERBERG TO SPEAK AT MARQUETTE, MICH.

Mr. George Soderberg, assistant professor of industrial education at Stout, will leave for Marquette, Michigan, on October 6 to speak before the industrial arts section of the Upper Michigan teachers convention.

Addressing the section on October 7, Mr. Soderberg will speak on "Finishing and Coloring in Industrial Education." The meeting, which will be held at Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette, Michigan, will attract industrial education teachers from all sections of upper Michigan.

CUBBY-HOLE IS NEW HOME FOR PAPER

The Stoutonia now has a room of its own. Up to this year the Stoutonia meeting and working place was the lecture room in the print shop. The print shop is a very busy place most hours of the school days, so Stoutonia staff moved.

The staff now has news casts in room 122 H.E. at five o'clock on Tuesdays. The new headquarters and work room is in the basement of the H.E. building. It is the little cubical at the end of the corridor next to room 29. The office will be open at all times for the convenience of the staff members.

STOUT SINGERS ARE IN DIRE NEED OF MEN

Men Needed!

That was the appeal sent out this week by Mr. Frailey, director of music at the college, who finds the Stout Symphonic singers in dire need of male voices, especially in the bass section.

According to Mr. Frailey, participation in the Symphonics provides members with many valuable chances for appearance before the public. Many enjoyable experiences and opportunities for making friendships are also part of Symphonic activity.

"We want anyone to try out, who likes to sing," urges Mr. Frailey. "Let me be the judge; you may have more talent than you think. Please give us a try. What have you to lose?"

She: "You remind me of the ocean."
He: Wild, romantic, restless, huh?"
She: "Naw, you only make me sick."

A Stout penalty, however, recalled the play, but two plays later, Woelffer pitched to Stai in the end zone. Young again converted and the Blue Devils moved into a 21 to 20 lead.

The Blue Devils increased their margin to eight points in the opening minutes of the final period. Hobolich started the attack with line smashes that moved the ball from the Stout 11-yard line to the 42. Penalties mov-

Hobolich started to drive for another touchdown seconds before the final whistle, when he smashed from his own 46 yard line to the Mankato 48, then to the 39 and finally to the 35.

SEWING CLINIC TO BE HELD AT STOUT

Mrs. Edna Bryte Bishop, who conducted a very fine one-day clothing clinic at The Stout Institute a year ago at this time, is to be here again this year, on October 3.

Mrs. Bishop is promoting more efficient methods in the construction of clothing. The work covered in last year's clinic dealt with the fundamentals of clothing construction. More advanced work will be treated this year.

Home economics teachers of the northwest section of the state are eligible to attend this regional clinic upon payment of a three dollar enrollment fee for which they receive an admission ticket.

Enrollment should be made in advance through Dean Kirk of the Home Economics division of The Stout Institute.

"S" Club Asks For Removal Of Other School Letters

The "S" club of Stout wishes to direct the attention of new students, particularly the men, to the fact that it is customary and traditional at colleges throughout the country that the only athletic award letters worn are those which have been won at that college.

The official letter of Stout is white block "S" worn on a royal blue jacket-type sweater. The members wish to point out, however, that letter sweaters won at other schools can be worn on the campus if the letter has been removed from the sweater.

ANNOUNCE CAST FOR PLAY THIS YEAR

Casting is over, and the homecoming play now heads into hard weeks of practice. Parts performed by the various characters in "To the Lovely Margaret," the Manual Arts Player's selection for this year's performance, will be interpreted as follows: Professor Adams will be played by Dale Maxey; Julia, his sister, will be played by Marge Bennie; Harriet Homer will portray Margaret, female lead in the play; Dick Krueger will take the part of Franz Koch, male lead; and Jackie, a young co-ed, will be played by Clarice Zarling.

Mr. Ziemann, instructor in speech at Stout and adviser of the MAP, will direct the play, and will be assisted by MAP member, Glen Sommers. The various other jobs which include those of stage manager and lighting technician have not as yet been filled.

Stout students attending the play will enjoy facilities new in homecoming entertainment. The members of the audience will now be greeted by usherettes and shown to their seats. Decorative programs will be handed to each guest as he enters.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB HOLDS INITIATION

The initiation of the freshmen and transfer girls into the Home Economics club was held in a solemn and inspiring candlelight ceremony, which took place Monday evening, September 23, in the Stout cafeteria.

The girls stood in a horseshoe formation around the head table as they learned the purpose of the club and took their oaths. Ribbons of blue and gold, the Home Economics club colors, were pinned on each girl as she joined.

Apple cider and cookies were served as refreshments.

The officers of the Home Economics club are Marvel Oelke, president; Dorothy Amendt, president elect; Jean Engebretson, secretary; Leona Sexe, treasurer; Laverne Ablard, social chairman; Gloria Kuula, program chairman.

MALISZEWSKI WRITES TO STS MEMBERS

Ordinarily the first day of school is supposed to be the toughest, but here in Oshkosh they have a custom of starting out the school year with a two-day teachers' institute. This gives the students an extra two-day vacation, and also serves as somewhat of a shock absorber for the teachers. So by the time that the students start coming to classes, the nervous anticipation has been replaced by a feeling of quiet readiness, which is much better. Now, some so-called authorities claim that a teacher should start in tough right off the bat, letting the students know who is boss and all that sort of stuff. Maybe I'm all wrong and don't know it, but so far I haven't had any trouble just treating the boys like human beings.

The boys taking printing are all pretty much interested, and my biggest problem is in holding them down so they don't work faster than I have scheduled, in keeping with what I have to offer them.

At the present time, the school administration figures that two courses in printing, one for beginners and the other for advanced students, is sufficient to meet the needs. There is a third course in linotype, but very few students are allowed to make the grade on that one.

The shop equipment is ample insofar as letterpress is concerned, including new type, good presses, and all necessary supplies. One drawback is the lack of any automatics, but then that has its advantages, too.

Within a short time, the school paper will be a print shop baby, which of course calls for plenty of pre-planning. Incidentally, I am looking forward to seeing my first Stoutonia as an alumnus, so you had better check that address plate again.

While I was in Milwaukee during the month of August, I ran into a new process that might interest the STS group. Some of the billboards, taxi signs, and street car cards seemed to have an unusual brilliance about them that made them stand out head and shoulders over the rest of the advertising. Now, I have seen and read about luminous and fluorescent inks that glowed in the dark, but the daytime was a new one on me. After a little detective work, I located the place that was handling this particular type of reproduction, which is called "Day Glo." The plant officials were very nice to me, especially after I explained that I had teaching connections and was naturally interested in new developments in the graphic arts line. The secret of the method lies in a new glass-base paint which is applied in the same manner as ordinary silk screen paint. The results are so astoundingly different that one can't help but wonder about the possibilities in other fields, such as visual education, traffic signs, and so on.

The company tried to talk me into representing them in Oshkosh, but I figured that teaching ought to come first. Besides, I found out what I was interested in—the paint can be purchased through the Sherwin-Williams company at a cost of about twenty bucks a gallon. Since most of the work was rather large, I was unable to obtain any samples, but maybe I'll have better luck the next time I'm in Milwaukee. That won't be too long from now either. There is a convention scheduled for November 4th and 5th.

If the STS has started to hold its regular meetings, I would appreciate it if you would let the guys know that I wish I were still with them. If any of the fellows would like to write, I promise to answer all letters, and if any field trips head out this way, be sure to include Oshkosh in the itinerary.

Cheerfully,
Dick Maliszewski

Mr. George Mehl, who boasts of having taken the only known picture of a dog with sixteen legs, took the picture of the Stout student body for his last time this fall. After having taken the Stout all-school picture for twenty-seven straight years Mr. Mehl will turn the task over to his assistant, Mr. Art Kromer, and move to the West coast to enter another business.

The colorful and active old gentleman shuddered at the word "retire" as he looked back upon his years in the photography business. "Some students have bobbed up as many as four times on a single picture," stated Mr. Mehl, "but the clincher was the time I was taking a group picture and a dog strolled into the foreground. He was standing still when the camera started to rotate, but as it reached his tail and hind legs, he started to walk in the same direction as the camera was swinging. Before the camera had completed its arc, the dog stopped and I got his head on the picture. When the picture was developed, the dog was five times the length of a normal dog and had sixteen legs." Mr. Mehl stated his belief that "my dog picture is probably the only one of its kind ever taken."

Mr. Mehl was born in the state of Minnesota in 1887 and has lived there since that time. After spending fourteen years on the farm, he moved to the city and entered the publishing business and later the collection business. He took up the life of a photographer after the first World War, and set up his headquarters at Minneapolis. Sixty-two years of Minnesota winters have aided him in selecting California for his next place of residence, because he seems to have a definite dislike for shoveling snow. Mr. Mehl said, "I'm going to take an instrument of torture from the State of Minnesota upon the blade, and give it to a museum."

LOUIS E. BELOW WRITES TO ALUMNI

Louis E. Below, assistant director of printing at the Vancouver high school, Vancouver, Wash., writes to inform us that the new vocational school there will be ready for use sometime after the first of the year. The shops will not be moved in until next summer, and when they are, most of the machines will have to be knocked down.

He sent some samples of the work done by his students and a lesson sheet used with the book "General Printing," which is the text his classes are using this year.

When facilities are available, Mr. Below plans to install a silk screen outfit and begin some work in that line.

Louis would like to know if the STS would like samples of the work done in his shops, as such examples might give them some debating points on the merits of other work.

CLASS TO BUILD HOUSE IN WOODWORKING

The first quarter General Woodworking I class is constructing the frame of a model house. Mr. K. T. Olsen, instructor in the General Woodworking class, is having the model built on the scale of 3/4 inch equal one foot.

The model is being built suitable to conversion into a small cottage garage, or a storage building. When built, the building would have the frames for windows and a standard garage door. Its overall dimensions would be 24' by 16'.

The men in General Woodworking are using a platform type of construction. The walls, flooring, a roof of the model are prefabricated in the General Woodworking shop and the finished model will be assembled during the first quarter.

NSA HOLDS CONVENTION TO SWAP IDEAS

Representatives from Three Hundred Colleges Meet To Discuss Ideas, Problems

More than a million students swapped ideas for the improvement of their academic lives, at the Second Annual congress of the National Student association, held August 24 through September 3, at the University of Illinois.

Through their representatives from more than 300 colleges and universities, students spent ten intensive days and nights trading ideas, learning about situations other students face, and beginning to understand each other.

"Round Tables"

Delegates met in small, informal fifteen man "round tables" to talk about particular problems, as the discrimination evident in college enrollments.

They also convened in larger "commissions" to attack phases of student interest, such as international problems and foreign travel.

On the University of Illinois campus, the more than 800 delegates and alternates examined the worth of all the thoughts they could assemble on bettering the educational system of the United States and making it more amply serve the needs of each individual student.

The first step taken by the students was that of acquainting themselves with the problem areas by hearing notable "resource" speakers.

Speakers Help on Policy

Along with facts from students who operated NSA projects last year, these speakers provided the background for the formation of the NSA policy for the coming year.

Discussion and decisions on NSA policy centered on discrimination and segregation, academic freedom, international affairs, and Federal aid to education.

On minority group bias, representatives realized that "character and academic standing are the only two qualifications necessary for admission to educational institutions."

They called for legislation against schools refusing admission to students because of race, religion, sex, national origin, political beliefs and economic circumstances. They plan to work through legislative and legal action for the removal of laws which perpetuate discriminatory clauses.

Discrimination Elimination

Taking a stand on the eventual elimination of discrimination which was called "neither right nor left," the NSA adopted the "Michigan Plan" used at the University of Michigan. It calls for banning of any new campus organization with discriminatory clauses in its constitution or charter and for the education of present groups with discriminatory clauses.

On federal aid to education, students were for Federal scholarships and fellowship grants, but they did not forget limitations they thought such aid should have.

Aid should not be discriminatory, and "where segregation may exist in primary and secondary levels of education in a state, they thought that scholarships in higher education should first be divided in proportion to racial groups within the population."

VERNON JOHNSON NEW CARETAKER OF FIELD

Mr. Vernon Johnson is the new caretaker of Nelson field, succeeding Mr. Tylee who has been working at Stout since July 19, 1949.

Mr. Johnson, who is married, has been a resident of Menomonie all his life. During the war he was in the armed forces; upon his return from service he obtained a job at the Lakeside Aluminum company.

The new caretaker has done many things to Nelson field since he has become caretaker. He painted the old bleachers to look new and has been making a direction sign to guide the fans attending the games. He also roped the bleachers in several sections for the separation of various groups.

He plans to seed the back field this fall to be used as a soccer court for the women and a practice field next spring for spring football workouts. Next spring he plans to seed the practice field, next to the playing field.

Mr. Johnson worked hard in preparing for the football games by watering the field and cutting the grass all summer. He lined the football field and also the practice field; the band can now march at the latter field instead of on the playing field.

Definitions Listed

They defined academic freedom as the right of a scholar to seek the truth, discuss his subject, and offer his conclusions through publication and classroom instruction.

The NSA is considering the exchange of articles to periodicals in other countries, international publications clearing house, an international art festival, an international study tour of India, a film exchange, broadcasts abroad, exchange of radio, stage scripts, and various other articles with international students.

They wanted more orientation programs, including vocational guidance, psychology tests, and human relations clinics to help students understand each other.

Stout representatives at the NSA Congress were Warren E. Phillips and Warren Barberg, who are among the million students interested in the improvement of academic lives of students.

DIRECTIONS GIVEN TO SPEECH OFFICES

By way of direction to those students who have had a difficult time locating their speech instructors for conference work, the speech department would like to announce the location of its office. Both Mr. Palzer, head of the speech department, and Mr. Ziemann, instructor of speech, have their office in room 316 of the H.E. bldg. Room 316, for those who are not acquainted with the office numbering system here at Stout, is on the third floor, about half way between the east and the west stairs.

FIRE ESCAPE RECONSTRUCTED ON HE BUILDING

Keller's Blacksmith shop recently finished reconstructing and relocating the fire escape for the west wing of the Home Economics building. The new fire escape is a permanent steel stairway, replacing the old swing type design, built according to the rules of the Industrial Commission.

The old escape was located on the north side of the library stack room jutting out into the public alley running alongside the north side of the Home Economics building. Because it protruded into the alley, the escape was struck and minor damage inflicted to it several times by trucks passing through the alley.

Several months ago a truck caused extensive damage to it, almost tearing it completely from the building. Because it was a constant menace in the alley, the school administration concluded that it would be futile to again repair the escape, and therefore decided upon the reconstruction and relocation to the south side of the library stack room.

"He plays a fair game of bridge, doesn't he?"

"Yes. If you watch him."

Hawaiian Woodworking Shop Making Exhibits

BERT MIZUHA PRAISED FOR EXCELLENT WORK

Hawaiian Paper Comments on Samples of Hand Woodwork Exhibited by Grade Shops

Bert Mizuha, a Stout graduate, was complimented on a fine job in the following article entitled, A Note worthy Display," in the Maui News, a paper from Wailuku, Maui, Hawaii.

The woodworking exhibit of the Iao School shop in the show windows of the Maui Electric Co. is well worth a visit and will be on display all this week.

The work done by these youngsters of elementary school age is really amazing. Bert Mizuha, the shop instructor, and Principal Charles Mounce are to be congratulated on the showing made by their young charges.

The work in Alaskan cedar and mere scrap lumber is worthy of attention.

HE BUILDING RECEIVES FACE LIFTING INSIDE

The corridors and vestibules of the Home Economics building have been redecorated this year. Pastel shades of green with white trim combine to make the entire building much lighter and more pleasing.

The tearoom also has been repainted in aqua and jonquil yellow in preparation for the opening of the tearoom management course which, for the first time, is scheduled for both the first and second semesters to accommodate the increasing number of students.

HAWAIIAN GRAD INVESTS IN A BUSINESS

In a letter received during the summer from Bert H. Mizuha, Stout graduate from Wailuku, Maui, Hawaii, he stated that he had invested in a business named the Mizuha Venetian Blind Manufacturing company. He said this was necessary to supplement his present teaching salary to support his wife and three children.

His business manufactures "Flexalum" venetian blinds and also repairs, refinishes, and renovates all other types of blinds. He employs three full-time boys and three part-time workers to run the factory. As proprietor, he spends as much time as possible at the factory after school hours.

A woman purchasing her first electric clock said to the young clerk, "What must I do to keep it running regularly?"

After a moment of thought he replied, "Pay your electric bill on time."

WOODS CLASS RESUMES WORK ON HOME

The Carpentry department has resumed work on the house which they are building. In the first quarter the Carpentry I class will complete operations on the garage and vestibule.

Mr. Olson, head of the Carpentry department, started the work on the house in the spring of 1948. The department completed the framing of the original four rooms at a temporary location one block south of The Stout Institute. In the spring of 1949 the house was purchased by Mr. Fred Curran, a retired Stout instructor, and was moved to its new location near 15th street and Main. Operations by the Carpentry department have been resumed at the new location.

After the garage and vestibule are completed, the Carpentry III class will start work on the now unfinished interior. The building of this house has offered the Carpentry students work that has embodied the many operations and techniques of the trade. Working on the house is valuable experience in the attainment of the Industrial Arts teacher's goal.

STOUT TO MEET ECTC SATURDAY

COVEY'S

CORNER

Stout looked good in victory last Saturday night at Nelson Field. For the readers who missed this game, cold facts and statistics won't describe the action that unfolded that evening last week.

Storti had his team completely trained and ready for the first game of this season. When Mankato made the first touchdown in the early minutes, things really looked bad for the "locals," but the Blue Devils came back in fine style and the see-saw battle which followed would not let the spectators rest for a minute. The team had plenty of spirit and got the season off to a fine start.

Except for the two black eyes which Fred Wentorf is sporting, there aren't any obvious physical ailments left from the game. Storti took care of the line weakness due to disabilities by switching Wentorf to tackle and putting Sam Basile in at guard. Simon, Johansen, Yount, and Malone helped hold down the tackle spots throughout the course of the game.

The backs couldn't have played such a spectacular game without the strong help from the forward wall. Ooley and Basile at guards were in there pitching all the time, the tackles were giving all they had, and Dale Diger-ness at center played a hard game in his first performance for Stout.

The ends held up their section of the line with outstanding work at defense, and especially at offense. The sensational catches made by Dom Cataldi and Vaughn Stai had the Mankato backfield coming and going. Cataldi and Debrauske shared honors at one end, and Stai played one of the best games of his career holding down the other outpost. All of Stout's touchdowns came on passes, so it doesn't look like as if this is one of the team's weaknesses.

Passing wasn't the whole story of the game. The fullbacks Peterson and Hobolich gained a lot of necessary yardage for the team. At halfback the burden was carried mostly by Janikowski, Kieffer, Krall, and Christensen.

Bobby (Don't step on my feet) Young's 4 points after touchdown gave Stout their 1 point victory.

Quarterback chores were divided by Pollock and Woelffer; Russ played fine defensive ball. All the touchdowns came off the talented fingers of Gale. Gale has been bothered with a knee injury all season, but his arm on passing was the crowd's delight. If luck stays with Gale on his injury for the rest of the season, his work will mean a lot in coming conference play.

In play around the conference, La Crosse snowed Whitewater 35 to 0, River Falls took another trouncing, Kansas Teachers beat them 34 to 0. Eau Claire, Stout's opponent tomorrow night, was handed their second straight by Superior. They were defeated 13 to 6.

Tomorrow night's game should really be a dilly! Whenever Stout plays Eau Claire, both teams throw away the record books and really give all they have got for this game. Eau Claire's two defeats won't mean a thing when they move into Nelson field. The Stout boys will be playing to avenge last year's, 6 to 0 defeat, and it would be a big night for Eau Claire if they could hand our men a defeat for the second year in a row. Come early to the game tomorrow night; the seats will go fast because the Blue Devils picked up a lot of fans last Saturday, and they all want to see the team take Eau Claire.

POLIO CAUSE FOR LATE OPENING OF POOL

Polio is to blame for the late opening of the pool this year. The Stout physician ordered the pool closed by request of the county to aid in the prevention of polio.

The pool is now open and the schedule for swimming is as follows: men only on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday from 5:00 to 5:30; coeducational swimming on Wednesday from 5:00 to 5:30, Friday 3:00 to 5:30, and Saturday from 2:00 to 4:00. The lifeguards on duty are Herb Watanabe during the week and Dom Cataldi Saturday afternoons.

STOUT TO MEET RIVALS FROM EAU CLAIRE

Stout out to Avenge Defeat Of Last Year; Eau Claire Has Large Defensive Club

The Blue Devils will open their conference season under the lights at 8:00 tomorrow night, October 1, when they play host to Eau Claire State Teachers college. Coach Tony Storti warned that because Stout won and Eau Claire lost, the invading Blue-golds should not be under-estimated.

Storti scouted the game between Superior and Eau Claire, and the head mentor related that Eau Claire completely outplayed Superior and was ahead by a touchdown until the closing five minutes of the game. Superior scored twice in those last five minutes to win the game 13 to 6.

Eau Claire, the 1948 Wisconsin State Teachers college champions, have an outstanding defensive grid club, with a huge line and a fine crop of backs. Notable among the players at Eau Claire are Schaff, an all conference back at right half; Funk, who plays at left half; and Reidinger, who plays both positions. Full back is held down by Jack Perkins who tips the scales at 215 and really provides a lot of weight in the backfield. Outstanding linemen are Captain Washburn at left end, and Chamberlin who fills up the tackle position with 250 pounds of determination.

The Eau Claire team plays off both the single wing and the T-formations.

The men from Minnie Creek should provide the Blue Devils with all the can handle for one night.

The Blue Devils played fairly well for their first game of the season. Coach Storti says, but they still have many weak spots to iron out. The main ones are blocking and pass defense, Storti commented. The team will be looking forward to this game so they can avenge last year's 6-0 defeat, but the Blue Devils will have to play heads-up ball to defeat their rivals who won't be making this trip just to be defeated.

SPORT'S SHORT STORY

Mississippi State began playing football in 1895, but it wasn't till 1901 that its team scored its first point. That is patience.

RESERVE SEATS TO BE READY FOR PLAY

"To The Lovely Margaret," a one-act play about college life, will be the homecoming play this year. Mr. N. C. Ziemann, director, has announced that reserved tickets will be available in the main hall during the week of October 10 to 14. Tickets are obtained by presentation of the activity ticket; all seats are reserved.

Two performances of the play will be given, as usual, at 7:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m., Friday, October 15. The 8:30 p.m. performance will be finished by 9:15 p.m. in order to allow students time to get to the bonfire.

Students taking part in the play are Harriet Homer, Marjorie Lennie, Clarice Zarling, Richard Krueger, and Dale Maxey. The production staff includes Glen Sommers, assistant director; Lee Flanders, house manager; and Karl Windberg, business manager.

"To The Lovely Margaret" is a prize winning one-act magazine contest play depicting the trials and tribulation of a girl in a typical mid-west college.

COMIC PIANIST TO BE FEATURE OF LYCEUM

Henry L. Scott, comic pianist, will be on hand at The Stout Institute, Friday, October 21, to present his "Concerto for Fun" in the first lyceum program of the current season. Scott, in changing from last to first place on the schedule of Lyceums, will be the keynote performer in what is expected to be a long list of enjoyable programs.

Dedicating himself to the novel idea that a concert should be fun, Henry Scott has created a type of entertainment that has to be seen to be appreciated. Concert-Theatre is the name he has given what "Colliers" magazine has called "A new form of art." Henry L. Scott has not only created it, but has brought it to audiences all over the country. His first appearance in Carnegie Hall a few years ago was so enthusiastically received that "Life" magazine devoted two pages to the young comedy artist, calling him "The Will Rogers of the Piano."

Mr. Scott is still a resident of his birth place, Tivoli-on-Hudson, near the famous Hyde Park home of the Roosevelts. His musical training was received at the College of Fine Arts, Syracuse University. Those who take his straight numbers seriously realize that he is really a brilliant interpreter of Chopin and Liszt. Mr. Scott confesses to a fond hope that someday professional music critics will stop laughing long enough to realize that he creates music as well as laughter. Meanwhile comedy such as "Concerto for Fun" keeps the wolf at a respectable distance from his door.

Admittance to this program will be by SSA card. Patrons are warned to come early, so as to be sure to get a seat.

Dear Alumni,

Although many years may have lapsed since you donned your cap and gown to leave behind the pleasures of your college days, we know that your interest and loyalty to Stout have never vanished. As students at The Stout Institute, carrying on where you left off, we have set aside the weekend of October 14, 15 and 16 as your days. Homecoming has always been the most important event in the school year at Stout, and this year will be no exception. We are busy planning a weekend of events and activities which will make this homecoming of 1949 the "biggest and best ever."

With "Goal Rush of '49" as our theme, and with a record enrollment of 950 Stout-hearted students working to carry out this theme in all respects, you can be sure this weekend will be one that you will never forget. Beginning Friday afternoon with registration from 1:00 to 5:00, Homecoming, 1949 style, will feature two homecoming plays—the first of which will be presented at 8:15, a spirited torchlight parade to the fair grounds, a roaring bonfire, the crowning of the queen, speeches by the alumni and notables, and, of course, a snake dance through the town.

Saturday morning will be reserved for organization breakfasts and social get-togethers. The annual parade through the Menomonie business district, Saturday afternoon, will feature six bands and twenty-five or thirty floats. Probably the most exciting event will be the annual homecoming football game, which this year will find the fighting Blue Devils pitted against the Whitewater Teachers college eleven. The team is off to a good start this season and we know the players will do everything they can to make homecoming a success from their standpoint.

Following the game, a gaily decorated dance will be held at the armory, while the gym will be furnished with chairs and tables so that those of you who just want to relax, sip a soft drink, and reminisce with old friends will be able to do so. Sunday morning will again feature organization breakfasts; and open house will be held at the dormitories in the afternoon.

To you, all the alumni of The Stout Institute, we extend a cordial invitation to be with us and to take part in the 1949 Homecoming. Our plans to entertain you are complete; our desire to welcome you is genuine. Will you join us?

Yours for the best Homecoming ever,
The Stout Student Body

PLAN COMPLETE FOR CLOSING OF STREETS

Work on College Campus to Begin Next Spring; Alleys Are to be Constructed

Plans have been made and specifications written for the closing of streets intersecting the campus, according to President Verne C. Fryklund. The preparatory steps were completed by Clarence Tourville, director of Menomonie public works, who acted for the state engineer.

Approval of the plans was received by Dr. Fryklund and Mr. Tourville at a conference with the state engineer, September 20, in Madison. At that time, the starting date on the project was set as this spring.

Decision to defer action on the closing until spring was occasioned by the requirements that the project be advertised and contracts for the work be let.

According to President Fryklund, the contract will call for tearing up present pavement and curbing, tearing out brick sidewalks and replacing them, and filling in with black dirt and seeding where needed.

Coal deliveries will be made on a new driveway which the State will construct between the new high school gym and the Stout trades building. This is possible because exits to the gym will be in use only in the evenings.

Delivery of supplies to the print shop and to other shops will be possible by use of a new drive which will extend behind the north side of the industrial arts building.

Streets which will be closed are Second street, from the alley on the north side of the home economics building to Ninth avenue. Wilson avenue will be shut off to the main door of the home economics building. A turnaround for automobiles will be constructed there.

RULES FOR RESERVES REVEALED BY LIBRARY

Books of the library that are placed on reserve for student use, are placed there by the faculty at least twenty-four hours before the books are called for.

A resume of the regulations concerning reserved books may be added here. Reserved books may be drawn for two hours and renewed for a like period if they are not in demand. They may be drawn for overnight use after 9 p.m., or for week-end use after 11 a. m. on Saturday. Books are due back at the library by 8:30 o'clock the following morning.

SOPHS HOLD PICNIC AT RIVERSIDE PARK

A sophomore class picnic was held at Riverside park, Saturday afternoon, October 1. Wayne Coleman and Rueben Schwantes had charge of the afternoon's activities, which included kitchen ball and volley ball. Arrangements for the food were made by Jeanne Archie and Ruth Quigley.

SSA MESSAGE

Fellow Students,

Another week has finished and only one short week remains until our gala celebration of Homecoming. All our month's work in preparation will be expended in three short days, but it will be well worth it, for Homecoming is THE big event of the year. Every organization and individual has cooperated splendidly in making plans, and it will be next week that those formulations will materialize. So far, everything indicates that this year will be one of the best Homecomings Stout has ever had.

Elsewhere in this issue you may read about our team's defeat by Eau Claire, and of a spectacular catch by one of the Bluegolds that spelled defeat for our boys. But what we're interested in mainly is our spirit behind those boys, for it was at high tide that night. It was considered the tops of many a game played at Nelson field. That's the way the team likes it and that's the way we'll give it to them. Hope to see a lot of you at River Falls tomorrow night with another display of pep.

Soon we'll see the Seniors decorating the buildings, the Sophomores the town, the Freshmen with the bonfire, and the Juniors the dances. Much co-operation is needed for these duties because of the limited time. Busier than any other class are the Juniors who are confronted with the task of decorating the Armory. It is to be painted a few days prior to our dance and only a limited time exists for decorating. So let's all get out and lend a helping hand to our respective classes, and make our 1949 Homecoming a huge success.

Sincerely,
The SSA Officers

GRINDING POWER OF EAU CLAIRE DEFEATS STOUT

Stout Failure To Convert Proves To Be Losing Point; Statistics Given For Game

The grinding power of an Eau Claire State Teachers college football machine, driven by a hard-charging forward wall, wore down the Blue Devils last Saturday night at Nelson field and earned the invaders a 7-6 victory in the opening conference game for the Stout gridders.

With this victory, Eau Claire moved a long way back in the defense of their conference title, while the Blue Devils received a good taste of what lays ahead of them for the remainder of the the season in the local conference.

FAMOUS HOMECOMING OF 1923 RECALLED

"Hit 'Em Hard, Hit 'Em Low, Come on Stout, Let's Go" read the banner head of the pre-homecoming issue of the Stoutonia, vintage of 1923. The story continued to reveal that Stout was all set for the biggest homecoming in history. The gridiron foe for the week-end was to be Superior normal school.

Headlines on November ninth, a week later, were "Homecoming Surpasses All Expectations." The accompanying story went to great lengths to describe the campus activities. The bonfire at that time was held the evening following the game, at Stout lot, now Stout court, veteran housing units. It was "a tremendous blaze, with flames shooting thirty feet."

The Stout Institute today has approximately three-and-one-half times the number of students who were enrolled in '23; Therefore, it would be logical to assume that the homecoming celebration should be that many times as successful. Let's have the headlines in the Stoutonia for October 21, 1949, be a replica of November 9, 1923: "HOMECOMING SURPASSES ALL EXPECTATIONS."

Three Women and Thirty Men Receive Masters; Thirty-Two Receive Bachelors

According to a report released by Miss Gertrude M. O'Brien, registrar of The Stout Institute, three women and thirty men received Master's degrees at the close of the last summer session. An additional six women and twenty-six men were awarded Bachelor's degrees.

Persons receiving Master's degrees, together with their present locations, are:

ference.

Eau Claire emerged victorious, not by being the better team, but by converting after touchdown, while a bad pass from center kept the educated toe of Stout kicker Bob Young from splitting the uprights.

It was an unruffled battle of two evenly matched football forces to the final gun. Stout, however, lacked the passing finesse of the Mankato game. Eau Claire had both a tough forward wall and a well-established pass defense.

Again, as in the Mankato game, Sam Basile and Jim Ooley were the outstanding line men, while in the backfield most of the gridders played about an equal brand of ball.

The Blue Devils started out like a steam-roller, when Janikowski intercepted a pass on the Stout 18 yard line and returned it to the 30. Peterson went through the center of the line to the 41 and Kieffer added eight yards to the 49, where Stout fumbled and Eau Claire recovered.

Seven plays later Eau Claire scored their only touchdown. Perkins drove through the center of the line four successive times for 16 yards and then Funk went around end for 18 yards to the Stout 16 yard line. Funk then hurled a pass to Muehl in the end zone. Washburn converted to give Eau Claire a 7-0 lead with the game about six minutes old.

Stout started a drive immediately with Thorpe returning the kickoff from the 18 yard line to the 44. Pass interference gave the Blue Devils the ball on the Eau Claire 41 yard stripe. Woelfer passed to Stal for nine, and then to Krall on the 34 yard line. He then passed again to Cataldi for a first down on the 22 yard line. The drive ended, however, when Stout was assessed a 15 yard penalty for clipping.

The second quarter was a see-saw

WANTED: NEW SPIRIT

With only one week left until homecoming, all Stout clubs and organizations are busy making preparations for the big event. Petitions for queen have been filed, and every so often a Stout-hearted freshman can be seen sleuthing for bonfire material.

However, along with this comes the feeling that Stout is still lacking a little in school spirit. This can be seen in the unwillingness of some to participate in school functions, lack of support for the cheerleaders at games, and little things that mean so much to college life.

With homecoming scheduled in just a little over a week, the best thing for everyone to do right now is to get on the ball, and to support this important function. Each class has its own duties, and there is no better time than the present for you to get out and help with them; help your club to construct floats for the parade, and in all things, do your part.

A very important part of doing your part, is learning and using the school cheers. The football team is out there playing hard to represent us, and it means a lot to them to hear that we are behind them, doing our best to cheer them on to new victories.

Perhaps it would be well also to bring up a point here, which was stated by Coach Storti during the convocation last Wednesday. That is, "It is easy to support a winning team, but hard to stay behind them when they lose." So let's show that they're our Blue Devils whether they win or lose, and show it by giving the support which will help keep Stout on top always.

WELCOME ALUMNI

Homecoming is for every Stout student and faculty member, but strictly speaking it is an alumni affair. Many graduates cover large distances, others come from nearby, to greet old friends once again. Homecoming is the time when alumni try to recapture some of the college spirit with which they once cheered Stout on to victory. It is the time when present students realize just how much Stout means to those who have been graduated and have accepted positions away from the school.

The success of Homecoming is dependent upon the cooperation and backing of each and every Stout student. Homecoming isn't something which suddenly emerges a well-organized, unified, happy occasion. It requires days and weeks of earnest planning and diligent work on the part of everyone associated with the college. When our alumni return this year, let's welcome them as they deserve to be welcomed—as those who hav helped establish both the traditions of our college and of our Homecoming festivities.

The alumni haven't forgotten Stout; let's not forget the alumni!

HOMECOMING BUSTLE

Homecoming is only a week away, but no one would ever know it. We should be rushing around in preparation, but are we? A few of the freshmen are pretty excited, and some of the upperclassmen are working on floats and decorations, but the rest of us are either planning to go home, or just don't care. What happened to our school spirit when we came to Stout? Did we leave it at home? We're in college now, so why not forget high school and really get into the swing of things here at Stout?

How about more cooperation and school spirit both in preparing for the homecoming weekend and backing the team?

Don't be afraid to cheer for the team! They need our backing and we'll enjoy the game much more if we let off a little steam. After all, we go to the game to enjoy ourselves and spur the team on.

Let's all pitch in and work this week and on Saturday go to the game and cheer. If everyone cooperates, we can make this homecoming one that will be remembered.

FULL WEEKENDS

School dances held on the campus here at Stout have been more or less traditional social affairs that are held every Saturday night. Whenever there is a home football or basketball game, the dances are held immediately following the end of the game and continue until 12 p.m. This allows only about two hours of dancing time.

A possible solution to the problem would be dances held on Friday night, thus eliminating the short dances that are held after the home football and basketball games.

Another advantage of the Friday night dances would be two nights of entertainment in place of only one night of entertainment during the weekend.

Thus a possible solution to the problem is that if a closer plan of work was followed and a well organized plan submitted, the school dances could be held successfully on Friday night.

Well, here it is Friday again, and another week is done. I am just about done myself. This job is getting me down. All week I try to find interesting things to write about and people go out of their way to sabotage me. How do they expect me to hear anything thru the keyhole if they put Yale locks on the doors? Now I have to carry a drill around with me so I can hear what is going on.

I saw a few of the old faces at the game Saturday night. One of the more interesting ones was Stanley Kendall selling coffee. He was really doing a swell job of it too. Bob Jackson was a good helper. Lynwood Hall made a good showing at the game with their cheering section. I noticed Bob Nichols sitting with the group cheering for all his life. I thought it was rather peculiar until I saw Mary Lou Hickox with the band. Saw quite a few of the instructors doing their part in the cheering. Dean Price was there with pep to spare. Mr. Tom Fleming was there with his wife and it looked as if they were enjoying the game. Mr. Ralph Betterley and Mr. Herman Arneson were competing with a group of students to see who could cheer the loudest. I think it was a draw between ten students and the two instructors. I also noticed Mr. Howard Hoving and wife and child watching the game with fervent interest. Mr. H.M. Harbour was at the game too. I noticed Dr. and Mrs. Salyer watching every play that was made.

Say this fellow Russ Gerber really has a magnetic personality, hasn't he. His mother must have been scared by a magnet. Everything made of metal seems to come his way, including batons.

Two students were indulging in one of their favorite pastimes, raking their teachers over the coals.

Bev. Brehmer: "Did you know that my teacher talks to himself?"

Jean Peterson: "Yeah? So does mine, but he doesn't know it. He thinks we're listening."

Wracked by an unprecedented number of questions after a lecture, the tired doctor finally asked if there were any more questions. A young man raised his hand. "What time is it?" he asked.

When the Stout football squad was called out for the first practice session this fall, one of the aspirants was so fleet of foot that he made the others look like turtles. Coach Storti called him over and asked him how he had developed such incredible speed.

Hiliary: "I used to catch jackrabbits on my pop's ranch," he explained. "But," the coach pointed out, "Other boys here claim that they did the same thing. Still they're not nearly so fast as you."

"My pop is pretty fussy about the rabbits he eats," Hiliary elaborated. "I had to run along side them and feel them to see if they were fat enough for pop before I caught them."

Mr. and Mrs. Smith, out for a stroll, came across a long puddle. Mr. Smith suggested that they jump across. "Remember when you used to carry me over mud puddles?" she asked. You were a lot more gallant when I was a gal.

"I guess I was," he acknowledged. "But you were more buoyant when I was a boy."

A student was having his physical examination in the health office last week. All went well until it came time to have his eye sight checked.

"Now close your right eye and read the third line from the bottom on the chart," said the nurse.

Ted H.: "What chart is she talking about?"

Say, guess who we saw out with Don Straw last week? None other than our dear editor, Caroline Lanzer. Censored Comment.

I stopped at the Sophomore picnic Saturday afternoon and found a few couples wandering around. Pauline Zweifel and Jack Meyers were eating lunch together. I also noticed them out walking Sunday afternoon. I have seen Pauline and Jack together quite a bit lately. Could it be that we have a new couple on the campus? Margery Thompson and John Poellinger were also out at the picnic, or should I say in the back seat of Chuck Jorgenson's car. Gerald Jeffery was at the picnic having a good time. One thing I don't quite understand, however, is why the men were drinking their pop out of paper cups and the women were drinking their pop out of the bottles. Can it be that Jeff could tell us?

I am astounded at one couple I noticed this past week. Don Sargent and Bernice Danzinger were hitting an average of 5 out of 7 nights. That is a pretty good average. Bernice, Don, Jerry Pleszczyński, and Dan Foltman were over shopping in Eau Claire last Friday night. I wonder

Two Stout alumni, class of 1920, were sitting at home, having a quiet evening, when one of them looked up from the paper she was reading and commented, "There's an article here telling of the death of a woman's third husband. She has had all of them cremated."

"Isn't that life for you?" said the other sister. "Some of us poor women can't get even one husband while others have husbands to burn."

Two little urchins grinned expectantly when the fat lady hauled herself up onto the scale. They craned their necks when the penny tinkled down into the mechanism. But the scale apparently was on strike for for it registered only 82 lbs. The boys looked at each other in astonishment. Then one said: "Can you beat that? She's hollow."

I'm going to get a new '50 after I teach another ten years.

Lee: "What are those marks on your nose?"

Otto: "Oh, they are made by glasses."

Lee: "You should learn to tilt your head back; then it would pour out easier."

Little Freddie's mother was in the hospital, and he was paying a visit to see his new brother. He wandered into an adjoining room which was occupied by a woman with a broken leg.

"Hello," he said. "How long have you been here?"

"Oh, about a month!"

"Let me see your baby," he then asked.

"Why, I haven't a baby," the woman replied.

"Gee you're slow," said Freddie. "My mama's been here just two days and she's got one."

After a few days at Stout, a new Fresh began to run low on funds so he sat down at a typewriter up in the union and wrote a letter home.

"Dear Dad—Gue$$ what I need most of all? That's right. Please $end it along $oon. Be$$t Wi$he$ and lots of love. Your ever hopeful $on, George."

And this was dad's prompt reply: "Now that was quite a tricky letter you sent. I've seen NOTHING exactly like it since I went to college. NOme of us here would have thought to use the $ sign instead of an 's.' Write us aNother letter soon. NOW I must close. Dad."

The young lover was obviously reeling out a heavy line trying to impress the beautiful young girl at his side.

"Those soft lovely hands," he whispered. "Your warm lips. And those eyes! Where did you get those eyes?" The girl answered unimpressed: "They came with my head."

Statement: According to statistics women who have nothing to do with men live longer.

Wise answer: They don't live longer - It just seems longer!

He: "If Dean doesn't take back what he said this morning I'm going to leave college."

She: "What did he say?"

He: "He told me to leave college."

A man celebrated his birthday taking a day off, a woman celebrated her birthday by taking a year off.

My teachers criticize me And say I loaf and shirk. I'd do great things and show'em Except it's too much work.

Nothing is so gratifying to a woman as to see a double chin on her husband's old flame.

Mike: "My Dad is an Elk, a Lion and a Moose."

Ed: "What does it cost to see him?"

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK
Some people grow under responsibility -- others merely swell.

what they were shopping for. I noticed Bill Kocaj and Russ Gerber over in Eau Claire that night also, but I didn't noticed whom they were with.

I have noticed Don Krueger saying good-night to Barbara Johnson a few times in the past weeks. Poor Don doesn't understand words too well, so he has to lip-read. Nice work if you can get it.

Steve Kosidowski, one of the new drum majorettes, and Conrad Olson made a very nice couple at the dance Saturday night. Dick Ammerman, Ken Arnetveit, and Larry Mosher made one of their rare appearances at the dance. I guess they finally decided to give the women a break. How about it fellows?

Curtis Briggs, a '49 graduate, was in town Saturday, and he took Terry Reiland home from the dance.

The Lynwood open house last Sunday brought out a lot of the girls to see how the other half lives. They will have to agree with me when I say the dorm was looking pretty good. I think what was due largely to Mr. Storti's hard work and perseverance. Rosie Gradzielewski and Jean Van Lieu went through the dorm so many times we were beginning to think they were making a floor plan of the place. Alice Fechner and Joan Braun were having coffee and cookies in the room with Bob Christianson. Don Straw was made official baby sitter for a while in the afternoon. He looked very fatherly with little Mike Storti in his arms.

Wesley had a hay-ride Sunday night, and I overheard Shirley Doner telling Wayne Coleman that she had a wonderful time. There were two engaged couples on the hayride. Lorton Layman and Ruth Johnson make up one of the couples, and Bob Grey and Frances Knight make up the other couple. Another nice couple on the hayride was Dale Maxey and Neen Kahl. They aren't engaged however.

Well, that is about all the dirt I can dig up right now without ruining the lawn. If we ruin the lawn the guys with lawnmowers won't be able to cut someone else's grass, and we wouldn't want that to happen. I hope I see some of the Stout study body over at the game tomorrow night. For those who want to find out who I am, I will be wearing pair of brown shoes. Bye for now and be good,

CUB NEWS APO MEMBERS ATTEND CUB POW-WOW

Three members of Alpha Phi Omega, scouting fraternity at Stout Institute, attended the cub Pow-Wow held in Eau Claire, Saturday, September 24. George Kinsler, Gary Chang, and John Lurquin attended an all-day training course for cub leaders, held at Eau Claire high school. Beginning at 9:30 a.m., the course covered all phases of organization and operation of scouting, which is the scout program for boys from eight through ten years old.

Program material was presented to all cub leaders attending the session. Problems and activities were discussed in open sessions of the group. Handicraft activities were demonstrated and the use of salvage material was stressed.

The men attending from Stout will pass on the information to other APO members, who in turn will help carry out cub activities in the Menomonee area.

Mr. Herbert Anderson, adviser for APO, presented a program for giving aid to the cub scouts of Menomonee by way of acting as instructors for den chiefs in the handicraft activities. APO members responded favorably inasmuch as they promised assistance when called upon by local cub scout officials.

LSA MEETING HELD AT OUR SAVIORS' LUTHERAN

Sunday evening, Sept. 18, at 5:30, the LSA met in the church parlors of Our Savior's Lutheran church for its regular meeting. LSA is divided into teams again this year for the serving and planning of the regular Sunday evening meetings. Karl Windberg, captain of Team I, took charge for this evening. A light lunch was served, after which Emery Nelson, LSA president, led the group in singing songs. The evening's scripture reading and prayer were read by Russell Boettner.

The group then separated into the various teams to get better organized. The teams chose captains or co-captains which are as follows: Team I, Karl Windberg; Team II, Ruby Jarman and Gordon Goessner; Team III, Rosella Transgrud; and Team IV, Katie Ziehm and Gaylord Roe. The meeting closed with the singing of "Be The Tide That Binds".

GI-LS AT TANTER HALL ENTERTAIN AT PARTY

On the eve of Tuesday, September 13, twenty-five boys from Lynwood hall were entertained by the girls in Tainter hall, with Charmaine Chopp as chairman.

The decoration theme was based on football. Games and dancing provided the entertainment. Refreshments of apple cider and doughnuts were served.

Virginia Lane was chairman of the refreshment committee; Muriel Roffers, invitation; Bea Anderson, decoration; Charlotte Winslow, entertainment; Joyce Harbridge and Sumie Doi, records, and Joan Stachle, clean-up.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS HELD FOR NEW CLUB

Election of officers and formation of the club constitution highlighted the first meeting of a club being organized for junior and senior girls majoring in dietetics and institutional management. The meeting was held Tuesday, September 27.

The objectives of the club are to gain more information about various fields in which home economists are needed and to improve the nutritional standards of the community.

Officers elected were Florence Severson, president; Donna Franken, vice president; Ardelle Krueger, secretary; and Patricia Jones, treasurer. Suggestions were made from the floor for the formation of the constitution.

Committees for the formation of the program and constitution were appointed by the president. The date and time of meeting were also discussed.

MUSICIANS ARE MAKING PLANS FOR YEAR

The music department is getting underway, directed by Mr. Charles Frailley, who is making plans for the coming year.

The band has been practicing marching and will march and play at all the home football games this fall. A trip is being planned for the band to go to the LaCrosse homecoming game. The trip last year to Superior proved to be very enjoyable to all members, so they are looking forward to the LaCrosse trip.

After the football games the band will resume concert music and will give one or two concerts during the year.

The SSS is getting organized for another year, preparing for its first concert, which will be given at Christmas, with the accompaniment of the orchestra. The plans for the year are as in previous years: after the Christmas concert, the choir will start on its repertoire of music for the tour, giving a spring concert and several small concerts in nearby places to help to finance the trip.

The plans for the girls' glee club consist of participating in the Christmas concert and helping the band perform in the spring concert.

RECREATIONAL MEETING HELD AT CHURCH

LSA met in the church parlors of Our Savior's Lutheran church, on Friday evening, September 23, at 7:30. Jack Meyers, recreational chairman, led the various group games which were played and enjoyed by everyone present. A light lunch was served, after which Warren Barberg led group singing. The evening came to an end all too soon.

TOWER STAFF HARD AT WORK ON 1950 ISSUE

Staff Is Well Along With Work Of Issuing Contracts; New Tower To Be Larger

Work on this year's Tower is well under way. The editors and members of the staff have work completed this month that parallels the January schedule of last year's annual. Herb Watanabe, editor-in-chief of the yearbook, completed the signing of all the business contracts during the summer months. By signing these early contracts, Herb plans to cut cost, bring out the edition earlier, and have more time for the making up and publishing.

Plans have been made to give the Tower a clear, elegant smartness. An embossed design in the traditional blue and white will decorate the cover. The book will be larger than last year's copy, as approximately 144 pages are planned. The page size is 7 1/2" by 10 1/2". The theme of this year's Tower, which is selected by the staff, will remain confidential information.

The main contracts were given to publishers - - Lund Press Inc., Minneapolis; engraver - - Bureau of Engraving in Minneapolis; and photographers - - The Glen-Mar Studio of Menomonie.

Literary Department Naomi Wendt, Literary Editor; Gerry Tanz, Assistant Literary Editor; Gerry Erickson; Leverage Ablard; Claire Gofine; Helen Kenna; Fern Naedler; Viola Leiskau; Dorothy Hilton; Bob St. Claire.

Typing and Copy Reading Department Donna Heike, Chief Typist; Rachael Daubermann, assistant; Helen Helm; Jean Peterson; Jo Anne Seymour.

Sports Department Paul Revore, Sports Editor; Glenn Brooks; Ross Slater; James Brown.

Art Department Bill Kocaj, Make-up Editor; Ed McMahon, Art Editor;

CONGO MEMBERS ENJOY OUTING SUNDAY

Catastrophes and interesting mishaps characterized the Congo picnic at Paradise Valley Sunday, September 25.

One unfortunate person, Larry Johnson, landed in the creek. Another, Wally Bondus, tore his pants leg while climbing around on the bluffs gathering dry firewood to throw down to the group below. By the way, his aim was perfect; the wood landed in the creek every time. More than one person went home worried about having posion ivy.

Jean Bulmer should take a course in "The Art of Being a Guide." With one group already back on the highway, another group followed Jean as she struggled up the dark, wooded hill. After they were well on their way to nowhere someone down below shouted, "Hey, the path's way down here!"

After hiking around the colorful countryside, a hungry group gathered around the blazing fire for a supper of hot dogs, pickles, watermelon, and steaming hot chocolate. Jean Bulmer, Larry Johnson, Shirley Cox, and Wally Bondus were in charge of food.

With everyone still sitting around the fire, Jean Waltzer led group-singing of Congo favorites. The evening closed with a devotional led by President Wally Bondhus.

STOUT STUDENT BOARD MEETS SECOND TIME

Discussion of athletic fees, seating at college sports events, and reports on several college activities were highlights of the second meeting of Stout Student Governing Board, held Tuesday, September 20.

Seating at basketball games during the coming season was also outlined by Director Johnson, who said the following procedure will be followed.

Before a set closing date previous to each game, 525 basketball tickets will be put up for student sale. Those not sold by the closing date will be made available to the general public.

The Student Governing board also voted that the Stout Rifle club be given the concession to sell Stout decals and decorative stamps. A discussion was held concerning this year's cheerleaders, and the appointing of committees was also taken up.

CHEST DRIVE OF MENOMONIE TO START SOON

Menomonie To Have Quota Of $7266.90; Tom Fleming To Head Publicity Committee

Students, faculty, and staff of The Stout Institute are being informed this week that the 1949 Menomonie chest drive will be conducted throughout the city from October 10 to October 17. Budgets for the eight agencies participating in the solicitation give Menomonie a quota of $7266.90. Starts October 10.

Menomonie's campaign was set for the week of October 10 with the kick-off the night of October 10 at a meeting of all of the workers at the courthouse at 8 p.m. Arrangements are being made to present them with a full picture of the campaign plans, a model sales talk and demonstration, and a discussion of the problems and questions they introduce.

Only one change was made in the budget as recommended by the budget committee, and that was the adoption of a motion by Will G. Ballentine, chairman of the committee, for a 100 per cent increase in the request of the Menomonie Associated Charities on the grounds that there was a possibility of more emergency expenditures than usual under financial changes in progress.

Institutions approved by the budget committee and the board of directors include the Sister Kenny Foundation at Minneapolis where the money will be used to supplement payments for treatment of the polio cases, provide training for more technicians in the treatment, provide facilities and materials for the carrying on of the treatment, and some research work in improvements of the methods of treatment.

Scouts Benefit

The Girl and Boy Scouts come in the budget for funds with which to carry on their work in Menomonie. Much of this goes toward the maintenance of headquarters with the various services for the troops, provision and maintenance of camping facilities, and the provision of trained direction of the programs as assistance to the volunteer workers who are carrying on the program at the district and troop levels.

The Salvation Army and the Children Service society are two agencies being provided for in the budget chiefly because of the aid they are able to afford unwed mothers. The service society share, for instance, is based on the cost of care of two such cases from Menomonie during the past year.

The Associated charities is a home organization headed by C. C. Jarvis which provides emergency care for children, chiefly, where there is no provision for such care through other agencies. One of their costs is for the supplies for the annual inoculation of the school children of the city against contagious diseases.

ADVISERS FOR YEAR CHOSEN BY CLASSES

Class advisers? Here they are as elected by the classes.

To help make their last year a memorable one, the seniors have chosen as their advisers Mr. Fleming and Dr. Marshall. Mr. Oetting and Miss Hinkley have been elected by the junior class to aid them in all their big and little problems. The sophomore class have chosen the assistance of Mr. Parmer and Miss Amon. Dr. Salyer and Mr. Soderberg have been elected by the frosh to guide them along the new and strange highway of college life.

ceives a small amount for the carrying on of the welfare legislative program of the state and the state association of community chests, which is a factor in the drive for eliminating other drives through the drive federation. The budget also provides something for the USO which is being re-activated.

"Through its efforts the Community Chest is eliminating at least four major campaigns for money donations each year," President Tom E. Welch explained yesterday. "There are several organizations such as the Red Cross, the national polio foundation, the heart fund, and the cancer field army which refuse to accept funds collected through such a federated drive. The public will have to deal with them as they see fit."

"It is our hope that, through the united effort of everyone, we may in time bring all financial solicitations into one drive a year."

Wards Organized

Pierce Knight, manager of the campaign, set to work immediately calling on his ward chairmen to complete their ward organization and have their solicitors ready and on the job the week of October 10 and, particularly, have them present for the discussion and demonstration on the work of solicitation.

"Getting the people interested in backing the drive as an effort toward the elimination of the large number of campaigns for money donations each year is the first job," Knight said yesterday, "and then their natural sense of proportion will determine the amount that they should give in the drive."

"When they see that there is a need for a donation sufficient to provide for the good work of the several agencies, we know that their gifts will be sufficient to fill the budget."

Fleming On Publicity

Tom Fleming and his publicity committee also went into action with the announcement of the budget. Newspaper publicity will be carried on as usual by Paul Hasset and the executive secretary of the fund, but Fleming and his crew are supplementing this with personal appearances at service clubs and with letters and representations to the various lodges and veteran organizations. Letters are also being sent to the teachers of the schools for reading to the children in explanation of the drive.

Fleming and his crew are also taking care of the plans for the meeting of the campaign workers after Knight has assembled them.

R. L. Pierce of the Wisconsin Milling, Inc., a member of the publicity committee, has offered time on the noon broadcast of the company during the campaign to push the drive.

FROSH HOMECOMING COMMITTEES CHOSEN

The freshman class met last Wednesday to determine Homecoming committees and to set dates for future social events. After much discussion, a system for building and guarding the bonfire was determined, and the date for an all-school dance was set.

January 21 was picked as the date for a freshman sponsored all-school dance, arrangements for the event to be made later. Also decided upon was a system for guarding the bonfire. It will be done by three shifts, each made up of freshman, to repel any persons with an inclination for arson. It was also decided that the theme for the freshman class float in the Homecoming parade will be chosen by the float committee.

The following night the officers met at the residence of the class president to make out committees. At the class meeting, each person was given the opportunity to indicate his preference of jobs, and the committees were made up from these lists.

The following are committees: float selection committee — Gretchen Schoenoff, Bea Anderson, Bernadine Gunderman, Nadine Brown; transportation and pick-up — Larry Ingalls; coffee — Marcella Kinas, Geraldine Erickson, Charaine Chopp; cleanup committee of the whole group.

All the committees have started functioning, and the support of all members of the freshman class is urged, so that the hopes of bettering all previous records can be realized.

Next time the little woman tells you she's tired of her own cooking and asks for suggestions, spring this simple, easy-to-fix recipe. According to an old Arab formula, take one fish and stuff it with eggs. Then use this to stuff a couple of chickens. Then use these to stuff a sheep and the sheep goes to stuff a whole roasted camel! (Some dish! Do you suppose they really eat it?)

To be seventy years old is sometimes far more cheerful and hopeful than to be forty years old.

NEWSPAPERS PROVIDE CLASS WITH WORK

The Journalism class, taught each first semester by Mr. Fleming, is now using two newspapers as a laboratory. In addition to class work and exams, students must write six news stories for the Dunn County News as well as three news articles, an editorial, a sports write-up, and a feature story for Stoutonia. This provides the class with experience in writing both news and feature stories as they are used both in a school paper and in a weekly paper. Many graduates will work with papers such as these upon graduation.

Last year the students worked just on the Dunn County News. The present set up will give a balance between school publications and commercial ventures.

SKI CLUB HAS ELECTION OF NEW OFFICERS

The Stout Ski club opened its second meeting of the year with the former president, John Rudow, presiding. The first order of business was to elect new officers. Jack Holmberg, who was elected president for this year, took over the meeting immediately after his election. The rest of the officers are Charles Banks, vice-president; Virginia Grunsted, secretary; Bud Axdahl, treasurer; and Tiny Norman, historian.

After the elections, Jack Holmberg gave the new members an orientation of the club's future plans. The members were also told about the equipment they would need. A few members do not have skis, so arrangements are being made to accommodate them.

Other plans discussed were the trip to Mt. Telemark and the big winter event that will come off in January. It was not decided what the decorations will be, but they are sure to follow the snow or skiing theme.

SOPHS HOLD MEETING: MAKE FUTURE PLANS

Paul Revord, president of the sophomore class, called the first class meeting of the year to order at 5:00 o'clock p.m. Monday, September 26. The purpose of this meeting was to discuss the general plans for the coming school year.

Tentative plans for decorating the town for homecoming were discussed and Allen Ellingson was appointed general chairman. Ellingson then appointed Dick Krueger, Rose Grzadzilewski, Bill Kocaj, and Milan Huley to assist with the decorating. The class decided to sponsor a float for the homecoming parade. Ruth Quigley was appointed chairman of this project.

Miss Martha R. Amon and Mr. Charles H. Parmer were elected to serve as sophomore class advisers for the coming year.

CONVO SPEAKER IS "REPEATER" AT STOUT

Martin Hall Lectures Here For Second Appearance In Two Years

A "repeater" appeared on the Stout convocation stage Wednesday when Martin Hall spoke to students on the topic, "Democratic Goals for Europe." Mr. C. L. Rich introduced the speaker who had appeared here two years ago. Mr. Hall at that time spoke on "Behind the Iron Curtain-A Report on Poland and Czechoslovakia."

In his speech this week, Mr. Hall noted lecturer, author, and world traveler, discussed the future of Europe. Comparing Russia and America to the poles of a magnet, Mr. Hall completed the simile with the nations of Europe and other continents as iron filings grouped in the two magnetic fields. "If European civilization goes to pieces we will lose something too," warned the speaker. Therefore, he said, Americans should be interested in the potential political and economic future of Europe.

Since the continent has left status quo, the system of free enterprise, it has not tied up with any specific type of enterprise-Europe is between Russia with socialism and the United States with democracy and free competitive enterprise, stated Mr. Hall.

The speaker suggested that Europe become an experimental laboratory to try the best parts of both Eastern and Western ideas of government and economy. Because the problem of living together is always present, Mr. Hall mentioned the sober necessity of nations thinking through each measure before taking action when dealing with one another.

"Economic consideration supercede political considerations," stated Mr. Hall. "We depend on each other—trade has to come first." He pointed out various examples of trade between nations going on at the present time because of economic necessity while the political situations between the countries was not of the best.

During his speech, Mr. Hall complimented the United Nations on the fine work that it is doing, inconspicuously but thoroughly, in settling the the Palestine and Iranian problems and in encouraging East-West trade.

Mr. Hall gave a final warning in his speech that the next war will bring to America what it brought to Europe—destruction and disorganization—if peaceful steps are not taken.

The background of the speaker enabled him to know whereof he spoke: A native of Germany, and an American citizen by naturalization, twelve years of experience and travel as a journalist in Europe and the Soviet Union.

Mr. Hall received his education at the universities of Marburg, Munich, and Berlin. During the pre-war years he covered the continent of Europe as a foreign correspondent for several newspapers, including the Manchester Guardian, and papers in France and Germany.

Frosh Wins Carpentry Scholarship

Tony Buehner, seen in the carpentry shop with instructor K. T. Olsen, is attending The Stout Institute on a scholarship from the Wisconsin State Council of Carpenters. The carpenters brotherhood makes this award annually to an apprentice receiving his Journeyman's papers in Wisconsin that year.

TONY BUEHNER TO WRITE STORY FOR MAGAZINE

This year's recipient of the Wisconsin State Council of Carpenters scholarship at Stout was Tony Buehner. Tony has recently been requested in a letter from the council to write an article for the council magazine. In it he will state his reasons for applying for the scholarship and the benefits he hopes to derive from it.

Last year's winner, Donald Brigham, was also requested to do the same. These articles and photographs of the winners will appear in the convention issue of the "Wisconsin State Council of Carpenters" magazine.

SCHOOL SPIRIT SHOWN BY COLOR GUARD

One of the outstanding student activities that show school spirit is the Color guard. All the members of the guard belong to the Rifle Club, and participate voluntarily in carrying the colors. The color guard is under the direction of Mr. Frailey, head of the music department. There are three flag bearers and two guards, who carry the American, band, and school flags. The two guards carry regulation army M1 rifles which are furnished by the Rifle club.

The flag raising ceremony before all home games is conducted by the color guards, who march with the band at the beginning of the game, and at the half; they will also march in the Homecoming parade. The guards will travel with the band on their trip to La Crosse for the game there, October 22.

The members of the color guard this year are Gordon Mommsen, Armond R. Ballinger, Carl Anderson, John Kluzek, Eugene Traxler, Curtiss Howard, and Burton Yaeger; the latter two are supernumeraries.

MAP HOMECOMING PLAY STAFF IS SELECTED

With their sleeves rolled up to well past the elbows, the newly-selected members of the business staff for the MAP homecoming play face their respective jobs. The staff and their jobs are as follows: business manager, Karl Windberg; house manager, Lee Flanders; stage manager, Bob Christianson; and lighting manager, Gerald Holman. In these capable hands are placed all the problems of converting our auditorium stage into a fairly reasonable facsimile of the average professor's livingroom, and of arranging seating, programs, and usherettes.

DATES SET FOR LYCEUM AND CONVOS

Student Assemblies Set For Wednesdays; Lyceums Held Monthly on Fridays

Dates for the coming convocations and lyceums during the school year were released this week. Convocations are held every other week on Wednesday morning at 10:00 a.m. Student assemblies conducted by the SSA are scheduled for the remaining Wednesdays. Lyceum numbers are held in the auditorium once a month, on a Friday evening generally.

The first convocation held Wednesday September 21, featured accordionist Robert Deichert. The following convocations will appear as scheduled unless canceled by the committee:

- Oct. 19, Bob Gordon, cartoonist;
- Nov. 9, Subodh Chandra Roy, "India on the Threshold of Democracy";
- Nov. 30, Clifford Kamen, "Italy" -- illustrated lecture with colored movies;
- Dec. 14, Dr. Mark Graubard, "The Challenge of Modern Science";
- Jan. 11, Robert Bradford, "Tolerance and Freedom";
- Jan. 25, Sigrud Raxche, saxophonist;
- Feb. 8, Charles Emerson Boddie, "Christianity and Freedom";
- Feb. 22, the Gromers, "Cuba" -- illustrated lecture, colored movies;
- Mar. 8, Louis Kaufman, violinist, (A concert for the general public);
- Mar. 22, Dr. Elwood C. Nance, "Educational Goals of Democracy";
- Apr. 19, open.

Six lyceum numbers will be held throughout the year:

- Oct. 21, Henry L. Scott, hilarious virtuoso of the piano.
- Nov. 18, Victor L. Coty, "America Out of Doors"—colored movies;
- Dec. 9, Broadway Players, "The Hasty Heart" -- Broadway play;
- Jan. 11, The Eboners, Negro Quartette;
- Feb. 17, Karl Robinson, "China Journey";
- Mar. 6, Ava Hamilton, "Land of the Mayas";

"I guess I've lost another pupil," said the professor as his glass eye rolled down the sink.

Love hasn't changed in 2,000 years. Greek girls used to sit all evening and listen to a lyre.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

"The question of the week" is your chance to make your opinion known. The question asked relates to the school activities in which the student body is interested.

This week's question: What in Homecoming is interesting to you?

Henry Roesler: Homecoming is a week end of football. My interest is in seeing Stout win.

Larry Bohn: Homecoming falls on the same week as Teachers Convention. I wish it were on a different weekend.

Ray Post: I'm interested in the queens.

Gaylord Roe: Homecomings give the tributes and honors that the team deserves.

Charles Mueller: I don't know. I like all the events.

Robert Jensen: It's a three-day week end. I usually go home.

Norman Lenius: Don't quote me.

Jack Meyers: My girl is coming up from Milwaukee.

Bob Popavich: I'm always interested in Homecoming parades. They give the school a lot of pep.

Carol Hanson: Homecoming gives the school something that peps up the spirit.

Fritz Wentorf: With the school behind the team, we'll win.

Sure I won, but my dinner is waiting at the ANCHOR

CAPT. CRAMER APPOINTED TO MILITARY POST

Captain Neil F. Cramer, Menomonie, a former Stout student, has been appointed assistant professor of military science and tactics at Shattuck school, Faribault, Minnesota, according to a bulletin received from that school.

He served with the 32nd Infantry Division in the southwest Pacific, with Merrill's Marauders in the China-Burma-India theater, and as an instructor with the ROTC Infantry replacement center, Camp Joseph T. Robinson, Little Rock, Arkansas. He has just returned from a three-year tour in Germany with the 2nd Armored Cavalry and U.S. Constabulary.

STOUT GRAD GETS NEW POSITION AT WESTERN

Laurence Behrends, who received his B.S. and M.S. degrees from The Stout Institute, has recently been appointed industrial arts instructor at Western Illinois State College, Macomb, Illinois.

Mr. Behrends received his B.S. in 1948 and returned for his M.S. in 1949. He taught woodwork in the State Teacher's college at Pittsburg, Kansas in 1939, after which he spent six months in the army.

For his masters degree he wrote two theses entitled, "Personal Organization and the High School Shop" and an "Analysis of Project Selection Method."

To All PA Alumni: We wish to take this opportunity to invite all of you back with us for the Homecoming weekend. Our annual Homecoming breakfast will be held at the Anchor, Saturday morning at 9:30 a.m. If you are able to attend please notify Laverne Ablard, 1107 E. 2nd Street, Menomonie, Wisconsin. We will be seeing you all there.

ALUMNUS KIP BURTNESSE EMPLOYED IN OAKLAND

Kip Burtness, of the class of 1947, writes that he is still employed by General Motors Institute at Flint, Michigan, but that he has changed departments and is now working in the distribution training section in Oakland, California, as a conference leader. At the present time in that city he is conducting conferences in parts and service management for the Pacific region.

Kip expects to be in Oakland for six or eight months. During that time he would like to have his Stoutonia sent to him at the following address: Clifford Burtness, General Motors Institute, c/o Leamington Hotel, Oakland, California.

"What would you do if I kissed you?"
"I'd yell."
Silence. A kiss. More silence.
"Well?"
"I'm still hoarse from last night."

ALUMNI SECRETARY REQUESTS ADDRESSES OF '48 GRADUATES

All graduates of the class of 1949 are reminded to send their addresses to Herb Anderson, national alumni secretary. As members of the class of 1949 they are automatically paid-up alumni members. However, the Stoutonia can not be mailed to them unless their address is on file.

STOUT ALUMNI HOLD REUNION AT CONVENTION

A noon luncheon for Stout alumni will be held at the Eau Claire senior high school cafeteria, Friday, October 14, in connection with the Northwestern Teachers association convention, which meets October 13, 14, and 15.

Ardran Burmeister, who is arranging the luncheon, is planning a very interesting program.

Herb Anderson, national alumni secretary, remarks, "We hope that any Stout alumni attending the convention will take advantage of this opportunity to renew old acquaintances."

KFS CORDIALLY INVITES ALUMNI TO BREAKFAST

Kappa Phi Sigma cordially invites all its alumni to attend the annual homecoming banquet which will be held Sunday October 16, at the Cafe LaCorte. Serving will commence at 9:00 A.M.

All Alumni planning on attending the festivities are asked to send a card to the secretary, Robert Houghton, informing him of your plans.

D. NICHOLS TEACHING AT FRISCO COLLEGE

Dwight W. Nichols, a Stout graduate who has been teaching in Columbus, Ohio, is now assistant professor of industrial arts at the San Francisco State college, San Francisco, California.

He wrote to inform us that his address has been changed as follows:

C. L. RICH CATCHES ONE "DANDY FISH"

A beautiful 4 1/4 pound walleyed pike was recently caught by Mr. C.L. Rich while fishing on lower Lake Tainter.

Using a very small hook, Mr. Rich was fearful of its getting away until it was safely in the boat. It all added up to a lot of fun and as Mr. Rich called it, one "dandy fish."

C. L. RICH HAS MATH TEST PUBLISHED

Mr. C.L. Rich, associate professor of science and mathematics, has just received one of the first copies of his algebra prognosis test, the publication of which has just been completed. This test is made out particularly for freshmen in high school, but it is also adaptable for freshmen in college.

The seven page test is divided into five parts, including problems in arithmetic, number relationships, number series, and algebraic formulae. Mr. Rich states that his test has a validity coefficient of .78 for both college and high school use, indicating a high correlation between the test scores and prediction of algebraic success. The reliability coefficient of .98 indicates that the test is very accurate in its measurement.

Mr. Rich has done an immense amount of work in the development of this test, having spent over seven years working on it. Before this test was modified to its present form, numerous testing procedures were used.

In a test in high school physics published previous to this test, Mr. Rich discovered that for practical purposes, 200 students chosen according to the laws of chance gave as valid results within the accuracy desired as 2000 students.

The validity of each separate item of each part of the test was established as well as the validity of the test as a whole. The proportionate length of each part in relation to each other part and to the whole test was very carefully determined so as to give the highest possible validity.

Mr. Rich states that his test will be given in algebra courses at Stout to predict what type of work the students are capable of doing.

If you think our radio commercials are bad, pity the poor citizens of Central Europe. To sell political ideas, Britain alone bombards them in 42 languages, Czechoslovakia and France in 13, Poland and Canada in 10, Bulgaria in 9, Albania, Rumania, and Turkey in 8, Greece in 7, and Spain in 6. And don't forget that all these "messages" call all the others "propaganda."

Roland Kehrberg Announces New Addition To Family

A letter from Roland Kehrberg, a Stout graduate, informs the Stoutonia that an addition of a baby girl to the Kehrberg family this past summer has made it necessary for them to find new quarters in which to live.

Mr. Kehrberg is still in Dundee, Illinois, teaching drawing, woodwork and driver training. He adds that he hopes to teach adult training if the school board will approve.

DONALD LEIN IS TEACHING AT LOUISVILLE SCHOOL

Donald Lein, a former Stout student, has taken a position at Reuben Post Halleck Hall, Louisville, Kentucky. This is a 6 year junior-senior high school which was opened in 1937. It is the newest and largest school in that city's public school system.

Mr. Lein wishes to thank the Alumni association for his subscription to the Stoutonia and states that he enjoys every copy.

LOCAL MODELS FEATURED IN STYLE SHOW

Program Features Comedy,
Music, and Entertainment;
Merchants Donate Prizes

"Inside Arch and Outside Under," "Take a Little Peek," and "Ladies Chain" plus a "hash" number which included parts of many dances were merrily done by the Docey-Do square dancing club at the Memorial Hospital Benefit, held at the Stout auditorium, September 29. And how everyone loved cute, little seven-year old Carol Blodgett of Boyceville, whose singing is quite outstanding.

Jokes are still being cracked from the 18-minute farce comedy, "Yea Means No," which was directed by Mary Lee Ott and Vivian Barnhardt. The play is one of the very best farce comedies adaptable to the revue type of show and has recently been released for non-professional use. It has had several years of big-time success. Mr. Hanson of the high school selected and rehearsed the cast which included: Teddy Lawson, Charley Russell; Mr. Lawson, David Price; His Private Secretary, Doran Lotwin; Teddy's Fiancee, Donna Farnham; Mr. Morgan, Jake Martinson.

The big feature of the program was the Style Show in which forty-two local models were featured. The models were presented in fifteen different scenes featuring the fashions of the year for all occasions and all ages. Among the girls modeling the fashions was a Stout girl, Doris Eckstein.

The background music for the Style Show was played by Mrs. C. A. Shern at a Hammond organ and Mrs. A. R. Vogtsberger at a piano. The Royal Blackhawk orchestra played before the curtain went up.

The fact that barbershop quartets are coming back into the limelight is proven by the appearance of the Menomoniars and the Novelaires, two barbershop quartets which were secured for the program.

And to top off the program many free prizes were given away. Included among the prizes were coal, pressure cookers, lamps, and blankets which were collected from the merchants of Menomonie, Boyceville, and Colfax.

UNSUNG HEROES ARE FOOTBALL MANAGERS

In order to field a football team, a staff of "men behind the scenes" must be maintained. The managers are an indispensable part of this staff. At our Stout these "unsung heroes" answer to the names of Ralph Smith and Wally Christensen.

The job of manager includes duties so numerous that the total hours a week devoted to football usually exceed the practice time of the players themselves.

One of the biggest chores of the managers is issuing equipment. A numbered game uniform of proper-sized togs must be handed out to each player and kept complete throughout the season. Nearly one-hundred suits of practice equipment must also be kept in condition.

Other responsibilities include helping the trainers tape ankles, retrieving footballs in practice, watering the boys up during games, and covering players with ponchos as they leave the field of action. These jobs are performed to perfection by Ralph and Wally, who receive little deserved praise or thanks.

Senior manager Ralph Smith is a graduate of Washington high school in Milwaukee. While at Washington, Smith was a member of the school tennis team. After receiving his diploma, he served a hitch in the armed forces before enrolling at Stout.

Ralph is very prominent in campus activities. Besides taking charge of the equipment room, he holds memberships in FOB fraternity and the "S" Club.

When "Smitty" graduates in January, Stout will lose one of its most successful and competent managers.

The job of managing comes as nothing new to Wally Christensen. "Christy" served as head manager two years before graduating from Neenah high school in 1948. At Neenah he was also a participant on that school's track team.

When not busy chasing punts on the practice field, energetic Wally attends meetings of the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, of which he is an active member. "Christy's" dependability and experience make him invaluable to this year's squad.

TAINTER ANNEX PAINTED WITH PASTELS

Mrs. Nelson Selected Color Schemes For All Dorm
Rooms and Halls

The redecoration program of the Stout dormitories was completed this summer with the redecoration of Tainter Annex dormitory. Mrs. Nelson, head of the dormitories, selected all of the color schemes for the Annex's 36 rooms, 3 halls, music room, sun room, reception room, and Mrs. Adams' apartment. She has used warm colors in the north rooms and cool colors in the south and east rooms.

All of the rooms feature pastel shades. Some of the rooms are done in the same color, but most of the rooms allow for the new modern decoration idea of having one of the walls a different color from the other three. This new combination color harmony gives added color, character, and interest to a room.

Mrs. Nelson mentioned a room on second floor as having one of the most beautiful color schemes—that of one gray wall and 3 light pink walls.

The dormitory halls were painted first, starting with a soft rose color on third floor, a lighter rose color on second floor and a still lighter rose color on first floor. The fireplace wall on first floor is done in a pine-frost green.

The biggest improvement was made in the reception room which now has greyed-green walls. Two of the chairs were slip-covered in companion colors of rose and green to complete the color harmony.

Three of the walls in the sun room were painted a greyed-green with the other wall a light bone gray.

The blond wood of the music room furniture was painted a bright cherry red to direct attention out to the sun room, and thus make the sun room harmonize more with the rest of the dormitory.

The painters did not start until after the Stout summer session was over. It took them about three and a half weeks to complete the job.

The girls of Tainter Annex really have a beautiful dormitory of which to be proud.

Remember When

ONE YEAR AGO

"Stoutenia" was chosen as a homecoming theme, and Jean Waltzer as homecoming queen. Dave Daily urged students to patronize the union; Dean Price announced that he had the housing situation under control in spite of the many summer marraiges.

FIVE YEARS AGO

During the month of October, President Fryklund arrived at Stout. Men began to come back to the campus. Lynwood was still a girl's dorm. Stout beat Augsburg College by a 24-0 score to win the first game the Bluedevils played after a two-year absence from the grid iron. The team followed up the victory with a 7-6 win over Eau Claire the next Saturday.

FRESHMAN CO-ED RELATES EXPERIENCE IN OPENING SESSION OF CLASSES

Dear Diary,

I thought I'd tell you about my first day in class, before I crawl up to my top bunk and call it a day. Around 6:30 a.m., as I lay peacefully dreaming of what the day has in store for me, the alarm clock started ringing. There was a variety of bells; I'll bet we had the chimes of Westminster Abbey beat by a mile. That 6:45 fire alarm, or whatever it's supposed to be, was certainly unnecessary this morning because by that time our dorm sounded like Grand Central station. I swallowed my breakfast practically whole, hardly speaking to anyone, because after all, I didn't want to be late for class, at least not on the first morning. By 7:40 the dorm was so quite you could hear a pin drop.

We arrived at the H.E. building, and then came the mad scramble of trying to find our classes. After peeking into several doors, I found the right room. Our two hour class lasted only five minutes and I felt on top of the world. This day was going to be a cinch! At least that's what I thought.

At 10:00 a.m. we went to the auditorium for convocation. We listened to one speech after another.

English Comp. was very interesting except for the fact that we were given 10 pages of homework in our workbook. Psychology is the class that scared me. I walked into the room, took a seat, and began watching the prof. as he paced the floor. We were getting nervous and didn't know what to expect when at 2:00 sharp he shouted, "All right," and we all crawled under our desks.

"I'm going to seat you alphabetically," he said. By the end of the hour I had gotten used to him and I wasn't nearly as worried as I had been, but there were a few timid individuals still hiding. Did I say this day was going to be a cinch? That was just a first impression. He gave us a whole chapter to study!

The topic of discussion at the dinner table changed from school to the clothes we planned to wear to church night. After spending an hour getting dressed, we gathered in little groups and hurried to church.

We had a lot of fun playing games, getting acquainted, and eating lunch. When it was time to leave, I looked around for the gang I came with but three-fourths of them were gone. Gee, I wonder where they went?

It's 2:00 a.m. and my room mates just went to sleep. I guess I'm the only one in the dorm that's still awake, at least mine is the only light burning and it's going off now, too. Good-night.

Overheard in the pool:

"It's too deep for me," said the drowning man as he sank to the bottom.

BLUEDEVILS PLAY AT RIVER FALLS

STOUT SEEKS FIRST WIN ON FALCON FIELD

Tough River Falls Team Faces Blue Devils; Both Teams Evenly Matched

Seeking their first conference win of the season, Stout's Blue Devils will travel to River Falls Saturday night to meet a strong River Falls State Teachers' college eleven. The game, the first road contest for Stout, will begin at 8:00 p.m.

Stout coach Storti stated that the Falcons are a tough team, having the same conference record as the Blue Devils. This statement does not give a clear idea of River Falls' record, for their first two games of the season were non-conference battles in which they were administered two lopsided defeats. Last Saturday they were defeated 19 to 6 by Whitewater State Teachers' college.

The Falcons run their game from a straight "T" formation. This means that the Blue Devil forward wall will have to be charging constantly to stop the speedy River Falls backs.

"Gone from the Falcon's backfield, however, are Shock and Feiler, but the Falcons pride themselves on Cardinal, a three-year veteran, and Christie, the best back in the conference," said Coach Storti. Sparking the line will be Tom Linholm at one end and big Nate DeLong at the other. DeLong's height makes him a definite threat against any opposing backfield. Both are outstanding offensive ends, said Storti.

The black eye suffered by Harter Peterson last Saturday, and the sore knee received by Don Bredahl are the only injuries which will hamper the Blue Devils when they make a bid for their second victory tomorrow night.

Money may not buy happiness, but if you have plenty of it you sure can make your own choices of a wide variety of unhappiness.

EAU CLAIRE —

affair, with neither team making a serious threat to score. Stout vainly attempted to pass for a tally to overcome the Eau Claire lead, but the invaders' pass defense was near-perfect.

The Blue Devils came back in the third period in top form. They immediately set up a drive that ended only with a fumble and an Eau Claire recovery. With two minutes remaining, the Blue Devils started on their own 29 yard stripe and drove to the Eau Claire 28, where Woelffer pitched an aerial to Dom Cataldi to score. A bad pass from center prevented Young from converting, and Eau Claire held a one point, 7-6 lead.

In the fourth quarter, the Blue Devils pulled out their bag of tricks and attempted everything, but nothing seemed to click and both teams were held at a virtual standstill throughout the entire quarter.

"S" CLUB BLANKET RAFFLED AT DANCE

Tickets for the big "S" club blanket raffle, which will be sold exclusively to Stout students and alumni members, may be purchased for the small price of ten cents, or three for a quarter, from any of the "S" club members.

The blanket is like the one that was raffled off last year. It is a white blanket with a blue "S" in the center. It will be raffled off at the dance following the homecoming game.

RIFLE CLUB SPONSORS SALE OF DECALS

Decals and stamps of The Stout Institute will be sold by the members of the Rifle club next week. The decals and stamps feature a picture of the Stout tower printed in blue on a white background. Students may purchase the transfers from the Rifle club stand in the HE corridor during the week or during the homecoming week-end.

Suggestions for use of the decals include pasting on luggage, windows, and letters. "Identify yourself with a great college," says Neil Palmer, chairman of the sale.

WAA PLANS ACTIVITIES FOR COMING YEAR

W.A.A. is an organization through which the women of Stout Institute participate in several recreational activities. Business meetings are held on the first Monday of every month.

Initiation was held Monday, October 3, for freshmen, transfers, and other college women who wanted to become members. A business meeting was also held at this time.

Among the activities planned for the year are the monthly sports, Christmas party and caroling, and play day. Many plans are yet to be made.

COVEY'S CORNER

"A miss is as good as a mile!" The saying goes something like that anyway. Loss of a game by a point, however, makes a person think maybe our team hasn't won the whole schedule without playing the games. It looks like Coach Storti was correct in thinking that the games this year won't be push-overs and the boys in Blue are going to work hard to get their wins.

The bunch from Eau Claire was really fired up for the game; their line looked as big as it was built up. Perkins at fullback looked like a baby tank, for once he got rolling he was a hard man to drag down. Eau Claire's touchdown came on a long pass, and their end really dragged that ball in nicely. They weren't supposed to have a passing team.

Stout's passing attack wasn't as effective as it was in the previous week, but the touchdown pass from Woelffer to Cataldi looked good. A couple of catches by Stai were crowd pleasers. The Bluegolds had Stout's passing game pretty well bottled up, either by throwing our quarterback for a loss or by stopping our receivers from getting to their destination. This big Chamberlain for Eau Claire looked like he was offside about nine out of every ten plays.

The center of the line had quite a job cut out for themselves in stopping those big boys from Eau Claire. Wentorf and Basile were working hard all the time. In the first half when an Eau Claire back intercepted a Stout pass, Fred hit the fellow into the sidelines so hard I thought he was going to take radio Station WBIZ with him.

The 5-3-2-1 defense used by the Blue Devils against Eau Claire had Ooley working in the second line of defense part of the time. Jim was playing nice ball and was in on quite a few tackles. Bill Thorpe, one of the freshman backs, played a fine defensive game in the secondary.

Storti has almost a two-platoon system for the team this year; every time the ball changes hands, about a half dozen men go in for Stout. Bobby Young was playing with the defensive unit last week, but the he carried back a couple of Eau Claire's punts made a person wonder if there was a better back on field. Young is still as shifty as ever was, and he looked like he was going to get away on a couple of punt returns.

River Falls, Stout's opponent tomorrow night, was defeated by Whitewater 19 to 6. LaCrosse is fielding a powerful team this year; they defeated a strong Superior eleven the score of 28 to 19. In the southern part of the state, Platteville whipped Oshkosh 7 to 0; Stevens Point downed Milwaukee State Teachers 14 to 7.

Tomorrow night at River Falls, the Blue Devils will play their first game away from Nelson Field this year. River Falls had one of the fine backfields in the conference last year but somewhere in the past twelve months they seem to have lost the punch. Maybe the Falcons have been playing possum the last three weeks. We all know now a game isn't won till the last play is done, so I save my predictions till after the game.

The only big gun left over from River Falls is a fellow by the name of Cardinal. He is good enough to play in any backfield in the conference and the team is going to have to try and throw a harness on this guy. One of the men on River Falls team told me that instead of getting football players this year, their school was out and got a couple hundred freshman girls. Maybe this is the Falcon's trouble. It isn't very far to River Falls, so everyone who can beg, borrow, or steal a ride had better get up there and support our team at the game.

WIND BLOWS; STOUT CAMPUS HAS DAMAGE

Flag Pole, Tower, And HE Building Received
Severest Blows

Wooooooo!

With this howl, tornado-like autumn winds of from 60 to 75 MPH rocked Menomonie and The Stout Institute all day Monday. Rain accompanied the blasts which toppled chimneys, uprooted trees, and raised general havoc.

The wind, no believer in persons or places, boldly invaded the Stout campus. Impolite enough not to wait for a formal appointment from Miss Minnie Becker, presidential secretary, the gale smashed through the door of Dr. Fryklund's outer office.

Other damage on campus included loss of six windows, the upper half of the flagpole located by the Trades building, ventilators, and damage to the roof of the Trades building itself, necessitating its replacement.

Fortunately, The Stout Institute veterans housing suffered little injury, except for a tree which fell on the M. W. Reneson residence. No damage occurred to the interior of the home.

Stout Institute's companion structure, Menomonie high school, was damaged to the extent that it was necessary to close it for a week. A huge chimney was blown through the high school roof and much of the roof itself was peeled off by the wind.

Two bright aspects of the situation are that no one was injured by the gales and that most of the damage is believed covered by insurance.

DORM HOURS EXTENDED FOR HOMECOMING

Later hours are to be granted to all students in residence at dormitories during the Homecoming weekend, scheduled for October 13 to 15. Hours for the weekend are as follows: Thursday, 12:30 a.m.; and Saturday, 1:00 a.m.

Led by a drum major and a twirling plunger, the clown band from Eveleth, Minnesota, will play many catchy, humorous, and clown-like tunes and perform clever antics as one of the main features of the stupendous homecoming parade on Saturday. From the Main street Farmers' Store company to the Broadway Farmers' Store company, huge posters with "Goal Rush of '49," "The Stout Institute," and "Blue Devils—75; Quakers—0" written on them, and goal posts 4 feet high and 3 feet wide, line the streets. The store windows with their gay and bright decorations are sights to behold.

At 2:15 p.m. drums will be thrumming and horns will be tooting as the bands and floats fall in line for the parade which begins at 2:30 p.m. sharp. The parade will start at Sixth street, go up to Seventh street, and then down Main street to Broadway. From Broadway the parade will

SSA MESSAGE

Fellow Students,

Six weeks have passed since we registered. During this period, besides studying, we have had a variety of extra-curricular activities to take up our leisure time. Also, during this period, we have been looking forward to Homecoming and a big weekend. This weekend has finally arrived. How big we make Homecoming and how much we enjoy it will depend on to what degree we participate in the activities that are a part of Homecoming.

All of the classes and organizations are doing their share in making Homecoming a success. Now it is up to us as individuals to do our part.

Much time and effort have gone into the planning of this big weekend. The SSA officers hope that everyone has a grand time.

SSA Officers

TO REIGN AT WEEKEND OF HOMECOMING EVENTS

Hutchinson, Krause, Larsen, and Lovering Are Attendants
To Queen Christensen

Ruth Ann Christensen was chosen to reign as queen of 1949 homecoming activities, by popular vote at the student assembly Wednesday, October 12, as announced by the SSA office.

Queen Christensen, a senior from Kasson, Minnesota, is a member of the SMA society, Stout Symphonic Singers, and Phi Upsilon Omicron. Ruth Ann held the office of freshman secretary, president of the orchestra, and at present is treasurer of the orchestra and president of Phi Upsilon Omicron.

Attendants and runners-up to Queen Ruth Ann were Roberta Hutchinson, Patricia Krause, Ruth Larson, and Barbara Lovering, also selected by the students.

Attendant Roberta Hutchinson, from New London, Wisconsin, is a sophomore, and a member of the WAA, Home Economics club, Newman club, and band. Roberta was a student governing representative for the Annex. Attendant Patricia Krause, from Neenah, Wisconsin, is a sophomore, and a member of the band, orchestra, WAA, Student Governing board, and Newman club. She was vice-president of the Annex and is secretary and treasurer of the orchestra.

Attendant Ruth Larson from Menomonie, Wisconsin, is a member of the SMA society, Stout Symphonic Singers and Home Economics club. Attendant Barbara Lovering, from Appleton, Wisconsin, is a junior, and a member of the Stout Symphonic Singers, Philomathean society, Home Economics club, and Newman club. She is secretary of the Stout Symphonic Singers, treasurer of the Philomathean society, secretary of the Junior class, and secretary of the Newman club.

AAUW HOLDS LUNCHEON AS FIRST MEETING

The Menomonie branch of the Association of American University Women held its first meeting of the season, October 1, at the Marion Hotel. The meeting was a one o'clock luncheon. Forty-five women attended. There were representatives of the various women's clubs, PTA's, and church societies of Menomonie.

Miss Eleanor Cox, president of the local branch of AAUW this year, was in charge of the meeting. Miss Gladys Trullinger, chairman of the Radio committee, introduced the guest speaker, Miss Leslie Spence, Madison, who is state chairman of Education for Better Radio Listening.

Mrs. A. G. Brown and Miss Hazel Van Ness of the Social committee were in charge of arrangements. Other AAUW officers present at the luncheon were Mrs. John W. O'Neill, vice-president; Mrs. Verne C. Fryklund, secretary; and Mrs. E. J. Schoepp, treasurer.

FACULTY WIVES PRESENT ALL-SCHOOL TEA

A tea under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Floyd Keith and Mrs. George Soderberg, was given by the Stout Institute Faculty Wives, in the Harvey Memorial, Wednesday, October 5.

The tea committee was as follows: Decorations—Mrs. R. A. Wigen Posters—Mrs. D. P. Barnard Pouring—2:45-3:30 Mrs. J. E. Ray, Mrs. G. Soderberg 3:30-4:00 Mrs. C. A. Bowman, Mrs. H. C. Milnes 4:00-4:30 Mrs. V. C. Fryklund, Dean Alice J. Kirk 4:30-5:00 Mrs. R. F. Kranzusch, Mrs. F. E. Tustison Door Hostesses—2:45-4:00 Mrs. R. A. Wigen, Mrs. M. M. Price 4:00-5:00 Mrs. R. C. Johnson, Mrs. D. D. Chinnock Members of the faculty wives organization have expressed their appreciation to all persons who helped to make the tea a success.

To The Alumni of The Stout Institute:

Homecoming is an important event at Stout. You alumni who are returning to be with us this year are evidence of that fact. And you alumni who will eagerly read accounts of the event in the college paper participate equally in your reacquaintanceship with the college.

On the campus we too are aware of the significance of homecoming. We are striving in every way to see that this week-end will be in keeping with the tradition of other successful Stout homecomings—that it is truly a time of welcome, of renewal of friendships, of meeting new friends, of observing campus progress.

Stout has a strong faculty; we are proud of it. It has been strengthened and enlarged even more this year to meet our increased enrollment. When you are visiting your former teachers, why not stop in to see the new instructors also? They are equally friendly and competent.

We have changes in our physical plant, too, which we are proud to show you. Don't miss seeing the "last word" in foods laboratories and kitchens on the third floor of the Home Economics building. We hope the functional colors used in the first floor corridor of the H E building will meet with your approval. And look over the new bleachers which have so greatly enlarged the seating capacity of Nelson field, and the new switchboard and electrical installations which now provide most of the campus with AC electricity.

And when you again return to the campus, we hope to have tangible evidence of progress on two other important campus improvements. The street closing project has received final approval; work is to begin in the spring. Construction of the new college library, a long-awaited dream, is now an assured fact.

Yes, homecoming is a significant, friendly time at The Stout Institute. We are indeed happy to see you alumni who return this year; we have not forgotten those of you who cannot now be with us. To you all, I extend my warmest greetings.

President Verne C. Fryklund

LET'S READ

At the first all-school convocation, Dean Bowman said, "Make it a point to stop and read the bulletin board in the I. E. building, daily." I wish to enlarge upon his statement by adding, "All men should read both the Industrial Education and Home Economics bulletin boards. Women should read the H. E. bulletin board."

The bulletin boards are kept up by the faculty and students alike, but are primarily for the students' benefit. Everyone at Stout will find something of personal interest on the bulletin boards. The bulletin boards will keep him posted on college affairs, as well as church news, transportation possibilities, fraternities, and other subjects. The person who does read the bulletin boards should be complimented on his sound judgment, but persons who do not read the bulletin boards daily, should get on the ball and start now.

—G. S.

PLAN STUDY HABITS

Everyone knows that going to college is an expensive proposition. Yet, each year Stout students may waste hundreds of dollars, impede and even prevent future progress, by misjudging the importance of good study habits.

Something should be done, while the student is attending Stout to prevent these things from happening.

Habits are acquired by performing a particular action in a definite manner, repeatedly, until the act becomes automatic. According to psychologists, a habit is extremely difficult to unlearn.

Good study habits, therefore, will aid the student in satisfactorily performing assigned tasks more efficiently. Poor study habits will hamper the student Water, water, everywhere and not a dry spot to find! Boy, the rain sure did come down last weekend. That reminds me of a joke. One Stout student came in out of the rain and said to Mr. Fleming, "Boy, it's raining cats and dogs outside." "How do you know?" asked Mr. F. "I just stepped in a puddle," replied the eager frosh. Ha-Ha. Maybe that wasn't so hot, but it served the purpose.

I've been seeing Lois Jensen and Bob Solberg hitting it off rather regular these past few months. I saw them about to partake of the cinema last Sunday night. Another twosome that looked as if they were enjoying each other's company was Bruce Arntson and Jean Bulmer.

The Lynwood party brought out some new faces. Harriet Homer was escorted to the party by a fellow named Dale. I didn't get his last name, but I found out that he is a transfer student. People aren't very informative these days. Bob Nickols brought Dorothy Widell to the party, but there seemed to have been a mix-up after the gathering. What happened? Anyone know?

Of what I saw of the party, it looked like a huge success. I'm sure Donna May Jens and Jim Brown will agree with me. Not only were they enjoying themselves at the party, but they seemed to be having a good time at the football game Saturday night. Quite a few of the loyal Stoutites were at the River Falls game. "Big"

Don Bredahl and "Little" Don Gee were there keeping the bench warm, even though they weren't in uniform. LeRoy Dene and Jean Neimann went over in LeRoy's little Chevy coupe. Lee Flanders had quite a time driving to and from the game. Lee took Jean Archie and also Don Tietz and Anita Clark, Jim Gehrke and Donna Heike. That made it nice and cozy in the back seat of Lee's car. The old faithfuls are Chuck Jorgensen and Rowena Christen, Gene Traxler and Pat Krause, and Paul Revord and Roberta Hutchinson. I heard that Pat and Roberta are both out for homecoming queen. Nice candidates.

I also saw Ray Steves with Joan Schwanemann and Earl Webb with Connie Schlozer at the football game. How do they do it? A few of the other couples that I happened to notice were Al Hodges and Nadine Brown and Francis Fritz and Gretchen Schoenoff.

Miss Zine, house mother at Eichlerberger Hall, put on quite an exhibition playing ping pong with Bob Berg. Unfortunately she was not able to defeat Bob. Oh well, she will probably do better next time. Oh! I almost forgot to mention one of Miss Zine's sayings—"Make like a tree, and leave." What will they think of next?

Have you noticed Helen Kenna, frosh class secretary, and her boyfriend over the weekend? I hear his name is John Junes, and that he is in the army. I was also informed that they intend to be married in the near future. Is that right, Helen?

Have you noticed Betty Worthington and Bob Cseh lately? Latest word has it that they first met at the Senior-Frosh picnic, and have had "that look" in their eyes ever since. Of course we are wondering why Bob went home over the weekend. Maybe we have a chance after all.

I heard that Loree Woolen and Jean Moe went to the cities this last weekend. From the looks in their eyes, I would say they had a good time. Loree did all right Sunday night too. Wayne Olson took her home from the LSA hayride. Mr. and Mrs. Don Fahrman were on the hayride too.

What has Dick "God's gift to women" VanDuzee got that the other men haven't. He sure has Joan Kleinhertz walking around in a daze. I wonder what happened to Joan's one-and-only from Chippewa from last year.

I noticed Jim Ooley and Joan Drake, a freshman from Greenwood, in the Union last week. They made a nice looking couple. Another nice-looking couple I have seen from time to time is Allan Engen and Jo Grosskopf. Did I see Rosie Grzadzilewski with Gale Woelffer, or was my eyesight deceiving me? Somebody please tell me!

Kathleen Welch has been noticed quite often with the shy Jim Heller. Whatever got into Jim?

Well, I have to go get my shovel sharpened. I did quite a bit of digging to get the little bit of info that I got. However, I shall endeavor to get more stuff on more people next time. Has anyone seen Hank Tall out with a woman yet this year? If so, please drop me a note in the Stoutonnia office and let me know who the lucky girl was. Get out for the bonfire tomorrow night and be sure to watch the parade Saturday afternoon! I am going to be in it so try and pick me out. We'll be seeing you—

COOS BY WALLY PIGEON

It surely is strange when the right girl comes by, how she can bring the wolf out in mother's little lamb.

Teacher: "Students, what is a low-brow?"

Bright Student: "A low-brow is a person who likes the funny paper, snappy stories, girly shows and the like, and doesn't mind saying so."

"Correct. Now what is a high-brow?" said the very pleased instructor.

An answer from the back of the room: "A high-brow is a low-brow who won't admit it!"

All Home Economics majors take note: The woman who thinks she can hold her husband with just her cooking should remember that he wasn't eating her cooking when he proposed. Ask your mothers, please!

Slater says that tall girls are nice, but the short ones look up to you.

A small boy's head bobbed over a fence and his little meek voice said, "Please, Mrs. Black, may I have my arrow?"

"Why, certainly, where is it?"

"I think it's stuck in your cat."

A fellow from Stout went to a picnic all by himself. But he was lucky when he got there, for he met a girl, also alone, who had a lunch box full of lunch. So she invited him to join her in eating her lunch. In the evening when the group started to break up, he offered to take her home.

"Oh, you couldn't do that," she said, "because I live a mile from the end of the bus line."

"I'll take you home," he insisted. "I haven't anything else to do anyhow."

So they took the bus and at the end of the line they started to walk. They walked about half a mile when the fellow stopped.

"Give me a kiss, will you?" he asked.

"Okay," she said.

But since she was twice as tall as he was, he couldn't reach her lips.

Luck was with him again for they were standing in the front of a blacksmith shop. They went inside. The fellow got up on the top of an anvil and kissed the girl. Then they started walking again. About half a mile later the fellow starting asking for kisses.

"No more kissing tonight," she said. "Well, if you aren't going to kiss me," he said, "I guess there isn't any sense in my carrying this anvil any farther."

As the conductor collected tickets on a train, he informed a woman that the station where she was going had burned just a few minutes ago.

"Oh, that's all right," said the woman. "They'll have a new one built by the time this train gets there."

A Stout Institute bachelor is a happy guy.

He has a lot of fun.
He sizes all the cuties up,
And never Mrs. one!

When a girl is sweet sixteen, she's good looking; when she's twenty-five, she wrinkles; when she is thirty, she has gray hair; then she turns blonde and starts all over again.

Men say some women drivers are self-conscious about driving, but some are just unconscious while driving.

In the Dunn County News appeared the following ad:

"The man who picked up my wallet on Fifth street was recognized. He is requested to return it."

In the next issue the reply was as follows:

"The recognized man who picked up your wallet requests the loser to call and get it."

Some of the people whom we all know pay a compliment as if they were digging deep into their pockets for it.

The people who rest on their laurels usually rust on them.

Sleep now. Go to Sleep.

SLOGAN — EARLY TO BED AND EARLY TO RISE
FOR SOME EAGER STOUT STUDENTS

Have you ever been so eager to go to school that you could hardly wait for morning to come so you could go again? Have you ever been so eager to go to your 9 o'clock class that you woke up at 6 o'clock thinking about it? There are people right here at Stout who feel that way.

These "students" are the pre-school children in the nursery school on the third floor of the H E building. They love to go to school, and they learn a great deal from their experiences at the nursery.

Mrs. Benita Smith, with the help of Miss Cecilia Zine and students from the Child Guidance class (H E 424), guides the children in their activities.

There are twelve children in nursery school this year. Seven of them are here for the first time this fall. The girls are Linda Buss, Carol Jean Magnuson, Kathy Arneson, Patty Borgstadt, Christy Scharr, Jane Karen Schell, Penney Puhl, and Mary Jo Gruel. The list of boys includes Stevie Owen, Billy Draxler, Gerald Weddell, and Johnny Andre.

Activities of the nursery include, among other things: playing with large and small blocks, riding tricycles, singing, dancing, playing with dolls and buggies, resting, having cod liver oil and fruit juices, and playing outside. Most of the children love their cod liver oil, and some even ask for "seconds." Many special abilities are apparent in these activities even in the youngest children.

Social development is an important part of the nursery education. The children learn to adjust to new situations and to work and play together.

So if you "groan" about the 8 o'clock class Monday morning, think of the pre-school children gleefully anticipating going to school on Monday. Their only regret is ever having to leave.

"S" CLUB TO HOLD BIG BLANKET RAFFLE

"S" club donation tickets for the drawing of the blanket are available from any "S" member all this week. The donation for the tickets is 10c for each or three for 25c. The drawing for the blanket, which is on display in the H E building this week, will take place during the intermission of the homecoming dance.

Besides paying for the blanket, the funds are used to help finance the sponsoring of Dad's day, which will be held on October 29. Dad's day includes a banquet at noon, a tour through the school, and free admission to the football game that evening. The funds will help pay for the banquet and the tickets for the game.

HOLD DOGPATCH PARTY FOR SMA RUSHEES

The SMA had a Dogpatch Rushing party, Friday, at the cottage of Bob Hanson on Upper Tainter lake. The active members royally escorted the rushees to this outing.

At 6:30 p.m. tuna fish hot dish, various spreads sandwiches, cookies, coffee were served Dogpatch Style.

Verle Sneed, program chairman, had various games planned for the evening. The Barbershop Quartet, attired in huge overalls with the latest hats, rendered their version of songs. A style show by the rushees, each dressed similar to a character in L'il Abner, was presented; the winner was given a complete "wardrobe."

Later in the evening the women and their adviser, Miss Jeter, sang songs and munched on cookies and candies.

PAJAMA PARTY WAS HELD BY SOCIETY

The Philomathean society held its traditional pajama party Saturday morning, October 1, in the Stout union. After the rushees arrived at the union, each one was given a pair of green and white scuffs. Alarm clocks and stuffed animals decorated the union. Games were played and hats were styled and modeled by the rushees. Olie Liestkau won the prize for the most humorous hat. Jean Peterson won the door prize. In charge of entertainment was Phyl Bartosic.

Brunch was served by Barb Pech, Nan Gehri, and Ruth Conjurake. Barb Lovering and Ellen McGarty made the invitations, which were in keeping with the party theme.

RECEIVES THANK YOU FOR ARTICLE

The Wisconsin State Federation of Labor recently thanked Thomas F. Fleming, for his article outlining the history of The Stout Institute. The article, which has received considerable comment, has appeared in the 1949 edition of Wisconsin Labor, the official publication of the WSF of L.

William Nagorske, secretary-treasurer of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor, thanked Mr. Fleming for a fine job, and also sent his personal wishes to Stout for success in all its future undertakings.

BAND HAS FEW PRACTICES FOR GAMES

Remember last Saturday night during the halftime of the game, when Connie Olson "kicked the football"? That was just one of the many interesting and unusual band formations you'll be seeing this year.

You may think it would take hours and hours of actual practice for one formation, but after Mr. Frailey lays the groundwork, the band actually only practices one hour on the field. These are the steps he follows:

1. First, he draws a rough copy of the formation and charts where each player goes. Each person is placed on the field according to the yard lines.
2. Mimeographed copies are made and given to the band members.
3. The band has only one hour of practice on the field once a week. First, they march without playing; then they use the music and march.

Stout's band is now formulating new formations for the Homecoming game.

The band is going to La Crosse on October 22. They will march in the Homecoming parade there. They are leaving at 6:30 in the morning, and will not start back until members have at least stayed at the Homecoming dance for a while.

One concert will be given in an assembly during the latter part of November. There are, at present, 54 members in the band, but a bassoon and oboe player are still wanted. "So, if there are any musicians in the crowd," Mr. Frailey says, "Come out. You will not regret it!"

CORRECTION

Nancy Stratton and Prudy Johnson were co-captains of the Menomonie high school band last year instead of only Prudy Johnson, as reported previously in the Stoutoni's "New Twirlers for Stout Band" story. Both girls participated in the state contest last year.

NEW SPOT LIGHT SHINES AT FOOTBALL GAMES

The new spot light in Nelson field serves a dual purpose during the evening of a scheduled football game.

First, it illuminates the master sign board. People entering the field are requested to pay special attention to the master sign board for the location of vacant seats.

Second, it puts a spot on the flag as the flag is slowly raised during the opening ceremony.

The spot light was obtained through Mr. Lyle Pollock of the Dunn County Fair association. The light has a power of 1500 watts. Formerly the field lights were turned off during opening ceremonies, but for the sake of safety and for those people who are still seeking seats, the main field lights will be left on at all times. Mr. H. O. Strozinsky, chief engineer of The Stout Institute, is in charge of the field lighting system.

The light is located on the southeast corner of the field house. The flag pole is directly west of the spot light, while the master sign board is to the east of the light. The spot light is very easily maneuvered to any chosen direction.

To open the ceremonies, the National Guard and The Color Guard stand at attention while the Stout Band plays the "Star Spangled Banner." This formal opening ceremony is directed and lead by Mr. Frailey.

DORMS TO HOLD GRAND OPEN HOUSE

Faculty, alumni, and students are invited to attend open house at Tainter hall, Tainter annex, and Eichelberger hall Sunday, October 16, between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock. Tea will be served at Tainter hall by the dormitory presidents and SSA representatives, assisted by the women of the dormitories. Conducting the guests through the dormitory rooms will be assigned guides. The dormitories will be decorated in keeping with the Homecoming theme.

LES SPRINGMIRE TALKS TO RADIO FAN IN NEW ZEALAND

Stout Radio Club Member Makes Contact with Ham For Hour

Conversation over the air between a New Zealand amateur radio fan and Les Springmire of the Stout Radio club proved very interesting this summer. At one o'clock in the evening of July 23, Les Springmire contacted Gerhard Diedrichs at Evans Creek, New Zealand. Reception that evening was exceptionally clear. An informal conversation between the two lasted for approximately fifty minutes.

During the conversation, which was in sunny and warm July for us, Mr. Diedrichs spoke of their looking forward to spring. He stated that he did much amateur construction work as a hobby. Mr. Diedrichs lives on a farm and owns a large sheep ranch. He formerly operated his radio with a diesel power unit, but finding parts hard to replace, he devised and built a power plant using water power and an age old invention — the water wheel. From his power plant he obtains enough electricity for his farm and his radio, which operates on 100 watts. The Stout radio operates on between 400 and 500 watts. Mr. Diedrichs was interested in Stout and asked many questions concerning the school.

The Stout Radio club has contacted amateur stations in almost every state in the Union, plus a dozen foreign countries. A short time ago contact was made with the station K2UN, the United Nations at Lake Success.

Recently the Stout Radio club began a class in radio telegraphy for amateurs interested in obtaining a license for operating a radio. The class, held between 5:00 and 5:30 p.m. above the auto shop, is open to anybody interested. It has proved to be an enjoyable extra-curricular activity for many.

Bob Christianson, president of the Stout Radio club, and Les Springmire, vice president, are the instructors for the class. It is against the law to broadcast without a license. To obtain a license one must pass a test in theory and also be capable of sending and receiving thirteen code words per minute. The Federal Communications commission issues the licenses, and when one receives a license, he is also assigned a call number.

Stout's call number is W9CPB. The first letter is the state, Wisconsin letters being W and K. The number represents the section of the United States that the station is located in, and the last letters are identification letters assigned by the FCC.

CLASSES HAVE BEGUN WIRING MODEL HOUSE

Cooperating with the woodworking department, two of Mr. Ruehl's electricity classes designed and installed a modern electrical system in the house constructed by the carpentry classes.

After the house was moved from Second street to Sixteenth street this summer, the electricity class wired the basement and put in service connections. The class will finish the wiring as soon as the carpentry class completes the roof on the new addition.

The wiring was started in the fall of 1948 and will be finished by the electricity II class this fall. No work was done by the spring and summer classes.

The class is now waiting for information on radiant heating. This new type of electrical heating is of the latest design. If this system proves efficient and the owner of the house approves, the electricity class will install and wire the heating units.

Question of the Week

Your "question of the week" deals with problems which concern you, and in many cases, your school career.

This week's question relates to homecoming week end falling on the same day as teachers' convention. As these two events coincide, we have an extra day to prepare for homecoming. On the other hand, many students would take a three-day week-end as an opportunity to go home.

Question of the week—Would you rather have the week-ends of homecoming and teachers' convention on separate dates?

Xavier Mattel: Yes. Many students would welcome the extra day to go home. As it is, they hate to leave and miss the homecoming.

Helen Wolsey: Yes, very definitely. This is the only break between the beginning of the school in September and Thanksgiving. Many students look forward to more than a week-end at home.

Joanne Kleinheinz: No. I think the extra day gives more time for homecoming.

Wally Bondhus: Yes. It would be easier to go home that week end without missing homecoming.

Marge Lennie: Very much so. I'm from Eau Claire so it doesn't make much difference, but I would enjoy the extra day.

Ed Chachich: Yes. I think a lot more students would be here for homecoming.

Rowena Christen: Yes. Some say "No"?

Thomas Juth: Yes. More students would stay for homecoming rather than going home.

Joe Torkar: No. With the extra day we have a chance to catch up with the work and prepare for homecoming.

John Bicanich: Yes. Homecoming is a school affair and many of the faculty leave to attend the convention.

Bill Thomas: Yes. It should be on separate dates so many of us would be able to go hunting.

PARADE

march to Crescent, across Main, and end up at Third street.

The Stout color guard will lead the parade on the march, with the Stout band following. Next in line will be the queen and her attendants in two swanky convertibles. Throughout the rest of the line sixteen floats and the bands from Spring Valley, Elk Mound, Monomonic senior high, and Menomonie junior high will be intermingled.

The floats are judged on the bases of "The Most Humorous," "The Most Beautiful," and "The Most in Keeping With the Theme." Judges will be placed at various spots along the route.

FROSH BONFIRE TO BE HUGE THIS YEAR

The freshman class is on the move. That happens only a couple times a year, but when the freshmen get going the dust really flies. According to reliable sources from the class, the bonfire this year will approach, if not surpass, all others in size.

Last year the frosh adopted the slogan of "49 feet or bust." With this year's Homecoming theme "Goal Rush of '49," the freshman should be inspired to new heights.

After some concentrated scouting and diligent effort, the frosh got on the move. Last Thursday approximately 30 fellows turned out to aid the cause.

Larry Temple, frosh class president, reports that the boys hauled brush from Wakanda park and a few other sources. There is also quite a collection of tires, ties, and old oil, much of which has been contributed by the local merchants. All of this "building material" will be stacked high in hopes of attaining new heights in bonfires.

The class took lessons in knot tying just in case some characters were apprehended during suspicious operations near the bonfire. Other precautions were also taken to safeguard the fire.

GIRLS PLAN BIG DORM OPEN HOUSE

Pep Sessions, Decorations, Tea Planned By Dorms For Homecoming

Stout's annual homecoming week-end has finally arrived. The girls at the Annex have been holding regular pep sessions to arouse their enthusiasm. The dorms are getting the finishing touches on their decorations.

Tainter Annex will be the official headquarters of the Blue Devil. On the roof you will find the devil stirring a cauldron of "Quaker Oats" and bones. Inside will be the devil's den, complete with weird lights and the devil himself.

The committee in charge include the dorm officers, Ann Rossmiller, Mary Lou Bohrnstedt, Rita Hack, Dona Jens, and committee chairman Nadine Brown. Others on the committees are Phyllis Amacher, Shirley Lepien, Donna McDonough, Bev Struck, Gert Fox, Pat Loosen, Jean Worel, Joan Zorn, Betty Mock, Ardith Weber, Marge Lennie, and Dorothy Widell.

The Annex also plans to have a hobo band in the parade.

The girls at Tainter Hall won't tell what their decorations are going to be. President Charmaine Chopp said to watch for the lawn display. Others on her committees are Sumie Doi, Judy Hines, Joyce Harbridge, Virginia Lane, and Gretchen Schoenoff.

A large goal post will frame the door at Eichelberger Hall. You will also see the Blue Devil in the window. Gold nuggets will be given as souvenirs. Girls on the committees are Katy Zeilm, Carol LaBorde, Donna Heike, Rita, Ziegeweld, and Doris Heil.

Everyone is cordially invited to open house at each of the dorms, and to the tea given at Tainter hall.

The frosh are really out to break records. Such a project is a difficult one considering the big fires and active classes of the past.

A pessimist in one who fears he won't make good and then makes it his business to see that no one else does either.

ARTS CLASS BEGINS STUDY OF COLOR AND LAYOUT

Study Arrangements, Design, Home Planning, Redecorating, And Dyeing

Do you think practical art is all play and no work? Such art has been played up to be all fun, but it requires work and time just as anything else. A few of the activities that are being carried on under Miss Amon, head of the art department, will show that there is much work in the job of practical art.

The house furnishing class, after a brief review of fundamental art principles, started out with flower arrangements. First arrangements were made with many of the summer flowers such as zinnias, glads, dahlias, asters, and many other available flowers, which were brought by the students. Flower arrangement was stressed to show that flowers have intrinsic beauty and should be arranged to emphasize their line, mass, and color. Many of the flower arrangements that were made by the students were placed in different parts of the building as decoration.

Winter arrangements and bouquets made from ferns, milk weeds, cat tails, pine branches, cones, leaves, bitter sweet, fungus, and various other weeds were very interesting. The arrangements proved to be a practical experience to the girls, showing them how to create centers of interest.

The next project for the house furnishing class is to be home planning. This will include the studying of construction and suitability of rooms and techniques to make the best of the possessions one has. Two projects will be presented to the house furnishing sections. The morning section will redecorate the art laboratory, where they have made plans to put up drapes to make the room more colorful and smaller in appearance, and to place a bulletin board on the north wall. Plans for the craft room redecoration have not yet been made.

The afternoon section, which has the project of remodeling the office room, has been making sketched plans of how changes may be made in choice of drapery, walls, arrangement of furniture, rugs, and suitable color combination for the room. In the planning of redecoration they are considering economy, time, suitability, color—and most of all—art principles.

The advanced design class, which is composed of juniors and seniors, is designing by dyeing. The two methods that they are using are the tie design and the babik method. The girls are finding that they are obtaining some most unusual but clever designs.

The freshman fundamentals of design class under Miss Hinkley is studying the elements, or tools, of design. They have covered the tools of line, form, space, and texture. The next tool which they are going to study is color.

The class has completed three dimensional designs which are examples of space and texture. There is an attractive display of their designs in the hallway.

Portfolios are being made by the arts and craft class. The girls are block printing or textile painting on cloth which will be placed over cardboard. They selected their own colors, designs, and materials for their portfolios.

FOOTBALL TRAINERS OF STOUT ARE BUSY MEN; DUTIES ARE MANY AND VARIED

The medical corps of the football team are its trainers. They have the all-important job of preparing the players for action and treating any injuries that may occur.

Before every game the trainers go through forty yards of adhesive tape in wrapping ankles, bandaging sore spots, and strengthening trick joints. This, however, is just a part of the many duties performed by the trainers. Their other obligations include massaging pulled muscles, giving rubdowns, and being present at every practice and game. The "doctors" who render these services for Stout students are trainers August Dumke and Vern Reseland.

August Dumke needs no introduction to Stout fans of past seasons. Mr. Dumke has spent the last twenty-eight years as an athletic trainer and building maintenance man for this school. "Augie" has picked up his extensive knowledge on healing "hurts" through forty years of experience along this line. He has handled cases from sprained ankles and torn ligaments to the designing of a special harness to keep a star player's shoulder in joint.

Besides taking care of these chores at school, Mr. Dumke, a married man for thirty-seven years, has been kept busy in past years raising three lovely daughters. Augie has built up a fine reputation by learning just about every remedy in the book and adding a few of his own to keep football men in playing condition.

Vern Reseland, the student trainer, hails from Minnesota. Vern also has had much experience in athletics. He played football, and served as manager of the basketball team for four years at Fertile high school.

After serving in the navy and attending the University of Minnesota for a year, Reseland enrolled at Stout. While not occupied with his job of training, Vern attends meetings of Sigma fraternity and works in the men's clubroom at the student union. Vern's on-the-spot first aid, along with other responsibilities, makes him indispensable to the team.

Don't forget that these men, who devote approximately twenty-two inglorious hours a week keeping the players in shape, are very important factors on the Stout athletic scene.

PEP SQUAD REVEALS MANY NEW FACES

Dear Students:

I suppose a lot of you are wondering who the new cheerleaders are. Well, I can't say that I blame you, because I think we've got a pretty good squad of cheerleaders.

The only returning cheerleader on the squad is Rosie Grzadziewski. Rosie is a sophomore, and she hails from Mosinee, Wisconsin. Before coming to Stout she was a cheerleader for two years in high school. Rosie, by the way, is the captain of our present squad.

Next in line we have two little blondes, Shirley Lepien and Prudence Johnson. About the only way you can tell these two girls apart is by the color of their eyes. Shirley has blue eyes; and she comes from Hartford, Wisconsin. Prudy has brown eyes; and she's from Menomonie.

Rita Hack, from Rhinelander, Wisconsin, and Phyllis Amacher, from Medford, Wisconsin, are the other two female cheerleaders. Phyll has three years of experience leading cheers in high school.

The one and only male on the squad is Fred Hodges. Fred hails from Racine, Wisconsin, where he was a cheerleader for two years while in high school.

The squad has done a good job of leading cheers at our first two football games, and I'm sure that they will continue to do a good job for the rest of the season. Let's see if we can't give them a little help by cheering a bit louder at the rest of the games.

Yours truly,
An Admirer of Cheerleaders

NEW EQUIPMENT PURCHASED FOR CONCESSION

Nelson field can now boast the nicest concession stand in the conference, according to Coach Ray Johnson.

The stand, which is the result of the combined efforts of Sigma Tau Gamma, Sigma, the YWCA, and the WAA, is located on the northwest end of the football field. These four organizations pooled their resources and purchased the equipment for the stand.

Gaily decorated with colored scallops, and neatly painted, the stand is indeed a credit to the sponsoring organizations.

Organizations which operate concessions at the stand are as follows: Sigma Tau Gamma, popcorn; Sigma, coffee; and WAA, hot dogs. All four organizations are responsible for the cleanliness of the grounds. Following the games they must pick up all debris and place it in the new refuse cans located throughout the field for that purpose.

LYNWOOD HAS OWN CHEERING SECTION

A special cheering section composed of students at Lynwood hall turned out in a group Saturday night, October 1, to cheer the Stout team onward. Seated in one group, the students were able to turn on great volume.

The cheering created by the Lynwood section was enough to muffle a good-sized cannon roar. A few students in the group obtained noisemakers, which ranged anywhere from a brake drum to a cow bell, to add to the din. The human voice is still unmatched as the best cheering mechanism, at least until the rooster gets hoarse. The morning following the game found a few students in Lynwood hall speaking in whispers.

The Stout team played a fine game against a tough opponent. The continual changing of the football's owner made an exciting game for spectators to watch. Everyone was interested up to the last second as to what the outcome would be.

Then there was the cross-eyed professor who couldn't control his pupils.

LYNWOOD OPEN HOUSE WAS A HUGE SUCCESS

A record crowd of over 200 guests observed open house at Lynwood hall, Sunday, October 2, from 2-5 p.m.

"The large crowd in spite of the rainy weather, and the cooperation of the boys, has made the day a complete success," was the comment made by Don Straw, president of Lynwood hall.

Guests were guided through the corridors and uniquely-decorated rooms by residents of the hall. After a tour of the rooms, refreshments consisting of cookies, mixed nuts, and coffee were served to the guests in the recreation room.

"Open house has been very fine; the boys did all the planning and have worked enthusiastically and cooperatively in carrying out all the details to make the day a success," was the summarization made by Mr. Storti, resident head of Lynwood hall.

Chairmen of the various committees were Jim Brown, social chairman; Curtiss Howard, floor chairman; Tony Buehner, entertainment director; Bob Burns, food committee chairman.

MAGICIAN SPONSORED BY LOCAL FFA

Ralph Pierce, one of the foremost magicians of today, was presented at the Stout auditorium in the afternoon and evening of October 3. The show was sponsored by the Future Farmers of America.

Pierce presented a special afternoon show for the children, together with an entirely new show in the evening for the adults. The adult admission was sixty cents.

Pierce's show was a modern, sparkling, and entertaining production. Mr. Pierce presented a good show for the children, proving himself as a master

DANCING CLASS BEGINS UNDER DIRECTION OF MRS. PHILLIPS

"Step, close step, and so on" is the theme of the dancing class under the direction of Mrs. Robert Phillips, as they practice the fundamentals of good dancing. Correct standing positions and proper carriage were discussed before they learned the fox trot. The class meets every Tuesday night at 7:30 in the gym. From the fox trot, the class will progress into other and more complicated fields.

at handling youngsters.

The show featured many mystery card tricks, the shooting of a live canary into an electric light bulb, removing a local girl's head from her body, and one scene with forty-seven dead people on the stage.

The profits from the show were deposited in the FFA fund.

STOUT CAMPUS IS "IN ITS CUPS"

Do you know that one part of The Stout Institute is in its cups most of the time?

That part of the campus "in its cups" is the student union, and if you've ever visited the union at coffee time, you know how many cups are needed to serve the eager crowd.

According to Gordon Nooyan, student supervisor of the union, an average of two hundred cups of coffee, thirty-five pints of milk, twenty fountain cokes, and four cases of soda pop are served daily.

It seems that that faculty and students are a hungry lot. Nooyan estimates that about thirty sandwiches, five gallons of ice cream, forty-five to fifty ice cream bars, and forty candy bars are sold each day.

The union is one of the favorite meeting places of students and faculty alike. The union is indeed a spot where the students and faculty mingle and chat as friend to friend. They often participate in a congenial game of cards, ping-pong, or pool during their leisure time.

The union is divided into three sections: game room, sandwich bar with soda fountain and tables, and bowling alleys. The hours vary during which each section is in operation.

The hours of the game room are: Monday through Thursday—

12 Noon—10 P.M.
Friday —12 Noon—12 Midnight
Saturday —2 P.M.—12 Midnight
Sunday —2 P.M.—10 P.M.

The hours of the sandwich bar are: Monday through Thursday—

8:45 A.M.—10 P.M.
Friday —8:45 A.M.—12 Midnight
Saturday —2 P.M.—12 Midnight
Sunday —2 P.M.—10 P.M.

The hours of the bowling alleys are not yet decided. They will be announced at a later date.

So if you hear someone say that one part of the campus is "in its cups" all the time, don't be surprised. That's just the union.

Remember When

Remember When just one year ago Homecoming was in full swing on the Stout campus? The Freshmen had as a goal for the bonfire "49 feet or bust." "Stoutennial" was the theme and Jean Waltzer was Homecoming queen.

The 1947 Homecoming was distinguished by the first Stout homecoming game played under lights. A La Crosse 7-6 win was the only low note in the weekend. "Ceiling and visibility unlimited" was the theme and a local girl, Jean Sterner, was the queen.

The '46 Homecoming starred "Welcome Back with the Lumberjack." Miriam Te Beest reigned for the weekend. The Blue Devils came through to beat Eau Claire by a score of 6-0.

Two burnings of the bonfire were featured at the 1945 homecoming—once Thursday morning and then again Friday night. Wonder what happened? Who did it? The theme was "Old Times, Old Friends, and More Fun." Marjorie Thull was elected queen and Eau Claire cast a gloomy shadow over the homecoming dance by winning the game 6-0.

RADIO CLUB BANQUET AT CHIPPEWA FALLS

The Northern Wisconsin Radio club, of which some of the Stout Radio club members are members, held a monthly meeting and banquet, September 27 at Chippewa Falls. Members from The Stout Institute who attended the meeting and banquet were Mr. Phillip Ruehl, Les Springmire, Irvin Lathrop, Bob Christianson, Paul Kunz, and Burt Rotnem.

Northern Wisconsin Radio club members are ham operators and men interested in radio. The club members are located largely in Eau Claire and Chippewa area. Les Springmire is treasurer of the organization.

The main speaker at the banquet was Mr. Doyle, Milwaukee. Mr. Doyle represented the American Radio league and spoke on the proposed Federal Communication Commission Amateur Band Allocations.

The next meeting of the Northern Wisconsin Radio club will be held at Stout, October 25. The Radio club rooms above the Auto Mechanic shop in which the Stout Radio club amateur station is located will be used. The call letters of the station are W9CPB.

STOUT RADIO CLUB HEARS FROM FAR AWAY PLACES

Contacts Made By Radio Club And Forty-Three States Include Foreign Countries

New Zealand, Mexico, Canada, Japan, Cuba, Costa Rica, Panama, Argentina are among the places with which Stout radio fans have made contact so far this year. They also made a contact with the United Nations amateur radio station at Lake Success. Up to now they have spoken to other stations in forty-three of the forty-eight states. The Stout amateur short wave station is located in the trades building.

The transmitter was built with war surplus parts in 1946 by members of the Radio club. The station's call is W9CPB. It operates with a power of 400 watts, and works all the amateur bands. It is also affiliated with the Northern Wisconsin Emergency Network; The Badger Emergency Network, which includes many Wisconsin stations; and The National Amateur Emergency Network.

These networks play a very important part in radio communications. During national and community emergencies, the amateur operator such as at Stout can be relied upon to take over in case of communication difficulties. These types of emergencies may happen at any time; the last national crisis was the result of snow storms in the western states.

The radio club officers are as follows: president Robert Christianson; vice-president, Les Springmire; secretary and treasurer, Glenn Brooks; chief operator, Dick Fryklund. The club has fifteen members. Four are licensed amateurs.

There have been no calls sent home by anyone this year, but this does not mean it is impossible to do so.

Radio club officers wish to point out the following: If you are enrolled at the Stout Institute and desire to contact home through the facilities of station W9CPB, this procedure should be followed:

1. Contact one of the club officers, Mr. Ray Kranzusch or Mr. Phil Ruehl, who are co-advisers of the organization.
2. Communicate with a local amateur in your own home town to arrange a suitable schedule of operation for both stations.

If this procedure is carried out properly, there will be an enjoyable period of conversation between Menomonie and home towns of students.

A practice class for morse code is held every afternoon from 5:00 to 5:30 p.m. There are twelve members in this class. Anyone who desires to learn the morse code is invited to attend.

CONVERSION OF WIRING COMPLETED IN SUMMER

Lynwood Hall and the Home Economics Building Changed To Alternating Current

Conversion of the wiring of Lynwood hall and the Home Economics building from direct current to alternating current has been completed, and both buildings are now in a position to benefit from the increased efficiency which the change-over makes possible.

Both buildings are now served by a three-wire 120-240 volt A.C. service. The heavy motors, elevators, ventilating fans, and most cafeteria equipment, especially the main refrigeration units, are still remaining on direct current.

Three transformers consisting of 37.5 KVA single phase are located in the basement of the Home Economics building. The feeders to these transformers are taken from the new switchboard which was also installed in connection with the A.C. conversion. The new switchboard carries 480 volt 3 phase and is located in the engine room, which is the control center for the entire campus.

The electric cable serving the new switchboard is 600,000 c.m. each and is taken from the new transformer bank located at the rear of the industrial education building, a bank which was also installed by the Northern States Power company in connection with the electrical conversion of The Stout Institute. The millroom in the Trades building is now serviced by 480 volt-3-phase A.C. As the conversion progresses the entire Trades building will be serviced by 480-120-240 volt, which will make it possible to furnish 3 phase or single phase throughout the entire building.

The blueprint stage of the change-over was set up under the direction of the State Power Plant Engineer, working through the State Chief Engineer. H. O. Strozinsky, chief engineer at Stout, was in charge of the work of converting.

Formerly the college manufactured both its own steam for heat and its own direct current electricity. The conversion will require the college buy electricity from the Northern States Power company, but the resultant benefits to the college are regarded as more than compensatory for the expense and labor of conversion.

According to Mr. Strozinsky, in evaluating the change over, "The provision of AC current in the several buildings is a definite benefit to the campus. It will certainly be easier to adapt new devices to this set-up."

Dean Alice J. Kirk, who worked closely with engineers carrying out the conversion, says of the change-over: "The need for AC current in home economics was one of the vital factors in our program of modernization, especially in clothing and textile work. Now we can go ahead rapidly in improving these fields, and also provide better lighting needed in close work."

And, in the estimation of Dean Kirk, the difficulty of purchasing or replacing certain direct current equipment in foods labs or small appliances has been increasing, and now has become virtually impossible. With the installation of the new kitchens and food laboratories, the conversion became imperative.

Replacement of present equipment is necessary for the stoves and heaters of the art department, the irons in the clothing laboratories, and the textile laboratories, where an AC motor will be installed in the tensile strength tester.

Other benefits outlined by Dr. Kirk include, "The opportunity for the college to purchase modern steam irons in addition to pressing irons, to use any equipment placed on the market, and to eliminate the possible costly damage which could result if AC equipment were plugged into DC outlets."

"With only one type of electric with which to cope," Miss Kirk says, "teachers will no longer have to wait each student as to what type of equipment is adaptable to what current, an almost impossible task in view of the hundreds of women handling appliances in our laboratories."

Further efficiency foreseen by Dean Kirk is that of using visual aid projectors in any class room, and lessening the crowded schedule of 129. Projectors, as a rule, are not adapted to DC current, and so presence of AC in all classrooms will permit greater use of visual aid material.

Friend of ours back home writes that the average vacation is a succession of 2's: it consists of 2 weeks which are 2 short; afterward you are 2 tired 2 return 2 work and 2 broke.

CARICATURIST FEATURED AT ASSEMBLY

Caricaturist, cartoonist, satirist, and character analyst, "Bob Gordon" will appear at the Stout convocation, Wednesday, October 19, at 10:00 a.m.

Major Robert W. Gordon, U. S. Marine Corps, retired, refuses to take himself too seriously. With the dignified background of soldier, editor, and author, he prefers to be known as Bob Gordon, under which informal by-line his work has been appearing for years.

Gordon presents his drawing, humor, and character study in a new type of program. He debunks the usual abra-cadabra of the quack entertainer. Rather he demonstrates with his own rapid crayon just how the cartoonist and caricaturist portray character in their drawings. He shows how easy it is, by observing simple signs, for the average person to size up his friends, acquaintances, or customers. He also gives a hilarious, but practical, demonstration of character reading by calling on volunteers from the audience.

As an author, Bob Gordon attracted considerable attention with his devastating satire in the Atlantic Monthly. He conducted a popular newspaper column of humorous editorial comment, and his pithy paragraphs have appeared in the Saturday Evening Post and Reader's Digest. His interviews of screen and radio stars have appeared in Radio Guide and in the Sunday supplements of metropolitan newspapers.

Gordon is a former editor of Mechanix Illustrated and the Infantry Journal. He has been a contributor to Popular Mechanics and similar publications, and is the author of numerous detective and western stories. Bob Gordon's writings have been marked by an outrageous sense of humor, which, too often has been deleted by serious-minded editors, but which gets full play on the platform.

CHINNOCK SPEAKS AT ANNUAL CONVENTION

Mr. Dwight Chinnock spoke at the Thirty-seventh annual convention of the Central Wisconsin Teacher's association, held at Wausau, October 7.

Mr. Chinnock gave his speech for the Industrial Arts division. His topic was entitled "Industrial Arts—What's in it for me?"

There were twenty-five to thirty people at the meeting. This number of people, according to Mr. Chinnock, constitutes a very good attendance.

The speaker also took with him a school shop plan which was made by one of his summer school classes. The plan was of a "typical" Central Wisconsin school. Along with the plan, Mr. Chinnock took machine models which were made at Stout. These models are used to help in the layout of equipment by a person planning a full-sized shop.

The models and plans were used as part of the Industrial Arts display during the conventions.

EPT MAKING PLANS FOR ANNUAL FIELD TRIP

Plans for the annual field trip of Theta Chapter, Epsilon Pi Tau, are well under way, reported Joseph Katalinich at the last meeting of the chapter. Katalinich and his assistant, William Richardson, submitted several tentative routes and dates to the members for discussion. The group decided to travel to several cities in central Wisconsin on a two-day trip, November 10 and 11.

Members of Theta chapter who were not present at the last meeting may obtain information concerning the field trip, from Dean Bowman's office. These same members are urged to check the bulletin board and indicate their desire to attend the fall banquet.

ANNUAL SCHOOL DIRECTORY OUT OCTOBER 13

Production of the annual directory, 1949-50 edition of the regular session of the Stout Institute, will be completed on or before October 18, 1949, according to word received from Mr. Lloyd Whydowski, head of the Printing department.

This is the nineteenth year in which the edition of the directory will be published. The directory is published two times a year, once during the regular session and once during the summer session.

Because of the increase in enrollment, the directory has been growing in size every year, reaching its peak this year with thirty-two pages. In these pages are contained a list of names, residences, and telephone numbers of the faculty, the administration and students enrolled at Stout. The book contains also a list of the Board of Trustees of The Stout Institute and the organization presidents, vice presidents, secretaries, treasurers, advisers, sponsors, and other officers.

According to Mr. Whydowski, the book is printed by the letter press method of printing. The directory is being printed four pages at a time, and the work is being done by the men who work in the print shop.

A copy of the directory, when completed, may be obtained free of charge in the president's office by any Stout student who has registered for the 1949-50 regular session.

DETROIT ALUMNI MEET FOR ANNUAL REUNION

Complete Report Received On Picnic Gathering Of Ninety-Six Stoutites

The Detroit chapter of the Stout Alumni association met for its annual reunion picnic, Sunday, September 18, at Lola Valley park, Detroit.

Herbert A. Anderson, national alumni secretary, has received the following information concerning the picnic from Vernetta Shaw.

"Nothing but the weather seems to interfere with the Detroit Stout alumni, as it rained on the day of our annual picnic, so we postponed it for another week.

"Two hundred and twenty-eight cards were mailed to the graduates of this area, but only 157 reservations were returned. It seems that Stout people are always very busy, as only 96 were in attendance.

"It was good to see our old friends again. Buzz and Dick Dixon and Susie made it to the picnic from Mt. Clemens, Michigan. Hank and Jane Lewis and their three youngsters had a lot to talk about with Frank and Irma Mann and their three cherubs.

"Then there were 'Vets' and Hugh Moltzau, Paula and Ann Marie, exchanging ideas with Margaret and Dean Brown and their two young daughters. I didn't get to meet Jane Welch and her husband, a former Stout man. LeRoy and Elaine Charlick had news of a month's vacation in Canada. Others we saw were Marlow and Gladys McCullough. The John Weimers were with Tressie and Leslie Wagners. Leslie is now a professor at the University of Michigan.

New faces to the Detroit alumni were those of the McClurg girls, Genevieve Armstrong, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Carlson and son Peter.

"Audrey and Adrian Pollock and child were kept busy keeping everything going along with Wilma and Fred Blair with their three children. Fran and Vernetta Shaw and four year old Karen had a nice visit with the Fred Doetzels and their two charmers.

"Carl Anshus formerly with the Western Union was pleased to see Barney Hagen's brother, also from Stout, and Sam Smith and his wife. The dependable Charlie Strongs and Ira and Emma Modden were seen enjoying the crowd, along with Mr. and Mrs. F. Hauck.

"The oldest graduate attending was Mrs. G. Sackman, (Edith Olson, 1914) Plymouth, Michigan.

"Plans have already been made for a rain-or-shine picnic next year, so let us hear from anyone in this area who would like to attend."

Thanks,
Vernetta Shaw

The picnic committee included Mrs. Adrian Pollock (Audrey Peterson, '39), chairman; Mrs. Fred Blair (Wilma Bunge, '40), Mrs. F. Hauke (Elda Johnson, '21), Mrs. F. Harold Silvius (Josephine Edinger, '28), and Mrs. H. M. Woodworth (Ann Fuller, '36).

Harlyn Olson, '40, printed arrows and marked the picnic location, assisted by Leonard Stelfo, '40. Reservation cards were mailed by Adrian Pollock, '39.

It all depends on how you look at it. Some folks say the Communists want to get control of our government. But then, on the other hand, so do the Republicans.

STOUT GRAD WISHES ALUMNI WOULD WRITE TO STOUTONIA

I've been receiving the Stoutonia for the past two weeks and enjoy it very much. The paper has a lot of life and holds real student appeal.

I'm enrolled in the graduate school of the institutional management department here at Kansas State college, Manhattan, Kansas. We have an enrollment of about 7,000 students. At the present time there are 469 in the graduate school. The schools consist of home economics, arts and science, engineering and architecture, veterinary medicine, agriculture, and division extension.

Manhattan is a city of 12,000 population not including the students, and it is a progressive city for its size. The college campus consists of 155 acres, and having to walk blocks in changing classes was quite a change after the convenience of the buildings at Stout. The buildings are of native Kansas limestone all in the same architecture. It is indeed a lovely campus.

Yesterday, Monday, was declared a student holiday as we won our first home conference football game against Colorado university. Last year Kansas State didn't win a game, so the town went wild on Saturday. K-State has the Oklahoma "Sooners" on schedule, and I haven't heard any bets on that game.

The Kansas people are very friendly, and I guess just saying "It's a nice place to be" about sums it up.

I got quite a kick when I saw the fellows here wearing jeans, high-heeled boots and cowboy hats to school, but now it's all part of the way of life in Kansas. A group called "chapparos" put on a rodeo last spring, and it being my first, I was an eager spectator.

I do think it would be nice if more alumni wrote to the Stoutonia so one could better keep up with old friends.

Sincerely,

Betty Snyder, '44
1631 Leavenworth St.
Manhattan, Kansas

NOTICE TO ALL ALUMNI

All members of the alumni association will receive a mimeographed report from Herb Anderson, national alumni secretary, which will include the treasurer's report, explanatory information, and the minutes of the annual meeting. A form will be included with which alumni can renew their membership when it expires. The membership fees are one dollar a year or fifteen dollars for life membership.

The homecoming issue of the Stoutonia is the last issue of the paper which alumni will receive unless their dues are paid.

RETIRED PRESIDENT WRITES TO ALUMNI

Greeting to Stout Alumni:

For the graduates of this college this is a delightful period in the Stout Institute calendar. This week you are looking forward to meeting your school associates of earlier years. Stout and Menomonee look forward to this time with keen pleasure, anticipating a reunion with many old friends. This year the graduates of '39, '29, '19, etc., particularly should be represented in considerable numbers.

Come too, to meet the teachers with whom you worked and the president now administering the college and congratulate him on the high standards he is maintaining in your Alma Mater. You, in your field, through excellent performance, are adding to the fine reputation of your college and the dignity of your profession.

With sincere good wishes for your continued success and genuine happiness I remain,

Yours very truly,
Burton E. Nelson,
Retired President of The Stout Institute

ALMA KIEFER, GRAD OF '45, WRITES FROM TEXAS

I wish to make a report from the lone member from the Lone Star state, or am I mistaken about being the lone member from Texas? During the past year and a half, I have spent time in both Wisconsin and Texas. I left the University of Texas April 1, 1948, and returned to Wisconsin for several months. I returned to Texas and began work in Houston as an assistant dietitian at the Rice Institute dormitory cafeteria where about 450 to 500 men were fed. I remained there until the end of the school year.

I returned to Wisconsin, where I was married June 14. My husband, Joe P. Jones, is a graduate of the University of Texas, with a major in Architectural Engineering. He is associated with the army engineers under Civil Service. He is at the present time working with the building program at Camp Hood, several miles from Temple. We are not sure how long we will remain here.

I am not working at the present time, but I hope I will be able to find something at one of the hospitals here. Temple has several good hospital-clinics.

I am enclosing my dues for the following year. I have missed receiving the Stoutonia this past year.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Joe P. Jones,
(Alma L. Kiefer, '45)

RANDECKER IS COMMANDER IN USNR

Commander Harold H. Randecker, Stout graduate in 1932, the first officer to be assigned to active duty at the Jacksonville, Florida Naval Air Reserve Training unit when Capt. Frederick W. Priestman, the unit's commanding officer was forming it back in April, 1946, has received two important official notices.

First was his notice of transfer to NAS Los Alamitos, California, the largest activity in the entire Naval Air Reserve Training command. The second event was his promotion to the rank of commander, USNR. At Los Alamitos he will be in charge of the Aviation Maintenance department, the same position that he successfully filled at the Jacksonville NARTU.

Commander Randecker, a native of Stoughton, is a veteran of thirteen years of service in the Naval Air Reserve. He entered flight training at NAS Pensacola soon after his graduation from Stout. He received his commission and designation as a naval aviator at Pensacola in December, 1936. He was on duty in the Pacific as a member of Torpedo Squadron 8 at the beginning of World War II.

BOOTH WILL OPEN FOR ALUMNI REGISTRATION

All alumni returning for Homecoming are asked to register in the booth which will be set up in the first floor corridor, Friday at 3 p.m. The booth will be open all day Saturday also.

A complete list of all alumni here for the activities is desired, so all are urged to register.

DARLING, '49, IN MILWAUKEE BOYS' CLUB

Kenneth J. Darling, 1949 graduate, is working in the Boy's club of Milwaukee as educational director.

The Boy's club is a social group sponsored by the Red Feather organization to give the youth of Milwaukee a supervised place in which to carry on their hobbies after school.

Kenneth's work includes guiding the boys in their avocations.

ALUMNUS HAROLD KOBIN ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Harold Kobin, Crandon, Stout graduate in 1947, was among the ten coaches of the Northern Lakes conference who met recently. At this meeting the coaches decided to hold their annual basketball jamboree in Crandon, February 18, 1950. All ten teams will take part in this event.

Mr. Kobin is a coach in the southern division of the conference. His wife, who was Lillian Iverson of Menomonie, is also a Stout graduate. She received her B.S. in 1944.

ATOMIC BOMB HITS BLUE DEVILS

Blue Devils Set Pace In All Departments Except The Final Tally

River Falls State Teachers college dropped an "atom bomb" on the Stout Institute football empire Saturday night at Ramer's Field and emerged victorious by a 12-7 score.

The explosion blasted to dust the Blue Devils' hopes for a first conference win, but for River Falls it was a grid iron holiday, for the victory was their first conference victory.

Everything was fluky about the stunning Falcon win. The Blue Devils set the pace in every department but the final score, as can be seen by the following statistics:

After the game, X-rays showed the Falcons rolled to a 6-0 lead and then fought a Stout comeback that gave the Blue Devils a 7-6 halftime lead. Then the Falcons ended the last hope of the disappointed Stout multitude by scoring a clincher shortly before the final gun.

The Falcons clawed to their first touchdown seconds after the opening of the second quarter, when Dick Alexander, former Stout tackle, blocked a Stout kick, which rolled over the goal line and was recovered by Gene Cardinal.

Stout countered in the same period when Bill Kieffer sprinted around left end, fumbled the ball, picked it up on the bounce and proceeded across the goal line for a tally. Young con-

Large Homecoming Crowd, Plus WTC Team Out To Avenge Past Defeat, Face Stout

With a large homecoming crowd expected to spur them on, and wary of a Whitewater Teachers college team out to avenge last year's one point defeat, Stout Institute Blue Devils face a tough task Saturday evening, at Nelson field. The game will start under the lights at 8:00 p.m.

Whitewater has a new team this year, consisting of younger players. However, they should not be underestimated. They overwhelmed River Falls State Teachers college, in their first conference game of the year, by a score 19 to 6.

Notable among the players at Whitewater are Erickson, a half back who averages 7.5 yards per run; Vandan Avond, who plays full back; Keopfer and Miller, who play the end positions.

In last year's game, the Blue Devils were behind 20-7, and with six minutes of play remaining of the game, came back to defeat Whitewater in the closing seconds by a score of 21 to 20. Whitewater is coming back with a powerful team to avenge that defeat, and should make it an exciting game.

The Whitewater team plays off the T-formation. The Quakers are now tied for first place with LaCrosse. They will play Milwaukee this week in a non-conference tilt, so Stout will be their second conference game. They should really give the Blue Devils with a hard time.

verted and the Blue Devils held a 7-6 halftime lead.

The Blue Devils threatened several times during the third period, but penalties halted all drives.

Then, after thwarting every Stout attempt in the final period, Harkness whipped a pass to Tom Linehan for the clinching score.

Outstanding players were Jim Ooley and Sam Basile of Stout and Dick Alexander of River Falls.

COVEY'S CORNER

It's a bitter pill to swallow when a fine, former Stout student plays a decisive part in handing our team its second straight defeat. Dick Alexander, the River Falls guard who blocked Stout's punt at the start of the second quarter, was out for football at Stout when he was here as a freshman.

Stout had a slight edge on the statistics but that didn't help us in the final score. River Falls didn't look as if they deserved their former losses; they really were up for our game and were full of spirit.

I believe I could play a musical instrument too if I could follow the two River Falls high school drum majorettes that were strutting their stuff between halves.

Running was the Stout offense that worked best against the Falcons. Two redheads in the Blue Devils' backfield showed some class; Red Walker and Red Krall were the halfbacks doing the hard running. Krall was the man who had the Falcon defense running in circles for awhile last Saturday. Bill Kieffer's touchdown run was one for the story books. He fumbled and then picked up the ball and scooted for pay dirt.

In the line, the hard work was carried by Stai, Wentorf, Basile, Ooley, and Digerness. Stai at end played the whole game and did well on defense and offense. Wentorf playing most of the game gave the opposition a rough time when they got within arm's length of him. Basile still is having trouble with a cold, but the boys from River Falls must have thought he was in the pink of condition after they had contact with him. There isn't much I can say about Ooley that someone else hasn't already said to you. As usual, all the fans had to do was to watch Ooley and they knew where the ball was. Digerness played bang-up ball at center and was always a thorn in the side of the opposition.

Pollock played a smart defensive game from both quarterback and end. Some of the games around the conference were a little closer than suffered at the hands of Stout last year.

The only comparison that we have on the teams is that they both played River Falls. Whitewater defeated River Falls 19 to 6, and River Falls defeated Stout 12 to 7. Comparing scores doesn't mean a thing in football, but if you want to, you can arrive at a mathematical total. I would like to go out on a limb this week and say I think that our team will win this game. Our team has the material, they are well-coached in a good formation, and what's more they are going to have the spirit that you can find only during HOMECOMING.

HOMECOMING FIRE IS BIG SUCCESS

Speeches, Music, Yells, Queen, And Snake Dance Contribute Spirit

On Friday night, October 14, another tradition at Stout was fulfilled. This tradition is the bonfire which is touched off the night before the homecoming game. Jim Ooley and Dale Digerness, as co-captains for the 1949 homecoming game, had the honor of lighting the pile which the freshmen had constructed. Larry Temple and all members of the freshman class deserve credit for making this swell bonfire possible. It takes a lot of ingenuity and hard work to construct a pile which is fitting for the occasion.

As the pile, which was a roaring inferno, burned, many alumni gave short speeches and told how glad they were to be back at Stout. Mr. Cooke, "alumni of '49," said that he was glad to be back although it took him fifteen years to graduate from Stout. Mr. Cooke, as everyone knows, was head of the music department here for many years and is now residing at Rochester, Minnesota. After the alumni speeches, the class presidents extended greetings from the student body. Mr. Tony Storti, football coach, gave a short resume of what could be expected at the football field, followed by speeches from the co-captains.

After selections by the band and yells by the cheerleaders, Jean Walzer, queen of the 1948 homecoming, crowned Ruth Ann Christensen, queen of the 1949 homecoming festivities. Queen Christensen was attended by Roberta Hutchinson, Patricia Krause, Ruth Larson, and Barbara Lovering. After the crowning ceremonies, everyone joined in singing the alma mater, followed by the traditional snake dance through town.

GUIDANCE CONFERENCE ATTENDED BY JARVIS

Mr. John A. Jarvis attended a meeting of a guidance conference called by the State Board of Adult and Vocational Education, at Milwaukee, Monday and Tuesday, October 3 and 4.

The purpose of the meeting was to select and evaluate tests which had been given and will be given in the future to apprentice groups. These tests are designed to aid in the selection of trainees for the apprenticeship program.

Mr. Jarvis's specific job was to assist in the evaluation of tests as selecting devices. Approximately 10 people were called to be present at the meeting.

SODERBERG GIVES TALK ON FINISHING AT MEET

At the teachers convention for Upper Michigan, held at Marquette, Michigan, October 7, Mr. George Soderberg, associate professor of the woodworking department at Stout, was guest speaker. He addressed the industrial arts section of the convention.

Mr. Soderberg spoke on finishing and coloring in industrial education and gave several demonstrations on the techniques of finishing. A group of panels with various type of finishes, which he had brought along from Stout, was on display.

Great interest was shown by the sixty-three teachers whom he addressed. After the speech, forty-three of them remained for further discussion.

MR. COOKE ATTENDS HOMECOMING

Former director of music at The Stout Institute, Mr. Harold R. Cooke spent homecoming week-end on the Stout campus. Mr. and Mrs. Cooke attended the bonfire and the game between Stout and Whitewater, in addition to meeting former faculty colleagues, alumni, and members of the Stout musical organizations with whom Mr. Cooke worked.

Now director of the Rochester, Minnesota, Music Foundation, Mr. Cooke is responsible for the activities of the Foundation's band and choir, for Rochester's special civic music events, and for additional church musical activities.

Mr. Cooke and his wife, together with daughter Ruth Ann, moved to Rochester after Mr. Cooke resigned from the Stout faculty last summer. They have purchased a home in that city.

BOARD ACTS ON PROJECTS FOR SCHOOL

New Projects Fill Agenda At Business Meeting Of Trustees

Action on creation of new departments at the college, discussion of the campus street closing project, approval of scholarships, and routine business made up the agenda of a meeting of The Stout Institute Board of Trustees, October 3, in Kenosha.

Upon the recommendation of President Verne C. Fryklund, two new departments, those of drafting and speech, were created. Dr. J. E. Ray was made head of the Drafting department, and Mr. Edward Palzer was named head of the Speech department.

President Fryklund reported to the Board on the status of the project to close streets intersecting the Stout campus. Dr. Fryklund said that plans for the closing have already been approved by the State Engineer and actual work will begin next spring.

According to President Fryklund, the spring date was set because at least a month would be required to advertise for bidders on the project and to sign the contracts. A month's delay now might necessitate work being done in freezing weather, a fact which might interfere with the effectiveness of the job.

Board members heard a report from President Fryklund in which he listed the names of nineteen students who had applied for scholarships. The Trustees approved the recommendations.

Routine matters brought to the attention of the board included a discussion of enrollment, notice of faculty resignations, approval of new faculty appointments, a discussion of the new library soon to be erected on campus, and various matters relating to the finances of the college.

FORMER MISSIONARY TO SPEAK TO HE CLUB

A discussion of the Chinese people, given by Miss Manonna Cheney, will highlight the Home Economics club meeting, Monday, October 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the Stout cafeteria.

Miss Cheney will talk on the food habits, clothing, and living habits and conditions of the Chinese. Formerly a missionary in China, Miss Cheney is now teaching English at Barron high school, Barron, Wisconsin.

AUDIENCE MODELS FOR CARICATURIST

"Bob Gordon" caricaturist, cartoonist, satirist, and character analyst, appeared at the Stout convocation, Wednesday, October 19, at 10:00 a.m.

Gordon presented his drawing, humor, and character study in a new type of program. He demonstrated in rapid crayon sketches how the cartoonist and caricaturist portray character in their drawings. He showed how easy it was to observe simple signs in sizing up people, and gave a hilarious practical demonstration of character reading by calling on volunteers from the audience.

Gordon, through his drawings, provided great entertainment, and as the crowd left at the end of his program they too characterized one another as they walked down the halls looking at each other's noses, eyebrows, lips, foreheads, and the other features which Gordon had pointed out.

Facial caricatures of many of the interested students were drawn by Gordon, who spent an hour after the program reading characters.

SSA MESSAGE

Fellow Students

Our working together and will to win certainly produced a wonderful homecoming for all of us. Each event on our homecoming calendar went off on time and with great effectiveness. And no small contribution was the beautiful Indian summer weather of the week-end.

Ruth Ann, our gracious queen and her attendants were a fitting symbol of the celebration. The play, bonfire, parade, and game all added to the spirit. It was especially thrilling to see our Blue Devils come through with a win and put us all in the mood for celebrating. The junior class set the mood for our "Goal Rush of '49" dance with their very appropriate decorations.

The only disappointing feature of homecoming was the small turnout of alumni. It is the duty of every student to encourage alumni to come back. Of course we like to see our graduates any time, but we especially miss them when they aren't at Stout for homecoming.

Now that we have a minute to catch our breath, it might be well to preview the events of the coming weekend. On Friday night our first lyceum program will be offered at the Stout auditorium. For those of you unfamiliar with our system, admission is by SSA card. On Sunday an old but popular movie will be shown in the auditorium, also by the SSA office. Admission to the movie is again by SSA card.

We of the SSA office wish to express our thanks to you for assisting us in making this a most successful homecoming.

Sincerely,
The SSA Officers

THREE FACULTY ACTIVE AT TEACHERS MEET

Dean Clyde A. Bowman, Ray Wigen, and C. L. Rich Participate In Convention

Included in the program at the Northwestern Wisconsin Teachers association convention, held October 13 and 14 at Eau Claire, were three members of the Stout faculty: Dean Clyde A. Bowman, Mr. Ray Wigen, and Mr. C. L. Rich.

Mr. Rich was asked to speak on the mathematics panel in addition to his duties as secretary of the panel. "Current Trends in Mathematics today" was the theme of the discussion which he lead. In asking Mr. Rich to speak, Mr. John Menard, chairman of the mathematics panel, stressed the fact that past performances of Mr. Rich indicated that he was the man for the job. Mr. Rich is known throughout the field because of his work in test development and his authorship of other material in the mathematics and physics fields.

On Friday afternoon, a round table group discussed the place of Wisconsin Industrial Arts in the curriculum for the 1950's. Chairman of the group was C. C. Culver of Eau Claire. Charles Walden, curriculum coordinator, represented the State committee. The State-wide Industrial Arts committee was represented by Ray Wigen and Clyde A. Bowman of The Stout Institute.

Supervisors H. J. Shufelt of Racine and A. O. Burmeister of Eau Claire presented the viewpoint of the large city. The small city was represented by Stewart D. North of Thorp. From See FACULTY—Page 4

TOWER REQUESTS SENIORS TO TURN IN PICTURES

Seniors!

You are requested to turn in your pictures to the Tower office as soon as possible so that they may be sent on to the engraving company. With your cooperation, we on the staff will be able to meet the deadline and have the completed yearbook before the closing of school.

PIANIST AT FIRST LYCEUM FRIDAY EVE

"Concerto for Fun" will be presented by Mr. Henry L. Scott, Friday, October 21, at 8:00 p.m., in Stout auditorium. Mr. Scott, who is called the "Will Rogers of the Piano," will start the 1949 season of lyceums.

Students are urged to take advantage of the educational and entertainment values of all lyceum programs. These activities are sponsored by the Stout Institute, and are financed from part of the student activity fee. Purpose of the lyceums is providing students with a well-rounded college life.

MUSICAL SERIES SPONSORED BY LYCEUM

In response to the suggestions of many students, the Lyceum-Assembly Committee is sponsoring a series of programs of recorded music. This first program will be presented at 4:00 p.m. Thursday, October 27, in the Harvey Memorial.

These programs will be devoted for the most part of familiar works of the better-known composers. As a special number on each program, the committee plans to present a soloist from the student body or faculty.

The following numbers will be played at the first program.

"Grand March" from Act II of Richard Wagner's music-drama "Tannhauser" (Sir Thomas Beecham conducting the London Philharmonic Orchestra).

"Symphony No. 8, in B Minor ('Unfinished') by Franz Schubert (Boston Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Serge Koussevitzky). This symphony was popularized by Sigmund Romberg who used themes from it in his "You Are My Song of Love."

"Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks" by Richard Strauss (The Cleveland Orchestra, Arthur Rodzinski, conductor). This is played as a tribute to the composer whose death occurred last month.

"Emperor Waltz" by Johann Strauss (The Philadelphia Orchestra; Eugene Ormandy, conductor).

It is the intention of the committee that these programs be informal. Students and faculty are invited to come and go as they please. It is suggested, however, that as far as possible all entrances and exits be made before or between numbers.

SUMMER SESSION PLANS ARE NOW UNDERWAY

Making plans for the 1950 summer session at The Stout Institute, President Verne C. Fryklund, Dean Alice J. Kirk, Dean Clyde A. Bowman, and Graduate Director Ray A. Wigen met Monday in Madison with C. L. Greiber, state director of vocational education, and his staff.

While in Madison, Dr. Fryklund consulted with the state architect regarding the new Stout library.

HOMECOMING DANCE IS SUCCESS

An extremely jubilant crowd was present at the homecoming dance, held Saturday evening, October 15, in the Armory, immediately after the football game.

Music for the dance was furnished by "The Biggest Little Band," a musical organization from Chippewa Falls. Refreshments, served by the SSA, were available in the Stout gym.

RACIAL PREJUDICE

Racial prejudice is a very controversial subject that has been brought up quite frequently in the larger schools and universities, as well as throughout the rest of the nation. Thus far, racial prejudice at Stout has never been of very great importance, but there have been comments made about racial segregation based on an unwritten law among the different races.

Whenever comments of such nature are made, they prove the fact that there are definitely signs of superiority among folks who were originally created equal.

With the emancipation of the slaves in the southern part of the United States, there should have been a broader form of freedom set up to avoid what is taking place in our present day life. There are feelings of resentment toward all races of people, especially where there is a predominance of a race unlike those who originally entered a community to make their homes there. Tolerance is a big job for any one person to undertake, but if people will look on both sides of the question, they will better realize how they have taken the wrong attitudes and opinions toward minorities in the past.

Here at Stout, racial prejudice is not a predominant issue, but it is one that could spring up as it invariably has done in other places.

What a weekend!

Now that the homecoming is over, we can get back to our studies and take it easy for a while. Don't you think that we should have a week or so off from school, so that we can recuperate from our previous big weekend? I'm sure that everyone will agree with us when we say that the homecoming this year was a great success.

Did you notice all the strange faces around the campus this week? And "by strange faces" I do not mean the alumni, but I do mean the imported dates.

Marjorie Forsman had her boy friend from Michigan here. Someone said that they were seen in Wakanda park, in the daytime that is. Ray Johnson says that he and his girl, who came down from Vernale, Minn., enjoyed the weekend very much.

Willis Bogenhagen was also seen sporting someone of the opposite sex from back home. Love must be grand. Tiny Norman really played a good game Saturday. They tell me that his one and only girl from Superior was cheering for him in the stands.

Terry Mroczkowski was really up on a cloud, and she probably still is. Terry received a diamond ring from Ed Saxhaug. Ed did graduate work last year here at Stout. When is the wedding, Terry?

Eau Claire was pretty well represented at our homecoming. Don Winters was seen with a student nurse from Eau Claire. Say, Don has been making some frequent trips to see the doctor in Eau Claire. I wonder if there can be any connection.

The freshman girls were suppose to serve coffee to the fellows building the bonfire, but I guess June Keefer found that exploring the fair grounds was much more interesting and more fun. How about it, June?

Bob Houghton and Don Bredahl also went to Eau Claire for their women. Bob's date was Bette Duxburg and Pat Olson was Don's pride.

SSA OFFICE APPLAUDED FOR FINE WORK

The SSA office is doing an exceptionally fine job in organizing the school activities program for the school year. Credit should be given when credit due, and credit is certainly due the SSA office.

The past several years, as well as the present one, have been very well filled with activities for the students during weekends.

All organizations sponsoring events must check the date and the program with the SSA office. The very effective program of school events which has been set up by SSA gives each organization an equal opportunity to secure dates on the school calendar. There has been very little complaint as to how this program has operated.

Not only does the SSA office do an excellent job of organizing the fraternity, society, and club-sponsored events, but also it sponsors several all-school functions itself. Each month finds at least one SSA sponsored all-school event.

The all-school mixer, the first dance of the year, is the event sponsored by the SSA. The next and perhaps the biggest event of the year, which is SSA sponsored, is the annual Homecoming, which includes a dance following the football game. The Christmas party held in December is sponsored by the SSA,

Did you notice how happy Rosie Grzadzilewski was that Stout won the football game? Could Gale Woelfer be her reason for joy. They've been going pretty steady lately.

Don Gee seemed to be enjoying the company of a short, dark haired girl. I didn't get close enough to see who she was. How about it Don, who was she?

Just like old times, eh Frey. Shirley Erdman came in from Sheboygan to see Dean Frey. Although Shirley is not back in school this year, she hasn't forgotten Dean.

Some of the couples that I bumped into Saturday at the dance were Lois Subitch and Lee Flanders; Anita Clark and Don Tietz; Ruth Quigley and Jim Gehrke; and Jean Moe and Ross Slater. Oh! I can't forget to mention Rolland Wolfe and Pat Goodrich. They were also at the dance.

Hank Tall and Ruby Larson seemed to enjoy each other's company. Wayne Rudesill and Loree Woolen was another couple having a gay time. Joanne Buboltz and Emery Nelson were seen together once again.

Eugene Sayer and Mildred Williams are still going strong. They have been dating quite frequently lately.

Noreen Kahl and John Debrauske were having a good time inspecting the dorms during open house. They were enjoying themselves so much that they went to the show in the evening.

Did you notice Ed Fleyer and Evelyn, the waitress at the Campus cafe, at the dance? Hmm, could this be the reason Ed spends more time in the Campus cafe than he does in class?

Berdie Hutchinson surely has good taste when it comes to buying clothes. That new brown sweater that Paul Revord is wearing, is a birthday gift from Berdie. Happy birthday, Paul.

If I've missed someone during this past week, I hope he'll forgive me. You know, it has been a big weekend. Now to take a little rest until next week.

Stout Co-ed: "Yes, I heard it, but you are wasting your time; you see I am engaged."

Speaking of kids with college educations, I think this one tops them all. A little boy who found that his grandmother had died and had also heard of a place known as Heaven decided to write and send the following letter: "Dear St. Peter: We have sent you Grandma. Please present her with a harp or some string instrument to play, because Grandma is shortwinded and can't blow a wind instrument."

Most men take a powder when the girl turns out to be a pill.

The Washington Biological Survey had to change the wording on the metal bands used to "ring" birds for bird surveys. It now reads as follows: "Notify Fish and Wild Life Services, Washington, D.C."

His wife: "That's what you think. The last time you fixed the cuckoo clock, something went wrong because since then the cuckoo backs out and asks, 'What time is it?'"

During a bull session here at Stout Institute, the following statement was heard: "She is a goody-goody type of girl."

Since the censors have cleaned the stuff behind the footlights, some people believe that someone should find out what goes on behind the headlights.

It sure is strange how long it takes for some people to get married or even to decide when they should get married. For example in the following case: "She wouldn't marry him when he was drunk, and he wouldn't marry her when he was sober!"

A young father had bought a pet kitten for his son, and as the father and son rode on a bus, the young son held the kitten in a shoe box punctured with air holes. The kid asked out loud, "What is my kitten, Daddy, a man kitten or lady kitten?"

"A man kitten," replied the father rather swiftly. The little boy asked again, "How do you know?"

All passengers who overheard the question waited expectantly for the answer.

"Well," said the father, "didn't you see the whiskers?"

There are some people that flee from temptation and there are some people that crawl, in the hopes that they can hear it gaining on them.

Some of the girls at Stout Institute are tactful; some of them make a slow man think he is a wolf.

NEWMAN CLUB TO SERVE LUNCH, HOLD MEETING

At the brunch to be served for Newman club members and friends, Father Carl Wohlmuth will speak on the Christopher Movement, Sunday, October 23, after the ten o'clock Mass. A business meeting will also be held, with the new officers assuming their duties.

The lunch is predicted to be good. "Come all ye members," says Beatrice Sagstetter, committee chairman for the brunch.

WAA BEGINS PROGRAM WITH VOLLEYBALL

The WAA under the leadership of its president, Bernice Danzinger, started its athletic program for this year on Monday, October 10, with the game of volleyball. Every month will feature a different sport.

WAA business meetings are held on the first Monday of the month in the clubroom on the third floor of the PE building. Every Monday and Tuesday night there will be some form of recreational activity offered.

This year, in addition to the Christmas party, there will be a Halloween masquerade party. Tentative plans have been made for a playday sometime in November.

Other officers for this year are Margie Musil, vice-president; Jane Wooldridge, secretary; and Marion Saari, treasurer. Mrs. Don Fahrman is the adviser.

The concession stand at the football field is run by the WAA. Members request the support of all students to make it a success.

DANCING LESSONS FOR DORM RESIDENTS

Lynwood hall is contemplating dancing lessons once a week for beginners.

Teachers for these lessons in the fine art of dancing are to be girls from the three dorms. These dancing instructions will be for beginners only! The recreation room would be very crowded, if everyone turned out for the lessons. If everything works out as planned, maybe some jitter bugging will be taught to enthusiasts later in the year. As of now, the foxtrot and waltz will be the high light of the evening.

Dancing is the sparkplug of social life on the campus, and these lessons will give the men of Lynwood who do not dance a chance to learn without leaving the dorm. After the fundamentals have been mastered, practice makes perfect.

LYNWOOD HALL SCENE OF SUCCESSFUL PARTY

Branches of colorful fall leaves decorated the recreation rooms of Lynwood hall for Lynwood's first party of the year. Jim Brown, who was general chairman of the party, was assisted by Don Landsverk for the decorations and Paul Rauth for the food.

The highlight of the decorations was an archway of branches with a bird's nest in the top.

The guests for the evening's entertainment were the women of Tainter annex and Tainter hall. Chaperones for the party were Mrs. Anthony Storti and Miss Cecilia Zine.

All were kept busy with dancing, ping-pong, card games, shuffle board, and group games.

Refreshments for the evening were sandwiches, cookies, nuts, and punch. The party was reported to be a big success.

RUSHEES GIVEN CHINESE PARTY BY HYPs

Hyperian Chinamen welcomed their new rushees at a Chinese rushing party, given Friday evening, October 7, in the Harvey Memorial.

Chinese guides (all Hyps garbed in Oriental costume) met their guests outside the Tainter Memorial library and escorted them to the Harvey. The rushees were asked to take off their shoes and put on paper scuffs. Then each guest was given a Chinese lantern nametag and ushered into the Harvey, where low cushions were scattered around the floor for seats. Janet Rottjer and Barbara Johnson had decorated the Harvey with branches of bittersweet and sprigs of evergreen. Candles glowing in colored Chinese lanterns filled the room with soft, dim light.

Following a game period led by Alice Billiet, Janice Oebser, and Ruth Samdahl, refreshments were served. A long, low table was set for tea, and Leona Sexe, doing the honors, knelt at the table and served the tea. To carry out the Chinese theme, poppyseed cake, almond cookies, and nuts were served.

"Madame Sing Lee" Carrison, Hyperian adviser, was present to read fortunes for all the rushees. She used the tea leaves left in the cups. Her fortune-telling was so popular that many of the Hyps requested that she look into their futures too.

At the close of the party, the rushees, encircled by their hostesses, listened while the Hyps sang their society song. As the rushees were leaving, pausing to put their shoes on, Patsy Webb and Jean Engebretson blended their talents in a duet arrangement of the famous Chinese masterpiece "Chopsticks."

General chairmen for the rushing party were Gloria Gray Kuula and Ardelle Knutson Fish. Margaret Perman was in charge of food.

HENRY FRIEDMAN GUEST AT WESLEY MEETING

Reverend Henry Friedman, Eau Claire, was the featured speaker at the regular Sunday meeting of the Wesley Student Fellowship, October 16, at the Centenary Methodist church.

Mr. Friedman spoke on the ways in which the Roman Catholic Church and the Protestant Churches are alike. This was the second talk and discussion in a series of three meetings stressing religious understanding. "Judaism" will be the subject of the and discussion on October 23.

Kay Thurston was the chairman of the food committee. She was assisted by Les Duenk, Carolyn Blain, Guy Schram, and Fred Kajihara. The lunch consisted of baked hot dish, bread and butter, salad plate, milk, and white and Devil's Food cake.

Jean Winsor was chairman of the worship service, and Norman Lenius, Dale Maxey, and Francis Knight took part in the service.

Students planning to attend WSF meetings are asked to sign the poster in the Home Economics corridor. Meetings convene promptly at 5:30 for supper, which is prepared by the students, and served at cost. There is a brief worship service, speaker, discussion, and recreation. Everyone is invited to attend.

LIBRARY FEATURES INTERESTING DISPLAYS

In the library, there are two book displays which should be helpful to everyone. These displays, located just outside Miss Lillian Froggatt's office door, have been placed here to keep students alert to all new books that the library or faculty has requested or bought.

The display that is almost directly under the clock is now entitled, "What Shall We Do Now." Every two weeks, a change takes place, and the librarians would welcome any suggestions as to subjects for display. All books on this table refer to such subjects as sewing, carving, painting etc., and can be checked out directly. Books in the display to the left of the office door must be signed for and picked up a week later. By this is meant that these latter books must stay in the library a week before students who have signed their names on the card can take them out. This gives more people a chance to see the books, and put their names on the waiting list.

In weeks to come, let us examine these displays in the library more often. It is for our benefit that they have been placed in the library, and they should not be passed up or ignored.

TRADITIONAL HELL WEEK STARTS

Hell week is as traditional on the Stout campus as "Chicken Every Sunday." It is something to which the students all look forward, especially those men who are pledging to the numerous fraternities. Hell week gives the second semester frat men chance to retaliate for the "welcome" that was provided for them the year before.

During hell week, it is not uncommon to see a dashing young pledge with a sword and shield come charging down the corridor, only to meet a handsome pledge with a red sash at his side. While they are carrying on a conversation, a gentleman with a straw hat and cane stops to join them. The subject of the conversation is another fellow with the bow tie and derby who is carefully polishing shoes. As they are about to go to their respective classes, a group wearing paper hats comes in an entrance to the H E building. They too are hell week pledges.

If these representatives of the various social groups are added together, they provide a resume of the social life on the campus, which is really a little education all by itself.

DEMONSTRATION GIVEN BY MRS. BISHOP

A wool jacket, including a complete lining, was constructed, Monday, October 3, during an all-day lecture demonstration by Mrs. Bryte Bishop who is promoting more efficient and faster methods of home clothing construction. Mrs. Bishop sewed and lectured on applying commercial methods to home sewing before a capacity audience of home economics teachers, county home agents of the northwest section of the state, and senior home economics education students of Stout.

Working as she talked, Mrs. Bishop sewed, reinforced, and interlined units of the wool jacket before assembling the units into the jacket proper. The sleeves were eased into the jacket body quickly and easily under her experienced fingers. This technique of not using basting stitches and only few pins was watched carefully by the audience.

The same order of work was followed in sewing the lining into the jacket. As the last part of her demonstration, Mrs. Bishop made fitted shoulder pads for the suit jacket.

This second Bishop clothing clinic held at Stout dealt with more advanced work than did the previous demonstration of a year ago, which included the fundamentals of clothing construction. Mrs. Bishop is conducting a series of such demonstrations throughout the country, teaching especially applying fast commercial sewing methods to home sewing.

PA HOLDS FIRST PARTY FOR NEW MEMBERS

"Alice in PA Land" was the theme used for the PA rushing party, held Sunday, October 9, with eighteen rushees present.

Entering PA land through the wonderland looking glass, the rushees were greeted by Jean Walzer as Mr. Rabbit, and Dorothy Amendt as Alice. Each of the eighteen rushees was welcomed with a PA apron and hair ribbon.

PA members entertained the rushees with games, after which the story of "Alice in PA Land" was read by Dorothy Amendt.

Lunch was served in a wonderland atmosphere, after which the present members of the PA's sang their society songs.

EICHELBERGER TO HAVE HALLOWEEN PARTY

Games and dancing will highlight the Eichelberger hall Halloween party, to be held in the dormitory's recreation rooms on Friday night, October 21, after the lyceum.

Chairmen of the various committees include Donna Gardiner, entertainment; Bernice Habeck, decoration; Joanne Buboltz, food; and Rose Young, invitations.

CLUBS SELL ARTICLES FOR HOMECOMING

During the week of homecoming, various societies, sororities, and clubs have been selling numerous articles to help promote homecoming spirit.

SMA sorority sold yellow and white mums, the traditional flower for homecoming, with a slogan of "Mums the Word."

Hyperian society held a sale of playing cards with a monogram of Stout Institute on the back of each card. The sale of these playing cards will continue throughout the entire school year.

Sale of decals and stamps sponsored by the Stout Rifle club took place a week previous of homecoming. They will also be sold throughout the year.

Under the sponsorship of the Stout Arts and Craft club, the sale of homecoming pins was capably handled.

Magazine

From two Arabic words — Makha-zine (warehouse) and Kha zana (to store up). Brought to England by 16th Century travellers the word gradually came to mean a store house or treasury of information. It was first used in a literary sense in 1731, when it appeared as a name on the still flourishing Gentleman's Magazine, which described itself as a collection of subjects "to treasure up." Rival publications began imitating until finally periodicals monopolized the term.

Dr. Clark G. Kuebler, president of Ripon College, and Dr. Frank Ever-sull, Washington University, St. Louis, opened the convention on Thursday morning. Both men have gained national and international fame as speakers. Because of the large attendance expected, this general session was held at the city auditorium and the Senior high school. The speakers talked alternately at each place.

John W. Vandercook and the Honorable Chase Going Woodhouse, congresswoman from Connecticut, appeared on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Woodhouse and Mr. Vandercook have both recently returned from European tours.

'49 INTRAMURAL SPORTS PLANS ARE ANNOUNCED

The intra-mural sports program offered by the athletic department of The Stout Institute this year will be even more intensive and complete than last year's program. It is hoped that many students will take part in it.

Coach Anthony W. Storti, head of the intra-mural sports program, said that the students showed great interest and fine participation in last year's intra-mural sports program.

The 1948-49 program had the support of approximately 800 students, who took part in the various sporting activities.

Mr. Storti stated further that if more students participate in sporting events, more leagues, teams, and sports can be added to the program.

The various activities that are planned for this year are volley ball, basketball, bowling, archery, badminton, swimming, riflery, table tennis, wrestling, softball, floor shuffle board, and a free throw contest.

November 15 is the starting time of the intra-mural sports as far as volleyball is concerned. Any group or individual team unit wishing to enter this phase of the intra-mural sports program are urged to submit their names to the athletic office to facilitate scheduling of teams.

At the close of last year's intra-mural sports program, the athletic department of The Stout Institute presented medals to the winners of the various activities. The medals were presented at a picnic-supper at the Dr. J. Edgar Ray cottage at Tainter lake.

Coach Storti said that the aim of the intramural sports program at The Stout Institute is to provide an opportunity for wholesome physical activity in recreation and competitive games and sports to all men in the college.

The objectives of the intra-mural program at The Stout Institute are to provide a worthy use of leisure time; to provide numerous social contacts, such as experience in group relations which will help to give a person a broad view point; to make him a better judge of his associates; to give him self assurance; to teach him the meaning of loyalty and cooperation; to teach lessons in sportsmanlike conduct; and to develop skills which have valuable carry-over values after graduation.

AAUW RECEIVES NOTICE OF NEW APPOINTMENT

The Menomonie branch of the American Association of University Women received notice October 17 that Dr. Althea K. Hottel, national president of the AAUW, was chosen as one of four speakers reporting on the "Round-the-World Town Meeting" tour in a final broadcast from Washington, D.C., on Tuesday, October 19.

Twenty-one national organizations were represented in the Town Hall group which visited thirteen world capitals this summer on a radio broadcasting tour. The title for the final broadcast from Washington was "How Can America Contribute to a Free World? - A Report to the people."

Besides Dr. Hottel, the speakers were Mr. Brooks Emeny, president of the Foreign Policy association; Mr. George Wilson, president of the American Farm Bureau federation; and Mr. Chester Williams, who was given leave from his post at the United Nations to organize and direct the seminars which were held in connection with the tour. Acting as moderator was Mr. George V. Denny, Jr., of Town Hall, who was moderator for all the broadcasts on the tour.

Traveling by air, the Town Hall group spent an average of five days each in London, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Rome, Ankara, Tel Aviv, Cairo, Karachi, New Delhi, Manila, Tokyo, and Honolulu. In each of the cities, they held a regular session of "America's Town Meeting of the Air," with two prominent citizens of the country being visited and two Americans participating.

In daily seminars, the leaders of the national organizations on tour engaged in daily round table discussions with groups of leaders in each country visited. Small conferences and individual interviews were also arranged with "opposite numbers" in each country. Dr. Hottel met leaders of university women's organizations in all the countries visited.

SIGMA ALUMNI BREAKFAST HELD AT WAKANDA PARK

The Sigma Alumni breakfast was held at 7:30 Saturday morning, October 15, in the pavilion at Wakanda Park. The pledges had on their regalia. Pancakes, sausage, and coffee were served. Dr. Verne Fryklund, Dean M. M. Price, Dean C. A. Bowman, and advisers Dwight Agnew and Eric Oetting were among those present.

Framed Mirror—Focal Point of Room

A framed mirror can add much beauty and sparkle to a room, providing it blends with the rest of the furnishings and is placed to the best advantage. In this traditional living room an oval gilt framed mirror has been hung over the fireplace, thus becoming the focal center of the room. The exquisite detail of the frame relieves the simple lines of the fireplace and is in keeping with the room's formal atmosphere. Hung at eye level this mirror reflects the decor of the room. A pair of simply framed prints on each side of the mirror create a well-balanced grouping.

BAND TO GO TO LACROSSE

The band will go to La Crosse this week end to participate in the La-Crosse homecoming. They will leave at 6:30 Saturday morning and will march in the parade at 9:30.

The band will attend the game in the afternoon. They will perform either at half-time or before the game. Mr. Frailey wants to march during the half, but will settle for a before-the-game performance.

The band has some special formations for the game time program.

The group which is going consists of 50 band members, the color guard, and the cheer leaders. At the time of the interview, time of return was not yet decided. The group will probably stay for part of the homecoming dance if late leave can be secured for the members.

CONGO MEETING OFFERS MEAL, GAMES, SONGS

A supper meeting, corn-popping games, singing, and dancing are the program for the next Congo meeting to be held at 5:00 p.m., Sunday, October 23, in the First Congregational church, 5th and Wilson. The Congo officers urge everyone to attend and help make the evening a lively one.

A vesper service in the sanctuary supper, and square-dancing shared the spotlight at the last Congo meeting Sunday, October 9.

Highlighting the vesper service were organ solos by Mr. Howard Hoing, the vocal solo, "Alone with Thee," sung by Dr. Dwight Agnew, and discussion of "Religion on the Campus," by Dean Merle M. Price.

After the vesper service, the group gathered around the supper table downstairs for a meal of baked macaroni and cheese, assorted raw vegetables, ice cream, ginger snaps, and coffee. Dr. Agnew, Congo adviser, led group singing at the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ruehl, who led the church night dance, led another evening of lively square dancing, beginning with a quick and tricky two-step. The "Butterfly Whirl" and other fast dances were included before the final "Goodnight Ladies" closed the evening's activities.

APO SELECTS PLEDGES AT MEETING

Twenty-Two New Candidates Are Assigned Pledge Duties

Twenty-two persons were selected as pledges for Alpha Phi Omega, at the last meeting. They were Orvil Wilsey, Charles Hocking, Paul Yadlosky, Jim Hass, Gerald Cook, Robert Andrews, Torval Hendrickson, Ardean Sveum, Raymond D. Johnson, Don Winters, H. W. Settles, G. L. Quaderer, George Tinetti, Dave Pilon, Ben Gabriel, Allen Swan, Roger Randall, Marvin Lundin, Fred Ward, Charles Miller, Bob Ohr, and Ed Greenway.

The pledge team consisted of Lee Bedsted, Norm Lenius, Jim Gehrke, Don Straw, and Virgil Halverson. President Bedsted invited the new members into the National Service fraternity and acquainted them with the principle of Alpha Phi Omega. A brief explanation of the fundamentals of the brotherhood was given by vice-president Gehrke.

Virgil Halverson, chairman of the social committee, discussed the spirit of comradeship, and the background of the fraternity was given by historian, Don Straw. Following this, Norm Lenius explained the campus projects program, and the fundamental feature of A.P.O., which distinguishes it as a service fraternity.

The candidates were assigned their pledge duties, which they must complete within a period of three weeks. Several of the pledges helped in directing traffic for the Homecoming parade. Following the parade, A.P.O. pledges helped in the distribution of free refreshments for the visiting bands which took part in the parade. Ushers and guards at the football game also wore the blue and gold armbands of APO.

Several of the pledges will be working on cigarette butt containers, which are to be placed at convenient places on the campus. In addition to these duties, the candidates are required to design working drawings to be used in the various fields of industrial education. These drawings will be used by teachers going out in the field, to help them plan projects for students. Pledges will serve as judge and advisers for local scout projects and camporees. Alpha Phi Omega plans, in the near future, to set up a duplicating room for the use of students who wish to do mimeograph or ditto work.

Corresponding to initiation in the social fraternities, APO requires all pledges to participate in these campus activities before they are eligible for membership. Alpha Phi Omega, although primarily a service fraternity, is interested in promoting scout leadership as well as service projects. All pledges must have been a boy scout at one time, as well as exhibit an interest in scouting activities.

PHI U RECEPTION HELD AT HARVEY MEMORIAL

Alumnae of Phi Upsilon Omicron who were back at Stout for the homecoming celebration attended a special reception given by Phi U members, Sunday morning, October 16, in the Harvey Memorial. A variety of fruit, sweet rolls, candy, nuts, and coffee was served to the more than thirty-five persons attending.

Dean Alice J. Kirk, adviser of Phi U, and Ruth Ann Christensen, president of the organization and homecoming queen for the weekend, poured at the serving table. Mrs. Beth Yount was in charge of the decorations for the morning reception; Rosella Transgrud was chairman of the supplies committee; and Florence Severson was in charge of the food served.

LYNWOOD HALL TO HOLD A SPOOKS SPREE

Ghosts and black cats will prow! at the Lynwood hall dorm party, planned for Friday, October 28. The affair, to be held in the dormitory recreation rooms, is tentatively named "Spooks Spree," and will be for the benefit of residents of the dorm, their dates, and such persons from the three girls' dormitories who wish to attend and enjoy themselves at the risk of being frightened by any ghostly spooks that may happen to return to earth for the occasion.

Although no definite arrangements have been made as yet, details are to be worked out at a dorm meeting to be held in the near future. At that time other activities such as dancing lessons and table tennis tournaments will be discussed.

Lynwood is hoping to be able to accommodate everyone from the dorms who wishes to be present at this party. "Get your reservation in early, and come prepared for an evening of fun," say the Lynwood officers.

Question of the Week

Question of the week: This week's question canvasses student interest. "What question would you like to see in Question of the Week?"

Francis Stephens: When are the Royal Black Hawks going to play again?

Fred Ward: When are operations on the closing of the streets starting?

Ray Welch: Is the small family trend as predominant at Stout as in other schools?

Casimir Brezezowicz: I can't think of anything.

George Skrbich: Why are prices so high around here?

Olee Leiskow: I'm not acquainted with the column.

Dick Schwantes: Varsity, sports, politics and human interest.

Roberta Hutchinson: Future activities around the school.

Don Gee: Is Stout going to win over La Crosse?

Ardelle Kruger: Can't you please skip me?

HUGH O. TYLER TEACHES IN NAVAJO SCHOOL

The following letter was received from Hugh O. Tyler, who graduated in 1947, and is now teaching in a school for Navajo Indian boys in Stewart, Nevada.

"Enclosed is my dollar to put me in good standing for another year with the Alumni association.

"School is again in session and it looks like a big year. I am still teaching in Indian Service, working in the special Navajo program. This year I have close to eighty boys between the ages of twelve to twenty-two in my general shop. I'm teaching eight areas of work, and if you don't think that is some task you should try it. I wonder if Mr. Bowman and Mr. Brown would recommend a general shop program for a non-English speaking group. I am fortunate in having an interpreter to help me put across new concepts.

"Coupled with my shop work, I have thirty-eight Navajo boys in an athletic program three days a week. With serving on the usual committees, playing in the Carson City band, playing dance work, and hunting, I find that there is little time for much else."

Sincerely,
Hugh Tyler

DOTSETH IS APPOINTED SUPERVISOR IN MICH.

James H. Dotseth, Stout graduate of 1934, has been appointed State Supervisor of Trade and Industrial education in the state of Michigan, according to a letter received from him.

Upon his graduation from Stout, Mr. Dotseth's first teaching position was with the public schools in Flint, Michigan. Hamtramck, Michigan, was his next assignment, and from there he changed to the Detroit public school system.

During the war James spent three and one-half years in the Navy, reaching the rank of lieutenant-commander.

Mr. Dotseth now lives at 4608 Chipewa drive, Okemas, Michigan.

MENOMONIE ALUMNI HOST FOR TEA

The Menomonie chapter of The Stout Alumni association was host at a tea for visiting alumni who returned for this year's homecoming. Mrs. Emily Kirk, secretary of the local organization, was in charge of the annual event.

Bittersweet formed the attractive table centerpiece for the tea, which was held in the Harvey Memorial, Saturday, October 15, from 3:15 to 5:00 p.m. After seeing the homecoming parade, the alumni met at the Memorial and talked over their varied experiences. Coffee, cookies, and candies were served.

Mrs. Kirk, chairman of the event, had local alumni members assist her. Mrs. Lloyd Whydowski, Mrs. Paul Bailey, and Miss Edith Grundmeier, worked with her on the general committee.

Mrs. Mabel Zimmerman and Mrs. Margaret Stone were responsible for the table decorations, which were typical of the season.

Alumni were greeted at the door by hostesses Mrs. Jack Goodrich, Mrs. Ralph Betterley, Mrs. J. Edgar Ray, and Mrs. Richard Freeman.

Pourers at the tea included Mrs. John Carter, Mrs. F. A. Quilling, Mrs. George La Pointe, and Miss Mabel Leedom.

Present graduate students and alumni Miss Rosalie Ofstie and Mrs. Ann Chartraw were on the replenishing committee, together with Mrs. David Barnard, Mrs. Robert Phillips, Mrs. James Solberg, Miss Helen Kelly, and Miss Olive Brownell.

REGISTER 110 ALUMNI HERE FOR HOMECOMING

One hundred and ten alumni here for homecoming signed at the registration booth set up in the first floor H.E. corridor, Friday afternoon and Saturday. There were also several alumni noted who did not register.

Mrs. Emily Kirk, Menomonie, who graduated from Stout in 1909, represented the oldest class at homecoming.

The alumnus who came the longest distance was James Einum, 2404 Longview Ave. S. W., Roanoke, Virginia.

Graduate students worked in the booth registering the alumni and distributing homecoming programs.

ALUMNI MEET FOR LUNCHEON IN EAU CLAIRE

"Where do I sit?" or "Where is the mate for my card?" were the general comments heard in the cafeteria of the Eau Claire high school at the Alumni luncheon, Friday, October 14.

Herbert Anderson, National Alumni secretary, thought of the unique way of arranging the alumni at the luncheon. He had picture post cards of Menomonie, absentee slips, and excuse slips from Stout which he cut into two pieces. One piece of each card was at a place on the tables which were arranged to form an "S" and "I," and the other piece was given to an alumnus as he entered the cafeteria. Then he had to find the other portion of the card that matched his.

Seventy-eight alumni were present at this alumni luncheon, which was held in connection with the teachers convention in Eau Claire, October 13, 14, and 15.

President Verne C. Fryklund introduced Herbert Anderson to the alumni, and the latter served as master of ceremonies for the program. He gave the plans for the coming year and stated that a local alumni organization will be organized if enough interest is shown in this area.

Mr. Anderson then introduced the people at the speakers' table. They were Dean Alice J. Kirk, Dean Clyde A. Bowman, Dean Keturah Antrim, and Adrian Burmeister, chairman for the luncheon.

After the introductions, a quartet composed of three Stout instructors and one Stout student, Ralph Betterley, George Soderberg, Dwight Agnew, and John Rowe, entertained with a few songs.

"Life at Stout," a movie filmed at Stout fifteen years ago, was shown at the luncheon. The film depicted classroom and other types of activity at Stout.

Louis Weisbroecker, head of the printing department at the Eau Claire high school, was responsible for the printing of the napkins and programs. Mrs. Lehman, a Stout graduate, prepared the luncheon.

OFF-CAMPUS TEACHING NOW FOR MEN

Two new aspects of practice teaching for industrial arts students have been started this semester.

The beginning of off-campus practice classes for men is the first of these aspects. It started last Monday, October 10, when two Stout upperclassmen left for LaCrosse, Wisconsin, where they will teach in the Logan Senior high school.

These first two students to be given the chance at off-campus practice teaching are Robert St. Clair and Leonard Westberg. They will teach under the unit shop plan.

Aspect number two is the addition of new practice teaching fields to the curriculum. Shops in general finishing and in general auto mechanics are now offered for practice teaching. These two courses will give the students a greater selection of classes and some a chance to teach in their chosen fields.

Several other courses have been added in existing fields, too. Another course in printing and another course in driver training have been added, to take care of the increasing number of practice teachers.

The practice teachers are also co-operating with the industrial arts department of the Coddington school.

Plans for the future include two more schools for off-campus teaching, one in Thorp, Wisconsin, and another in New Richmond, Wisconsin. Both of these schools operate under the general shop plan.

V.A. REPORTING—

NEWS RELEASES BY THE VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

Some serious errors in filling out application forms for the $2,800,000-000 National Service Life Insurance dividend were reported today by the Veterans Administration as millions of veterans began applying for their special payments.

The most common error, the VA said, is failure to include service serial numbers required under item four of the application form. Here the form provides three spaces labeled respectively "Enlisted," "Officer," and "Other." These labels refer to the class of serial number assigned during service.

Many veterans, however, are putting their dates of enlistments in the first box and their grade or rank in one of the other two. The VA said that such information is not necessary for dividend purposes, but that the serial number is absolutely essential.

Some veterans even are failing to sign their application, the VA said after a preliminary check of early receipts. Unsigned applications will not be considered, the VA said.

Application blanks for the $2,800,000-000 National Life Insurance special dividend will be available in all post offices and veterans service organizations Monday, August 29, J. P. Cullon, Manager of the Milwaukee Regional Office of the Veterans Administration, said today.

In addition, blanks will be available at every Veterans Administration office in the state, he added.

Cullen emphasized that veterans living in cities and towns in which there is no VA office would find an ample supply of the application blanks at the post offices and the veterans services organization offices in each city or town.

"The Veterans Administration has attempted to make the application form as simple as possible," Cullen said. "Any veteran, if he has a record of his service serial number, can complete the application form in a very few minutes."

"Even if he doesn't recall his insurance policy number, the Veterans Administration can expedite handling of the form."

The Administrator of veterans affairs, Carl R. Gray, Jr., has announced that payment of the dividend will begin sometime after January 1, 1950.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I wish to convert $5.00 of my $10,000 National Service Life Insurance and continue the balance as term insurance. Will I be permitted to do this?

A—Yes, this is permissible under the law.

Q—Why did the VA contact representative refuse to advise me at my request on the best form of converted National Service Life Insurance for me? All he did was give me information on various types of policies.

A—Contact representatives are not permitted to advise veterans as to best forms of converted insurance. They are required only to supply the veteran with all information available. The decision then is up to the veteran.

Q—If I have been advised that I am overpaid on my compensation, must I pay it back?

A—Yes, unless recovery is waived. The waiver, if granted, will be based on the determination that the overpayment was without fault on your part and recovery would defeat the purpose of benefits otherwise authorized or be against equity and good conscience.

INSTRUCTORS EXCHANGE IDEAS

Comparison of teaching methods of The Stout Institute and a New Zealand high school were the main points in correspondence between K. T. Olsen and Noel Swain of Wellington high school. Mr. Olsen is associate professor in the woodworking department at Stout; Mr. Swain is a schoolmaster of the New Zealand high school.

Ideas for the promotion of new techniques and methods of instruction were exchanged by the two instructors. Various projects, blue prints, and reference materials were sent to Mr. Swain last year by Mr. Olsen.

A government bulletin from New Zealand with the description of native woods was received by Mr. Olsen, who had requested it from Mr. Swain.

Contract between the two instructors was started by Mr. Swain, who acquired Mr. Olsen's name from an old issue of the Industrial Arts and Vocational Education Magazine.

ARMORY IS PAINTED AND REDECORATED

Company A of the 128 infantry has gone all out to redecorate and repair the armory. The fine job done has made the armory a nicer building for all of the organizations who use it. One-half of the work was volunteered by The National Guardsmen, while the other half was contracted.

The new interior color scheme is as follows: ceiling, eggshell; upper walls, aqua; lower walls, dark green. The basement locker rooms and offices are white, trimmed in yellow. The one hundred gallons of paint that have been sprayed on the armory's ceilings and walls have made the building a much brighter and more pleasant place.

Among other improvements in the armory are these: wires have been put up along the walls for hanging decorations, the entire building has been rewired, the ceiling is now insulated, there is a fan in the front of the building to provide better ventilation, a stoker has been installed in the basement, new lights are more evenly distributed, and a spotlight is set to shine on the sign, "Company A-128 Infantry," which is in front of the Armory.

A survey by the American Library Association based on books read indicates that Americans were not interested in (1) Personal problems; (2) Housing; and (3) Business. Books on World War II, international problems and atomic energy were small in demand.

NEW MUSIC DIRECTOR LIKES SCHOOL

What an embarrassing moment! Mr. Charles U. Frailey was trying to introduce his wife to a new acquaintance of his, but by no amount of rummaging through his brain could he find the name that belonged to the person. He finally had to admit failure and had to ask the person to give his name. Yes, Stout's new music director's face was red!

Mr. Frailey was born in Waukon, Minnesota, but spent most of his life in the city he calls "home," Superior, Wisconsin. He has completed most of the requirements leading to his Ph.D. at the University of Wisconsin, from which he holds his bachelor's and master's degrees. At Wisconsin University high school, Mr. Frailey was a critic of music and has had vocal and instrumental teaching experience at Birchwood, Wisconsin, and Fairfield, Montana.

When asked about his family, Mr. Frailey grinned proudly as he spoke of his wife and his daughter Terrie Jean. And what a man to cook for! As to favorite foods, his comment is, "I like to eat!"

Mr. Frailey has very little leisure time as he's trying to write his doctor's dissertation, but when he is through with it he will go back to his pastimes of reading technical journals, playing golf, bowling, and trying his hand at amateur photography. The deep, mellow tones of the bassoon please Mr. Frailey. The bassoon is his favorite instrument although he doesn't play it.

As a captain in the air corps during World War II, Mr. Frailey visited almost every state in the country and finally ended up at West Point. Although he hasn't been a Stout instructor very long, he has already fallen in love with the college.

Her lips clung tenaciously to his—she had forgot to remove her chewing gum.

STOUT FACES LACROSSE INDIANS

TEAM TRAVELS TO FACE LA CROSSE IN TILT

Strong Indian Squad Playing Homecoming Game Meets Traveling Blue Devils

At 2:00 p.m., October 22, the Stout Blue Devils, fresh from their conquest of Whitewater, will take on a "loaded" LaCrosse team in the Indians' homecoming tilt.

The perennially-tough LaCrosse aggregation will be stronger than ever this season, with twenty-two letter-men returning from last year's fine squad.

That the Blue Devils face a giant-killing task is confirmed by the fact that the Indians are now riding the crest of a five-game winning streak.

BLUE DEVILS GAIN VICTORY AT HOMECOMING

Bob Young and Gale Woelffer Combine In Aerial Attack For Score

Stout trickery generated a one-point decision over Whitewater, Saturday, at Nelson field, as the Blue Devils defeated the invaders 7 to 6 in the Stout homecoming tilt.

One easily-accomplished 29 yard aerial from quarterback Gale Woelffer to halfback Bob Young and a well-placed conversion by the reliable toe of Young scored this important victory in the Wisconsin teachers conference.

Although the final winners, the Blue Devils had to remove a 6 to 0 deficit to demoralize a potent Whitewater team, which before this crucial game was tied for first place in the conference.

Stout appeared as though it might be on a way to a rout in the early stages. Hobolich recovered a Whitewater fumble on the 49 yard line, where Kieffer drove for seven yards to the Whitewater 44 yard stripe, Peterson added four more yards before a fumble halted the drive.

Four plays later, Whitewater fumbled again, with Basile recovering for the Blue Devils. Krall smashed off tackle for six yards. A five yard penalty moved the ball down to the invaders 39 yard stripe, where Stout again bogged down.

After a kicking duel in the opening minutes of the second period, the Blue Devils sagged and the invaders threatened to score by moving down to the Stout 18 yard line. Whitewater backs broke through the Blue Devils' line time after time for large gains.

The losers scored their only tally mid-way through the third period

COVEY'S CORNER

Storti's men provided the finishing touches on Stout's "49" Homecoming; the festivities couldn't help but be a success after the team won the contest by such a close margin.

For the victors there was elation; for the defeated there was despair. This loss knocked Whitewater out of their high conference standing.

The team looked like a different bunch of men, compared to their two previous weekends. The platoon system used by the Blue Devils against the Quakers kept the boys a little fresher and thus provided Stout with a strong finish.

A mixture of old and new backfield men put the punch in the ground game for Stout. Bob Young was the back who slipped behind the Whitewater secondary to snag Gale Woelffer's touchdown pass; Bob then made himself a fan-favorite by converting for the winning point.

Harter Peterson played as hard a ball game as he has ever played in the last three years; Pete, dependable as ever, got the yardage when the going was rough, and he looked good on defense. The freshmen helping in the backfield were Bill Kieffer, Red Krall, and Red Walker. Walker has been seeing more action as the season progresses, and he runs hard from his halfback position with the power you would expect from a fullback.

Offensive ends Stai and Cataldi made some nice catches, but the running attack dominated most of the game.

New in the Stout line last week were Greg Spears and Herb Markley. Both men played in the defensive lineup, Spears at guard and Markley at end. They are both big fellows and Stout fans should see a lot of them in coming games.

In the offensive line, Ooley, Wentorf, Simon, and Anderson played nice ball and gave Woelffer plenty of protection on his passing.

Digerness, Basile, and Norman turned in a good game at defense, although they had their troubles at times trying to stop the speedy Quaker backfield. Pollock and Thorpe saw plenty of action in the defensive backfield when the boys from Whitewater started going.

To sum up the game I will say the whole team won our Homecoming game; what more could we ask?

Eau Claire was defeated by LaCrosse 14 to 7; their hopes for another conference championship should be slipping. Superior started the season looking like a powerhouse, but they dropped another game last week

Stout Football Schedule—1949

Date	Opponent	We	They
Sept. 24	Mankato State	28	27
Oct. 1	Eau Claire State	6	7
Oct. 8	River Falls State	7	12
Oct. 15	Whitewater State	7	6
Oct. 22	LaCrosse State
Oct. 29	Superior State
Nov. 5	Oshkosh State
Nov. 11	Upper Iowa U

when Stevens Point beat them 12 to 7. River Falls is back again in the loser's column as they took a 24 to 0 count on the chin from Platteville. Milwaukee State defeated Oshkosh Teachers 18 to 10.

Tomorrow the Blue Devils play LaCrosse, and what a game that should be! LaCrosse has a clean slate going into this contest and to make things tougher, Stout is playing at the LaCrosse homecoming. This combination of team and homecoming is going to make the game rough for our Blue Devils. But the one sure thing is that Storti isn't taking his men down there just to be defeated, and maybe the boys in LaCrosse are going to have more work on their hands than they are anticipating.

Johnson Loses Bet; Pushes Wheelbarrow

A small wager of "who was to wheel whom" in a wheel barrow down main street of the Menomonee business district, was made between Mr. Phil Johnson, Menomonee, and Mr. Dick Alexander of River Falls. Mr. Johnson, a Menomonee business man, and Alexander, a guard for the River Falls college team, participated in the settling of this wager, Saturday, October 15, in the homecoming parade.

Provisions of the wager were that the person who lost would have a sign on his back stating "I am a goat," while wheeling the winner in the wheelbarrow.

Phil Johnson had placed his confidence in the Stout Blue Devils, while Mr. Alexander had bet on the River Falls Falcons.

Judge: You are charged with throwing your mother-in-law out of the window.

Ed: I done it without thinking, sir.
Judge: Yes, but don't you see how dangerous it might have been for anyone passing at the time?

Twenty-two initiates of Epsilon Pi Tau are pictured with their initiating team. The men were accepted Saturday, October 15.

NEW MEMBERS INITIATED INTO EPSILON PI TAU

Twenty-Two Men Join Honor Fraternity of Industrial Arts, Theta Chapter

Twenty-two new members were formally initiated into Theta Chapter, Epsilon Pi Tau, Saturday morning, October 15. After an impressive ceremony, the new members and the initiation team lined up for a group picture, which was followed by a banquet for all members at Cafe LaCorte.

Prospective members of Theta chapter had been subjected to a strenuous oral examination, Wednesday, October 12. Saturday morning at 10 the results of the examination were reported to the organization, and, at 10:30, the following men were formally initiated into the chapter:

Fred Amthor, Watertown, Wisconsin; Warren Barberg, Cokato, Minnesota; Ronald Bauer, Fort Collins, Colorado; Lawrence Braaten, Elk Mound, Wisconsin; Otto Carlson, Marinette, Wisconsin; Edgar Davidson, Pahala, Hawaii; Carl Fryklund, Prentice, Wisconsin; Alfred Goto, Honouliuli, Hawaii; Charles Hocking, River Falls, Wisconsin; Robert Houghton, Manitowish, Wisconsin; Richard Hunsbuscher, New Munster, Wisconsin.

Lloyd Johnson, Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Roland Krogstad, Maiden Rock, Wisconsin; Irvin Lathrop, Platteville, Wisconsin; John Lurquin, Green Bay, Wisconsin; Lewis Mallow, Wabeno, Wisconsin; Milton Miller, Faribault, Minnesota; Ervin Pardun, Webster, Wisconsin; Arthur Piner, Prescott, Arizona; Lynn Robinson, Denbigh, North Dakota; Manfred Rotnem, Menomonie, Wisconsin; and Roy Walker, Durand, Wisconsin.

All new members were guests of the chapter for the noon banquet at Cafe LaCorte. After the dinner, Warren Thomas, president of Theta chapter, introduced the alumni and asked each returning member to say a few words. Omer Benn, president last year, represented the alumni in a short address. He emphasized the value of experience in teaching.

Dean Clyde A. Bowman, trustee of Theta chapter and Laureate member of Epsilon Pi Tau, welcomed the new members. Robert Houghton gave the response for the new members and, as spokesman for the new members, promised to uphold the traditions of Theta Chapter, Epsilon Pi Tau.

An address, "What's on the Horizon," was delivered by Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, Laureate member of the chapter. Dr. Fryklund stressed the fact that technical education is an important part of education as a whole, and that a nation must have technical education if it is to be great. Speaking of leadership in education, Dr. Fryklund went on to say, "In you rests the leadership of the future." He also warned that to become a good teacher, one must learn to "teach school, not keep school."

All Senior picture proofs must be returned to the Glen-Mar studio and paid for by November 3, Thursday, or the picture will not appear in the 1950 Tower. This is necessary if the engraving deadlines are to be met.

BLIND HINDU TO LECTURE ON INDIA

Dr. S. C. Roy's Topic Will Be "India on the Threshold Of Democracy"

Dr. S.C. Roy, blind Hindu philosopher, will lecture Wednesday, November 9, at convocation. Dr. Roy's topic will be "India on the Threshold of Democracy."

Blind since his seventh year, Dr. Roy has spent much of his life in efforts to improve educational opportunities for many sightless in India. His own path towards a law degree in that country was a difficult one, and he feels that something should be done to ease the way of the sightless who seek higher learning. A fellowship from Calcutta university made possible a trip to China, Japan, the United States, Canada, and Europe for the purpose of studying methods employed by other countries in assisting the sightless.

He learned much on his trip, Dr. Roy reports, and in America he took time to obtain a degree at Columbia university. Returning to India in 1940, Dr. Roy established the All-India Lighthouse for the Blind, in Calcutta.

Dr. Roy is here on a permanent visa and has been teaching Indian philosophy at the Asia institute, at Columbia university, and at the New School for Social Research.

A Hindu by birth, but "otherwise a cosmopolitan," Dr. Roy is a believer in the doctrine of Ghandi. The part which philosophy has played in the attainment of India's political independence and its probable part in the shaping of India's future political institutions will be the general subject of Dr. Roy's talk here.

The ability of a man to complete a lecture tour without benefit either of his eyes or an attendant was a question of some original concern to the University Concert and Lecture Service, which has arranged Dr. Roy's engagements. The speaker assured them that they needn't worry. "I have traveled around the world three times all by myself," he said.

Now one of Asia's prominent contributions to America's academic life, Dr. Roy's appearance here is being eagerly anticipated.

KIRK, SMITH, HINKLEY TO ATTEND CONVENTION

The State Teachers' Convention at Milwaukee on November 2 and 3 will be attended by three of Stout's faculty members, Dean Alice Kirk, Mrs. Benita Smith, and Miss Winifred Hinkley.

Dean Kirk will attend as a member of the State Home Economics council, and as State President of Home Economics' College clubs she will give a report. Mrs. Smith will attend as chairman of the Child Development and Family Life division. She will give a report on the Nursery Schools in Wisconsin. Miss Hinkley will be primarily interested in attending the art meetings.

FACULTY WIVES HOLD REGULAR MEETING

Faculty wives met at the home of Mrs. Stuart Anderson, Monday evening, October 24, for their regular monthly meeting. The group was invited to attend the first meeting of the Menomonie Woman's club, October 25. That meeting featured a speaker on the UN.

Assisting hostesses at the meeting were Mrs. David P. Barnard, Mrs. John Jarvis, Mrs. Howard Hoving, Mrs. Ray C. Johnson, and Mrs. F. E. Tustison.

The next regular meeting will be held in the Stout tea room.

Smiling Faces of Scholarship Winners

Twelve of the twenty-one recipients of legislative scholarships and alumni scholarships are pictured above.

TWENTY-ONE FRESHMEN RECEIVE SCHOLARSHIPS

That twenty-one freshmen at The Stout Institute are recipients of scholarships granted to them for superior scholarship in high school has been revealed by President Verne C. Fryklund.

According to the official scholarship report, two freshman, Ardis Mander-scheid and James Cook, are recipients of awards from the National Stout Alumni association.

In accordance with chapter 41.26 of the Wisconsin statutes, four students will receive remission of out-of-state tuition. The students are Jeanne Buboltz, William Kieffer, Donald Jacobson, and George Krall.

Scholarships remitting shop and lab fees in accordance with a new law similar to former Wisconsin statute, chapter 37.11(12), have been granted to Geraldine Erickson, Rita Mae Hack, Nancy Hauser, June Keefer, Joseph Klein, Lewis Lausted, Catherine Magee, Hazel Nelson, Francis Oberpriller, Fern Naedler, Ardis Olson, Ann Rossmiller, Gregory Spears, Suzanne Tinetti, and Dorothy Messerschmidt.

BLUE DEVILS PUT SKIDS ON LAX HOMECOMING

Devils Beat La Crosse For The First Time In History, 27-19

A spirited, hard-hitting Blue Devil football squad put the skids under a previously unbeaten La Crosse Teachers college eleven, to the tune of 27-19, Saturday, October 22, at La Crosse's homecoming. To rub salt into the wound, the Devils beat the Indians for the first time in the history of Stout-La Crosse football games.

A near disastrous beginning, resulting when Stout fumbled the opening kick-off on their own 35 yard line, was averted when the Devil line held and forced La Crosse to surrender the ball on downs.

Storti's men hit pay dirt shortly after. "Tiny" Norman landed on an Indian fumble on the Indian 36 yard line to set up the score. Woelffer pitched to Cataldi for 28 yards and a first down on the 8 yard line. Bill Kieffer added four yards to put the ball on the 4 yard line. A jump pass from Woelffer to Stai accounted for the last 4 yards and the score. Young added the point after, to give Stout an early 7-0 lead.

La Crosse bounced right back with 6 points of their own a few moments later. Sladky returned the kick-off to the Indian 41 yard line. Evans went over the middle for 8 yards to put the ball on the Indian 49 yard line. On the next play, Ace Loomis, La Crosse fullback, broke over his own right tackle and wheeled 51 yards for a touchdown. Knispel muffed his try for the extra point and Stout held a 7-6 lead with 8 minutes remaining to be played in the first quarter.

Stout was forced to punt after receiving the kick-off, and Sladky was downed on his own 19 after returning Young's punt. On the next play, See LA CROSSE—Page 8

Forty Sophomore Women Spend Wonderful, Educational Day

Touring the Armour Packing company at St. Paul, the General Mills company at Minneapolis, and the Betty Crocker kitchens and laboratories at Minneapolis proved a wonderful and educational day on Friday, October 7, for forty sophomore women of The Stout Institute. Miss Garrison, assistant professor of Food and Nutrition, and Miss Cox, associate professor of Science, Mathematics, and Chemistry, accompanied the group. A greyhound bus was chartered to take the group, which left from the Home Economics building at 7:30 a.m.

Arriving at the Armour Packing Plant in St. Paul at 9:30 a.m., the women took a tour enabling them to see the assembly-line method of preparing beef and pork, from the time the animals arrive from the stockyards until the animals become the various cuts of meat which the consumer purchases. Seeing sausages made was also of great interest to the women.

The next point of interest was the Curtis hotel dining-room, where the girls all enjoyed the Parisienne luncheon.

The General Mills company at Minneapolis was the next stop. There See FOOD CENTERS—Page 5

"AUNT SILLY" PRESENTED NOVEMBER 2

Several Stout students and former students will have prominent parts in a home-talent production, "Aunt Silly," being presented Wednesday, November 2, at 8:00 p.m., in Stout auditorium.

Receipts from the show will go to the Menomonie city-hospital, and will be used for the purchase of hospital equipment.

Students who will participate in the dramatic or production portions of "Aunt Silly" include Prudence Johnson, Ann Rudow Chartraw, Bettylue Gibson Sievert, Glenn Sommers, Richard Krueger, and Charles Wise.

Other Menomonie people taking part are Gordon Retzlaff, Jim Karns, Donna Farnham, Doran Lotwin, David Rodey, Inky Mense, Thomas Fleming, Herb Schultz, Harold Wahl, Frank Rossler, Toik Saari, Lyle Pollock, Ray Schutts, Larry Jones, Leland Score, and C. M. Meisner. Many of the aforementioned men will appear in a businessmen's review, which is the finale.

Included in the production are the three-act amateur play "Aunt Silly" (a variation of "Charlie's Aunt"), a toyland review of Menomonie youngsters, six specialty acts from the Menomonie area, and the business men's chorus. The "Novallaires," a local quartet which has achieved overnight success with dialogue, songs, and impersonations, will perform. Members are Bud Medtlie, Ralph Myhrman, Tony Solberg, and Earl Dehne, all of whom have attended Stout.

Tickets, $1.00 for reserved seats, and 75 cents general admission, are available from Lee's, the Menomonie pharmacy, or any Lions club members.

MOMS TO GET ORCHIDS AT DANCE SATURDAY

Orchid corsages will be given to mothers or sponsors of the football team, at the dance Saturday evening. The all-school dance, "Orchids for M'Lady," will be presented by the KFS fraternity, after the Superior game, and will last until 12:15 a.m.

Don Braem and his orchestra have been signed to provide smooth music for the evening, announces Merlin Moore, KFS president. Entertainment will be featured at intermission.

Herb Watanabe has made all arrangements for the orchids to be flown directly from Hawaii.

SCHOLASTIC ETHICS

Every profession has its ethical standards. Should not the student, who is preparing for a profession, set up and maintain ethical standards for scholarship?

Professors set up the course standards of scholastic endeavor which students are to maintain. The student must meet these standards in order to maintain the grade point level that he desires.

However, the student himself decides how these standards are to be attained. Methods vary from honest scholarship, with a real desire for knowledge, to plagiarism and perhaps worse, hypocrisy.

Scholarship and plagiarism, although opposites, usually have ease of detection as a common trait. A real scholar or an average copyist is readily apparent to everyone.

It is the hypocrite and the extremely clever plagiarist who slip through unclassified in ethical procedure. These are the individuals who subterfuge, feign interest in a subject or topic.

Asking leading questions is a favorite method of the hypocrite: "Would you say that this is the correct procedure?" (and then outlining in detail the correct procedure practically verbatim from a standard source). This is calculated to impress the instructor with the extent of the student's knowledge. It is setting up a straw man and knocking him down with much fanfare. Besides being an insult to the intelligence of the instructor, this technique is a grave waste of class time. In the colloquialism common to college groups, hypocrisy is known as "ear banging," which is a first cousin of "apple polishing."

Students must form their own theories of suitable ethics, but as a group they can influence the scholastic ethics of their fellow students more successfully than can any other pressure group. An unorganized movement which ostracizes flagrant violators of scholastic ethics from social cliques may even be seen in action here on the campus.

— J. W.

I can't figure out what is happening to the student body these days. I walk down the street and see all the freshmen bundled up to the gills. They must think it is cold out or some such thing. What will they do when winter gets here? One winter it got so cold the icicles were shivering. That is really cold. And snow!!!! It snowed so hard that in the morning we had to shovel our way to school in tunnels. The snow was too deep for the snow plows.

How does anyone expect me to write a gossip column if there is no gossip? I realize, of course, there are very few people that like to get their names in this column, but think of me. I try to do my best, but no one wants to help me.

This week we saw very little going on around the campus. I noticed Emery Nelson and Joanne Buboltz hitting it off pretty steady these past few weeks. People are beginning to wonder what it is all about. Wayne Olson and Loree Woolen have been seen around together pretty much as of late. What has Wayne got that some off the rest of us haven't?

One person that very rarely gets mentioned in this column is a young, handsome man by the name of Tom Jacobson. I understand that Tom makes out just as good when he hunts squirrels as when he goes out with his girl, a freckle-faced lass from Menomonie; Jake calls "Dot." We had to mention Jake, so the girls would know who this handsome lad is.

Heard a little story about an STS pledge. Seems Ed Mc Mahon was at the lyceum last Friday night, and he had an accident with his line gauge. It dropped, as the story goes, on the floor just as the pianist was about to play a number. Mr. Scott turned in Ed's direction and asked him what key he was playing in. Seems Ed's face got mighty red.

A QUIET LIBRARY?

Plans for the new Stout library have as yet not been completed, and until the building is ready for use, the present library will continue to be overcrowded. The large enrollment of students, placing heavier demands for books on reserve, also adds to the congestion.

It has become increasingly difficult to study in the library. Distractions are varied and numerous, but talking causes the most disturbance.

Some students think that the library is the ideal place to talk over their "dates" and plans for the coming week-end or to tell how much fun they had "last night." Others suggest by their attitude that the library makes a good date bureau.

Still other students think the library is the logical place to discuss the impossibility of completing an assignment. They talk about the terrible test they have just finished writing and ask, "Did you get number four?"

Conscientious students talk about the noise that the group at the next table is making or simply sit and close their ears with their fingers in a vain attempt to keep out the noise.

Only the cooperation of each student can clear up this situation. Next time you are in the library, don't complain about the noise. Remember, the fellow who is making the noise may be you!

—G. J.

1949-50 DIRECTORIES CAN BE OBTAINED AT PREXYS OFFICE

Directories for the 1949-50 school year are now off the press. They can be obtained free of charge in the president's office at any time. To many people, and for a variety of reasons, many of the numbers may prove helpful.

We must make an apology in this point in the reading. It seems we missed one of the nicest couples during homecoming. Rueben Schwantes had his one-and-only up for the weekend. She is a student nurse at Marshfield, and her name happens to be Jeanette Strengle. From all reports she is quite a girl, and doesn't believe in more than eight hours of sleep. How about that, Rueben?

We can't forget to mention the fact that there will be the first formal of the year on Saturday, November 19. All the eligible men and women had better show themselves around the campus so that there isn't so great a number of stay-at-homes this year. The men are mostly to blame for not asking, but if there is no one around to ask, how can they ask them?? Notice to the girls: The men are nice. So turn off the ice. You'll find the formal pretty nice! Hmm. I am a poet and didn't know it.

NOTICE TO THE TEAM: There is a girl at Eichelberger Hall that made a very interesting statement last week-end. She said that if the team won the football game with La Crosse, she would personally kiss all the members on the team. You fellows ought to take her up on that. All I can find out is that her initials are C.Z.

Now if anyone has a kick about how this column is written this week, kick to the students, not to us. If you want an interesting column, do something this weekend. Lynwood hall is having a party tonight, the KFS all-school dance is tomorrow night after the game, and the respective church organizations are having meetings on Sunday. I hope this weekend is a more eventful one than last week. Goodbye for now. We'll see you next week.

SOUGHT: EDUCATION

Education is being sought after by more people today than ever before. More high school students are realizing the necessity of a college education. Emphasis is being placed on learning and teaching, by people in the field of education.

The problem which some students consider while in college is, "Will this education be worthwhile when I'm finished? Is it worth all the hard work and studying necessary to earning the degree?"

They will find out that a college education is one of the most valuable assets a person can attain.

College prepares people to go out in the world and cope with the problems that will face them. Principles taught in colleges can be applied to any phase of work or life. Education is one of the things which no one can steal away, but it can always be used to make better citizens and better people.

The problems facing us today require the attention of educated people. Great advances in science and government have been made by people who had the ability to think. As problems and situations become more complex, better-qualified people are needed to solve them. These people will be furnished by the colleges of today.

REMEMBER WHEN

Remember when three years ago all vets on the campus were urged to join the VFW? The organization purchased the Wisconsin Milling company office for a club house? The cafeteria stopped serving Sunday breakfast. Ann Hadden was cafeteria director then. The Pallas Athenes serenaded all the dorms including Lynwood. The fellows really appreciated it too.

I just love football; I hope we get there in time for the first inning.

COOS BY WALLY PIGEON

A freshman girl going drastically frantic with English courses went down to the library and insisted she wanted a book called the 'Big Eared House.' The librarian, who was both sympathetic and wise, returned promptly with "The House of the Seven Gables."

The dean of a college was investigating a charge made by some of the girls that the men who lived in Lynwood Hall forgot to lower their shades.

The dean looked out of the nearby window and said: "Why, I can't see into any of the Lynwood Hall windows."

"Oh yes, you can!" chorused the girls. "All you have to do is to get up on a chair."

Employer: "So you have been to college, eh? How high can you count?"

Bob McKay: "One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, jack, queen, and king."

Brooklyn Sailor: Whadya do before ya jerned da Navy?"

Mid-westerner: "I worked in Des Moines."

Brooklynite: "What kind of moines, iron or coal?"

Teacher: "What binds us together, sustains us, shapes our ends, and makes us better than nature intended?"

Eileen Riley: "Girdles."

Girls are like cigarettes; they come in packs, get lit, make you puff, go out unexpectedly, leave a bad taste in your mouth, and still they satisfy.

Dave Randall: "Do you believe in Buddha?"

Ross Slater: "Of course, but I think oleomargarine is just as good."

Arnie Potthast: "I want to buy a diamond ring."

Salesman: "Yes sir, how about one of our combination sets? Three pieces—engagement, wedding, and teething."

College Student: Don't you think this room is a bit small?"

Landlady: "That is true, but we can put on thinner wallpaper."

DRIVERS' TRAINING

Hearing of recent completion of the driver training course offered at Stout, many persons wonder, "What is the purpose of the course?" It is an instructional unit for the purpose of teaching students necessary qualifications, so that they in turn can teach other students in the future.

Now that the supply of teachers seeking jobs has become more plentiful, more employing officials scrutinize carefully the courses and fields in which a prospective teacher has had preparation. Stout graduates who have taken advantage of the opportunity to complete instruction in driver training will find that such education has added to their own personal competency and has heightened their opportunity to obtain employment.

— D. S.

Girls beware of the fellow that says to you: "Let's go to town!" He doesn't mean by that the city proper, either.

Dorothy Amendt: "Do you think this skirt is too long?"
Chuck Jorgensen: Either that or you didn't get into it far enough."

Jim Ooley: "Going around with women a lot keeps you young."

Covey: "How come?"
Jim: "I started going around with them four years ago when I was a freshman, and I'm still a freshman."

Police Sergeant: "College student, eh?"

Prisoner: "Yes sir."
Patrolman: "It's a stall. I searched his pockets and found money in them."

Prof: This exam will be given on the honor system. Please sit three seats in alternate rows. An instructor will be placed between every two students.

Mother: "Sonny, don't use such bad words."

Son: "Shakespeare used them."
Mother: "Well, don't play with him."

The foreman of the new high school gym noticed Bob Young pushing a wheelbarrow upside down. "Why do you have it upside down?" he asked.
Bob: "Do you think I'm crazy?"
"Yesterday I pushed right side up and they kept filling it with concrete."

I will try to give you readers of this column of jokes a definition of "seeing the humorous side" of life.

Well, I'll illustrate. A banana skin has two sides. The person who slips on a banana skin sees the serious side and the one who laughs sees the humorous side.

Prof: "Are you cheating on this exam?"

Swede Larson: "No sir, I was telling Poellinger his nose was dripping on my paper."

For years and years.
The two sexes have been racing for supremacy.
Now they have settled down to neck and neck.

CLUB? STS INITIATES INTRODUCED, GIVEN DUTIES

Ten new pledges were introduced to the members of the Stout Typographical society, Wednesday evening, October 19. They were given their instructions for fulfilling their duties as pledges. While they are carrying out these instructions, the watchful eyes of the STS members are upon them, noticing any deviations from what they are supposed to do. Omissions are brought up at initiation and are usually "well paid for" by the pledge.

Some of the duties of the pledges consist of making hats for the members of the STS; printing pledge signs which are worn by the pledge, signs which must be unique in style and color combination; wearing a clean apron at all times; carrying a line gauge, tweezers, make-up-rule, and a one pound can of ink. Each hat is made from the comic section of a newspaper. Also on the first day of "hell week" for the pledges, they must give a three to a four minute speech on printing at various places about the school, plus carrying a line of ten point type with their full names contained therein.

The STS has three degrees. Apprentices wear hats of comic newspapers; journeyman, hats made of plain black and white newspaper; and masters, hats made of plain white paper. There are approximately twenty-eight members in the STS now at Stout. The officers are George Norton, president; Lloyd Gannagan, vice-president; Paul Axelsen, secretary; Charles Thomas, treasurer; Ellsworth Kane, sergeant-at-arms.

KFS HELD HOMECOMING BREAKFAST SUNDAY

Kappa Phi Sigma held their annual alumni homecoming breakfast at the Cafe LaCorte, Sunday, October 16, at 9 a.m.

Following the breakfast which consisted of ham, eggs, tomato juice, toast and coffee, the president of the organization, Merlin Moore, gave a short speech welcoming the alumni.

The following alumni were present: Carrol Brusen, Goodman, Wis.; Kenneth Schank, Racine, Wis.; Wesley Schlough, St. Cloud, Minn.; Lowell Tufts, Huntley, Minn.; Keith Moon, Hillsboro, Wis.; Stewart North, Thorpe, Wis.; and Stuart Anderson, Menomonie, Wis. Each of these men gave a short talk informing the group about his whereabouts and work.

Special guests for the breakfast were Dean C. A. Bowman, and Dean M. M. Price.

All the members present and alumni agreed that 1949-50 was a very successful homecoming. The group parted hoping that following homecomings would bring more alumni back to renew old friendships.

PHILOS HOLD FORMAL INITIATION IN TOWN

The Philomathean formal initiation was held Thursday, October 20, at 8:00 p.m., at Miss Hazel Van Ness's apartment.

The pledges initiated were Florence Gatschall, Jane Wooldridge, Carol Hansen, Viola Leiskar, Jean Peterson, Kathleen Welch, Ruth Voss, and Ruby Larson.

Rosella Trangsud, president, presided over the initiation. Refreshments were served after the new members had been formally initiated. "The party was very successful and a good time was had by all," report the Philo officers.

RECORD NUMBER INITIATED INTO SIGMA FRAT

As a highlighting of the organization's activities, a record number of twelve pledges were initiated into the Sigma fraternity, Thursday evening, October 20, at the Cafe La Corte.

President Gordon Wasinger conducted the impressive ceremony, with valuable assistance from Vice-President Marvin Lundin, Secretary, Bob Morley, and Sergeant-at-Arms Don Sargent.

New members accepted into Sigma were Bob Braun, Marvin Desrocher, Daniel Gordon, Howard Greening, Gerald Jeffery, Dick L. Johnson, George Kinsler, Ray Post, David Randall, Pete Schellinger, Don Straw, and Akira Takahama.

Sigma's adviser, Dr. Agnew, ended the initiation program by distributing membership cards to each member of Sigma.

Pledges were identified around the campus last week by their red ties, fezzes, and sashes. The initiation signified the discarding of the sashes, and also the addition of the tassel to pledges' hats, which will now be worn together with the tie at designated meetings.

MANY VISITORS LISTED AT GIRLS DORMS

As a fitting close to the homecoming festivities for the "Goal Rush of '49," the three girls' dorms held open house on Sunday afternoon, from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m.

The attendance roster at Eichelberger showed 196 visitors, plus several who may not have signed the roster. Tainter Annex had 228 visitors listed, and Tainter hall had approximately 250 guests. A tea, sponsored by all three of the dorms, was held at Tainter hall.

The rooms in the dorms were very neat and attractively decorated. It was not hard to see that each girl took a personal pride in the appearance of her room. The bulletin boards in the rooms, decorated with photographs, clippings, souvenir programs, and Stout decorations, were very attractive and interesting.

The dormitory officers, for the most part, took charge of the tea. Tainter hall served from 2:00 to 3:00, Eichelberger from 3:00 to 4:00, and Tainter annex from 4:00 to 5:00.

The president and the SSA representative of each dorm poured at the tea. The secretary and treasurer replenished the tables, and the vice-presidents were in charge of ushering.

The background music for the tea was furnished by Joyce Harbidge, Marlys Larrabee, Dorothy Widell, and Pat Pagel, pianists from the dorms.

Displays for Eichelberger were under the direction of Clarice Zarling, who handled inside decorations, and Doris Heid, for outside decorations. At Tainter Annex, Nadine Brown was in charge of decorations. Joyce Harbidge, Charmaine Chopp took care of the display on the Hall grounds.

Newman Club Discusses Plans For Hayride

A hayride November 4 and a brunch November 20 were planned by the Newmanites, at their brunch October 23, following 10 o'clock Mass at which the members received Holy Communion in a body.

Father Carl Wolmuth spoke on the "Christopher Movement" and urged all members to do their part. The movement is to promote action against communism.

On the brunch committee of October 23 were Bea Sagstetter, chairman; Donna Franken, assistant chairman; and Pat Krause, Bertie Hutchinson, Ruth Quigley, and Darlen Nelson, assistant cooks and waitresses. The clean-up committee consisted of the first ones to light cigarettes after the meal.

A large crowd of approximately sixty attended. Committees were chosen for the hayride and November brunch.

HYP SOCIETY HOLDS HOMECOMING BRUNCH

Miniature football players "kicked off" the announcements sent to alumni inviting them to the Hyperian Homecoming brunch, which was held Saturday, October 15, at the Cafe LaCorte.

Alumni and present Hyp members met to exchange news of past experiences and future plans. Among the alumni present were Olive Brownell, Helen Kelly, Mrs. Lloyd Whydowski, Mrs. Ray Doane, and Mrs. Beverly Bedsted, all Menomonie residents. Others present were Mary Lou Friberg, Weyauwega; Joyce Fuhrman, Amery, Betty Achterkirch, Augusta; Marion Pientok, Galesville; Mrs. Evelyn Klug, Milwaukee; Mrs. Ila Molberg, Prescott. Miss Clara Carrison, Hyp adviser, and Dean Keturah Antrim were special guests.

Letters from alumni unable to attend and from Mrs. Marjorie Postman, former Hyp adviser, were read by the new pledges, Carolyn Blain, Joan Davidson, Jeannine Douglas, Harriet Homer, and Pauline Zweifel. Another pledge, Dorothy Knutson, was not present at the brunch. The pledges had been welcomed into the society at an informal party at the Axel Bark residence, Thursday, October 13.

Miniature players holding footballs for place cards greeted the guests. Bittersweet, typical of the autumn season, trimmed the bright red tables with their red-and-white checked cloths, which offered a festive touch of their own. Helen Wolsey, Pat Webb, Ruth Johnson, and Marilyn Erickson were in charge of decorations.

The brunch consisted of creamed chicken in patty shells, peas, hot rolls, jello with whipped cream, and coffee.

The invitations, carrying the "Goal Rush of '49" theme, were made by Jean Engebretson, Leona Sexe, and Nancy Haertlein.

DORMITORY WOMEN HAD EXCITING WEEK

The girls at the dorms haven't as yet quite recovered from the excitement of homecoming. Things are pretty well back to normal, though with a few exceptions. One morning a little freshman co-ed went to school without a skirt, and another girl is still looking for her bedpost.

There was quite a time at the Annex one night last week. Some of the girls didn't have a thing to do while the rest were at school having pictures taken. The result was that at ten-thirty everyone was busy turning mattresses and remaking beds. Some of the girls had to go out hunting for their mattresses, because they seemed to have disappeared somehow.

It was quite a thrill to have the KFS serenade the Hall and Annex. Some of the girls were leaning over the rail of the fire escape and almost fell off. The girls at Eichelberger really missed something that night by going to bed early.

There was quite a bit of excitement about the taking of dorm pictures for the Tower last week. Everyone was disappointed when Freddie didn't show up. I guess he lost his nerve at the last minute.

FIRST IN SERIES OF SSA MOVIES PRESENTED

"The Spoilers," first in a series of movies sponsored by the SSA office, was presented to students in the Stout auditorium, Sunday, October 23. A committee consisting of Warren Barberg, chairman, John Poellinger, and Pat Krause was in charge of the event.

Warren Barberg stated that it is the purpose of the SSA office to sponsor at least one activity a month. These movies will help the SSA office to attain that goal. The organization hopes to sponsor at least one movie a month, but the movie shown Sunday is an experiment, and it will be necessary to determine how well received the movie was.

Jerry Cook operated the projectors, which were made available through the courtesy of Mr. D. P. Barnard of the visual education department.

Preceding the main feature, a short on duck hunting was shown. The motion pictures of the homecoming parade were also presented.

FINISHING CLASS TAKES TRIP TO CITIES

The General Finishing department took a field trip last Friday, October 21. The fellows left for Minneapolis by bus at seven o'clock.

The trip included the Minneapolis Linseed Oil and Paint company. The group of thirty-seven fellows went to the linseed company in the morning, and saw the making of paints and varnishes from the very first steps to the final carriers of the paint.

In the afternoon the group visited the Minneapolis Mining and Manufacturing company. Here they saw the making of several types of abrasives, scotch tape, and scotch light.

The students were also given various demonstrations on finishing. Both hand and factory methods of finishing were discussed.

It is reported that an informative and enjoyable time was had by all. The group returned to Menomonie about 5:15 in the afternoon.

INSTITUTIONAL CLASS USES VISITING THEME

The applied institutional class, under the management of Miss Mary Killian, serves luncheon every Thursday in the Tearoom.

Miss Killian teaches the course to junior and senior girls. It is a required subject for those majoring in institutional management. Each week the girls visit a different section of the United States or even Europe. Of course their trip is imaginary, but on entering the Tearoom a visitor is easily carried away into a foreign city or country. The girls plan, serve, decorate, clean, and wash the dishes. They rotate the duties so that each girl gets a chance to try her hand at everything.

The tearoom is not a money-making enterprise. It is used strictly for learning. About thirty-six people can be accommodated each Thursday. Admission is gained by signing each week on a reservation board by the first floor elevator.

LAST HOME GAME FOR SIX

Six men on the Blue Devil squad will play their last game under the lights of Nelson field, tomorrow night. Their absence from next year's roster will create a shortage of talent which will be difficult for Coach Storti to replace. Their records of dependability and hard work, along with their spirit of the game, are worthy of mention, and should be appreciated by Stout football fans.

Milo Anderson

Milo (Mike) Anderson is playing his last year as center on the Blue Devil football squad. Mike is a native of Stoughton, Wisconsin, where he lettered in football, basketball, and baseball at Stoughton high.

Mike has been playing center on the Stout team the last two years, and is noted for his rugged playing at the position, on both offense and defense. Besides his football playing, Mike is noted for catching on the Stout baseball team.

Because of his activities, he belongs to the FOB's, the "S" Club, and the STS. Mike is a well-known man on the campus.

Jim Ooley

Jim Ooley is a valuable man in the Stout line this year; he has turned in outstanding performances at guard position in all games. "Big O" is on the Stout squad for his fourth and last season, having received three letters for his services at Stout.

Jim started his football career at Menomonie high school. He won three letters in football and a letter in basketball there. In 1945, Jim played in the All-Star high school football game at Madison, Wisconsin.

Jim was captain for the Blue Devil team for the Eau Claire game last year and co-captain in Stout's homecoming game this year. His ability to spot and break up the opponents' plays makes him one of the outstanding players on the squad.

Bob Simon

The biggest man on the Stout football squad is tackle Bob Simon. Bob weighs 240 pounds and stands 6' 3" in height.

Simon is a three-letterman at Stout, having held down the same tackle post for four years. He will be playing his last home game for Stout, Saturday night, when the Blue Devils oppose Superior.

"Peezy," as his buddies call him, is one of the best-known people on campus, being a member of the FOB, "S" club, Newman club, and president of the sophomore class two years ago.

Hailing from Racine, Bob is on his last year in Stout. He is married to the former Jeanne Greenlee, a Stout graduate, and is now a proud father of a baby boy, who will probably take over tackle position in future years.

Dave Tank

Dave waited until his senior year before he tried out for Coach Storti's Blue Devil squad. He stands over six feet, and puts a lot of weight at tackle position in the Blue Devil line. Although he has seen little action for the Blue Devils, Dave has been working hard and has always been out for the practices and the scrimmages. Dave never played any high school football; however, the experience which he has picked up this year would be helpful to Storti's squad next year if Tank still were available.

Dave comes from LaCrosse, Wisconsin, and he probably had great personal pleasure in the Blue Devil victory of last week.

Fred Wentorf

Fred Wentorf has been on Stout's football team for the last three years. He was co-captain this year in the Mankato game. Fred weighs 195 and stands about 6 feet in height. He was guard on the second All-Conference team his sophomore and junior years.

"Fritz" hails from Milwaukee. He was on the football and track teams of Washington high school. After graduating from high school, Fred joined the Coast Guard. He entered Stout immediately after receiving his service discharge.

Fred was treasurer of his sophomore class. He is a member of the FOB and "S" club.

Bob Young

Bob Young, left halfback and kicker on the Stout team, disregards all football honors and picks his twin daughters and baby son as his most prized possessions. Bob has been All-Conference back for the last three years. This is his fourth and last year with the Blue Devils.

Bob's quick kicks, long punting, accurate passing, and extra point conversions have all made him a triple threat for which his gridiron foes have great respect. It will be hard to replace him next year.

Bob played football, basketball, and boxed for Wausau high school. After Bob received his discharge from the Navy, he brought his athletic abilities to Stout. Besides football, Bob has played basketball and baseball for Stout.

When Bob is not occupied with his family, he attends the meetings of the FOB's and the "S" club.

An old maid went to a pet shop to purchase a parrot. She wanted a very nice one, though. He should talk but very nicely. The pet shop owner looked around and said, "I have just the bird you want. This parrot here, as you can see, has a string tied to each leg. Pull the string on his left leg and he recites the Lord's Prayer."

The old lady considered for a while and said, "What happens if I pull both strings?"

There upon the parrot replied, "I'd fall on my tail feathers, you darn fool!"

GUNNER, UNOFFICIAL MASCOT OF STOUT

To Stout Dog Lovers:

How many of you have wondered about our unofficial mascot, Gunner? After a little investigation I found that Gunner belongs to the Welshes on Wilson avenue.

Gunner is about four years old and has quite a history. Many of you have seen her at football games, having a good time trying to help the players. Gunner's activities do not stop at football, however. She attended a prom once and had to be taken home. I guess she didn't have her SSA card.

Gunner is quite indifferent, as many of you know. One time she will be very glad to see you and the next time she meets you she will pass you up entirely. But I guess that is a trait typical of all women.

Gunner doesn't spend much time at home and quite often she comes home after having enjoyed a bath. The boys at Lynwood contribute most of these. The Lynwoodites claim more of an ownership of Gunner than does any other group on the campus. She can be found in or around Lynwood more often than at any other place.

So the next time you see Gunner and she passes you up, remember she's a lady and doesn't acknowledge just anyone.

Yours truly,
R. M.

John R: "My wife's an angel in three ways."

Pal: "Remarkable. How come?"

John: "Well, first, she's always up in the air; second, she's always harping; third, she never has an earthly thing to wear."

NEW, IMPROVED STOUT THEATER TO OPEN SOON

"Stout," the remodeled and redecorated Orpheum theater, will be opened for business within a week, according to Mr. Norman Suckow, manager of the theater.

The interior of the new movie house has been redecorated, new carpeting has been laid, and new seats allowing more leg room have been installed. The projection room has been reconditioned.

The appropriate title "Stout" has been placed on the reconstructed marquee. Also an addition to the theater is the reconditioned and appealing new front.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASS STUDIES DATING WITH A TWO-MAN PANEL OF STOUT EXPERTS

Bob Mackin and Arnie Potthast now have a group of high school admirers. The ninth graders sat and listened intently as Bob and Arnie answered their questions in Ruth Ann Christensen's and Phil Bartosic's high school class the other day. The girls were studying a unit on dating and boy-girl relationships. Ruth Ann thought that a man's point of view, especially a college man's, would certainly improve the unit. Bob and Arnie, complete with suits and ties, answered the girls' questions in a panel discussion.

The discussion was opened with "Should the boy give the girl a good-night kiss the first night they go out?" This was followed by a series of giggles from the girls, but when stopped, the fellows answered the question. Bob said that the fellow will have more respect for a girl if he does not kiss her. When a fellow takes a girl out for the first time, Mackin believed, he wants to get to know her and see what she is like. Arnie agreed with him, but said if the fellow and girl had been friends for a long time before they did go out, a kiss was all right.

The next question was "What is a decent hour to come home from a Friday night movie?" The fellows agreed that 10:30 or 11:00 is sufficiently late. (Remember, these girls are only freshmen in high school). If there is a school dance or a house party, the boys said, the hours could be extended. They also said it is nice if the girl asks the fellows in for something to eat or to listen to records.

Another thing the girls wanted to know was "What do you think of a blind date?" Bob didn't think that blind dates were good unless the boy who was fixing it up knew the fellow with whom the girl was to go.

"Can a girl ask a fellow to go out with her?" The fellows told their listeners not to go up to anyone and ask him to go to a movie. "Just be friendly, and maybe he'll ask you. A fellow is very often teased when the other fellows find out that a girl has asked him out, so just don't do it too much. Fellows like to be pursuing, not pursued!" said the experts.

The last question asked was "What are some proper places to go on a date?" Movies, teen-age dances, social events in school, were some places suggested by Bob and Arnie. They also told the girls to remember the boy's pocket book, and not to be hard on it. "Be sure and tell your parents where you are going," was the last advice offered.

Bob and Arnie were very co-operative in answering questions, and the class will probably be one which the girls will remember for a long, long time.

NEW GRADUATE PROGRAM FOR PLAN "B"

Effective September, 1949, graduate students who elect the Plan "B" option will write one research paper, according to information received from Ray A. Wigen, director of graduate studies.

One purpose of this change is to permit the student to obtain a wider range of course offerings. Under this plan, the student registers for I.E. No. 571, Investigations: writes a four-credit paper called an investigation; and takes a total of 26 semester hours of course work in addition to the investigation.

This revised plan will not be retroactive. Graduate students who have already started on the former plan which required two research papers will continue under that program. Those who matriculated in September, 1949, and others who have not already started on Plan "B" may elect this new plan.

According to Mr. Wigen, the revised Plan "B" makes available to the graduate student a more flexible program and one which will better meet the needs of experienced teachers.

girls were divided into two groups and were shown how flour is made and packaged.

The Betty Crocker kitchens and laboratories in Minneapolis were indeed as beautiful as they were efficient looking. The kitchens had been remodeled just two years ago, with all the newest equipment and modern design. An early American colonial dining room where most of the Betty Crocker entertaining is done is a direct but pleasing contrast to the otherwise modern furnishings of the entire offices and laboratories.

Throughout the entire trip, numerous bulletins and booklets of great value were given to the students.

The food department plans to make this tour of the various plants in the "Twin Cities" an annual affair.

PHI U ALUMNAE INVITED TO ATTEND INITIATION

Alumnae members of Phi Upsilon Omicron are cordially invited to attend the initiation and biennial inspection of the chapter, according to President Ruth Ann Christensen. The events will take place on November 12 and 13. Interested alumnae should contact the acting corresponding secretary, Eileen Deetz, 407-12th Ave. W., Menomonie, Wisconsin.

Tentative plans for the two days include formal initiation of new chapter members, Saturday, at 4:30 p. m., and inspection of the chapter by the district counselor, Miss Audrey McCollum, Saturday and Sunday. A dinner is planned following the initiation, Saturday evening, and the conference Sunday.

Major Ed Wall, Harvard, '40 -Flying Executive, U.S. Air Force!

Born in Newark, N. J., he moved to Boston at an early age, graduated from the public Latin high school in 1936, entered Harvard the same year, where he majored in economics and government.

"Active on the campus" — he played football, earned his letter on the boxing team. He worked part-time in a variety of jobs from bouncer to baby sitter, received his AB degree in 1940.

He enrolled in Harvard Law School, left at the beginning of the war to become an Aviation Cadet. In December, 1942, he won his pilot's wings, received a Reserve commission as Second Lieutenant.

Assigned to anti-sub patrol duty, he flew B-25's and B-17's before going overseas in 1944, where he flew 30 missions as a B-24 pilot. Shot down over Germany, he was a prisoner of war for 3 months.

Back in the States with his English wife, he earned his Regular commission. Then he returned to Harvard under the Air Force college training program, receiving his LLB degree in 1949.

Now, he is confident about his future and security. As a pilot and legal officer of Bolling Air Force Base, D. C., Major Ed Wall is a typical U. S. Air Force flying executive... with a challenging career.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider a flying career as an officer in the U. S. Air Force. You may be able to meet the high physical and moral requirements and be selected for training as an Aviation Cadet. If you do not complete Aviation Cadet training, you may return to civilian life or have opportunity to train at Officer Candidate School for an important officer assignment in non-flying fields.

Air Force officer procurement teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Watch for their arrival—or get full details at your nearest Air Force Base, local recruiting station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S. SIX GRADUATES OF 1949 REPORT ON TEACHING

Recent Graduates Advise All Undergraduates To Regard Their Minors With Respect

Six new alumni, June, 1949, graduates of The Stout Institute, let down their hair during homecoming weekend to discuss their new ventures into the teaching profession. E. Bernice Johnson, William Crider, Marian Lemke, John Kaiser, Mary Lou Friberg, and Gerald Anderson gave their views of their own particular situations.

E. Bernice Johnson, Miss Cox's former assistant, is now on her own, teaching home economics in the high school at Tony, Wisconsin. Miss Johnson drove to the homecoming in her new automobile, which created a favorable impression on some undergraduates who are looking forward to graduating, getting a good job, and buying a new car. Miss Johnson, a George Deen teacher (federal aid to vocational teachers), stated that she is required to use lesson plans. She indicated that students not taking education courses too seriously may be rudely awakened when they get out teaching.

William Crider, Navy veteran and new alumnus, is teaching chemistry in Roundup, Montana. Unable to make the long trip to attend homecoming, Bill wrote a long letter explaining his teaching situation. Utilizing his science minor in teaching chemistry in the Roundup high school, he advised other students to choose their minors wisely and keep good notes in these subjects. As an indication of the coming trend of a "hired market," Crider voiced the opinion that it was difficult to obtain teaching positions in the larger schools without previous teaching experience. Speaking of his chemistry classes, he said that his only difficulty was with a few students with inadequate ability in mathematics who needed individual help on problems.

Marian I. Lemke, former printshop secretary, is employed in Weyerhaeuser, Wisconsin, teaching home economics to high school girls. A George Deen act teacher, Marian is instructing in a 180-pupil high school which is combined with an elementary and junior high school. Miss Lemke has nothing but praise for her job and the town of Weyerhaeuser. A small town, however, lacks some of the facilities of a larger community, which may explain Marian's frequent returns to Menomonie and the Stout Campus on weekends.

John Kaiser, youngest-appearing graduate of the school, is working in the trade in a news and job plant in Arcadia, Wisconsin. Johnny, STS vice president of last year, is now a printer-operator and linotype repairman. He stated that he plans to qualify for Smith-Hughes classification and may enter the teaching profession at that time. The plant he works for prints several weekly newspapers and does a large job printing business, according to Mr. Kaiser.

Mary Lou Friberg, one of our newest alumni, is holding forth on home economics in the Weyauwega, Wisconsin, high school. A George Deen teacher, Miss Friberg stated that she found teaching much more fun and easier than being a student. She said that she used daily lesson plans but no formal course of study as such. Mary was very enthusiastic about her job and teaching profession in general. Like most of the other new alumni, she attended the teachers' convention in Eau Claire prior to arriving at the Stout homecoming.

Gerald C. Anderson is teaching at the New Alburne, Minnesota, county rural high school. Utilizing his minor in social science, he is teaching that subject in the high school. Andy stated that notes taken in Dr. Agnew's and Dean Price's classes have been of great value in his teaching. He said that their inclusion in the class lectures, along with the material from his text and current event papers, had enriched the course and had also given the students the impression that he was very well read in those fields. Encouraging undergraduates to take their minors seriously, he emphasized that a minor might be very valuable to them in securing a teaching position. He plans to secure a teaching post in the industrial education field after he has had enough teaching experience to enable him to secure a job in a city that appears favorable to him.

Talking with these alumni who are new to the teaching field, and therefore more sensitive to its problems in regard to the beginning teacher, has produced several ideas on what we at Stout can expect in our first year. Teaching positions are becoming harder to find and a minor field may well become part of any teaching situation. Teaching is very satisfying for most new alumni and according to them easier than being a student; thus it cannot be the dull, drab, censored life that critics often term it. Being able to qualify for a Smith-Hughes or George Deen classification is a distinct advantage in obtaining good positions. Marriage is still top on the list for most coed alumni, although most of them would deny that it was. All the new alumni agreed that the education courses are much more valuable to them now than they had thought they would be while they were taking them.

SCHWEBKES ANNOUNCE ARRIVAL OF SON JIM

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Schwebke, 230 AE. Van Norman, Milwaukee 7, Wisconsin, have informed the Stoutonia of the birth of a son, James Philip Schwebke, at the Deaconess hospital, Milwaukee, on October 10, 1949.

Mrs. Schwebke, who graduated in 1942, is the former Phyllis Wagner. She taught here while her husband was attending Stout.

ENGAGEMENT OF 1947 GRADUATE ANNOUNCED

The engagement of Priscilla Oettmeir, B.S. '47, to Clyde C. Schap, of Elizabeth, Illinois, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Oettmeir, Fort Atkinson. Priscilla is a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron, national professional home economics fraternity. At present she is teaching home economics in the junior high school at Muskegon Heights, Michigan.

Mr. Schap is a graduate of the University of Dubuque, Iowa, in 1942, with a degree in engineering. He spent five years in the Army Air Force and was discharged with the rank of captain. Following his discharge, Clyde accepted a position as vice-president of Alcasco Products, inc. at Muskegon Heights, Michigan. The company manufactures aluminum window products.

The marriage is planned for December 23, 1949, at Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin.

FORMER COLLEGE NURSE, MISS STOLEN, MARRIES

Miss Theresa Stolen, 1218 Spring St., daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nels Stolen, Route 1, and Ronald H. Olsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Olsen, Beloit, were married at 6:30, Saturday, at the bride's family home. Miss Stolen was the college nurse at Stout Institute from 1933-1938.

The Rev. Axel Anderson performed the candlelight service, for which palms, candlebra, and white chrysanthemums served as decoration. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. T. M. Anderson. Both wore wool gabardine suits in tones of beige and corsages of roses. Dr. Kenneth B. McDonough, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Immediate relatives attended the buffet supper after the ceremony.

The bride was formerly instructor and supervisor with the University of Wisconsin School of Nursing. Mr. Olsen is an assistant in radiology in the radium laboratory at Wisconsin General hospital.

SMA HOMECOMING BREAKFAST HELD FOR RETURNING ALUMNI

SMA Society held their Homecoming breakfast, Saturday morning, at 9:30 at the Methodist Church. A breakfast of orange juice, scrambled eggs and ham, sweet rolls, butter and coffee, was thoroughly enjoyed.

The committee chairmen were as follows: Betty Neas, place cards; Ruthie Larson, table setting; Dot Krushas and Dot Groethe, service; and Marianna Zdrzil, contacting alumni.

During the meal, each alumna told a little about where she was teaching, her personal life, and other bits of interesting news. All of the old members introduced themselves to the alumnae. Then the five pledges, Jean Boerger, Connie Anderson, Gerry Erickson, Daynee Buell, and Mary Swanson, sang a song that they had composed about the SMA.

The alumni present were: Miss Ruth Neuman, teaching at Chippewa Falls; Miss Ruth Knowles, Door County Home Agent; Miss Norma Nelson, teaching at Neilsville; Mrs. Ann Chartraw, living in Menomonie; Mrs. Milly Ruth, teaching in Blair; Mrs. Thesa Jeatran, living in Menomonie; Mrs. Jimmie Quilling, living in Menomonie; Mrs. Esther Jeatran, teaching at Arkansaw; Mrs. Jean Welch Hogan, teaching at Three Lakes; Mrs. 'Billy' Wagner, Glendive, Montana; Miss Jean Sterner, teaching at Wausau.

In Program of Barbershop Quartets

Instructors of Woodworking and Finishing, General Metals and Welding, History and Economics combine with a college student to make up a well-known local quartet. George Soderberg, Ralph Betterley, Dwight Agnew, and John Rowe participated in the SPEBSQA program Saturday, October 22.

Parade Of Quartets Give Forth Songs

Harmony reigned as king at the Stout auditorium, Sat. evening, Oct. 22, when the Menomonic chapter of S P E B Q S A held its first parade. Ten barbershop quartets and the Menomonic chorus presented a festival of song which gave evidence of long practice sessions.

The master of ceremonies, Ray Kessenich, did a fine job of presenting the quartets and threw in a few worthwhile ad libs. Mr. Kessenich is a member of the Wauwatosa chapter, which was represented by the Village Four.

Dr. Brown introduced Ray Steensland, who represented the district governor and presented the Menomonic chapter with its charter. Acceptance of the charter was made by Ed Phelan, local chapter president. Other officers of the chapter are: Harold Hanson, vice-president; Louis Patterson, secretary; and Stan Nelson, treasurer.

Two quartets represented The Stout Institute, plus members in the Menomonic chorus.

The finale included all quartets and all members who did not participate in the program, except as an enthusiastic audience.

Seats were at a premium in the auditorium, as a capacity audience turned out to witness the performance.

NEW GROUP OF HE STUDENTS MOVE INTO MANAGEMENT HOUSE

Every six weeks, a new group of Home Economics students moves into the Home Management house at Ninth avenue and Sixth street. This is a part of the required course in Home Management. Under the direction of Miss Gladys Trullinger, the HE students divide the housework among themselves, and take care of every phase of homemaking.

There are ten senior girls living at the Home Management house during the second six weeks' period. The girls are Betty Braun, Helen Helm, Ardelle Krueger, Janis Oebser, Marion Saari, Leona Sexe, Florence Severson, Jean Waltzer, Helen Wolsey, and Ruth Samdahl.

HOME FURNISHING CLASS
LENGTHENS DRAPERIES

Draperies in the student union have been lengthened, at the request of Dean Antrim, by members of Miss Martha Amon's home furnishing class.

The students spent several of their laboratory periods working on the draperies, but the task was not considered difficult by any of the women.

MATH DISCUSSION
HELD AT EAU CLAIRE

A panel discussion on current trends in mathematics, held at the recent teachers convention in Eau Claire, was directed by Mr. Wahlstrom, head of the department of mathematics at Eau Claire State Teachers college, and C. L. Rich, associate professor of mathematics and science at The Stout Institute. High points of the discussion are as follows:

1. Best progress in mathematics is made where groups are homogeneous.
2. General intelligence has a high correlation with mathematical ability.
3. All students in high school should be exposed to mathematics, but the student who has a definite antipathy for the subject should not be forced to keep on.
4. Algebra should be listed as one of the college entrance requirements.
5. Provision must be made for the progress of the better students, as well as for the progress of the other students.

The panel discussion was included in the sectional meeting of mathematics teachers at the Eau Claire Teachers convention, Friday, October 14. Mr. Rich was elected chairman for the meeting next year.

Three women are the proxy mothers of over a hundred Stout girls. They are Mrs. Rebecca Nelson, Mrs. Gertrude Adams, and Miss Cecelia Zine.

Mrs. Nelson is director of the dormitories. She is a native of Menomonic. Her job is large, as she has charge of both women's and men's dorms.

Tainter annex's housemother is Mrs. Adams. She hails from Grantsburg and has been here two years. Being the foster mother at the Annex is a full time job, since there are seventy girls residing there.

The head of Eichelberger hall is Miss Zine. She enjoys being house mother, but is wondering if the housemother position will ever go on a forty-hour week.

Incidentally, there is also a housefather. He is Tony Storti, who is in charge of the boys at Lynwood hall.

Some very special qualifications are met by the housemothers and housefather. They are patient, understanding, and interested in young people.

PRUDY JOHNSON IS BUSIEST
GAL AT FOOTBALL GAMES

There is no doubt but that you've noticed the little high-stepping majorette in front of our Stout band. Well, she is none other than Prudence Johnson, better known as "Prudie," who hails from Menomonic. She is the busiest little gal at a football game, for "Prudie" not only twirls a baton; she is our cheerleader, too.

Have you noticed that quick change she makes? First of all, she appears in a traditional majorette's short skirt, and all of a sudden she's in slacks. At half time she's back to the skirt again. How "speedy" can we get? No one is quite sure of the secret involved in that change; however, for full particulars, ask "Prudie."

DADS HONORED SATURDAY NIGHT

All set for Saturday's game with the Superior Yellow Jackets are the Blue Devils of Stout who will be playing before an appreciative audience of fathers. Dad's Day, sponsored annually by the "S" club, will have most of the players proud fathers here cheering the team. In the pictures above, the team is first seen lining up, charging, and finally receiving a few pointers on the coming game from Coach Tony Storti and Assistant Coach Wally Hammerberg. Players' fathers may be recognized at the game by numbers corresponding to their son's jersey number. The game at halftime will feature introduction of the dads to the fans.

BLUE DEVILS SEEK WIN OVER SUPERIOR STATE

"S" Club Sponsors Dad's Day; Half Time Activities, Tour, Banquet Planned

Stout's resurging Blue Devils, who pulled the conference upset of the season in last week's game at La Crosse, will seek new laurels in their annual "Dad's Day" contest, with Superior State Teachers college furnishing the opposition. The game will be played on Nelson field at 8 p.m., Saturday, and is Stout's last home game of the current season.

Dad's Day is sponsored by the "S" club and each year enables the fathers of the players to watch their sons in action. The Dads will tour the college, attend a banquet, and will be introduced to the audience during half time, with "S" club men acting as hosts.

A hint as to the potential ability of the Yellow Jacket club is revealed by the victory they hold over powerful Michigan School of Mines, which defeated Stout in the Blue Devils final game last year. Superior and the Blue Devils are now tied in league standings with identical 2-2 won and lost records this season. Both teams will be fighting to break the deadlock and chalk up another mark for the win column.

The Yellow Jackets have a nucleus of 22 lettermen returning from last year's squad and employ the T as their basic offensive formation. All-conference men Moselle and West spearhead a talented backfield, and in Thomas they have an outstanding lineman.

The Superior game is always a tough, slam-bang affair and this year's "go" promises to be no exception. With "Dad's Day" and the season's last home game as added incentive, a big crowd is expected to turn out to cheer the team to victory.

"S" CLUB TO SPONSOR ANNUAL DAD'S DAY

The "S" club will sponsor their third annual Dad's day, Saturday, October 29. The festivities for the event will commence with a banquet in the Stout cafeteria at noon. Dinner music will be furnished by Don Braem and his orchestra. Following the meal, Mr. Ralph Betterley will act as toast master. The barbershop quartet will also entertain the Dads with a little harmonizing.

In the afternoon, members of the "S" club will conduct a tour for the Dads through the buildings of The Stout Institute.

Introduction of the fathers at half-time will climax the event for the day. Each dad will be wearing a number on his back which will correspond to the number that his son is wearing on his football jersey.

COVEY'S

CORNER

The team made Stout football history last week when they trounced the league-leading La Crosse Indians 27-19.

Although this is the first time Stout has defeated La Crosse in football, there have been many tie games and close ones. The men who are seniors on the squad can recall a 12-12 game their freshman year; their second year they were edged 7-6; last year the team shoved La Crosse all over the field but were defeated 13-7; this year the team had their 27-19 victory. Total up the figures and you will find Stout had totaled 52 points to La Crosse's 51.

The Blue Devils had plenty of spirit and their game improved as the contest continued. The victory was well-earned and if there were any "breaks" in the game the Blue Devils made them by hitting hard and playing to win. La Crosse came out of the game badly battered and they will have to recuperate fast to be ready for Milwaukee State this weekend.

Every man on the team, both the men on the field and on the benches, and the coaches were "up" with plenty of pepper for this game. When everybody is up it is hard to pick individuals. The pillar of strength on defense in the second half was Jim Ooley; Ooley is always well-known for getting in a large percentage of the tackles, but down at La Crosse he played like a man possessed as he turned in what probably could be called the outstanding game of his football career.

On the ground, Harter Peterson turned in a fine running game; Harter piled up about 155 yards for the Blue Devils.

The touchdowns for the Blue Devils came on passes from Woelffer to Stai, Young to Cataldi, and on runs made by Peterson and Young.

Stout Football Schedule—1949
Date	Opponent	We	They
Sept. 24	Mankato State	28	27	Here
Oct. 1	Eau Claire State	6	7	Here
Oct. 8	River Falls State	7	12	There
Oct. 15	Whitewater State	7	6	Here
Oct. 22	LaCrosse State	27	19	There
Oct. 29	Superior State			Here (Dad's Day)
Nov. 5	Oshkosh State			There
Nov. 11	Upper Iowa U.			There

The victory was well earned by the Stout team, and it truly was a team victory.

Last weekend found the Bugolds of Eau Claire losing to Milwaukee State teachers 25 to 6. Superior edged River Falls 9 to 6 in the snow at Superior. Stevens Point upset Platteville's homecoming by beating Platteville 25 to 8, and Whitewater defeated Oshkosh 19 to 2.

Tomorrow is "Dad's Day" for the men on the football team. This event has been very successful in past years, and I am sure this year will not be an exception. The Blue Devils opponent for "Dad's Day" is the Superior Yellow Jackets.

The Superior club had good material but they seem to have had some off nights, as have the Blue Devils. Star backs for the Yellow Jackets are Dom Moselle, one of the finest backs in the conference the last three years, and "Doc" West who is said by some to be the finest quarterback in the conference. Tomorrow night might hold a passing duel between Stout's Woelffer and Superior's West, for both men are high on the conference standing in passing.

Stay-at-home students with radios will be able, if they like, to hear the game while they study. Station WSBK from Superior is broadcasting the contest for the benefit of the people back in Superior.

Don't let the weather keep you away from the last home game this year. Put on your "Winter Flannels" and help Dads cheer their sons on the field.

LA CROSSE

The Indian's sprang scat-back Owen Evans into the open and he scampered 81 yards before Bob Young dragged him down from behind on the 1 foot line. Polack scored on a quarterback sneak two plays later. This time Knispel made good his try for the extra point and La Crosse went out in front by a 13-7 score.

Mid-way through the second quarter, the Blue Devils marched 49 yards for a score to take the lead for good. Harter Peterson ate up 35 of the yards personally in 7 tries and bulled over from the 2 for the score. Once again Young's toe was good for the extra point, giving the Devils a 14-13 margin.

Later, Bill Kieffer peeled off 15 yards to the La Crosse 12 yard line after a fourth down fake kick by La Crosse had failed to gain. Woelffer was smeared trying to pass as the half ended.

Shortly after the second half got underway, Harter Peterson pounced on a La Crosse fumble on the Stout 45 yard line. Bob Young started around his own right end on the next play, stopped, and threw a high, arching pass to Dom Cataldi, who pulled it in on the 12 yard line and pranced into the end zone. Young added the point to put Stout in front 21-13.

Stout announced they weren't through scoring yet when Russ Pollock intercepted a pass on the La Crosse 46. Bill Kieffer threw to Stai for 27 yards to the 19 and La Crosse was assessed a 15 yard penalty for roughing, placing the ball on the Indian 4. On the next play, Bob Young went around right end to score standing up. Young's try for the point was blocked and the Blue Devils held 27-13 lead.

The Indians, badly dejected and bruised by this time, added a consolation touchdown mid-way through the fourth quarter. Loomis and Evans carried the brunt of the attack in the goalword march, with Evans circling left end for 6 yards and the score.

The last 8 minutes of the game were used up with both squads battling for possession of the ball between the 40 yard lines.

DR. GORDON O. WILBER VISITS AT STOUT

Delivers Lecture On Need For IE Leaders; Plans For Field Trip Are Discussed

Dr. Gordon O. Wilber, national chairman of the board of trustees of Epsilon Pi Tau, visited Theta chapter, October 24, and delivered a lecture emphasizing the need for leaders in industrial arts. The business portion of the meeting was devoted to an explanation of the various functions of the chapter for the benefit of the new members. Final plans for the field trip were discussed.

Taking advantage of a half year leave from Oswego State Teachers college, Oswego, N.Y., Dr. Wilber is traveling across the country to visit all major schools teaching industrial arts. To date, he has visited eighteen schools, of which many have an EPT chapter. The organization is growing rapidly with many schools applying for chapters, according to Dr. Wilber.

Dr. Wilber was introduced to the organization by Dean Clyde A. Bowman, after which the lecture was presented. Dr. Wilber explained that many prospective leaders do not develop, a fact which is a direct challenge to EPT, for one of its aims of the organization is to develop leadership. He went on to list several criteria necessary if one is to become a leader in industrial arts.

1. He must have a sound philosophy of the work he intends to do.
2. He must be progressive in thinking, and must be looking for new and better ways of doing things.
3. He should develop a sense of graciousness and a pleasing personality.
4. He should have the ability and willingness to work with groups.
5. He must be ready to make sacrifices for the things in which he believes.
6. He must have courage.
7. He should assume responsibility and carry the thing through.
8. He should have the ability to speak and write with conviction.

In the business meeting, committee chairman instructed the new members on the functions and business of the chapter. Each chairman gave a short lecture explaining the duties of his committee. Warren Thomas, president, aided in the instruction by explaining certain functions not covered by any particular committee. Robert Blasiesing, vice president, explained how the new members had been selected for admittance into the organization.

After all business had been taken care of, slides were shown of the industrial arts department Oswego State Teachers college, Oswego, N.Y.

"HAPPY DAD'S DAY" FOR CATALDI

Dad's Day had a double meaning this year for Dom Cataldi, right end on the Blue Devil eleven.

Early Saturday morning at Delaware hospital, Wilmington, Delaware, Dom and his wife Martha became the proud parents of a baby daughter, Sharon Lynn.

Dom is currently anticipating another happy occasion next February when the Cataldi family will be reunited with the arrival of his wife and daughter to take up residence in Menomonie.

PHILOS HOLD ANNUAL RUSSIAN TEA

The annual Russian tea, sponsored by the Philomathean society, was held Wednesday afternoon, October 24, in the Harvey Memorial.

Decorations were in keeping with the Halloween theme. The table was arrayed with lighted jack-o'-lanterns amid ears of corn and autumn leaves, and candles were placed throughout the room to provide a suitable Halloween atmosphere.

Phi alumni honored their society by pouring at the tea. They were the Mmes. Cecilia Dampke Rowland, Virginia Raye Solberg, Betty Miller Manson, Vernetta Eslinger Cairns, and Miss Rosalie Oftsie. Miss Hazel Van Ness, Philomathean adviser, and Rosella Trangsrud, president of the society, poured also.

Served with the Russian tea were ginger cookies, nuts, and candy.

Committee heads were Jan Vaughn, chairman of the decoration committee, and Gerry Raisler, chairman of the food committee. Ellen McCarthy was chairman of the tea.

ESTABLISH NEW TEACHING CENTERS

Three new centers for cadet teaching have been established for this year.

Centers are located at the Eau Claire high school, with Mrs. Mary Beardsley as supervisor; Eau Claire vocational school, where Miss Mabel Otteson is supervising; and Medford high school, which has Miss Mildred DeBoer and Miss Albright as supervising teachers. Three main teaching fields, vocational, general, and rural, are typified by these centers.

The purpose of this off-campus cadet teaching is to give the girls the opportunity to see and to experience the total responsibilities of the home economics teachers. Each student teacher is given the opportunity to teach for two weeks at the school of her preference. With both the on and the off-campus teaching, the girls are given a total of 11 weeks of actual teaching experience and seven weeks of assisting in classes.

Girls teaching from October 3 to October 14 are Doris Zimmerman and Eileen Deetz at Medford, Eileen Riley at Eau Claire vocational school, and Lois Quist at the Eau Claire high school. Those who have returned from cadet teaching are Naomi Wendt and Frances Knight from Medford and Eau Claire vocational school respectively.

Newman Club Features Hayride; Entertainment

A hayride will highlight the activities of the Newmanites, tonight, November 4, at 7:30 p.m.

After the hayride, there will be refreshments and entertainment for everyone. All members and their friends are invited.

Just a note to the wise: "Be sure to come dressed for the cold weather."

SSA MESSAGE

Fellow Students,

With the close of the home football schedule, we would like to take the opportunity to say a little about Stout's football games this fall. In our minds it has been a long time since the home contests have been so hard-fought and interesting to watch. The enjoyment received by the fans in following the 1949 Blue Devils was certainly worth the money that each student pays for his athletic fee. So here's to the team that worked so hard to make the season the success that it has been to date, and good luck to them in the two remaining contests.

In a week or so, the SSA will become officially affiliated with the National Student association. NSA has been the subject of discussion at many Stout student governing board meetings in the past, and finally last spring it was decided that the SSA should affiliate with NSA this fall. Last weekend two representatives of the governing board attended a regional meeting of the NSA, held at the University of Wisconsin. Various phases of student government were discussed, and ideas were exchanged. With NSA at Stout, we will be in contact with more than three hundred other universities and colleges located in all parts of the U.S. The benefits should be great, and whenever possible, NSA policies will be adopted at Stout.

Movies are again being sponsored by the SSA for the winter months. We will try to have one or two each month on Sunday afternoons when there is not much other activity planned. Many of these movies will be old ones, but they will offer a lot of good, free, entertainment. Watch the Stoutonia for announcements regarding the dates.

We want to congratulate the KFS frat on their successful dance, "Orchids for M'Lady," and also remind you of the annual Tacky Drag, sponsored by the Sigma's, which is coming up on the schedule. Stout organizations work hard to make these dances successful, so let's give them our support. Without these activities, the campus social life would not be much.

PRIZE TO BEST DRESSED AT SIGMA TACKY DRAG

"Put on your oldest and craziest clothes this Saturday night for the Tacky Drag and try to win the prizes," invites Gordon Wasinger, president of Sigma.

The Tacky Drag will be held in the gym on Saturday, November 5, from 8 to 11:30 p.m. The Royal Blackhawks will provide the music.

Five dollars will be given to the best-dressed couple. The best-dressed man and woman will each receive $2.00.

Tickets will be sold in the Home Ec. corridor this week by Sigma members. The price of admission is 40 cents per person, or 75 cents a couple.

Refreshments will be served during the intermission.

PHI U ALUMNAE INVITED TO INITIATION, DINNER

Alumnae of Phi Upsilon Omicron are urged by President Ruth Christensen to contact Secretary Eileen Deetz if they wish to attend the biannual initiation and dinner which will be held November 12. The initiation ceremony will begin at 4:30 p.m., followed by dinner at the Cafe LaCorte. Reservations for the meal may be mailed to Miss Eileen Deetz, 407 - 12th avenue W., Menomonie, Wisconsin.

SIGMA TAU TO CHOOSE QUEEN

"Rose of Sigma Tau" Formal To Be Held November 19; Jack Pingel Will Play

It is an annual fraternity tradition in Sig Tau to select a queen for their formal, which is called the "Rose of Sigma Tau." This year the Alpha Kappa chapter, the Stout chapter of Sigma Tau Gamma, is going to initiate the "Rose" theme by calling their fall formal the "Rose of Sigma Tau."

The formal will be held Saturday evening, November 19. The rhythm of Jack Pingel's orchestra will be used to keep the dance floor filled with coeds in flowing formals and well-dressed gentlemen.

The Sig Tau "Rose" will be chosen by the members of the local chapter. The "Rose" will be queen of the fall formal and will receive all the homage due a queen. And, as the ending of the song states, there will be little doubt that, "—She's Sigma Tau's own sweetheart, she's Sigma Tau's own rose."

E. R. OETTING IN LEADER CONFERENCE

Conference Participants To Hold Area Meetings

Acting as a resource person in the discussion topic, "The Effect of the Over-all School Program upon Children and Youth," Dr. Eric R. Oetting, head of the education department of The Stout Institute, took part in a leadership conference sponsored by the State Department of Public Instruction, on the University of Wisconsin campus, October 20-22.

Four other resource persons cooperated with Dr. Oetting on their particular discussion topic, and twenty-five additional conferees participated.

The purpose of the meeting was to try to identify some of the techniques of educational leadership which might function effectively in working with local school staffs.

To accomplish this, discussion groups were set up in five areas:

1. Purposes of education
2. Effect of the all-over program
3. Developing sequence patterns in instructional areas
4. Selecting, organizing, and developing learning experiences
5. Evaluation

Common bases used by all discussion groups were:

1. Staff participation in planning on a local level
2. Functions of state and local leaders
3. Lay participation
4. Use of state materials
5. Fundamental bases for curriculum planning

In honor of John Dewey's birthday, October 19, members of the conference heard Max Otto, professor emeritus of philosophy at the University, speak on "John Dewey." Charles B. Walden, state curriculum coordinator, handled many of the arrangements for the conference.

Participating in the conference were one representative from each teachers college, members of the University Department of Education, and the staff of supervisors from the state department. Later, conference participants may hold similar meetings for educators in the area which each college serves.

V. C. FRYKLUND SPEAKER IN TENNESSEE

Featuring speeches before two Tennessee educational groups and the opportunity to meet a number of Stout graduates now employed in that state, President Verne C. Fryklund made a flying journey to Knoxville, from the Thursday to Saturday.

Friday morning, Dr. Fryklund spoke before the superintendents' section of the East Tennessee Educational association. That afternoon he addressed the vocational and industrial arts section of the association.

Five Stout graduates greeted President Fryklund during his stay in Tennessee. These included Frank A. Van Eynde '29, district supervisor of trade and industrial education for upper East Tennessee, who has headquarters in Knoxville; and Heimer M. Martinson '35, head of the employee training branch, division of personnel, T V A, also with headquarters in Knoxville.

Other Stout alumni were A. W. Torresani '32, instructor of machine woodwork at Stair Technical high school, Knoxville; Ray G. Sawyer '17, veterans' counselor at the University of Tennessee; and Hugh Betts '24, principal of night school, Knoxville.

INSTRUCTORS TO ATTEND WEA CONVO

Stout Institute teachers are joining their colleagues from the entire state, in Milwaukee, for the Wisconsin Educational association convention, November 3-4-5, according to a convention release of the association at Madison. Six speakers at three general sessions, meetings of the delegate assembly, fifty-four sectional meetings on various educational problems, and special entertainment fill the convention program.

Teachers attending from Stout are President V. C. Fryklund, Dean Alice J. Kirk, Dean Clyde A. Bowman, Director Ray C. Wigen, Miss Gertrude O'Brien, Dr. E. R. Oetting, Mrs. Benita Smith, Miss Winifred Hinkley, Mr. Dwight Chinnock, Mr. Herbert A. Anderson, Mr. Lloyd Whydowski, and Mr. H. M. Hansen.

NEW LIBRARY SYSTEM IS INAUGURATED

"Modified Open Stock System" Permits Browsing in Stacks

The library has inaugurated a new system this year in regard to the library stacks, which is termed the "modified open stack system." Under the new policy, students are permitted to browse through the stacks, but a check is kept on them as they enter and leave. Previously students were permitted to walk through with no check made upon them.

The chief factor for the abolition of the previous system is that of loss of books. At the inventory taken following summer session, it was found that many books had been "lost" during the past year. It was discovered also that these books were not the old unpopular volumes, but in reality were the popular and newer ones, which are always in demand.

Another item which has led to the change-over is the lack of space in the present room. The enrollment at The Stout Institute has increased tremendously in the years following the war. This has made it necessary to increase the number of volumes which must be kept on hand. Because of the above fact, it has been important to place some books in inaccessible shelves.

This new policy will make it possible for students to continue browsing through the stacks while the librarians will be able to keep a more strict account of the books. With a little cooperation on the part of the students, there is every reason to believe that the new system will work to the full advantage of everyone involved.

TIME MARCHES ON

The first quarter is completed; the football season is almost over; and Halloween parties and pranks are being forgotten in bustle of Thanksgiving and Christmas plans. We are reminded again that time has a habit of marching right on. This realization should challenge us to make better use of our time, to make every moment count.

What we neglect to learn today cannot help us tomorrow, or the next day, or the following day, or ever until we do take time to learn it. The ideals, attitudes, and habits we are too busy to form today cannot work for us until we do form them. We cannot profit from our experiences or even from our mistakes—until we have had them.

In other words, live! Make every moment worthwhile and profitable. Invest your time so wisely that it will pay rich dividends. Do so today, for you may need the dividends tomorrow.

LINE CRASHING

Those of us who eat in the school cafeteria are faced with the situation which is known as line crashing, bucking the line, or cutting in the line ahead of other people. This is especially true during rush hours when the line is long.

Probably most of us have been guilty of this at one time or another, but there are several students who do it continually. This must stop! Crashing is not fair to the other people waiting in the line.

How would you feel if someone cut in ahead of you at every meal? You would not like it; no one likes it. We might be in a hurry, but the others are also. Let us think of our friends, too, and not only ourselves. Whether someone has saved a place for us or not, let's go to the end of the line when we get to the cafeteria.

Let us all work together to combat this problem of line crashing. Remember—"Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Hi gang,

Another week has rolled around, and what a pleasant week it was. No doubt everyone will agree that Saturday night's football game was the best home game of the season. Yes sir, Stout's team really played a good game.

This has been a rather eventful week compared to last week. Lynwood hall held the social spotlight Friday night by giving another of their already-famous parties. And a swell party it was. All the fellows and girls that participated really had an enjoyable evening.

Well, Bob Nichols has finally succeeded. After spending many a night in the union playing cards with Virginia Lane, Bob brought her to the Lynwood party. Say Bob, isn't Virginia the girl you took home from the last Lynwood party? Bob also took Virginia to the KFS dance Saturday night.

Couldn't help noticing June Keefer and her new escort last weekend. Earl Willmarth took June to the Lynwood party Friday night, and followed up by taking her to the football game and to the dance Saturday night.

A few of the other couples that we noticed at the Lynwood party were Joe Beland and Joan Schwanemann; Al Hodges and Nadine Brown; and Jim Tomita and June Higgins. By the way, Jim and June were also at the dance Saturday night. Oh, we almost forgot to mention the fact that Dick Jung escorted Nancy Hauser home from the party.

Did you get a load of the orchid that Lois Heike was wearing Saturday night? Lois and Herb Watanabe have been hitting it off pretty steady this year. (Hmmm. Say, Herb, we were just wondering if that orchid was also flown in from Hawaii?)

Does anyone know what's happened between Bernice Danzinger and Don Sargent???? We haven't seen them together lately. What happen???

Flash—another engagement. . . . Jean Peterson received a diamond engagement ring last Friday, but we can't find out who the lucky man is. Please tell us, Jean.

Believe it or not, but we have a Frank Sinatra here on our campus. He is none other than John Poellinger. We don't know if he can sing or not, but he surely has a cute bowtie. Someone just remarked that maybe that was Frank's brother, Not-so hotra.

COURTESY AT STOUT?

The day of Sir Walter Raleigh gallantry may be passed, but it is not necessary for us to disregard the manners and types of courtesy our parents tried to inflict on us.

Here at Stout, courtesy is found only in a dictionary. This is not an exaggeration.

When waiting to enter the elevator, a person is pushed and mauled as though tryouts were being held for positions on the football team.

An extra degree of alertness is demanded when a person walks out of a building after class. If he maintains natural relaxation, he will probably receive a sound slap by the door or a cigarette playing tars on his nose. This could hardly be called courtesy.

As we are students of higher learning, it doesn't seem possible we need reminding of simple consideration in life.

Having patience while awaiting entrance to the elevator, holding the door a second longer until the next person at least has hold of it; and using discretion before disposing of a cigarette are courtesies which will not disrupt the regular routine of a person's day.

We need not spend extra time and effort looking for opportunities to display our manners. By merely conducting ourselves as our parental teaching trained us, we would perform such courtesies unconsciously.

Little courtesies are inexpen-

Ross Slater and Jean Moe must be getting that way about each other. Ross spent last weekend over at Jean's home in Black River Falls. We wonder if they made any plans for the future.

Bob Cseh looked pretty lonesome last Saturday night. We couldn't figure out why until we noticed he wasn't with Betty Worthington. Where was she, Bob?

The woman situation here at Stout is getting worse all the time. Another female of the opposite sex has joined the ranks of married women. Yes, Gerry Tanz was married last Saturday. Some fellows have all the luck. Now take us for instance. We can't even get dates. Seriously though, we would like to congratulate Gerry and wish her the best of luck.

Does anyone know where Bea Anderson and Charmaine Chopp learned to play volleyball? They gave a good exhibition of their playing one Monday night. Well, at any rate, they had a lot of fellows watching them. Hmm, maybe we could take a few lessons. How about it girls?

We noticed Don "Lover Boy" Rhead out with Corrine "Steve" Kosidowski last weekend. A very nice couple indeed. Overheard Gerald Jeffery asking "Reedy" what he had that Jeff didn't. Must be something. Another nice couple was Jim Ooley and Dorothy Hardies.

Gerry Erickson and Dick Duthler made an interesting couple at the dance last Saturday night. Gerry surely is getting around.

CORRECTION: Tom Jacobson's girl's name is not "Dot." Her name is Doris, but Tom calls her "Dode." Thanx.

Winifred "Tickey" Einum was baby sitting one weekend and we heard the "baby" was reciting something like this:

Tickey — Talkie
Smoochie — Smoochie
Tickey — Talkie
Smooches ME.

We can't figure out how old the baby was.

Well gang, another week has come and gone, but we are still here. Through all of life's troubles we can still smile. Try to keep a stiff upper lip, not as stiff as a Ubangi's, but stiff, and we'll see you next week.

Key and Hole

REMEMBER WHEN

Remember when one year ago the lucky freshman taking Phys. began the annual task of cutting up their cats? More freshman also had the experience of making their first Speech recordings. (It happens every year, freshman). The county sheriff interrupted a Congo hayride. It seems that the Congo forgot about lights. Hmm.

KFS pledges performed throughout the campus. . . . Bob Hendrickson displayed his knowledge of Wisconsin and Iowa corn. . . . Charlie McKay was a charming bathing beauty. . . . Pollock played jacks with a basketball. Gunner also "hit" the Stoutonia as the only one taking both a Home Ec. and an Industrial Arts course.

Phalanx became a national fraternity; they affiliated with Sigma Tau Gamma. Three Stout players ended their football careers at Stout. They were Harvey Peterson, Arnie Pott-hast, and John Stibel.

The blacksmith was instructing a novice in the way to treat a horse shoe.

I'll bring the shoe from the fire and lay it on the anvil. When I nod my head you hit it with this hammer.

The apprentice did exactly as he was told, but he'll never be a blacksmith again!

A lecture is that process whereby ideas pass from the notebook of the instructor to the notebook of the student without greatly affecting the mind of either.

When a fellow breaks a date, he usually has to.
When a girl breaks a date she usually has two.

In the olden days, they used to kiss and make up. Now the make-up comes first.

Gloria Kuula: "How about giving me a diamond bracelet?"
Johnny Kuula: "My dear, extremely extenuating circumstances perforce me to preclude you from such a bauble of extravagance."
Gloria: "I don't get it."
Johnny: "That's what I said."

Instructor: "Why don't you answer me when I call your name?"
Bette Severson: "I nodded my head."

Instructor: "You don't expect me to hear the rattle all the way up here, do you?"

Two Stout students were playing a little game. "What do I have here?" asked Dan Foltman, with his hands cupped.

"Three navy patrol bombers?" answered Bob Berg.

Dan looked carefully into his hands. "Nope," he said.

"The Empire State Building?"

"No."

"The Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra?"

Dan looked into his hands again, the said shyly, "Who's conducting?"

Employer: "Are you looking for work, young man?"

Frank Tank: "No—but I'd like a job."

Class was in the session again after the summer vacation and the lady instructor thought it might be a good idea to refresh her students in grammar after they had been at home listening to their parents talk for three months. She wrote the following sentences on the blackboard: "I didn't have no fun all summer."

"Now what should I do to correct that?" she asked the class.

A smart, and wide-awake student from the back of the room called out, "Getcher self a boy friend!"

Pop was briefing his son on the art of selecting a wife. "This is a serious business, son," said the boy's father. "Not only do you want a girl that is good looking enough so that you won't be ashamed to be seen with her. You know, she should have a nice set of legs."

"Things are different nowadays, pop," the son replied. "It used to be that you could see if a girl was knocked-kneed. Now you have to listen."

An opera-loving father took his young son to the opera for the first time. The opera conductor raised his baton and began waving it. A soprano began singing an aria. The child watched both rather intently.

"Daddy, why is he hitting her with that stick?" he asked.

"Son, he's not hitting her with a stick."

"Well, then why is she hollering?"

I'm sorry, but I never go out with perfect strangers."

"That's okay, babe. I ain't perfect."

"Don't be so long-winded in your reports as you have been in the past," said the manager of the "Wild West" railway to his overseer. Just report the condition of the track as you find it and don't put in a lot of endless words that ain't to the point. Write a business letter, not a love letter."

A few days later the railway line was badly flooded. The overseer wrote his report to the manager in one line "Sir, where the railway was, the river is."

CLUB SKI CLUB HAS NEW TOPICS PLANNED

Would you like to take advantage of northern Wisconsin's winters by knowing about and participating in skiing?

The Stout ski club has started a series of informative topics for the benefit of members and all others who are interested. The topics will cover a wide range of subjects that pertain directly or indirectly to skiing.

The topics will include safety, types of clothing, care of equipment, techniques of skiing, and other subjects of interest to members. The greater part of these topics will be presented by members of the club.

There will be movies presented for both instructional and entertainment values. The student body will be invited to attend the movies, as well as the other activities of the club.

The first topic was presented by Bob Becker. The talk was on purchasing of ski-equipment. Cost and what to look for in good equipment were the main points of the talk. Some of the details were as follows:

When skis are stood on end, a person should be able to touch the tip with the palm of the hand or wrist. Longer skis are unnecessary, for most skiing now is done on packed hills.

Good maple or hickory is the best material for skis, maple being the lighter of the two woods.

A fairly flexible ski is desirable. The bindings should be tight enough to hold the ski boot firmly. Loose fitting boots and bindings take away from good control of the skis.

Topics given at the meetings are directed mainly at those who are new to the sport of skiing. President Jack Homberg invites anyone interested in skiing to come to the meetings and take advantage of the fun and information offered by the ski club.

MAP MEMBERS HOLD REGULAR WORK NIGHT

A worknight meeting of MAP members and students earning points toward membership in this fraternity will be held Monday night, November 7, at 7:30 p.m., in the Stout auditorium.

The purpose of these meetings is a twofold one. First, it supplies an opportunity for those interested students to earn additional membership points, and second it provides activity for these students in a worthy cause--the repair and production of stage scenery and equipment.

A total of one hundred points is required for a student to become eligible to membership. Two points are given for each hour of work, with a bonus of one point for each hour of work over three consecutive hours. A set number of points is given for such work as management of some committee, acting, or other entertainment (pantomime, reading, declamation, etc.) Work for which hourly points are given includes all type of stage work, costuming, make-up, prompting, and ushering.

The repair of stage properties and equipment is a never-ending job that can make or break a performance. By having all equipment in top repair at all times, the fraternity hopes to add to the professional quality of the performances at Stout.

The MAP fraternity extends an invitation to all interested students, with or without experience, to attend these worknight meetings. A notice of these meetings will be posted on the MAP bulletin board, directly across the hall from the registrar's office, a day or so prior to the meeting.

BAND HAS MISHAPS; EXCITEMENT APLENTY ON GALA TRIP TO AND FROM LACROSSE

"6:30! Time to go! Everybody pile into the buses! No wait! Where is Robert Braun? Isn't he here yet? Why the heck doesn't he come?"

Fuming and sputtering went on among the band members until 7:00 a.m. when the tardy Robert Braun dashed in and stammered, "The alarm didn't go off."

As the bus was merrily speeding along to the LaCrosse homecoming game, a sudden lurch and pull to one side was felt. No, it couldn't be! But it was—a flat tire! While the tire was being fixed in a little Minnesota town, the members wrote cards home, ate lunch, and changed into their band uniforms as parade time was drawing near.

No further mishaps occurred, and the band pulled into LaCrosse at 7:30 a.m. They immediately lined up, marched fourteen blocks to the starting point, played and marched five more miles in the homecoming parade, and then marched back again to the school. Because the members love to practice and because they felt as if they needed more exercise, the band practised maneuvers on the field for one-half hour. After much moaning and groaning, members were dismissed for lunch until 1:30 p.m.

At 1:50 p.m. the band marched to the field. There the Stout team, which was backed by vocal and musical support, made a fine showing. An airplane which moved across the field was formed at half-time while the band played the "Army Air Corps Song." An "S" took shape out of the dissembling of the plane, and the band played the Stout pep song and the Alma Mater.

After the game, the LaCrosse homecoming committee invited the band for coffee, cider, and doughnuts in the gym.

Before leaving Menomonie, the members had decided that one bus would stay for the homecoming dance and crowning of the queen, but because one bus had already had the misfortune of a flat tire, neither wished to travel alone on the lonely highway back to Menomonie. So at 4:45 in the afternoon, both buses turned their radiator caps toward home and arrived back at 7:15 p.m. with a load of band members, who were wholly exhausted but very happy over the outcome of the game.

ANNEX TEAM WINS WAA VOLLEYBALL SERIES

The WAA has completed its series of volleyball games, with the Annex Team I having won the largest number of games.

The series of games, which were played in the gym, began on October 10 and ended October 25. Six teams, each with nine members, were scheduled to play four games. Each girl who participated in three games receives one organized point toward her letter, stated Marion Saari, sports head. Florence Gattshall served as assistant sports head.

Members of Team I were Phoebe Smith, Ellen Williams, Ann Rossmiller, Pat Loosen, Catherine Magee, Vilyn Erb, Ardeth Weber, Barbara Holten, and Margaret Fitzgerald.

APO PLEDGES TAKE PART IN SCOUT CAMP-O-REE

Pledges and regular members of Alpha Phi Omega, Stout's scouting fraternity, aided in the semi-annual Camp-o-ree for boy scouts of the Red Cedar district, held on the week-end of October 28 and 29, on the grounds of the former CCC Camp above Waukanda park.

Mr. Roy Thomas, field scout executive of the district, was director of the fall outing. He was assisted by John Lurquin, Norman Lenius, George Kinslar, Ed Greenway, and Gerald Cook, all APO men. Greenway and Cook took part in the service project as a part of their fraternity pledge duties. The others are regular members.

APO members acted as judges for the field events held during the day and aided in the campfire program held Friday night. This event is one of the many service projects undertaken by the fraternity.

WSF FEATURES GUEST SPEAKER ON TOLERANCE

Mr. Sam Scheiner was guest speaker at the Wesley Student Fellowship meeting, Sunday evening, October 23, at the Centenary Methodist church.

Mr. Scheiner is the executive director of the Minnesota Jewish council and a representative of the Anti-Defamation league. His talk stressed the need for human understanding. Mr. Scheiner also reviewed pieces of literature that tried to stir up hate against such groups as the Boy Scouts of America, Women's League of Voters, aliens, Jews, Negroes, Unions, and religious groups.

Wayne Rudesill was the chairman of the food committee. The lunch consisted of pancakes, sausages, maple syrup, apple cider, jello, and cookies.

Mr. Herbert Anderson and the Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Reece were advisers for the meetings.

LYNWOOD ENDS CHEERING SEASON

The close of the home football season is usually the signal for the ending of the gridiron activities of many organizations on the campus.

For instance, the color guard will be given a rest, the cheerleaders have put away their winter "woolies," and the Lynwood hall boys have hung up their tin cans and bells.

Spectators at the last three home games probably have a good idea by now of what the tin cans and bells were used for; at least that is the hope of the fellows who composed the Lynwood hall Cheering Section.

It seems that this group originated when several of the residents at the hall, after seeing the first game, decided that there should be a definite improvement in the quality and volume of the cheering at the games. Starting with the Eau Claire game, where lung power and a spare brake drum were the only noise-makers available, the section advanced to the use of seven one-gallon oil cans filled with stones, and labled to spell out "Lynwood."

For the Dad's Day game with Superior, the fellows decided that something should be done, not only to make more noise than ever, but also to show their appreciation to Coach Storti for the hard work he is doing as resident head of the dorm.

Therefore, under the chairmanship of Augie Schulz, the number of cans was increased to 22 in order to spell out "Pop Storti's Boys, Lynwood." A tribute to the Stout English department was also seen when the boys even managed to include the apostrophe in "Storti's."

Now, with the home football season over, the cheering section has put away their cans, but put them in a handy place just in case things get dull at the basketball games. Keep watching!

SIMPLE SUCCESS RECIPE USED BY STOUT GRAD

Gene Doyle, '35, Is Present Proprietor Of A Twelve Restaurant Chain

A nursery rhyme, a fabulous Irishman, and nearly seven years of 16-hour-a-day labor provide the simple formula behind Arizona's largest restaurant chain and one of the Southwest's most amazing success stories. This is the story of Gene Doyle, a former Menomoneie resident who in 1935 received his B.S. degree from Stout in industrial education. In early 1943, Gene Doyle was a Phoenix Union high school printing instructor. Today he is the proprietor of a rapidly expanding 12-restaurant chain which feeds more than 275,000 customers every month, employs more than 250 persons, and will gross more than $1,500,000 this year.

Even Horatio Alger might be envious of this Arizona success story. But to Gene Doyle it's all the result of statistics, plus a practical application of the Mother Goose rhyme, "Some like it hot, Some like it cold..."

"The normal approach to opening a restaurant," Doyle explains, "is to determine, first, what do we want to serve; second, how much will it cost us; and third, how much can we afford to charge for it? We merely reversed this approach," he continues, "and asked first, how much can people afford to spend; second, what is the best we can serve in that price range; and third, what is the best way of serving this food?"

Now only 34 years old, Gene Doyle was born October 15, 1915, in Menomoneie, where he spent his childhood and learned the meaning of self-reliance as one of the youngest of a family of ten children. After graduating from Menomoneie high school, he attended Stout. Active in campus sports, Doyle played end for his college football team and spent his summers in baseball uniform for the Northern Wisconsin Semi-Pro league.

In August of 1936 Doyle married Madeline Scott of Knapp, who also attended Stout. Shortly thereafter he accepted a position as printing instructor at Phoenix Union high school. During his teaching tenure, Doyle spent two summers at Sanford university studying for a master's degree in education and psychology. In 1939, while still continuing his teaching position, Doyle helped organize the Doyle-Maddux print shop which continued in operation until '43.

In 1942, his interest in statistics led him to read an article which showed that chances of business success could best be found in the field of processed foods. After nearly a year of searching for a good restaurant in a suitable location, Doyle obtained the Bacon Grille in February, 1943. Doyle's operating theory proved so successful he has been able to add additional restaurants. Mr. Doyle's current expansion plans include 20 new Bean Pot dispensing units which will be operated from a central kitchen.

Grateful to the town that has helped him become successful, Doyle has embarked on a constantly increasing program of personal service to the community. Named by Governor Dan Garvey to the Arizona State Hospital board in June of 1948, his championship of vigorous hospital reforms eventually led to Doyle's appointment as chairman of the board. In addition he played an active part in the 1949 March of Dimes and Cancer Fund drives. His half-hour "Luncheon in Phoenix" radio program, which is broadcast daily over Station KOY, has been made available to all civic groups for public service use.

This past summer Gene Doyle organized a Phoenix Senator "knot hole" club which provided free admittance to Phoenix Senator home baseball games for 300 deserving youngsters. He also provided free lunches for nearly 500 graduates of city grade school good manners class.

Doyle is a member of the Arizona Club and is house committee chairman of the Phoenix Country Club. He and his wife and their four children, Virgie Lee, twelve; Michael, nine; Patty, five; and Sharon, three, reside at 3016 North Seventh street in Phoenix.

CHRIST ANNOUNCES BIRTH OF SON

The following note was received from Nona Landt Christ, 827 Vine St., Wisconsin Dells, Wis., when she renewed her alumni membership:

I have enjoyed the Stoutonia very much, and I always turn first to alumni news. Therefore, I decided to write and add our bit of news. Our second son, Alan, was born August 23, 1949. Our first boy, David, is three and one-half years old.

I have hopes of coming back for homecoming next year.

Sincerely,
Nona Landt Christ, '43

LIBRARY RECEIVES 1933 LITERARY MAGAZINE

Alumni Member Discovers Booklet Sponsored By The Stoutonia 16 Years Ago

Accompanying the following letter from Joseph Longo, 1949 graduate, was a copy of the 1933 issue of Young Wings, a literary magazine sponsored by the Stoutonia and published as a Stout Institute bulletin in the spring of 1933.

The magazine was printed in the alternate years of 1933, 1935, and 1937. The library has copies of the 1935 and 1937 issues but none of the 1933 issues. This copy sent by Mr. Longo will complete its file on the magazine.

Stout students interested in writing composed the entire contents of the magazine. A few of the authors and poets were Dagny Andreassen '35, Donald Johnson, Carmen Spreiter, Jean Good '34, Violette Bussey '33, Wayne Hughes '33, Robert Bruce Antrim, Mildred Nickel '34, Robert Chamberlin '34, and Henry Lewis '34. Douglas Harris '29, made some of the woodcuts for the magazine.

The letter received from Mr. Longo follows:

"While cleaning out a pile of old books and magazines at the Marinette Vocational school, I found one interesting booklet written in about 1933 and put out by The Stout Institute. I took great pleasure in reading the articles within. Maybe someone at Stout could make use of it.

"I have an interesting job at the Marinette Vocational school teaching machine shop, math, social science, gym, general science, drafting, and night school machine shop. As the students are of different grade levels, they almost all need individual instruction. My classes are small, so it is rather interesting work and I enjoy it very much.

"We have an apartment right across the street from the school, so I have no excuse for being late. The people in this town are very friendly, and it doesn't take very long to become acquainted.

"The Stoutonia can reach me at the following address."

Sincerely yours,
Joseph Longo '49

KITTY FULWILER, 1949, NOW AT SUN PRAIRIE

Just a note to let you know I have received my Stoutonia. I'll be looking forward to receiving it each week.

I am teaching four classes of home economics at Sun Prairie, Wis., in a newly-remodeled department. I now have 76 students enrolled. The enrollment of the high school is 180.

Sun Prairie is a very friendly town, and I enjoy living here as well as teaching here.

Since August 6, I have a new name, Mrs. Ray Fulwiler. My husband is attending school in Janesville, studying airplane mechanics.

I'll be looking forward to hearing from other alumni.

Sincerely

Kitty Gerondale Fulwiler, '49

Kitty was a member of the Stoutonia staff for three years as a proof-reader. Her husband attended Stout for the school year of '47-'48.

DETROIT STOUT WOMEN HOLD MEETING

The Detroit Stout women met Saturday, October 8, at the home of Mrs. Francis Shaw. Mrs. LeRoy Charlick was co-hostess. The following members were present:

Irene Christopherson Solberg, Helen Christopherson, Irma Miller Mann, Orvetta Braker Moltzau, Alice McClurg Carlson, Gene McClurg Armstrong, Wilma Bungey Blair, Audrey Peterson Pollock, Frances Barnvold, Marian Arntson, Louise Hobart, Dorothy Hobart, Elaine Thomas Charlick, and Vernetta Nutter Shaw.

Sorry, "can't come" notes were sent by: Borghill Eng Dahlgren, Elvira West, Edla Houck, Karen Fladoes, Ann Fuller Woodworth, and Elizabeth Williams Hansen.

Plans for the coming year were discussed, dues were paid, and a holiday party for all alumni was planned.

Overheard on West Market Street: Two urchins were passing the public library and one of them asked, "What's that?"

"That's the library," was the reply. "Naw," objected the first, "the library's out in our school."

"This is the big one," Number Two said, "the one you gotta keep quiet in."

FORTY-EIGHT MEN COMPLETE DRIVERS COURSE

Banquet Given At Hotel
Upon Completing Course;
Certificates Given

An intensive Driver Training course, under a cooperative plan between the Stout Institute and the Wisconsin Division of the American Automobile association, was conducted here Monday, October 17, through Friday, October 21. The course, which consisted of lecture classes, testing with devices, and practical application of skills learned in dual control cars, was offered to forty-eight Stout students and representatives from various parts of Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Stout students taking the course were Bob Babick, Robert Bachman, Lee Bedsted, James E. Bice, J. W. Bohn, Milton Bolt, Wallace Bondhus, Charles Borchert, Raymond Doane, Marvin Friebel, Gordon Goessner, William Heinkel, Glenn Heisa, Robert Hendrickson, Charles Hocking, Richard Hunsbuscher, Lewis Jackson, George Jensen, William Jones, Ellsworth Kane, Paul Kunz, Duane Lebegue, Marvin Lundin, John Lurquin, Howard Michalsen, Thomas Miller, Merlin Moore, William Nancarrow, Harris D. Olson, William Petryk, Vernon Reseland, Allan Senty, Robert Swanson, Warren Thomas, Marilyn Tibbetts, Clarence Urankar, Fred L. Ward, and Donald Winters.

Visitors taking the course, including principals, police chiefs and school superintendents, were Otto W. Blumenberg, Port Washington, Wis.; Chester B. Daumitz, Augusta; Viol Eidenberger, Grafton, Wis.; Myron J. Fritsch, Withee, Wis.; Willard F. Miller, Cadott, Wis.; Archie J. Nicolette, Woodruff, Wis.; Wallace J. Nosek, Proctor, Minn.; George W. Prehoda, Marathon, Wis.; F. M. Robey, Clayton, Wis. and Arthur C. Sparks, Eagle River, Wis.

With the completion of the course on Friday noon, students, instructors and representatives of the American Automobile association went to the Marion hotel for a banquet. After the banquet, the certificates of completion were distributed to each member.

SHAW TO ATTEND MEET OF DIETETICS GROUP

Miss Mary Margaret Shaw, who is the chairman of the Food and Nutrition department at Stout, will attend the fall meeting of the State Dietetics Association.

This meeting, which is held at Wausau, will take place on November 12. Miss Shaw is a member of the association's executive committee in charge of education. Members will discuss certain problems concerning education in the dietetics line of study.

The outgoing president, Dr. Reynolds of the University of Wisconsin, is to be replaced by Miss Iva Welele of Lawrence College.

Miss Shaw will be able to tell her classes many interesting and important things upon her return.

READING SUGGESTIONS ON CURRENT BOOKS

(Editor's Note—A new feature is being added to the Stoutonia this week. We hope that the suggestions will be of value to you in making better use of the college library and its facilities.)

Men interested in metal work should be interested in the book by Robert E. Smith, Ph. D., Ohio university, entitled, Matching of Metal. This book, written in a conversational language, is well-organized, easy to understand, and, best of all, packed full of many good, clear illustrations.

Another interesting book for both men and women, and especially those who are interested in spending their money wisely, is Mary M. Crawford's, Student Folkways and Spending at Indiana University. Mrs. Crawford who is an assistant professor of home economics at the University of Indiana, made this study in 1940-1941, and has organized her findings into the main categories of housing, food, clothing, personal care and laundry, recreation and refreshments, university fees, and transportation. From her findings she concludes that student spending is extremely dependent upon college customs and folkways and that, with very few exceptions, these traditions increase rather than decrease costs.

The Woman's Home Companion for November of this year features an article by Howard Whitman, "Is Prejudice Poisoning Our Kids?" This article is based on an investigation in Philadelphia called the Philadelphia Early Childhood Project. It points out that most of us believe that children are unprejudiced, but, according to the findings of this investigation, only seven per cent of our children can rightly be classified so. In fact, many children "are saturated with prejudice," and many more are tainted. In this day, when so much is said about prejudice but so little is being done, we need to be made to realize the necessity of action, constructive action, and this article will certainly shock even the most smug of us into reality.

HOUR OF MUSIC IN HARVEY

"An Hour of Music" was held in the Harvey Memorial on Thursday afternoon, October 27, from 4 to 5 p.m. The London Philharmonic orchestra, Boston Symphony orchestra, Cleveland orchestra, and Philadelphia orchestra were the recorded artists for the program.

A similar hour of music will be held in three weeks. At that time Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" and Rachmaninoff's "Piano Concerto" will be featured.

TOWER STAFF TO TOUR POINTS OF INTEREST

The Tower is planning a one-day tour to Minneapolis, for twenty-five members of the staff. The date is set for November 8. The students plan to visit such points of interest, in regard to work on the Tower, as the publishers, Lund Press, Inc.; The Bureau of Engraving; WCCO radio station; and the Gopher staff of the University of Minnesota.

UNIT KITCHENS ARE FEATURES OF LABORATORY

It's a new experience to some students to rush to a laboratory and be greeted by pink gingham with a red rose border, big dark red strawberries with white blossoms, and red peasant figures on a yellow background. But that is just what happened to the meal management classes at the Stout Institute.

The unit kitchens—three on either side—each open onto a large central area for serving, as the plan of the new laboratory was designed primarily for the planning, preparing and serving of meals. This laboratory is also used to teach courses in equipment and laboratory planning.

These six unit kitchens are equipped with the latest in metal cabinets, ranges, and refrigerators—both gas and electric. The equipment also includes laundry units, dishwashing machines, and disposal units.

Students will have the experience of working in areas that represent pullman, L-shape, and U-shape arrangement of equipment. Cupboard and cabinet units illustrate the latest in shelf arrangement, lighting, storage, and working surfaces.

Miss Edith G. Grundmeir, instructor in charge of the meal management classes, describes the value of the project by saying, "The meal management laboratory will give added interest and efficiency to the courses that are based on conservation of time, energy, and money in the preparation of meals."

FOOD — FUN

NUTRITION CLASS STUDIES CHILD

The family nutrition group of girls in the Home Economic's department of Stout has been concerning itself lately with the nutrition and preparation of food for the child aged two to five.

One of the girls' duties is to find out what the basic nutritional requirements are of children of that age. After gaining that information, they must learn to fix the food so it will attract the child. By their putting this food into various forms and shapes, the child will get his nutritional requirements and will also enjoy eating to a greater extent.

Tiny drinking mugs are used for milk, and dishes which are brightly enameled serve to attract the children's fancy.

This course is very necessary for college girls. Someday they will have children of their own, and their knowing just what nutritional requirements are necessary for small tots will help.

BLUE DEVILS SEEK FOURTH WIN

LAST CONFERENCE GAME FOR STOUT ELEVEN

Team Plays Oshkosh Teachers At Tittian Homecoming Game Saturday Afternoon

The rampaging Stout football team will seek to extend its winning streak to four straight games, in Saturday's encounter with Oshkosh Teachers college. The Titan homecoming game, which is Stout's last conference fray of the season, will be played on the Oshkosh college field, starting at 2:00 p.m.

Oshkosh will field the largest, heaviest, overall team the Blue Devils have faced this year. The Titans depend on Lautenschlager at halfback and Lukey at quarterback to bear the brunt of their offensive punch. Both of these men are fast, tricky runners and flip the ball with equal skill from a combination "A" and "T" formation. The line boasts an outstanding pass catcher and all-around star in Erban, who plays end.

Stout may be weakened by the possible loss of center Dale Diggerness, who sustained an ankle injury in the Superior game; however, latest reports have it that the injury is responding to treatment and hopes are high that "Digger" will be in the starting lineup come Saturday afternoon.

A large delegation of Stout fans expected to make the trip, together with the rooters at home, will be pulling for the Blue Devils to return to Menomonie with another conquest.

SPORTS LISTED FOR GIRLS IN PHY ED

Women physical education students, under the direction of Mrs. Ann Fahrman and Dean Keturah Antrim, are enrolled in a variety of such sports as soccer, badminton, volleyball, swimming, and body-building.

"Soccer," says Mrs. Fahrman, "is not only the most interesting, but also the most strenuous class. At first the girls moaned and groaned about having to go way down to Nelson field for class, but now they like it."

Tournaments are being run in badminton, and the rules and techniques of good volleyball are being taught in the volleyball classes. Diving is one of the popular activities of the swimming students. "One day the girls were all red from hitting the water, but they just went back for more." The general run of complaints was not about the belly flops suffered, but rather of the cold water in the pool.

Dean Antrim stresses health and posture in her body-building course, a freshman requirement. Good posture, according to Miss Antrim, is that position of the body in which it can do its best work with least effort. Standards of body perfection are taught, and measurements and weights are recorded at the beginning and end of the course to indicate improvement. Posture pictures point out weaknesses and show areas of improvement. Good carriage is also stressed, and help is given in taking off and putting on weight as needed.

BLUE DEVILS WIN VICTORY FOR THEIR DADS

Stout's Strong Team Wins Third Conference Game From Superior 35-19

The Blue Devils of Stout Institute out-thought, out-played, and out-scored a highly-rated Superior State Teacher's college eleven by a devastating 35 to 19 score, Saturday night, at Nelson field. It was the third conference win for Stout against two losses. Fathers of the Blue Devil team watched the exciting game from the players bench.

The fleet-footed runs of halfback Vern Christenson and the teeth-rattling line plunges of fullback Harter Peterson were the causes of Superior's gloomy trip home. Christenson averaged 8.3 yards per try, while Peterson averaged 4.3 yards. Peterson, however, carried the mail 23 times while the most tries for any other back-field man were seven. He gained consistently by plunging through the line.

Bob Young, playing his last home game, averaged 6 yards per try; Walker, 6.3; Laustad, 4.3; and Kieffer, 2.8.

The Blue Devils pitched 13 aerials and completed seven, but the talented right arm of Gale Woelffer let loose nine passes and connected with six, three which scored touchdowns. The educated toe of Young placed five straight extra points between the uprights.

Credit for the win also can be credited to the Stout forward wall, which held the Superior ground game to a virtual standstill. Ooley, Wentorf and Basile again led the hard-charging Blue Devil line.

Neither team threatened to score in the final minutes of the game, although Superior attempted desperately to connect with a pass. The Stout pass defense of Pollock, Thorpe, and Young, however, prevented any completions. During the game, the Yellowjackets attempted 16 passes and completed only five.

DAD'S DAY IS BIG DAY FOR ALL

Full Program Provides Entertainment For "S" Club And Guests

Dads and sponsors of Stout's football players, participating in the "S" club's third annual Dad's Day, enjoyed a full program of activity prior to and during Stout's football game with Superior, last Saturday, October 29.

Activity began at 12:00 noon with the Dad's Day dinner and entertainment. The program, under the leadership of Mr. Ralph Betterley, master of ceremonies, consisted of a welcome address by Dean Bowman; music by the Disorganized Four, Mr. Betterley, Mr. Soderberg, Dr. Agnew, and John Rowe; the S club's welcome by Ed Nylund; a father's views by their representative, Herman Potthast; a football captain's views by Bob Young and Fred Wentorf; the coaches view by Arnold Potthast, Wallace Hamberger, and Tony Storti; a talk by Mr. Chinnock; and singing of the Alma Mater. Music for the program was provided by Don Braem's orchestra.

Upon conclusion of the dinner, fathers and sponsors gathered outside the Home Economics building for a group picture.

After the taking of the picture, tours of the various shops in the industrial arts and trades buildings were conducted by members of the S club for all fathers and sponsors interested in making the tour.

RAY WRITES ARTICLE ON "WEEK-END CABIN"

"A Week-end Cabin," an article written by Dr. J. Edgar Ray, teacher of bricklaying and architecture at Stout, has been published in the September, 1949, issue of the Industrial Arts and Vocational Education magazine.

The article, which includes detail drawings and a photograph, describes thoroughly a cabin which is located on the banks of the Red Cedar river Menomonie, Wisconsin. The cabin was built by Dr. Ray and students from his bricklaying classes. In building his cabin, the students gained a good deal of practical experience in laying bricks. They learned many skills which they could not have learned in the shop or laboratory.

REV. RIEMERR TO SPEAK AT SCF MEETING

Rev. Riemerr, pastor of the Stanley Methodist church, will speak at the Stout Christian Fellowship meeting Wednesday, November 9. A short program starting at 8:30 p.m. will precede the address, and refreshment will follow.

The meeting will be held in the club rooms on the third floor of the gymnasium. Everyone is invited to attend.

COVEY'S CORNER

The Blue Devils ended their home schedule with a show of force, in a clash with the Yellow Jackets of Superior; after the running, passing, blocking, tackling, and general all-around class showed by Storti's team, the local football fans left the field wondering how the Blue Devils could have been beaten this fall.

Stout's team looked like a powerhouse and their hard playing of the previous week held over for this important conference game. Stout's losses to Eau Claire and River Falls put the Blue Devils behind LaCrosse and Stevens Point, both of whom have only one loss.

Stout scored against Superior on passes from Gale Woelffer to Vaughn Stai, Bob Young, and Dom (Father) Cataldi; and on runs by Harter Peterson and Vern Christensen. Bob Young converted on all five touchdowns to give the 35 points.

Individual Scoring for Season

Bob Young	32 pts.
Dom Cataldi	24
Vaughn Stai	24
Harter Peterson	12
Vern Christensen	12
Bill Keiffer	6

The passing didn't steal the show because of the hard running by the Stout backs and the blocking linemen who paved the way for the backs. Harter Peterson at fullback was the offensive workhorse and Pete's friends from Superior had a hard time holding him down. During the game, the Superior coach watched Harter go through the Yellow Jacket line for five yards; then he commented that Pete was really a fullback.

Vern Christensen was the elusive halfback that brought the crowd to its feet on a couple of occasions. Vern's sharp playing holds promise for some great future showings by this freshman. Freshmen backs Red Walker and Louie Lausted displayed hard running from half and fullback and gained nice yardage against Superior.

Outstanding in the line, playing before their Dads and in their last home game, were Fred Wentorf and Jim Ooley. Both men turned in a fine full game; one of Storti's headaches next year will be replacing these two fine linemen who can take it as well as dish it out in the game.

On defense, good games were turned in by John Debrauske and Herb Markley at ends, and Tiny Norman at tackle. Backing the line and rough on defense were backs Ken Hobolich and Bill Thorpe.

Nov. 5	Oshkosh State			There
Nov. 11	Upper Iowa U			There

League leaders Stevens Point and LaCrosse gained impressive victories last week. Stevens Point defeated Oshkosh 40 to 14. LaCrosse rebounded from their defeat by Stout to trounce Milwaukee 34 to 13. River Falls played Eau Claire to a 7 to 7 tie in Eau Claire's homecoming. Platteville defeated Whitewater 20 to 14.

Tomorrow the Blue Devils finish off their conference schedule at Oshkosh. A win by Storti's men will keep Stout near the top of the conference. Oshkosh has one of the biggest teams in the conference, so the game will not be a pushover. The Blue Devils will have to continue playing the same ball as they have the last two weekends; if they do, they will have a victory.

BASKETBALL

The basketball practice got under way last Monday, October 31. Coach Johnson said the basketball players on the football squad will report for basketball on the 14th of November. The first game scheduled is at St. Mary's college, November 26th.

COTY LECTURER AT NOVEMBER LYCEUM

Sportsman, naturalist, explorer, photographer, and lecturer, Victor Coty will appear at the Stout Auditorium, Friday, November 18, at 8:00 p.m.

Coty portrays the glories of America, its fascinating wild life, scenic grandeur and thrilling sports.

To bring the outdoors indoors, Victor Coty has ranged far and wide over America since his graduation from Princeton university in 1926. He is recognized as our foremost outdoor photographer; his color films have been likened to a succession of exquisite oil paintings, full of the joy and beauty of outdoor life.

Interwoven with action thrills are views of birds, animals, wild flowers, sunsets, rainbows, and the wilder aspects of the outdoors.

A few of his appearances have been at Cornell university, Woman's Club of Wisconsin, Geographic Society of Chicago, City Club of Milwaukee, plus a great many others.

The comments made by the Yale club of New York City were that Coty's pictures were the only ones they had seen which projected into reality the actual atmosphere surrounding shooting and fishing. Members said that the shots were artistically excellent from an objective point of view and gave spectators the sensation of being personally present at what was being seen on the screen.

DR. OETTING APPOINTED TO FACULTY CREDIT COMMITTEE

Appointment of Dr. Eric R. Oetting as a member of the Credit and Admissions committee of the college has been announced by President Verne C. Fryklund.

Dr. Oetting is head of the Stout department of education, and chairman of psychology.

Tacky Drag Scene Of Many, Varied Costumes

Sigma fraternity held its annual Tacky Drag dance, Saturday night, November 5, at the Stout gym. Highlighting this event was the presentation of awards to the couples wearing the tackiest costume. First prize of five dollars was awarded to the couple dressed like Negroes, Gerry Erickson and Dick Duthler. Second and third prizes went to the tackiest dressed boy and girl, Nadine Brown and Eugene Sawyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Agnew acted as chaperones for the dance. Music was furnished by the Royal Black Hawks. Apple cider, dispensed from an improvised still, was served throughout the evening.

BLIND SPEAKER ADDRESSES CONVOCATION

Dr. Roy, Hindu Philosopher, Speaks To Students On Progress Of India

Addressing the Stout student assembly on Wednesday, November 9, Dr. S. C. Roy, blind Hindu philosopher, in his lecture entitled "India on the Threshold of Democracy," presented an enlightening account of India's progress since she obtained her independence in 1947.

Almost making the audience forget his handicap, Dr. Roy spoke sometimes extemporaneously and sometimes with the aid of notes. In the latter he would run his hands over his manuscript, extracting meanings with a trained sense of touch.

He emphasized India's wonderful progress in the last two years in which she has created understanding between all peoples of India, established herself as a state, adopted a democratic constitution, introduced a system of nation-wide currency, utilized natural resources, and taken steps to improve health and education.

Dr. Roy further stated that "democratic ideas are always a pursuit for us human beings. Though we can never become completely democratic, history has shown that we can lose democracy entirely."

"In order to improve democracy, we must think more in terms of moral and spiritual growth rather than material and technical advance."

SSA MESSAGE

Fellow Students,

As we look back at the football season, we find that it was quite successful. The boys worked hard, and congratulations are in order. The whole student body can show its appreciation if it shows up at the next student assembly, when the team will be congratulated formally by a student representative.

As we look ahead, we see that the basketball season is nearly underway. Already, the boys have put in many hours of hard work. They are planning on a successful season and they would like to know that all the students are behind them. We can best show this by turning out for the pep assemblies and then at the games, really cheering the boys on to victory.

Next season, the new gym will make it possible for the entire student body to witness the home games and see Stout win. Unfortunately, this season, only about five-hundred students can help pull Stout through to victory at each game. The method employed to get seats for the games will be the same as that used last year. Reserve seat tickets can be obtained at the SSA window at the hours posted before each game on a "first come, first serve" basis. Those students who are fortunate enough to receive tickets can best show their appreciation by joining in with the cheerleaders and really cheering.

To date, the organizations have done a service to the student body through the swell dances that they have sponsored. Also, the student body should be commended for the way they have accepted and participated in these events.

The Stout Rifle club promises a good time to everyone who turns out for its dance this week-end. They say, "You'll have to be there to appreciate it."

Next week-end brings the first formal of the school year. It has been customary for Sig Tau to sponsor a fall formal each year. This year is no exception; however, they have changed the theme to "Rose of Sigma Tau." They hope to make it one of the outstanding social events of the year.

Let's plan to attend the dance tomorrow night, the assembly on Wednesday, and the formal next week-end.

FIFTY STUDENTS NEEDED TO HAVE "400" STOP

According to the depot agent, the "400" will not stop at Menomonie Junction unless there are at least fifty or more students and faculty who will take the train. It is advised that if persons wish to take the "400" this Thanksgiving vacation, they should sign up in Dean Bowman's office. If enough sign up for the train to stop, it will stop at the junction at 4 p.m., Wednesday, November 23.

V. FRYKLUND, C. BOWMAN TO CONFAB

President Verne C. Fryklund and Dean Clyde A. Bowman are attending the thirty-sixth annual meeting of the Industrial Arts conference, being held at Hotel La Salle, Chicago, November, 10-12.

Dr. Fryklund is general chairman of the event, and Dean Bowman will participate in conference activities.

Topics which will be discussed by panel groups during the conference include Student Teaching in Industrial Arts, Industrial Arts in Relation to "Terminal Education," Air Age Education and Industrial Arts, and The Problem Solving Method in Industrial Arts Teaching.

Chairmen of the panel groups are DeWitt Hunt, Oklahoma A&M; Homer J. Smith, University of Minnesota; Victor Randel, Huntsville State Teachers college; Chris Groneman, Texas A&M; and W. C. Bicknell, Southern Illinois university.

RIFLE CLUB TO AWARD TURKEY AT DANCE

One Tom turkey will be awarded to some lucky person who attends the Muzzle Loader's brawl, Saturday, November 12. The all-school dance is sponsored by the Stout Rifle club as an annual event.

Dancing begins at 8:30 p. m. in the Stout gym. Admission is 35 cents per person.

Posters advertising the dance were made up on regulation targets used by the Stout sharpshooters in their practices and matches. Curt Howard, Rifle club president, invites "all you chilluns to bring your slick chicks."

First All-School Formal Features Crowning Of Queen; Pingel To Play

"Rose of Sigma Tau," the first all-school formal of the year, is to be held in the gym at 8:30 p.m., Saturday, November 19.

The dance music will be provided by the Jack Pingle orchestra. Tickets for the formal are now on sale in the H. E. corridor at $1.25 per couple.

Milton Miller, president of Sigma Tau Gamma, extends an invitation for all to attend this first formal so they might witness the coronation of the first "Rose of Sigma Tau," and take part in the grand march following.

A special invitation is given to the freshmen by the Sig Tau president, who encourages them to become acquainted with the formals held at Stout.

"Our formals are not strictly formals," Mr. Miller explained, "but semi-formals; by this we mean that men may wear either tuxes or suits; the girls wear formals."

Again, in behalf of the entire STG fraternity, Mr. Miller urged all who could possibly attend to be sure not to miss the "Rose of Sigma Tau" formal.

HOUGHTON TO ASSIST SECRETARY-TREASURER

Bob Houghton was elected assistant secretary-treasurer of Theta chapter, Epsilon Pi Tau, at the supper meeting, October 31. Entertainment consisted of a quiz game and movies.

After partaking of supper in the tea room, members of Theta chapter took up the important task of electing a new assistant secretary-treasurer. This is considered one of the most important positions in the chapter. The assistant secretary-treasurer is elected to work with the secretary-treasurer for one year, after which he moves up and a new assistant is elected. This system gives each assistant a year of training with an experienced person before he must assume full responsibility.

During the past year, the duties of secretary-treasurer have been in the hands of Stephen Grudichak, who has been assisted by Gordon Wasinger. Gordon will now take over full responsibility, while Robert Houghton will begin to familiarize himself with the many duties of the secretary-treasurer.

Dean Clyde A. Bowman spoke of Dr. Gordon O. Wilber's comments on how well the affairs of Theta chapter were being carried out. Dean Bowman went on to say that he had explained to Dr. Wilber, that one of the reasons for a well-run organization can be traced back to the over-lapping of duties, such as are shared by the assistant secretary-treasurer and the secretary-treasurer. The dean also directed a word of encouragement to Robert Houghton and warned Bob that he had a high tradition to uphold.

A quiz game, directed by Warren Thomas, followed the election. Dean Merle M. Price went down swinging on a question concerning the bag limit of perch in Wisconsin. Each round of the elimination contest took its toll, with the end result that Gordon Wasinger and Lee Bedsted emerged undefeated. The two men were awarded prizes of fishing tackle.

To finish up the evening in grand style, the members were treated to movies. The first was a symphony of color and music named Fiddle De Dee. The second was the Story of Gasoline.

MID SEMESTER TESTS MARK END OF FIRST QUARTER

Mid semester tests were given to students this past week. These tests mark the end of the first quarter of school. In semester courses, these tests are given to check the students' progress; in quarter courses, tests are given to conclude the course.

DEAN BOWMAN INSPECTS WAUSAU SCHOOL

New Wing Will Add Space For Classrooms And Departments

Dean Clyde A. Bowman traveled to Wausau Wisconsin, on Friday, October 28, to visit the new units of the Central high school which are under construction.

Dean Bowman, together with superintendent of schools in Wausau, G.W. Bannerman; Principal Boettcher of the Central high school; and Chairman of Industrial Arts Gjetson, examined the new wing of the school now under construction. The wing will provide for addition of classrooms, an auditorium, music and art departments and industrial arts and agriculture shops.

The industrial arts shops include facilities for general graphic arts, general woodworking, general metals, aviation and auto mechanics, general electricity, and general drafting.

Industrial arts in Wausau begins in the elementary school. In the sixth grade, principles of elementary industrial arts are taught; they continue through the junior high school. With the completion of the new wing, industrial arts will continue through the senior high.

These new units which are under construction follow long-range building plans. It is hoped that the program can keep pace with the growing school enrollment. The addition of these new units will give a very well-balanced program of industrial arts from the sixth grade through the twelfth grade.

In the afternoon, through arrangements made by Eiffel A. Holm, director, and Lawrence B. Hogt, assistant director and coordinator of trade and industry, Dean Bowman visited in the school of vocational and adult education. This school, which was formerly housed in the central school, is gradually moving into a remodeled factory building. It was remodeled to furnish very efficient, up-to-date facilities for vocational classes.

The school provides opportunities in home service, trade and industry, commercial, business, and agricultural pursuits.

The opportunities in trade and industry include carpentry, electricity, millwork, plumbing, sheet metal, auto mechanics, painting and decorating, drafting, printing, radio, and cosmology.

The development of the facilities in the newly-acquired building has been on a functional basis, with all of the installations made in terms of their specific instructional uses.

The development of the general education and vocational educational facilities in Wausau brings an up-to-date, forward-looking program of educational opportunities for the youth and adults in that area.

THE DIE IS CAST

Well! here it is—the end of the quarter and exams for nine-week courses are past. Some students wrote their final examination confident and well prepared; others have passed on a wing and a prayer. For better or for worse the die is cast for the first nine weeks.

Are you up to par in your semester courses? If you are not, this nine week's mid-point is a good time to turn over a new leaf and bring up your grade average. Keep up in your daily class work. You know, as well as we, that keeping up-to-date in subjects is far better than "end of the semester" cramming. Start now to build up your knowledge and you can end the semester with a volley of information that spells success in any course.

ARMISTICE — 1949

Twenty-one years ago today an important document was signed to end all hostilities between worldly powers. The document signed on November 11, 1918, was an Armistice to put an end to the first World War, and was designed to create a peaceful world once more. At that time another war was far from everyone's mind, but as history shows, war was not an impossibility.

A second world war came less than three decades following the first World War. On the basis of the above facts, many important questions arise in the minds of the people of the world: "Can we prevent war?" "When will another war begin?" These questions and many more cannot be answered by anyone.

Many of us, now students here at Stout, remember the last war from our participation as service men and women, as workers in defense plants, or as other similar contributors. It is true that war is not a pleasant thought in the minds of people, but it is a subject that should not be left as something that "can't be helped." To us, as American citizens, is given the job of governing ourselves either directly or indirectly. A nation which is engaged in war

Hi Gang,

Here we are again trying to make an honest nickel. We must say that was quite a dance last weekend. And all the nifty dressed couples, too. We looked twice at some of the masqueraders to make sure who they were.

Right away quick before we forget it we must mention the best dressed couple of the night. Jerry Erickson and Dick Duthler sure looked neat in their black-face outfit. There is one couple that has been going quite steadily these past few weeks.

Two more interesting couples we saw cavorting around the gym last week were Bob Houghton, alias "Cop" and Bev Struck, alias "Jailbird"; and Don Bredahl and Grace Leavens. Grace is a stenographer at the dear old Institute. Don has been noticed giving Grace the famous look for weeks past now.

Noticed Jerry Larsen at the dance too. Jerry was escorting a girl of the opposite sex. The girl's name is Pat Peck, for your information. A nice looking couple too.

Noticed a few married couples at the dance too. Ardelle and Warren Fish attended in full regalia along with Mary and Marv Lundin. Mary Lundin, a Stout alumna, has been teaching for over a year, away from Marv. Poor Marv.

Many of the engaged couples at the dance were in body only. Their minds were miles away. Francis Knight and Bob Gray seemed to be the only ones concentrating on the dance. Ruth Samdahl and Bill Petryk are now one of the lucky couples.

SCOOP: News of the year. We were just informed that Ruby Jarmen is now engaged. Congratulations, Ruby. And all along she has been telling us that she is a man-hater. Well, it is a woman's privilege to change her mind.

Dean Price was at the dance last week too. He didn't stay very long, however. He was buried in a hail of corn and he doesn't like corn so he is a sick nation which needs help, and we as self-governing citizens of a peaceful nation should be on guard to maintain a world of well nations.

Today the Armistice which was signed twenty-one years ago has taught a lesson and also has shown right ways of thinking for all the nations concerned. To many persons, the Armistice means just a national holiday, but in the true sense Armistice Day should recall the end put to the loss of human lives and should be a memorial for those who sacrificed so much that we may live in a free world.

CARE NEEDS YOU

For delivery of overseas packages before Christmas, you must send them now through C A R E. The delivery of other parcels to overseas families cannot be guaranteed before Christmas.

There are many families in Europe and other foreign countries that are still suffering from the last war. Your packages to them show that they are not fighting the battle of poverty alone but that you, as part of a democratic nation, are helping combat suffering.

The sending of packages to families overseas has many purposes, the main one being the alleviation of suffering of those in dire need of help from a strong independent nation. Other phases to be considered are the promotion of goodwill between the peoples of the United States and foreign nations. With the constant threat of communism spreading over Europe and Asia, these families turn to whoever will help them to survive.

Imagine yourself in the position of these people who are in great need of food and clothing; what would be your alternative? Would it be that you would turn to a nation that promised help left. Can't say we blame him.

Saw that Russ Gerber and Donna McDonough were having a gay old time on the Newman club hayride last Friday night. They escaped my surveillance after the ride so I can't tell what happened when they left.

We understand that Paul Revord and Pete Schellinger volunteered for clean-up detail after the hayride. If they keep this up they might turn out to be good housewives. Roberta Hutchinson and Joan Davidson were on hand to see that the boys did their work satisfactorily. We guess that they did or they might still be there.

Dale Maxey and Jean Archie spent Sunday afternoon just walking enjoying the beautiful weather. By the way Dale, whom were you out with Sunday night? ? ?

Some of the boys were complaining about Henry Tall's speech performances. It seems that Hank was so taken up with the preparation for his speech that he went around in the middle of the night reciting his speech.

Helen Kenna and Dick Pederson were another of the many couples on the hayride. Say Dick, what was the blanket for?

It is about time we cornered Don Landsverk. Don has been with Pat Pagel steadily these past weeks, and he has also been corresponding and sending the Stoutonia to Kathryn Chambers quite regularly. What's up Don? ? ? Some got it and some ain't, and then there is us.

STOP, LOOK, and LISTEN: Harter Peterson has a car and we feel it is only fair to warn the girls that the last game of the season is coming up and then Harter will be back in circulation. Get ready, girls.

Well, I'm dreaming of a white new years. And I hope that you are too. See you next week, but never got around to doing it, or would you turn to a nation that would provide food and clothing for your support of their form of government—Communism?

Key and Hole

Today, more than ever before, this very thing is taking place all over the world in nations that are poverty stricken and helpless against forces of this nature.

Everyone can participate in this drive for a more democratic world where freedom is guaranteed all people on an equal basis.

The reward for sending packages to the needy is the personal satisfaction that you yourself derive from knowing that you have helped someone in need of food and clothing.

Weather Beautiful!
Hunting Fine?

Stout fellows have turned out in full force this fall to see how many of our little feathered friends they can bring home to the cook pot. The hunting has been fair for some hunters, but very bad for others. The reports from hunters say that geese and ducks are plentiful, but that pheasants are very scarce. Some of the fellows have been out for squirrels and other small game as well as for birds.

Don Winters went out to Irvington and bagged a couple of fox and a few squirrels. Don is hoping for "better" luck, while some fellows are just wishing for "luck."

Gerhardt, Jeatran, and Miller were out near Tainter lake and came home with a few geese.

Tank and McKay seem to be the most fortunate. They bagged their limit of ducks.

Don Fahrman reports fair success. Bud Ryder has been giving the deer a hard time with his bow and arrow. At least he has tried. It seems brush and distance have foiled his attempts so far.

COOS BY WALLY PIGEON

Hello All You Nice People,

As I brush the cobwebs off some of these jokes, I wish to thank you readers for reading my column, and I hope that you are enjoying these clean jokes. By clean jokes, I mean the ones that I am allowed to insert in this column, because the good jokes are omitted through a very careful rejection process used by my censors and yours truly, Wally Pigeon.

If some of you are in doubt as to how your names appear in these jokes from time to time, well the answer is that through the able assistance of my ghost writers, you may become a topic of one of these jokes, that is if you are fortunate.

John Yount: "We must think of the future. We ought to economize more. If I were to die where would you be?"

Beth: "Why, I'd be right here. The question is where would you be?"

This may be old material, but it will fill this space, anyway. When the freshman returned a volume of Shakespeare to the library he was asked what he thought of the writing. "I don't see why people make such a fuss over his work. All he has done is bring together a bunch of old well-known quotations."

As you read these jokes for this week, I hope that you will enjoy them even if your name is connected with some of them. So remember that the joke is only a joke and that other people are in the same boat and that some of them too are laughing at these jokes. So smile, my dear readers; ooh these writer's cramps!!

Uncle Luke, the town character was 80 years old.

"Don't you hate to grow old?" he was asked.

"Heck, no," said he. "If I wasn't old I'd be dead."

Margaret Perry: "Don't you think it odd that a man's arm is usually equal to the circumference of a girl's waist?"

Ralph Smith: "Let's get a string and see."

Dr. O'Neill: "How's that student who swallowed the half dollar yesterday?"

Mrs. Plonsky: "No change yet, doc."

Spano: "She turned off all the lights except one funny little greer table light."

Holub: "Then what happened?"

Spano: "Well . . . I thought I meant go ahead, but it just mean' go!"

Dominating father: "Why were you kissing my daughter in that dark corner?"

Gene Landgraf: "Now that I've seen her in the light, I sort of wonder myself."

The moon was yellow, the lane was bright,
As she turned to me in the night.
Every gesture and every glance
Gave the hint that she craved romance.

I stammered, I stuttered, and time went by —
The moon was yellow, and so was I

There would be a great many more brunettes in this country if so many hadn't dyed.

A Menomonie landlord was quizzing a prospective college student as a tenant. "You know," he said, "we keep it very quiet and orderly here. Do you have any noisy friends?"

"No."

"A radio or record player?"

"No."

"Do you play any musical instrument? Do you have a dog, cat, or some kind of pet?"

"No, but my fountain pen scratches sometimes."

John Wooley: "Did you ever take chlorform?"

Bob Blaessing: "No, who teaches it?"

Mr. Jarvis: "I believe that you missed my class yesterday."

Gordy Nooyen: "Why, no, I didn't. Not in the least."

As a Stout student came out of a tavern, he was stopped by a professor and the following incident occurred.

Professor: "Young man, do you know who I am?"

The high-spirited student: "No, sir, but if you remember your address, I'll take you home."

APO REPRESENTATIVES ATTEND CONCLAVE

Representatives of Stout's Eta Kappa chapter attended the state conclave of Alpha Phi Omega, national service organization, at the University of Wisconsin, Saturday, October 29.

Gerald Greischar, Marvin Friebe, and Dean M. M. Price, adviser of the chapter, drove to Madison together with the school's representatives of the student council, who also held a meeting at the university that weekend.

APO activities began at nine o'clock Saturday morning with a tour of the campus under the direction of the host chapter. Dr. Doren Wehrley, Milwaukee, state chairman, presided over the meetings throughout the conclave, the first of which was held in the Education and Engineering building. At this meeting, a representative of each chapter gave a report of the service activities being carried out at his own school.

Professor Daniel Den Uyl of Omega, gave an address on "Better Understanding among Men," emphasizing fellowship.

The group had their noon luncheon at the old Madison room of the student union, followed by the afternoon session held in the same room. Again representatives of each chapter made up a round table where the background of the organization was discussed. Professor Den Uyl gave some interesting facts on the origin of the organization. Informal discussion followed, with the round table answering the question brought up by the group.

Questions and problems were brought up to the general assembly in a manner by which each chapter could benefit. It was brought out that APO is not a fraternity, but rather a service organization, and it should not be considered as competition for social fraternities. It was also brought out that the organization adopts service projects but the schools should not expect APO to be an agency for odd jobs about the school. The meeting adjourned at four o'clock.

The men from The Stout Institute were guests of Dick Hiles, president of the Madison chapter, on Saturday night while they waited for the members of the student council meeting, which extended into Sunday. The men felt that the meeting gave them some valuable information from which their chapter can benefit.

LSA RETREATS TO GUSTAVUS FOR CONFAB

On Friday night, November 4, twenty-eight Stout students, together with Miss Lillian Frogatt and Miss Myrtle Strand, left for Gustavus Adolphus college in Saint Peter, Minnesota, to attend the annual LSA conference held on the Gustavus campus this year.

The students left on a chartered bus about five-thirty p. m., and after stopping in Shakopee, Minnesota, for supper, they arrived at Gustavus Adolphus about ten-thirty. A fireside song fest was just beginning as the students from Stout arrived. After the song fest, the group registered, and were assigned rooms in the newly-erected dorms. These dorms, built in modern design, accommodate approximately one thousand students.

On Saturday morning, after a delicious breakfast, all participating students were led in morning meditation by Mr. Bryce Shoemaker of Augsburg college. About ten o'clock, the Bible study groups met and held discussions until noon. The conference then adjourned until the six o'clock banquet, because of the homecoming football game at St. Olaf college in Northfield, Minnesota.

At the banquet festivities, Stout was proud to have the largest delegation other than that of Gustavus Adolphus. Short speeches were given by regional officers and others, follow-

STOUTONIA HAS HALLOWEEN PARTY

Staff Members Celebrate Holiday With Traditional Apple-Ducking

Members of the Stoutonia staff gathered for a halloween party at St. Joseph's school hall, Monday evening, October 31.

As a damp opener for the evening, the traditional game of ducking for apples was played. As to who got the wettest during the ducking, see Mr. Fleming for further information. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fleming and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Whydowski were willing participants throughout the evening's activities. Relay races such as clothes pin, paper, broom and the passing of life savers with tooth picks made an evening of hilarious and riotous entertainment.

A hearty appetite was worked up by all in the balloon-breaking contest, which ended in a three-way tie. Each boy had to protect his partner's balloon, which was tied to her ankle, from being broken by other aggressive opponents. The boys naturally had to remove their shoes as a protection for the ladies participating. Many of the over-aggressive male participants were seen limping around the campus the next day.

A sumptuous buffet supper of spaghetti with sauce, salad, rolls, cakes, candy, and coffee was served following the evening's activities. At the close of the party, which was an enjoyable evening for all, Mr. Fleming excused the girls and very persuasively asked for male volunteers to assist in the clean-up program.

Kay Zeilm, Betty Erickson, Bob Berg, Don Straw and Tony Buekner served on the arrangement committee.

Games for the active evening were handled by Mary Lou Bohrnstedt, Bernadine Gunderman, Audrey Porter, Gerry Erickson, Francis Oberpriller, George Stephenson, and Dave Bieniasz.

Procuring of food supplies and preparation of the buffet supper were under the supervision of Jerry Pleczynski, Kay Thurston, Bernice Danzinger, Jeanne Sand, Art Piner, and Jim Cook.

The committees worked together with Mr. Fleming to plan the successful halloween party.

ing the banquet, and records from the National Ashram at Interlochen, Michigan, were played to the delight of everyone present.

The evening address was given by the Rev. E. Clifford Nelson in the college chapel. This address was followed by another campfire song fest.

On Sunday morning, communion services were held in the chapel, followed by a meeting of the Bible study groups, after which the conference was officially over. Everyone then attended morning worship services at the various churches in downtown Saint Peter.

Those belonging to the second bass section are Fred Fischer, Al Goto, Kall F. Jacobson, Jack Rutherford, Francis Oberpriller, Bob Solberg, Richard Sorenson, Marilyn Tibbetts.

Mr. Frailey announces that the selections for the Christmas concert have been chosen and that rehearsals have begun.

DORM PARTY PROVIDES FUN FOR EVENING

A halloween party for Lynwood's residents and their dates was sponsored, Friday evening, October 28. This is an annual affair, and is always enjoyed by everyone. The chaperones for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Tony Storch, Miss Cecilia Zine, and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Ruehl.

Soon after 8:30, when everyone was present, the entertainment committee took things in hand. Get-acquainted games were played, and it was surprising to see the number of steady couples who were getting acquainted again. Two wash tubs with short-stemmed apples floating in water, kept many faces wet. The stems on some of the apples were so short that a bathing cap had to be used by some in order to secure an apple. The entertainment was handled by Jim Brown, chairman; Tony Buehner, Ernest Collette, and Gary Chang. Dick Jung was chairman of the invitation committee for the party.

SERENADERS VISIT THE DORMITORIES OF STOUT

On Thursday, October 27, Pallas Athene society sponsored their annual autumn "Candlelight Serenade," during which six places were serenaded.

The first stop was the John Carter home where the women faculty of The Stout Institute were attending an A.A.U.W. meeting. The home of the Pallas Athene town adviser, Mrs. George La Pointe, was serenaded next. The singers then proceeded to Tainter hall, Tainter annex, Eichelberger hall, and Lynwood hall.

The society was indicated by each girl wearing a white scarf and carrying a candle in a jar.

HALLOWEEN PARTY IS GIVEN BY WSF

The Wesley Student Fellowship sponsored a Halloween party, Sunday evening, October 30, at the Centenary Methodist church. More than sixty persons attended.

Lon Lobel was food chairman; Noreen Kahl, decoration chairman; and Kay Thurston, recreation chairman. Jo Ann Graney and Dale Maxey assisted in the games.

The church parlors were gaily decorated with orange and black streamers. Pumpkins and corn shocks lined the walls. In the corner was a tub where the braver students dunked for apples.

"Murder," a Siamese foot race, a life save relay, and a singing contest were among the games played.

TEN MATCHES SLATED FOR RIFLE CLUB

Are you interested in shooting? Well, here's your opportunity to get in on some real college sport. The Rifle club shoots every Monday and Friday night at 7:00. Only 22's are used on the indoor range, located on the 4th floor of the IE building.

The club has about 35 active members. The members are organizing teams for intercollegiate competition. The tentative plan is to organize three teams or groups of teams. The first would be one or more freshman teams. The second would be a varsity squad, and another a girls' team. It is said that a good girls' team will out-shoot a men's team.

The club has a schedule of about ten matches in which they will participate. Most of these are postal matches. Postal matches are shot off on the home range and the scores mailed to the opposing team.

MUSIC PERIOD TO BE HELD IN HARVEY

A second program of recorded music will be presented in the Harvey Memorial, Thursday, November 17, at 4:00 p.m. Music from three centuries will be performed: works of Mozart and Haydn will represent the eighteenth century; a work of Tchaikowsky, the nineteenth; and a work of Georges Enesco, the twentieth.

The music of Mozart and Haydn interpret the principles of eighteenth century life which occasion our calling this period the "classic age." In this music are to be found proportion, rhythm, balance, decorum, and elegance—characteristics associated with the age of the powdered wig and courtly splendor.

In the music of the nineteenth century Russian composer Tchaikowsky, the classic emphasis has been replaced by the romantic. No longer is the composer interested merely in creating a beautiful, well-planned composition. Instead, he is interested in interpreting feelings and emotions. That the music of Tchaikowsky abounds in emotional and melodic passages is well proved by the number of times he has made the Hit Parade. "Our Love," "Moon Glow," "Tonight We Love" are but a few of the popular numbers based on his music. There is some truth in the saying that "Everybody makes money from Tchaikowsky's music but Tchaikowsky."

Georges Enesco makes little attempt to run emotion into the ground as did many nineteenth century romanticists. Instead he has chosen to create meaning out of the legends and folk music of his native Roumania.

The complete program follows:

Mozart—"Overture" to the "Marriage of Figaro"

Haydn—"Symphony No. 93, in D Major"

Tchaikowsky—"Romeo and Juliet Overture"

Enesco—"Roumanian Rhapsody No. 1."

These programs are sponsored by the Lyceum committee and are open to all students and faculty members.

WHA' HOPPENED TO MR. FRAILEY'S TOE?

"Ouch, my big toe," said Mr. Charles Frailey. He explained this further when he shed some light on the mystery of the week, "Wha' happened to him?"

Mr. Frailey's big toe has been infected for the last seven weeks, but he hadn't had the infection removed, making it impossible for him to lead the band at all of the football games.

His wife is even happier than he that the infection has been removed, as now she doesn't have to watch her husband soak his feet every night.

"Everything is in fine shape now," said Mr. Frailey, "except that my bandaged foot is too big for a shoe."

MUSICAL TALENT AT FRESHMAN DORMS

You might not realize it but the freshman girls are very talented, musically speaking. The pianos are almost always in use and you can usually find a group of girls gathered around them, harmonizing on their favorite songs.

Occasionally some of the band members bring out their instruments and give a little concert.

The girls at the Annex have even gone as far as to indulge in the fine art of dancing. Besides regular "ballroom dancing," they enjoy doing the polka and schottische.

There was quite a bit of excitement last Sunday night. Some "Peeping Toms" were causing quite a commotion. With the help of the police we finally got rid of the prowlers and by midnight everyone had finally quieted down.

A college education never hurt anyone who was willing to learn something afterwards.

CALL SLIP NOTES FROM THE LIBRARY

Past and present students of secondary education should be interested in the article by Will French, in the November NEA Journal, entitled "Education for All American Youth—Five Years After." The article tells of the success and progress of this famous educational experiment. French says that the project has received the continuous approval of its pupils, as well as the support of the community. In fact, one of the outstanding results of the experiment has been fine lay participation and interest in education, to the extent of the establishment of several parents' councils. Read the article to learn of other results and findings.

Married students with children will enjoy Dorothy Baruch's valuable book, Understanding Your Children. This book, by an authority in child development and an experienced writer, is especially designed for those who do not especially care to read. The book, with its clever illustrations to keep a reader interested, is simply written, and gives a positive approach toward the solution of those problems which all parents encounter at one time or another.

Another new book in the library is The Art Of Readable Writing, by Rudolf Franz Flesch. Expository writing and journalism students will find this book abundant in good advice and anyone who nourishes secret dreams of someday becoming a writer will surely want to give this work by Flesch some careful attention. Flesch also wrote The Art Of Plain Talk, with which many are familiar.

"Because It Rains On Hawaii" is the title of an interesting article found in the November, 1949, issue of the National Geographic Magazine. Accompanied by photographs in natural color, the write-up of the Islands describes the land which the Hawaiian students of Stout call home.

Books on the history of music, opera, listening to music, famous composers, and singers will be found in the next library display, according to library assistant Lorraine Tietz. The books, along with a large colorful poster, "There's Music In The Air," may be found on the table near the library office door.

WSF TO HEAR PARMER SPEAK ON COURTSHIP

Mr. C. Harrison Parmer will be the speaker at the Wesley Student Fellowship meeting, Sunday evening, November 13, at 5:30 p.m., at the Centenary Methodist church.

Mr. Parmer, social science teacher at Stout, will speak on the subject of "Courtship."

C. Harrison Parmer was born in Lancaster, Pennsylvania. He graduated from Franklin-Marshall college in Lancaster, and State Teachers college in Millersville, Pennsylvania, and has completed his course work toward the Ph. D. Mr. Parmer has taught at Pennsylvania State college, Manheim Township high school, and Salisbury Township high school.

CAFETERIA IS POPULAR

Cafe Provides Meeting as Well as Eating Place For Hungry Students

One of the most popular places on the Stout campus is the cafeteria, located in the basement of the Home Economics building.

Everyone who eats at the cafeteria is familiar with the sometimes-long waiting lines, especially at noon, but they are rewarded by the wonderfully nutritious and delicious food they receive.

Another reason for the large number of students eating at the school cafeteria is the fact that they can meet, eat, and talk with many new and old friends.

The cafeteria serves about 600 people a day, with the biggest rush at noon, a smaller number at night, and the smallest number for breakfast.

Miss Mary Killian, cafeteria dietitian, estimated that about 240 pints of milk, 8 gallons of soup, 350 salads, 150 pounds of potatoes, 70 sandwiches, and 400 desserts, not including ice cream, are served daily.

Miss Killian was happy to report the large amount of milk and vegetables consumed daily by the students.

Olga's pastry is the reason for the large amount of dessert chosen by the students. Olga has been at Stout for many years, and her pastries are known all over the state of Wisconsin.

Twenty-five Stout students are employed in the cafeteria as counter girls, bus boys, checkers, cashiers, and dish washers. Some work at various times during the week, and others work on a weekend shift.

They are under the supervision of Miss Killian, cafeteria dietitian, and Miss Hurlburt, assistant dietitian.

Miss Killian has been with Stout for several years, coming here from Denver, Colorado. Miss Hurlburt is new at Stout this year. She has previously been employed at the Menomonee Lakeside Aluminum company.

TWO HAWAIIAN GIRLS START STUDIES HERE

Four years without going home is the prospect in store for two new Stout freshmen girls. They are Michiko Okada and Sumie Doi, from the Hawaiian Islands, who will not return home until their education is finished in the states. These girls flew over four thousand miles to come to The Stout Institute, only to find the student's life to be the same as that which they were accustomed to back home.

A new experience, however, was Stout's homecoming, as Hilo high school, which they both attended, has not sponsored a homecoming. Sumie expressed the opinion that homecoming has been the best event on the college social calendar so far this year.

Sumie is contemplating entering the field of dietetics, and Michiko is majoring in the field of home economics education. However, both plan to return to the islands to practice their respective careers.

Tainter hall is home for these girls, where Mrs. Rebecca Nelson is house-mother.

"Quiet and unassuming, but alert" characterize both Sumie and Michiko. They have adapted themselves to the life here so well that the student body never realizes that Michiko and Sumie are so very far away from home.

HYP SOCIETY TO SELL CHRISTMAS CARDS

Leona Sexe, president of the Hyperian society, announces that the Hyps will soon be selling Christmas cards.

The cards will be of a rough-textured paper with matching envelopes. The picture, printed on glossy paper, is the popular snow scene of the Home Ec. building, a picture that appeared in the 1948 Tower. "The Stout Institute" will be printed below each photo.

"Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year" is the simple but effective greeting to be used.

Orders are to be taken in the hall on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, November 14, 15, and 16. Sample cards will be on a poster.

Question of the Week

What do you think about the record appreciation hour on Thursday afternoons?

George Stegman: I think it is a wonderful thing, and every one enjoyed the first one to the fullest extent.
Jerri Pleszczynski: I enjoyed it very much; it was relaxing for anyone who enjoys music. I couldn't have spent a better hour.

Bob Cesh: I wasn't able to hear it, but I hope they continue.

Marion Saari: I think it is a very good idea. It will help to give the Stout students an appreciation of the better things in life.

Jerry LaBorde: The trouble is it's always classical; there should be some semi-classical, and jazz offerings.

Elaine Anderson: I think it's a good idea, only I have classes all afternoon. I think it should be held in the evening.

Irene Tiller: I think it is a good thing for those students who appreciate music and aren't able to join one of the music groups on the campus.

Frank Tank: I like music a little more on the light side. Classical music can be dispensed with.

Don Plale: I think it was a wonderful thing; and there are some of us who don't have radios and like to listen to music.

Red Kendall: I think it is a very good idea, but they should include some real jazz.

ORCHESTRA REHEARSALS BEGIN NOVEMBER 2

Rehearsals for the Stout orchestra began on Tuesday, November 2. The orchestra will continue to meet regularly every Tuesday night at eight o'clock.

At present they are rehearsing "The Song of Christmas," by Fred Waring. The orchestra will also accompany the Symphonic Singers on the "Hallelujah Chorus," and for the community singing at the Christmas program.

The Stout orchestra consists of twenty members but "we always welcome more," states Mr. Frailey.

Officers of the organization are Bob Braun, president; David Johnson, vice president; and Patricia Kruase, secretary-treasurer.

WESLEY GROUP TO ATTEND STATE MEET

More than sixteen members of the Stout Wesley Student Fellowship will attend the annual fall conference of the Methodist Student Movement, held at Superior, Wisconsin, November 11, 12, and 13.

The theme of the conference is "The Campus Challenge to the Christian Faith." Dr. Gen Olds, of Garret Biblical institute, will be the main speaker.

A regular business meeting was held on Sunday evening, November 6, at the Centenary Methodist church. President Lorton Layman read the revised constitution.

Jean Winsor, food chairman, was in charge of the meal preparation. The lunch consisted of baked hot dish, bread and butter, salad, milk, and cookies.

Ann Banker was in charge of the worship service, and Ramona Rathbun was in charge of the music.

C. H. PARMER WILL BE THE GUEST SPEAKER FOR WESLEY

Mr. C. Harrison Parmer, teacher of social science at Stout, will be guest speaker at the Wesley Student Fellowship meeting, Sunday evening, November 13. Mr. Parmer will speak on the subject of "Courtship."

Reverend Ralph Reece will be the second speaker of this series. He will speak on "Marriage," November 20.

Meetings of WSF convene at 5:30 Sunday evening at the Centenary Methodist church. Students planning to attend are asked to sign the bulletin board in the home economics corridor.

FAITH AND LIFE IS TOPIC FOR CONGO

"Our Faith and Life," a discussion led by the Rev. John Buran, will highlight the Congo club meeting, Sunday, November 13, at 7:30 p.m., at the First Congregational church, 5th and Wilson.

A game period will precede the discussion, and refreshments will be served by Jean Bulmer and members of her committee.

MANAGEMENT CLASS ENDS TOUR

New Orleans, Colorado, Atlanta Visited; France Next Stop

The members of the applied Institutional Management class, which is better known as the Tea Room group, have completed a mythical four-cornered tour of the United States.

The first city visited was the beauty and glamour of the Three Sisters cafe in New Orleans. Accent was placed on colorful and varied salads.

Estes Park in Colorado was the location of the second tea room offering. The menu cards pictured typical snow-capped mountains, while the menu included the mouth-watering sirloin steaks and broiled trout characteristic of this section of our country.

Traveling eastward, the next tea room menu portrayed Atlantic City with its sea-food and salt water taffy. The well-known board walk was displayed in attractive menu covers.

A slight deviation was made with a halloween buffet prepared and arranged to suit the severest of critics. The menu and decorations were outstanding. The pumpkins and squash centered a picture of foods including individual veal birds, tasty baked tuna casserole, parsley-shoe string carrots, celery hearts, pickles, tiny pumpkin garnishes, jellied orange-pineapple ring mold with cottage cheese and stuffed prunes, man-in-the-moon salads, assorted breads, pumpkin pie with whipped cream, yellow chiffon cake with white icing and orange slices, and cider.

The final stop in the U.S. was at St. Louis. The menu cards were a jolly Negro with a striking gingham bow tie. The menu included barbecued ham, barbecued spareribs, large buns, potato salad with bacon, baked beans, celery sticks, spiced apples, pickles, whipped cream cake, angel pie, and mints.

Half of the class dined at this tea room event to experience the role of a guest.

Miss Mary Killian has supervised the class and shown originality and ability in organizing this group. Miss Hinkley directed the construction of the menu covers. Her talent and ideas appear in the many and varied projects she has undertaken.

NEWMAN CLUB ENJOYS EVENING OF FUN

A hayride held last Friday evening, November 4, beginning at 7:30 p.m., furnished an evening of entertainment for many Newmanites and their friends.

After the hayride there were dancing and refreshments.

The clean-up committee consisted of those remaining at the table the longest.

"A good time was had by all," said Pete Schellinger, one of the club officers.

Completing a crossword puzzle is perhaps the only way some married men can get the last word.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Monkey Business

Three little monkeys in a coconut tree,
Discussing the things as they are said to be;

Said one to the others "Now listen you two,

There is a rumor out that can't be true;

That man descended from our noble race;

The very idea is a bare disgrace.

For no monkey ever deserted his wife
And left her out in this world of strife;

And you've never known a mother monk

To leave her babies with another to bunk,

Or pass them on from one to another,
Till they scarcely knew which was their mother.

And another thing you never will see—

Is a monkey build a fence around a coconut tree,

And let the cocoanuts go to waste,
Forbidding the others to have even a taste;

Now if I build a fence around this tree,

Starvation would force you to steal from me.

And here is another thing a monk won't do—

To go out at night and get on a stew,
Or use a club, a gun or a knife
To take some other poor monkey's life.

Yes, man descended, the ornery cuss,
But brother, he did not descend from us.—Ettrick Advance.

"AUNT SILLY" PRESENTED BY LION'S CLUB

Several Stout students participated in the Menomonie Lion's club benefit performance for the Memorial hospital equipment, Wednesday, November 2. Executive chairman for the event was Thomas Fleming of the college English department.

The play, "Aunt Silly," featured Clarice Zarling, Prudie Johnson, David Rodey, Betty Lou Gibson Sievert, Dick Kruger, and Ann Rudow Chartraw in character roles.

Various speciality acts were presented by local talent as a part of the program. One of the hits of the evening was the Novelaires quartet composed of Stout Institute students. Prudie Johnson, besides taking part in the play, did a baton twirling act and a song. Billed on the program as "Our Hawaiian Friends" were Sumi Doi, Al Goto, Bob Goto, Bob Hirano, Greg Chang, Robert Wong, Eleanor Ushijima, Charles Takahama, Ben Gabriel, Paul Kokubun, James Tomita, and Herb Watanabe who combined to give several songs from the Islands.

Dick Roen and his orchestra provided suitable music before and during the evening's entertainment. Glen Sommers was stage manager. Duane LeBegue and other MAP members assisted beforehand with stage scenery.

PHYSICS III STUDENTS TAKE FIELD TRIP

Physics III members, students of strength of materials, journeyed to the Forest Products laboratory at Madison, Monday, October 17, to observe the lab's methods of testing wood and wood products.

Leaving Menomonie early in the morning in private cars, the students arrived in Madison at approximately 12:30 p.m. At 1:00 p.m., accompanied by Mr. Matthew Reneson, instructor of physics, who handled the trip, they entered the laboratory. Here they were permitted to observe a few of the more than 1,200,000 tests which have been made on wood and its derivatives since establishment of the research institution in 1910.

Tests with which the students became familiar were the strength of different types of airplane coverings, such as masonite, plywood, and aluminum; different types of wood preservatives; methods of using wood wastes, shavings and sawdust; and substitutes of wood for paper making.

The tour lasted until 3:30 p.m., where-upon students climbed in their cars and started their trip back to Menomonie. They arrived in the late evening, content with the thought that the trip was time well-spent.

SCHOOL NURSE AND INFIRMARY CARE FOR ILLS

Mrs. Gertrude Plonsky, R.N., Offers Facilities of College Health Department

Students, have you that down-and-out sick feeling these days? If so, don't hesitate to see Mrs. Gertrude Plonsky at once. The school nurse's office and infirmary are for you.

Mrs. Plonsky, the registered school nurse for The Stout Institute, has her office on the second floor of the Home Economics building. She is a very pleasant person who is willing to help any and all students when they are ill.

For the more serious cases of sickness, the school provides a college infirmary. All students pay a health fee at the beginning of the semester when they register. This allows them to stay in the infirmary the first three days without any charge; after that the cost is $1.50 per day for meals. However, the girls who live in Tainter hall and Tainter annex do not have to pay the $1.50. Their meals have previously been paid for in the dormitory dining hall.

The infirmary is in a large white house on the corner of Fifth street and Ninth avenue. The address is 908 Fifth street. It is located right back of the home management house. Mrs. Plonsky's residence is at the infirmary. She can usually be found there if she isn't in her office at school.

There are facilities for seven to nine patients in the infirmary at one time. If necessary, more cots can be added. The rooms are double with attractive wallpaper and window treatment. The equipment is excellent.

When necessary, the nurse refers students to Dr. John O'Neill, the college physician. Dr. O'Neill's school of office hours are 10:00 to 12:00 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays in the nurse's office.

Remember, students, the school nurse's office and infirmary are for you—if you don't feel up to par, take advantage of these facilities.

FORTY HOMES IN FUTURE FOR CITY

Menomonie will gain forty new, permanent homes if the application of the Menomonie Housing authority for federal aid is approved. The houses would be constructed under the Federal Housing act.

Veterans will be given preference, but only families with incomes of approximately $1800 per year or less will be eligible to rent the homes. Stout students meeting the requirements will be eligible to become tenants of some of these homes. The program will be subsidized by the Federal PHA to the extent of the difference in rent charged and the total cost of operating, including amortization of the entire debt.

Mr. C.L. Rich, chairman of the local housing authority, explained that the homes will be five room buildings and will cost approximately $8500 to construct. According to chairman Rich, a determined effort will be made to build good, sound structures in locations where such buildings will make real homes. It is planned to build on individual lots rather than to build in groups, as was the case of the pre-fab's. The housing authority is making a survey of available building lots in the city at the present time.

The buildings will be rented only and can not be sold until the entire debt has been paid. They are intended to replace temporary housing with permanent homes.

Recently the Menomonie Housing authority applied for transfer of title from the PHA to the Menomonie Housing authority, of the fifty federal units (pre-fab's) under the local authorities' control. This transfer of titles is expected to be completed in November.

C. H. Parmer Was Army Visioaudometrist

"I've only been here ten weeks, but I haven't met a single person in Wisconsin that I haven't liked. I don't believe the old pioneer spirit is dead yet." These words were spoken by Mr. C. Harrison Parmer, a Pennsylvania man. As a visioaudometrist in the Signal corps and Medical corps for two years, Mr. Parmer saw quite a bit of territory as he was moved thirty - four times, but his travels had never taken him to Wisconsin before he became a Stout instructor.

C. Harrison Parmer was born in Lancaster, Pa., graduated from Franklin - Marshall college in Lancaster and State Teachers college in Millersville, Pa., and has completed his course work toward the Ph.D. As a teacher Mr. Parmer taught at Pennsylvania State college, was head of the social science department at Manheim Township high school, and taught social science and mathematics at Salsburg Township high school.

Mr. Parmer is not a man who turns up his nose when his wife passes a dish of fruit or vegetables to him, as his favorite foods include most kinds of fruits and vegetables.

When relaxation time comes, Mr. Parmer spends it listening to music, hiking, and reading what consists mostly of the philosophy of history.

Mr. Parmer is a very complacent man who is not disturbed by many things. In fact he doesn't even have a pet peeve!

HIGH SCHOOL EXPERIMENTS ON WHITE MICE

The twelfth grade home economics students from Menomonie high school, who are taking Nutrition this semester, have an addition of four white mice to their class. Under the supervision of their student teacher, Ardele Lietzke, they are going to carry on an experimental project.

In their nutrition unit, the students have discussed proper nutritional needs of human beings and how these needs have been formulated through much experimental work on white mice and rats. The student's stated that they would like to carry on such an experiment as a class project.

After talking over several possible experiments, the girls decided to put two of their mice on a "coke" and candy diet. The other two will be used as controls, having a normal diet. The girls can see the nutritional effects of improper feeding. The students realize that this particular diet of coke and candy is not good for them, and they want to see the results it will have on the mice.

GUARD READIES FOR OPEN HOUSE

QUEEN WILL BE CHOSEN FOR DANCE ON NOVEMBER 14

The National Guard post of Menomonie is planning a whole day's events for November 14th. There will be an open house in which about 50 pieces of captured equipment will be on display, along with the unit's own equipment. Such things as machine guns, swords, rifles, and numerous other items will be in the display that will be put on in the afternoon at the armory.

In the evening, the guard will hold a semi-formal at Club 400. Ray Strolzenberg will play for this annual affair. The proceeds will be used to buy furniture for the new recreation hall that will be built alongside the armory.

The guard has a unique method of electing their queen. Each member is awarded points for attendance, getting new members, sale of tickets, and bringing visitors to the drills. These points are then pledged to one of the candidates. The girl receiving the most points becomes queen.

There are about 25 Stout students in the guard unit. They are as follows: 2nd Lieut. Vaughn Stai; Sergeants 1st class: Bert Boetcher, John Hanson, Roland Krogstad, Harold Morgan; Sergeants: William Brimer, Ed Maurer; Corporals: John Kluzek, Francis Oberpriller, Don Rhead, Marvin Sherburn; PFC: Donovan Krueger, Kenneth Lemke, Curtis Peterson; Privates: Lester Duenk, James Ooley, Wendlen Schmaltz, Gale Woelffer.

Six fellows belong to other outfits and drill with the Menomonie unit. They are Leonard Westberg, Ray Johnson, Eugene Rosenthal, Will Hinterthuer, Wayne Rudesill, and Larry Mosher.

Guard members drill on Monday and the NCO's have school on Wednesday.

There are 131 enlisted men and four officers in the outfit now. The pay ranges from $2.50 per night for recruits to approximately $10.00 for officers.

LOBSTER OR SHRIMP FOR MISS DIEFENBACH

A lover of Fridays is Miss Jeanne Ellen Diefenbach, because on those days she can have her favorite foods of lobster or shrimp. Miss Diefenbach was born in Cleveland, Ohio, but spent most of her childhood in Brecksville, Ohio. Like most children, she happily awaited the dessert part of a meal. And to be quite frank, she hasn't grown up much in that respect since those days, especially when the dessert is ice cream.

Miss Diefenbach has been added to the Stout staff as instructor in clothing and textiles. She was graduated from Kent State university, studied further at the University of Wisconsin, taught foods and clothing in both the junior and senior high schools of Independence, Ohio, and was a member of the faculty of the Conneaut, Ohio, junior high school.

Miss Diefenbach

Golfing, histories or very light literature, bowling, bridge, and good music receive Miss Diefenbach's attention during her free moments. And as for embarrassing moments, Miss Diefenbach "tries to forget them."

Miss Diefenbach says of Stout, "The college maintains very high standards in both scholarship and type of students. The professional attitude is good. Both faculty and students seem to be a very nice group."

P.S. Miss Diefenbach added that she is very glad that Stout rules don't allow the girls to wear jeans to class. The jeans-to-class practice is one of her pet peeves.

TEA ROOM IS VISITING CITIES VIA THEIR FOOD

Each Thursday noon, a different locality is visited by students, faculty and friends who dine at the Stout Tea Room. The Tea Room is run by students under the supervision of Miss Mary Killian, director of the Stout cafeteria.

New Orleans was the first locality visited. After New Orleans, guests visited farther east to Atlantic City. At Atlantic City, diners went back west to visit Estes park.

Thursday, October 20, a halloween smorgasbord was given. Thursday, October 27, guests traveled east again as far as St. Louis.

The chief problem encountered by the Tea Room is obtaining the food. A few examples were at Estes park, where trout was hard to obtain, and at Atlantic City, where Pumpernickel bread and frozen custard were definite problems. The Pumpernickel bread was imported from Milwaukee.

The students of Tea Room shift duties each time. The duties are manager, head chef, baker, hostess, housekeeper, sales girl, and waitress.

The manager is responsible for seeing that the meal is finished on time and served correctly. Each student has a time chart which she follows. The chart is used to balance her hours during the semester.

Class instructor Killian says, "I hope the students, faculty, and friends who dine at the 'Tea Room' enjoy it as much as my students and I do in serving them in this way."

BETTY WHEELER STARTS PETER PAN CLUB

Small Fry of Racine Play And Learn At Nursery School Of Stout Grad

The following article from the Racine Journal Times was received from Betty Smith Wheeler, '40. It tells of her nursery school activities. "The very small fry whose parents have enrolled them in the Peter Pan club in their tender years of 3, 4, and 5 are learning the meaning of a daily morning appointment and a busy agenda—once, but no more, the exclusive experience of their parents.

"Sponsored and conducted by the former Betty Smith, now Mrs. Fred W. Wheeler, the Peter Pan club holds forth at her home on Spring street every morning but Saturday and Sunday, from 8:30 to 12.

"Two rooms on the first floor accommodate the Peter Pan club. An adjoining bath presents an array of ten little towels, all nametagged for the ten club members.

"The membership roster is now closed. Sessions began October 3, and will continue through the first week in March. A shorter term launched the project last spring.

"Upon arrival every morning, the children hang up their own outer garments and exchange their street shoes for soft indoor slippers. Thirty minutes of "free-play" follow, in which each child makes a choice of the pastimes available to him. Some like the trucks and steam shovels; some hurry to the doll corner. Book shelves, reading lamps, and little chairs entice others. The more rugged leap into wooden fruit crates and propel themselves, or push their friends.

"Then follows the singing of morning songs to the accompaniment of records, after which the tots again put on their coats for a half hour in the large fenced yard. There a sand box, swings, and an old trailer frame with wheels, inspire a variety of ingenious games.

"Back in the house they again hang their clothes neatly on the hooks, pick up the toys they had previously scattered, and with order restored, settle down for Mrs. Wheeler's story hour. Then they unfold their napkins, repeat a short grace, and seated at bright, vari-colored tables, enjoy their crackers and milk.

"Next the children have been taught to bring out their small rug mats, on which they rest for 15 minutes while classical recordings are played. Handdicraft follows—a colorful period of bright kindergarten papers, crayons, and scissors, in which the usual goal is to shape something relating to the morning's story hour.

"In conclusion there is rhythm training—marching with flags, in time to music. It is marching, by the way, like elephants, giraffes, or any other favorite the child may choose.

"By this time it is twelve o'clock, and the children go home to their parents, who think they had a full morning.

"No, Mrs. Wheeler isn't tired. She does it alone, and likes it."

Mrs. Wheeler wrote a short note accompanying the article:

"This article gives you an idea of what occupies my time.

"I enjoy being a life member of the alumni association, and think everyone should be.

"My husband is from the South, and we are planning on his seeing beautiful Wisconsin at homecoming time next year."

Sincerely,
Betty Smith Wheeler, '40.

GRAD STUDENTS MAKE FIELD TRIP

Graduate students of Dr. Stuart Anderson's survey procedures class made a field trip last Friday to Chippewa Falls and Eau Claire.

Members of the class on the field trip included John Krock, Roger Windberg, Wallace Hammerberg, Margon Berg, Robert Mays, Robert Lynch, Ray Doane, and John Reilly.

At Chippewa Falls they visited the Northern Wisconsin Colony and Training school. Mr. Ira Peterson supervisor of employees, conducted the class through the institution and explained the operations and functions of the dormitories, hospital, and school in relationship to the life of the patients.

The colony has 300 employees, who take care of 870 boys and over 600 girls. Most of the patients are young people with a range of ages from a few days to twenty years. They are classified into feeble-minded groups of idiots, imbeciles, and morons. Special reference was made to unusual cases of pin-heads, water-heads, and Mongoloids, with information given in regard to their care and treatment.

It was emphasized that the colony is dealing with a sociological problem of great importance, and that the general public should be educated to the services which the colony provides for its patients and to its need for financial support.

In the afternoon, the group made a tour of the Regional U.S. Employment

ACTIVE MEMBERS OF ALUMNI TO BE ON ROSTER

Each week a list of the active members of the alumni association, together with their addresses, will be published in the Stoutonia. All alumni who want a complete alumni directory should save each copy of the paper, and at the end of the year they will have compiled the list of all paid alumni members.

ENID HAUGEN '43 HAS BABY: KRISTINE MAE

"I am enclosing my dollar for the Stoutonia for another year.

"Our life has been completely changed since the arrival on July 7 of an eight pound, 10½ ounce baby girl, Kristine Mae. She is almost four months old now and is becoming more interesting every day as each day seems to add something new to her growth and development.

"I am still hoping to visit Stout before we leave Hudson."

Enid Leisman Haugen, '43

Mrs. Bruce K. Brown, life member of the Alumni Association of The Stout Institute, recently sent the following information to Mr. Herbert Anderson, national secretary.

Mrs. Brown, the former Antionette Turner, was born at River Forest, Illinois, June 18, 1898. She graduated from the high school at Elgin, Illinois in 1917. In 1919 she completed the two year course in Domestic Science at The Stout Institute.

On July 19, 1919, she married Bruce K. Brown of Wilmette, Illinois. Mr. Brown is now president of the Pan American Southern corporation, in New Orleans, Louisiana.

The Browns have two children, Janet F. (Mrs. A. G.) Edeleaner, who lives in New York City, New York; and Bruce K. Brown, who lives in Wauwatosa, Wisconsin, and is attending Marquette university.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown lived in Madison, Wisconsin, from 1920-1924; Terre Haute, Indiana, from 1924-1928; New York City, from 1928-1929; Evanston, Illinois, from 1929-1949; and now reside at 1608 Miraheau Avenue, New Orleans, Louisiana.

HOMER C. ROSE WRITES NAVY BULLETIN

Homer C. Rose, Stout graduate, is the author of the article, "Instructor Training in the Navy," which appeared in the U. S. Naval Training bulletin this past summer. Burton E. Nelson, past president of The Stout Institute, received a letter from Mr. Rose, and enclosed was a copy of the bulletin.

Some of the major problems dealt with in the nine-page article were the development of instructor training programs during World War II, the new instructor training schools, in-service training of instructors, special schools and courses, and the curriculum and instructor training section.

In conclusion, Mr. Rose stated that through adequate training of navy personnel as instructors, the quality of instruction is improved, the quality of output from our schools is more useful to the fleet, and the whole naval establishment is more capable of performing its job now and in the cases of another emergency.

STOUT PLAYS LAST GAME AT IOWA

BLUE DEVILS TRAVEL TO MEET PEACOCKS

Team To Kick Off Against Upper Iowa University At 1:30 P.M. Today

The Stout football team will wrap up the current season when they travel to Fayette, Iowa, to play Upper Iowa University, a school that hasn't dropped a game on its home field in 3 years. The game will be played Friday afternoon, starting at 1:30 p.m.

Doctor Dorman, a football great while attending Georgetown university at the turn of the century, has been coach at Upper Iowa since 1905. During this time he has created the wide-open type of football played by the Iowans. The Peacocks line up under a Notre Dame box formation and spring an offense speckled with frequent passes, laterals, and tricky ground maneuvers.

Evidence that they have been successful with this style of play has been recently confirmed by the fact the Peacocks won the Iowa conference championship last year and are heads-up favorites to repeat this year. They held victories over Macalaster college of St. Paul and St. Cloud Teachers college in previous contests this year.

Coach Storti paid tribute to this year's Stout team by stating, "This year's crew was a fine bunch of boys to work with; they had the will to win and plenty of enthusiasm."

If the Blue Devils upset the dope bucket and win this one, they will add a touch of glory to an already successful season.

WAA TO HAVE PENCIL SALE IN CORRIDOR

Discussion of pencils carrying Stout's schedule, initiation of new members, and a hike were the highlights of the WAA meeting, Monday November 7, at 7:15 p.m.

The pencils are white and blue, with the Stout basketball schedule of this year printed on them. They will be sold in the Home Economics building corridor in two weeks. The price is to be 5 cents each.

The hike is planned for next Monday evening, November 14, at 7 p.m. After the hike, refreshments will be served.

All new members were initiated and greeted into the club. A food committee for the hike was selected.

STOUT DEFEATS OSHKOSH BY A SCORE OF 14-0

Stout's Victory Places The Institute In Second Place; Oshkosh Offense Lacking

Striking early in the first and third periods at Oshkosh last Saturday, the Stout Blue Devils took over second place in the conference standings by whipping the Titans by a 14-0 score. The home team had trouble penetrating the Blue Devils forward wall all afternoon, and did not threaten to score at all.

The Blue Devils started like a house afire after the opening kick-off and had a touchdown in a matter of minutes. Stout rolled along on the ground, after the first exchange of punts, until they reached the Titan 31 yard line. Gale Woelffer then unleashed a pass to Dom Cataldi from this spot, good for a touchdown and a 6 point lead. Bob Young added the kick from placement to make it 7-0.

It looked like a walk-away from this point, but the Devils couldn't seem to strike pay dirt in the remainder of the first half. Oshkosh had their backs to the wall most of the time, but they somehow managed to prevent a Blue Devil score every time Stout threatened. The half ended 7-0 in Stout's favor.

The second half started in much the same manner as the first. Stout kicked off to Oshkosh, but Red Walker intercepted a Titan pass to give Stout a first down at mid-field. Seven plays were enough to put the ball on the Oshkosh 3 yard line, from where Harter Peterson banged over for Stout's second touchdown. Again Young's kick split the uprights to give the Blue Devils their 14-0 margin.

Stout threatened to score time after time during the remainder of the game, but the attack always bogged down inside the Oshkosh 20 yard line.

Woelffer to Stai in the air, and the ground gaining of Christenson, Kieffer, and Peterson were the big factors in the Stout offense. Red Walker was a standout as a line backer on the Stout defensive team, while John Debrauske, Butch Spears, and Fred Wentorf were the main springs in the forward wall. Jim "crazy legs" Ooley, usually a big gun in the defensive forward wall, got in a few licks on pass defense and managed to intercept two Oshkosh passes.

VOLLEYBALL IS FIRST INTRAMURAL SPORT

Volleyball, the first of a number of sports to be offered in the intramural program this year, will start Wednesday, November, 16, according to Coach Anthony Storti.

Two leagues are desirable for volleyball teams, with playoffs and eventual championship matches planned.

Closely following the opening of the volleyball games will be swimming, badminton, bowling, and basketball. Touch football and softball will be offered this spring to complete the intramural programs. The enlarged intramural schedule will give a greater majority of the students an opportunity to participate in some form of authorized exercise.

Awards for winners of all activities will be presented on Award day in the spring.

COVEY'S CORNER

Stout ended its conference season last Saturday with a 14 to 0 victory over Oshkosh Teachers college. The Bluedevils failed to show the class they had against LaCrosse and Superior, but they gained a victory which puts them near the top in conference standings. Stout's conference record is 4 wins and 2 losses. The Bluedevils defeated league-leaders La Crosse, Superior, Whitewater, Oshkosh; they lost to Eau Claire and River Falls.

The Bluedevils defense was the highlight of the game, with Oshkosh being unable to get inside the Blue-devil 20 yard line. Playing rough ball on defense, were veterans Wentorf, Young, and Pollock; along with freshmen Butch Spears and Red Walker.

In the backfield, carrying the load for the Bluedevils, were Peterson, Christensen, and Kieffer.

The touchdowns came on a pass from Woelffer to Cataldi, and on a run by Peterson. Young converted the extra points.

Individual Scoring for the Season

Bob Young	34 pts
Dom Cataldi	30
Vaughn Stai	24
Harter Peterson	18
Vern Christensen	12
Bill Kieffer	6

This afternoon the Bluedevils take on the Peacocks from upper Iowa university. Previous to this season the Iowans have gone undefeated in conference play for three years. They have been conference champs the last three years and are figured to repeat again this year. The Peacocks haven't been beaten on their home field since November 8, 1945.

The Iowa coach is a story in himself; Dr. Dorman has been coaching

MRS. DON FAHRMAN IS EXPERT SWIMMER

"Who is that expert swimmer?" "Don't you know? Why it's Mrs. Donald Fahrman, the new physical education instructor."

Yes, Mrs. Fahrman spends much of her free time working hard in the Stout pool. And while she isn't swimming, she is knitting. After a long swim or hard day's work, nothing tastes quite so good as a hamburger with onion trimmings.

Mrs. Fahrman was born in Rochester, Minnesota, attended Gustavus Adolphus college from where she received her bachelor's degree, and then came to Stout. Mrs. Fahrman likes Stout and likes the students with whom she works, but she believes that she'd "like any place where her husband is."

at Upper Iowa since 1905.

The Blue Devils picked a rough opponent to end the season and our men will have to be in top form to beat the Iowans.

The rapidly-closing football season found La Crosse defeating hapless River Falls 40 to 13. Milwaukee teachers knocked Platteville down the conference ladder with a 20 to 7 defeat. Stevens Point kept at the top of the conference with a 20 to 14 win over Whitewater. The Wisconsin and Minnesota teachers college leagues split 50-50; Eau Claire trounced Winona 34 to 7, Mankato edged Superior 32 to 18.

ARCHITECTURAL FUNDS RELEASED FOR LIBRARY

Necessary funds for architectural services on the new Stout Institute library have been released by Governor Oscar Rennebohm, President Verne C. Fryklund announced this week.

"The Governor's decision represents the first step in construction of the library," said Dr. Fryklund. "We can now actively work at selecting an architect for the project."

EPT BREAKFAST HELD NOV. 4

The sixteenth annual Epsilon Pi Tau breakfast, in conjunction with the convention of the Wisconsin Education association, was held at Hotel Wisconsin in Milwaukee, Friday morning, November 4.

The breakfast began with President Verne C. Fryklund giving a brief resume of certain selected events which had occurred since the breakfast a year ago; then each of the other members present followed with their resumes. Dean C. A. Bowman reported as trustee of the Theta Chapter at The Stout Institute and reviewed chapter activities for the year.

Bernard Hagen of Manitowoc was the first man to arrive in the wee hours of the morning. The famous traveling group from Kenosha gave him a close race. Harold A. Schulz of Milwaukee served as local chairman in charge of arrangements for the breakfast. It was believed that the attendance at this breakfast set a new record. Mr. Schulz was responsible for the very distinctive table decorations, which were based on fraternal and holiday themes.

He also arranged for a variety of fine door prizes. In view of the fact that the order of arrival at the breakfast was a significant determining factor in the distribution of door prizes, it is believed arrivals next year will set new records for promptness.

G. M. O'BRIEN ATTENDS COLLEGE DAY

Representing The Stout Institute at the Red Wing, Minnesota, college day, November 8, was the college registrar, Miss Gertrude M. O'Brien.

About thirty colleges from Minnesota and Wisconsin were represented.

Throughout the day, seniors at the school attended lectures given by representative men and women from various professions and industries, and had an opportunity to confer with the college representatives at assigned stations in the auditorium.

Jay Lockerby (Stout B.S.'41, U of Minnesota M.S.'47) and Louis Ode (Stout B.S.'47 and M.S.'49) are members of the Red Wing high school staff.

PARTICIPATE IN MEET PRESIDENT AND DEAN

Dr. V. C. Fryklund Is Chairman

Of Mississippi Valley Industrial Arts Meet

President Verne C. Fryklund and Dean Clyde A. Bowman have returned from the thirty-sixth annual meeting of the Mississippi Valley Industrial Arts conference, which was held in Chicago, November 10-12. Dr. Fryklund was general chairman of the event and Dean Bowman was a participant in general conference activities.

Among the industrial arts leaders at the conference were a number of Stout Institute graduates and former students. These included Harold Silvius (B.S. '30), head of the industrial education department at Wayne university; John Feirer (B.S. '36), head of industrial education at Western State college, Kalamazoo, Michigan; Wayne Hughes (B.S. '34), of the National Safety council; Dewey Barich (B.S. '33), head of industrial education at Kent State university; Wayne Wetzel, of the faculty of Macomb State Teachers college; and R. M. Stombaugh (B.S. '29), head of industrial education at State Normal university.

Student Teaching

First panel discussion of the conference was that of "Student Teaching in Industrial Arts." Chairman of the group was DeWitt Hunt, Oklahoma A & M college. Other panel members were Harry A. Pederson, See—PANEL DISCUSSION page 5

AAUW HOLDS MEETING AT FRYKLUND HOME

The Menomonie branch of the American Association of University Women held its November meeting at the home of Mrs. Verne C. Fryklund, on the evening of November 10. Miss Margaret Harper, chairman of the Education committee, arranged a program for National Education week. Two technicolor films from the University of Wisconsin Extension division were shown. "Better Schools for Rural Wisconsin" pictured the old and new in rural education. The other film, "Badger Birthday," showed the progress made during the past century in life and industries in Wisconsin. These scenes were filmed at the State Centennial Fair in Milwaukee last summer.

The October meeting had been held at the home of Mrs. John Carter in Lakeview, October 27. The guest speaker, Miss Lucille Tuttle, case worker from the Dunn County Public Welfare office, discussed "Public Assistance in Wisconsin and the County of Dunn." Miss Gertrude O'Brien, chairman of the Legislative committee, introduced the speaker.

Miss Eleanor Cox, local president of the AAUW, was in charge of both meetings.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. A. Halgren, December 8.

TOWER RETURNS FROM FIELD TRIP

Stout Tower staff returned Tuesday, November 8, from the Twin Cities after touring the Bureau of Engraving, the Lund Press, Inc., WCCO radio station, and the Gopher staff office at the University of Minnesota.

At the Bureau of Engraving the group viewed the offset lithography and the photoengraving plants and observed the complicated processes involved in making color plates, zinc etchings, and halftone outlining.

After the Bureau of Engraving, the staff proceeded to the Tower's publishers, the Lund Press, Inc. Here the members received a "bird's eye" view of the production end of the year-book.

Following lunch, the Tower staff was taken on a guided tour of WCCO and participated as an audience for the "Melody Matinee" show.

The Gopher staff office was the next place of interest on the agenda. The business manager of the university's yearbook gave the visitors a brief account of transactions carried on and the troubles faced by their staff.

"All in all the trip was a success and some valuable information was gathered," stated the editor-in-chief of the Tower staff, Herb Watanabe, "which will be no doubt help in the improvement of the editorial work of the 1950 Tower."

Staff members who went on the trip included Herb Watanabe, Russell Gerber, Toby Hendrickson, Gordon Goessner, Karl Windberg, Helen Haase, Sadao Kishimoto, Clarice Zarling, Gerry Erickson, Dennis Brooks, Dorothy Messerschmidt, Betty Worthington, Clarice Gofine, Barbara Johnson, Ben Gabriel, Naomi Wendt, Mary Lou Bohrnstedt, Dorothy Hilton, Fern Naeffler, Eleanor Ushijima, Jim Brown, Lois Heike, Bill Kocaj, Warren Barberg, and advisers Mr. D. P. Barnard and Mr. H. Hoving.

FROSH AND TRANSFERS TAKE PHYSICAL EXAMINATIONS

Physical examinations for freshmen and transfer students are given every Tuesday and Thursday morning in the nurse's office. These physicals are general check ups. About one hundred women still have to be examined. The men have completed their check ups.

THANKSGIVING TURKEYS STOP CHOO-CHOO TRAIN

Arrangements have been made for the "400" to stop at Menomonie Junction on November 23 and November 27, according to Dean M. M. Price. This had been done to help students and faculty who are going toward Milwaukee for their Thanksgiving recess.

Buses will be at the west door (Second street) of the Home Economics building to take people to the junction. The first trip will be at 3:00 p.m.

Similar arrangements have been made for December 16 and January 2 to take care of the group at Christmas.

PLEASE NOTE: Students and faculty planning to take the "400" are asked to purchase tickets at the city depot. The agent finds it very difficult to handle a large number at the junction. The railroad is being cooperative and travelers should in turn follow its suggestion in purchasing tickets, said Dean Price.

SSA MESSAGE

Dear SSA Members,

With only one week until Thanksgiving Day, we can really begin to anticipate the fun of our short holiday; however, before we go home, we have a big weekend to enjoy and participate in.

On Friday night we have an opportunity to see color film by the sportsman-photographer, Victor Coty. This third Lyceum promises to be excellent entertainment, so let's all turn out. Admission will be by SSA card. Saturday night is the Sig Tau "Rose of Sig Tau" dance. From all the interesting reports on the plans, it should be one of the nicest formals of the year. Here's hoping all you girls have bids for the event.

On Thursday of this week another of the Thursday afternoon concerts was held in the Harvey. These hours of music which have been planned for everyone's enjoyment are giving a great deal of pleasure to many people. For those of you who have missed these fine afternoons of music, a program of classical music which includes favorites of everyone is offered about once a month. The symphony pieces are recorded; however, an additional feature of each program is a soloist from the Stout student body or faculty. Next time you notice the program on the bulletin board, plan to attend.

On Wednesday at student convocation we tried to express our appreciation to the football team for a job well done. A little more informal celebration was planned for last weekend. The team was to have been greeted with a victory dance upon their arrival from Iowa. Arrival of the team ahead of schedule changed the plans, but all of us are no less proud of their successful season. Now it is up to us to back the basketball team from the start to the finish of the season.

Let's all get out this weekend and join in all the activities so we can build up enormous appetites for the feast ahead.

The SSA Officers

VICTOR COTY TO SPEAK TONIGHT

Victor Coty, sportsman, naturalist, explorer, and photographer will appear tonight at 8:00 p.m. in the Stout auditorium. Coty's film is the most popular outdoor film ever produced because of the infinite variety and universal appeal of its subjects. It seems specially aimed at each audience and has been voted the best illustrated program of the year.

Comments made by James B. Pond, editor of Program Magazine, were:

"It is a fascinating game watching Victor Coty each year excel Victor Coty. A few years ago it seemed no pictures could be more perfect than the ones he showed me then. And still they get better! The latest addition to his series of natural color movies showing the glories of life out-of-doors was made in the Bahamas, down around the Cat Cay and Bimini. If you are a fisherman, these films will make you stand on your chair and yell. But if you are no fisherman, you will stand on your chair and yell just the same. Coty's films are full of the beauty of the sea, the sky, the glory of Bahamian sunsets, the slosh of the sea. These exquisitely beautiful movies should be shown from one end of the land to the other."

Lyceum committee warns students to be at the program early because townspeople will be admitted after 7:50 p.m.

D. P. BARNARD DELIVERS SPEECH TO NORTH PTA

David P. Barnard, Audio-visual education and photography instructor at Stout, spoke before the Parent Teachers Association meeting at Menomonie North School, Monday, November 14, at 8:00 p.m.

Mr. Barnard spoke on the subject, "What Is Audio-Visual Education?" and used two films to supplement his talk. The films, "Airplane Trip" and "What Makes Rain," are typical films used on the primary level.

BEV BREHMER CHOSEN "ROSE OF SIGMA TAU"

Herman Arneson to Crown Queen At Formal Held 8:30 Saturday In Gym

Beverly Brehmer has been chosen "Rose" for the first Rose of Sigma Tau formal to be held tomorrow evening at 8:30 in the gym.

The crown of roses will be placed on Miss Brehmer by Mr. Herman Arneson, physiology instructor and adviser of the STG frat. The coronation will take place after the fifth dance; immediately following, Bev and her escort will lead the grand march.

Beverly considers it a great honor to be chosen first "Rose" of the Sig Tau fraternity. "I only hope that I am worthy of the honor," Bev exclaimed. Members of the Sig Tau assured her that they were sure they had chosen the right candidate.

"I hope that hunting season doesn't keep too many students from the formal," Bev added. Her escort is an avid hunter with the bow and arrow.

Miss Brehmer, a graduate of Washington high school in Milwaukee, is now a sophomore at Stout. Bev was very modest about telling of the things she has done in the first eighteen years of her life.

The Sig Tau formal is under the direction of Bud Ryder, general chairman. Bud is responsible for organizing and directing the various committees preparing for the dance. Every member of the organization has his part to do in preparation. Dance decorations were made at a social party where members could bring their dates and work together making paper roses.

MUSIC IN THE AIR

One step toward music appreciation, other than those offered by the extra-curricular musical organizations within the school, has been taken this year through a program of music on Thursday afternoons.

This music program is a great benefit to the college students, but what about the people in the community? Is there any reason why the college students, who are supposed to be future social leaders in their respective vocational communities, shouldn't begin their work as social leaders here at college? People in a college town are living in almost a college atmosphere themselves.

The college, a higher institution of learning, should, with its cultural advantages, help and participate, through special programs, in giving concerts and other programs for the enjoyment of the community. Concerts given during Christmas and special occasions are attended by many of the Menomonie citizens. Sometimes there is not even enough seating space to accommodate the whole audience.

It would be nice if the musical groups of the college could put on at least two or three more concerts during the school year. Such a program would be appreciated by the community, and the musical organizations themselves would benefit from this added experience.

FIELD TRIPS

Field trips to various industrial concerns as an educational aid have been regarded by some people as a waste of class time and by others as an excellent means of broadening interest in some field of industrial training. It is true that occasionally such a trip has proved a waste of valuable time, but for the most part the advantages far outweigh the disadvantages.

Not too far in the future, the trend of education will be to combine class theory with that of observation of those theoretical values in actual operation. At the present time, experimental high schools are doing this very thing and are for the most part proving the theory satis-

Greetings

Our football team was victorious again. We would like to congratulate Tony Storti and his football team for their wonderful showing made during the past football season. Well done!

A little reception was planned to welcome the team home, but as most of you know, it sort of fizzled out. The team wasn't supposed to arrive until 11:30, but they surprised everyone by coming in at 9:45. Well, we all had good intentions. Incidentally in case you're interested, this was Upper Iowa's first defeat on their home field in four years.

Larry Madsen is next in line for congratulations. Larry was the winner of the turkey at the Rifle club's dance Saturday night. How are chances of sharing the turkey with you, Larry?

Betty Gilgenbach and Milo Anderson have been going pretty steady these last few months. I guess it's all right though; they make a pretty nice couple. Don't you think so?

It's old news when it comes to Paul Axelsen and Bea Sagstetter going around together, but we were wondering if they are making any plans for the future as yet.

It sure is hard to keep tabs on Bob Nichols and Joanne Buboltz. Bob has been dating Phyllis Amacher lately, and Joanne has been going out with Gordon Goessner. Word has it that Joanne and Gordy are going to the formal tomorrow night.

Bruce Arntson and Jean Bulmer are still together. They have now advanced to the stage where they take time out every day for a cup of coffee, hmmm.

Mel Witte surely is a problem. He has been seen going pretty steady with two different women. According to Mel, the women are his sisters. I'll bet they are.

Joan Davidson and Pete Schellinger spent the week-end in Kenosha. Pete's sister was getting married, so Joan and Pete went down for the wedding. Checking up, eh Pete.

June Keefer, Bill Kocaj, Betty Worthington, and Bob Cseh went down to Eau Claire Saturday night. I imagine that they went to the movie. How about it?

Wa hoppen? Herb Watanabe had a new lass on his arm Friday night. Clarice Zarling was the lucky girl.

Say, speaking of Eau Claire, with whom was Jean Carswell. I'm pretty sure that she was there.

Followed entirely, the mere studying of theory of work in industry is as uninteresting as are a jumble of facts and figures. To a teacher in a specific field of industrial education, the program of field trips for various course aids him in getting across points of importance that otherwise would be of little interest to the student.

When a student first reads about how a product is produced and then can actually see the operations and steps, such techniques have a definite meaning to him and will leave a picture in his mind that will last longer than a maze of figures put before him in print.

The subject of field trips does not necessarily limit itself to industrial education alone; it plays an important role in the field of home economics and in many fields of production.

New fields of education are being opened daily on more complex levels. Their explanations and definitions are dependent upon the person actually seeing them performed, as shown on film strips or other visual aids.

Education in the future will be covered more thoroughly by the students' participation in field trips and use of visual aids as methods of giving these students a clearer picture of what they have read in a particular field of concentration.

—D. S.

Donna Jens was pretty blue this last week-end. Could it be that she missed Jim Brown. Jim went up to Superior with the W.S.F. organization.

Noreen Kahl seemed to be having a nice time Saturday night at Superior. She was out with Selmer Drolsum. Say, Noreen, wasn't it a bit crowded in the back seat Sunday night. Was Dale Maxey taking up all the room? Guy Shramm and Carolann Hammersten were also seen together. This has been going on for some time now.

Jim Miller is in circulation again. Jim has been walking Helen Haase home quite frequently this past week. Speaking of walking, Danny Foltman and Jerry Pleszczynski are doing their share of it. It's getting a little cold for walking though. Don't you think so??

Jim Spano, Shirley Carlson, Bohumil Holub, and Doris Heil were out to the movie Sunday night. Did we enjoy the movie??

I was wondering why I haven't seen Eugene Traxler and Pat Krause around. They tell me that Traxler is working at the Sanna Dairies, so I suppose that is taking up most of his time.

Ruth Hauge was up at Madison for the weekend to see her sister. Say Ruth, did we see anyone else up at Madison? Don Winters also went home for the week-end. What is her name, Don?

Donna Heike is really becoming a card shark. Donna and Russ Gerber just about spent the week-end playing cards in the union.

Don Tietz and Lee Flanders are still operating. Aniva Clark and Terry Reiland were the lucky girls this week. I wish someone would drop me a line to let me know how these fellows do it.

Tomorrow is the Sigma Tau's formal. Let's see everyone come out and make the dance a huge success.

HOLD EVERYTHING I just heard a joke.

Did anyone hear about the moth that made a hole in the rug because it wanted to see the floor show. And then the moth covered the hole because it didn't want to see the whole show. 1-2-3 Ha Ha Ha!

Well gang, it's getting about that time where we must say adios. We'll see you all next week.

MORE SCHOOL SPIRIT

"Let's have some school spirit" is probably the most over-worked phrase at Stout during the football and basketball season. However, the over-working of this phrase has some good effect on our spirit; let us keep right on talking about school spirit at Stout.

Students are encouraged and even begged to attend and to cheer at the football and basketball games. But games are not the only worthwhile activities that students should be encouraged to take advantage of. Must we be encouraged and even begged to participate in other school activities?

The many teas, sponsored by various campus groups, offer a restful diversion for us during the day; the Saturday night dances furnish an excellent chance for everyone to meet and make new friends. A great deal of time and money is spent in arranging for convocation and lyceum programs that are both worthwhile and enjoyable. In addition, we have the opportunity to help determine school affairs by our participation at student assemblies and class meetings.

Perhaps you know of some other activities that also need a little boost in attendance. If you do, use your influence to make them a success and "let's have a little school spirit."

COOS BY WALLY PIGEON

In a small mid-western city, an Industrial Arts convention was to be held, and the hotels were full to the top. Geo. Soderberg stepped up to the desk; he asked for a room and he also told the manager that all other hotels were filled up.

"Sorry," said the manager, "but we are all filled up, too. Wait a minute, though. We do have one empty room, but you'll have to make your own bed."

George: "Well, I guess I can do that all right."

"O.K.," said the manager. "You can start right now. The porter will lend you a hammer and saw."

An English teacher was stating some parts of grammar and said the following words: "What is it when I say, 'I love you, You love me, he loves me?'"

Smart answer from the back of the room: "It's one of them triangles like you hear on afternoon soap operas where somebody gets jilted."

Progress in college:

Freshman: I don't know.
Sophomore: I'm not prepared.

Junior: I don't remember.
Senior: I don't believe I can add anything to what has been said.

The following misprint appeared in a popular adventure magazine:

The thunder rolled and lightning flashed; the women trembled in the cabins while the ship's crew rushed about.

"Up with the anchor!" shouted the Captain.

Then over and above the sound of the tempest could be heard the fierce cries of the sailors working on the winches.

A rural patient asked his doctor: "Doc, isn't it out of your way to come and see me?"

The doctor answered: "Not at all. I have another sick person nearby, and this way I can kill two birds with one stone."

Mr. Erickson questioning his daughter: "Just what are your young man's intentions, and I want a truthful answer."

Gerry Mae: "Well, father, he does keep me pretty much in the dark."

Professor: "Students of today want to make too much money. Why do you know what I was getting when I got married?"

Student in back of room: "No, and I'll bet you didn't either."

Usually when the man has the last word with a woman it's when he apologizes.

This was overheard by some ears that happened to be in the way of certain sound waves that were created by the person who was an unsuspecting girl.

Gerry Jurwitz: "I've lost so much weight you can count my ribs."
Gene Weigel: "Gen, thanks!"

Bob Berg: "Why are you raising your hat, Dan? That's not the National Anthem they're playing."

Dan Foltman: "No, but they are murdering a classic and I'm raising it out of respect for the dead."

As Stan Kendall was making out a report of a highway accident, he was confronted by the following question, "Disposition of Passengers?" He thought for a few moments and since the accident wasn't serious, wrote the following statement: "Mad as Hell."

Outside of a small town this sign was noticed: "Slow. No Hospital."

Some prankster wrote the following sign on Dean Price's car: "Don't take this to the scrap pile. I'm still driving it."

In a Mid-western college, the coeds were asked to refrain from knitting in classes, which is deemed discourteous to instructors. To say nothing of the possibility of dropping a stitch during a moment's inattention.

"Ah wins."
"What you got?"
"Three aces."
"No, you don't. Ah wins."
"What you got?"
"Two eights and a razor."
"You sho do. How cum you so lucky?"

Fellows, I have received the following information and I wish to pass it on to you:

How to give a girl a big surprise: (Instructional Unit)

1. Place arms around girl's waist.
2. Draw her strongly toward you and hold her tight.
3. Start to kiss her.
4. When she says "Stop!" release her.
5. Note amazement on face.

The little boy's mother had permitted him to stay for a second showing of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. Came the apple-eating scene and the little boy turned excitedly to his mother: "If she eats that apple again, she's crazy!"

A big-game hunter has been missing for days. Something he disagreed with ate him.

ORCHESTRA IN NEED OF PLAYERS

Bass Violin Players!
Cello Players!
Viola Players!

The Stout orchestra needs these players to complete the orchestra, and thus make full orchestration possible. If any bass violin, cello, or viola musicians are talented at playing these instruments, they are asked to contact Mr. Frailey immediately or to appear at rehearsals which are held on Tuesday nights at eight o'clock.

PING PONG TOURNEY OPENS AT LYNWOOD

The opening of the annual Lynwood hall table tennis tournament this week was announced by Bob Cseh, new athletic director of the dorm.

Entries, which have been open to all interested residents of the dorm, number nearly thirty, from which first, second, and third place winners will be determined. A prize will be awarded to the person taking first place.

The winner will be determined by the elimination process; the chief judge makes the pairings, and when a competitor loses two out of three games in any one pairing, he is eliminated. Present plans are to have only one bracket, for championship, without a consolation division.

The table tennis tournament, as well as the intramural sports in which the dorm participates, is basically designed to help provide a wide range of activities of all types for residents of the dorm, and to help make them better fitted for life at Stout.

STOUT YWCA DONATES MUCH TO CAMPUS LIFE

Throughout the year, the Stout YWCA carries out many worthwhile projects. The YWCA's projects are not all of a charitable nature, for many are designed to improve Stout's social life.

The World Student Service Fund (WSSF) is one of the YWCA's biggest service projects. YWCA girls canvass students and faculty for money, books, and clothing. These items are given to needy students the world over. Every year the YWCA shows its good will to a needy family by giving them food for a Thanksgiving dinner, or a cash present. Toys and clothing are gathered and sent to orphan's homes every Christmas.

The YWCA improves Stout's social life by an all-school Mother-Daughter banquet; the Campus Sister movement, in which sophomore, junior, and senior girls write incoming freshman girls, answering their questions and helping them get started at Stout; and by inviting all religious faiths to the YW observation of the World Day of Prayer for Colleges.

SIGMA TAU GAMMA HOLDS BANQUET

Alpha Kappa chapter of Sigma Tau Gamma recently held their formal initiation banquet at the Marion hotel.

Completing a hectic week of pledging and passing the three phases of initiation, the new pledges were honored at this banquet. At the conclusion of the meal the new members, Roland Kickbush, Charles Schiferl, Russel Larson, and August Schwellenbach, individually related their experiences encountered during pledge week.

Presentation of membership cards were made by the chapter president, Milton Miller. President Miller welcomed the new members on behalf of the organization, after which faculty adviser, Mr. Arneson, greeted the new members.

The banquet came to a close with the new and old members joining in and singing the fraternity song, "Rose of Sigma Tau."

NEWMAN BRUNCH TO BE HELD SUNDAY

The November Newman club brunch will be held Sunday, November 20, after the 10 o'clock Mass, at which all Newmanites receive Holy Communion in a body.

The Christmas party and the December brunch will be discussed.

On the serving and food committee are Peggy McHatton, chairman; Francis Oberpriller, Matt Brejcha, Theresa Meaczowski, Wendlen Schmaltz, Joe Hainault, Grace Leavens, Margaret Wiesemiller, and Donna Krisik.

INTERSOCIETY BALL TO BE HELD DEC. 30

The Intersociety Ball will be held December 3 at the gymnasium. Couples will dance to the music of the Royal Blackhaws. The theme is the "Holly Ball." It is a semi-formal dance for all the society members and their dates and also for the society alumni.

The SMA society is directing the decorations; the PA's are the general chairmen; the Philo's are in charge of clean up and punch; and the Hyperians are handling invitations and music.

EICHELBERGER GIRLS TAKEN BY SURPRISE

Shortly after ten-thirty on Monday, November 7, the girls of Eichelberger hall were surprised by the fire bell. So everyone bravely ran outside, even though each girl was clad in pajamas or robe. Miss Zine, the housemother, started to take count of the girls when, all of a sudden, Loree Woolen came flying out of the main door sputtering about the fire drill. She had been caught in the bath tub, of all places!

With all the girls present and accounted for, they went back into the dormitory for some undisturbed slumber.

YWCA Sponsors Sunrise Breakfast For School

"Tuesday" morning, November 22, at 7:00 a.m. is the time set for the annual all-school YWCA Thanksgiving sunrise breakfast in the clubrooms above the union. Tickets, fifteen cents each, may be secured from any YWCA member.

The program will include a short service and the breakfast, both of which will be over before 8 o'clock classes.

"Y" president Jean Bulmer cordially invites all to come and enjoy the sunrise breakfast.

MAP DISCUSSES PLANS FOR OPEN HOUSE

Plans for an open house for students interested in stage work were discussed at the semi-monthly meeting of MAP members, held in the auditorium, Monday evening, November 7.

In order to introduce the organization to the freshmen at Stout, the Manual Arts Players have decided to hold an open house for freshmen, at which time they will introduce the officers, provide entertainment and refreshments, and acquaint interested students with the types of work for which points are given.

After the regular meeting, a work-night meeting was held, at which members and "point earners" pooled their efforts and applied them to the task of repairing and rebuilding old and worn equipment. The long-range plans of the fraternity are to rebuild or replace all old or obsolete equipment.

Because of the inability of securing a good speaker on short notice, the STS has postponed its annual banquet until after Thanksgiving vacation. This year the STS is endeavoring to procure a speaker from the Leslie Paper company, Minneapolis, Minnesota.

SSA SPONSORS MOVIE "ENCHANTED FOREST"

All students and faculty of Stout, together with their friends, are invited to attend the movie "The Enchanted Forest," sponsored by the SSA, Sunday, November 20. The movie will be shown in the Stout auditorium at 2:30 p.m.

The Enchanted Forest is a full-length colored film showing the beauty of the large forests and the people who wish to preserve them, in conflict with those who would rather destroy the trees.

A musical short will also be shown at that time. The movies are excellent entertainment for a Sunday afternoon. "Take advantage of the opportunities which the Stout Student Association is offering you," SSA officers urge.

The SSA will have another movie for presentation on December 11. They plan on spacing the movies one month apart in the future.

Question of the Week

What do you think about MAP putting on plays in assemblies?

Russ Gerber: I think that it would be a fine idea, provided MAP thinks so too, and if the kids have enough time to work on some good plays.

Ann Banker: I think it would be swell, but if such a program were adopted, more people should try out for parts, and also help with the stage work, instead of the same people having to do it every time.

Bob Berg: Although it would mean a lot of work for the people concerned, I think that the idea could be very beneficial to both the audiences and those participating.

Jim Brown: It would surely give MAP a busy time, but I think they would get just as much good out of it as the student body would, and thereby make such a project worthwhile.

Norman Lenius: If MAP wants to put plays on, I'm sure they wouldn't have any trouble getting people to come to them. I know I would.

Jo Ann Graney: I think that it is a good idea, but it will require the cooperation of more of the students to insure success of the program.

Greg Chang: It would mean a lot of work, and require the cooperation of a greater part of the student body, but if everybody helps, it will give MAP a good chance to show how good a job they can do

TEXTILE CLASS ON TRIP TO CHIPPEWA

Every year the textile class goes to the Chippewa Woolen Mills to observe and study different manufacturing processes. This year the class went in two groups, one on Tuesday, November 1, and the other on Friday, November 4.

In the manufacturing part of the mills, the class watched the scouring and dying, the spinning and weaving, and finally the finishing of the cloth. One of the girls who went on this trip thought that the most interesting process was that of the spinning mule. Another believed that the carding machine was very complicated and not at all as easy as their textbooks had explained it. The thing that amazed them most was the fact that the mill dyed some materials white and green while being woven and later dyed the complete garment red, changing the white to red and the green to black.

The group then went to the garment factory where the machines make hunting clothes, shirts and other woollens in mass production. Seeing all the ready-to-wear garments in one storeroom was quite an experience, each person wishing that a fraction of them belonged to her.

All in all, the trip was very educational and profitable for the entire group. It is looked forward to every year by the textile class.

Lost Anything Lately At Stout?

Lost! Lost! Lost! Photograph negatives, ladies gloves, keys, horn-rimmed glasses, Shaefer pen and pencil set, fraternity pins, scissors, Scripto pencils, and two books, Luther's Small Catechism with Explanation, and Biblical History. These articles may be found in the bottom drawer of the file in the President's office, under the title of "Lost and Found."

Miss Minnie Becker, who takes care of the lost and found articles, states that possessions are being turned in to her everyday by the janitors, faculty, and students.

According to Miss Becker, "Some students come in and look for one thing, then go out with another article which they had lost earlier."

If anything is found in the halls, the lost and found department welcomes it.

LIBRARY NOTES

Warner, Meeker, and Eells, three members of the teaching staff of the University of Chicago, recently conducted a survey of social classes in the United States. They make their report to the American public in the book, Social Class in America. This book is new in our library. Sociology students will be interested.

Three outstanding articles are among those in the NEA Journal. Pauline Dudley, Iowa State college Ames, writes, "I'm Glad I'm a Teacher," and goes on to convince us.

Allison Davis and Robert Hess, of the University of Chicago, are the authors of the article, "What About I Q's?" In this they tell of the new intelligence test which they have developed. Results of this new test indicate that we can expect about the same proportion of bright or superior children at all economic levels. This should really be a challenge to teachers.

Another article by Cunningham, Henry, and Roberts, "But There Is No Average Pupil," is a delightful, convincing, interesting treatment of a conventional subject.

Next year is census year. The Science News Letter, for November 5 contains an article entitled "1950 is Census Year," which explains the new definition of the family, tells about the housing questions which will be asked at every fifth occupied house, and explains how all the data of the census will be computed in Washington.

REMEMBER WHEN

Remember When one year ago the LSA sponsored a box social. Everyone enjoyed his lunch except Warren Barberg, who found only an empty milk bottle and several soda crackers in his perfectly-wrapped box. That's all right if you like soda crackers . . . What about it, Warren?

Two years ago attendance at convocations became compulsory. The roll call system also came in at the same time. Tough luck kids. The KFS boys had a wet reception when they serenaded the girls' dorms. The guilty girl wrote an apology. No names mentioned.

Man is the only animal you can skin more than once.

Stout Coaches Attend Spring Sports Meet

Coaches Johnson and Storti are away this weekend attending a meeting of the Minnesota-Wisconsin conference, which began at nine o'clock today at the Curtiss hotel in Minneapolis. The purpose of this meeting is to draw up the baseball, golf, and tennis schedules for spring. Representatives from River Falls, Eau Claire, Stout, St. Cloud, Mankato, and Winona are there.

At one o'clock today they will attend a meeting of the Wisconsin State Teachers College Athletic association. Representatives from ten colleges are attending this meeting. The purpose of the meeting is to select all-conference football players; also the coaches plan to outline a complete schedule for the spring program and to discuss the general business of the conference.

The report of the all-conference selections will soon be published by the Stoutonia.

ELEVATOR OPERATED BY BUSY "BILL"

Elevator service for the students and faculty in the Home Economics building has been rendered by Bill Neubauer for the past eighteen years.

Menomonie claims Bill as a native son and he has been employed at Stout since 1931. A more pleasant companion on an elevator ride could not be found, for Bill's hearty time-of-the-day greeting and cheery conversation are looked forward to by the daily riders.

The service rendered by the elevator in the Home Economics building calculated in mathematical figures is quite interesting. Bill can rattle statistics off like a math teacher. He makes about 600 trips a day, with an average of six passengers per trip. That makes 3,600 riders in a day, 18,000 in a week, and 75,600 in a school year. In eighteen years, Bill has given lifts to 1,360,800 individuals.

In territory, Bill has covered quite a few miles. There are eighty feet to a trip. He covers ten miles a day, fifty miles a week, and 2100 miles a year. In eighteen years Bill has covered a distance of 37,800 miles with the elevator.

An elevator is quite a time saver, and Bill has the figures on the tip of his tongue to prove that point. It takes the average person 30 seconds to climb the four flights of stairs. By taking the elevator, the 3600 daily riders save 1800 minutes, or 30 hours a day. In a school week, they save 150 hours, and in a school year, 6300 hours.

So, the next time you see Bill running the elevator, don't think his work is confining or all in one spot. Last year he and his familiar elevator covered 37,800 miles. Did you travel that far?

Civil Service Examiner: How is it you marked this examination paper 101? Surely you know that nothing can be more perfect than 100 percent!

MR. N. C. ZIEMANN IS NEW SPEECH TEACHER

Setting: San Francisco

Time: The day the Navy reaches port
Character: Sailor Norman C. Ziemann

Plot: The gobs are all staring. What's the matter with Sailor Ziemann? He dashes into one restaurant; dashes out again; into the next one, and out; and so on throughout the city all that day. That evening the answer is discovered. Sailor Ziemann loves hot, spicy, Italian spaghetti, and so he spent the day making the rounds and trying each restaurant's spaghetti.

Mr. Ziemann was in the Navy for three years and spent most of his time in the South Pacific, deep-sea diving off fleet tugs. The purpose of the deep-sea diving was to salvage sunken ships and pull them back to port.

Mr. Ziemann

Any students noticing that Mr. Ziemann is listening very attentively to what they are saying, will know that he is judging the caliber of their speech. One of his pastimes is listening to the speech of others. Another hobby of Mr. Ziemann's is woodcarving, which consists mainly of figurines and statues. When he has the time to read, Mr. Ziemann goes in for historical novels.

When asked if he had any children, Mr. Ziemann smiled proudly as he spoke of his two daughters, one aged two years and the other two months.

Speech and play production are the classes which the former deep-sea diver now teaches at Stout. He is also sponsor of the MAP chapter of Alpha Psi Omega which produced the homecoming play, "To the Lovely Margaret."

Mr. Norman Ziemann enjoys Stout very much and feels that he is a part of the school and community life already. In conclusion he stated, "I am looking forward to being here a long time—I hope."

Preston, Minnesota, is Mr. Ziemann's birthplace. He is a graduate of LaCrosse State Teachers college and holds the M.A. degree from Northwestern university. While in the Navy, Mr. Ziemann attended the University of California and Notre Dame. His teaching experience includes teaching and supervising practice teachers in Antigo and Superior Central high schools.

FIELD TRIP MADE TO THEATRE

Play Production Classes
Tour Tainter Theatre
Of Sixty Years Ago

Students of Mr. N. Z. Ziemann's Play Production classes were amazed by the anecdotes of Menomonie's past, as told by Mr. Paul Schoknecht, manager of the Mabel Tainter Memorial theatre. The students toured the old theatre to view first-hand a perfectly preserved example of a theatre of sixty years ago.

Mr. Schoknecht explained that the theatre was built in 1889, when Menomonie was the booming lumber capital of the world. The Memorial theatre was then the finest theatre in the northwest, featuring such famous stage personalities as George Arliss, said Mr. Schoknecht.

Stating that the theatre had sets for every type of scene from kitchen set to king's castle, Mr. Schoknecht showed that the scenery was also as old as the theatre and had not even been repainted since it was constructed.

In a complete tour of the theatre, the class discovered many unique features of the old theatre. The electricians in the group were interested in the open knife switches back stage. Some of the switches were handling 220 volts! Woodwork majors admired the intricate scroll work in the auditorium.

Upstairs in the dressing rooms, a block and tackle at the head of the stairs puzzled the students until Mr. Schoknecht explained that it was used to haul the large theatrical trunks up the stairs when visiting stock companies played at the theatre.

Stout students will be given several chances to attend performances at this unique theatre when the Menomonie high school produces its plays there again this year.

"Would you like to take a little walk through the park?"

"Sure."

"Okay; don't let me detain you."

Some readers won't care for the above joke. Others will loathe it.

CECILIA ZINE SPEAKS BEFORE WSF MEMBERS

On Sunday evening, November 13, WSF members discussed courtship and marriage. The discussion was led by Miss Cecilia Zine, who gave a number of good pointers on that subject.

"What is courtship?" was a question brought into consideration. After an all-around discussion, it was decided that courtship was the period of going steady until marriage.

Students were reminded that marriage is a life-long proposition and should not be taken lightly. They were also reminded that some very important items to consider before marriage were family background, hereditary diseases, and financial conditions.

As a conclusion, Miss Zine gave the young people a number of questions to think about and mull over in their minds.

This informal discussion was skillfully handled and it was generally agreed that more discussions of this type should be conducted in the near future.

One prof went into a harangue against women Friday.

"The trouble with the fellow who thinks he can read women like a book is that he's always forgetting his place," he said.

Then he added: "But I suppose we should be grateful we can't understand women. Women understand women and they don't like them."

CIGARETTE BUTT CANS PLACED ON CAMPUS

Alpha Phi Omega pledges have made appropriate cigarette butt cans to be placed around the campus.

The idea behind placing these cans at such strategic places as in front of the IE building and Trades building, is to make it much easier to keep our campus clean.

The APO's take this opportunity to thank Mr. K. T. Olsen, Mr. Ralph Betterley, and Mr. George Soderberg for their valuable assistance. Mr. Phil Johnson, the APO's scouting adviser, donated the cans and the use of his trailer for the completion of the project.

All the cans have been painted a bright yellow, with the blue APO insignia on the side. It is expected that they will receive heavy use from the student body. Alpha Phi Omega is receiving many congratulations for its splendid effort in helping to keep our campus clean.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION AT TAINTER AND ANNEX

Women from Tainter annex and Tainter hall celebrating birthdays during the months of November and August were honored on Thursday evening, November 10, at a birthday dinner sponsored by the women from the hall.

Table decorations were large candy storks on the birthday tables, with smaller candy storks on the other tables. Place cards were small gift packages. Beverly Brickson, Judy Hinz, Gretchen Schoenoff, Dorothy Messerschmidt, Priscilla Strommen, Helen Kenna, Sumie Doi, Phyllis Amacher, Joan Steahle, Virginia Lane, and Mary McHatton were the girls honored.

PANEL DISCUSSIONS AT CHICAGO BY INDUSTRIAL ARTS LEADERS

Platteville Teachers college, and Nelson A. Hauer, State university, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Members of this panel presented varied aspects of the problem of training teachers for the field of industrial education. Included in the discussion were presentations on criteria for evaluating industrial education in a school system, methods by which teacher training in industrial education could be improved, and present practices for evaluating student teachers in the field of industrial education.

Responsibilities Is Second Topic

To discuss "Broadening Responsibilities of Industrial Teacher Training Departments," the following panel appeared: Homer J. Smith, University of Minnesota, chairman; Asbury Smith, Central State College of Oklahoma; and Milo Oakland, DeKalb State Teachers college.

This topic was based upon a report showing the services of industrial arts to such other major fields as physical education, business education, agriculture, home economics, and numerous other areas. Also included was a program setting forth requirements for pre-professional and terminal education.

Another highlight of the conference was the panel presentation, "The Graduate Program on the Master's Level." Participants included Victor Randel, Huntsville State Teachers college, chairman; Charles R. Kinson, Ohio university; and J. A. Fuzak, Michigan State college.

Members of this panel offered criteria for evaluating applicants seeking admission to graduate schools. The evidence submitted was based on a study of factors considered by 88 colleges admitting students to graduate work and on a break-down of specific qualities sought in such students.

Master's Work

Also part of the discussion of graduate work was a survey on the prevalence of colleges and universities requiring a thesis for the Master's degree and a study of the requirements, courses, and problems relevant to the Master's degree. A discussion followed on the similarities and dissimilarities shown by the evidence presented.

Chosen as a topic especially relevant to modern trends in education was "Air Age Education and Industrial Arts." Participating in this panel were Chris Groneman, Texas A&M, chairman; Wayne Wetzel, Macomb State Teachers college; and John Feirer, Western State college. A visitor invited to take part in the panel was Allan Pawalek, Ball State college.

Included in the findings of this panel was evidence concerning the purposes, curriculum and current practices pertaining to education, as offered by present-day industrial education departments. Also of interest to the audience was material shown the increased trend toward an American "Air Age," the justification and aims for air age education in junior high schools, and suggestions and commendations for enrichment of such programs.

Problem Solving Method

Final panel for the conference dealt with "The Problem Solving Method in Industrial Arts Teaching." Panel members were W. C. Bicknell, Southern Illinois university, chairman; W. T. Stoner, Miami university; and H. L. Oakley, Murray State college.

Included in the report by panel members was a definition of the problem solving method as it relates to industrial education, and the importance of such a method. Another aspect of the topic was a method by which problem solving could be made to function efficiently.

Other points stressed by the panel included factors to be considered in a problem solving curriculum and a thorough discussion of the psychological aspects of problem solving as it relates to industrial education.

Major Norm Hays, Oklahoma A&M, '40
-Aviation Executive, U.S. Air Force!

A native of Grove, Oklahoma, Norman Hays graduated from Grove High School in 1935. The following year he entered Oklahoma A&M, where he majored in engineering; also took public speaking.

Active in national 4H Club work while in college, he helped organize its statewide activities, won a national 4H championship in Public Speaking. In 1940 he received his BS degree in engineering.

A month later he began navigator training as an Aviation Cadet. In 1941, he received his navigator's wings and a commission as Second Lieutenant... married his college sweetheart.

At an RAF Navigation School in Canada, he graduated with the highest possible rating of Specialist. Norman served overseas for 18 months in the Aleutians, Italy and Saipan.

Accepting a regular commission after the war, he was assigned to development of navigation instruments; navigated the B-29 "Pacusan Dreamboat" on its famed Hawaii-Cairo non-stop flight in 1946.

Typical of college graduates who have found their place in the U. S. Air Force, Major Hays is Chief, Navigation Section, at Headquarters in Washington... with a secure career... a promising future.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider a flying career as an officer in the U. S. Air Force. You may be able to meet the high physical and moral requirements and be selected for training. If you do not complete Aviation Cadet training, you may return to civilian life or have opportunity to train for an important officer assignment in non-flying fields.

Air Force officer procurement teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain about these career opportunities. Watch for their arrival or get full details at your nearest Air Force Base, local recruiting station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S. SIAA PRESIDENT HAASE CALLS COUNCIL MEETING

Members Of Executive Council Report On Area Activities, Plans

National alumni president, Carl Haase, called a meeting of the members of the alumni executive council of this area, Friday, November 4, at 3 p.m. in the Schroeder hotel. President Haase, Secretary Herbert Anderson, First National Vice President Gretchen Ziesmer, Midwest Regional Vice President, Lyman Berg, and Dean Clyde Bowman, adviser and chairman of the auditing committee, attended.

Contact Delinquent Members

The membership committee, headed by Gretchen Ziesmer, will contact delinquent members on the prospect list with an "eye catching" post card designed to remind "lost members" of membership renewal. An accurate tabulation of the returns will be kept and a follow-up planned. Secretary Herb Anderson reported that the returns from the renewal form which was enclosed with mimeographed material mailed to members in October has resulted in 158 yearly membership renewals and nine life memberships.

It was agreed that alumni should be encouraged to organize local groups or chapters as a means to stimulate continued interest in the Alma Mater, extend the number of years of individual memberships in the association, and promote the ideals and purpose of the organization wherever alumni reside. It seems that formation of local chapters is the answer to long-range membership planning. The secretary was instructed to locate key persons in areas where a chapter may be organized and ask the individual to make a survey for the purpose of organizing a local chapter. Herb Anderson reported that Minneapolis, Minn., and Superior are two localities which are now laying the groundwork for chapters.

New Members on Committees

With the assistance of the members of the Executive Council present, President Haase appointed new members to committees. Mr. Haase will inform the persons appointed, and in the next issue of the Stoutonia the appointments will be announced.

The question of increasing membership dues was raised. The secretary will inform the alumni through a series of two or three articles published in the Stoutonia on how the membership dues money is used and the present financial status of the organization. Two months prior to the next annual meeting, members will be given an opportunity to vote on a specific increase as set up by a committee.

The secretary was directed to discuss with the Stout Faculty Alumni committee the advisability of preparing a request for office space for the alumni's home office in the proposed new library building.

Need Alumni News
At one time the secretary's office mailed a questionnaire to alumni, asking for suggestions, comments, and criticisms. "Lack of alumni news" headed the list. It is up to individual members to make the alumni news section in the Stoutonia what it should be. Of course, chapters are expected to report news of the local group's activity; but in addition each member is encouraged to send in news of himself and family, promotions, change of positions, writings, published articles, additions to the family, etc. Alumni shouldn't be modest; they should fill two pages of the Stoutonia.

'49 GRAD DICK HERZING SENDS GREETINGS

Richard J. Herzing, Stout graduate now teaching in Redwood City, California, sends his new address for the Stoutonia, and he also sends greetings to all his friends.

"Greetings from 'Sunny California.' I am sending my new address and am eagerly awaiting my first copy of the Stoutonia.

"Teaching at Sequoia has proven to be quite enjoyable. I teach five classes of general metals a day, and I serve as adviser to the Rifle club. Sequoia is a very large school; it covers over 40 acres of campus, has an enrollment of 2,700 pupils, and has 130 teachers.

All in all, my family and I are really enjoying living in California. Weekend trips to the mountains and ocean have heightened our appreciation of this beautiful state. We had a very happy surprise this summer. I ran into W. H. Watson (January '48) on the streets of San Francisco, and we had a very pleasant reunion with our former neighbors from Stout court. The Watson family is now residing in Placerville, California.

"Greetings to all of our friends."

Sincerely yours,

CHARLES STEBER '42 TEACHES IN OREGON SYSTEM

Information sent to Miss Gertrude M. O'Brien's office by a Denver teacher exchange indicates that Charles Steber (B.S. '42, M.S. '47) is teaching drafting in the Chiloquin, Oregon, schools.

This system is part of the Klamath Falls, Oregon, educational organization.

MRS. J. CAHILL WRITES FROM CALIFORNIA

Mrs. John J. Cahill writes from California:

"Please send my Stoutonia to Mrs. John J. Cahill, 3201 Washington, San Francisco, 151, California.

"We have been in California since last March, but I have neglected sending a change of address as I didn't plan on staying here. My husband and I were on our way to Tokyo when he became sick. He has been a patient at Letterman General hospital since March 22 and will probably be here another year or two.

"Jean Hirvela, a former Stout student, is married and living here in San Francisco. We see each other very often. Thus far, she is the only former Stoutite I have seen out here."

NOTABLES SEEN AT MILWAUKEE CONVENTION

Stoutites From Wisconsin Query, "Why, No Stout Alumni Get-Together?"

President Verne C. Fryklund, Dean Clyde A. Bowman, Dean Alice J. Kirk, Director Ray A. Wigen, Dr. E. P. Oetting, H. M. Hanson, National Alumni President Carl Haase, and National Alumni Secretary Herbert Anderson had not more than entered the city of Milwaukee, November 3, when Stout alumni from all over Wisconsin fired the question, "What, no Stout alumni get-together?"

The Milwaukee chapter answered, "The convention crept up on us so fast that before we realized the situation, it was too late to make arrangements." They assured the alumni that it wouldn't happen again. Recollection of the reunion held last year at the AVA indicated that the Milwaukee chapter can put on a colossal dinner for Stout alumni. Howard Schwabke was chairman of the dinner last year.

Among the notable alumni seen and greeted at the convention were the following.

Leonard Helegason, Dick Maliszewski, Wally Cave, Ralph Onarheim, Al Wutti, Fred Schwehr, Stuart North, John Chase, Alvin Weitkamp, Bob DuCharme, Lyman Berg, Ken Peterson, Arland Alf, Omer Benn, Gene Wereley, Ray Cornwell, Gustav Janssen, William MacLacian, Ted Teschke, James Rockwell, Sam Belcastro, John Mattis, Ed Kriz, Ken Shank, John Neuman, Mel Olson, John Bendix, Del

H. QUILLING FEATURED IN "PICTURE" STORY

A "picture feature" story in the November 3, Minneapolis Tribune depicted the activities of Henriette

HENRIETTE L. QUILLING

Quilling (B.S. '31, M.S. '39), who is home service director for the Northern States Power company in St. Paul, Minnesota.

In the pictures, Miss Quilling is shown demonstrating to cooks and food handlers in Minnesota state institutions, the correct techniques for roasting a large Thanksgiving turkey.

Following her graduation from Stout, Miss Quilling was on the college faculty from 1933 to 1942. She served as a Wave from 1942-1945.

Alumni News

STOUT ALUMNI HAVE NEW OFFICE

The Trades building now houses the Stout Institute Alumni association office. Room 102 is being used for the office equipment and work space necessary for the large volume of correspondence and work that the alumni office handles.

Mr. H. M. Hansen offered the Alumni association the use of a small lecture room in his cabinet shop for the association's office.

Some of the many machines which make up the office equipment are the address-o-graph, address-o-graph files, and the plate maker.

The new office space in the Trades building will make work much more convenient for Herbert Anderson, National Alumni secretary, because he has all his teaching assignments in that building.

A. NOBLE HAS ARTICLE IN H. E. MAGAZINE

"Films For Teacher Education" is the title of an article written by Miss Ann Noble in the November, 1949, issue of Practical Home Economics, one of the four best-known national Home Economics magazines.

In her article, Miss Noble states the need of pre-service education for home economics teachers as a basis for understanding educational problems. Real situations should be studied, she showed, and this need is being met somewhat by educational films now being produced.

Miss Noble concludes her article by describing a few of the films that will meet the pre-service education need.

MENOMONIE MAY APPLY FOR HOUSING UNITS

Application For New Veterans' Homes Also Approved

The Menomonie housing authority has received word from the Federal PHA that it may apply for the 50 federal units under its control. This the local housing agency has already done, so perhaps sometime in November titles of these units will pass from the federal agency to the local authority.

Students here at Stout will be much interested to hear this, as veterans and their families are living in 28 of these units. The students may recall that 90 of these units under control of the Stout housing authority passed from government ownership to state ownership last year.

The local authority has also applied for aid from the federal agency to build 40 new five-room houses at the cost of about $8500 for each building. Approval of this action has already been received from the city, and the regional office in Chicago.

These houses will be constructed under the new Federal housing act. The houses are for low-income families only, and the difference in the rent charged and the total cost of operating, including amortization of the entire debt, will be paid by the Federal PHA. Students at Stout will be eligible to be included as tenants in some of these permanent houses, provided their total income is not over $1800 per year.

The MHA is at present busy listing available lots in the city. The houses will be constructed at various places, and not in one or two groups as is often the case. In other words, a determined effort will be made to build good, sound structures in places where such buildings will make real homes. Veterans again will be given preference as to occupancy. The buildings cannot be sold until the entire debt has been paid.

TEA ROOM HAS FRENCH MOTIF FOR THEME

La Belle France, "beautiful France," read the theme on the menu cards of last week's tea room occasion.

The foreign menu consisted of the following: Les Has D'orves, poulet a la Parisienne (roast chicken French style), petits pois a la francaise (buttered peas), salade de laitue aux tomates (green salad bowl), fruits de saison (fresh fruit bowl), fromages (cheese squares and crackers), cafe (coffee), the' (tea), and lait (milk).

The service was family style typical of France. Everyone relaxed and enjoyed the informality and excellent food of France, which is famous for its leadership in food preparation.

TEXTILE EXPERT TO SPEAK ON FIBERS

The story of man-made fibers, given by a representative from the Celanese Corporation of America, will be presented next Monday, November 21. Miss Eloise Voss will give the talk at 11:00 a.m., in room 411. All students are invited. In the past, Miss Voss has brought large swatches of the newer fabrics with her.

The program, according to Miss Voss, presents the story of man-made fibers from the technical as well as the practical standpoint and stresses particularly the characteristics, care, and handling of these fabrics.

ART DEPT. HAS NEW CHAIRMAN

If you have wandered down the halls on second floor, or just passed quickly through on the elevator, you have probably noticed the attractive displays near the art room. Miss Amon, the new head of the Art department at Stout, is more than living up to the tradition of making the Art rooms among the most interesting spots in school.

Miss Martha Ruth Amon is from Sparta, Wisconsin. Her present home is in Madison. She received her Bachelor's and Master's degrees from the University of Wisconsin. (She'll be right at home with our Menomonie weather!)

MISS AMON

Estes Park Summer School of Art. She taught high school art in Austin, Minnesota, and in Wichita, Kansas. She was art supervisor in Maywood, Ill. Miss Amon taught summer schools at Drake university in Des Moines, and the State Teachers College in Oneonta, New York. She taught during the regular sessions at Miami university, Oxford, Ohio, and in Junior School of the Art Institute, Chicago, Ill.

Her special interests are ceramics and water color painting. When interviewed, Miss Amon said that she thought the country around Menomonie is beautiful; in fact it is just as beautiful as New York state, where she taught last summer.

She will be anxious to see which wild flowers grow here. She has a special affection for arbutus and lady slippers (which she promises not to pick). She was very thrilled to see the bitter-sweet and wishes that some could be grown near school.

So, keep your eye on the art department; Miss Amon has many good ideas that will be worth watching.

SSA RECEIVES LETTERS FROM ADOPTED ORPHAN

Maria-Anna Karaskiewicz Writes About Her School Vacations And Teachers

Two more charming letters were received from Maria Karaskiewicz, Polish war orphan adopted last year by the Stout student body. Both letters had bright drawings on the backs.

Translations of the letters were included and are reprinted here.

Dear Foster Parents,

Here is a letter again from Annie, everything is still alright here. Since a few days we have a vacation. The examinations were successful. I too did very well.

And we enjoy the vacations for which we were longing so much. I may leave during the vacation, I shall help mother at home and play. We also had an exhibition of note-books and handicraft. The big children made a nightgown and nicely embroidered cushions. Are they doing that in America too?

I close now with the heartiest greetings and next time I shall tell you more about the vacations.

Maria-Anna

My dear Foster Parents,
The vacation is now passed. It was a very nice time. Now we are going to school. I have a new class-mistress. I will work very much during this year.

Thursday it was the feast of our Reverend Mother.

The pupils have acted a play, "The Legend of the Holy Mary." It was very nice.

The weather is very hot, so hot that we can not sleep at night and we would sleep in the class when we must learn our lessons and write our exercises.

With much love from yours,
Maria-Anna

REPAIR WORK ON TOWER FINISHED

Tower Roof Repaired After Almost Being Demolished By The Windstorm

Repair work on the tower roof, which was damaged in the windstorm of October 10, has been completed. The standing symbol of The Stout Institute was completely reroofed with copper sheeting, as most of the old roof had been torn off in the storm.

All of the area around the tower was fenced off, to avoid the danger of anyone's being injured by falling objects while the carpenters were working above. Very unique scaffolding was erected to make it possible for the workmen to repair the roof. A two-drum hoist powered by a gasoline engine was used to hoist all the material up to the loft.

Forty-foot timbers were laid on the railings and tied securely so that they would protrude out over the edge a considerable distance. Twenty-foot timbers were then placed crosswise to give support for the metal scaffolding, which was then erected up to the eaves. All timbers and planks used had to be flawless in quality, in order to eliminate all danger of cracking under strain. The task of putting on the new roof was then completed.

Now that the tower is in good repair, it probably will stand as a symbol of The Stout Institute for many years to come.

CABINET MAKING CLASS VISITS EXHIBIT ROOMS

The cabinet making class made a one-day tour to the Twin Cities, October 27. Mr. H. M. Hanson and 17 members of his class visited several points of interest. The first place in line was the R-Way Furniture company. Here students saw 37 different exhibit rooms completely furnished. The company showed how furniture is designed, manufactured, and constructed to meet the consumer's eye and pocket book.

The next place visited was the Minneapolis Institute of Art, where the travelers had the opportunity to see rooms dating from the Italian Renaissance period to the present and future ultra modern styles.

Last of all the St. Paul gallery and School of Art proved to be another point of interest.

The idea presented to everybody by the School of Art was "Design for Living for 1949". Exhibits featured the best buys and best designs in furniture and other materials. A new idea in kitchen color schemes was the variation of colors on refrigerators and stoves.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYERS NAMED

WENTORF, OOLEY, YOUNG RECEIVE TEAM AWARDS

Players Voted By Teammates
As Co-Captains Of Year
And Most Valuable Player

Members of the 1949 Blue Devil football squad had a meeting last Monday evening, November 18, and selected Fred Wentorf and Jim Ooley as co-captains for the '49 football season. The men "who ought to know" also selected Bob Young as the Most Valuable Player on the team.

These three men will be honored on Athletic Award day next spring. Because of their hard work throughout the season, these men were selected by their teammates for the coveted titles and awards.

Bob Young, halfback from Wausau, Wisconsin, is the leading scorer on the team and the player who saved three games for Stout with his automatic toe on conversions. Bob converted 18 extra points this season. Bob was on the all-conference team in his freshman and sophomore years.

Fred Wentorf, guard on the Blue Devil eleven, comes from Milwaukee. Fred was out this year to put a great finish on his football career. Big and rugged, Fred liked the game when the going was rough. Fred, who was on the all-conference second team last year, will be remembered and respected by his opponents for his vicious blocking and tackling throughout the season.

Jim Ooley, the other guard on the Stout team, is a Menomonee product. Jim had a big season this year, as he turned in outstanding defensive and offensive play in every game. Jim has a nose for picking out the opposing team's plays, and he usually ended up where the opposing ball carriers were trying to go. Ooley was also selected on the all-conference second team last year.

BLUEDEVIL WIN CHALKED UP OVER IOWA U

Last Game Of Year Sees Stout Defeating Upper
Iowa University 14-13

Last Friday afternoon, the Blue Devils turned in one of their finest days of play as they defeated the Peacocks of Upper Iowa university, at Fayette, Iowa, by the score of 14-13.

Stout's first score came at the end of a sixty-yard drive by the Blue Devil's quarterback, Gale Woelffer, who threw a three-yard jump pass to end Vaughn Stai for pay dirt. Bob Young converted the first of his two precious conversions.

The second touchdown came as an Iowa player intercepted Woelffer's pass, which was intended for Cataldi. The Iowa player was then tackled hard and fumbled the ball in the end zone. Bill Kieffer recovered the fumble for the second tally.

Hard running by Peterson, Kieffer and Krall highlighted the Stout offense, with Krall turning in one of his finest games of the year. On defense Wentorf, Ooley, Spears, Walker, Debrauske, and Markely were the sparkplugs.

This victory gave the Blue Devils a five-game winning streak, as they won the last five games on their schedule.

Coach Storti said, "All the victories were team victories; the men improved on every game, and I enjoyed coaching such a hard working team."

BASKETBALL PRACTICE STARTS

The Menomonee armory and the I.E. gymnasium have recently become the scene of torrid action as Coach Ray Johnson attempts to whip the Blue Devil basketball squad into shape for the season's opener against St. Mary's of Winona, November 26.

There are currently 22 men vying for starting positions on the team. This number includes 9 former football players and six lettermen.

This year's five will be attempting to better their rating over last year's squad which finished third in final conference standings.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS BEGIN NOVEMBER 16

"Intramural sports started November 16 with the beginning of the volley ball tournament," announces Tony Storti, director of intramural sports. Two volley ball leagues were formed and a series of eliminations will take place, with the two first teams in the leagues playing for the championship.

Storti states that after the volleyball games there will be basketball, badminton, bowling, and swimming. "All team lists have to be in by Monday, November 14," said the coach. Medals will be awarded to the winners.

"All organizations and independent teams are invited to participate," states Storti. "The more teams, the better any league will be."

COVEY'S CORNER

Stout's 14-13 victory over Upper Iowa climaxed one of the school's most successful football seasons. Stout's victory over a highly rated Iowa team gives a clear indication that the Blue Devils weren't going to take a back seat for anyone.

Touchdowns by Bill Kieffer and Vaughn Stai, combined with the automatic toe of Bob Young, gave the Stout men their one point victory.

The only blue note of the game was the injury received by the Blue Devil fullback, Harter Peterson. One of the main springs on the team all season, Harter hurt his back in the last part of the Iowa game.

Fred Wentorf picked up a big nose and black eye as a reward for his playing at Iowa. Fred turned in a big afternoon for his final game, and received several favorable comments from opposing players.

The rest of the conference wound up the season with non conference games; La Crosse was defeated by Illinois Normal 26-14; Superior was setback by the University of Minnesota, Duluth Branch, 33-27.

I would like to recap the season and bring the games back to the readers.

Stout started the season against a highly-rated Mankato State Teachers college team. Stout's men had their formation down cold for the opening game, and provided the fans with a victory that promised great things for the season. Stout defeated Mankato 28-27.

On the first of October, the Blue Devils entertained the Eau Claire team. Everyone looked for a victory over the neighboring rivals, but Eau Claire had the Blue Devils passing attack pretty well bottled up and Stout lost 7-6.

Stout's first out-of-town game was against River Falls; the Blue Devils lost their second conference game by a score of 12-7 against a weak but determined River Falls team. At this point Stout had reached the low spot of the season.

Homecoming weekend came on October 15. The Stout men defeated the Quakers from Whitewater 7-6 to make the Homecoming a great success.

The great weekend for Stout football came on October 22 as the Stout team ruined the La Crosse State teachers Homecoming by upsetting the previously undefeated La Crosse team 27-19. This was the first victory a Stout football team ever had over La Crosse; at this point local fans knew that Coach Storti was fielding a great team this year.

Riding high on the following weekend, the Blue Devils played Superior before a crowd of "Dads." The Stout eleven couldn't do anything wrong and defeated the Yellowjackets, 35-19. Oshkosh had a Homecoming on the fifth of November, but they picked the wrong opponents for the game. The Blue Devils had a slump after their two previous weekends, but they proved better than Oshkosh and defeated them 14-0.

Last Friday the team played the Peacocks of Upper Iowa. The Iowans reputation failed to impress Storti's men and the 14-13 victory for Stout wound off a five-game winning streak.

Congratulations are in order for Coach Tony Storti and his assistants, Wally Hammerberg and Arnie Pottast. The hard work of these men, combined with their knowledge of football, produced a team the school can be proud of.

While I'm passing out bouquets, I think the seniors in the squad should receive special attention. The men I'm thinking about are Fred Went-

BOWLING ALLEYS OPEN NOVEMBER 14

Stout bowling alleys will be open officially the week of November 14 to 18, announced Dean M. M. Price last week. Opening has been delayed because of the pleasant weather and lack of demand for bowling.

Physical education classes are also planning to use the bowling alleys this quarter. These students set their own pins and do not pay for the use of the alleys. Some equipment has been purchased by the physical education department, and more is expected to be added this year.

Intramural bowling will again be part of the intramural sports program this year.

Hours for all-school bowling will be posted soon.

orf, Jim Ooley, Bob Young, Bob Simon, Mike Anderson, and Dave Tank. It's hard enough getting through college using all your spare time. These men had the guts to take on both college and football.

Football takes a lot of time on the mens' schedule, consequently men with four-years experience on the team are really "bears for wear." If Young, Simon, Anderson, Ooley, Wentorf, and Tank recall the last four seasons, they could name a good many men who played on the team and yet didn't graduate. It really is a rough grind to attend college and play football on the side. For this reason I think these men should receive special commendation.

CLIF. KAMEN TO PRESENT MOVIE

World Traveler And Artist
To Present All-color
Movie In Convo

Clifford J. Kamen, world traveler and photographer-artist, who presents his all-color motion picture "Italy" here at convocation on Wednesday, November 30, has that unique combination of background, travel experience, photographic and art training which make him outstanding among film lecturers.

The extent of his knowledge of the people and geography of the world has been gained through journeys to some thirty-two countries in Europe, Africa, Asia, South America, and the South Seas as well as throughout the United States. He has personally visited every locality described in his film. He has the ability to reach little-known and out-of-the-way places and knows what spots of interest and importance to look for and how to find them.

No phase of motion picture photography is so difficult as the field work encountered in making a travelogue. Specialized knowledge must compensate for the lack of studio facilities, trained actors, and controlled lighting. Clifford J. Kamen has devoted some twenty years to perfecting this type of photography, and his pictures are acclaimed as being the finest in the field. His painstaking composition and beautiful lighting reflect his many years of art training at the Chicago Art Institute and the Chicago Academy of Arts in his native city. He also studied art at the University of California.

Each of Kamen's films is comprehensive and accurate, not merely a collection of personal anecdotes describing the events of a casual visit. A graduate of Northwestern university in 1935 with a Bachelor of Science degree, Kamen studied sociology, economics, psychology, geography, and several other sciences. These gave him a sound basis for his subsequent career.

Today Clifford J. Kamen has an unequalled ability to grasp a subject and organize it into an appealing, See CLIF. KAMEN Page 4—

DR. ROBERT H. BECK TO SPEAK IN ASSEMBLY

An open professional meeting for all students will be presented jointly by Epsilon Pi Tau and Phi Upsilon Omicron, professional honorary fraternities on campus. Dr. Robert H. Beck, professor of history and philosophy of education from the University of Minnesota, will speak before students in the Stout assembly on the evening of December 5.

Dr. Beck will be presented on the same basis as a regular assembly speaker. That is, his talk will be followed by a question period. Bob Swanson of EPT is in charge of procuring the speaker.

CALLED AWAY BY DEATH OF FATHER AT CITIES

Mr. Thomas F. Fleming was called to St. Paul suddenly on Monday morning, due to the sudden illness and death of his father. Mr. Fleming is an instructor of English and advisor to the Stoutonia, the college newspaper. Students and staff members offer their sincere sympathy.

Thanksgiving

"As we kneel in Your House of Worship, we thank you, Lord, for all our blessings . . ."

Throughout the nation, bright fires glow in open hearths . . . children sing as they eagerly set the table for the holiday feast . . . and the family is united on the occasion of traditional Thanksgiving Day.

Let this Thanksgiving be one for the entire world as we raise our voices in a prayer for universal peace.

Let Us Be Thankful . . .

The table is loaded, and Stout students are filled with anticipation. Yes, we all are ready for the Thanksgiving vacation, but if we stop and think a moment we all have more to be thankful for than just a vacation.

The Pilgrims suffered greatly in the wintry clutches of young America. They survived, however, and soon other peoples settled our shores. We are thankful for those first settlers who laid the cornerstone of our nation. After the cornerstone, the bricks fall fast; so did they in America. With each ship's passenger list filled with freedom seekers, America grew quickly, not only in size but also in ideas. Each group brought with them its own ideas on how the new land should be governed.

Within three hundred years these ideas have been forged into a chain of events that have led to the formation of our democratic principles. Indeed, we are thankful for the opportunities and freedoms America has given us. Let us strive to keep bright these opportunities and freedoms for the citizens of the future.

PUBLICITY FILM TO BE SHOT AT STOUT

Dean Kirk, Staff To Write
Story; Visual Ed. Dept.
To Handle Photography

A publicity film on home economics, to be used to introduce The Stout Institute to high school girls interested in this field, is being made at Stout. The film will be the result of the cooperative efforts of three groups: Phi Upsilon Omicron, national honorary home economics fraternity; the division of Home Economics; and the Visual Education department.

Dean Kirk and her staff are working on the story for the film, which she will turn over to David Barnard, head of the visual education department, and Jerry Cook, a Stout student, who will write the scenario for the actual photographing. The film will be about fifteen minutes long, and will be photographed in silent Kodachrome.

A camera crew of four men under Jerry Cook, who will act as chief photographer, will do the photographing. They will start some time after Christmas.

SSA MESSAGE

Fellow Students,

Another quarter is well underway and a much-needed vacation is in the offering. About this time tomorrow, we shall all have had our fill of Thanksgiving goodies and will probably be taking a walk to ease our full tummies. That's what's nice about Thanksgiving vacation, plenty to eat and a few days' rest.

Let us forget the "400" will stop today at the junction for you south-bound students. Contrary to an article in a previous paper, you did not have to sign up somewhere in order to get a minimum of 50 students. It will stop just the same; so says Dean Price.

Soon you will be asked to vote on joining the NSA, the National Student association. Before you are asked to cast your ballots, certain publicity will be given on the organization. It is wise that you become acquainted with it so you know just what benefits, etc., are derived before you cast your vote. The publicity given will be both written and oral.

Don't eat too much over the vacation and we'll see you all Monday, eager to hit the books again.

The SSA Officers

DEMONSTRATE MODERN MEAT COOKERY

Latest Cooking Techniques Are Demonstrated By
Miss Helen Shepard

Demonstrations showing modern methods of preparing meat for the table which will add to its appetite appeal as well as to the attractiveness of the meat dish, will be conducted by Miss Helen Shepard of the field staff of the National Live Stock and Meat board when she appears in a meat cookery program on December 1 and 2 in the new Stout Home Economics demonstration laboratory.

Miss Helen Shepard

High school and college students will make up the audience for the programs to be presented by Miss Shepard. On December 1, the high school nutrition class will see a meat demonstration in the morning; the nutrition class of Stout will listen to a lecture at 2:00 p.m. On December 2, college students in the institutional foods class at 10 o'clock and the sophomore foods class at 3 o'clock will watch two meat demonstrations presented by Miss Shepard. Other students interested in the topics may attend if there is space available after the classes are seated, according to Miss Mary Margaret Shaw of the foods department. For further information on room assignments of the events, students should contact Miss Shaw.

CALIF. ASKS FOR HELP IN FOODS FIELD

The Stout Institute placement bureau received a letter recently from Robert O. Fort, of the California State Personnel board, telling of a need for nutritionists to consult with local school authorities in connection with the school lunch programs throughout the state.

In order to maintain policies and standards established by the State Department of Education in California, consulting nutritionists are needed to work with local school authorities on the problem of school lunch programs.

College graduates with major work in foods and nutrition and two years of recent experience are eligible for positions as nutritionist, grade 2. The experience needed must have been gained within the last ten years and must be in any one or a combination of the following types of work:

1. Nutritionist.
2. Home economist in a social welfare agency or in an agricultural extension.

VICTOR COTY SHOWS COLORED FILM

An interesting colored film was shown by Victor Coty, sportsman, naturalist, explorer and photographer at the lyceum Friday evening, when Mr. Coty portrayed the glories of our own America and brought its fascinating wild life, scenic grandeur, and thrilling sports to the large enthusiastic audience.

His pictures and talk were enjoyed immensely by the entire audience. Mr. Coty has fifty hours of film, but was only able to show a limited number of his artistic shots.

Mr. Coty brought the outdoors indoors to the audience through his exquisite oil paintings that were full of the joy and beauty of outdoor life.

Freedom Guaranteed?

Days are slipping by rapidly and now it won't be too long before another Thanksgiving. To all of us in America, Thanksgiving means more than just another day in our lives. It means that one day is set aside each year for the purpose of giving thanks for all the good things in life that have come to us. One of the greatest rewards that anyone can receive is to live in America as a free American, yet that gift is taken for granted by people in general. Why is it that Americans take their freedom for granted? One answer to this question could be stated thus: We are born in a free nation as free citizens without fear of the loss of "Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness." What more could anyone ask as something to be thankful for?

Thanksgiving has been observed every year since the Pilgrims first celebrated it in 1621. History has repeated itself for the last 327 years as to the spirit of Thanksgiving. The traditional turkey has been the fowl always thought of as the main dish for the festival held by the Pilgrims.

Thoughts of Thanksgiving tend to direct the thinking of people to a festival, without regard to the Pilgrims original intention. If people would stop and think about what Thanksgiving really signifies, many ideals and principles typical of the American way of life would be brought out vividly above other thoughts that indirectly go hand in hand with Americanism.

Some other facts we can be thankful for are freedom from war, personal freedom, and the period of prosperity which is spread over our nation as a whole. There are many more things to be thankful for, it is true, but these stand out as most important for the majority of the people in America.

If no other thought enters the minds of all Americans than the giving of thanks for being able to live in a free nation and to celebrate Thanksgiving in a manner in which they are accustomed, it is nevertheless worthwhile in living up to the spirit for which Thanksgiving was originally intended.

Hi gang--

Well, here we are, about to embark on a much needed vacation. These past few weeks have seemed to drag by, but now the future looks a little brighter. Only thirty-two more days until Christmas, but only twenty-three days until vacation starts.

We enjoyed a pretty eventful weekend, what with the lyceum and the formal dance. Saw quite a few of the married couples at the lyceum Friday night. Ralph Antes and his spouse were there, along with the Merlin Moores, the Jim Norriss, and the Dave Hoffmans. Fred Plonsky was there also, with his wife, the school nurse.

Two of the interesting couples we noticed at the lyceum were "Clancey" Urankar and Barbara Pech; and Don Winters and Charmaine Chopp. In these couples we have representation of the old faithfuls and the brand new combinations. "Nuff said about the lyceum. We can't get the sight of those enormous fish out of our minds.

Then we have the brief interlude between the lyceum and the formal, in which we remember hearing of the U of Wisconsin being defeated by some team calling themselves the U of Minnesota. But those are disheartening recollections.

Saturday night saw a host of brightly arrayed couples enjoying the formal sponsored by the Sigma Tau Gamma. And what a night. While Betty Worthington sat on the sidelines, Warren Barberg took a few of his well-known portraits. Herb Watanabe was there with his flash gun taking pictures of the merry throng.

We saw some very interesting couples at the dance. Heading the list should be none other than the "Rose of Sigma Tau," Beverly Brehmer and her "Thorn," Lawrence "Bud" Ryder. Bev was a perfect queen, we might add.

Herb Meisner and Kay Thurston looked mighty nice tripping the light fantastic. Marlyn "Chas" Tibbetts had us guessing when he sauntered in with Dorothy Krushas on his arm. Earl Dehne managed to get to the dance with his wife, after an eventful hunting trip on which he bagged a deer.

We noticed Milt Miller's eyes had that old sparkle, but we couldn't figure out why until we saw Bev Wentlandt and Milt on the dance floor. Nice going, Milt. Two other happy boys were the Myers brothers, Austin and John. We understand that their heart throbs came up from Milwaukee for the shindig.

Ed Maurer and his fiancé Marge Musil were enchanted the whole evening. They seemed to be dancing on a cloud. Another star gazing couple was Russ Larsen and Isabel Benedict.

Allan Engen and Ross Slater were out with two Eichelberger girls Saturday night. Allan was escorting Elaine "Andy" Anderson, while Ross did the honors with Jean Moe. We don't think Al and Ross could have figured out a better system. Both girls live at the same place, thus making the best use of the time left after the dance.

Lee Flanders made a good showing with Terry Reiland. That is quite a few times they have been out together. One of the shortest couples at the dance were Chuck Jorgensen and Rowena Christen. Impressive to say the least.

Some of the people we least expected turned up at the dance. Ruby Jarman and her "promised" were two of them. We kind of think Ruby made a good choice.

Some more of the couples we saw that we will mention are Ben Gabriel and Prudence Johnson; Irvin Lathrop and Eleanor Grutt; Bob Crowley and Lois Quist; Wayne Olson and Loree Woolen; Mel Witte and Ardelle Lietzke; Gordon Goessner and Joanne Bultoltz; Wayne Coleman and Shirley Doner; Eugene Weigel and Jerry Jurwitz; Don Gee and Marianna "Drizz" Zdrasil; and Lorton Layman and Ruth Johnson.

These make up a fair representation of those not mentioned heretofore in this column. We hope those not mentioned will not feel slighted.

Nancy Haertlein and Wally Weiss, who have been seen together quite often, recently made a "concrete hit" with each other. Nancy and Wally fell into each others arms Sunday night. Say, was the ice a bit slippery in front of the union??

Well gang, we can taste that Thanksgiving meal all ready. What ever you may have to eat and where ever you may eat it, we sincerely hope you won't forget what Thanksgiving really means.

So with that thought in mind, we wish you a happy vacation and may you come back filled to the gills with food. See you in a week and a half.

Have a nice time and be good, and be careful.

FOR THE BLOOD BANK

On Monday, November 28, and Tuesday, November 29, the National Red Cross Blood Donor mobile unit will be in Menomonie. This is the opportunity for each of us at Stout to give one pint of blood, of any type, so there will be a sufficient supply in the Memorial Hospital in case of any emergency when blood is needed.

This blood that we give may save the life of some Stout student, some member of our family, or some critically ill service man or veteran under care in a government hospital in the Twin Cities.

Last spring a prominent citizen of Menomonie was given a number of blood transfusions "Free of Cost" because the people of this community had given so generously to the blood bank of Dunn county.

This mobile unit comes to Menomonie four times a year. So if complications confront you now and you cannot participate in this donation, remember the unit will be back again in February, May, and August. For information concerning this campaign, you are urged to see any member of the Alpha Phi Omega, scouting fraternity, and they will give you the necessary data.

Students and faculty of Stout bear this in mind: by donating blood, "the life you save may be your own."

COOS BY WALLY PIGEON

Hello, readers and schoolmates,

Right off the bat, I want to wish you all a very Happy Thanksgiving and an enjoyable weekend.

I wish to pass on to you the following Thanksgiving dinner story. This story doesn't concern Pilgrims, Indians, or the first Thanksgiving dinner, although this story may date back to the first dinner. The story is about a group of men who were stranded in a big city during the holiday, and since they were unable to be with their families or relatives for this event, they decided to celebrate the holiday together. The group was made up of a farmer, an actor, and some business men. As the moment for the dinner came up, the group selected the farmer as the one who would carve the turkey, and he accepted this honor. The group sat down to dinner, and the farmer immediately asked the group for their opinion on the style of carving the bird.

"How do you want this turkey carved, fellows," asked the farmer. "Do you want it country style or city style?"

Since the group had selected the farmer as the carver, they answered, "We want it country style."

So the farmer followed out his definition of country style. He cut off the part of the bird that he wanted and then passed the rest of the turkey to the next person.

And as you have your Thanksgiving turkey, goose, duck, or chicken either in country style or city style, I want to wish you a Happy Thanksgiving weekend, again. I am sure that I will be well filled as I back away from the dinner table, and I hope that you all will be the same!

Just a joke writer,
Wally Pigeon.

Harter Petersen: "Doc, I get awful pains when I bend forward, put my hands below my knees, straighten up, and bring them above my waist."

Doc: "Well, why do you make such foolish motions?"

Harter: "Foolish—my eye! In what other way would I get my pants on?"

Dick (God's Gift) Van Duzee took Bev Struck for a sleigh ride, and nine miles out in the country, the horse dropped dead.

"Oh, dear," said Bev, "this would have to happen when I am so tired."

"Well I can give you a nice kiss," replied lover boy. "That should put some life into you."

"Well in that case," answered Bev, "maybe you should kiss the horse."

I sure can't resist this one. I read somewhere that an old maid's laughter is as follows: "He! He! He!"

The following did not come from any stenographer that works at Stout: A stenographer defined a wolf as a modern dry cleaner because he works fast and doesn't leave any ring.

Two students were studying their home work one night and one fellow was confronted by a difficult question so he asked his roommate.

Red Richter: "Say Rog, who was Hamlet?"

Rog Landgraf: "Get me the Bible, you ignoramus, and I'll show you the answer."

College students are trained to think as fast on their feet as with their heads; they have to when they head the line at the Stout cafeteria.

Tiny Norman: "That's a pretty party dress that you have on."

Doris Eckstein: "I am glad that you like it. I wear it to teas."

Tiny: "Well, it certainly does."

Two boys were talking about girls. What else can two single fellows talk about in their spare time?

1st fellow: "Elsie went to an astrologer to find out when was the best time to get married."

2nd fellow: "What did he tell her?"

1st fellow: "He took one good look at her and told her to grab the first chance."

A woman ordered some groceries by phone, but when she received the order, she discovered that there was only ten oranges instead of the dozen that she had ordered. She called the store again and demanded a reason for the mistake.

"Well, lady that's part of the service of this store. Two were bad, so we saved you the trouble of throwing them away."

Here's a story for duck hunters. Two fellows who were out duck hunting one day ran into some good luck hunting and decided to go back to the same place the next time.

1st hunter: "Say, did you mark the spot where the hunting was so good?"

2nd hunter: "Yes, I placed an X on the side of this boat."

1st hunter: "Why, you dumb fool, what if we get a different boat the next time?"

INTERSOCIETY BALL WILL BE DECEMBER 3

The Intersociety Ball, which is to take place in the Stout gymnasium December 3, has for its theme the "Holly Ball." The Royal Blackhaws will furnish music for the dancers. Those invited to this semi-formal dance are all society members and their dates.

Each organization has charge of some committee. P.A.'s are general chairman; Hyp's are in charge of invitations and music; SMA society is to plan the decorations; the Philo's have been assigned the punch and clean up.

Advisers are Miss Jeter, Miss Carrison, Miss Van Ness and Dr. Marshall.

Chaperones will include President and Mrs. Verne C. Fryklund, Dean Alice J. Kirk, Dean Keturah Antrim, and Dean and Mrs. Merle M. Price.

HYPs TAKE ORDERS FOR CHRISTMAS CARDS

The Hyperian Society has been taking orders for Christmas cards during the past few days. The cards have a winter scene of the Home Ec building on them. The price is 10 cents each or 12 for $1.00. The cards will be here the first week in December or the beginning of the second week, at the latest.

If you haven't ordered your cards, there will probably be some extra when the cards arrive.

RUTH QUIGLEY IS ELECTED VICE-PRESIDENT OF SOPHS

At the sophomore class meeting held November 9, Ruth Quigley was elected vice-president. Miss Quigley succeeds Geraldine Tanz, who recently left school to be married.

The attendance at this meeting was small; however, it is the hope of the class officers that future meetings will have a larger representation.

ALAN E. REED RECEIVES WINGS

Midshipman Alan E. Reed, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Reed, of 1008 7th street, Menomonie, was designated a naval aviator November 9. He received his Navy wings and diploma at a ceremony conducted by Captain J. B. Dunn, USN, commanding officer of the Naval Air station, Corpus Christi, Texas.

Midshipman Reed, a graduate of Menomonie high school in the class of 1946, joined the Navy in April of that year, and then attended The Stout Institute until entering flight training in June, 1948. His pre-flight and basic flight training was taken at the Naval Air station, Pensacola, Fla., and his advanced aviation training was taken aboard the Naval Air station, Corpus Christi, in multi-engine aircraft.

After spending a few days leave, Reed will report to the Commander, Air Forces Pacific fleet, San Diego, Calif., for duty.

WESLEY HOLDS FALL RALLY AT SUPERIOR, WIS.

Dr. Glen Olds Is Principal Speaker; Stout Delegation In Charge Of Friday Program

Last weekend, November 11-13, eighteen members of the Stout Wesley Student Fellowship went to Superior, Wisconsin, for the fall Rally of the World Methodist movement. The theme of this interesting and highly inspirational conference was "The Campus Challenge to Christian Faith."

Groups from throughout the state were in attendance and participated in the program. The Stout delegation was in charge of the Friday evening worship service, which was led by Lorton Layman and Noreen Kahl. Solos were sung by Dale Maxey. A short talk was given at this service by Miss Margaret Briggs, Methodist missionary to South Africa.

The principal speaker for the conference was Dr. Glen Olds, of the Garrett seminary in Evanston, Illinois. Dr. Olds gave several lectures, and devoted much of his speaking time to the answering of questions posed by the delegates.

The Stout delegation, with exception of that from Superior, was the largest at the conference, having eighteen representatives. A total of over 105 christian students from all over the State of Wisconsin shared in devotional services and discussion groups, where they traded ideas for programs and discussed problems common to the groups as a whole.

GENE SAWYER WINS IN PING PONG TOURNAY

The Lynwood ping pong tourney drew to a close this Monday afternoon with Gene Sawyer, freshman, showing his superiority over the sixteen other entries in the contest and taking first place. Sawyer clinched his bid for the championship by beating Paul Rauth in a three out of five championship series, needing only four games to amass the three wins necessary to win.

PHI U COUNSELOR VISITS STOUT FOR INSPECTION

District Counselor Checks Local Chapter In Regular Biennial Inspection

Inspection of the local chapter by the district counselor and initiation of twelve new members filled two busy days for the Tau chapter, Phi Upsilon Omicron, November 12 and 13.

Miss Audrey McCollum, District V counselor from South Dakota State college, spent two days at The Stout Institute in the regular biennial inspection of the chapter. A schedule of conferences with the advisers and officers, plus chapter meetings, occupied both days.

Saturday afternoon twelve new Phi U members, two seniors and ten juniors, were initiated into the Tau chapter. The seniors are Marge Musil, Neilsville, and Helen Wolsey, Milwaukee. The juniors are Ruth Schrader, Menomonie; Barbara Lovering, Appleton; Patricia Vogels, Green Bay; Fay Lehner, Kiel; Dorothy Groethe, Kindred, North Dakota; Bernice Danzinger, Mondovi; Jean Archie, Watertown; Leverage Ablard, Campbellsport; Dorothy Amendt, Thorp; and Ann Banker, Fort Atkinson.

Following the initiation ceremony, members of Phi U, together with Miss McCollum and advisers Miss Gladys Trullinger, Mrs. Lloyd Whydowski, Miss Marjory Elliot, and Mrs. Ralph Betterly, enjoyed a dinner at the Cafe LaCorte. Corsages of yellow and white chrysanthemums were presented to counselor McCollum and the new members before the meal.

Dorothy Amendt and Florence Severson sang a duet following the dinner. Frances Knight accompanied them.

Miss Mary Kimball Speaks To Home Ec Club

The Home Economics club is holding a meeting Monday, November 28, in room 411 at 7:15 p.m. Miss Mary Kimball, who works as a home economist in the Research and Development Laboratories of Pillsbury Mills, Inc., in Minneapolis, will speak to the members of the club on the various fields of a home economist.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLASS TO SHOW PICTURES

A display of photographs taken by the photography class will be exhibited on the second floor of the Home Economics building, the week of November 28 to December 2.

The display consists of fifty pictures taken, developed, printed and mounted by the photography class and includes work of Bob Babick, Charles Ayers, Robert Blaessing, Richard Dunne, Bernard Fisher, Gerald Gappa, Robert Langorne, William Richardson, John Schwalbe and Stuart Smith. All the 8 x 10 pictures will be mounted on 16 x 20 salon mounts.

The photography class, I.E. 205, is open to men and women who hold a sophomore rating. It was designed to supply a background for students planning to teach photography and audio-visual education, as well as for those who anticipate photography club supervision while they are teaching.

CAGE TEAM PREPARES FOR SEASON

BLUE-WHITE CAGERS TO START GAMES SOON

Practice Started Last Week
For Rigid Twenty-One Game Schedule

The blue and white-clad cagers of The Stout Institute started practicing last week for the 21-game basketball schedule they will face in the 1949-50 season, according to Coach Ray C. Johnson.

The Blue Devils' schedule includes ten home games and eleven games on the road. Their first game will be at St. Mary's college on November 26, while their first home game will be played on December 1.

Coach Johnson commented that the Blue Devils will face a schedule so built that it is competitive, with no setups.

Johnson indicated, however, that there are two games which are on the doubtful list: the first is the St. Cloud

COVEY'S

CORNER

With football a thing of the past and basketball still around the corner, there isn't much doing to keep the students' minds on sports.

A letter to Coach Storti, from the Athletic department at River Falls Teachers college, gave the River Falls squad's all-opponent selection. The team is as follows:

Strein, Whitewater, guard
OOLEY, STOUT, GUARD
Kaczmarek, LaCrosse, center
Knispel, LaCrosse, tackle
Soper, Superior, tackle
Washburn, Eau Claire, end
Butts, Platteville, end
Perkins, Eau Claire, fullback
Evans, LaCrosse, halfback
Moselle, Superior, halfback
Wainwright, Platteville, quarter-back

Bluedevil guard Jim Ooley was the only Stout player mentioned. River Falls can hardly be blamed for not picking more men from Stout, because the local team was the only conference team to be beaten by River Falls.

The freshmen on the football squad this fall were showing lots of promise for future teams. As yet there is no information to the new men on the basketball squad. Coach Johnson doesn't have too much time to get his men into a working squad before the St. Mary's game on the 26th of this month.

All the practices have been closed practices and there isn't very much information out on the team as yet.

The squad will probably be built around six returning lettermen: Vaughn Stal, Russ Pollock, Bill Amthor, Bob Brimer, John Debrauske, and Ed Nylund; along with Bob Erickson and

STOUT TO PLAN FOR COLLEGE SKI MEET

Attention ski enthusiasts!

The Ski club has received notice that it has been given rights to this year's Intercollegiate Ski meet. The club is now making plans for the meet.

At the last meeting of the club, committees were set up for the various jobs involved in an intercollegiate meet. There are only a few mammas who have participated in the operating of such an event.

The tentative program is as follows: The cross country race will be held Saturday afternoon, January 14. That same evening there will be a dance sponsored by the Ski club. On Sunday, January 15, The Stout Ski club and the Menomonie Winter Sports club will put on the jumping event at Wankanda park.

Along with the Ski club's business meeting, three movies were presented. The first was the 1942 national ski championship at Duluth. The second was the 1949 jumping event at Duluth, and the third was the St. Paul winter carnival.

BIG-10 FANS SEE TV IN CHEMISTRY ROOM

Something new was added to the chemistry lecture room Saturday afternoon, November 19, when a twelve-inch television set was provided for students to watch the Minnesota-Wisconsin football game. The television set was rented by the SSA from a local merchant. More than one hundred Wisconsin and Minnesota football rooters had "fifty-yard line" seats.

The television reception was extremely good as every play was clearly pictured. This is only one of the all-school events sponsored throughout the year by the SSA.

Hillary Janikowski, both of whom saw action last season.

Local basketball fans will have a better idea of the team after the squad comes back from Thanksgiving vacation; by that time the Bluedevils will have played St. Mary's.

After Thanksgiving the basketball court will totally replace the football field in the minds of Stout sports fans

BADGER FANS VIEW IOWA-BADGER GAME

Football fans viewed a forty-five minute film of the Wisconsin-Iowa football game, which Wisconsin won 35 to 13, shown at the Stout auditorium, Monday, November 14, at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Ed Gibson, field secretary for the University of Wisconsin alumni, commented on the game, explaining the situations and plays before they took place so the audience would observe the right spot.

Before an audience of 600, Mr. Howard Thedinga introduced Mr. Gibson, the commentator for the movie. Gibson stated that football movies are taken in the stadium at the football field and immediately following the game are rushed to laboratories, where they are developed and are ready to be previewed Sunday.

Time was provided for questions pertaining to the game and the university's football team. Previous to the movie, Coach Tony Storti spoke briefly.

NOVELAIRES TO BE ON WCCO TALENT SHOW

The Novelaires will be on Cedric Adams Talent show, "Stairway to Stardom," at 6:00 p.m., December 3.

The members of the Novelaires are tenor, Ralph Myhrman; lead, Bud Medtzie; baritone, Earl Dehne; and bass, Bob Solberg. They will sing "Ragtime Knutson," a parody to "Ragtime Cowboy Joe." "Ragtime Knutson" was heard by most of the students in a student assembly earlier this year.

There are three other acts on the "Stairway to Stardom" show. The applause of the audience determines the winner.

Two prizes are offered. One is a $25 cash award and the other is a chance to appear on the Flame Room coffee afternoon program for one week at standard radio wages.

It is possible to get both prizes, and the boys will be trying for both awards.

CLIF. KAMEN

understandable, and coherent travelogue. His films "The Paget of Peru" and "The Contrast of Chile" were produced in 1945 after extensive research with the full cooperation of both the United States government and the governments of the two South American countries involved. Both are exciting picture dramas in full color, integrating geography and history, welding primitive and modern into a fascinating panorama of two of our neighbors to the South.

In both these countries, Kamen visited areas which never before had been photographed by the color camera. Obscure Indian tribes which are rapidly nearing extinction were sought out, yet Kamen did not overlook the importance of modern South American culture. In both Peru and Chile he pictured the present social structure, modern commercial opportunities, and today's travel conditions.

Another of his films, "Our Fabulous Great Lakes," is the first comprehensive pictorial survey of that American region. Kamen spent more than a year in 1947 and 1948 covering with his camera all the fascinating and little-known aspects of America's great inland water system, the Great Lakes: Superior, Huron, Michigan, Ontario, and Erie, the St. Lawrence River, and the connecting canals. His story is dramatic and timely, telling in graphic detail what every American should know about these all-important water highways, whether his interest lies in vital commerce, vacation spots, or merely scenic beauty.

In 1949, Clifford Kamen journeyed to Italy to record a complete and up-to-the-minute story of that country. His film, "Italy," like all of Kamen's color pictures, projects not only the physical scene but gives viewers an insight into how the people think and feel.

FACULTY COMMITTEE GIVES FILM CRITERIA

Films Are To Be Stored In Special Library Section For Instructors Only

A newly-formed committee, the Audio-Visual committee, has been busy itself with the problem of selecting films for a film library which is being organized at Stout.

The Audio-Visual committee is made up of members of the faculty and includes D. P. Barnard, chairman; John Jarvis, secretary; and Miss Lillian Froggatt, Miss Ann Noble, Miss Marjory Elliott, and Ernest Rawson.

A sheet giving the criteria which the Audio-Visual committee will use in determining which films will be purchased for the film library was given to each faculty member. These criteria against which faculty film purchase requests will be checked are that:

1. The film will not become out of date or obsolete within a period of seven years.
2. The film shall be technically correct insofar as the processes or operations which it depicts, and it shall be technically good insofar as the the photography, sound reproduction, and continuity are concerned.
3. The film shall be shown as a part of class work at least three times during a calendar year.
4. The film shall be used as a specific part of course instruction.
5. In order to warrant purchase, the cost of rental over a period of seven years shall exceed the cost of purchase of the film.
6. In extreme cases wherein the film is unavailable by rental or borrowing, the committee will consider purchase, although the request does not meet some of the above criteria.

Before any film order is completed, the Audio-visual committee, with the faculty person requesting the purchase of a specific film, will preview the film together in order that any question which might arise may be resolved satisfactorily.

The films purchased by the committee will be stored in a special section of the library, and may be withdrawn by instructors in the same manner as a book.

Further plans of the committee include the organization of a film selection, ordering and scheduling service, and later provision of projectionist service and a program for college production of visual aids.

The committee plans on purchasing $500 worth of films this year and $500 next year to build up the library.

FILM ON ITALY SHOWN BY CLIFFORD KAMEN

Clifford J. Kamen, world-famous traveler and photographer-artist presented his all-color motion picture, "Italy," at convocation, Wednesday, November 30. This feature was a presentation of the combined efforts of the Assembly-lyceum committee.

Mr. Kamen journeyed to Italy during the early part of this year. Here he recorded a complete and up-to-the-minute story of this country. From the many thousands of feet of film shot on this expedition, Mr. Kamen edited this unique picture.

An extraordinary feature of this and all other Kamen films is their visual mapping aid. After each expedition, he usually spent about a month working out carefully detailed, animated maps of the regions he visited.

After this unusual film lecture, Mr. Kamen remained for another hour, while students discussed various problems and just how the people of Italy think and feel.

MAGAZINES REVIEW GRADUATE PUBLICATION

Reviews of "An Analysis of Community Occupational Surveys 1939-1949," a survey compiled by a graduate class in Survey Procedures at The Stout Institute during the 4th quarter of 1948-49, are included in the November, 1949, issues of the American Vocational Journal and Occupations magazines.

Dr. Stuart Anderson, class instructor, acted in the capacity of chairman during the development of this cooperative project. It received the endorsement of Dr. Harry A. Jager, chief of the Occupational Information and Guidance service.

MAP OPEN HOUSE FOR FRESHMEN, DECEMBER 6

The Manual Arts Players' open house for freshmen curious about or interested in acting and stage work will be held in the college auditorium on Tuesday, December 6, starting at 8:00 p. m.

In an endeavor to acquaint interested students with the work of the Manual Arts Players, this fraternity is sponsoring the open house at which they plan to show just what goes on behind the auditorium doors on evenings before a stage performance. A demonstration on the art of applying make-up will be given by the fraternity sponsor and play director, Mr. Ziemann, together with other demonstrations by members of the organization.

The fraternity has planned for refreshments and an entertainment program to conclude the open house. They extend a hearty invitation to all curious freshmen and to all those freshmen who are interested in acting and stage work.

ROBERT BECK TO GIVE SPEECH DECEMBER 5

"Practical Arts in General Education" Topic of Speech; Faculty, Students Invited

"The Practical Arts in General Education" will be the topic of speaker Robert H. Beck at a special meeting for Stout students and faculty, December 5, at 7:30 p. m. in the auditorium. The meeting is sponsored by the two professional honorary fraternities on campus, Phi Upsilon Omicron and Epsilon Pi Tau.

Dr. Beck will explain how the teachers of home economics and industrial arts will fit into the general educational set-up of a high school. Bob Swanson, Epsilon Pi Tau member in charge of procuring the speaker, stated that Dr. Beck's topic should be especially interesting to seniors who will soon be working in school systems.

The program will be presented on the same basis as regular Wednesday assembly speakers; that is Mr. Beck's talk will be followed by a question period. In previous years, students have asked many interesting and varied questions for further discussion at these meetings.

Dr. Robert H. Beck is professor of history and philosophy of education at the University of Minnesota. Several faculty members of Stout have heard him speak and aided EPT and Phi U in choosing him for the program.

W. G. BALLENTINE ADDRESSES EPT MEETING

Nine Important Things Are Looked For In Selecting New Teachers

Mr. Will G. Ballentine, superintendent of Menomonie schools, addressed the members of Theta chapter, Epsilon Pi Tau, Monday evening, November 22. The address was followed by a short business meeting and by a discussion of the recently completed field trip.

Remarking that the school superintendent is one of the first persons future teachers are likely to meet, Robert Swanson introduced Mr. Ballentine to the group. Mr. Swanson explained that the address would be followed by a short question and answer period.

"What Does the Superintendent Expect of His New Employees," was the topic selected by Mr. Ballentine for his address. He began by explaining that the success of a superintendent depends largely upon the success of the people who work for him; the superintendent has a definite personal interest in the quality of the person he may hire. Mr. Ballentine reminded the group also that the student must always be kept in mind when teaching because it is for the student that the educational system is created.

Mr. Ballentine went on to point out nine important things the superintendent hopes for or expects in a new teacher. These points follow, but not necessarily in order of importance.

1. He should be competent in the area to be taught.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLASS OFFERS EXHIBITION

Photographic Salon

An exhibition of fifty prints created by the Elementary Photography class during the first quarter, under the direction of D. P. Barnard, Second floor, Home Economics Building, November 28—December 2

Thus read the posters which announced the showing of the handiwork of the photography class. The pictures, 8 x 10 prints mounted on 16 x 20 salon mounts, were the center of attention of faculty members and students who passed by.

Subjects of the pictures varied from country roads and lake banks to informal portraits. Fishing and Lake Menomine were the most popular subjects for the pictures.

One of the favorite pictures was of "The Young Twins" by Bob Babick. "Hermit's Lookout" by Bob Blaessing was of a river scene framed by a cave opening.

Stuart Smith's "Dr. Bryant" pictured the Menomonie veterinarian seated in the door of the old livery stable. "Doc" was very proud of the print—"good likeness"—and asked for several extra copies to give to his friends.

CHUCK TAKAHAMA AND DOROTHY FUKUDA TAKE MARRIAGE VOWS IN LACROSSE

Akira Takahama and Dorothy Fukuda exchanged marriage vows at the Congregational church in LaCrosse on Friday, November 25.

Akira, better known as Chuck, is a junior at Stout and will graduate in 1951. He is majoring in Industrial Education, specializing in woodwork.

His bride, the former Dorothy Fukuda, is an exchange teacher from the Islands and is teaching social science at Stanford junior high in Minneapolis. She received her degree from the University of Hawaii in 1945. Dorothy's home town is the capital of the Islands, Honolulu, and it is

SSA MESSAGE

Dear Students,

With the Thanksgiving holidays a thing of the past, and with the Christmas season rapidly approaching, we find an abundance of social activities and events in the offering. The three short weeks between Thanksgiving and Christmas vacation always seem to pass by in no time, and this year will be no exception.

Along with the activities of individual groups, several all-school events have been planned. Beginning this weekend, the Blue Devils will play their first home basketball games of the season, and the inter-society ball will be the feature event for Saturday evening. Convocations will be held each Wednesday until vacation with good entertainment promised for each period. "The Hasty Heart," a comedy hit will be presented at a Lyceum program scheduled for Friday evening, December 9.

The annual Christmas party sponsored by the SSA will be held Saturday December 10, in the gym, and lots of fun is in store for everyone who attends. This year a special intermission is being planned at which time Santa Claus will present gifts to deserving students and faculty. Refreshments prepared by the Junior class will be served. Decorations are being planned by the Sophomores, while the Freshmen are planning the program, and the Seniors are responsible for the clean-up. We hope that all of you will be present for these activities as they are sponsored for your enjoyment.

The issuing of tickets to the basketball games has produced an alarming number of misplaced athletic privilege cards and also several tickets which have been reported lost. Before tickets will be issued for future games, it will be necessary for students who have lost their athletic privilege card to make a written request for a duplicate card. This request must be turned in to the SSA office so that the number of the lost card may be taken out of circulation and a new card issued. Students who have lost their cards are requested to take care of this matter immediately so that the present mix-up may be avoided at the next ticket sale.

Annual Christmas Dance To Be Given By SSA

The SSA will present its annual Christmas party and dance in the Stout gym, next Saturday evening at 8:30, as the main event in what promises to be a weekend full of interesting activities.

The dance is scheduled from 8:30-12:00, with the intermission and party at 9:30. In past years, the Christmas party has consisted of only a dance, but this year's affair promises to have all the attractions of the dance, plus a gala Christmas party, complete with green and red punch, and jolly Saint Nick himself. Scoffers who don't believe in dear old Kris Kringle, should come, and stand close enough so that they will get some of the presents he will distribute to both students and faculty.

Arrangements have been made for the different classes to have charge of planning the program. The Freshman class is in charge of the party and the humorous (?) skits that will be presented at the intermission; the sophomores will arrange for decorations; the juniors will serve refreshments; and the seniors will take care of clean-up.

Other activities for this big weekend are a lyceum on Friday night, and another SSA movie on Sunday, at 2:30 p. m.

SSS TO GIVE CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

On Wednesday, December 14, 1949, the Stout Symphonic Singers will present two performances of their annual Christmas concert. The first performance will be given at 10:00 a. m. at the regular assembly, and the other at 8:15 the same evening.

Tickets for the concert may be secured from any Symphonics member or at Lee's drug store. Admission prices are seventy-five cents for the public and fifty cents for students. All seats are reserved for the evening performance, but tickets may be exchanged for reserved seats on and after December 8.

Some of the selections to be sung are "Ave Maria," by Vittoria; "As Lately We Watched," by Howorth; "Christ of the Christmas Bells"; "Virgil," by Christiansen; "The Sunrise on Christmas Morning," by Oids; "Carol of the Bells"; and "Glory to God in the Highest," by Pergolesi. The feature production of the concert will be Wringold's "Song of Christmas," Fred Waring's arrangement. The Stout orchestra will accompany the group on the last two selections, and the "Halleluah Chorus" will conclude the program.

STOUT STUDENTS ATTEND STATE CONFERENCE

President of the Home Economics club, Marvel Oelke; president-elect, Dorothy Amendt; Betty Erickson; and Dorothy Meerschmidt attended the State Home Economics conference at Stevens Point, November 18 and 19.

A mixer, sponsored by Stevens Point girls, was given Friday evening for the visiting Home Economics girls. They were taken on a tour of the Nelson dormitory where they observed and compared dormitories of their own colleges and the regulations in force.

On Saturday Miss Vera Hubb gave a talk on "Career as a Home Agent." At a luncheon held at Nelson hall, the speaker was Mrs. Lyla D. Flagler of Eau Claire, who spoke on "Europe and the Family."

A business meeting was then held and the constitution was taken up. The girls exchanged ideas from each club on how to raise extra money. The publication of the "Newsletter" by Stout was changed from the month of May to April.

The girls visited Sim's cottage which is similar to the Stout Home Management house. After going through the cottage, the girls returned to Menomonie with the thoughts of having spent a fine week-end in Stevens Point.

DIETETICS CLUB VISITS MUSEUM, MAYO CLINIC

St. Mary's hospital, Rochester; Mayo Clinic; the Mayo Museum of Hygiene and Medicine; Red Wing Pottery company; and The Pine Island Cheese Mart were visited by the Stout Dietetics club on their field trip, Saturday, November 19.

Many points of interest in the large kitchens and St. Mary's hospital itself were shown to the girls. A staff dietitian conducted a two-hour tour through the hospital. Two publications were given each member of the group after the tour.

Mayo Clinic was another point of interest included in the trip. On their tour of the clinic building the club saw the conference hall, doctors' library, an average examination office, and Dr. Mayo's old consultation room and monument hall.

The Museum of Hygiene and Medicine presented interesting and technical aspects of the surgery done at the Clinic. Lifelike wax replicas showed the step by step procedures of plastic and surgical operations.

The processing of cheese and a display of many kinds of cheese were observed at The Pine Island Cheese Mart. The owner showed the group how the cheese was aged, smoked, and packaged. Domestic and imported cheeses were compared.

OUR UNION

Seniors at The Stout Intitute this year can look back on their freshman year and recall the pleasurable day when the student union was opened. Before that time there was no convenient place for "Stoutites" to drink coffee, play cards, or relax between classes.

With the opening of the union, Dean Price and Dean Antrim urged all of us in the student body to take care of our new retreat, as it was our responsibility to help maintain the union.

One can look around our union most any noon hour now and see little evidence of compliance with that plea which the Deans made to union patrons. Sitting backward on the chairs, leaning back on the chairs, throwing refuse on the floor, sticking gum under the tables, and leaving cups and bottles strewn about are a few of the rude acts performed in the union.

If we as students at Stout wish to continue to enjoy the convenience and comfort of our union, we must make a determined effort to take better care of it. If we look upon our school as our home—and the union as our living room—and take care of it as such, many more pleasant hours will be enjoyed by present and future students in the school union.

THE APPLE-POLISHER

Students at Stout and elsewhere are constantly confronted by the problem of competing on unequal grounds with fellow students who engage in that slightly-tainted method of obtaining grades called "apple-polishing."

This is a practice with which no one should become alarmed. It is not new; Satan used it when he seduced Adam. But rather, it must be considered all in the day's work and therefore it should be anticipated.

Pleasing personalities all have a tinge of "apple-polishing" in them. Pick your best friend. Why do you like him? Does not

Hello,

How do you like being back in school? I can still taste the turkey. The vacation was nice while it lasted. Oh well, there's nothing like being back in school and seeing all the kids again. Well, did everyone have a good time? I sure hope so.

Now that Christmas is just around the corner, we have a few couples making wedding plans. Frances Knight and Bob Gray, and Pat Dodge and Dick Roen plan to be married during the Christmas vacation. Leona Sexe is also making plans to be married, but all that we could find out about the lucky fellow is that his name is Hal. Oh yes, Hal is a speech teacher at Blair, Wisconsin, Leona's home town. Here's wishing you the best of luck, and all the success in the world.

There were a couple of engagements announced over the week-end: Paul Axelsen and Bea Sagstetter have announced their engagement. We might give Don Sargent a pat on the back for helping Paul out. Paul proposed to Bea in the back seat of Don Sargent's car.

Carol Radtke went home for Thanksgiving and came back with a diamond ring. The lucky fellow is Dick Hogstad. Dick graduated last year from Stout and is now teaching at Hayward. Good luck kids, and don't forget to let us know first when you pick your wedding date.

Well, well, well, Chuck Takahoma was married last week-end. Chuck went down to LaCrosse and took Dorothy Fukuda's hand in marriage. Dorothy is a social science teacher at Stanford junior high in Minneapolis. Good luck, kids.

According to latest word Helen Haase had quite a good time over the holiday week-end. She went down to Missouri to see her flame. I understand his name is Al Mein. Helen's favorite saying is "One more 'L' and he is Al Mein."

Joanne Buboltz spent the holidays up at Sheboygan. She went to see her aunt, but we were wondering with whom did she go to the basketball game Thursday night?

Say, be sure to have your radio tuned on WCCO at 6:00 p.m. on December 3. The Novelaires will appear the very fact that he laughs with you, cries with you, or shows, in a hidden way, some respect for you, inflate your ego just a little?

But face your future squarely. You will meet these ingratiating people in all walks of life. You can ask no quarter of them when you leave school. Why not adjust yourself now?

—A. F.

What's Your Answer?

So there's a dance Saturday night! Are you going? Too often the answer is "no." When asked why they aren't going, the students have as many excuses as they have cuts from classes. No money, no date, no interest, no consideration for the organization sponsoring the dance are among the reasons.

Organizations and clubs go to a lot of work and expense to put on a dance, and then the students don't attend. Dance bands, decorations, and refreshments all cost money, and in order to make as much money as they spend, the clubs and organizations need the help of every student by his attendance at the dance.

The next school dance that comes along should have a large crowd, because all the students should want to help their clubs and organizations. If there is no student attendance, there can be no dances.

—L. T.

on the "Stairway to Stardom" show. The Novelaires consist of Ralph Myhrman, Bud Medtke, Earl Dehne, and Bob Solberg. Here's wishing them the best of luck.

Betty Braun certainly had a nice vacation. Dick A. Johnson came down to have Thanksgiving dinner at Betty's home, and afterwards Betty went over to Dick's home town. It surely seems like they had a nice week-end.

What's this we hear about Gordy Nooyen getting a ticket for speeding? Tough luck, Gordy. You know there is an old saying, "Where there is haste, there is waste."

According to my latest report, the following men had a successful deer hunting season. They are Frank Tank, Louis Burmeister, Paul Revord, Merlin Moore, Burt Yaeger, Howard Michelson, Thorval Magnuson, Rudy Richter, Bob Marine, Liye Johansen, Ruel Fleming, Bud Smith, John Reilly, Bob Mays, Paul Kunz, and Bill Young. Congratulations, fellows.

We hear that Eleanor Ushijima spent an enjoyable weekend at Marg Forsman's home in Michigan.

And speaking of Michigan, Pete Schellinger was up there too. Pete spent the week-end with Joan Davidson and her folks at their cottage in Upper Michigan. From the way Joan and Pete have been going around lately, I guess it won't be long before they make it permanent. How about it?

Naomi Wendt was in her glory over the weekend. Her boyfriend, Elmer, came down to see her from Medford, Wis.

Dick Johnson went down to Jean Walzer's home in Milwaukee. From the looks of Dick, I'd say he put on a few pounds.

Well, now that the Thanksgiving holidays are over, it means that the basketball season will be starting. I know Stout is going to have a good basketball team this year. So let's all get out there and give them the support that they need.

Seeing that the campus was rather dead last weekend, I'm afraid that there is not much more that I can say. So long for now. See you next week.

CHANGING WEATHER

With the coming of winter and the passing of the fall season, the minds of people turn to the falling snow and sports relating to the winter season. Other people are not looking to the snow and ice that will prevail for the next four months, but instead to the time when the ice and snow disappear and the green grass shows through again.

One of the most controversial subjects to be discussed by the American people is the weather, yet there is very little done about it. One of the main reasons for their not doing anything about it is lack of education as to how the weather cycle actually works. Men have tried in the past to produce rain through artificial means; in most cases these attempts have been failures.

Whichever the case may be for summer, fall, winter, or spring seasons, at the present time winter is almost upon us and the snow has started to cover the ground with a fine white blanket.

Soon the wind will be blowing and the frosty air will be nipping the ears of people that are out-of-doors. Animals and fowls differ from the average human with respect to how they live through the winter; some animals go south, others hibernate, while many put on a warmer coat of fur. Which ever the case may be, all come through none the worse for the winter.

Winter is coming and all the words in the world cannot turn it back; however, the people who don't like the cold weather have one consolation—spring is coming.

COOS BY WALLY PIGEON

Muriel Roffers was delighted by finding out that dehydrated foods are considerably better when water is added to them in preparing them.

A party of tourists came upon an Indian couple. The big Indian chief was riding on a pony and his squaw was heavily burdened with their belongings.

One of the tourists asked the Indian: "Why don't you let the squaw ride?"

"Ugh," answered Big Chief, "she got no pony."

Do you know that the field of education created the pin-up girl. This no doubt is true because a rural school teacher became the first one when she tried to hop a barb wire fence on her way to the school house.

This joke writer was told to clean up his column by one of his humorless friends.

"Listen friend, you should clean up your mind—or quit reading the column."

Women and money are just alike; when you don't keep them busy—they lose interest!

Too much of stepping out with chickens keeps a man from feathering his own nest.

Here's one that is a hangover from the fishing season.

Mackin loved fishing so much he thought that everyone else should love it, too. In passing on his love to others, he took Phyl with him on a fishing trip. Bob furnished all the necessary tackle. Bob settled the beginner in a likely spot and then began fishing in a near-by spot. In a short time, Phyl called out.

"Hey, how much do these red and green things cost?"

"Oh, you mean the float," answered Bob, "about a dime I guess."

"I owe you a dime; because mine sank," replied Phyl.

Since Christmas isn't too far off, this should have some merit to you readers. Mike H., who was doing his Christmas shopping rather early, was wandering through a department store and he squeezed one doll and it cried "Mamma." Later he came up and squeezed another doll and it screamed out: "Floorwalker."

Doctor: "Good morning, madam. How is your husband now? Did the sleeping powder I prescribed for him work?"

Gloria Kuula: "Yes. You said to give him the amount I could place on a dime, but I didn't have a dime so I used two nickels and he has been asleep for two days already."

A college student who drank excessively ran into some misfortune at a recent party where the table was lighted by candles. He attempted to blow out the candles, whereupon his alcohol-saturated breath burst into flames.

Shaken by this terrible experience, he immediately cried out, "This is terrible; I could get hurt this way, I gotta swear off!"

Some of his friends were glad that he was finally doing this. They all agreed that he would soon be a better man now that he was swearing off. "Yes, my friends, I swear that never again will I blow on a lighted candle," said Weigel.

A fellow told me that his girl reminds him of a switchboard because when she walks all her lines are busy.

Two college men were engaged in an argument about some women. They were at a point that the fists of each would soon inflict blows.

One of the enraged fellows: "You now have 82 teeth. Would you like to try for none?"

SIG TAU GAMMA PRESENTS FALL FORMAL

Crowning "Rose of Sig Tau" Highlights An Evening Of Dancing

The crowning of Miss Beverly Brehmer as "Rose of Sigma Tau" highlighted an evening of soft music and swishing formals as Sigma Tau Gamma presented its first annual "Rose of Sigma Tau" fall semi-formal in the Stout gymnasium, Saturday night, November 19.

Mr. Herman Arneson, faculty advisor to Sigma Tau, performed the crowning in an impressive ceremony which initiated the grand march led by Miss Brehmer and her escort, Bud Ryder, who was also general chairman of the dance.

The decorations were unique in that they created a central focal point at the north end of the gym where the crowning took place.

The music for the evening, which was supplied by Jack Pingel and his orchestra, added that touch of distinction to the completely successful evening.

PROBLEM OF MARRIAGE DISCUSSED BY WSF

WSF members discussed the problem of marriage in a discussion led by Reverend Reece, pastor of the Methodist church, on Sunday evening, November 20.

Many problems pertaining to the subject were brought up in the general discussion, most of which were brought up by the students, and some offered by Reverend Reece. The question of mixed marriages between Protestants and Roman Catholics was one of the many important topics discussed.

The discussion was handled as somewhat of a continuation of the one last week which was led by Miss Cecilia Zine, who was present and took part in the discussion this week also.

A light supper consisting mainly of Boston baked beans and homemade cake was served.

THANKSGIVING BRUNCH HELD BY NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman club Thanksgiving brunch was held at St. Joseph's school auditorium, Sunday, November 20, after the ten o'clock Mass at which the Newmanites received Communion in a body.

At the meeting a Christmas party was planned for Sunday, December 11. Those in charge of the party will be Ellen McGarty, chairman and other Irish students of the club.

John Poellinger and Steve Grudichak discussed the pro's and con's of the Stout Newman club becoming a member of the National Newman club. After the discussion a vote was taken and the majority was enthusiastic about joining. Nothing has definitely been decided. John Poellinger is chairman for the committee of further research on obtaining material pertaining to the club becoming nationalized.

After the business meeting, Barb Lovering gave a report on the life history of Cardinal Newman, the founder of Newman club.

The clean-up committee were those seated in the chairs with a small "X" on the lower right side of the right leg. A few other members were chosen to help.

SIGMAS HOLD BANQUET IN HIDE-AWAY CAFE

On Thursday evening, November 17, Sigma fraternity held a banquet at the Hide-Away cafe.

The evening's festivities began at seven o'clock with a sumptuous chicken supper served family style. Those who served on the decorating and food committee were George Kinsler, Robert Braun, and Richard Johnson. Advisers for the evening were Dr. and Mrs. D. L. Agnew and Dr. E. R. Oetting.

Entertainment was supplied by the younger members of the organization, the pledges, with Gerald Jeffreys as master of ceremonies. Howard Greening was chairman of the program committee.

From all reports, the banquet was a success and everyone spent an enjoyable evening.

REVEREND REIMERS IS SCF SPEAKER

"Walking with God" was discussed by Reverend Reimer, a minister of the Stanley Methodist church, at the special monthly meeting of Stout Christian Fellowship, November 9, at 8:30 p.m. in the third floor clubroom of the gym. Marlys Larrabee played a piano solo, "Abide with Me." Fellowship and refreshments followed.

John Hermanson, Inter-Varsity staff member for this area, visited the weekly Bible study of the Stout Christian Fellowship, November 16. The topic discussed was "Faith." Elaine Smith was in charge of the meeting.

A group from the SCF attended the annual Thanksgiving meeting of the Eau Claire Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, Tuesday evening, November 22.

CITY, COUNTY JOIN TO ENLARGE HOSPITAL

The November, 1949, issue of The American City, a magazine dealing with municipal problems, includes an article, "City and County Join in Building New Hospital Addition," written by Dr. Stuart Anderson of the graduate faculty.

The city of Menomonie needed additional school building facilities as well as an enlarged hospital, the article shows. However, the city had nearly reached its bonded debt limit and was not in a position to initiate the hospital project. Dr. Anderson's article reveals a possible solution offered by a local civic organization which proposed that the city and county cooperate on the hospital.

Because there is no precedent for the cooperation of city and county government in such a project, it was necessary to get a state law passed granting this permission. Dr. Anderson took an active part in initiating this joint enterprise.

EPT RETURNS FROM FIELD TRIP

Members And Guests Toured Various Industrial Arts Departments

Twenty-two members and three guests of Theta chapter, Epsilon Pi Tau, left school at 6 a.m. Thursday, November 10, for a two-field trip through Marshfield, Wisconsin Rapids, Stevens Point, and Wausau. The primary interest of the group was to observe industrial arts departments in operation. Many old acquaintances were renewed.

Traveling via the Halvorson bus line, the group arrived in Marshfield at 8:30 a.m., where they visited both the junior and senior high schools. John Bendix, Stout graduate of 1948, conducted the fellows through the senior high shops. At the junior high school, several of the men visited the Home Economics department and were treated to coffee by Shirley Erickson, another Stout graduate of 1948.

From Marshfield, the group motored to Wisconsin Rapids, where they arrived in time for lunch, after which they saw the combined high school and vocational school shops. The metal workers were greeted by Earl Lewis, a Stout alumnus, and the printers had an interesting chat with Edmund Schaffnerberger, who has attended Stout graduate school.

Thursday evening was spent in Stevens Point, with sleeping accommodations at the Hotel Whiting. The following morning, November 11, the high school shops were visited, where printing is being taught by Willard Schlice, a Stout graduate of 1943.

At 10:30 a.m., members of the field trip boarded the bus for Wausau, arriving in time for lunch. In the afternoon they observed the progress being made in the construction of a new 1½ million dollar wing to the high school. The new wing will house the industrial arts department. While motoring to the vocational school, the driver stopped at the Wausau junior high school for directions. Here the boys discovered Jean Sterner teaching home economics. The vocational school was subsequently discovered in a converted factory, and it proved very interesting to all. The men roamed the large, well-equipped shop for quite some time.

Tschiakowsky, Mozart, Haydn At Music Hour

"An Hour of Music," the hour of recorded selections held in the Harvey Memorial, Thursday, November 17, at 4:00, contained selections by Mozart, Haydn, Tschiakowsky, and Enesco.

The singing of Dr. Dwight L. Agnew highlighted the program. "Die Beiden Grenadiere" by Schumann and "The Spirit Flower" by Campbell-Tipton were his selections.

Many students and several of the faculty took advantage of the opportunity to hear this inspiring music. In fact, all seats in the room were occupied; and several students lounged comfortably on the floor as they enjoyed the program.

The Christmas portion of George Handel's "Messiah" will be included in the December program, announces Mr. Hoving.

30 COUPLES MUST SIGN FOR CHRISTMAS PARTY

A Stout Institute Christmas party will be held in the Twin Cities if enough couples take an interest in the event. There is a chart on the bulletin board outside the Stout library on which all interested couples should sign. A minimum of 30 couples is necessary for a party.

All persons in the vicinity of the Twin Cities are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served at the party.

A meeting will be called to discuss the plans more fully as soon as the required number of couples has signed the slip.

Most everyone agreed that the trip was very worthwhile, as it gave a good overall view to the potential teachers in regard to elements of future work.

Plans for the field trip were entirely in the hands of Joseph Katalinich and William Richardson. Philip Ruehl was the lone member of the faculty, and guests were Charles Abbott, Gerald Gappa, and Glenn Palmer.

HARVEY SCENE OF TANGLED YARN, NEEDLES

Women Desperately Striving To Finish Their Projects Before Onrushing Christmas

The fact that Christmas is on its way is very evident by the activity that has suddenly invaded the Harvey Memorial. This activity consists of flashing needles and tangled yarn in an epidemic of knitting.

Further investigation into the projects reveals many varied and interesting articles. These include sweaters, mittens, gloves, scarfs, socks, scuffs, place mats, pot holders, and even neckties. Some of the women have been knitting for years while others have just recently caught the fever and are struggling to master the art.

Of the two methods in knitting, the newer method of holding the yarn with the right hand seems to be the favorite. Those who use the German style and hold the yarn with their left hand state that they can knit much faster and have a more even stitch. Each woman seems to have her favorite method.

Once an article has been started, the knitter has her work with her constantly so any spare moments can be spent in completing it. Most of the knitting is carried in plastic bags. These bags protect the bright colors of the yarn from dirt and at the same time give interested friends an opportunity to inspect the work without removing it.

When various ardent knitting fans were asked if that was a Christmas gift, they would state that it would be a gift if they finished it on time. If Christmas will just be patient and not come too soon, the knitters will finish their gifts and make a lot of friends very happy.

NEW BULLETIN DISTRIBUTED TO IE MEN

Teachers And Grad Students Help Prepare Bulletin To Aid IE Training Program

A new curriculum bulletin, "Philosophy and Objectives of Industrial Arts in the Wisconsin Schools," is now being distributed to all sophomore, junior, senior, and graduate students in the regular industrial education teacher training curriculum, according to a memorandum from Clyde A. Bowman, dean of division of Industrial Education.

The bulletin was produced by the Industrial Arts committee of the Wisconsin Educational Planning program, under the direction of co-chairmen Dean Bowman and R. A. Wigen, director of graduate studies.

According to the Wisconsin Industrial Arts Curriculum committee, the purpose of the bulletin is, "to define the philosophies and objectives of industrial arts for possible adoption by the State of Wisconsin." It is also planned, the bulletin states, to use the bulletin as a basis for the preparation of resource units. The graduate program of The Stout Institute will assist in organizing these resource units.

Stout faculty assisting in the preparation of the bulletin were Dean Bowman, R. A. Wigen, Stuart A. Anderson, and A. G. Brown. Graduate students working on preparation of the material for the bulletin were Kenneth Wold, Howard Roen, Martin G. Vitz, and Harry Olstad.

The bulletin was issued through the office of the State Superintendent of Schools, and requests for copies of the bulletin by teachers in the field should be made to that office.

Question of the Week

Question of the Week: What do you think of the "Keyhole"?

Ann Rossmiller: Cute!

Bob Nichols: It's all right as long as one person's name doesn't get in too often.

Michiho Okada: It's very interesting to read about all the kids.

Dick Duthler: The column can cause trouble.

Phyllis Keyes: Gets kinda rough sometimes.

David Bienaisz: I don't read it.

Tony Buehner: To avoid having the same names in it all the time, why not have a box so that the students can put their names in to it; such a technique would make the gossip cover a longer area.

Hazel Nelson: The reporters really get around.

Betty Worthington: The statements are untrue.

Dave Rodey: I'd like to know who writes it.

Fern Naedler: I never really thought about it.

Pat Lucich: It lives up to its name.

Herb Duncan: Amusing.

Bob Csech: Interesting to read about all the happenings.

Darrell Anderson: It isn't broad enough.

Jean Schwanmann: I don't think.

Daune Burk: I'm not thoroughly enough acquainted with the kids in it to give an opinion.

Rosemary Raymer: I don't know what to say.

Dona Jens: A person gets to know "Who's going with whom."

Virlyn Erb: Well —.

Joan Staehle: Very nice.

Sally Eberlein: I don't believe some of the things that are in it.

Rawson Awaits Cold Menomonie Winters

"Montana has a reputation of having the coldest winters in the U S; however, I understand Menomonie has its share of bad weather. No further comment on that as yet," stated Mr. E. J. Rawson, new instructor of auto mechanics and general metals at The Stout Institute.

Coming to Stout from Northern Montana college at Havre, Montana,

E. J. Rawson

Mr. Rawson has had ample opportunity to observe Montana's winters. In 1938, Mr. Rawson received his B. A. degree from Peru State Teachers college of Peru, Nebraska. His M. E. degree was obtained from Colorado A & M college, Fort Collins, Colorado. Our conscientious instructor is working on his Doctorate in Education at Penn State college during the summer months.

After having taught in small schools in Iowa, the Kansas City public school system was the first large educational system to claim Rawson's talent. Advancing to the college level of teaching, Mr. Rawson moved to Peru State Teachers college, where he was an assistant instructor and head of practice teaching in the department of industrial arts. Beckoned to Montana in 1945, Mr. Rawson formed and started a new department which he headed until he traveled to Stout.

Stout's student body has impressed the industrial arts instructor as, "a very fine, cooperative, and select group." Although his contacts with the Stout's faculty has been somewhat limited thus far, he greatly respects them and places them on a high plane in the educational field.

The only irritation this likeable personality has is the lack of hours in a day to complete the activities he enjoys. These desires, other than his work, are a profound interest in travel, fishing, hunting, and photography.

ADVICE TO NEW BRIDES

1. Be considerate of your husband when the Great Lover begins to behave like a human—with head cold, financial problems, pet peeves, etc.
2. Budget money, but not love.
3. Cultivate a sense of humor.
4. Don't be forever telling about the guys who were not lucky enough to have married you.
5. Don't try to lead his life for him. Give him a little rope.
6. Don't forget to tell him often that he's terrific.
7. Learn to cook.
8. Learn to cook better.
9. Use horse sense, but don't nag.

Somebody said that getting an education is like getting the measles.... you have to be where the measles is.

NOVELAIRES TO BE ON WCCO'S TALENT SHOW

Four Stout men will try their luck and fortune on "Stairway to Stardom" tomorrow night. Students tuned in to Cedric Adams' talent show on radio station WCCO at 6:00 p.m. will hear Ralph Myhrman, Bud Medtke, Earl Dehne, and Bob Solberg sing "Ragtime Knutson," a parody on "Ragtime Cowboy Joe."

This local barbershop quartette, known as the Novelaires, will appear on the program with three other talent acts from the surrounding territory. Awards offered are a $25 cash prize and a chance to appear on the Flame Room coffee afternoon program for one week at standard radio wages. The cash prize winner is determined by the applause of the audience; the professional engagement act is selected by the program representative. The local quartette can win either or both of the awards if they are deemed worthy.

Students will be backing the local foursome, for the Novelaires are a favorite with audiences here. They appeared at one of the first student assemblies where "Ragtime Knutson" was one of the selections which they sang.

They also appeared in the SPEBSQSA program presented at Stout this fall and at the recent hospital benefit production of "Aunt Silly."

SWIM SCHEDULE AND RULES FOR USE OF POOL

To enable more students to take advantage of Stout's swimming facilities, the following schedule has been worked out by the physical Education department:

Monday	4:00—5:30	Men
Tuesday	4:00—5:30	Men
Wednesday	5:00—5:30	Co-ed
Thursday	5:00—5:30	Men
Friday	3:00—5:30	Co-ed
Saturday	2:00—4:00	Co-ed

During all hours of the above schedule, a Red Cross certified life guard will be on duty.

When using the pool, students must observe certain rules. The important rules are as follows:

1. Suits must be made of cotton or rayon fabrics. Wool or latex suits are not allowed in the pool.
2. Before entering the pool, a soap and water shower must be taken.
3. Rough play will not be permitted in the pool, on the runways and diving board, in the dressing rooms, or shower rooms.
4. Playing tag, running or jumping on the pool deck are forbidden.
5. The diving board is used only for diving, and only one person is allowed on the board at one time.
6. The water polo ball is to be used only in the water. It is not to be thrown deliberately at the ceiling or at the walls.

The rules listed above are not the complete rules governing the use of the pool. For further information, students should consult the life guard who is on duty.

ART DISPLAYS ENHANCE HOME EC CORRIDOR

Rushing from one class to another in the second floor corridor of the Home Economics building is a pleasant experience, largely because of the art displays which have been created and displayed by the girls in the Fundamentals of Design classes, under the guidance of Miss Winifred Hinkley.

Miss Hinkley

These pictures and posters are a proof of the versatility and ability of the freshmen girls, who are required to take H.E. 106 Miss Hinkley has expressed the idea that The Stout Institute should be proud to have these new students, and that she enjoys the freshmen, as they are wonderful!

Miss Hinkley received her Bachelor of Science degree from Milwaukee-Downer college and her Master's degree from the University of Wisconsin. She comes to Stout from Wausau, Wisconsin, where she was the supervisor of art for all city schools.

BALLENTINE —

2. He should have enthusiasm for the job.
3. He should approach the job with an understanding of, and a genuine interest in, the student.
4. He should be reasonably receptive to suggestions.
5. He should have clearly-defined objectives.
6. He should be able to meet fellow employees on a friendly basis.
7. He should be capable of intelligent self-direction.
8. He should be able, if humanly possible, to go into the shop and do something with what is on hand.
9. He should know what equipment is absolutely essential for the job, should know where to obtain the needed equipment, and should know the cost of equipment and supplies.

At the close of his address, Mr. Ballentine answered questions for some time. He mentioned several reasons why candidates are often not hired by school superintendents.

Final business of the evening consisted of reports of the various schools visited on the field trip; this portion of the meeting was presided over by Joseph Katalinich, field trip chairman. Mr. Katalinich reported on the Marshfield high school, Lloyd Gannagan on the Wisconsin Rapids high school, Margon Berg on the Stevens Point high school, and Lynn Robinson on the Wausau vocational school.

Plans are well under way for the annual Christmas party, which will be held December 12.

REMEMBER WHEN

Remember when back in 1933 the YWCA held a series of charm school meetings. "What the well dressed college girl wears and where she will wear it" was discussed at the first meeting." Evelyn Ades convinced the group that fewer cosmetics and artistic applications make coeds more charming.

Affiliation of Printers Approved at Luncheon. The STS and SPTA were the forementioned printers. The Stout Trio, Pierson, Curran, and Kellar furnished the entertainment at the luncheon by singing several selections unaccompanied.

Tea Held To Acquaint Old Students With New. The Hyperians, SMA's, and Philomatheans co-operated in presenting the tea.

The gossip column back then was called "Pencil Kodaking."

"Hip-hipping Margaret Sjolander hopping up and down swinging the ol' jug out at the game Sat.—keeping up the spirits, Sjolander?"

"Whe—

Busted the light in front of the annex door; and why? (dontha know it ain't conventional to say good-nite to the lassie with the dark, dark night around ya?)"

"Ted Pierson jiggles a blue pencil between his teeth and stares reflectively at his thumbs—What! no dimples?"

"Eighteen new enrollments at the beginning of the second semester bring the 1933-34 registration of the Stout Institute to a total of 420, according to information given by Miss O'Brien, registrar."

Three Stoutites attend "Y" area convocation. The convocation was held in Minneapolis and was meant to acquaint the YWCA groups in Northern Wisconsin and Minnesota with each other. Joyce Shafer, Sylvia Worthington, and Miss McCalmont were the Stout representatives.

"It took eight sittings."

"Oh, Margaret, goody! Having your portrait painted again?"

"No, learning to skate."

"You'll be down before me — Save me a seat at the ANCHOR"

APO INITIATES TWENTY-SEVEN NEW MEMBERS

In its first chapter initiation ceremony held Tuesday evening, November 15, Alpha Phi Omega initiated twenty-seven new members. The ritual took place in the third floor of the gym; immediately following, a banquet was held at the Cafe LaCorte.

The ritual team conducting the official ritual for the new group consisted of Lee Bedsted, president of APO; Jim Gherke, vice-president; John Lurquin, acting secretary; Warren Barberg, treasurer; Otto Carlsen, sergeant of arms; Dean M. Price, chairman of the advisory committee; and Phil Johnson, scouting representative.

Following the meal, President Lee Bedsted gave a welcome to the new members and introduced the officers of the fraternity. Members of the Advisory committee who spoke were Dean Price, Mr. Herbert Anderson, Mr. K. T. Olson, Dr. Guy Salyer, Mr. Dwight, Chinnock, and Mr. Phil Johnson. Robert St. Clair represented the new members with a short talk.

The APO chapter has twenty-five remaining members plus the advisory committee, which consists of Dean Price, chairman, four Stout faculty members and the scouting representative, Phil Johnson. The addition of the twenty-seven new members gives APO an active membership larger than that of the average Stout organization.

Alpha Phi Omega is a service organization pledged to give service to the school, the community, and to APO; it should not be confused with the social and professional organizations already well established on the campus. If qualified, any male may belong to APO as well as the social and professional fraternities at Stout.

The new members consist of undergraduates with at least one semester attendance at Stout and graduate school students. The following is a list of the new initiates of APO:

Robert Andrews, Gerald Cook, Benjamin Gabriel, Edward Greenway, James Haas, Dalton Hedlund, Torval Hendrickson, Charles Hocking, Raymond D. Johnson, Richard V. Johnson, Marvin Lundin, John Meyers, Charles Muller.

Robert Ohm, David Pilon, Galen Quaderer, Roger Randall, Homer Settles, Robert St. Clair, Ardean Sveum, Allen Swan, George Tinetti, Fred Ward, Leonard Westberg, Orvil Wilsey, Don Winters, and Paul Yadlosky.

DORMITORY PRESENTS THANKSGIVING DINNER

Dressed in their finery, dorm residents of Tainter annex and hall attended the traditional Thanksgiving dinner, Tuesday, November 22. President and Mrs. Verne C. Fryklund and Dean Alice Kirk were guests.

A tray of fruit flanked with candles formed the centerpiece at each table. Horns of plenty with each girl's name were the place cards.

The dinner began with a prayer. The first course was a fruit cocktail. Many girls considered it a mystery because they didn't know if they should use their spoons or drink it. When the waitresses had the dishes cleared, they brought in what everyone had been waiting for, the turkey!! There was also dressing, salad, cranberries, brussel sprouts, mashed potatoes, gravy, candied sweet potatoes, and rolls. For dessert the girls had a choice of either pumpkin or mince pie.

The meal was enjoyed by all the girls and it is their wish that Thanksgiving come more often.

Guess what? You have been chosen to chaperone the Inter-society Ball this weekend

INTRODUCING C. ZINE FROM EICHELBERGER

"My pet peeves are my big feet and girls with 22 inch waists," said Miss Cecilia Zine. Her ultimate goal is a 22 inch waist which she said she was working on.

Miss Zine was added to Stout's staff as a supervisor this year. Her duties are as follows: The house mother at Eichlberger hall, an assistant of the home economics education department under Miss Noble, an assistant to Mrs. Smith at the nursery school, and, while not exactly a duty, she is working on her master's degree at The Stout Institute. She hopes to complete her work on it this year. Miss Zine has attended summer sessions here for the past three summers.

Miss Zine received her bachelors degree in home economics from Wayne university at Detroit in 1942. Following this she taught high school for five years at Enderlin, North Dakota. While there she was supervisor of student teachers for the North Dakota State Agricultural college. In 1946 Miss Zine attended the U. of Minnesota's summer session.

Miss Cecilia Zine said that she liked Stout, the city of Menomonie, the faculty, and the student body very much. If she did not like them she would not have come back to them for four successive years.

Complete success is not purchased at any one time, but rather on the installment plan —Fateral Monitor

LECTURE GIVEN ON PROBLEMS OF MARRIAGE

At a recent lecture Mr. C. Harrison Parmer, of the Stout social science department, discussed courtship and marriage. Many students attended and benefitted from the lecture as a whole.

Mr. Parmer discussed ten major problems in marital relations which tell why marriages tend to succeed or fail. The first problem discussed was marriage in haste. It was relatively negative because it tends to produce marital instability. Another problem was the cooperative attitude. The speaker stated that this is definitely positive, because it involves a give and take situation.

The third problem discussed was early versus late marriage. The conclusion drawn from this problem is that it is not too significant, provided the husband reaches the majority. Age discrepancies have always been a problem, and Mr. Parmer stated that the marriage will be the happiest and most socially approved if the male is one to three years older. In a happy marriage, the desire for children is definitely a positive factor if husband and wife are mutually agreed to have or not to have children.

Problem number six was happily-married parents. The concluding answer to this problem is that happy marriages tend to run in families. Parental attachments, a very important problem, were also discussed. Mr. Parmer stated that it is usually stronger among more happily-married couples, but should not be strong to the point of parent fixation. Another factor which is very important is emotional stability. The conclusion drawn from this part of the discussion was that it is definitely related to marital

FOUR STUDENTS JUDGE DEBATES AT EAU CLAIRE

Four Stout students traveled to Eau Claire on Saturday, November 19, to act as judges for the annual "kick-off," debate tournament for the Eau Claire district.

Students taking part in the judging were Don Winters, Duane Lebeque, Mel Witte, and Glen Sommers.

The contest was composed of three rounds of forty-three debates each. One judge was assigned to each of the debates, at which he was to act as chairman for the debate; rate each debater and each team as to their analysis or interpretation of the problem, the knowledge and evidence which they presented, their reasoning based on this evidence, their ability to extemporize, their conduct or deportment, their ability in rebuttal, use of English, and clearness of speech, and their power or effectiveness in public speaking; pick one of the teams as the superior team and present any corrective criticism to the teams or the individual debaters.

The topic for this year is: Resolved that the President of the United States should be elected by the direct vote of the people.

The invitation to attend the debate as judges representing Menomonie high school was extended to members of the Manual Arts Players by Mr. John Bens, debate coach at the high school. In the absence of several MAP members, the invitation was extended to any interested students.

problems. This question has not been very well settled as to point of agreement. Problem nine was marital peace and or disagreement. The last problem discussed was that of education. The basic conclusion drawn was that the male tends to marry down and the female up, but not too far.

Mr. Parmer then brought out in his lecture, ten basic factors relatively conducive to marital adjustment. They are as follows: parents happily married, happy childhood, free from conflict with mother, childhood discipline firm but not harsh, strong attachment to mother and to father, free from conflict with father, parents frank about sex, children punished infrequently and mildly, and last but not least, an attitude toward sex free from disgust or aversion.

ELASIE VASS TALKS ON MAN-MADE FIBERS

Miss Elsie Vass, representative of the Celanese Corporation of America, talked on man-made fibers before Stout home economics students on Monday, November 21.

Miss Vass stressed the fact that the textile industry is becoming more and more scientific. She talked primarily on rayon fiber, telling of its versatility.

Miss Vass briefly explained the manufacturing, weaving, and dying of various man-made fibers. She said "dope dying" was the most satisfactory method of dying such fibers. This method eliminates dye lots and is color fast.

She explained also the care and some of the uses of various types of rayon. She told of the history of some of the methods in the manufacture of rayon. Displaying a large number of fabrics, she explained how to identify certain fabrics and discussed fabrics as related to fashion.

WRIGHT, '47, TEACHING DRAWING AT IOWA STC

Tells Of Schooling, Describes Classes He Teaches At State Teachers College

Lawrence S. Wright, Stout graduate who received his B.S. degree in 1947, sent the following letter to Herbert Anderson, National Alumni secretary, to inform the Stoutonia about his new location.

"We left Menomonie in January of 1948 for Columbia, Missouri. My assignment was to teach Engineering Drawing half-time in the College of Engineering at the University of Missouri. At the same time I attended the graduate school full time. These two statements do not add up very well mathematically, but are, nevertheless, true.

During the summer I received my appointment in the Department of Industrial Arts here at Iowa State Teachers college. I am fortunate in being able to work in a new building containing much new equipment. I am currently teaching three classes of drawing: "Planning and Drawing," which is the beginning drawing class, is the first of these. In this class we are steering away from the traditional instrumental orthographic projection drawing. The purpose is to give the student a broad overview of the field of industrial arts, largely through sketching. Enough instrumental work is done to provide a foundation upon which to build in future drawing classes. Emphasis is on the industrial arts areas and in planning the design and drawing the project, planning the steps of procedure, making out the bill of material, estimating the cost, and estimating the time.

The second course, "Machine Drawing," is more traditional than the one mentioned above. Technique is emphasized more as is the practical application of drawing of machine parts and assembly drawings. Students may select projects which entail details and assembly drawings. For students who are so inclined, I like to have at least one problem in designing a simple machine.

The other course is "Architectural Drawing," a course which is based largely on Dr. J. E. Ray's Architectural Drawing classes. Each student develops a plan for a home, with emphasis on the desirable characteristics of a home. Miss Lela Mae Ping, head of the home management house, came over to talk to the class on the "Woman's Point of View in Planning and Equipping the Functional Home." Miss Ping studied at the University of Illinois under Professor Walsh, who, you will remember, was formerly on the faculty at Stout. We have taken two field trips. One was to witness the building of a prefabricated home and the other was to observe three standard homes in different stages of construction. Next term I hope to have a contractor come in and talk to us about building a home from the structural standpoint.

We moved into a new home last week and certainly like it very much. It was a pleasure to find that the Ward Cowles family lives only six miles away at Waterloo. Charles Goodell and wife of Clinton, Iowa, visited us after the Clinton-Waterloo game. Kenneth Laverty is on the campus attending school. The Stout Institute is well represented here."

Very truly yours,

ANDERSON ASKS FOR SURVEY ON LOCAL GROUPS

As a follow-up step from the suggestion of the executive council concerning organization of local chapters, the national alumni secretary, Herbert Anderson, requests that some person in areas where a local chapter might be organized, make a survey to determine the number of Stout graduates in the area and the amount of interest that will be shown towards a local group.

If such a person would contact the secretary, help will be given that person by way of names and addresses of Stout grads in the area, together with suggestions on how to organize the chapter.

The local chapter is by far the best way of strengthening alumni membership and causing renewed interest in Stout activities.

LOCAL GROUPS: DO YOU WANT A PROJECT?

If your local chapter is looking for a project, here are a few possibilities that it may participate in.

The home office is badly in need of a typewriter; it also needs a four-drawer filing cabinet.

Alumni here for homecoming made a suggestion that a permanent register be obtained so that a record of all those alumni returning for homecoming could be kept from year to year. In this way it could be viewed during homecoming registration by all alumni.

A good dictionary could also be used very nicely in the home office.

LOST ALUMNI

From time to time, Stout alumni become lost because of their neglect in sending in corrected addresses. Your Alma Mater does not want that list to increase. Should you know the whereabouts of any of the Stout graduates listed below, please send a postal card with that information to Mr. Herbert Anderson, Alumni Secretary, Stout Institute, Menomonie, Wis.

LIBRARY NOTES

All students who were at Stout last year will remember Constance and Harmon (better known as Connie and Bud) Helnerick, who entertained us at a Lyceum program last winter with their talk and pictures of Alaska. The Helnericks have written several books about their explorations. The latest one, as interesting and fascinating as the Helnericks themselves, is entitled Our Alaskan Winter, and is now in the Stout library. Read it and go adventuring with Connie and Bud.

David Spitz, brilliant young political scientist who is associated with the Department of Political Science of Ohio State university, is the author of Pattern of Anti-Democratic Thought. He bases his book on the question, "Do you think that the gravest dangers to democracy come only from foreign isms?" Then he proceeds to sum up some of the anti-democratic thinking of the home-made American variety. This is a timely book indeed. We all need to read it.

The River Journey is one of the latest fiction additions to our library. Author Robert Nathan is a reputed master of satiric fantasy, a quality which is unique in American literature. Fiction lovers, you'll want to read this, Nathan's latest novel.

NURSERY HAS SERVED COLLEGE, COMMUNITY

Pre-Schoolers And Potential Teachers Benefit From Generation Of Service

An activity begun twenty-two years ago by The Stout Institute as a teaching instrument for its students and an educational facility for the community has completed one full generation of service. Today it numbers among its pupils, children whose parents themselves once attended the nursery school.

A present pre-schooler is Mary Jo Gruel, daughter of nursery school alumnus Edwin Gruel. Candy Chartraw, whose mother too was once a beginner in the same school, graduated last year.

Because The Stout Institute is best known as a college for training teachers of industrial arts and home economics, many persons in Menomonie do not know that its nursery school is also available. Operated as part of Stout's courses in child growth, development, and guidance, the school operates in conformity with the procedures of many leading colleges and universities, which believe nursery schools a valuable adjunct to college training in home economics, education, and child development.

Stout's nursery school is under the direct supervision of Dean Alice J. Kirk, who holds a doctorate in education, and Nursery Director Benita Smith, an educator who herself has a young daughter and thus has the point of view of parent as well as teacher.

Children are accepted into nursery school in order of their enrollment and on the basis of age, sex, and the number of replacements needed to fill the quota maintained by the nursery school. The enrollment is limited to 6 boys and 6 girls, ranging in age from 2 years 9 months to 4 years and 6 months. Because of the necessity of limiting the number of children accepted, parents find it advisable to enroll a child long before he is old enough to attend, so that he will be eligible when he is of the acceptable age. Many parents enroll a child a week or 10 days after his birth to assure his later admittance.

Only requirements for admission are that the child be in normal health and vaccinated for communicable diseases, and that parents cooperate with the nursery school program both for the best interests of their own child and the good of the other children in the program.

For the past several years, there have been more girls than boys on the enrollment list, and an over-balance of girls now exists within the school itself. This situation may make it possible for parents of pre-school boys to enter their child for the spring semester, which begins in January.

Hours during which the nursery school operates are from 8:30 A. M. to 12:00 noon, Monday through Friday during the college year. Attendance fee per child is $25.00 per semester which is about 30 cents per day. Included in this fee are numerous services for the welfare of each child.

A general physical examination, conducted by Dr. John W. O'Neill, is given each child at the beginning of each semester. In addition to this, Mrs. Gertrude Plonsky, college nurse, checks the children daily for colds, sore throats, or any evidence of communicable disease. No child unable to pass the daily health check is permitted to participate in nursery school activities until he has completely recovered.

Also included in the semester fee are daily cod-liver oil and fruit juice. Constructive indoor and outdoor play equipment is provided to encourage the children's growth and development. The care and guidance are provided by trained personnel only.

Parents and the director of the nursery school work together very closely for the best interests of the child. Individual parent conferences are held whenever they are deemed valuable.

Thus it is that The Stout Institute nursery school achieves its two important aims: developing happy, well-adjusted pre-school youngsters, and at the same time providing actual, practical training in child growth and development to potential teachers being educated at the college.

The four boys and eight girls attending the nursery school are Steve Owen, Bill Draxler, Jerry Wedell, John Andre, Kathy Arneson, Mary Jo Gruel, Penny Puhl, Carol Jean Magnuson, Linda Buss, Christy Scharr, Jan Schell, and Patty Borgstadt.

SSA MOVIE ATTRACTS LARGE CROWD

A fairly large crowd attended and thoroughly enjoyed the movie "The Enchanted Forest," on Sunday, November 20, in Stout auditorium.

The plot of the movie centered around an old man who wished to preserve a beautiful forest, and men who had picked that same place to build a sanatorium. Their conflicts are shown with a beautifully-colored forest as a background. The wonderful colors and scenes were enough to draw any person's attention regardless of how much he reacted to the plot of the story.

BLUE DEVILS TO MEET ST. MARY'S TONIGHT

OPPONENTS EXPECTED TO HAVE STRONG TEAM

Three Returning Lettermen Strengthen Redmen Team; Large Crowd Expected

The Stout Blue Devils will attempt to even their series with St. Mary's when they take on the Redmen in a return engagement tonight, December 2, starting at 8:00 p.m., in the Menomoneie armory.

St. Mary's is expected to be a power in the Minnesota college conference this year, having lost only two lettermen from last year's quint. Their squad derives scoring punch from Paul Saulf, high point man in Stout's last encounter with the Redmen, and Bob Modde at forward, along with John Ruhnke at center.

With both teams gaining experience and organization since their opening game a week ago, a large crowd is expected to turn out in hopes that the home floor advantage will have tipped the scales in Stout's favor when the final gun sounds.

WINTER SPORTS PLANNED FOR MENOMONIE

On Monday evening, November 14, six of the eleven members of the Board of Directors for the Winter Sports club met to decide on future activities in winter sports for Menomoneie. The Winter Sports club formerly consisted of skating, skiing, and tobogganing. At this meeting the board decided to let the junior and senior ski clubs organize or form their own self-directed organization.

The junior and senior ski clubs both plan to hold ski jumping tournaments here in Menomoneie this winter. The Stout Ski club wants to hold its intercollegiate classic combined meet jointly with the senior ski club. If this plan works out, the intercollegiate skiers would run a cross country race around Lake Menomine on Saturday, January 14. At Wakanda Park, Sunday, January 15, a ski jumping tournament will be held whereby the intercollegiate skiers plus skiers representing different ski clubs in the mid-west will be jumping.

Nonconference Tilt Ends In 53-51 Score, Nylund And Pollock High Scorers

Stout Institute cagers made their 1949-50 season debut in basketball, Saturday night at Winona, Minnesota, when they dropped a 53-51 decision to St. Mary's State Teachers college in a non-conference tilt.

Coach Ray Johnson's cagers set the scoring pace during the first half of the game and held a 34-29 lead at halftime. The Redmen of St. Mary's roared back minutes later to knot the count at 37 all.

With a minute and a half left to play, the score was tied again at 50, but a quick basket by Paul Saulf and a free-throw proved too much scoring for the invading Stout team.

Saulf with 17 points, Johnny Ruhnke with 12, and Bob Modde with 10 points paced the Redmen. Big Ed Nylund with four field goals and an equal number of gifts shots for a total of 12 points led the Blue Devils followed by Russ Pollock with 8 counters.

INTRAMURALS STARTED BY VOLLEYBALL

Intramural volleyball began last Wednesday evening, November 16, in the gymnasium and will continue until December 14, announced Coach Storti, director of intramural sports.

Two leagues, the American and National, were formed with six teams in each league. There will be a total of ninety contests in both leagues, with each team competing in five contests. A series of eliminations will take place with the best team in each league playing for the all-school championship, December 15.

The teams and captains are as follows:

- American League
 I. Dirty Eight—Paul Rauth
 II. Sigmas (black)—Fish
 III. FOB No. 1—Potthast
 IV. Lynwood Washups—Miller
 V. Sig Tau—Poellinger

COVEY'S

CORNER

While the rest of us were enjoying our last good night of vacation Saturday, Coach Johnson took his Blue Devil cagers to Winona and dropped a very close game by a 53-51 final score. Tuesday the boys lost to St. Olaf, 46 to 59.

Tonight the basketball team will be playing host to the same St. Mary's team.

As the schedule is set up, the team will have four games under its belt before it plays Superior on December 10, for the first conference play.

This idea of non-conference games first seems to be spread all over, because River Falls, Eau Claire, and other conference teams also play the same teams for the beginning of the season.

The game at Winona was a close one. The Blue Devils couldn't hold onto their half time lead, and they came out a little on the short end.

Russ Pollock started his third year on the squad with an all-around fine game. On defense he stole the ball from St. Mary's players a couple of times and provided the fans with an interesting evening. Russ also scored 10 points during the course of the game, which shows his shooting eye is O.K.

Bob Erickson was playing a promising game in the center slot, and picked up 7 points for the Blue Devil cagers.

Hilary Janikowski showed plenty of form while making 4 points and will add punch to the basketball squad this season.

Among the freshman, Bill Kieffer was the big gun. Bill tallied 7 points and gave a possible preview of a good season on the Stout basketball squad.

MAIN STREET

In the conference, River Falls should probably be rated leading title contender. The Falcons have an all-veteran squad, with stars like Nate DeLong, who is currently trying to set a college scoring record; and Benson, who is as sweet a forward as can be found. Benson is the boy who will show his class to a lot of teams before the season is over. Eau Claire's squad is quite a bit shorter than most squads in the conference this season. Lack of height might shove them out of the race this season, but you can bet your bottom dollar they won't be throwing in the towel when they play Stout.

If you, as a sports reader, are interested in the facts on the St. Olaf and the Michigan College of Mines and Tech. game, you will have to wait till the next issue. The fact that the write ups have to be in early in the week makes it difficult for the other game write ups to get in this issue.

Good luck is usually with the man who doesn't include it in his plan.

M. GRAUBARD LECTURES AT CONVOCATION

Dr. Mark Graubard, scientist, educator, and author, appeared at convocation, Wednesday, December 7, at ten o'clock. Dr. Graubard lectured and discussed one of the truly vital subjects of our times: atomic energy. He is concerned with atomic energy's vast potential for the benefit of mankind—if man will cooperate to make it a constructive rather than a destructive force. His discussion embraced the startling fact that science is now a serious challenge to its creator and that man must decide whether he will master science for his own benefit or accept the consequences.

Chances are that Dr. Graubard could have spoken on even an insignificant subject and sent his listeners away satisfied, as great speakers have that rare gift. Dr. Graubard, formerly professor of Natural Science at the University of Chicago and now at the University of Minnesota, and science consultant to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is a recognized specialist on matters concerning the relation of science to man and society. He was assigned by the government, through the Department of Agriculture, to follow the history of the atomic bomb with reference to the use of nuclear energy and science generally for constructive or destructive purposes. His lecture was based on the important findings which resulted from that study.

Dr. Graubard received his Ph.D. in Zoology from Columbia university in 1931; was a fellow of the National Research council and for two years did research work abroad in biochemistry and genetics of pigmentation; was a research associate at Columbia on grants from the Rockefeller Foundation; did research and lectured on biochemistry and the history of science at Clark university; and for several years was director of the Department of Agriculture's food and nutrition education program. He is the author of "Man, the Slave and Master," "Man's Food. It's Rhyme or Reason," and "Science of the Culture Climate."

JOHN KUBIAK SPEAKER FOR EPT

Mr. John Kubiak, supervisor of Occupational Information and Guidance, was a guest speaker at the November 30 meeting of Theta chapter of Epsilon Pi Tau. The business meeting consisted of a financial report and of formulation of plans for the annual Christmas party.

Speaking on the subject of "Guidance in the Schools," Mr. Kubiak, stated, "Guidance is not the mystery that some people make it." He went on to explain the relationship of federal vocational educational laws with the guidance program in Wisconsin.

- Main points of Mr. Kubiak's discussion were as follows:
1. Why a guidance program is necessary in schools today.
 2. How schools can offer a guidance program.
 3. What the real function of a guidance program is.
 4. How a guidance program can be evaluated.

"400" TO STOP FOR VACATION TRAVELERS

Arrangements have been made for the "400" to stop at Menomonie Junction on December 16, and January 2, according to Dean M. M. Price. Details for this stop are exactly the same as for the stop at Thanksgiving. The stop was arranged to help students and faculty who are going toward Milwaukee for their Christmas holiday.

Buses will be at the west door (Second street) of the Home Ec. building to take people to the junction. The first trip will be at 3:00 p.m.

PLEASE NOTE: Students and faculty planning to take the "400" are asked to purchase tickets at the city depot. The agent finds it very difficult to handle a large number at the junction. The railroad is being cooperative and travelers should in turn follow its suggestion in purchasing tickets, said Dean Price.

ROBERT H. BECK DELIVERS SPEECH

"Practical Arts in General Education" Topic Of Speech; Faculty, Students Attend

Phi U and EPT last Monday evening sponsored one of the most dynamic professional discussions presented at Stout in a long time. The speaker was Dr. Robert H. Beck, professor of history and philosophy of education at the University of Minnesota. His subject was "The Practical Arts in General Education."

Dr. Beck's introduction allayed the fears of even those who were standing or were leaning on the rail at the back of the auditorium, that his talk would be a dull discussion. He announced that he realized why he, a generalist in the field of education, had been asked to speak. "You want to be told that you are legitimate. Well, I don't know if you are legitimate or not," he began.

He explained the common conception of "general education" and "liberal arts education." With a wealth of examples he showed the inadequacies of our present system. He proposed ways of achieving a true general education through forms of class organization that would promote social interaction. He explained group dynamics and offered to send an up-to-date and comprehensive bibliography on the subject to any who wrote for it. "No subject matter is, in and of itself, inherently good—or evil," stated Dr. Beck. He went on to show how many teachers teach on the basis of "I have the truth; you come and get it." He proposed that we must teach "kids," not content.

For fully forty-five minutes after his presentation, Dr. Beck discussed questions raised by the audience. His answers were frank, illustrated, and in most cases, very witty. His answering of questions was not halted because of a lack of questions on the part of the audience.

Though obviously all of the audience did not agree fully with Mr. Beck's philosophy, there were certainly many questions raised in their minds concerning their own philosophies. Perhaps the best summary of Dr. Beck's acceptance by the audience was voiced by Dean Bowman's terse statement at the conclusion of the program, "We'll have you back."

"THE MESSIAH" TO BE GIVEN IN THE HARVEY

George Frederic Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," will be presented in the Harvey Memorial on Monday evening, December 12, at eight o'clock.

The recordings which will be used in this performance were made recently in Europe by the Luton Choral society and the Royal Philharmonic orchestra under the direction of Sir Thomas Beecham. Elsie Suddaby, soprano; Marjorie Thomas, contralto; Heddle Nash, tenor; Trevor Anthony, bass; and Herbert Dawson, organist, are the soloists.

This program, which is presented by the Lyceum committee, is open to all students and faculty.

SSA MESSAGE

Fellow Students,

Because this is our last weekend in Menomonie before Christmas, the annual Christmas dance has been scheduled for this weekend. With all of the entertainment offered, this should be one of the best weekends of the year.

Tonight we will have an opportunity to see an outstanding Broadway play in our Stout auditorium. The admission will be our SSA activity cards.

Tomorrow, at 8:30 in the evening, the annual Christmas party will be held in the Stout gym. The party is guaranteed to prove entertaining to all who attend. During the intermission Santa Claus will pass out gifts to some deserving students and members of the faculty. Again, the admission will be SSA activity cards.

On Sunday several of the churches have planned Christmas parties for their members and guests. With all the entertainment offered, each and every one of us should have a big weekend.

Sincerely,
John Poellinger
SSA Vice-President

GERTRUDE M. O'BRIEN ATTENDS MEETING

Miss Gertrude M. O'Brien, registrar of The Stout Institute, recently attended a meeting of the Wisconsin College Registrars, held in Madison at the University of Wisconsin Union, December 2. Thirty Wisconsin colleges were represented at the meeting, where questions concerning evaluation of credits and records were discussed.

I AVE PRINTS ARTICLE BY D. P. BARNARD

Relative importance of specific objectives and areas of work in graphic arts education is the topic of an interesting article appearing in the current issue of Industrial Arts and Vocational Education magazine, written by Mr. David P. Barnard, instructor of graphic arts at The Stout Institute.

The article, entitled "The Printing Teacher and the Graphic Arts," was based on the results of a national survey on the relative importance of the various areas of work in graphic arts, a study which was conducted in 1947.

Graphic arts objectives were included in the check lists sent to the printing instructors. It is interesting to note that all but one of the objectives incorporated in the check list were considered as important.

In response to areas of work, it was shown that letterpress work led the field of all areas of work in graphic arts being taught. Blockprinting, bookbinding, marbling, papermaking, and screen stenciling were other leaders in the field.

In summarizing his article, Mr. Barnard sets forth eight recommendations on the basis of the data obtained from his study. Much of the information in these recommendations can be applied to various fields and is interesting information for all industrial arts students.

JAPANESE NOW USE BOOK BY PRESIDENT

Mr. Hasegawa Prepares Translation of "Trade And Job Analysis"

President Verne C. Fryklund has received copies of the recent Japanese translation of his book, "Trade and Job Analysis," which was translated this fall by Mr. Hasegawa of the Japanese Ministry of Education.

The Japanese edition was prepared by the Vocational Textbook Publishing Company, Ltd., of Tokyo, from the American edition published by the Bruce Publishing company of Milwaukee.

Speaking of the permission which Dr. Fryklund granted the Japanese to translate the book, Saburo Misutani, president of the Vocational Textbook company, wrote:

"It is our desire that as many readers as possible have this book within their reach..... We wish bon voyage for this new-born Japanese edition, and extend again our hearty thanks

"HASTY HEARTS" COMING TO STOUT TO-NIGHT

CLAUDE NIHART TO BE GUEST AT STOUT

The Stout Institute will be privileged to receive a visit from Mr. Claude Nihart, Wednesday and Thursday, December 14-15, when this leader of industrial education, inspects Stout's shops and classes, noting especially operating plans, shop house-keeping, and content of the courses being taught.

Mr. Nihart, a Stout graduate of 1909, is head supervisor of vocational and practical arts in Los Angeles. He is well-known throughout the nation for his leadership in industrial education.

Highlighting Mr. Nihart's visit will be his attendance at Stout's Christmas convocation, Wednesday, December 14, at 10 a.m. and a luncheon in his honor at 12:00 in the Tea Room that day. A majority of faculty men will attend, and Mr. Nihart will address the group briefly and then take part in a short informal discussion.

Thursday, the distinguished visitor will address senior and graduate men in the auditorium at 10 a.m., the lecture closing in time to permit students to attend 11:00 classes. In his free moments during the two days, Mr. Nihart will visit shops and classes of the college.

Play Includes Broadway Cast and Director; World War II Is Scene of "Hasty Heart"

The Lyceum committee will sponsor a Broadway play, "The Hasty Heart," tonight, December 9, in Stout auditorium.

The play is being produced with the cooperation of the Theater Guild of New York and is part of the program of the University of Minnesota for the revitalization of the theater in the Northwest. "The Hasty Heart" is a comedy drama which the New York Post calls "The best play to come out of World War II." It ran over two hundred performances in New York and was successful in London, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, and other cities. Although the action of the play is set in a British hospital in Burma and most of the character are soldiers, the play is not essentially a war play, but rather one about a group of soldiers of many nationalities who just happen to meet because of the war.

An entertaining blend of heart-warming comedy in drama, "The Hasty Heart" is a moving story of a young Scottish sergeant whose stubborn pride causes him to reject rudely the friendship offered him by fellow patients and an equally sympathetic hospital nurse. Just as the Scotch soldier learns to take and give friendship for the first time in his isolated life, he finds out that he has only a few weeks to live and is plagued by the feeling that he is really being offered pity by his companions.

Broadway Director

The company will be directed by Martin Manulis, one of Broadway's outstanding personalities, and the cast includes many promising young stage and television stars. As an idea of the abilities of the members of the cast, here is a brief biography of some of the players and their relationship with the stage:

Edward Horner

Edward Horner, who plays Lachie in the play, can trace his interest in the theater to his days as a child entertainer in Newark. His appearance in Eastern stock companies in recent seasons has r a t e d him as one of the most promising young actors in New York. He received outstanding notices for his characterizations in "Front Page," "Golden Boy," "The Philadelphia Story," and "John Loves Mary."

Barbara Ames

Barbara Ames—nurse Margaret—has appeared in the production of "The Affairs of Anatol," which was directed by Mady Christians. John van Druten, author of "The Voice of the Turtle," engaged Miss Ames for the six-month tour of the "Turtle" company, and from that time on, she has been steadily employed in stock company engagements.

COACH STORTI BUSY PERSON AT BANQUETS

Coach Tony Storti has been a busy person these days on the traditional "knife and fork" circuit which every football coach must travel after the grid season has been completed.

Thursday, December 1, Mr. Storti addressed an athletic banquet honoring the undefeated Lake City (Minnesota) high school football team. He spoke on the subject "Factors That Make an Undefeated Team."

New Richmond high school was Tony's next engagement, Monday, December 5, where he spoke to an athletic banquet on "The Value of Athletics." Thursday, December 8, he discussed "Athletics in the Curriculum" before a similar group in Cochrane, Wisconsin.

LA CROSSE TICKETS TO BE GIVEN OUT MONDAY

The distribution and sale of all exchange tickets for the La Crosse game on December 17, will be made on Monday, December 12, from 8:00—5:00 only. This announcement covers all student, faculty and employee tickets for that game.

DON'T SAY "NO"

Many times during our lifetime we are called upon to accept responsibility. We can hardly shirk such a duty, as every day brings new responsibilities. We must be ready to meet these; be ready to face them and fulfill our obligations. We should tackle these responsibilities with zest and thoroughness. A job well-done makes each additional task more enjoyable.

As far as assuming responsibilities, we may be classed under two headings—those who seek and those who shun. Unfortunately the first group is quite a bit smaller than the latter. Seeking more responsibilities requires ambition and initiative. The businessman, the politician, the leader of an army are all men with ambition, men who are responsible. They go out of their way to achieve new goals.

Yet, we needn't be businessmen, politicians, or army leaders to accept responsibilities. Everyone in some way is charged with a task, young and old alike. We students have our responsibilities with our daily school work. While some students are content to sit back and relax, others with more spirit participate in the band, in sports, and in other extra-curricular activities.

We should seek new duties, fill in the wasted hours of our lives. We should go a little further—do a little more. We can help ourselves by helping others as they assume their responsibilities. The rewards will come not only in material gains but also in the satisfaction of doing our own work well. —W.S.

Hi Gang,
And how is everyone this week? Ready for another big week-end? I'm afraid we won't be able to duplicate last week-end until Sadie Hawkins' day rolls around. Shucks, it sure was fun while it lasted. I guess the girls weren't very bashful about asking the fellows out to the Intersociety ball. They surely had a nice turnout.
A lot of the old couples were at the dance. Glad to see that they're still going strong.

Dot Groethe and Rog Landgraf were at the dance having themselves a good time, but let us not forget the other Landgraf. Gene Landgraf attended the dance with Dot Amendt. The Landgrafs must like the name Dorothy, or vice-versa.

Ruth Johnson and Lordy Layman were there, and so was Chuck Jorgensen and Rowena Christen. Let us not forget Hank Tall and Ruth Larson.

Harriet Homer and Dick Krueger were at the ball also, and I think this is developing into something more than just a friendship. Is it?? Barb Johnson and Don Krueger were also there.

Rog Winberg and Gerry Raisler made it to the dance too. I understand that Rog had to come in from the cities for the dance. How come, Rog?

Couldn't help seeing Donna Heike and Russ Gerber gliding around the floor. Bob Crowley and Lois Quist seemed to be having a good time too.

"Driz" Zdrasil and Don Gee seemed to be pretty much intrigued with each other. They've got that look in their eyes.

The married couples were represented by Beth and John Yount. No accidents this year. Fred Wentorf and Gerry Erickson also made an appearance at the dance.

Dot Krushas and Marlyn Tibbets, Helen Wolsey and Russ Tews, and Joan Kleinheinz and Herb Meisner are just about all the people we remember seeing during our short visit to the dance.

Oh, I forgot to mention one more name. Warren Barberg and his old bag (camera case) were at the dance too.

We might add that Warren was the flashiest man there. He was kept pretty busy taking pictures at the dance.

Did you notice some of the happy fellows and gals over the week-end who had dates from out of town. Norma Nelson was down to see Wally Hammerberg, and Jean Archie had her boy friend down from Milwaukee.

Ruthie Larson was beaming with joy while she was with Pete Hendrickson, who came in from River Falls.

Did you see the fellows that Jean Peterson and Leona Sexe were with? I believe they are the fellows to whom the girls are engaged. How about it, girls??

Has anyone been noticing Joan Brack and Gaylord Roe going around together?? They certainly make a nice couple.

News of a new engagement. Don Straw has given Elaine Speicher, assistant librarian, a diamond ring. Congratulations.

Get a load of Ross Slater and Francis Fritz. The two of them have been taking out Marna Larson, a Menomonie girl attending River Falls. Marna was home for the week-end and the fellows saw to it that they were with her most of the time. Isn't three a crowd? How do you fellows do it??

According to last week's question of the week, Betty Worthington claims the statements in this article are untrue. Where do you get your information from, Betty? Say Betty, what happened last Saturday night?

Pauline Zweifel and John Myers are going pretty steady. Say John, didn't you have your girl from back home come down a few weeks ago?

Girls, have you read the article on the HE bulletin board, the one about college girls? If you haven't, get hep!

Proud mother: "Well, yesterday Bob sent his expensive account, and thirty dollars was charged up for Scotch alone."

I received the following information from a very reliable source: an old maid is a YES girl who never got a chance to talk.

A ship had just arrived from Europe and the passengers were disembarking. A man got everything packed and his luggage was removed from his room when he noticed that a bottle was left on the dresser. Leaving his cabin, he took the bottle in his hand. At the gang-plank, he noticed that the custom officer was checking the passengers as they left so he made no attempt to hide the bottle. "It's only carboric acid," said the passenger very apologetically. "Oh, yeah!" said the officer, so he removed the cork and took a healthy swig of the contents. It was!

Mother: "I had a frank discussion with our daughter today about the facts of life."

Father: "Did you learn anything new?"

Prof: "Then don't talk like an idiot!"

Ed: If I kissed you, would you be angry?

Fay: Try it and find out for yourself.

Two little boys were snooping through an attic and they found some old love letters. The boys were brothers and the letters belonged to their parents.

JAMES ROSS SPEAKS AT STS INITIATION

A guest speaker, Mr. James Ross of the John Leslie Paper co., Minneapolis, highlighted the program at the Stout Typographical Society formal initiation and banquet, Wednesday evening, November 30, at the Evangelical church.

Mr. Ross, representative of the sales division of the Leslie company, led a discussion on different phases of paper buying. Members of the STS asked many questions which Ross answered. He also passed out samples of paper to the members together with the descriptive material on each sample.

Keys for the degree of master printer were presented to the new master printers by Robert Blaessing. Those for the degree of journeyman printer were presented by Paul Axelsen. Carl Johnson conferred a similar honor upon the new apprentices.

Members receiving keys as master printers were Paul Axelsen, Richard Dunne, Carl Johnson, Richard C. Johnson, Irvin Lathrop, and Frank Tank.

Journeyman printers were Stanley Hoffman, Roland Morley, Donald Sargent, Peter Schellinger, Rolland Sullivan, Howard Trickey, Rolland Wolfe, and John Woolley. Apprentice printers selected were Oliver Agerlie, Bruce Arntson, Dennis Foltman, Armin Gerhardt, William Kocaj, Theodore Koprowicz, Edward McMahon, James Miller, Don Winters, and Melvin Witte.

The menu for the program consisted of ham, mashed potatoes, corn, celery, carrot sticks, radishes, rolls, apple pie with cheese, and coffee.

WESLEY PLANS RUMMAGE SALE

Proceeds Will Help Send Delegates To National Methodist Conference

Plans were made for a rummage sale to be held in the church basement tomorrow morning as a part of a fund-raising program to send Stout's representatives to the Methodist Student Movement's national conference during the Christmas vacation. Lorton Layman, president of the group, extended an open invitation to all students to come in and shop around.

This conference, the "Fourth National Methodist Student Conference," will be held this Christmas vacation, from December 27-January 1 at Urbana, Illinois, on the campus of the University of Illinois. The Stout Wesley Student Fellowship plans to have three students attend the conference, which is held for the purpose of planning future activities of Wesley Student Fellowships throughout the nation.

TAINTER ANNEX TO GIVE DORM XMAS PARTY

"Deck the halls with boughs of holly" is the theme of the Tainter annex gals as they busily and happily plan the annual Annex Christmas party.

"Now let me see," muses Rita Hack, decorations chairman. "I believe that two angels by the fireplace would add to the Christmas scene that we have in mind."

"Girls," breaks in Marge Weber, refreshments chairman, "do you think that we should have cake, cookies, and candy; or should we have fancy sandwiches, too?"

Co-program chairmen Dorothy Messerschmidt and Ardis Olson mysteriously add, "Because you're all dying to know who's on the program, we'll let you in on a little secret. Dona Jens is going to sing Oh Holy Night. No, we won't say anymore. The rest is a surprise."

Yes, the Annex is really buzzing with activity these days. The girls have invited the Eichelberger and Tainter hall girls, Mrs. Nelson, and Miss Zine to be their guests at the party. After the program, the girls will all join in the singing of Christmas carols. When all the old favorites have been sung and re-sung, the visitors will bid the Annex "Good-night" and will proceed to their own halls. Each hall will then exchange presents among themselves and will have their own "evening snack."

ARTS AND CRAFTS HOLD INITIATION

Eight candidates for membership in the Stout Arts and Crafts club were duly initiated by members of the club at a meeting held on Monday, November 21.

All eight candidates—Barb Lovering, the only girl in the club, and Bob Bachman, Robert Hartig, Al Spanheimer, Bob Berg, Lloyd Abbott, Keye Loper, and Glen Sommers—survived the strenuous mental torture of the initiation and were welcomed into the club after the ceremony. The initiation consisted of a written examination, followed by a recognition test.

The Arts and Crafts club is organized to foster arts and crafts through the medium of hobbies, to promote the worthy use of leisure time, and to further the ideals of industry, skill, and honor.

JOURNALISM STUDENTS HAVE VARIED DUTIES

Each week twenty-two Journalism students have a two-fold assignment. First, they must each write a story for either the Stoutonia or the Dunn County News. Second, they must submit a Stoutonia of the previous week with a written criticism of the paper.

The criticism of the Stoutonia includes evaluation of placement of stories, headlines, typographical errors, jokes, and composition of the stories. Here are some direct quotes taken from the Journalism class' criticisms: "placement good; late! of no interest; stories very good; poor picture; very good paper; poor! many women have babies; cute."

Beverly Brehmer is the general chairman. Other committee heads are as follows: Marge Forsman, food; Jean Van Liew, hostesses, pourers, and replenishers; Carol Hanson, decorations; Margery Thompson, equipment; Mary Jean Swanson, publicity; Noreen Kahl, music; and Jo Ann Graney, clean up.

MILWAUKEE SENTINEL SHOWS STOUT AND MHS

Two photographic-news representatives of the Milwaukee Sentinel visited The Stout Institute and Menomonie high school on Thursday, December 1, compiling pictures and facts on the cooperative educational program in operation between the two institutions.

Pictures taken included shots of a practice class in sewing, the high school choir rehearsing in the Stout auditorium, several practice classes in shopwork, and other activities. A complete feature story on cooperation between Stout and the high school will appear in a forthcoming Sentinel as part of a state-wide feature series on education in Wisconsin.

Feature writer for the project was Charles House, who was accompanied by Mr. Anhauser, the photographer.

RUTH KNOWLES IS ACTIVE HOME AGENT

'49 Graduate Pictured In Newspaper Article On Demonstrations

Homemakers Study 'The Skirt' is the heading on an eastern Wisconsin newspaper article describing activities of Ruth Knowles, '49, county home agent of Door county. Ruth was pictured helping one of the women stitching on "the skirt," a monthly project carried on by the homemakers' clubs.

That home agent Knowles is kept busy may be seen by the following excerpts from the article:

"Door county homemakers are learning a new method of clothes construction—the Bishop method which does away with time consuming basting and pinning. A skirt can be made in an afternoon the Bishop way.

"And construction of a skirt an afternoon is what members of the 19 county clubs are seeing demonstrated at their meetings. Their leaders have learned the method from Miss Ruth Knowles, county home agent, at three leader training meetings held at Ephraim, Jacksonport, and Sturgeon Bay.

"The Skirt' project is one of the monthly projects carried out by the homemakers' clubs, which are organized by community women and assisted by the home agent through the leader training meetings.

"Two new clubs, Little Sturgeon and Salona, have been organized in the county, and Miss Knowles will be present to demonstrate the Bishop method at the Little Sturgeon this week Wednesday night. She attended the Salona meeting last week Wednesday. Miss Knowles also went to Washington Island Wednesday, Nov. 30, for a sewing demonstration."

ATTENTION: CLEVELAND, OHIO

The Stoutonia recently received a card stating a change of address from 1736 Fulton Road, Cleveland 13, Ohio, to 700 E. 92nd street, Cleveland 8, Ohio. This card, however, did not bear a signature. The writer of the card is asked to send his name to accompany the address.

MR. AND MRS. BOB NERBUN HAVE NEW SON

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Nerbun have informed the Stoutonia of the birth of a son. This is their third child.

Mr. Nerbun is a 1941 Stout graduate.

K. I. PEDERSON BECOMES "LIFER"

Another name added to the list of the life members of the Stout Alumni association is that of Kenneth I. Pederson.

After graduating from Stout in June, 1939, he taught General Shop in the high school at Barton, Maryland. After one year in Maryland, he took a teaching position in Milwaukee.

In July, 1941 he began four and one-half years with the Army Ordnance department. This service carried him to both the European and Philippine theaters. Mr. Pederson was released from the army in December, 1945, while holding the rank of captain in the Ordnance department.

His first assignment upon returning to Milwaukee was teaching industrial arts in the Frederick G. Genslen Orthopedic school. His present teaching position is in the metal shop at West Division high school in Milwaukee.

Mr. Pederson is married to the former Carol Dreyer, who is also a Stout graduate; they have a five-year old son.

The Pedersons' address is 4027 North 38th street, Milwaukee 9, Wisconsin.

A policeman walked up to a man who was whipping a balky horse. "Don't whip that horse, man. Talk to him kindly."

The man laid down his whip, walked around in front of the horse and, by way of opening the conversation said, "Ah'm from Montgomery, Alabama; whah yo'all from?"

PAUL HALVERSON '49 WORKS IN ILLINOIS

Paul Halverson, graduate of Stout in 1949, writes from Urbana, Illinois. "I am rather late in sending in my address for the Stoutonia, but better late than never.

The work here is very interesting, and I certainly am glad I changed to the profession of architecture. I have very little free time, as the curriculum is noted for requiring an unusually large amount of outside work, but I still like it very much.

My degree from Stout helped considerably in our moving into this apartment. It is a new building, just completed about a month ago, which houses 106 families. The building is for graduate students and staff. I fall into the graduate student class because of my previous degree.

I shall be waiting patiently to receive the Stoutonia."

ALUMNI GROUP HOLDS MEETING NOVEMBER 22

A meeting of the Alumni Relations committee was held Tuesday, November 22. Following are the minutes for that meeting.

The chairman, Mr. Herb Anderson, called the meeting to order. Miss Cox, Mr. Ruehl, Mr. Soderberg, and Dean Bowman were in attendance.

I. The first item on the agenda called for a discussion on a proposal for office space in the new library building.

A unanimous consensus of opinion was that a request for Alumni space in either the old library or the new library building be immediately submitted to President Fryklund for his consideration.

The committee reasoned that the following specifications would aid President Fryklund and the architect in their planning:

1. A proposed three rooms would be needed to complete The Stout Institute Alumni Headquarters.

A. A conference room may be used for:

1. Not only Alumni activities but for use by any school group sanctioned by the school administration.
2. Alumni receptions during homecoming.
3. A meeting place for the Local Alumni Chapter.
4. A conference room for the Faculty Alumni Relations Committee.
5. And a place to meet for the annual Alumni business meeting.

B. A work room.

1. The room will house the addressograph equipment.
2. It will provide work space for preparing literature to be mailed.

3. The room will give the clerical help adequate space for performing their work.

C. An office for the Association's Secretary-Treasurer.

The committee wishes to recommend the space be located on the first floor or ground level.

II. The second question to be discussed was that of campus organizations' use of alumni files for the purpose of securing addresses of their past members. It was agreed that if a number of persons are permitted to use the files, they will not remain in order for long. Furthermore, the Alumni Association Secretary pointed out that the $400 a year allocated for secretarial help does not permit the assignments, of looking up addresses for organizations, to be placed in the hands of the Alumni Association's clerical help. Time does not permit.

The committee's first recommendation was that the campus organization See ALUMNI—Page 5

HASTY HEART—

William Kester

William Kester—Yank in the play—has played, on the stage, officers of almost every rank, both Navy and Army. In addition to his present role of the American GI in this play, he has had either soldier or sailor roles in "John Loves Mary," "Dear Ruth," "January Thaw," and "Fifty."

Ken Tower

Ken Tower, Tommy, began his professional career at the age of fifteen when he began to appear regularly on dramatic programs on one of New York City's leading networks. Since then, he has been heard on such national programs as "Portia Faces Life," "Second Husband," and "Ellery Queen." The theater, however, is his major interest, and he has been seen on Broadway in "Trio" in addition to several seasons of stock.

David Ryan

David Ryan, as Digger, toured in Somerset Maugham's play, "Theatre" and then played with Freddie Bartholomew in his production of "Charles's Aunt." His last film was "G-Men."

Lee Marvin

Lee Marvin—Kiwi—since emerging from service has been busy constantly on the stage and in pictures. His former work includes "The Bat," "The Late Christopher Bean," and "Nothing But the Truth." His most recent films are "The Window" and "Close-up." He is frequently seen on television.

John Malcolm

John Malcolm—the Colonel—spent his vacations doing bit parts in Hollywood films while he was in college. He spent three years playing juveniles in such plays as "Scarlet Sister Mary." More recently he has been seen in New York in "Come of Age," "The Sleeping Clergyman," and "Dorian Grey."

Lee Madden

Lee Madden—Blossom—entered college to become an engineer, but the desire to create characters on the stage overcame his wish to build bridges. He has toured from coast to coast playing with a wide variety of roles in stock.

Bill Smillie

Bill Smillie, the orderly, has played four years of stock, interspersed with night club appearances, in preparation for Broadway. He is a musician as well as an actor.

"The Hasty Heart" was written by John Patrick as an affectionate dramatic portrait of a real-life Scotch soldier whom he met in the Syrian desert during the war, when Patrick was in the American Field Service Ambulance unit attached to the British troops. Patrick has made a tender, amusing, and unforgettable story of the dour and arrogant young man who never wanted to give or take friendship from anyone until he found how much he was missing.

It took many centuries to make man what he is today, but a woman can make a monkey out of him in very short time.

HOT TIME AT GYM SATURDAY NITE

Attention—pressing irons, electric or otherwise: You'd better get hot before Saturday at 8:30 p.m., for the calendar says "dance dance dance." The evening events will delight everyone, for a genuine good time is expected. Skits by the freshmen and whiskers on a real live Santa Claus will add to the Christmas spirit.

Quite a change is planned from last year's program. Get this: seniors do clean up, juniors will serve refreshments, sophomores will decorate, and the freshmen will present a lively program at the intermission!

Everyone is invited to attend so as not to miss something special.

PHILO CHRISTMAS SALE TO BE DECEMBER 14

Is your Christmas shopping all finished? Are you still looking for gifts for your little sister, brother, mother, or aunt? If so, remember the Philo Christmas sale, Wednesday, December 14, in the Home Economics building corridor, between hours of 8-10 and 11-5 p.m. There will be mittens, scarves, luncheon sets, aprons, candy, and numerous other items to help you complete your list of Christmas gifts.

Congo Club Welcomes The Holiday Season

Congo club ushered in the holiday season with the first of two Christmas parties, Sunday, December 4, at the First Congregational church. "The Tale of the Innkeeper," a Christmas sermon, was presented as a reading by Betty Braun. Afterwards the group gathered together to sing their favorite Christmas carols.

Leverne "Charlie" Ablard and Wayne Koehler, co-chairmen; Betty Braun; and Richard A. Johnson planned the meeting and the supper, which consisted of barbeques, celery and carrot sticks, lime-pineapple salad, ginger cookies, apples, and milk.

The second of the two parties will be the LSA-Congo-WSF gathering at the Methodist church this Sunday, December 11.

CHRISTMAS PARTY PLANNED FOR NEWMANITES

A Christmas party is planned for the Newmanites, Sunday, December 11. The committee, all members who are Irish, is making plans for an enjoyable evening of entertainment for all those who attend. Refreshments will be served.

DORMITORIES HAVE CHRISTMAS DINNER

On December 15, Tainter hall and Tainter annex will partake of their annual Christmas dinner. The meal will begin at 6:00 p.m.

The girls have chosen ham as the basis of their main course. All the trimmings, including candied sweet potatoes, asparagus, Christmas salad, assorted rolls, currant jelly, relish, and the traditional dessert of plum pudding will be enjoyed with the ham. At 5:45 a fruit cocktail will be served.

Each table will be decorated with a candelabra composed of Christmas candles and pine boughs.

YWCA TO PRESENT CHRISTMAS SERVICE

The local YWCA will present an all-school Christmas Vesper Service on Monday, December 12, at 8 p.m. in the club rooms above the union. A short service will be followed by refreshments.

According to Jean Bulmer, YWCA president, "After having had a very successful Thanksgiving sunrise service, we certainly urge all students who possibly can, to take advantage of this opportunity to attend our vesper service."

SOCIETIES PRESENT "HOLLY BALL"

The Intersociety annual formal was held Saturday evening, December 3, in the Stout gym. The theme of the dance was the "Holly Ball." Silver and red decorations were combined to make one of the most beautiful settings that have ever been seen at Stout.

The couples danced to the syncopating music of The Royal Blackhaws orchestra. Chaperones for this event were Miss Marshall, Pallas Athene adviser; Miss Jeter, adviser of the SMA society; Miss Van Ness, adviser of the Philomathean; and Miss Garrison, adviser of the Hyperian.

ALUMNI—

tions be encouraged through the SSA office to set up permanent alumni files of their own members, and that the job of keeping the files up-to-date be assigned to some officer of the organization. The National Secretary of The Stout Institute Alumni Association has offered his counsel to organizations who wish to follow this recommendation.

The second recommendation is to have a trained student secure the addresses from the files of The Stout Alumni Association for a fee. It was suggested that the fee be based on the number of addresses secured and the proceeds be turned over to the student who performed the work.

In this way the organizations would receive service from The Stout Institute Alumni Association files until such time as the organizations will have their own file. Furthermore, this procedure will eliminate the necessity of permitting many untrained students to use the file. And finally, it will eliminate the time spent by the National Secretary and his office help in showing many students how to use the file properly.

III. The last item to be considered was that of the Alumni Dinner for graduating seniors which is held during commencement week. The attendance has been poor and the question is—why has the attendance been poor?

The committee's reaction was that the sponsor, Menomonee Local Chapter of The Stout Institute Alumni Association, is the logical group to initiate any changes that will bring about increased attendance. However, the committee offered these suggestions:

A. Change the date of the dinner from commencement week to an earlier date in May. Graduates who are married, in particular, have problems such as preparing to move, finding baby sitters and the like, during commencement week; and, for that reason many find it easier to stay home from at least one social event during the busiest week of their college career.

B. Change the name "Alumni Dinner" to "Senior Recognition

XMAS COFFEE HOUR TO BE HELD DECEMBER 13

Dinner" sponsored by the local alumni chapter. Some of the seniors of the past have indicated that they thought the name of the social event "Alumni Dinner" meant that it was for the alumni.

C. It was further suggested that perhaps a program of entertainment be used to replace the one of a main speaker. However, the committee felt that it is entirely up to the local Alumni Chapter, but that they suggest experimenting with a program change as one means of increasing attendance.

D. The committee felt that in some cases students cannot attend the event because of problems such as securing a baby sitter, transportation, and so forth. If the local chapter was aware of such problems of individual cases, it could give assistance in solving the problems.

INITIAL CONFERENCE GAME SATURDAY

Superior State Scheduled To Face Blue Devils There; Game To Be Broadcast

The Stout Blue devil cagers will make their initial taste of conference competition on Saturday evening when they battle Superior State Teachers college. The game will be played in the Yellow Jackets' gymnasium, starting at 8:00 p.m. Rabid Blue Devil fans unable to make the trip will be pleased to know the game will be broadcast by station WSBK in Superior.

The Yellow Jackets are expected to have a strong quint this year, having had a successful non-conference warmup of two straight victories. In Kazmarik and Moselle they have what is probably the finest pair of guards in the league. Kazmarik specializes in long shots, while his cohort Moselle excels in speed and drive from the other guard post. Also included in the Yellow Jacket lineup are Walker, high scorer so far this season, and Wettier, a Duluth Central star, at forwards.

University Minn. Duluth Branch With but one day to rest, the Stout quint will migrate to Minnesota on Monday, December 12, to play the University of Minnesota Duluth Branch, at the Duluth armory.

The Duluth Bulldogs have a powerhouse team this year, retaining 9 lettermen from last year's hoopers who compiled a 15 games won and 5 lost in competition last season.

Big gun in the Maroon and Gold attack is blond Rudy Monson, who paced the Extension's scoring last season by pouring 362 points through the hoops for 16.3 points per game.

Other lettermen on the squad are Rudie Brandstrom, Bruce Budge, Bill Christensen, Glen Christie, Paul Nace, Gene Norlander and Ed Westerhaus.

This game will also be covered by one of the Duluth radio stations.

WHERE, HOW TO OBTAIN BASKETBALL TICKETS

Basketball ticket information has been released recently from the SSA. Students may obtain their basketball tickets from the SSA office a few days prior to the time the games are scheduled to be played. The dates the tickets are available will be posted in the main halls. An exchange ticket is given when the student's activity privilege card is punched. There is no charge for these exchange tickets. However, both the ticket and privilege card must be shown at the gate for admission.

Members of the faculty, students' wives, and employees of the school must purchase a ticket for 50 cents and procure an exchange ticket at the SSA office. The time when this can be done will also be posted prior to the games. Both tickets must be given to the ticket taker for admission.

MICHIGAN TECH AND ST. MARY'S BOW TO STOUT

Two Up, Two Down for Stout In Current Cage Season; Lose to St. Olaf

The Blue Devils of The Stout Institute roared back after two straight defeats to down two opponents, and square their current series of basketball games. After losing to St. Olaf Tuesday night, Stout's cagers downed Michigan Tech. Thursday night, and then defeated St. Mary's College of Winona on Friday night.

Lose To St. Olaf

The Blue Devils dropped their second game of the season to a high geared St. Olaf's cage team, 59-47.

St. Olaf's went into the lead early in the first half and held a slight edge throughout the remainder of the game.

Vaughn Stai, Stout center, contributed 20 points to his team's scoring, but received little point support from the remainder of the squad. Debrauske, with 11 points, was second high. Stai, however, was overshadowed by Johnson, St. Olaf forward, who sank nine field goals and four charity tosses for a total of 22 points.

Although the Blue Devils connected for 21 free throws to 11 for St. Olaf, the hosts outscored the invading Stout team 24 to 13 in field goals.

Stout Downs Michigan Tech

In a rough and rugged battle, the Blue Devils rolled over the Michigan College of Mining in Stout's home debut, Thursday night, 61-52.

Coach Johnson, however, substituted freely, attempting to find a suitable combination for Stout's conference opener. In all, fourteen Blue Devils saw action.

Although Popovich was the leading game scorer with 15 points, Nylund, with 12 points, Stai with 10 points, Pollock with 9, and Amthor and Brimer with 8 points each were next high.

Stout Whips St. Mary's

St. Mary's of Winona provided the second victim for the Blue Devils, when they were handed a 58 to 47 thumping in revenge for a former defeat earlier in the season.

Stout scored first, but the invaders poured it on to move into a six point lead. Stout countered and soon took over the lead, holding a 29-20 half-time margin.

Russ Pollock, Stout guard, pushed six field goals and seven charity tosses to lead the scoring with nineteen points. Saulf and Modde won high point honors for St. Mary's with 12 points each.

COVEY'S CORNER

The team starts its conference season tomorrow night with two non-conference wins and two similar losses under its belt.

The two losses were the first two games, which were out of town; the two wins were played here in the Armory. These facts can be interpreted different ways: you can reason that the team is hot on the home court, but it doesn't do so well on the road trips; or you can reason that the team is improving as the season progresses. From a spectator's view point, the game against St. Mary's was certainly an improvement over the Michigan Tech game.

St. Mary's had a pretty good team. This probably brought out the better playing on the Blue Devils' part.

Earlier in the week the Blue Devils lost to St. Olaf. Vaughn Stai recovered from his slow start of the season and ended the evening with 20 points to his credit. Stai, who is starting his third year for the Stout cagers, ought to have another good year and really run up in the scoring column. St. Olaf had a large field house and some of the players thought they were in a track meet.

The Michigan Tech game wasn't anything to write home about, but the Blue Devils won and a lot of freshmen got some important experience. Mike Wingert saw a lot of action and played some good ball. However, I thought he was going to make a basket for the other team at one point of the game. Bill Kieffer has made a rapid change-over from football to basketball; Bill is right up in the scoring column and looks good on the floor.

Herb Markely put in quite a bit of playing time during the weekend; Herb can use his height and weight to quite an advantage in his rebounding. Bob Brimer caught fire against Michigan Tech. When Bob gets hot on those corner shots, he can really score the points. Bob Erickson is getting in the air this year for the rebounds. One time he went up so high I thought he was going to kick an opposing player in the chin.

Regular guards, Bill Amthor and Russ Pollock, had an "on" night against St. Mary's; Pollack was high point man for the evening with 19 points. Russ also played a good defense game on Modde and kept the St. Mary hot shot from getting too many points. Amthor started the game off with a bucket, and from then on he had a hard time missing on long shots.

Ed Nylund keeps on scoring the points and dragging down the rebounds. In the beginning of the season Ed remarked he was getting too old for the game; it looked to me as if he has plenty of good games left in him yet.

INDIVIDUAL SCORING

Nylund	40
Pollock	40
Stai	37
Debrauske	24
Amthor	19
Kieffer	18
Erickson	12
Brimer	9
Janikowski	5
Wingert	5
Markely	4
Cataldi	2
Bachmeyer	1

Tomorrow Coach Johnson takes his team to Superior for the first conference game, and on next Monday the Blue Devil cagers play Duluth Branch of the University of Minn.

The Superior team has been going hot on their schedule so far and are undefeated. This will be Superior's first conference game and the Blue Devils should have quite a game on their hands. Superior has a large court, which might give trouble to the Stout team, which is used to a small court.

The Duluth team plays in a pretty strong league this year, against Hamline and other teams in that conference. The Duluth team has a couple of players standing about 6' 4" and a half-dozen more men around the 6' mark so they shouldn't be troubled with lack of height.

One of the finer sights in the Armory last week was Bill Larson, the janitor. Bill has been taking care of the Armory ever since I can remember and a good many years before that. Bill had trouble with his leg and had it amputated a little while ago, but he is a tough old boy to keep down and now he is as spry as ever.

"HASTY HEART" BRINGS OUT CROWD

"A Comedy About A Tragedy" Plays To Capacity Crowd
At Stout Auditorium

"The Hasty Heart," a Broadway play produced by the Theater Guild of New York as a part of the University of Minnesota program for the revitalization of the theater in the Northwest, was presented at the lyceum last Friday evening.

The entire action of the play, described as "a comedy about a tragedy," "a war play which is not about the war," takes place in a hut which is being used as a convalescent ward in a temporary British General Hospital somewhere within the South East-Asia Command.

The play depicts the conflict between a bitter, lonely young Scottish Segeant and his fellow-patients who along with their understanding hospital nurse try to give him the friendship which he wants but which he does not know how to accept.

As the soldier learns how to take and to give friendship for the first time in his isolated life, he discovers that he is afflicted with a disease from which he must inevitably die in a few weeks. Thus, he believes the friendship that had been offered him had been only pity.

The atmosphere of the play is not sombre, but is that of a heartwarming comedy. When it began its successful run in New York it was called See "Hasty Heart" page 9—

SSS PRESENTS CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

Stout Symphonic Singers under the direction of Mr. Charles Frailey, presented the annual Christmas concert, December 14, at 8:00 p.m. in the Stout auditorium.

It was also presented to the Stout students at convocation Wednesday, at 10:00 a. m.

The concert was opened by the Cathedral Chimes playing "I Heard The Bells On Christmas Day" by Betty Johansen.

The SSS and Girls Glee club created an impressive scene as they filed past the audience, during the procession, singing Christmas carols with the light of candles, "Joy to the World" "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and "The First Noel." In the recessional they sang "O Come, All Ye Faithful."

The Girl's Glee club sang many selections, among them being "Christmas Lullaby," "Lovely Babe," "Lullaby of the Christ Child," "Hark, Now, O Shepherds."

Following this the Stout Symphonic Singers rendered the following selections: "Ava Maria," "As Lately We Watched (Ralph Myhrman, soloist)," "Christ Of The Christmas Bells," "Vigil," "Sunrise On Christmas Morning" (Dale Maxey, soloist).

During the intermission Robert Swanson read The Christmas Story, Luke II.

"The Song Of Christmas" with orchestra accompaniment was presented along with vivid tableaux signifying the various scenes of the song under the direction of Mr. Norman Ziemann.

Soloists in the pageant were: Priscilla Strommen, Dona Jens, Grace Watson, Dale Maxey, and a trio consisting of Ralph Myhrman, Bud Medtlie, and Robert Solberg.

"Carol Of The Bells," "Glory To God In The Highest," and the traditional Hallelujah Chorus from "The Messiah" with orchestra concluded the impressive Christmas concert.

STOUTONIA TO CHANGE POLICY FOR CHRISTMAS

The Stoutonia has changed its policy concerning its Christmas issue this year. Last year the paper had a cover sheet on which were advertisements from local business establishments. This year there is no cover page. Instead the paper contains twelve pages of news, with the advertisements running throughout the paper.

It Is A Time For Joy . . .

Today there beckons to all of us here at Stout that magic time known as "Christmas Vacation." The very words conjure up visions of family reunions, happy times around the Christmas tree, holiday meals, and relaxation from study and care.

Although vacation time is hardly the occasion for mentioning serious topics, perhaps I may be forgiven if I speak of two ways in which we all may do full justice to the holiday season.

First, in the midst of our happiness, with our loved ones about us, let us not be unmindful of the many blessings which are ours, the abundance which makes our nation the most fortunate in the world.

But vacation is a time of joy too. Let us take full advantage of this brief respite to rest, to renew our energies for the scholastic challenges which lie before us.

Yes, a pleasant vacation is in prospect. We have already successfully completed a significant segment of the college year; let us return from the holidays ready to complete that task.

Verne C. Fryklund
President, The Stout Institute

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS FROM DEAN KIRK

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS! What a wonderful combination of words that is. When we repeat them, our thoughts turn back to other places, other friends, and other dreams, for Christmas is a time for remembering. I hope the holidays will be happy ones for the alumni, students, faculty, and staff of The Stout Institute, and that Christmas and the New Year will be days that we shall all like to recall when the time for remembering comes again.

SSA MESSAGE

Dear Members of the SSA,
Two fun-packed weeks of vacation are here at last. It is a certainty that all of us have the Christmas spirit now; there have been so many activities to bring the holiday atmosphere to us. Starting with the SSA Christmas party which was attended by so many of you, followed by the various organization parties, the presentation of the "Messiah" on records in the Harvey, the Home Ec club Kaffee Lag, and the musical organizations presentation of the Christmas program, the tension has been mounting. Now going home is the climax to our celebration.
To each of you students, faculty members, and your families, we in the SSA office wish a very Merry Christmas and a vacation packed with the joy of the holiday season. We also wish for each of you a New Year which will bring good luck in each endeavor.

Sincerely,
Jean Waltzer, SSA Secretary

STOUT PAYROLL TOTALS SUM OF $466,000

President Verne C. Fryklund
Tells Local Lions Club Of College And Community

About $466,000 a year is paid out to Stout Institute faculty, civil service, and part time workers, while approximately 1,500 people in Menomonie are directly a consequence of Stout being here, revealed Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, president of Stout Institute, in his talk before the Lion's club Wednesday, December 7, at the Hotel Marion.

Lawrence Michemook, program chairman for December, introduced the Stout president, who presented a picture of the administrative offices of the popular college for industrial education and home economics, noting also the personal services conducted through the offices of the Dean of Men, the Dean of Women and the registrar.

Then Dr. Fryklund pointed out that in spite of the majors in industrial education and home economics, 60 of the 124 credits required to graduate are in the academic fields such as science, math, and English.

College Purpose

The speaker reasoned that the purpose of the college is to return the young men and women to society with "saleable abilities" and capable of "appreciating their social and economic surroundings."

Showing the importance of Stout to the community, he noted that 1,500 people are directly concerned with the college either as students or paid employees. There are 966 attending, including 70 graduate students, 223 wives of students in Menomonie, and children of these married students numbering close to 150.

The faculty numbers 63 plus another 81 on state civil service and 70

STOUT RELEASES NEW GRADUATE PUBLICATION

The latest graduate publication, "Supplemental Bulletin of The Stout Institute, Thesis Annotations of Graduate Studies 1949-1950," contains annotations of 115 masters' degrees theses, according to Lloyd Whydowski, acting chairman of the Printing department. This sixteen-page booklet contains summaries which date from 1937 to 1949 and include investigations in both home economics and industrial education.

"Graduate students now enrolled should find this material valuable in suggesting problems for research, as well as in indicating what has been accomplished at Stout in the past," states R. A. Wigen, director of graduate studies. Copies are being distributed to all graduate students now enrolled and are available in the Graduate office to others interested.

SSA CHRISTMAS PARTY IS BIG SUCCESS

The annual SSA Christmas party which took place in the Stout gym last Saturday night proved to be a great success.

The gym was crowded with students who enjoyed dancing to the music of Don Braem's orchestra.

Santa Claus came at 9:30 and with the assistance of a jolly clown passed out several gifts to the students and faculty. Dr. Salyer received a book titled The Psychology of Women, while Dr. Marshall was presented a books about cats. A bottle of peroxide was given to Doris Eckstein. Don Rhead accepted a girdle as his gift. The engaged couples were well remembered too; they were presented with such gifts as hand cuffs, rolling pins, and wedding rings. These were only a few of the humorous gifts that were distributed.

The Hodges and Chapek act kept the audience roaring with laughter. As Fred Hodges explained, they tried to "out spike, Spike Jones." Their quick change to appropriate costumes added hilarity to their movements, which were done in precise timing to phonograph records.

Punch and Christmas cookies were served as refreshments.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

The Christmas spirit is now filling the air with an aura of enjoyment and satisfaction. This derivation of satisfaction varies with different persons and classes of people, each individual deriving a different form of satisfaction; basically, however, they are the same.

In recent years, the true spirit of Christmas has been undermined by commercialization of Christmas festivities. Everywhere you go, or wherever there is a radio, you can hear commercials by some company with a few Christmas carols scattered throughout to hold the interest of an audience. "Why should this be?" is the question raised by citizens who listen to these radio programs.

One answer to the questions is that the broadcasts must have someone backing them financially and this is one way of doing it. Commercialization pertains not only to the radio broadcasts, but also to newspapers and other advertising media requiring a firm or company as sponsor.

Among other satisfactions derived by people is the happy spirit that prevails during the Christmas holidays. That gaiety results from peoples' participating in caroling and other activities designed to cheer others who are less fortunate than themselves. There is great satisfaction derived from activities of this nature.

For students in school all over America, Christmas means a vacation free from school assignments and the daily class schedule.

Basically to everyone, whether they are professional students or laymen, the real meaning of Christmas is defined as "A day set aside annually to celebrate the birth of Christ." It is truly a great occasion in every Christian's life to be able to celebrate the birthday of One in whom we believe. Christmas is a day that is celebrated by going to church or to various other religious functions. It should be a day of respect engendered by the phrase "Peace on Earth, Good Will Towards Men," not the harsh clatter of tawdry, syncretized commercialism.

THRU the KEYHOLE

Greetings:

Are not you glad that today is Friday? A few more hours and we'll be on our way home. It sure will be nice to go home and rest up for a couple of weeks.

There really was a large turnout for the lyceum last Friday night. I was lucky to get a seat, and then it was out of the way and I couldn't see too well who was with whom. Well, that's life for you. But I did see a few couples.

Clarice Zarling and Jim Miller were there, and so was Donna Jens and Connie Olson. They seemed to be having a pretty good time after the lyceum too.

Hold everything. I just heard that Mike Anderson and Betty Gilgenbach have become engaged. Congratulations, and the best of luck.

Stanley Hoffman and wife were at the lyceum. Coach Storti and his wife also seemed to be enjoying the performance. George Soderberg and spouse were there with bells on. John and Beth Yount are the two people that make up our last married couple. Sorry, we know we missed some of the other married folks, but we were so busy watching Jim Ooley and Betty Worthington that we didn't have time for much else.

Saturday was another big day. The SSA Christmas Party was a huge success. The intermission program was pretty good too. Al Hodges and his buddy from home really put on a good impersonation of Spike Jones and orchestra. They were terrific. The Santa Clause part of the program wasn't bad either. Some of the presents that were given out were OK. Don Rhead received a girdle, but it was originally intended for Don Winters. Bob Cash received a set of curlers. I guess the girls are getting jealous of Bob's curly hair. Ed Maurer and Marge Musil, and John Poellinger and Marge Thompson received imitation diamond rings. Fritz Wentorf received a pair of hand-cuffs—not that he needs them. Red Kendall received a jug labeled Tiger Juice and Doris Eckstein received a jug labeled peroxide. I don't think that they needed those jugs.

Noticed three couples seen around pretty steady lately. Namely Don Bredhal and Daynee Buell, Bob Houghton and Bev Struck, and Bob Nichols and Phyl Amacher. Hmm. Gerda Ravnholt and Claude Klein have been hitting it off rather nicely lately.

To get back to Jim Ooley—Jim is a pretty fast worker. He took Betty Worthington to the lyceum and then he took her home. Then he proceeded to combine—he took Dorothy Hardies home right out from under Dick Van Duzee's nose. Another fast worker is Don Sargent. He practically swept

WE'RE INTELLIGENT?

We, the young people of today, ought to be the best drivers on the road. We're intelligent; our reactions are quicker than those of folks in their fifties and forties. Physically we're better off; we have better eyesight and hearing, longer endurance, greater resistance to fatigue. Yes, we ought to be the best drivers. Then why aren't we?

We could "pass the buck" by explaining that we have never been taught to be better drivers. This argument may hold some weight, but we need to examine ourselves for a further explanation.

Some of us are fast drivers because we enjoy the sense of power that handling a rapidly-moving automobile gives us. By taking chances we gain prestige among our friends, or so we assume at least. Maybe you, Mary, or Bill, or John, are a careless driver because, subconsciously, you resent your father's dominance or your mother's over-protectiveness, and so you enjoy the freedom that driving a car gives you. So, you step hard on the accelerator and think, "I'll drive just as fast as I please. Try and stop me!"

Maybe you are a poor driver because you've never quite learned to accept responsibility. You avoid decision-making and problem-solving. You're too de-

Irene Tiller off her feet both Friday and Saturday nights.

News Flash—This column is progressive. It is so progressive—we can foretell coming events. Last week we reported Hank Tall out with Ruth Larson. We were a little ahead of time. This is the week Hank was out with Ruth. Last week he was out with Bev Hedlund. Sorry, all the parties involved.

Noticed Eugene Weigel with Jerry Jurwitz at the dance Saturday night. Milan Huley and Eileen Deetz made a stunning couple at the dance. Two more interesting couples were Harold "Laughing Boy" Christensen and Gretchen Schoenoff; and Gale "Gimpy" Woelfer and Rosie Grazdziewski. One couple that recently got together again are Herb Watanabe and Lois Heike. They appeared at the SSA dance too.

The McHatton sisters are doing right well for themselves this year. Peggy is going steady with Jim Coad—and she is the one who never took men seriously. Mary isn't doing bad either. She and Dick Johnson have been seen several times together.

Just to fill in some space we will mention some of the couples that have been seen "around." Russ Gerber and Donna Heike head the list. Chuck Jorgenson and Rowena Christen run a close second. Some of the others are Warren Barberg and Terry Relland and Lee Flanders (Terry is splitting her time); Ann Rossmiller and Joe Miglio; Emery Nelson and Bea Anderson; Charmaine Chopp and Wayne Rudesill; Jean Pengilly and Karl Windberg; Joanne Bubolz and Gordy Goessner; Dick C. Johnson and Jean Waltzer; Lois Subitch and Dale Maxey; Ruth Ann Christensen and Vaughn Stal; Bette Rasmussen and Bob Hendrickson; Ruth Samdahl and Bill Petryk; Bob "Crash" Hirano and Eleanor Ushijima; Bea Sagstetter and Paul Axelsen; Joan Brack and Gaylord Roe; Donna Kriak and Ed Paul; Loree Woolen and Frank Tank; Gene Landgraf and Jean Carwell; Pat Krause and Gene Traxler; Paul Revord and Birdie Hutchinson—when that takes care of the directory—now let's start on the encyclopedia. All kidding aside—that should give a pretty fair outlook on who is going to what with whom, etc. I'm wearing myself out doing this. My back is getting stiff bending over to look in the keyholes. We are going to standardize door locks that are 5' high.

Have a good vacation—remember—"It is more blessed to give than to receive"—I wonder what I'm going to get. Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. We'll see you next year.

Key and Hole

pendent upon others for help, and praise, and sympathy. And so, when you get into a car, you drive just as hard and as fast as you can because, subconsciously, you're trying to run away from reality.

Others of us have retained too much of our childish impulsiveness. We haven't learned to make good decisions, nor have we learned to consider the probable consequences of our acts before we perform them.

Today we're going home for Christmas. Most of us will probably be doing quite a bit of driving. There will be that trip to the farm for Christmas dinner, the drive to Aunt Harriet's to see their tree, and then that big date on New Year's Eve. We want to be sure that we're going to be alive to carry out all those wonderful plans. We want to minimize our chances of being hurt or killed in holiday accidents, by being the best drivers we know how to be.

Remember that good judgment is more highly respected than the willingness to gamble. Realize that you can never escape reality, no matter how fast you travel. Realize, too, that the power and freedom you think you feel when you are reckless and fast is actually a submission to childish and immature emotions.

Bachelor's Quarters

Dear Readers,

As I have the privilege of writing this column, I wish to take the opportunity of wishing all of you A Very Merry Christmas and A Prosperous, Happy New Year.

Have you done your Christmas snooping—I mean shopping? I know some children who used to start their Christmas snooping after Thanksgiving; they would snoop around all the closets in the house looking for packages that might contain something for them. My folks didn't appreciate it one bit.

One of my friends told me—this is an old one, but it's good—that his uncle was arrested for doing his Christmas shopping too early; you see he was in a store before it opened. I wish all again A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year.

Still Mother's Little Lamb,
Wally Pigeon

Two college students were discussing what they might get for Christmas.

1st Student: "What would you do if Santa Claus gave you a million dollars?"

2nd Student: "Nothing—from then on."

Scene—Jim Papes's room.
Time—8 o'clock, Saturday morning.
Action—George Skubich rushes into the room.
George: "Wake up, let's go, roll out, breakfast time, come on, get up."
Jim (sleepily): "Are you going downtown, George?"
George: "Yes."
Jim: "Goodbye, George!"

"I have used the jokes about kids with a college education; well this is one about a husband with such an education. This particular husband was returning in the small hours of the morning and he spotted a burglar jimmying the lock on his front door. So the husband put his education to advantage and slowly he stepped up to the man and in whispering tones said, 'I'll open the door for you if you'll go in first!'"

The visitor was met at the door by a little boy.
The visitor: "Is your daddy in, sonny?"
Little boy: "No, sir. He hasn't been home since mother caught Santa Claus kissing the maid."

City Slicker: "Just what do you fellows do here in the country for fun?"
Hayseed: "Oh, pretty much the same as you boys do in the city only we do it in different places."

1st girl: "I want to ask you a question. Why do you wear your stockings inside out?"

2nd girl: "Well my feet get so hot I just turned the hose on them."

Young Son: "How did you meet Mother?"

Father: "That's none of your business. But I'll tell you this—the experience sure cured me of smiling."

Remember readers, if you put on the dog too much, you might get into the habit of chasing cars.

A college student who got a job during Christmas vacation, arrived at work somewhat late.

The boss saw him coming and he said to the latecomer, "You should have been here at 8:00 o'clock."

Student: "Why, what happened?"

You students who have been informed by some people that you are on the road to hell... well, maybe your informers recognize the road.

Teacher: "Maybe you should take a course in psychology because it can tell you why you do things."

Student: "I already know why; I want to find out how."

Physics Instructor: "When water becomes ice, what is the change that takes place?"

Smart student: "The biggest change is the price."

Here's one for this wintery weather. The fellows who drive with one hand are usually headed for the aisle of a church. Some will walk down; others will be carried.

This is from very reliable sources: The telephone rang in one of the girls' dorms. The nearest girl answered and she said: "Hello, who in the hall do you want?"

During a bull session, the following statement was made.

1st Student: "Should a fellow marry a woman ten years older than himself, or one that's ten years younger?"

2nd Student: "That depends on whether you want to be smothered, or mothered!"

This is a good one—the doc said to the patient as he sewed him, "That will be enough out of you."

Uncle Joe: Can you tell me how I can avoid that run-down feeling?
Walter: Just be careful when crossing the street.

Joe: What about that ten I loaned you in May? You said you wouldn't keep it long.

George: I didn't. It was gone in less than thirty minutes.

Youth and old age will be served with a Merry Christmas this year

YWCA GIRLS DONATE CHRISTMAS TREES

The "Spirit of Christmas" can now be celebrated even more by the students of Stout, thanks to the girls from the YWCA, who donated the two beautiful Christmas trees which stand on either side of the entry to the Harvey Memorial.

The committee of girls who did the decorating are Jean Van Liew, Eileen Deetz, Elaine Johnson, Marjorie Forsman, and Jean Bulmer.

YWCA members are also making garments to send to orphans for Christmas.

HOLIDAY PARTY HELD BY SIGMA MEMBERS

Sigma held its Christmas party on Thursday, December 15, at the new Hide-a-way cafe south of Menomonie. All Sigma members wore their regalia, consisting of fezzes, sigma ties, and white shirts, and brought along either their girl friend or wives.

Singing Christmas carols, exchanging humorous gifts brought by each person, and admiring a Christmas tree, all put the party in a true Christmas atmosphere and implanted in everyone the Christmas spirit.

Dinner was served at 6:30, the main course consisting of chicken.

TAINTER GIRLS HAVE A TASTY XMAS DINNER

"Boy, weren't we the stylish ones last night!" Tainter annex and Tainter hall girls tell each other. Yes, the Christmas dinner for these girls, which was held December 15, is one of the highlights of the dining hall. At 5:45 cocktails were served to the girls in the living room. The dinner, with ham as the basis of the main course, commenced at 6:00. With the ham were all the trimmings, including candied sweet potatoes, asparagus, Christmas salad, assorted rolls, currant jelly, and relish. The dessert consisted of the traditional plum pudding.

"And the tables were decorated so Christmasy with candelabra composed of Christmas candles and pine boughs, and the place cards were so cute," the girls exclaimed as they excitedly talked over their mouth-watering dinner.

WAA SPONSORS SALE OF SCHEDULE PENCILS

Blue and white pencils, carrying on them Stout's basketball schedule, were sold in the Home Economics corridor this past week. This is the first time The Stout Institute WAA girls have sponsored such a sale. The white pencils had the complete schedule printed on them in blue lettering.

ANNUAL PARTY GIVEN BY LSA, WSF, CONGO

On Sunday night December 11, the combined leagues of the Congo, Lutheran Students association, and the Wesley Student Fellowship held their annual Christmas party at the Methodist church.

The Christmas party began with a half-hour devotional period which was under the direction of the Congo club. Beverly Brehmer, Dick Johnson, Jean Waltzer, George McGowan, and Gloria Kuula read passages pertaining to the history of Christmas. Dale Maxey sang a solo accompanied by Romona Rathbun at the organ. All the students joined in the singing of many of the perennial Christmas favorites such as "Silent Night" and "Oh Come All Ye Faithful."

After the devotional period, everyone adjourned to the church parlors for a sumptuous supper of meat loaf, creamed potatoes, beverage, salad, and ice cream. The Wesley Student Fellowship was in charge of serving the meal and was under the direction of Carolyn Blain, chairman. Those who assisted were Lester Duenk, George Stegman, Dorothy Hilton, Wayne Coleman, Shirley Doner, Carol LaBorde, Dave Johnson, and Lon Lobel. Dale Maxey was in charge of table decorations.

After everyone had finished eating, all the tables and chairs were folded up and moved into the corners to make room for the recreation which was provided by the Lutheran Students association. Karl Windberg was leader of the group and was assisted by Howard Knop and Don Landsverk. The variety of games played was amazing, because they involved the use of oranges, tooth picks, and even an over-exertion of the vocal chords in identifying different animals. Large bags of potato chips were awarded to those individuals who finished first in the different games played.

The party was a success in every way and each student group did an excellent job in preparing and presenting their part of the evening entertainment. The humorous note of the evening was that while everyone inside was in the Christmas spirit, it was raining outside and even managed to lighten and thunder a few times.

PALLAS ATHENES HAVE CHRISTMAS PARTY

Pallas Athene society held a Christmas party at the La Corte on Tuesday, December 13, at 5:45 p.m. Mary Hoehn and Jean Archie, co-chairmen of the decoration committee, used a Christmas theme. Gifts were exchanged.

Mary Groom and Rowena Christen were co-chairmen of the food committee. The menu consisted of tomato juice cocktail, baked ham with raisin sauce, candied sweet potatoes, corn cabbage salad, apple pie, cheese, and coffee.

RADIO CLUB CONTACTS STOUT GRAD OF 1949

Paul Larsen, a '49 graduate of Stout, and a former member of the Stout Radio club, was contacted via amateur radio recently. Licensed amateur operators Les Springmire and Bob Christiansen were operating Stout's Radio club station W9CPB at the time of the contact, and carried on an interesting conversation with Paul's station W9ZKB.

Paul is now teaching at the Washington Junior high school at Manitowoc, Wisconsin. He is greatly pleased with his position and told his many activities, showing much enthusiasm. He has started a small amateur radio club for the students at the school, and is also actively engaged with the boy scouts.

Paul is looking forward to a happy reunion with his wife on New Year's Eve. His wife Ann, also a graduate of Stout, is serving a dietetics internship at the University of Minnesota. Ann has secured a position as dietitian at the hospital in Two Rivers, located only six miles from the school where Paul is employed.

ST. NICK VISITS ANNEX AND EICHELBERGER

St. Nicholas' visit to Tainter annex and Eichelberger hall last week was quite an occasion. According to reports, St. Nick visited Tainter annex somewhere between the wee hours of two and five o'clock in the morning. Each bad girls' shoe was filled with sticks, stones, and the like. As Mrs. Adams had been especially good this year, she was left a big, rosy apple. Eichelberger hall girls had a slight edge over the Annex girls in that they were forewarned of the old gent's visit by a sign in their waiting room. While the girls found candy and nuts in their shoes, housemother Cecilia Zine found a big candy cane in her shoe. One of the Eichelberger girls was so anxious to have St. Nick visit her room that she fixed a clever little tray for him. Wonder why it failed to work?

It seems that many of the girls were suspicious of the night's fun and thus put little faith in the age-old Dutch custom of having St. Nicholas fill their shoe.

STOUTONIA ASKS FOR STUDENT EDITORIALS

Would you like to see your opinions in print?

Students and faculty of Stout, by writing an editorial for the school paper you will be benefiting the whole student body with your opinions and not just a select few who would otherwise hear your thoughts.

At the present time, all Stoutonia editorials are being written by the journalism class and a few editorial writers on the Stoutonia staff. When the second semester commences, the editorials will be fewer in number because of the end of the journalism class. To compensate for this, the Stoutonia staff is requesting the student body to participate in writing editorials. But students and faculty should remember in considering writing an editorial that they must not attack any person on the campus, any group or club, or any school policy.

The reporters and editorialist, on the paper are doing their best, but it is humanly impossible for them to cover all the college news and also think up editorials to write every week. So, students and faculty, your cooperation will help to give Stout a better and more progressive school paper.

Submit your material to Ye Old Stoutonia Office in the basement of the H.E. building, or leave it in Mr. Fleming's mailbox.

MAP OPEN HOUSE INTERESTS STUDENTS

The Manual Arts Players open house for students curious about the activities of that fraternity was held on Tuesday, December 6.

The secretary of the Manual Arts Players reported that the open-house was well attended and that the interest of the visitors was very gratifying.

The event was held in an endeavor to acquaint interested students with the work undertaken by the fraternity with the hope that, upon seeing what is actually done, these students would in turn undertake the task of working toward membership in the fraternity.

Activities of the open-house, which were highlighted by a make-up demonstration by the fraternity sponsor and play director Mr. Norman Ziemann, included painting of scenery for the Christmas program, a "sight-seeing" tour of the auditorium dressing rooms, tool rooms and storage rooms, and a general introduction of fraternity practices.

Refreshments—doughnuts and cider—were served at the conclusion of the program.

DORMITORY HOURS ARE SET FOR HOLIDAY

Closing and reopening hours for the girls and boys dorms have been issued for the coming Christmas vacation. Tainter Hall, Eichelberger, and Tainter annex will be closed Friday evening and will re-open Monday noon, January 2. Lynwood Hall will be closed at five o'clock on December 16, and will re-open at eight o'clock Monday morning, January 2.

Conrad Olson: I'm going to change my ways.
Marg Hedberg: I'm not going to make any.
Bob Morris: No, why should I?
Joan Davidson: I'm going to give up walking.
Jack Meyers: I'm giving up women.
Beatrice Sagstetter: I'm going to get up earlier in the morning.

Question of the Week

Question of the Week: "Have you made any New Year's resolutions; if so, what are they?"

Mary Lou Groom: Get more sleep.
Lloyd Johnson: "I don't have any bad habits to break."

Alice Billiet: I'm going to be good.
Don Plale: I haven't thought of any yet.

Jan Vaughn: I don't plan on making any because I always break them.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR FROM THE GOLDEN RULE VARIETY STORE

May all the wonderful things that go with Christmas be yours in the fullest abundance this year.

From all of us here to all of you—a most happy holiday.

CLASSES HAVE FIELD TRIP TO MINNEAPOLIS

H. Furnishings And Advanced Design Groups See Daytons, And Walker Art Center

Twenty-six girls from the home furnishings and the advanced design classes of Miss Martha Ruth Amon traveled to Minneapolis on Saturday, December 10, on a field trip.

Upon arriving at Daytons, the group separated into two's and visited the sixth floor home furnishings department where draperies, lamps, pictures, china, and glassware were all beautifully displayed. One special note of interest to the girls was the section where the drapery was displayed. One of the displays used the drapery material which has been chosen for the home furnishings room here at Stout. A scene on the drapery was framed, creating a beautiful wall hanging.

The next point of interest was the Modern Center, a new shop where the latest in modern furnishings was displayed. The girls enjoyed this very much. After that the girls were free to move around and shop as they wished and view the wonderful Christmas displays and decorations in the stores and on the streets.

At one o'clock the group enjoyed the Parisienne Luncheon at the Curtis Hotel.

After the luncheon, the last place of interest on the field trip was the Walker Art center. This was a very unusual place, unequalled in this section of the country. It's only counterpart is the Museum of Modern Art in New York City. Both use a new trend in teaching through displays. By explanatory signs and arrangement of materials to illustrate the points, exhibits have become important.

The exhibits of jade with all of the intricate carving on them were really something wonderful to see.

There were also some very educational exhibits showing the development and functional structure of pottery and a display of suggested Christmas gifts. These gifts were chosen from local stores because they were considered to be well-designed.

And last, but not least, were the paintings, which included some excellent Flemish paintings, early American, and many showing the very latest modern treatment of art.

The field trip was very interesting and educational and all of the girls expressed the opinion that they had had a wonderful day.

CHRISTMAS MUSICAL IS PRESENTED IN HARVEY

The Christmas portion of George Frederick Handel's "The Messiah" was presented by the lyceum committee as the third in a series of music appreciation programs in the Harvey memorial on Monday, December 12, at 8 p.m.

Mr. Hoving was in charge of the program.

Thirty-five students were present to hear the recordings of the famed Royal philharmonic orchestra and the Luton choral society and the special choir of London under the direction of Sir Thomas Beecham. Featured as soloists were Elsie Suddaby, soprano; Marjorie Thomas, contralto; Heddie Nash, tenor; and Trevor Antony, bass. Herbert Dawson was the organist.

It is welcome news to hear that the school has purchased this album. Future students will have the enjoyment of hearing this fine music superbly done by an excellent musical organization.

PAYROLL

part time workers, giving a total of 1,444. Add to this sum the wives and children of faculty members and employees, and the people directly concerned with Stout Institute pass the 1,500 mark, of considerable importance to the community.

Lists Payroll

Payroll per month totals $38,883 or $466,000 a year. Grocery purchases for dorms, cafeteria, and home economic classes reach another $1,250 a month, with purchases made at home whenever possible. Adding other bills such as repairs and maintenance, Stout distributes about $59,250 a month, by far the greatest share in Menomonie.

Speaking of job placements, President Fryklund explained that a majority who graduated last year accepted first year teaching positions at $2,800 for nine month school term, some receiving higher, and one grad with a master's degree obtaining a $3,725 job.

Stout Board Strong

The president is the executive officer of the Stout Board of Trustees, the strongest board in the state, as all nine other teachers colleges are under one Board of Trustees, the University under another, and Stout has its own.

YULE-TIDE SYMBOL

If you were to look up the word "Christmas tree" in the dictionary, you would find its definition simple; perhaps meaningless. We all associate more of a meaning to Christmas trees than "an evergreen usually decorated and used in Christmas celebrations." Other than just a tree the Christmas tree is a symbol of Yule-tide joy, thankfulness, and reverence. The tree's bright lights and sparkling decorations symbolize joy; the presents piled high around the tree itself portray the reverence of the stately pine forest. The Christmas tree is in every home because it is as much a part of Christmas as the turkey is a part of Thanksgiving.

The Christmas tree was born in the eighth century in Germany when sacrificing human beings to the sacred oak was a custom. Saint Boniface was trying to end this practice. Finally he led his converts into the forest at Yuletide and showed them a fir tree. This tree, he said, "points straight upward to the Christ Child; take this tree into your homes as a sign of your new worship. This tree lives when the earth is darkest and has no stain of blood upon it. Celebrate God's power no more in the forest with rites, but in the sanctity of your homes with laughter and love."

About 1545 it is believed that Martin Luther put candles on a tree to represent to his children the brilliant stars of Christmas Eve.

By the beginning of the 19th century, nearly all Germany had adopted the Christmas tree. The custom soon spread to other northern European countries, to Great Britain, and to the United States.

HOLIDAY PARTY ENJOYED BY NEWMANITES

The evening really started out with a bang! Many Newmanites were caught in the rain and hail storm on their way to the Newman club Christmas buffet and party at the St. Joseph's school auditorium on Sunday evening, December 11, at 6 p.m. The candle-lit room was quite appropriate when the electric lights kept flickering on and off as a result of the storm going on out-of-doors.

The entertainment, following the buffet, consisted of card playing, singing, and dancing. Pat Krause accompanied the singing. Records were furnished for dancing.

The holiday atmosphere during the meal was furnished by the pine-trimmed buffet, by the candle-lit card tables distributed throughout the small cafe-arranged room, and by the meal itself. Christmas records were played during the meal.

The menu consisted of ham loaf, baked beans, rolls and jam, individual cranberry-orange salad, cranberry molds, apple crisp, Christmas cookies, and coffee. The Irish members, with Ellen McGarty as chairman, were in charge of the meal and entertainment. All present who had dish-washer" written in the corner of his napkin, were responsible for cleaning up. Everyone wearing glasses was also asked to assist. The clean up committee enjoyed their task considerably from all reports.

U. OF CHICAGO ANNOUNCES FELLOWSHIPS

The University of Chicago committee on Fellowships and Scholarships recently sent a notice to The Stout Institute announcing the Harry A. Millis Memorial Fellowships in Industrial Relations.

The fellowships will be offered to advanced students whose field and concentration of interest is in industrial relations and who are degree candidates in Economics, Political Science, Sociology, the Interdepartmental Programs in the Social Sciences, or the School of Business.

The awards will be made as follows: Fellowships for Graduate Study will be offered to candidates for the Ph. D. degree on the basis of the applicant's academic record, work experience, letters of recommendation, and particular qualifications for and interest in advanced study of industrial relations problems.

Application forms and information concerning the program may be obtained upon request to the office of the Admissions Counselor, The University of Chicago, Chicago 37, Illinois. The closing date for the filing of applications is February 15, 1950. All awards will be announced on April 1.

The Novelaires, composed of Ralph Myhrman, Earl Dehne, Art Medlie, and Bob Solberg, have been singing over WCCO for the past week on a professional engagement.

FORMER STOUT CONVO ENTERTAINER DIES

Singer Huddie "Leadbelly" Ledbetter, 60, died Tuesday, December 6.

A former Louisiana farm hand, Ledbetter became internationally known as a singer of blues and work songs.

Born in Morrisport, La., he was known as the "king of the 12-string guitar," an instrument not now in general use.

About 15 years ago, the late John

Lomax, folk lore collector, heard the Negro singing on a Texas farm. Lomax promptly arranged a tour that put Ledbetter into the musical spotlight.

He appeared in European capitals, singing and playing the blues and ballads of the Southern back country.

He had been ill for a year with a bone infection. Despite his illness, he made a concert tour of the South last summer.

Mr. Ledbetter sang for a Stout convocation last year.

DEMONSTRATOR SHOWS MEAT PREPARATION

Miss Helen Shepard Lectured And Demonstrated Before High School, College

Demonstrations showing the modern methods of meat preparation were given by Miss Helen Shepard, of the field staff of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, on December 1 and 2, in the new Stout home economics demonstration laboratory.

Both high school and college students made up the audience of Miss Shepard's demonstrations. On December 1 the high school nutrition class saw the demonstration in the morning. The Stout nutrition class attended a lecture at 2:00 p.m. On December 2 the 10 o'clock college nutrition class and the 3 o'clock sophomore foods class watched meat demonstrations.

Skilled in her chosen vocation and with years of practical experience, Miss Shepard's work with the Board has taken her to cities large and small across the country. This organization is nationally recognized for its work in the research and educational fields. It represents all branches of the livestock and meat industry.

Miss Helen Shepard

Appearing before audiences of homemakers, teachers, students, nutrition workers, and other groups, Miss Shepard shows in her programs the practical application of the findings in the research field—how this information can be put to every day use in the nation's kitchens as well as in public eating establishments.

In her demonstration, Miss Shepard pointed out that in the past quarter of a century the art of meat cookery has undergone a veritable revolution. Ideas which have persisted for many years, have, in many cases, been disproved in the light of the results of intensive studies.

For example, she called attention to the fact that the old idea about searing roasts to keep in the meat juices is no longer popular, since research has shown that seared roasts lose more of their meat juices than similar roast not seared. In her program she stated that browning the meat slowly helps to hold the meat juices and this browning is retained in the meat dish when cooked.

The Board's representative also emphasized the fact that meat cookery methods have now been standardized, practical rules having been adopted for cooking each and every cut of meat so as to bring out all its appetizing goodness.

In her meat cookery demonstration, Miss Shepard drew on the results of many studies which have thrown new light on problems of the homemaker in the preparation of a meat dish. Among her recommendations are to cook all meat at low temperature, thus holding down meat cookery losses.

New cookery ideas which are easy on the budget were featured in her demonstrations. Since meat is recognized as the center of the meal, Miss Shepard stressed those points which could help every woman make the best possible use of her meat dollar.

"Did you get hurt while you were on the football team?"
"No, it was while the football team was on me."

V.A. REPORTING—

NEWS RELEASES BY THE VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

One-fourth of all the disabled World War II veterans who have taken education and training under Public Law 16 already have completed their courses and are considered rehabilitated, the Veterans Administration said.

By October 1, more than 520,000 handicapped veterans had, at one time or another, taken Public Law 16 education and training. By the same date, nearly 141,000 had completed training, and most now are employed at jobs ranging from automobile mechanic to school teacher.

The ranks of rehabilitated Public Law 16 trainees, the VA said, have been swelling at an average rate of more than 7,000 a month.

The VA has recently completed a study of the employment objectives of disabled veterans who were rehabilitated through Public Law 16 training.

The study disclosed that more than one-third—or 36.5 percent—had the employment objective of mechanic or repairman.

Another 6.6 percent trained for clerical jobs of various kinds; 6.3 percent, occupations in the metal trades; 5.1 percent, positions as accountants and auditors; 4.1 percent, engineering positions; 2.8 percent, jobs in the construction trades, and 2.8 percent, positions as teachers.

Other employment objectives included agricultural occupations, 1.2 percent; law, 1.0 percent; writers, journalists and reporters, 1.0 percent; commercial artists, 0.7 percent, and doctors and dentists, 0.3 percent.

A wide variety of other job objectives accounted for the remaining 31 percent of the rehabilitated trainees.

The average length of course taken by those Public Law 16 trainees who had completed their training has been 25 months—slightly more than half of the maximum period allowed by the law.

The average course of those who attended college under Public Law 16 extended for 29 months; for those in schools below college level, 19 months; institutional on-farm trainees, 29 months, and on-the-job trainees, 25 months.

VA Files are filed with favorable comments of employers who have hired disabled veterans after they completed Public Law 16 training.

"C.M.P. is one of our most efficient men," one employer said, "and on his present job we don't consider him a handicapped person."

"I haven't had a handicapped man fail to make good yet," another stated, "I have half-dozen of them working here, and they're all making good."

"I didn't want to hire Bill at first," still another commented, "But he has come along fine. I'm sure he'll be one of the best watchmakers in town after he gets a little more experience."

More than a half million veterans, who owe the government money as the result of overpayments on subsistence allowances or other veterans benefits or defaults on loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration, may find all or part of their share of the forthcoming special dividend payment on National Service Life Insurance deducted to cover their debts, the VA said today.

The VA estimated that somewhere between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000 of such debts may be collected from the NSLI dividends.

STOUT COUPLES TO BE MARRIED AT CHRISTMAS

Christmas means more than just two weeks of vacation to some happy Stout couples—for that is when wedding vows will be exchanged, and some happy "Misses" will become "Mrs." As may be expected, Christmas decorations will be used for the weddings.

Friday, December 23, is the date chosen by Frances Knight and Robert Gray for their wedding. They will be married at 4:00 p.m. in the Methodist church here in Menomonie, by Rev. Ralph Reece. Francis is wearing white taffetta. She is having four attendants and a junior bridesmaid. Among others attending are included Mr. and Mrs. Warren Fish and Mildred Dahlgren. Mrs. Fish will be matron of honor. Mr. and Mrs. Gray plan to reside in Menomonie. Frances graduates in June, and Robert in August. They both plan to teach after graduation.

Leona Sexe and Hal Goetsch are being married December 27, in an 8:00 p.m. candlelight ceremony at the Zion Lutheran church in Blair. Hal's father, Rev. Goetsch, will officiate. Lee is wearing white velvet, and is having three attendants. Included among those attending are Jean Waltzer and Red Richter from Stout. There will be a short honeymoon—destination unknown! Lee will graduate in June, and plans to teach after graduation. At present, she is president of the Hyp's and Intersociety Council. Hal graduated from Whitewater in 1947, and is teaching Speech and Commercial in the Blair high school. He was a member of the Phi Chi Epsilon fraternity.

Pat Dodge and Richard Roen are being married December 28, at the Methodist church in Menomonie, also by Rev. Reese. The wedding will be at 8:00 p.m. Pat, too, is wearing the traditional white wedding gown. Her sister, Mary Dodge Prust, is matron of honor and Howard Roen is best man. Zeke Prust, Vaughn Stai, Richard C. Johnson, and Bart Everson are ushers. Mr. and Mrs. Roen plan to reside in Menomonie after a short honeymoon. They both will graduate a year from February and both plan to teach after graduation. Pat is now president of SMA's.

aware of their indebtedness to the government and know that it is deductible from other VA payments to which they may be entitled, the agency said.

Some 600,000 veterans are currently indebted to the VA for a total of about $70,000,000. The bulk of this amount constitutes overpayments of subsistence allowances for veterans taking educational courses or training under the GI bill.

Other types of indebtedness are overpayments on pension, compensation or readjustment allowances, and losses made good to lenders on defaulted GI loans.

A considerable number of veterans are now repaying indebtedness by having deductions from their monthly checks. When the overpayment is wiped out, as it may be by the dividend deductions, there will be no further monthly withholding.

GIRLS AT STOUT KNIT ARGYLE SOCKS FOR THEIR "ONE AND ONLY'S"

Many of the girls here at Stout have been knitting argyle socks during the past weeks. It looks like quite a few "one and only's" are going to be sporting flashy argyles after Christmas. This type of sock is more complicated to make than is usually realized by most observers. It takes approximately three weeks from the time the knitting begins until the argyles are ready to wear.

Argyles are usually very colorful and have designs which require three or four colors. That explains why there are always so many bobbins (yarn holders) dangling from the unfinished sock. Much ingenuity must be used in order to make the designs form certain designated patterns. A sock would look funny with perfectly shaped diamonds on one side and odd-shaped "catastrophes" on the other. "Much pleasure can be derived from watching the multi-colored designs take form," say many of the girls here on the campus.

All sock enthusiasts dislike drop-

"It isn't easy!" A squared-toe sock would be very uncomfortable to wear, and friendships have been spoiled because he or she did not know how to make the round toe. It is unusual to find a boy who knits, but those who do are capable of keeping up with their female competitors to a very high degree.

Argyle socks must be given special attention when it comes to washing them. Nothing but warm water and a mild soap should be used. Hot water has the tendency to make the argyles run. ("Retraction" The argyles will fade, not run!) Faded socks are not complimentary to the knitter, when just a little care will keep them looking like new.

Even after the present yuletide season has past, the girls here on the campus probably will be making argyles. It's a recreational hobby that requires time and skill, and he who does not appreciate and accept an ex-

Santa, my name is Lois Jensen. I want a string of pearls, and a nice fellow to fill these argyles I just knitted.

ping a stitch, because it is hard to retract and repair this major tragedy. Another pet peeve is the losing or breaking of the knitting needles. It isn't hard to accomplish this feat, and many tempers have been practically shattered by this experience.

Have you ever wondered how the round toe is put in a sock? The answer that you will usually receive is quisite pair of argyles should have square toes in all of his socks.

LYNWOOD HALL DECORATED FOR CHRISTMAS

The spirit of Christmas prevails throughout Lynwood hall early this year. The bright-colored lights and the reflections on the tinsel, together with the reflectors, gaily decorate the Christmas tree situated in the lounge of the hall. Streamers of red and green crepe paper hung with shining tinsel add to a complete air of Christmas.

The tree was chosen by Don Straw, president of Lynwood. The decorating committee was capably handled by Jim Brown, Courtney Collette, Alfred Hodges, Paul Rauth, and Earl Webb.

ART CLASSES WORK ON PROJECTS

Selecting Picture Frames And Lamps Is Part Of Work For Class

The house furnishing classes are working on two projects at the present: picture framing and lamp selection. Picture framing includes the selection of appropriate pictures for a frame, cutting of mats which suit the size of the picture, and refinishing of old frames by varnishing and painting.

The second project is selecting lamps that are suitable, that are practical, that have good color harmony, and that have good proportions—in other words they must follow true art principles. Many of the girls are displaying these principles by selecting material such as wood, milk cartons, cider jugs, bowling pins, and many other materials. They are constructing lamps with a little help on the drilling, sanding, and sawing from some of the capable Industrial Art students. Then the girls are finishing the lamps by selecting appropriate lamp shades with suitable colors. Many lovely lamps are being made.

Miss Martha Ruth Amon, instructor of the class, stated that if the girls are finished with their projects, they may make wreaths or swags for Christmas if they would like to.

NEWS CONTRIBUTORS NEEDED BY STOUTONIA

The Stoutonia comes off the press every week, rain or shine. Take time to ask yourself this question: Where does the Stoutonia get all of its news stories? Here is the answer. Each week a newscast is held. At the newscast, staff members suggest news items for the following week's paper.

Frankly we have trouble collecting all of the campus news. We're not griping. If we didn't like the Stoutonia work, we would not be on the staff; however, at this time we wish to extend an invitation to everyone. We invite you to notify members of the Stoutonia staff of any campus news. Such co-operation would certainly insure complete and efficient coverage of campus activities.

HOLIDAY SPIRIT TAKES OVER DESIGN CLASS

The Christmas spirit has really taken over the efforts of the "fundamental design class" at this time. In their efforts to carry out Christmas spirit, that class is making many interesting things.

One-half the class is constructing Christmas table decorations such as gaily tinsel Christmas trees, fluffy angels, jolly Santa Claus, prayerful choir boys, and decorative bells. There is no limit to what these things can be made out of, for tin, cellophane, construction paper, chicken wire, ribbons, and cotton are all useful in this project.

The other half of this class is finding enjoyment in making Christmas candles. First, they melt down old used candles, then they pour them into molds, and finally the girls decide what they want to make out of them. They carve figurines with the likeness of St. Nick, angels, or any of the other familiar characters which bring Christmas cheer.

All in all this class is doing much to promote Christmas spirit. After the projects are completed, other Stout students will certainly enjoy looking at and examining them.

DORM REPORTS NEW BLONDES IN STOUT

Have you noticed the "new blondes" around school lately? (How could you miss?) In case you don't recognize them, they are freshmen girls. They decided that hair of one color was very uninteresting. Peroxide solved the problem.

Basketball has been another item of great interest. Almost all of the girls from the Hall and Annex attended the games last weekend.

As you know, "All play and no work makes Jill a dull girl." Therefore, quiet hours are being more strictly enforced. The girls have been cooperating very well, because, after all, what Jill wants is to be dull?

"Tune in to station A-N-N-E-X every week day night from ten-thirty to ten thirty-five to hear the famous all-girl acapella chorus give its interpretation of favorite Christmas Carols." With Mrs. Adams' permission, the girls have been singing carols in the parlor from ten-thirty to ten thirty-five every night for the past week and a half, and plan to continue doing so until Christmas.

TOWER DELEGATION ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Three Tower staff members attended a national press conference held November 25-26 in Chicago. The purpose of the conference was to aid students in improving yearbooks on their campuses.

Tower Editor-in-chief Herb Watanabe, Business manager Torval Hendrickson, and Associate-editor Gordon Goessner left Menomonee Thursday, November 24, for Chicago to attend the National Scholastic Press association conference held in the world's largest hotel, the Stevens hotel.

"The reason for attending the conference was to gather information about yearbook production," the editor-in-chief explained, "and to better the editorial policy of the Tower staff." In describing the events that took place, Watanabe added, "A lecture by Mr. Wyatt Brummitt, co-author of This is Photography, helped tremendously to solve many problems, especially those regarding the use of pictures and the importance of picture edition in yearbooks."

The Stout delegation returned from the convention of 1500 high school and college students, Sunday, November 27, a tired but eager trio filled with new ideas and answers to the many problems confronting the Tower staff.

STOUT TOWER BELL

The old Stout Tower holds a rather unique piece of machinery. Compressed air is used to operate the tower clock and compressed air rang the bell before the parts of the ringing mechanism broke down.

The bell was originally purchased by both the school and the citizens of Menomonee, and put in the tower at the time it was built by Senator James Stout. About 1914 the striking parts of the 7,000 pound bell wore out and were removed from the clock.

After the striking parts had been removed, the bell was rung, on special occasions, with a hammer. It is claimed that the bell was cracked by a group of students who were ringing it after the homecoming play in 1930. The loud ringing tones changed to thuds and thus ended the ringing of the Stout Tower bell.

The bell, when still solid, rang out the hours of the day and night. It sounded curfew at 9 o'clock, and at one time was used as a fire bell for the town.

Although the clock still keeps time, the bell itself is silent, cracked, and weathered as a symbol of faithful service and many good times at The Stout Institute.

When thought is too weak to be simply expressed, it's clear proof that it should be rejected.

FILM SOURCE CATALOG MADE BY AV CLASSES

Home Economic students taking Audio-Visual Education in recent semesters, have collaborated to produce a film source catalogue for use in the field of Home Economics. "The purpose of the catalogue," points out Mr. D. P. Barnard, instructor of audio-visual education at The Stout Institute, "is to provide out-going home economics teachers with useful film source references under one cover."

The film catalogue is issued to Home Economic students enrolled in Audio-Visual Education class.

Publishing of this useful catalogue was prompted by the fine reception given to a similar book in the field of Industrial Education, published a year ago by the Department of Audio-Visual Education. Mr. Barnard stated that requests for copies of the Industrial Education catalogue have been received from all over the country.

Miss Amon, head of the Art department at The Stout Institute, designed the attractive cover and the Offset-Lithography class printed it.

WHO'S WHO AT STOUT

Sports-Lover Thomas Likes Baseball

Who's the president of the EPT? Why, Warren Thomas, of course. Warren graduated last spring, and is now taking graduate studies at Stout. He originally came from Eveleth, Minnesota, where his father owns a summer resort, and where he now spends his summer vacations working for his father.

Mr. Thomas

He is a sports-lover, although time permits him to participate in only a few activities. Hunting and fishing are among his favorites, with baseball taking precedence over all competitive sports. He attributes his like for baseball to the fact that his father used to be a major league ball player.

"I have several peeves," says Warren, "but no pet peeves."

When asked about his subject major, he replied that he has more wood working credits than anything else, but his classes were general enough for him to be able to teach almost any type of industrial arts course.

Warren is a married man and lives at 804 9th street when in Menomonee. He has blue eyes, blond hair, is about 5 feet 6 inches tall, and weighs about 165 pounds.

Dancing and movies are among his favorite pastimes.

One of the easiest ways to become popular is to remember the nice things folks say about a person, and repeat them to him. —Selected

LIBRARY NOTES

Admirers of Alfred Tennyson will be eager to read his latest biography, written by the great Poet Laureate's well-qualified grandson, Sir Charles Tennyson. Based upon personal acquaintance, family letters, and the ideas of mutual friends and acquaintances, this account of Tennyson's life is more complete, accurate, and intimate than any heretofore published. This book reveals the poet's unhappy youth, his fame and publicity, his associations with Queen Victoria, his famous friends, and his social life. Young Tennyson's excellent biography of his famous grandfather will leave you with a greater respect, and possibly more affection, for the elder.

Lester and Alice Crow of the Department of Education, Brooklyn College, have cooperated to put out the book, "Eighteen to Eighty." This book deals with the adjustment problems of adults and gives the answers to practical questions dealing with everyday life. These two well-qualified authors have succeeded in making their book challenging, informative, and a guide to graceful living. "Modern Sign Painting" by Edward J. Duvall and "The Information Film" by Gloria Waldron are also among new additions to our library.

RECORDS OF MESSIAH PLAYED FOR LSA

Recordings of "The Messiah," by Handel, were the main attraction of the LSA "Prelude to Christmas" meeting, which was held on December 4. The five-thirty supper meeting was held at Peace Lutheran church.

LSA members, along with the Congo and Wesley members, will have a combined Christmas party at the Methodist church on December 11, at five-thirty p.m. Wesley members will provide the refreshments, while Congo and LSA groups will take care of the program and recreation. Everyone is encouraged to attend this last meeting before the holidays.

JOURNALISM CLASS EDITS DIRECTORY

This year, as was done in former years, students in the Stout journalism class are co-operating with the Dunn County News in gathering a Christmas directory of Menomonee church activities. This directory lists the names of all churches, their religious services, and the Christmas parties which they are giving, together with the names of the directors and the names of the participants. This will be published as a special community service by the Dunn County News.

The students in the journalism class, through this activity, receive valuable experience in discovering sources of religious news from community religious leaders and gaining insight into varied activities which churches can provide for any community.

In addition to the experience of contacting pastors, the assignment will test the ability of the students in handling accurately names, dates, hours, and events.

D. HANSON AWARDED BRONZE STAR MEDAL

Word has been received at the office of Matt Schlosser, the county service officer, that the Bronze Star Medal has been awarded Donald C. Hanson for exemplary conduct in actual combat against the armed enemy.

As a member of the 507th Parachute Regiment of the 82nd Division, Hanson was dropped back of the German positions in June of 1944 during the Normandy invasion. Being captured on June 11th near Monbourn, France he was taken into Germany, a prisoner. He was released the following spring when the Americans over-ran southern Germany.

Don lives at 207 Ninth avenue, Menomonee, and is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. and Floyd Keith, of Menomonee.

He is a senior at Stout.

MISS KIMBALL TELLS CLUB OF HEIB'S

Home Economics Club Interested In Business Opportunities

Miss Mary Kimball, a home economics business woman, spoke to the Home Ec. club last Monday night, November 28. Miss Kimball works in the research laboratory for Pillsbury Mills, and is also a member of the HEIB's.

The HEIB's is an organization of home economics women in business. This organization is national and has grown from 411 members in 1936 to 1600 members in 1949. The requirements of HEIB's are as follows: One must be a member of the American Home Economics association; have a position for a company running for profit; and have held a business job at least six months. New York has the largest chapter, Chicago is next, and Minneapolis is third.

There are many various and interesting phases of work into which a woman in business home economics can go, Miss Kimball said.

Advertising, especially for a small food company, provides many opportunities for various types of work, the speaker pointed out. One can work in a kitchen testing food and recipes, do food photography or write radio scripts. Television also offers an opportunity for advertising here.

A home economics consultant helps smaller manufacturing companies with their advertising problems. According to Miss Kimball, a woman in advertising promotion would write articles on new or special foods for magazines and newspapers. She may even write a cook book.

Journalism is also a field one might go into. Miss Kimball pointed out that Mary Hart, a graduate of the U of Minnesota, is outstanding in this field. Betty Crocker's kitchen and recipes have become familiar to every housewife.

The gas and electric companies usually have a home economics service adviser as well as a food demonstrator, the speaker said. Working in a tea room in a college or in a large department store such as Dayton's, is another possibility for a home economics woman in business.

Miss Kimball said that when one is applying for jobs such as these, there are a few things to keep in mind. "First, try to sell yourself, look and act business-like, and remember that time is precious to people in business. Secondly, have all of the information concerning your college courses, grades in college, and previous experience at your fingertips."

FIVE CENTS NEEDED NOW TO PHONE

There's bad news for you long-winded telephone-lovers. Maybe you've noticed the nice telephone booth in the H.E. basement, just under the steps leading to the Harvey Memorial. The sad news is that the phone is a pay phone, and it will now cost you five cents to make a date from the H.E. building. The cost of "education" is really rising.

Maybe the pay phone won't be too bad. Now there won't be the crowded condition in the office, caused by telephone users. Everyone with a nickel will be able to make calls when he wants to.

Before this new improvement came into being, there was problem of where to make calls. Now, however, if your ambition is to make a nickel telephone call, the school has provided the opportunity for you to do so. Isn't education wonderful?

FROSH ART CLASS DESIGN GARMENTS

Have you ever wondered where fashion designers find ideas for their latest creations? We might say, "History repeats itself," for many designers use adaptations of costume design of years gone by and modifications of foreign dress.

The freshman Fundamentals of Design class undertook the project of designing a garment which would both fit them and fit into their own wardrobe, having adapted their designs from historical periods and foreign countries. The project is part of an over-all plan to study the close relationship between design and everything the coeds will encounter in home economics.

Among the designs, many of which were displayed in the second-floor corridor of the H.E. building, were a dressy green wool gabardine suit derived from the "Age of Dickens," a blue taffeta and marquisette formal adapted from Civil War days, and a green wool jumper and white blouse influenced by an early 20th century design.

Teacher: "There is nothing a man cannot do if he puts his mind to it."
Jones: "I beg to differ."
Teacher: "Tell us what it is."
Jones: "Let's see you strike a match on a piece of soap."

HAWAIIAN STUDENTS PLAN FOR HOLIDAYS

Christmas vacation will soon be here. For some students it will be the first time that they will have been home since they left in September. But, what will the seventeen Hawaiian students be doing over the Christmas holidays?

Eleanor Ushijima, a sophomore, is planning to go to Chicago to visit some friends during the holidays.

Michiko Okada and Sumie Doi, two freshmen girls living at Tainter hall, are undecided. It seems that they can go to Chicago with Eleanor or they can go to either of their roommates' homes. They would like to visit their own homes in Tilo, T.H., after their sophomore year.

Paul Kokubun, a sophomore, Gary and Gregg Chang, both juniors, will be staying in Menomonie to catch up on their schoolwork or else they will try to earn a little money.

Herb Watanabe, a senior, is going to be visiting in Chicago.

Most of the other Hawaiian boys will probably be spending a few days in the "Twin Cities," but as yet they are pretty much undecided.

The bright little boy was accompanying his daddy around the golf course. Finally he spoke up.

"Daddy, why mustn't the ball go in the little hole, huh?"

MRS. HARRY O'DONNELL WINS RECIPE CONTEST

1930 Stout Graduate Wins Pillsbury Contest With New Cake Recipe

A dream will come true for a Crandon woman—all because she wanted to bake "something special" for her bridge club.

The woman is Mrs. Harry W. O'Donnell, one of 100 winners in the nation in a recipe contest sponsored by Pillsbury Mills, Inc., of Minneapolis. Mrs. O'Donnell is the former Jane Hambley, graduate of Stout in the class of 1930.

She will be a three day guest in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York, will appear on national radio and television shows and will have a chance to win $50,000.

More than 250,000 submitted recipes in the contest, said Ward B. Stevenson, Pillsbury's public relations man, who notified Mrs. O'Donnell of her good fortune in person. Of the winners, only two are from Wisconsin, he said.

The exact nature of Mrs. O'Donnell's recipe cannot be disclosed, but it is known she placed among the top 100 because she concocted a new way to make an old-fashioned cherry upside-down cake. Unique feature of the recipe is that she uses the cherry juice and makes a thickening of it.

Mrs. O'Donnell said she baked the cake because she wanted an unusual treat for members of her bridge club. After sampling the cake, the friends raved about and suggested she submit the recipe in the Pillsbury contest.

When Stevenson paid a call on the Crandon woman, it was the first inkling she had of being a contest winner. She was not so much excited as shocked by the news.

Mrs. O'Donnell already has received a $200 check.

On Sunday night, Dec. 11, she will be a guest of the Fred Waring television show. On Monday she will be taken into the hotel's grand ballroom where she will bake her prize-winning cake along with the 99 other winners.

The ballroom will have 100 General Electric ranges set up for this purpose. Each contestant may take the whole morning and afternoon to make the products of their recipes. Some will bake cakes, while others will make pies, bread, entree or desserts. It was said that the electric power to provide for this all-day cooking spree will be the greatest power lead ever run into a building for temporary purposes. Both radio and television will cover the proceedings.

Following a party for the 100 contestants on Monday night given by Life magazine, the final winners will be announced at a luncheon Tuesday noon, Dec. 13. Masters of ceremonies for the luncheon will be Art Linkletter and Arthur Godfrey. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will award the prizes to the winners.

There will be a number of prizes, the highest a $50,000 check. Should Mrs. O'Donnell fail to win a final award, she will still receive the new electric range she cooked on in the ballroom plus an aluminum set, a mixer, utensils and a stainless steel table. Her travel and hotel expenses also will be paid by the Pillsbury corporation.

Mrs. O'Donnell has four children, Thomas, 16, Mary Jane, 13, Susan Claire, 12, and Harry, Jr., 8. Her husband, Harry O'Donnell, who works in the Forest county highway office, was visibly proud of his wife's achievement, and assured her that he would take proper care of the children in her absence.

Besides being a housewife, Mrs. O'Donnell teaches Sunday school in the Methodist church in Crandon. She is a member of the Eastern Star and a past president of the Crandon PTA. During the war she taught home economics in the Crandon high school for four years.

HIGHER POSTAGE RATES FOR CHRISTMAS CARDS

Christmas cards, and all greeting cards, now cost two cents to mail, states A. P. Sandvig, superintendent of mails at the Menomonie postoffice. Postage on cards less than 2 1/4 x 4 inches is three cents.

Christmas card mailers must take heed of this new and higher postage rate that has been in effect for nearly a year.

Here's another mailing hint that should save time and money. Any and all parcels that are sealed shall bear the printed (not written) endorsement "Postmaster—this parcel may be opened for postal inspection if necessary." It is a mailing rule that sealed parcels without this endorsement are chargeable at the first class rate.

Educational Exchange Program Described

The U.S. Department of State and the Board of Foreign Scholarships announce grants for American citizens to teach in the national elementary and secondary schools in a number of countries with which educational exchange programs have been initiated under the provisions of Public Law 584, 79th Congress, the Fulbright Act. These grants will include a basic living allowance, a supplemental maintenance allowance and round-trip oceanic transportation, and U. S. domestic travel when it can be purchased with foreign currency. Applicants should have a bachelor's and preferably a master's degree, be between the ages of approximately 25-50 years, and have at least three years of successful teaching experience. Appointments of successful candidates are for a single school year.

Opportunities for teachers under the Fulbright Educational Exchange program are as follows:

1. Grants to Teach in National Schools Abroad — For experienced teachers who can secure a leave of absence from their positions and for other qualified persons. Applications for these teaching positions and countries should be filled:

Netherlands — 3 positions for elementary and secondary school teachers in private schools and one specialist in each of the following fields: education of the blind, education of the deaf, physical education, dietetics and social work.

Philippines — 9 vocational teachers to staff the Philippine School of Arts and Crafts, one each in the following fields: auto mechanics, plumbing, electric wiring, sheet metal work and air conditioning, machine operations, mechanical drawing and blue print reading, woodworking with machinery, industrial arts teacher education and vocational teacher education. There are also 5 teaching positions available in the National Agricultural School at Bukidnon, one each in farm mechanics, farm management, animal husbandry, horticulture, and agricultural teacher education.

United Kingdom — A limited number of grants for school superintendents, principals, and supervisors who wish to undertake assignments in British schools.

2. Teacher Interchange Programs with the United Kingdom and France — For experienced teachers in elementary and high schools whose school systems will grant leaves of absence with salary for one year and accept a foreign teacher in exchange. Since teachers successful in this competition receive salaries from their own school systems, they will receive travel grants only under the Fulbright Exchange Program. Applications in these programs should be filed before January 15, 1950.

Persons interested in these opportunities may secure application blanks from the Division of International Educational Relations, Office of Education, Federal Security Agency, Washington 25, D. C.

PHI U GROUP IS BUSY SELLING AT GAMES

The Phi U's are again busy with their annual project of selling refreshments at basketball games. They started this season off by selling pop corn at the half, but, as the plans for the year are not complete, it is not definite whether they are going to sell pop corn all season or not. Last year they sold ice cream bars. The proceeds are used to pay for the scholarship which the Phi U's offer to some outstanding freshman girl, or to pay for some other professional project.

DR. ANDERSON'S GRADUATE BODY HAS FIELD TRIP

A field trip Thursday, December 8, was made by Dr. Anderson's curriculum III class. The group visited two schools: one the Dunwoody Institute and the other Sheridan junior high school in Minneapolis.

Mr. Baird, registrar at Dunwoody Institute, made an excellent explanation of trade school practices that are in operation at Dunwoody. At the present time there is an enrollment of 1500 men, of which 1200 are veterans. Day school courses of instruction include air conditioning, automobile, baking, building construction, electrical, general mechanics, machine, mechanical drafting printing and offset, power, radio and electronics, sheet metal, welding and highway, railroad and municipal construction.

Most of the courses are set up on a unit basis, with the full course taking eighteen months. The general breakdown of each course includes general, job, and technical knowledge. Practical instruction is given as close to actual trade conditions as possible, by experienced men that have had extensive experience in the trade they are teaching. Upon completion of the course, graduates receive suitable awards in the forms of vocational training record cards, certificates, and diplomas.

In the afternoon the group visited Sheridan junior high school. Mr. Morgan, department head of the industrial art section, gave an overview of industrial art conditions in Minneapolis. Miss Barron, the principal, showed the group through the school and pointed out its educational highlights.

Class members who made the field trip include Charles Abbot, Charles Ayers, Harvey Berghuis, Ray Doane, Steve Grudichak, Vic Hendries, Bob Lynch, John Reilly, Fred Sledge, Bob Willink, Roger Winberg, John Ziegler.

The Collegiate World

"The Indian" of Newberry College, South Carolina reports, "Pop" Ruff, over at the canteen, meets all kinds of characters. One day last week he watched astounded while a student put eight spoonfuls of sugar in a cup of coffee and proceeded to drink it without stirring it first.

"Why don't you stir it," suggested 'Pop'.

"The student regarded him coldly and said, 'Who likes it sweet?'"

Having finished her exam, a sophomore turned her paper over, and started to doodle.

The teacher look over, commented: "If you're drawing a picture of me... you get an automatic F."

Coed looked up, apologized: "Oh no, it's just a picture of a fellow." "Oh," laughed the prof wearily, "I thought it was me."

Coed did a double take: "Gosh... does it look that bad?"

LEAGUE BOWLING TO START AFTER XMAS VACATION

"Bowling will begin immediately after Christmas vacation, with Bob Young and Fred Wentorf in charge again this year," announces Coach Storti.

All bowling league teams and their captains are to be listed and that list handed to Coach Storti by December 15 so that a schedule can be made. All teams submitted after that time will not be accepted.

LYNWOOD HALL PLANS FUTURE EVENTS

The bi-weekly meeting of Lynwood residents was held last Tuesday, November 29, and plans for future events were discussed. Of major importance was the beginning of arrangements for a tea to be held for the faculty and school employees at the dorm soon after Christmas. Committees for this affair will be announced at a later date.

It was decided that Lynwood should have a Christmas tree, and Don Straw, president, was delegated to take charge to its purchase and decoration.

Plans for general repair of the hall's recreational facilities were discussed, and Gary Chang was appointed to superintend the work. Bob Ludtke was appointed to take charge of preparation for a skit to be presented by the hall at some future Wednesday convocation.

STOUT STUDENTS GIVE BLOOD FOR RED CROSS

"The APO's campaign for blood donors from The Stout Institute turned out to be very successful," states Miss Marion Ingalls of the Red Cross. Miss Ingalls said that this blood donor drive was especially planned for the people of Stout.

The Alpha Phi Omega had a booth in the HE corridor which took care of signing up donors.

The following faculty members and students donated blood or offered to donate blood.

Unk: How do they catch crazy men?
Junior: They use rouge, lipstick, dab of White Shoulders, and a full moon 'neath the honeysuckle.

MATTHEW RENESON ADDED TO FACULTY

Mr. Mathew Reneson, instructor of mathematics and physics, is another welcome addition to the Stout faculty. Mr. Reneson is originally from Southbridge, Mass. He obtained his B.S. degree at Fitchburg teachers college, Fitchburg, Mass., and his Master's at the University of Minnesota, in June, 1949.

Mr. Reneson

Mr. Reneson has had a variety of interesting vocational experiences. One of his teaching jobs was at the Chicopee high school for two years, teaching mathematics, science, and drafting. At the same time he taught night classes in Springfield Trade high at Springfield, Mass. Chicopee is a suburb of Springfield.

He spent three and a half years in the navy as an industrial engineering officer. As training for this job, Mr. Reneson was sent to the University of Minnesota. There he learned the repair of ships. He spent much of his time in the Puget Sound North Ship yard at Bremerton, Wash.

Mr. Reneson's industrial experience, totaling about five years, was as a tool designer, a tool and die maker, and a draftsman.

Mr. Reneson says that he likes Stout very much and that it is a great institution, having a good reputation in the East. He likes Menomonee and especially the friendly attitude of the people here.

As his favorite hobbies he listed architectural design, photography, shown the practicality of his drawing golf, and tennis. Mr. Reneson has experience by designing several homes.

After almost an hour of straight facts in her first geology class, a new frosh coed blandly asked the prof, "You don't mean that we have to MEMORIZE all these names and things...?"

The prof, weary after so many questions of the same nature, year after year, replied brusquely, "Do you know of any class where you DON'T have to memorize?"

A huge character, slouched in his first row seat, answered boredly,

"Physical education." — Syracuse Daily Orange

The Enrollment Picture

Kiplinger calls it another boom year for the colleges. Collegiate Press reported the predictions of dozens of colleges in the East and West, many expecting declines, many expecting little or no change, and a few expecting increases.

Dr. Arthur S. Adams, of New Hampshire, sees a continued rise, despite the fact that most veterans have completed their education. The rise is indicated, he thinks, by the expected increase in high school population — from 6,236,000 in 1947-48 to 8,048,000 in 1956.

How The Public Sees Us

Fortune's survey on higher education shows what kind of a job is cut out for us all. It was nice to read that, in general, people think that college has come of age.

Among the results: 10% look at college students are snobbish, 9% as radical, 12% as time-wasting, 33% as well-informed, 47% as intelligent... 56% favored a plan to send well-qualified students to college at public expense... 51% believe college is just as important for the soon-to-be housewife as for the career girl... and 30% believe a college with a first-rate football team will also provide students with a good, all-round education.

So many anecdotes are related about George Lyman Kittredge, late professor of Harvard, that we don't know whether the following one is true or not. But legend has it that he was lecturing on a rather high platform. He had a habit of getting closer and closer to the edge as he waxed eloquent, notwithstanding that he was nearly giving the apprehensively watching student a nervous breakdown.

One day he fell off. He picked himself up, dusted himself off, and with all the aplomb in the world calmly announced, "This is the first time I have ever fallen to the level of my audience!"

Because they are lacking goals on their hockey field, girls at Central College, Fayette, Missouri, report the use of teammates as "human goal posts." While they say the substitution has worked well on the whole, arguments do arise such as a recent heated one caused by the goal post moving her foot "to keep from getting hit."

L. E. CHARLICH CHAIRMAN OF MEA MEETING

Approximately 450 People Attend M.L.E.S. Fair In Dearborn, Michigan

LeRoy E. Charllich (1935 Stout grad) acted as chairman of all activities of the annual meeting of the Michigan Industrial Education Society division of Region I of the M.E.A. This meeting was held at the Fordson high school, Dearborn, Michigan. Mr. Charllich teaches aircraft and related subjects at the Fordson high school.

Approximately 450 industrial arts instructors and interested personnel attended the M.L.E.S. Fair, which was the second of its kind. Morning demonstrations, lectures, and displays were followed by a noon banquet which was attended by 291.

A number of Stout men in the region also assisted in the program in various capacities. John Ringle-spough acted as exhibit manager, and Roland Frazer, B.S. '38, (MIES president) outlined future statewide plans at the banquet. Henry Lewis, B.S. '34, was in charge of gas and jet model airplane flight demonstrations. A crew of Mr. Lewis' students demonstrated U-control speed and stunt flight. An auto starting contest was held in the shop of Walter Billiet. Hartwick Dotseth, B.S. '34, now state supervisor of trade and industrial education, was one of eight judges for the contest. Paul Luoma, B.S. '40, and Leonard Stolfo, B.S. '40, took charge of reservations and ticket sales.

Mr. Luoma also arranged for an aluminum welding demonstration by the Uteck Alloys corporation, and Mr. Stolfo displayed a projection box drafting room teaching aid. Feature points of Wayne university courses in industrial education, supervised by Dr. Harold G. Silius, B.S. '30, were displayed by members of the Industrial Education Guild. Ardian Pollack, B.S. '39, presented his kodachrome slides on printing to two interested groups, and discussed the procedure of the production and related technique.

Fred Curran, B.S. '21, displayed a very interesting device for checking students' work. F. A. Carlsen, B.S. '30, had a student instructor conduct a demonstration booth on printing. He also printed calling cards for all interested visitors. E. H. Curry, B.S. '31, displayed teaching aids and students' projects. Harlyn Olson, B.S. '40, who is also the official printer of the M.L.E.S. News Letter, displayed printing samples from the Hamtramck schools where he teaches.

Edward Horner played the part of the embittered Scotman "Lachie."

William Kester played the part of the irrepressible "Yank."

Barbara Ames played the part of the gentle nurse "Margaret" in the Broadway play "Hasty Heart," presented in the Stout auditorium last Friday evening.

"HASTY HEART"

"profoundly moving but also one of the merriest pieces on Broadway."

Martin Manulis, director of "The Hasty Heart," has included in his cast the finest of the young talent on Broadway. Talented Barbara Ames, who portrayed the part of the lovely war nurse in the play, is a star of stage, television and radio, and has traveled with the "Voice of the Turtle" touring production.

Edward Horner, before taking the part of Lachie, the lonely Scotch sergeant, was a stage and television star. He can trace his interest in stage work back to his days as child entertainer in Newark.

William Kester, as the lovable "Yank," has played the parts of officers of nearly every rank and in every branch of service since his discharge from the Navy.

Ken Tower (Tommy) added the humorous touch to the play. He began his professional career at the age of fifteen when he began to appear regularly on dramatic programs on one of New York City's leading networks.

Manulis, who has been the managing director of the eastern seaboard's number one summer theatre, the Country Playhouse at Westport, Conn., was chosen for this assignment by the famous Theatre Guild, which has also selected the players for this "Theatre-on-Tour" attraction.

Theatre-on-Tour was formed to bring the best Broadway parts and most talented young professional actors to cities and towns outside Metropolitan New York, many of which do not now enjoy the living theater on a regular basis. Its managing director, John Rust, divides his time between producing plays and supervising for United States Steel corporation its award-winning radio program "The Theatre Guild on the Air." The Theatre Guild, for thirty years one of the greatest play producers in America, has cooperated in this tour by selecting the director and the cast of the play.

DORM GIRLS ACQUIRE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Nightly Christmas caroling is one of the ways Tainter annex girls have found of getting in the gala holiday spirit. Each evening from 10:30 to 10:45 the girls come out into the halls and join with their fellow dormmates in the singing of all the traditional old Christmas carols. On December 15, the caroling was brought to an end when both the Tainter hall and Eichelberger girls joined the Annex carolers in their last night of singing.

WE'RE LOYAL TO STOUT —JOURNAL SAYS SO

Evidence that esprit de corps exists among graduates of The Stout Institute is seen in the following reprint from the Milwaukee Journal, December 6, 1949. The paper contains an article on Old Heidelberg, famed German university, written by Walter Monfried of the Journal. One portion of the article says:

Fortunately for the German students, their loyalty to the university is not that lifelong passion which distinguished many an American undergraduate. A German student is by tradition a wanderer. He may pick up his college education at a half dozen places — Berlin, Leipzig, Vienna, Goettingen and so forth. He has a bit of affection for the institution of his first semester but he doesn't consider himself "a" Berlin man" or a "Heidelberg man" as fervently as does a Yale man or a Stout Institute man.

FACULTY VOLLEYBALL TEAM HAS MEET

Faculty volleyball teams had a poor turnout at their first meeting, with only four teachers present.

However, the volleyball schedule will not receive any further attention until after the first of the year.

Last year's games proved very successful, with many participants attending the weekly turnouts.

It is hoped that more will turn out for the volleyball games after the holidays, when the games will be resumed in the physical education building gymnasium, according to Coach Tony Storti, chairman of the faculty volleyball group.

News of Our Alumni

NEW LIFE MEMBERS ADDED TO ALUMNI BODY

Recent names added to the list of life members of The Stout Institute Alumni association were those of Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Larson.

Mr. Larson entered Stout in January, 1945. He graduated in June, 1949. After attending two more summer sessions he will receive his Master's degree in Industrial Arts. At present he is teaching at Washington junior high school in Manitowoc, Wisconsin.

Mrs. Larson, the former Annabelle Hart, entered Stout in September, 1942. She graduated in January, 1948, with a major in Dietetics and Institutional Management. In 1948 she also did stenographic work in Menomonie. Mrs. Larson entered the University of Minnesota hospital as a dietetic intern in January, 1949. She will complete this training December 30, at which time she will join her husband in Manitowoc.

LOST ALUMNI COLUMN RECEIVES RESPONSE

The following message was received by the National Alumni secretary, Herb Anderson, concerning one of the names that appeared in the "Lost Alumni" column not long ago.

"Lost Alumna—Kathleen Barnard is right under your nose. (Kathleen Putnam Barnard)"

"As if you hadn't been told ump-teen times!"

The secretary would appreciate the name of the obliging friend in Detroit who mailed this response.

Many people are not aware of the fact that the column has a two-fold purpose. First, it is used as a reminder to delinquent members, and second, it is an aid in keeping the address file up to date.

It is very probable that names of some of the faculty members may appear in the column, and even names of alumni in Menomonie may be printed under the heading "Lost Alumni."

- A Definition of a Kiss -

It is a noun because it is common and proper.

It is a pronoun because she stands for it.

It is a conjunction because it joins together.

It is a verb because it may be active.

It is a preposition because it has an object.

It is an infinitive because it expresses action.

It is an objective because it needs no explanation.

It is an adverb because it tells "how much" he loves her.

FIRST PUPIL AT STOUT NOW VETERAN TEACHER

H. M. Enjoys Work As Both Hobby and Vocation Even After 37 Years On Job

A man who was the first full-time technical student at The Stout Institute and who has seen it grow from the basement of a church to a full-sized college enrolling over 950 students is now in his thirty-seventh year of teaching at Stout. He is Mr. H. M. Hansen, associated professor of industrial education at the college.

He has at one time or another taught all the courses in the woodworking department at Stout since he joined the faculty in 1912. He has worked under three presidents: Dr. L. D. Harvey, 1903-22; Burton E. Nelson, 1923-45; and the present head, Dr. Verne C. Fryklund. He has worked under three directors of industrial arts at the college, Buxton, Rodgers, and C. A. Bowman, and has seen three changes in both the head of the home economics departments and college engineer.

Mr. Hansen was reared in agricultural surroundings and began his industrial career by working in a saw mill for Knapp-Stout Lumber company, a pioneer Menomonie industry. Later he spent seven years serving his apprenticeship and journeyman training in the building trades. His broad background in industrial work includes building contracting, architecture cabinet and millwork, millwrighting, pattern making, machine shop, nickel plating, and building superintendence. Mr. Hansen worked for Senator James H. Stout personally in drawing up plans and specifications for a hotel and boarding house at Thornton, Arkansas.

Mr. Hansen was the first full time technical student in what was known as the Stout Manual Training school, with Mr. Kendall teaching woodworking and Mr. Mason teaching drawing. He has seen Stout develop from a one-buildnig school situated in the basement of the First Congregational church, then located across the street from the Trades building, to its present size.

After attending Stout for two and four-year courses, Mr. Hansen obtained his Master's degree from the University of Minnesota. He also has from Stout to accept the overseas assignment.

"Teaching was not my original vocation," states Mr. Hansen, "but Dr. L. D. Harvey persuaded me to adopt it at a time when the general building contracting business had reached a saturation point in the local area."

According to Mr. Hansen, thirty-seven years of teaching industrial education have proved an interesting challenge, in spite of such impediments as a lack of good woodworking textbooks in earlier years and the never-ending vigilance to keep both his shops and courses up-to-date.

In line with Stout's program of modernization and improvement, Mr. Hansen's woodworking shops have been thoroughly renovated and eleven of the latest type machines added. Additional machines and equipment have been completely rebuilt.

In spite of his broad training, Mr. Hansen finds high aspiration in "just being a teacher." "I like it best that way," he says, "because my preparation provides me with the greatest confidence at that level. Then, too there is much that should be done to improve teaching and learning in woodworking subject matter content."

Mr. Hansen's records show that he has missed only eight days in his thirty-seven years on the job and that he has never been late during a school day. He is especially proud of the fact that there have been no major accidents on woodworking machines in his shop or anywhere else in his shop during all that time.

Mr. Hansen considers his work a hobby as well as a vocation. In his spare time he collects and organizes instructional material in an attempt to improve methods of woodworking aesthetic and structural design, together with procedures and standards of workmanship from a scientific point of view. Traveling is another one of his interests, and contacting some of the thousands of students he has once taught in class is his main incentive for the journeys. At present, Mr. Hansen is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, and Epsilon Pi Tau, both national honorary fraternities.

additional graduate credits from the University of Wisconsin, Colorado Agricultural college, and the University of Minnesota. In addition Mr. Hansen studied at Forest Products laboratories in Madison.

Following World War I, Mr. Hansen was selected by the War department to be one of 200 civilian instructors at the American Technical school in Warton, England. This school was set up to train servicemen in various trades and skills before their return to this country. He received a leave

NOVELAIRES PLACE ON TOP OF WCCO TALENT SHOW

Stout Quartette Wins Two Prizes at WCCO "Stair- Way To Stardom"

Hats off to the Stout men who took first place in the WCCO "Stairway to Stardom" talent show last Saturday night!

The four students, Ralph Myhrman, Bud Medtlie, Earl Dehne, and Bob Solberg, who comprise the Novelaires quartet, won both a $25 audience appreciation award, and a one week contract with WCCO on the Melody Matinee program, heard daily from 2:30-3:00. The men have been appearing daily this week, but those interested can still hear their last performance this afternoon. Dean Price has granted excuses which will permit the men to make up work missed during the week that they have spent in Minneapolis.

The Novelaires, which has been a part-time occupation with these men for most of their time at Stout, have been affiliated with the SPEBQSA, a national association of local chapters of barber shop singers, for almost nine months, and is one of the better known musical organizations on the Stout campus today. The group got its start as a purely recreational venture, with the men meeting once or twice a week at one of their homes, to learn new songs and enjoy themselves.

Since then, they have been heard often at different school activities, and have been noted for their close harmony and humorous ballads.

Even after winning Saturday night, the men intend to keep the group as purely a part time activity, and are agreed that it will take an exceptionally good offer with a definite future to keep them together after graduation.

tion of two members, Earl and Ralph, in June.

Wheels were set in motion on November 3 for the men's appearance, when they were granted an audition for the program. They were then accepted for the December 3 show, but several days before the date they were informed that due to a mixup, their performance would be delayed for a week. The big day of December 10 began at 10:30 a.m. when the men, their families, and friends, left by car for Minneapolis.

Upon arrival, they had dinner, and went to a rehearsal, at which time they ran over the numbers and were timed on the numbers that they intended to sing. The songs were "I had a Dream, Dear" and "Ragtime Knutson."

Free for several hours, the men took advantage of the time to do some of their Christmas shopping, in stores that were "Really crowded."

Back at the studio at 5:15 p.m., the men were briefed on the questions that would be asked them before they presented their numbers.

Armed with a last minute telephone message of "good luck, and best wishes," from the Menomonie Barbershop chapter, the men went on the air, and, although slightly nervous, won the first prize and in addition, four two-pound tins of coffee.

Highly elated over the victory, the party returned over very poor roads, due to weather conditions, and finally managed to get to Menomonie by midnight.

"Congratulations, again, fellows, and best of luck in the future, whether it be barbershopping, or teaching,"

TEAM PLAYS LA CROSSE TOMORROW NIGHT

Last Game Of Year '49
Played Here After College
Dismisses For Holidays

The Stout Institute basketball quint will try to get back on the victory trail when they engage the Indians from La Crosse Teachers college, tomorrow night. To date La Crosse is having bad luck and are currently suffering a three-game losing streak. The game will be played at the usual time, 8:00 p.m., in the Company A Armory.

In competition last year, Stout and La Crosse split their two games, with both teams winning on their home court. In the first game La Crosse defeated Stout 51 to 43; the second time the teams clashed, Stout edged La Crosse by the close score of 49 to 46.

Pacing the Indians this season is Glenn Schwanberg. The Blue Devils will have to sew up this Indian hot-shot if they want to come out of the game with a victory.

Students who are planning to attend will probably have no trouble getting good seats, as the majority of the student body will have evacuated the campus for the Christmas holidays.

COLLEGIATE SKI MEET SATURDAY

Intercollegiate Ski Meet

Date—Saturday, January 14

Time—Saturday afternoon
Jumping—1:00 p.m.
Cross country race—3 p.m.

Place—Wakanda Park

Final plans for the intercollegiate ski meet to be held by the Stout Ski club on Saturday, January 14, have been made. Several colleges have returned entry blanks indicating the members who will be on their teams. The strong contenders in the meet, the U of Wisconsin and the U of Minnesota, have entered two teams each. Other colleges that have been heard from, and will send teams, are Carlton, St. Olaf, Michigan Tech., and U of Minn. Duluth Branch.

Stout plans to organize two teams. Those on the team from last year, who went to the Madison meet, are Chuck Banks and Jack Holmberg. New members trying out for the team are John Rudow, Bob Becker, Byron Dodge, and Dick Vanek.

Last year the U of Minn. won the meet, the U of Wisconsin was second, and Stout was third. This year the Stout team will give the U of Minn. and U of Wis. some stiff competition. Minnesota has two exchange students from Norway who are hard to beat. Last year at the intercollegiate meet at Madison, Kare Engebo placed first and Gunnard Karlson placed second.

TEAM DEFEAT OPENS STOUT'S SEASON

First Conference Game
Brings 53-46 Loss
By Superior Five

Stout Institute's cagers opened their 1949-50 conference season Saturday night at Superior and suffered a 53-46 defeat in the opening Wisconsin Teachers college game for both teams.

Ranging in points from five to 14, five players led the Yellow Jackets to their conference victory. The Superior State cagers maintained a six to eight point lead over the invading Blue Devils most of the game. Stout, however, once challenged their conference foes at 34-32 early in the second half.

Superior pulled ahead after the score was tied at first eight, then ten, to hold a 28-22 halftime lead.

Center Vaughn Stai paced the Blue Devils with 12 points, followed by Nylund with 10 and Pollock with nine. Dom Mosselle with 14, Omernick with 13, and Dodge with 10 paced Superior. The win was Superior fourth straight this season, against four defeats and two wins for Stout.

The Blue Devils dropped the second game of their weekend road trip to the high-scoring University of Minnesota extension school at Duluth, 73-45 Monday night.

SKI CLUB TRAVELS TO MOUNT TELEMAR

The Stout Ski club members traveled to Mount Telemark Saturday, December 10. Three cars of skiers made the trip for an eventful day. Snow conditions were perfect, with a good base snow covered by two inches of newly fallen snow.

Those making the trip were Tiny Norman, Tom Van Devanter, Fred Fischer, Jerry Greischar, Bob Becker, Charles Banks, Bud Axdaal, Len Minarik, Jack Holmberg, and Wayne Olson.

The cars left Menomonie at 6:30 Saturday morning and returned at 7:30 in the evening. On the way back, the skiers stopped at Rice Lake for dinner and to hash over the day's events.

The club plans to make more of these trips to Mount Telemark after Christmas vacation.

UMD astonished the Stout quint with fast-passing and sharp-shooting that put them in a safe lead midway through the first period and enabled them to hold a 44-20 halftime margin.

The royal battle between Stout center Vaughn Stai and Duluth center Rudy Monson, failed to take place. Stai had a bad night in attempting to hold down the lanky center and failed himself on many of his usual shots from the center position. Monson accounted for 23 points on nine field goals and five tosses from the charity circle.

The sharp spot-passing and set shots of guard Dack Lundquist time and time again brought the capacity crowd of over 1,000 spectators from their seats. Lundquist gathered nine points before being ejected from the game on fouls.

With the Duluth school connecting on 50 per cent of their real set shots and the local quint missing frequently on layups, the winners moved easily through the final period with only one threat. The Blue Devils attempted a comeback in the last canto by way of long shots, but expert rebounding by Monson halted the threat.

The rough game saw 49 fouls called equally against the two teams. However, only one Superior player was ushered out of the game on fouls.

Nylund, usually Stout's high scorer, was completely bottled up by the host's defense and managed to net only nine points all night.

Stai led the Blue Devils with 13 points, followed by Pollock with nine.

COVEY'S CORNER

The team traveled north last weekend and before they got back to town they had taken a couple of losses on the chin.

The Blue Devils dropped their first conference game to Superior last Saturday night. Monday night the Stout men played at Duluth and the fellows really got racked for their troubles. Stai, Pollock, and Nylund were the men who did most of the scoring for

FOB'S REMAIN UNDEFEATED IN VOLLEYBALL

The FOB's defeated the Dirty Eight Tuesday, December 6, to make FOB the only team undefeated in both leagues.

The Volleyballers were defeated by the KFS to break the former's undefeated record and the FOB defeated the Sigmas (Red) to make it a three way tie in the national league.

The outstanding players in the American league are Bob Cseh, of the Dirty Eight and Arnie Potthast (Captain) of FOB No. 1.

The notable players in the National league are R. Longraf (Captain) KFS; Jim Wallesver, Volleyballers; and Will Malone, (Captain) FOB No. 2.

The league standings up to last week were:

STOUT SENIORS IN COLLEGE WHO'S WHO

Twelve students from the Stout Institute have been selected as candidates for the 1949-50 volume of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

They were selected by the student governing board, which includes Rosella Transgrud and Milton Miller as Senior representatives; Warren Barberg and Robert Manson, juniors; Patricia Krause and William Banks, sophomores; Warren Philips, John Poelinger, Jean Waltzer, and John Rowe, SSA officers; Dean Price, Dean Antrim and Mr. Arneson, Stout faculty members.

Each student's character, scholarship, leadership in extra curricular activities, and potentiality for future usefulness to business and society were the factors the student governing board considered when selecting these students.

Election to Who's Who Among Students is one of the major honors that can be conferred upon any college student in the nation. The scholarship, character, personality and initiative which that student possesses in college and campus activities will help the student when he is out of school; in addition, students listed in the Who's Who Among Students will find the listing a good recommendation into the business world. Personnel directors of companies use the annual publication as a guide and reference to outstanding students who have shown talent throughout college. For convenience in job placement, Who's Who Among Students has reference sheets of each student listed.

Ruth Ann Christensen

A senior this year, Ruth Ann is president of Phi Upsilon Omicron, the national home economics fraternity, and belongs to the SMA's. She has been a member of the Home Economics club and Stout Symphonic Singers all her four years at Stout. When a freshman, she was president of the Orchestra and treasurer of the same group when a junior. Ruth had the honor of being Homecoming attendant two years ago and was Homecoming Queen this year.

Milton J. Miller

A transfer from Mankato State Teachers college, Milton Miller will graduate from Stout next June. He is a member of Sigma Tau Gamma, national social fraternity, of which he is president this year. He is now a senior representative of the student governing board and a member of Epsilon Pi Tau, international honorary fraternity of industrial arts and vocational education. Milton acted as chairman of Freshman Week social activities last September. A veteran, he served in U.S. Navy for one and a half years.

Arnold H. Pottast

Arnold will graduate in January, 1950. He has taught physical education classes for one year at Stout. Arnold played football for three years; in 1948 he was football captain. In 1949, he was Stout's assistant football coach. He was a member of the baseball team for three years and is recipient of the Phi Omega Beta's (FOB's) "Outstanding Athlete" scholarship award in '49. Arnold is treasurer and historian of the "S" club. During the war he was in the U. S. Army for thirty-five months.

Walter John Rowe

Walter John Rowe is a senior this year and answers to his middle name, "John." He is active in intramurals and is a member of the "S" club, having been awarded the "S" for three years, being vice president in his sophomore year. He is now treasurer of the Stout Student governing board. The Phi Omega Beta (FOB's) claim him as a member. John was in the U. S. Navy for two years during the war.

Leona Sexe

Lee Sexe transferred to Stout after spending her freshman year at St. Olaf college. Now a Home Economics major, she will graduate in June 1950. Leona is president of the Hyperian society, treasurer of the Home Economics club, and a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron, Manual Arts Players, and Stout Symphonic Singers.

Warren Thomas

The graduate student to receive the Who's Who honor is Warren Thomas,

1909 GRADUATE VISITS STOUT CLASSES, SHOPS

Industrial Education Leader Claude Nihart Studies Course Contents

Inspecting shops and classes, noting shop housekeeping, and studying the content of courses being taught at Stout, Claude Nihart, a distinguished graduate of 1909, was on the campus December 14-15. Mr. Nihart is head supervisor of vocational and practical arts in Los Angeles and a national leader in industrial education.

While at the college, Mr. Nihart was honored at an alumni association-sponsored luncheon on December 14. At the luncheon Mr. Nihart reminisced about activities that were held at Stout years ago. He also stressed some of the important qualities that teachers of Industrial Arts should have on the completion of their training.

One of the things he felt was especially needed in a teacher training institution was more emphasis on skill. He felt that grads should have with them more instruction material.

Following his talk was an informal question-answer discussion.

December 15 he addressed senior and graduate men of the college. During this time, he discussed supervisory conferences with teachers as they are held in Los Angeles public schools.

Mr. Nihart spoke also on factors which employing officials look for in teachers. Among the points he mentioned were the need of the teacher to perform his duties satisfactorily and the necessity of his gaining the respect and confidence of his pupils.

In a question and answer period, the speaker also discussed placement procedures as they operate on the Los Angeles public school system.

Mr. Nihart brought with him projects in the field of woodworking which had been constructed as part of his special research activities for Los Angeles teachers. He pointed out to his audience the factors in good design embodied in the projects and showed those which had been judged as demonstrating good workmanship.

During the free moments of his visit, Mr. Nihart made numerous trips to view the academic and extra curricular activities of the college, especially the baseball set-up in which he was greatly interested while attending Stout.

who graduated in 1949 with distinction.

At present, he is president of Epsilon Phi Tau, international honorary professional fraternity for industrial arts and vocational education. He was a member of Phalanx fraternity, now Sigma Tau Gamma. Warren was a member of the band for four years and president of the Orchestra in his senior year. He was also a member of Arts and Crafts. A veteran, he served three years in the Army.

Rosella Transgrud

Having transferred from Concordia college in her sophomore year, Rosella Transgrud is now president of the Philomatheans and vice president of Phi Upsilon Omicron. She is also representative of senior class on the student governing board and a member of the Intersociety council. In the past, she has been treasurer of Tainter hall and the Philomatheans. Rosella will graduate in June, 1950.

Jean Waltzer

Jean, a member of the student governing board and student affairs committee, is well known to the students at Stout. She is secretary of the Stout Student association and a member of the Stout Symphonic Singer. Jean belongs to Phi Upsilon Omicron and Pallas Athene society, of which she was secretary last year. Other offices she previously held are secretary of junior class and president of Phi U. She was also Homecoming Queen of 1948. For two years Jean has been a counselor in the Freshman dorm.

Merlin R. Moore

Merlin, June 1950 graduate, is a member of the Kappa Phi Sigma, social fraternity, of which he is president. See WHO'S WHO—Page 3

ROBERT BRADFORD TO SPEAK AT CONVO

To Tell of Persecution by Gestapo and the Changes It Made in His Life

What changes can be wrought in a man who lived for seventeen years as a Jew in Europe, was hated, hunted, and hounded by the Nazis in World War II, and then after walking the plank of Gestapo persecution, was told that, after all, he was not a Jew?

The question will be answered here by Robert Bradford, who had that experience. Bradford lectures at The Stout Institute at 10 o'clock on Wednesday, January 11, 1950.

Born in Breslau, Germany, of Christian parents, Bradford was adopted at the age of three by a Jewish family named Israel, who gave him their faith, their traditions, and their love. But it wasn't until he was 20 years old that he learned that he wasn't a Jew.

In those years as a Jew he saw the rise of Hitler, experienced the terror meted out by the Nazis, and saw his adopted father die in agony in 1936 as a result of brutal beatings.

"My foster father was a textile manufacturer. His store was smashed and all his possessions were confiscated," Bradford said. "After his death, my adopted mother knew that it was only a matter of time before we would end up either in a concentration camp or a gas chamber. She made frantic arrangements for our escape from Germany."

They were aided in their escape by non-Jews who asked no questions about race or religion. A German customs officer, a friend of the family, arranged to meet them at the railroad station, stamped their bags, and bade them good luck on their trip to France. Robert stayed in Paris where he became a member of the French underground. His foster mother fled to Lisbon. He was caught twice by the Gestapo, but escaped each time, by leaping from the moving train. "At times it seemed hopeless, but I kept thinking of my mother and of the time we would meet again. That time never came."

meet again. That time never came."

Late one night a comrade in the underground told him he was wanted at the headquarters of the H.I.A.S., the Jewish Agency in France.

"I found myself standing before a nervous little man," Bradford recalled. "A moment later he threw a bombshell into my world by showing me a birth certificate which my mother had sent from Lisbon to prove my Christian birth. 'You are not of Jewish birth,' I heard the man say, 'I feel sure you will take advantage of this information and that it will make you happy.'"

"I knew my mother loved me as her own," he continued. "What had it cost her to tell me I was not her son, to give me this chance to save myself from the brand of a Jew? Five minutes after I learned I was a Gentile, I decided to go on being a Jew. I couldn't cross the line into the Gentile world. To all intents, I am still a Jew."

Robert Bradford's lecture here will be on the topic "Tolerance and Freedom." His tour of the Upper Midwest has been arranged by the Concert and Lecture service of the University of Minnesota.

The Ebonaires

GEORGE GRIM TO GIVE LECTURE FEBRUARY 1

The Menomonie chapter of the American Association of University Women will sponsor the appearance of George Grim, widely-known northwest commentator and columnist, February 1, at 8:00 p.m. in the Stout auditorium.

The return appearance of Mr. Grim, who spoke in Menomonie last year, is occasioned by the public acclaim with which he was received after his last season's lecture.

HYP SOCIETY SPONSORS DREAMER'S HOLIDAY

"Dreamer's Holiday" is the theme chosen by the Hyperian society for the first all-school dance of the New Year, Saturday, January 7, 1950. There will be dancing to the music of Jack Pingel's orchestra from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. in the Stout gymnasium.

"Make your holiday complete," urges Lois Quist, chairman. "Join the Hypes on their Dreamer's Holiday."

SKI CLUB PLANNING FUTURE OUTINGS

With the coming of fresh snow last Thursday, the ski club began to make plans for future outings. Santa Claus came through with boots, ski togs, and other equipment for many of the members of the club. With all this new stuff the winter is looking brighter already.

The members who went up to Mount Telemarke before Xmas brought back reports of so much excitement that the club is now making plans for more of these trips for the near future. The big trips to Telemarke will be spaced with trips to the near hills for practice, instruction, and general fun.

On Saturday, January 14th, the club is sponsoring the first Intercollegiate Ski Meet to be held at The Stout Institute. Many teams have already accepted invitations, and on these teams there are reported to be some good skiers. The admission to the Ski Meet at one o'clock will be by SSA cards for Stout students. After the basketball game in the evening the club will put on an all-school dance. The Novelaires will entertain during the intermission.

To help finance the meet, the Ski Club will sell tickets, such as the S club did for their blanket, only the Ski club will have a sweater and probably one other prize. The drawing will be held at the dance on the 14th.

These tickets may be obtained from any Ski club member during the coming week, January 9 thru January 13.

NEGRO QUARTET TO APPEAR AT LYCEUM

The EBONAIRES, nationally-known Negro quartet, will present a program in The Stout auditorium, Monday, January 8, at 8:00 p.m. This is the fourth number in the 1949-1950 Lyceum series.

This quartet was organized in 1929 under the name of The Deep River Quartet. It was founded for the express purpose of giving a true interpretation of American folk music, especially that closely connected with the Negro race. The quartet has appeared in leading concert halls and on major radio networks.

Although the program for Monday's performance has not been announced, typical programs in the past have always included such favorites as "Workin' on de Railroad," "Shortin' Bread," "Old Man River," "Swing Low Sweet Chariot," and many other spirituals, work songs, and plantation melodies.

SKIP THAT COFFEE!

It really doesn't take a great deal of effort to get to class on time. As the school year wears on, most of us become more and more lax. Late entrance into a classroom is not only irritating to the instructor, but disturbing to the class as well. When many of us enter the teaching field, we will be able to appreciate that point more fully.

Perhaps the worst result of this practice is the harm which we are doing to ourselves by establishing habits which will remain with us always. Because lack of promptness transfers to other areas in life as well, it is important to form patterns and habits of which one can be proud in later life.

Promptness in the classroom is not the only consideration. Other areas of campus activities are equally important. Assemblies, organization meetings, appointments with the faculty, and staff meetings all require the same punctuality. It should not be necessary for organizations to fix their starting time so early that all the stragglers will have arrived at the time the meeting really starts. In fact such a policy actually penalizes the prompt members and encourages tardiness.

How about it? Let's set that alarm clock five minutes early and skip that extra cup of coffee between classes. A little co-operation from everyone will do the trick. —L.D.

Hello,

Are you all getting over the two week vacation? Doesn't it feel good to be back in school and taking it easy again? From the looks of everyone coming back, I'd say the New Year was really started with a bang.

Stout students living in the area of Sheboygan, Wisconsin, had a reunion during the holidays. According to reports, everybody had a good time.

Jean Bulmer is perhaps one of the happiest persons to be back in school. Reliable sources say that Jean said the vacation was long and drawn out, and that she just couldn't wait to see Bruce Arntson again.

Did you get a load of Gerald Jeffery since he got back to school? Believe it or not, but he shaved off his mustache.

Now that Clark Gable is married, Ben Gabriel is raising a mustache. Good luck, Ben. Here is hoping you're as lucky as Clark Gable.

Intramural bowling was finally started this week. The first day of the bowling season we found Nancy Haertlein and Joanne Buboltz cheering for Wally Weiss and Gordy Gossner. By the way, Joanne is wearing Gordy's class ring.

Dick VanDuzee must have really celebrated over the holidays. His eyes are still bloodshot.

Get a load of the new cap Bob Braun is wearing. It's kind of nice.

Well, there were quite a few engagements over the holidays. Jean Winsor received a ring from Herb Barnhart, a '49 Stout grad. Alice Oates received a diamond from Darby Serra. Rose Goeda and Jerry Zelenka also announced their engagement over the holiday. Another smiling face was that of Marge Forsman. She received a diamond from her boyfriend back home. Marvel Oelke also received a diamond from her nice local romeo. Phyl Keyes also received a ring from her boyfriend at home too. And, she is just a freshman.

Willis Bogenhagen and Austin Myers gave rings to their local girlfriends, according to the latest rumors, anyway. How about it, fellows?

The biggest surprise of all the engagements was Jean Moe's. Jean came back to school with a big diamond on her finger which she received from her boyfriend back home. And we always thought Ross Slater was the guy. Tough luck, Ross.

Bob Becker went down to Manitowoc to see Connie Anderson, but she wasn't home. What happened, Connie?

Some of the freshmen girls were mighty surprised to find out that Dave Johnson has a girl back home. Say Dave, what have you been telling these girls?

Eugene Traxler traveled to Neenah, Wis., to see you know who. Yes, Pat Krause.

Watch out for Don Winters. He has a new car. I believe it is a 1938 De Soto. Getting up in the world, eh Don?

Dorothy Krushas was in Manitowoc with her boyfriend. Say Dot, who won the basketball game?

Attention girls: Dale Digerness is back from his vacation with a gleam in his eyes. Need I say more?

Whew, I'm all pooped out. What a rough week. Why don't you people do something drastic this week, so that next week I can have an easier time writing this article. Happy New Year everybody. See you next week.

Key and Hole

Question of the Week

Question—What did you do New Years Eve?

John Lighter—I missed the footrail and spent the night in a hospital, with an injured chin.

Nadine Brown—I was uninterestingly good.

Dick Jung—I felt gay all night.

Fred Hodges—Slept.

Jim Brown—I took midnight communion at the Fourth National Methodist Student Conference.

Noreen Kahl—I took midnight communion at the Fourth National Methodist Student Conference.

Ann Banker—I took midnight communion at the Fourth National Methodist Student Conference.

Donna McDonough—No comment.

Dennis Brooks—It was a mistake, but I stayed home.

Gary Chang—I stayed home and read a book.

Jim Tomita—I worked as a waiter at the Hotel Marion.

Joe Beland—Oh Brother! I can't say that.

Dale Hsley—I did the same thing Joe did.

Ralph Hetzel—Don't put anything about me in there.

Dennis Foltman—Attended church services.

Don Straw—I got lost in North Dakota.

Bob Nichols—I stayed home.

He: "No, pet."

Someday they might unravel the mystery of the sweater girl!

1st Fellow: "She seems to be a good sensible girl."
2nd Fellow: "Yeah, she wouldn't pay any attention to me either."

As they were driving through the woods along a lonely road, when suddenly the car sputtered and stopped.
He: Out of gas, by golly!
She: Yeah? (Pulls out bottle)
He: Ah! And what do we have here?
She: Gasoline.

Definition of a college student reading a joke—a person who can see three meanings to a joke when there are only two.

The major menaces on the highway are drunken driving, uncontrolled thumbing, and indiscriminate spooning. To put it briefly, hic, hike, and hug.

In a room, the following situation occurred. One fellow was studying rather hard, while his roommate was attempting to sing in his best style.
Studios fellow: "Why don't you sing ten-or?"
Self-made singer: "What do you mean?"
Studios: "I mean sing ten or fifteen miles away."

1st fellow: "You should sing so-lo."
2nd fellow: "You think I am that good?"
1st fellow: "No, I mean sing so low that no one can hear you at all."

Attention Readers: the reason why a straw hat and a kiss over a telephone are similar is that neither one is felt.

The way that some singers sing may indicate a cultivated voice, but in many cases a little reploting wouldn't hurt.

Some girls can make a fool out of a fellow in a few minutes—but, aaah, those few minutes.

This is one I believe that sums up many stories I have heard from fellow males.
She: If I sit over in that nice dark corner with you will you promise not to hug me?
He: Yes.
She: And will you promise not to kiss me?

He: Yes.
She: And will promise not to...?
He: Yes.
She: Then what in the heck do you want me to go over there for?

She was a snappy kid in winter, She had the goods in fall But when she donned a bathing suit She wasn't there at all.

High heels, according to Christopher Morley, were invented by a woman who had been kissed on the forehead.

She: Stop!
He: I won't.
She: (With a sigh)—All right, I've done my duty.

Jim Ooley: I have a sliver in my finger.
Coach Storti: From scratching your head?

She was a gorgeous creature, He was a doting male. He admired her figure in English, But wanted to read it in Braille.

Critic: "You have a bunch of bum jokes in this issue."
Editor: "Oh, I don't know. I put a bunch of them in the stove and the fire just roared."

While reading at home, a professor found he had a need of a bookmark. Seeing nothing else handy, he used his wife's scissors, which lay on the sewing-table. A few minutes later the wife wanted the scissors, but diligent search failed to reveal them.

The next day the professor appeared before the class and opened his book. There lay the scissors. He picked them up and, holding them above his head, shouted: "Here they are, dear!"
Yes, the class got it!

HODGES and CHAPEK PERFORM FOR PARTY

Were you at the SSA Christmas party one Saturday night? If not, you missed an outstanding performance by "Hodges and Chapek, the boys who "Outspike Spike Jones."

Fred Hodges, freshman at Stout, and his partner who reside in Racine, gave their impression of Spike Jones and His City Slickers, to a background of their music. Numbers done were "Laura," "You Always Hurt The One You Love," The Hawaiian War Chant," "Libesträum," "Happy New Year," and the "Wm. Tell Overture."

Fred is a freshman and a cheerleader at Stout, where he plans to major in woodworking. Bill is now employed at the Western Printing company in Racine, and next year plans to enter Milwaukee State Teachers college, to major in social work. The boys have known each other all their lives, and have been putting on their act with continued success for the past two years.

However, for them, show business is purely a sideline, and they have no intention of making it a profession. When offered an opportunity to try out for television, they refused.

Employed in the renditions were empty bottles, tin cans, grass skirts, western six-shooters, and other items too numerous to mention. The boys have no definite plan at show time as to what they will say, with the exception of the numbers to be played. To put it in Chapek's own words, "Rehearse, what's that?" It is because of this policy that they speak so highly of their record player for the evening, Paul Rauth. Seems Paul was confused all the way through, but still managed to play the correct tunes at the right times.

The routine originated at the Racine YMCA camp during the summer of 1947. One evening at a staff meeting, a Spike Jones recording was put on the phonograph. Fred and Bill began to clown, purely on the spur of the moment. The others at the meeting liked it, and as a result, they were asked to elaborate on the routine, and do it later at a general meeting. Since then, they have been seen in many nightspots in the Racine and Milwaukee vicinities.

The boys really enjoyed performing at the party, and expressed a desire to return and perform again some time.

PHILO PARTY INCLUDES CAROLS AND COOKIES

The Philomathean society held their Christmas party Sunday evening, December 10. The Philo's had dinner at the Hotel Marion at 7 p.m. After dinner, Miss Hazel Van Ness, advisor, had a party at her apartment for the Philos. The girls spent the evening reminiscing and singing carols. Cider and Christmas cookies were served. Ruth Conjurski and Nan Gehri were co-chairmen of the party.

DR. AND MRS. E. SIRO VISIT STOUT

Visiting the campus December 6 were Dr. and Mrs. Einar Siro, both graduates of The Stout Institute. Mr. Siro received his Bachelor of Science degree from Stout in 1933, his Master's degree from the University of Minnesota in 1936, and his Ph.D. from the University of Minnesota in 1949. He will begin work as head of the industrial education department with rank as full professor, February 1 at State college, Chico, California.

Mrs. Siro was Inez Pickering, who obtained her Bachelor's at Stout in 1936. Prior to accepting the position in California, Dr. Siro had held positions at Southwestern Texas State Teachers college, Ohio university, Washington State college, and the 1948 Stout Institute summer session. From 1947-49 he was a graduate student at the University of Minnesota.

During World War II, for a time Mr. Siro was one of President Verne C. Fryklund's assistants at the Armored Force school at Fort Knox.

BLUEDEVILS TO PLAY AT RIVER FALLS

After a successful holiday campaign, the Stout basketball quint resumes action this weekend when they take on the Falcons from River Falls in a conference tilt at 8:00 p.m. Saturday on the the Falcons' floor.

The high scoring River Falls team took the conference championship last year and are favored to repeat this year.

The Falcons are paced by their famous center, Nate DeLong, who set a new scoring record when he whipped in 33 points against St. Johns University.

The rangy center is only the fourth man in college basketball to pass the 2,000 point mark, and with 20 games still on the docket this season, it is likely that he will push his score way out of reach.

Feeding DeLong from his position on the court will be all-conference forward Newman Benson, considered by many as the force behind big Nate's success as a scorer.

Students who are planning to go to River Falls to attend the game will in all probability be treated to one of the top basketball games of the season.

FOB'S UNBEATEN FOR THREE YEARS

Defeating the KFS Thursday evening, December 15, in the gymnasium, the FOB No. 1 remained the undefeated volleyball champions for the third successive year.

It was undecided who they were to play for the championship game as there was a three way tie in the National league. They reached an agreement on the playoff of the tie, and the KFS came out on top by defeating the Volleyballers and going on to defeat the FOB No. 2 team.

The championship game was then played, which started at 8:15. The KFS took an early lead but the FOB's rallied to tie the score 13 all and went on to defeat them 15 to 13. They won the second game 15 to 8 to leave no doubt as to who the champions were.

The names of the champions are: Potthast (capt), Braem, Mackin, Fleming, Wentorf, Hammerberg, Rowe, Young.

The defeated are: Landgraf, R. (capt), Landgraf, E., Nichols, Larson, Burnester, Frey, Winberg, and Houghton, Hendrickson, and McKay.

STOUT CAGERS EDGE LA CROSSE BY 61-55 SCORE

LaCrosse Outscores Stout In Field Goals But Loses Game On Free Throw

The Blue Devil cagers made their Christmas season twice as merry this year by knocking off two of the top teacher's college teams in two states before retiring for the yuletide season. The first was a 58 to 56 nipping of St. Cloud and the second was a 61 to 55 whipping handed to La Crosse.

In their first game with La Crosse, the Blue Devils could have easily whipped any team in the conference during the first quarter of the game. With center Vaughn Stai leading the way, the Blue Devils moved into a 24 to 9 lead. It looked as though La Crosse was going to suffer one of the worst defeats in their history, when Stout cooled off, and La Crosse took the aggressive role and started hitting from around the free throw circle to tie the Blue Devils 33 to 33 at intermission.

In the opening minutes of the second half, La Crosse remained hot and for the first time in the game took over the lead. Stout surged back to tie the score and then fought until the closing minutes of the game. Although substitute guard Herb Markley netted only one field goal, it was definitely his aggressive floor play that enabled the Blue Devils to stay with the La Crosse quint.

The score was tied 51-51 with two minutes remaining in the game, when the Blue Devils set up a tight defense and started clicking on offense to score ten points while holding the invaders to four counters.

La Crosse, however, outscored Coach Johnson's quint from the court in field goals 22 to 20, but lagged behind in free throws 10 to 21 for Stout. La Crosse was crippled badly in the last half when four starting players fouled out of the game.

Although failing to score a point in the second and fourth quarters, Vaughn Stai was the big gun for Stout. His seven field goals and 12 charity tosses for 26 points gave him scoring honors. Nylund followed with 15 points.

Victory Over St. Cloud

Missing the services of several regulars and substitutes who were home for the Christmas season, the Stout cage team defeated highly rated St. Cloud teachers college, which boasted seven consecutive victories prior to the meeting, 58 to 56 at St. Cloud.

St. Cloud had formerly defeated the Blue Devils and listed among its other victims such schools as the University of Minnesota Extension School

COLLEGIATE SKI MEET TO BE HELD HERE

Several of the teams that were invited to the Intercollegiate ski meet, on Saturday, January 14th, have sent back the forms for the meet. About 40 skiers are expected to come to the meet.

The teams thus far heard from are: U of Minnesota; U of Wisconsin, two teams; Carlton, two teams, and Michigan tech., two teams. The teams are made up of four men each and each team competes in both the cross country race and the jumping event.

The members of the Stout team, as far as is known, are Charles Bankes, John Roudow, Byron Dodge, and Jack Holmberg.

The judges who have been assigned to the meet are Harold Gringen, Art Dahl, and Carl Holstrum of Duluth.

Hill captain, John Roudow, is getting the jumping hill ready for the meet and the cross country committee, Bud Axthal and Tiny Norman, is getting the cross country trail ready.

For those not familiar with cross country races, the Central Ski association rules state that the trail is to be from 6 to 7 miles long with 1-3 up hill - 1-3 down hill - 1-3 flat. The skiers are sent off at definite intervals and their time is recorded, the fastest time winning.

at Duluth and a number of Minnesota Teachers colleges.

Stout poured it on in the first half with regulars Vaughn Stai and Russ Pollock setting the pace, to gain a 32 to 22 halftime lead. Stai connected for all six of his field goals in the first half, while Pollock scored consistently throughout the game.

The Blue Devils remained in the lead throughout most of the quarter, but a St. Cloud rally with four minutes left in the game, overtook the Blue Devils 45 to 42.

With Pollock, Wingert, Kieffer, and Nylund connecting for two baskets each and Markley adding one, the Blue Devils were able to eke out a win.

Russ Pollock led the scoring with 17 points followed by Stai with 16 counters. Novak led St. Cloud with 15 points.

"Asked what color a gray crayon was, Gary answered, 'Dark white,' which he hastily amended to 'Light black.'"

COVEY'S CORNER

The Armory on the night the Blue-devils played LaCrosse was as bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard. The game that night was a good one for the fans, so most of you missed what will probably be one of the most exciting from the fans' view point.

The Bluedevil victory also gives Stout a .500 batting average in conference play.

LaCrosse had a small team, but after they found the location of the basket in the second half, they really narrowed the gap.

Stout put the game on ice in the last two minutes; all LaCrosse could do was foul when trying to get the ball from the Bluedevils. About three different centers fouled out on Stai in the closing minutes of the game.

On the freshman side, Kieffer continued pulling some flashy playing out of his bag of tricks. Herb Markely was terrific on rebounds. Herb has been getting a slow start in scoring, but he certainly makes up for all this with his rebounding play.

Big Ed Nylund came through on his rebounding, and his scoring in the final moments of the game helped in the clutch.

The team turned in one of its better nights against St. Cloud Teachers college. The Bluedevils won their first road game, and in doing so handed St. Cloud their first defeat of the season. Regulars Amthor and Debrauske were not on the trip so Bob Brimer and Mike Wingert were in the starting roles. The final score shows the boys did all right, and according to all reports the team turned in one of their better games.

Stai and Pollock provided the one-two punch in the Stout scoring and passed the Bluedevils to their victory.

Tomorrow night the team takes on the River Falls Teachers college quint at River Falls. Headed by Nate DeLong, River Falls probably ranks as leading conference title contender.

So far this season the Stout squad has been as unpredictable as the weather, either hot or cold. If the boys keep up their current pace, they should be able to handle the River Falls team. Holding down big Nate isn't the complete answer to defeating the Falcons. Benson in particular and the team as a whole can get hot from the court and do pretty well without DeLong if necessary.

Starting next weekend the team plays at home for a few games. This should draw the local fans to the Armory for a few games.

PERSECUTION BY GESTAPO TOLD BY SPEAKER

Robert Bradford Tells Of His Experiences While He Was Thought To Be A Jew

Robert Bradford, speaker at convocation Wednesday, told students of how he was persecuted by the Gestapo and the changes it has made in his life.

Mr. Bradford told of how he lived for twenty years as a Jew in Europe and how he was hated, hunted, and hounded by the Nazis in World War II and then after walking the plank of Gestapo persecution, was told that he was not a Jew.

Mr. Bradford was born in Breslau, Germany, and, at the age of three, was adopted by a Jewish family named Israel, who gave him their faith, their traditions, and their love. It wasn't until he was 20 years old that he learned that he wasn't a Jew.

After his foster father's death, arrangements were made for his escape from Germany. They were aided in their escape by non-Jews who asked no questions about race or religion. A German customs officer, a friend of the family, arranged to meet them at the station and bade him good luck on the trip to France.

Mr. Bradford stayed in Paris where he became a member of the French underground. He was caught twice by the Gestapo but escaped each time by leaping from a moving train.

From the time he learned that he was a Gentile he decided to go on being a Jew. And as Mr. Bradford says in his own words, "To all intents, I am still a Jew."

DR. ANDERSON HAS ARTICLE PUBLISHED

Nation-Wide Summary of Community Occupational Surveys is Included

The December, 1949 issue of Occupations, the vocational guidance journal, includes an article written by Dr. Stuart Anderson of the Stout graduate faculty entitled, "Community Occupational Surveys: An Evaluation."

This article was an outgrowth of a nation-wide survey of community occupational surveys which had been made in the decade from 1939 to 1949. In January, 1949, the author sent inquiries to the 48 chief state school officers in an effort to locate surveys which had been made during this ten year period. Thirty-four published reports were received. During the fourth quarter of the 1948-49 academic year, these bulletins were analyzed by Dr. Anderson's graduate class in Survey Procedures.

Because it was felt that an evaluation based solely on this analysis would be of limited value, a check list was sent to the school administrator in each community from which a published survey report had been received. Twenty-two replies, including four letters of explanation, were received and provided the information for the article.

Both Elmer Clausen and Allan Felthaus, graduate students at Stout at that time, deserve considerable credit for their assistance in compiling this material, according to Dr. Anderson.

REGISTRATION DATES GIVEN BY REGISTRAR

With the end of the semesters coming up most of us have to think of starting all over again next semester. The schedule for the happy day is all set as announced by Miss G. M. O'Brien, registrar.

Seniors will register in the morning or Monday, January 23. The juniors and sophomores will begin in the afternoon of January 23. Tuesday, January 24 is the registration day for the freshman and the new students. This last group will have all day to register.

The graduate students will register on Monday and Tuesday, January 23 and 24 at the same time the upper class post-grad students register.

SKI CLUB TO SPONSOR SKI MEET SATURDAY

Ski Club Invites 30 College Teams To Enter In Cross Country, Jumping Events

The Stout Institute Ski club is sponsoring the intercollegiate combined classic ski meet on Saturday, January 14, at Wakanda park in Menomonie. This meet was held at Madison, Wisconsin, last year, with the Minnesota team winning the trophy.

The Stout Institute team placed third in the Intercollegiate meet last year at Madison. Jack Holmberg placed second in the combined and took fourth place in the cross country race in that same meet. Charlie Banks placed fifth in the cross country at Madison and won the cross country race at Duluth last year. These are the only veteran Stout skiers. Power jumpers, John Rudow and Byron Dodge, have replaced Dave Redard and Bob Aspholm of last year's team.

Minnesota will defend the Intercollegiate ski title they have held for two years in a row. Minnesota's crack team will be lead by Kaare Engebo, Norwegian exchange student, who won first place in the Madison meet last year. Bob Sanderson, Minnesota second man, placed first in the Slalom race of the National Collegiate championship held at Aspen, Colorado, this year.

The Carleton college team will be led by Bill Coghill who is Carleton's main man. Carleton in the last two years has entered meets at Madison, Duluth Intercollegiate, St. Olaf invitational, and open meets at Minneapolis.

The U of Wisconsin is sending five men. Bill Bradley is their ace jumper and is also chairman of the Intercollegiate Ski union, which organizes and controls the collegiate skiing of the North Central states. Kieth Johnson, of Wisconsin, placed sixth in the cross country race at Madison last year.

The Michigan College of Mining and Technology informed Stout that they will send five men. They have been training for this meet since November. See SKI MEET—Page 5

THE "HOUSE" RECEIVES NEW PAINT JOB

"Color Everywhere" is the home management house theme since its recent paint job has been completed. The ten student residents and Miss Gladys Trullinger lived amid painters' cans and canvas for three weeks before Christmas as the rooms were being completed.

Deep burgundy walls set off by white woodwork greet visitors as they enter the vestibule. The living room and the main entrance hall walls are a soft green; the ceiling is golden yellow. The green wall is extended into the upper hall on one side. The yellow color of the living room ceiling is repeated on the north wall of the second floor.

The bedroom on the first floor of the resident head is now a lemon yellow with a rose ceiling. Bedrooms are each different—two rooms have grey walls with pale green ceilings, one lighter than the other. A rose room, a soft green room, a buttercup yellow room, and a deep sky blue room complete the bedroom schemes.

MHS NUTRITION CLASS CONDUCTS EXPERIMENT

The twelfth grade home economics students from the Menomonie high school who are taking nutrition this semester have completed their study of white mice and under the supervision of their student teacher, Ardelle Lietzke, they have carried on an experimental project.

In their nutrition unit, the students discussed proper nutritional needs of human beings and how these needs were formulated through much experimental work on white mice and rats. The students thus decided to carry on a similar experiment as a class project.

The girls put two of their mice on a coke and candy diet. The other one was used as a control, having a normal diet. The girls saw the nutritional effects of improper feeding. The mice on the special diet became very nervous and irritable. Their physical appearance also showed marked changes. The students are definitely convinced now that coke and candy is not good for them.

SSA MESSAGE

Fellow Students,

There isn't much news to pass on to you this week but it seems to me that it would be appropriate, now that the semester is over, to pass out a few compliments from the SSA office. This first semester, in the opinion of the SSA officers, has been quite successful as far as student government, recreational activities, and service to the school are concerned. This success, as you know, is due to the cooperation you as students have shown. The dances that the organizations have given on repeated weekends have been highly successful—at least from the standpoint of recreation if not financially. You have given fine support for our athletic teams, and your sportsmanship is always tops. You made homecoming a big success. Your attendance at student assemblies has been encouraging as compared to previous years. For all of these things we wish to thank you and we hope you will show the same spirit in the coming semester.

Perhaps you have been wondering just what the coming months will offer as far as extra curricular events are concerned. Well, a few events you can look forward to will be the usual home basketball games and the SSA sponsored all-school mixer dance which will open the new semester. Free Sunday movies will be continued for your enjoyment. These films, given by the SSA, are planned for every other Sunday during the winter months.

The swimming pool will be open one night a week for those of you who are not able to get your weekly dip during the present hours. Another new project that will be introduced this spring will be an all-school carnival. You will all be asked to participate, with the proceeds going to a worthy cause—more details will be published later.

Again, thanks to all of you for your cooperation and especially to the Alpha Phi Omega for the many services they have rendered. Also to the Sigma frat for their volunteered ushering at the convocations.

Remember the intercollegiate ski meet at Wakanda park this weekend, and don't miss the dance Saturday. The whole weekend is being sponsored by the Ski club for your enjoyment, so have fun.

Good luck in all your exams.
The SSA Officers,
Warren Phillips, president

WE ARE IN WISCONSIN, NOT IN MICHIGAN

Menomonie, Menominee. Do you did not and they found themselves in know the difference? The Ebbonaires Menominee, Michigan, January 9, instead of Menomonie, Wisconsin.

The Negro quartet was to appear at the lyceum Monday, January 9, at 8:00 p.m. After Mr. Howard Hoving had played the new electric organ for a short time, Mr. F. E. Tustison of the lyceum committee announced that a call had been received from the Ebbonaires and the quartet had made the error of traveling to Menominee, Michigan. They were sorry about the error and stated that they would be at Stout to give their program on Tuesday evening, January 10, at 8:00 p.m.

The quartet, founded for the express purpose of giving a true interpretation of American folk music, and especially that closely connected with the Negro race, presented selections ranging from the light classics to the Negro spirituals of the plantations of the South.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES TO HOLD MEETING MONDAY

To attend a meeting of The Stout Institute Board of Trustees, President Verne C. Fryklund will be in Milwaukee on Monday, January 16.

Two major items are scheduled for action at the meeting. One is the study of a proposal submitted by the Stout faculty concerning tenure and retirement legislation. The other matter is selection of an architect for the new Stout Institute library.

ASSEMBLY HAS SAXOPHONIST FOR PROGRAM

A good deal of assurance and a touch of gall are sometimes helpful in establishing an artist in the concert field. Sigrud Rascher, who will appear at the Stout auditorium in a concert scheduled for convocation at 10 o'clock, January 25, demonstrated both a few years ago in his successful effort to place himself on the musical scene in his adopted America. He had made his mark on the continent of Europe and throughout most of the rest of the world, considerable accomplishment in view of the fact he had to win recognition for his instrument as well as for himself. In America, however, Rascher was unknown and his instrument, the saxophone, was generally despised by serious musicians.

There can be no denying that assurance was demonstrated in Rascher's decision to start with Koussevitzky and the Boston Symphony. He went, almost immediately upon his arrival in this country, to Symphony Hall in Boston and asked to see the maestro. He was told that he had better take his horn and leave. Instead he waited through a rehearsal, connived during intermission with some of the musicians who advised him to wait for the maestro in his dressing room. Saxophone in hand, Rascher waited. After the rehearsal Koussevitzky came into his dressing room dripping with perspiration. "I have no time to listen to you, young man, but if you want to play for me while I am taking a shower, you may do so." Mr. Rascher played about sixteen bars of Ibert Concertino before the bathroom door opened and a toweling figure asked excitedly what the composition was. "The Ibert Concertino" Mr. Rascher replied, and proved it by showing him the score with a handwritten dedication to Rascher himself. The audition continued in a far more favorable atmosphere, and it was not long before Koussevitzky, in semi-attire, had run through the room and was shouting out in the corridor, "Come in, everybody, and hear this fellow!"

GEORGE GRIM TO COME HERE TO SPEAK

The return appearance of George Grim, widely-known northwest commentator and columnist on February 1, at 8:00 p.m. in the Stout auditorium, is being sponsored by the Menomonie chapter of the American Association of University Women.

The proceeds from this lecture will be used toward a AAUW fellowship and for a local scholarship for a girl graduating from the Menomonie high school or from the Dunn County Agricultural school.

Tickets for this event are being kept at 60 cents in order that as many as possible of the college and high school students may attend.

This return appearance of Mr. Grim, who spoke in Menomonie last year, is occasioned by the public acclaim with which he was received after his last season's lecture.

REAP AS YE SOW

With the September starting gun still echoing faintly these many weeks behind us, we should now be well in stride in making this our best and most profitable school year. An excellent motto to follow is We Reap What We Sow. If we sow the seeds of hard study, promptness, cooperation, attentiveness, and courtesy in this field of school days, we can well expect to harvest a rich crop at the end of the season. But on the other hand, if we sow seeds of opposite qualities we can hope for only the minimum.

A farmer has to calculate and prepare the land before he can sow. We, the students, like farmers, must also calculate and prepare our field by plowing up a common understanding between ourselves and our instructors before we can sow for a successful season. With this understanding, the instructors can draw up a workable plan to help us, and coupled with our energy, is there any reason why we should not have a successful season?

In fact, when the height of this common understanding is reached and students and the faculty are functioning equally, school work will not only be easy but a pleasure. —W.S.

SPEAKING OF —

What kind of heel are you?

We may not necessarily be referring to human "heels" when we ask the question, but instead are curious—and greatly disappointed—by the splattering of heel marks and dirty finger prints defacing the newly-painted Home Economics building corridor.

The Home Economics corridor was redecorated for the current school year. In deference to student wishes that "some real colors, not standard brown or gray be used," a truly attractive color scheme was worked out. Cost of the project was $800, plus the cost of the paint. It was money which must last sufficiently long to make the expenditure "pay off."

Now the student body have at their disposal all the facts and figures relative to an important step in the maintenance of the

Greetings once again:

Well, next week is the big week. Yes, it will be good to get those finals out of the way. And speaking of finals, since next week is exam week, there will not be a Stoutonia published. So I guess that means this will be the last "Thru the Keyhole" article this semester. Now don't feel bad about it; there will be more next semester. Did you go to the Hyperian's dance, "Dreamer's Holiday," Saturday night? If you didn't, you missed one of the best dances given this year. The decorations were beautiful, and the orchestra was superb. The only disappointment was the turnout. I'm sure that those who did attend the dance, however, had an enjoyable evening. What do you say we give these organizations a little support at their dances?

Conrad Olson was back in operation with Donna Jens Friday night. Connie must have slipped up Saturday night. He was at the dance stag. Yep, and Donna Jens was out all Sunday afternoon and evening with Joe Brejcha.

Bill Owen was cutting the rug at the dance with Alice Fechner. So was Jack Rutherford and Dorothy Widell. I might add that Dorothy and Jack have been going pretty steady since before the holidays. Betty Worthington and Dale Sievert seemed to be doing pretty nicely at the dance. Someone said that their evening didn't end that way though. What happened?

Virgil Halverson and Janis Oebser paired up during the dance; and stayed that way all evening. The jitterbugs of the evening were "Swede" Larson and Pat Peck. They were really in the groove.

Muriel Roffers and Earl Willmarth were also at the dance. I don't know if it means anything or not, but Earl is wearing Muriel's class ring. Is that serious?

Milan Huley and Lois Quist had smiles on their faces all evening. They must have had a good time.

The surprise couple of the dance was Connie Olson (Here's that guy again) and Alice Mott. I hear that Connie escorted Alice home after the dance. Say Alice, what gives between you and Dave Tank?

HURRYING SEASON?

With the rushing Christmas season at an end for another year, next comes the "hurrying around" of students for that other purpose of which we are all very conscious, the end of the first semester of college. It really seems as though they have kept all the work during the first part of the semester for a rainy day, a time which hasn't arrived as yet.

But the work still has to be completed. Many students began to think, "Why does it all have to be completed in such a short period of time?" That is a good question and one that arises, it seems, at the end of every semester. The only solution to the problem is to start early and not to leave work until the final week when some extra-curricular activity looks much more interesting than school work and so school work takes a back seat to pleasures.

How much different this world would be if everyone were solely interested in the academic things of life and interested not in the social activities around the campus. To be sure, that is not the solution we are looking for; in fact, all that concerns us as students is Will there ever be an end to the work which we should have done weeks earlier?

college buildings. Their wishes have been met by the provision of an attractively-decorated corridor in which to meet and pass between classes.

Stout has a fine student body. There are no "heels" in the student population. Let's have no heels in the college halls either!

Guess who was the smallest couple at the dance? Lois Subitch and Hiro-at Taono, better known as Toto, have the distinction of being the shortest couple on the dance floor.

Wally Christenson and Bill Hinterthuer are really IT now. Wally has a new Plymouth, and Bill and he have been doing a lot of riding around. Watch them operate!

Say, have you noticed Gretchen Schoenoff getting a drink of water every day at one o'clock by the chemistry lecture room? She also takes a casual glance inside. Wally Christenson couldn't be the answer, or could it???

Looks as though Gale Woeffer has changed dorms. He is now operating at the Annex. Sunday night found Gale out with Mary Bohrnstedt.

Bob Hendrickson, Bette Rasmussen, Rog Landgraf, and Dorothy Groethe were at the show Sunday night, and afterwards they stopped at the Sanna Dairy Bar.

Don Fahrman and wife were also at the movie. It must have been a good picture.

Latest news has it that Jean Peterson will not be in school the second semester. The reason: she will be married on the 28th of January. Good luck, Jean.

Get a load of Noreen Kahl and John Cook. This couple has been going together for some time now. Noreen's birthday was last Friday, but I wasn't able to find out what John bought her. Happy birthday, Noreen.

Say Loree Woolen, who is your new flame?? You surely looked dreamy eyed Sunday night when you came in.

Question of the week. Should Eichelberger hall charge Russ Gerber rent? Russ has been spending quite a lot of time there with Donna Heike. Say Russ, why don't you move in!!!

I can't seem to be able to remember any more names. I've got those final exams on my mind. Seeing that there is not going to be a paper next week, I'll be able to sit home this week-end. Yep, I'll just sit home and pace-set. Here's wishing everyone the best of luck on your exams. See you next semester, I hope.

TRANSFER STUDENTS MEET PROBLEMS

Did you have trouble arranging your class program last fall? If you think you had problems, then pity the poor transfer student. A transfer student meets many problems that even the frustrated Stout freshman never encounters.

The transfer finds that he may have completed courses for his junior and senior year, but has yet to take freshman courses—shops especially. Many credits are not transferable for credit at all. His troubles are not over when registration is finished, however. A student, especially an Industrial Arts major, may go to his first class only to find out that there is an overload in the class, and because he was one of the last to finish registering, he will have to drop the class and rearrange his program again.

When the program is finally settled, then the transfer begins to readjust to the new school, its methods, and the new situations surrounding him.

It seems that the majors offered at Stout, industrial arts and home economics, are the biggest reason for the large number of transfers. Many transfers spent their first year of college in a school near their home or one where their friends registered, but upon finishing their first year of liberal arts or other types of education, they decide that Stout is the place to go.

Generally speaking, the transfers like Stout. The most frequent comment heard is that the townspeople in Menomonie are extremely friendly. A transfer living at Eichelberger Hall exclaimed, "Dorm life is simply wonderful." The transfers seem to agree that even though they have difficulties, Stout is a good place to be.

Dear Readers,

As all you smart people walk around this school during the next two weeks you will observe that some of your friends are in a jittery shape, with a worn-out expression, and with a glassy stare in their eyes. This condition is due, if you intelligent freshmen will note, to battle fatigue contracted while serving duty in battlefield of education.

Have you put in your order for extra supply of oil—midnight oil? Starting next week, you had better have your lamp trimmed and the oil supply on hand.

I wish all of you fellow students a successful examination week. Remember—no fair cheating is allowed on examinations!

A glamorous Hollywood star had her picture taken by an equally famous portrait photographer, and fumed at the result. "I can't understand it," she fretted. "The last time I posed for you, the photographs were heavenly."

"Yes," the cameraman sighed, "but you seem to forget. I was ten years younger then!"

Two small boys were talking about grown-ups and one of them came to this brilliant conclusion. He said "It's not hard for grown-ups to keep quiet. They got more to keep quiet about."

One of my friends claims that he can go with any girl that he pleases, but the trouble is that he doesn't please any.

I have just received this latest flash from the battlefield of the war of sexes. A wallflower is a girl who wears a sweater to keep warm.

He held her in his arms—a feeling of warmth crept over him—he pulled her closer, her soft rosininess pressed tightly against his cheeks—soothing—satisfying—perfect bliss—he sat there forever with Emma, his trusty hot-water bottle.

2nd fellow: Well, some of the girls I know have been both, and I can't see any difference.

Did you know that there are men who like to have people stick their noses into these men's business—you see these men are handkerchief manufacturers.

As one eye said to the other—we've got something between us that smells...!

The guide was showing visitors through a museum in Mexico where Indian skulls and relics were exhibited. He was getting tired of answering endless questions when a tourist asked, "Whose skull is that big one?" "That is the skull of the Emperor Montezuma," the guide replied. "And whose is that little skull?" asked another. "That," answered the guide, "is Montezuma when he was a boy."

Professor: "If molecules can be split into atoms, and atoms broken up into electrons, can electrons be split further?"

Student: "Well, Professor, you might try mailing them to someone in a package marked fragile."

Here is one that is a hang-over from the holidays, when a friend of mine was visiting his friend. He was forced to sleep on a couch.

"How did you sleep?" asked the host sweetly. "Was the couch all right for you?"

"It wasn't so bad," said the guest amiably. "I got up from time to time and rested."

Traffic Officer: "You passed me going 60 miles an hour. Don't you care anything about the law?"

Sweet Young Thing: "Why, officer, how can I tell? I've only just met you."

The minister's sermon will be "How Can We Deal with the World Crisis?" Miss Watson will sing "Search Me, Oh God."

Here is one on the sound judgement of the medical profession.

"Doctor! Doctor!" screamed the patient, "Why have my shades been drawn and my room darkened?"

"There's a fire across the street," replied the doctor in charge, "and we were guarding against your waking up and thinking that your operation had been a failure."

RIFLE CLUB TO HAVE SAFETY INSTRUCTIONS

The monthly meeting of the Rifle club was held Monday night, December 5. At that meeting it was decided that all present members, together with all new members, would attend a compulsory course of instruction to insure proper observance of safety regulations and match technique.

These instructions will start after the Christmas vacation and will take about five weeks to complete. Members will attend one class a week, the classes being tentatively set for Monday and Friday nights.

Several important announcements were made. The Rifle club will use the range on Friday nights only, until after the intramural sports program is completed in March. All students are invited to use the club range facilities on Friday night. The one requirement is that everyone purchase his own ammunition.

Business meetings will be held on the first Monday of the month at 7:00 p.m. on the third floor of Physical Education building.

Four new rifles are being shipped from the Director of Civilian Marksmanship. These will replace the four that were shipped in for repairs. The club is purchasing a rifle especially adapted for women shooters. This will bring the total number of club rifles up to eleven. The recent inventory of the Rifle club's supplies and equipment totaled $2,000.

Because of the need of replacing rifles, the match schedule has been altered. As many matches as possible will be fired. Michigan Tech has challenged the Stout Rifle club, and this match will be fired during the week of February 4.

LSA STARTS NEW YEAR WITH MISSION MEETING

The first meeting of the new year for the LSA was held at 5:30 Sunday evening, January 8, at Our Saviors' Lutheran church.

A delicious supper was served by team four with Kathryn Ziehm in charge of the food committee.

Don Winters then led the group in singing the hymns for the evening's devotional service. Marge Forsman read the scripture reading.

An interesting talk on the many jobs available in the Lutheran Mission field was given by Russ Boettner.

The evening ended with Warren Barberg's showing some colored slides, which he took on his trip last summer through the Black Hills and Yellowstone National Park.

Another guy got tired of the "what-cha doin' Saturday night—I'd like to go out with you but I have a date" routine and pulled an old comeback out of the hat:

"You busy Friday night? Oh, Well, are you busy Saturday night? Oh Have you got a date Sunday night too? No? I sure hope you get one!"

WAA RESCHEDULES MONTHLY MEETINGS

Monthly meetings of WAA are now each month. This is only valid to the close of the present school year. The meetings will still be held in the third floor club room of the gymnasium.

The scheduled activity for January is basketball which is now under way. A Valentine's party is being planned for the February meeting.

WSF STUDENTS TO NATIONAL CONVENTION

The Fourth National Methodist Student Conference met at Urbana, Illinois, on the campus of the University of Illinois, during the Christmas holidays, from December 27 to January 1, to discuss a theme which they chose because of its imminence in the world today. It was: "The Christian Use of Power in a Secular World."

Stout was represented by Noreen Kahl, Ann Banker, and J i m Brown, delegates chosen by the WSF here. The total Wisconsin delegation numbered approximately 64.

Present at the conference, which is held once every four years, were students from 47 states, and foreign students from all over the world, totaling nearly 2300 in all.

Conferees met at the main auditorium of the University, ate in two large banquet halls provided by the U, and slept in student dormitories. It was this intermingling of so many people of different backgrounds in such a comparatively small space that brought about the main conclusions arrived at by the main body.

Main developments were the initiation of a food drive for deprived persons throughout the world, a motion for the abolishment of central jurisdiction in the Methodist church, and a drive for the church to bring Christianity to the slum areas of the large cities was started.

The conference centered around speakers with Christian background and definite qualifications to speak on world conditions today. On Thursday evening a concert was provided by Mrs. Marion Downs, soprano, followed by a showing of Monsieur Vincent, a motion picture produced in France which took the Academy

BELONGINGS TO BE REMOVED FROM HARVEY

Many students have been leaving their books, coats, and overshoes in the Harvey Memorial, according to a recent survey, and this results in the room sometimes having a disorderly appearance. The Harvey Memorial is set aside as a social room only, and personal belongings should not be stored there at any time. Clothing and books left there will need to be claimed in the Lost and Found department in the President's office.

BEVERLY BREHMER, ROSE OF SIGMA TAU

Everyone has seen Beverly Brehmer—better known as "Bev"—around school. Her flashing smile, that any model for a toothpaste ad would just love to have, brightens up any atmosphere (particularly that of the Union and Cafeteria where she works part-time as a means of putting herself through college). Bev says that she certainly enjoys her work in the Union, because she believes it is a wonderful way to meet people.

Bev Brehmer

Bev graduated from Washington high in Milwaukee, and entered Stout last year. She will graduate in 1952, and plans to teach Home Ec. Her pet ambition is to teach in Africa—but she doesn't think she'll ever fulfill that ambition.

Among other things, Bev likes to sew—in fact she makes most of her on clothes. She also likes to experiment with food and try new recipes. Her other interests include photography, swimming, and music. She is a member of the Symphonics and the PA's. She has one other main "like," but we won't discuss him.

Bev says the biggest thrill of her life was being chosen "The Rose of Sigma Tau," and she's really proud of the compact the Sig Tau's gave her as a gift; however, we're sure the Sig Tau's couldn't have chosen a nicer "Rose"—than Beverly Brehmer.

MONFRIED SAYS STOUT LIKE DARTMOUTH

In answer to a question from Dr. Stuart Anderson, assistant professor of education at Stout, as to why stress was placed on the loyalty of Stout graduates in an article "A New Day for Old Heidelberg," written for the Milwaukee Journal by Walter Monfried, the following reply was received from Mr. Monfried:

"Now that you mention it, I can't tell exactly why I chose Stout Institute as an example, except that I wanted something with a local or state angle, and a college that was not especially big—something in contrast to Yale, perhaps, which is eastern and elderly."

"Stout seems to me to be something like Daniel Webster's Dartmouth: 'It is a small college, sir, and yet there are those who love it.'"

PIRATES ARE COMING; NO NEED FOR ALARM

The pirates are coming! Don't be alarmed, it is only a movie which will be presented by the SSA, January 29 at 2:30 p.m. in the auditorium. The plot of the movie, The Pirates, is anybody's guess but is slated to be a good movie according to SSA officers. Students, faculty, and their friends are invited to attend.

The movies following this will be spaced two weeks apart. Look for the previews of the coming attractions in the Stoutonia.

The marriage of Miss Ila Jean Sautter, '48, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. George Sautter, DeForest, and Jose Preti, son of Mrs. Cristina Preti, New York City, took place December 20, at 7 p.m. at DeForest. The Rev. Oscar Stanke officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white velvet dress. Her only attendant, her sister, Mrs. B. V. Egge, Milwaukee, was gown in green velvet.

Mr. Egge served as Mr. Preti's best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Preti will reside in New York City.

LT. HERRING APPOINTED TO WOMEN'S MEDICAL CORPS

Announcement has been made by The Surgeon General of the Army of the appointment of 2nd Lt. Edith J. Herring, 1455 West Harding Way, Stockton, California, to the Dietitian Section, Women's Medical Specialist Corps.

Lt. Herring received her Bachelors Degree from The Stout Institute, Menomonee, Wisconsin, in 1943 and completed her Dietetic Internship at Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, Massachusetts, in 1947.

Currently Lt. Herring is attending the Basic Female Officers' Training Course conducted by the Medical Department of the Army at the Medical Field Service School, Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

STOUT ALUMNI FETED AT STYLER'S HOME

Mrs. Leo Styler, Allen Park, Mich., was hostess at the November meeting of Detroit women who attended Stout. Since her residence is about thirty-five miles from the October meeting place an entirely different representation was present. The guests included Helen Hooey Bartholomew, Anna-mae Feist Boysenger, Francis Mulry Bravold, Elaine Thomas Charlick (president), Nelda Damraw Curry, Borghild Eng Dahlgren, Helen Voltz Hofman, Jane Washburn Lewis, Emma Nazgovevitz Madden, Audrey Peterson Pollock, Josephine Erginer Silvius, Irene Christopherson Soberg, Betty Webb Styler, Helen Bitschenauer Warren, and Elvira West.

PAUL BILLIET TEACHES IN MARYLAND

Another 1949 graduate, Paul Billiet, writes that he is teaching auto mechanics at the Bladensburg Vocational Training Center, Bladensburg, Maryland.

He informs us that it is a new school with nine shops; electricity, wood, machine shop, drawing, hot metals, sheet metals, printing, radio, and auto shop.

Mr. Billiet states that Stout is well represented in the county with Warren Jackson at Bladensburg, Paul Kopp at Hyattsville, and Edgar Ross at Greenbelt.

FORMER STOUT GRAD TRAVELS TO GERMANY

Dr. William J. Micheels, associate professor of industrial education at the University of Minnesota and a 1932 graduate of The Stout Institute, has recently criticized America's re-education program for Germany in a report to the office of military government.

Returning to this country after spending three months overseas, Dr. Micheels tabbed America's re-education program for Germany as "characterized by confusion rather than orderliness," according to the Minneapolis Star. The education expert also offered suggestions for the improvement of the program.

Neglect of a very common principle of education, namely, one must take the learner from where he is and proceed from that point, was one of the failures pointed out by Dr. Micheels.

"In a real sense our entire mission here is one of education, yet there is not a professional educator among the top level advisors to the high commissioner," stated Dr. Micheels in the article.

Dr. William J. Micheels received his bachelors degree from The Stout Institute in 1932 and later became the fourth person to receive a masters degree in industrial education at the University of Minnesota.

VANCOUVER FINISHES VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

Louis Below, Stout graduate of '49, writes that the Vancouver Public Schools, Vancouver, Wash., have completed a new vocational school. He states that the new building has four large wings and a central administrative building. The printing department will be located in one-third of of the building. With this addition, there will be a chance to expand and include the silk screen process and a complete offset department along with their present courses in paper-making and bookbinding.

DUANE ANDERSONS VISIT STOUT RECENTLY; GRADS OF '40

Mr. and Mrs. Duane Anderson visited the Stout campus on January 3, 1950. Mr. Anderson, class of 1940, is a civilian instructor at Sheppard Field, Texas. Mrs. Anderson is the former Majesta Shearer. She also graduated in 1940.

SHALL WE INCREASE ALUMNI MEMBERSHIP DUES?

The cost of operating an organization has increased considerably during the past decade. All types of professional groups, businesses and industries have had to find ways of increasing their incomes in some way to cope with increased wages of clerical help, increased mailing costs and higher prices paid for office supplies.

The Stout Institute Alumni Association is no exception. A steady increase of operating costs without increasing our income is beginning to drain our reserve. The only way for an organization such as ours to enlarge the income appears to be by increasing membership dues.

The home office has received a number of suggestions from alumni to increase membership dues. It is suggested that we hear from the alumni in regard to the question of increasing dues so that when the issue comes before us at the annual meeting it will be known how the members view the issue. "Any comments or suggestions from you will be appreciated," says Herb Anderson, National Alumni Secretary.

MRS. O'DONNELL LOST ALUMNI WINS $1,000 IN FLOUR CONTEST

Mrs. Harry W. O'Donnell recently won $1,000 in the Pillsbury contest. Mrs. O'Donnell is a resident of Crandon and a former Stout graduate (class of 1930). She was one of the 100 winners selected from the 250,000 entries. There were only two winners from Wisconsin. The recipe which won $1,000 for Mrs. O'Donnell was a new way to make an old-fashioned cherry up-side-down cake. The unique feature of the recipe is that she uses the cherry juice and makes a thickening of it.

The 100 winners were three-day guests in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York. Other highlights of the trip were appearing on a national radio and television show, being a guest of the Fred Waring television show, going to a party given by Life magazine, and attending a luncheon where Art Linkletter and Arthur Godfrey were master of ceremonies. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt awarded the prizes to the winners at the luncheon.

Besides winning the $1,000, Mrs. O'Donnell also received the new electric range on which she cooked, plus a mixer, utensils and a stainless steel table. Her travel and hotel expenses were also paid by the Pillsbury corporation.

Besides being a housewife, and a busy mother with four children, Mrs. O'Donnell teaches Sunday school, is a member of the Eastern Star and a past president of the Crandon PTA. During the war she taught home economics in the Crandon high school for four years.

FLYING SHUTTLES LOOM IS HOBBY OF MRS. GIST

Former Dormitory Head
Now Teaching Weaving
In Missouri

Charlotte W. Gist, life member of the Stout Alumni association, writes from Warrenton, Mo.:

"In the last year and a half I have studied weaving in New England, North Carolina, and Milwaukee. I am now teaching it temporarily in an art center in St. Louis. I opened the Flying Shuttles Loom House in September of 1948 and it has proven a fascinating hobby. I teach small groups of women, some handicapped persons and have had a few girls of high school age last June.

"Many of the adult women are from southern Missouri and northern Arkansas. Some of them read and write with difficulty. A few come from homes where they still have spinning wheels and hand-made looms with perhaps an elderly relative who knows how to operate one or the other.

"One woman brought enough hand-spun, home-dyed yarn to weave material for a coat. It was a very attractive fabric. I exhibited it for a week-end in town and now many boys from the high school are ordering it for sport coats. We have had to turn down many orders. I cannot spin!

"Another woman wanted to learn to make a strong fabric for chair seats. We experimented with several types of fillers and found that by twisting from four to six strands of twisting from four to six strands of fast color carpet warp together we had a weft that would stand almost any kind of wear and could get some lovely color combinations. She writes me that she is opening a shop near Springfield and is quite busy.

"There have been quite a number of physically handicapped women among my prospective weavers and it is always a pleasure to learn that they are able to earn money with their weaving.

"For nearly a year after leaving Stout, I thought I would be crippled for as long as I'd live, but am recovering slowly and am very thankful.

"I'm sure there have been many changes since I was at Tainter hall and will enjoy reading about them in the Stoutonia.

"My best wishes to any one who may remember me and thank you in advance for sending my copy of the Stoutonia.

"Sincerely,
Charlotte W. Gist"

Mrs. Gist received her B.S. degree from Stout in 1945. In 1947 she was an instructor at Stout and also the house-mother at Tainter hall.

C. MORISETTE BECOMES LIFE ALUMNI MEMBER

Another name found in the list of members of the Stout Alumni association is that of Clifford W. Morisette. Mr. Morisette's education includes: Molder Apprentice at Allis Chalmers Manufacturing company from 1926 - 1930, student at Stout from 1930 - 1933. He received his Bachelor's degree in August, 1933. He attended Stout as a graduate student the summers from 1934-1939 and received his Master's degree in September, 1939.

As to teaching experience, he was appointed foundry instructor at the Milwaukee Vocational school in 1934. In 1936 he resigned to accept his present appointment as Assistant Professor of Industrial Engineering at the Pennsylvania State college.

Mr. Morisette states that what he considers one of the most significant milestones of his education was that he matriculated at Stout on the strength of a Certificate of Apprenticeship issued by the Industrial Commission of Wisconsin rather than a certificate of high school credits.

HOME EC. CLUB PLANS COOKIE, CANDY SALE

A cookie and candy sale will be sponsored by the Home Economics club on Thursday, January 26. The sale will be held in the corridor of both the Home Economics building and the Industrial Arts building so that "this tasty, quick energy will be more accessible to all students," according to Home Ec. club president Marvel Oelke.

The purpose of this sale is to raise sufficient funds to send two delegates to the Home Economics province meeting in Chicago which will be held in February. The delegates chosen are Dorothy Amendt and Beverly Brehmer.

BISHOP METHOD SAVES CLASS SEWING TIME

The women in the clothing problems class are having a unit of work in which they are learning to apply the Bishop method of clothing construction. For this, they have made dresses for small girls. The patterns used are all alike, but the colors and sizes may differ. The dresses are further individualized by means of smocking which is done by the students outside of the classroom.

Each girl has made two dresses. The first one was constructed as speedily as possible, and each person showed a marked improvement over her usual rate of sewing. The second dress showed still further improvement. Of those which have been completed, the time reductions have varied from one-fourth to almost one-half over the first garment.

The dresses have been made to fit some particular small friend or relative of each member in the class. The nine women in the class are Marvel Oelke, Verle Sneed, Rosella Transgrud, Lois Quist, Alice Mott, Jean Boerger, Mary Lou Groom, Janice Oebser, and Patricia Roen.

SKI MEET—

ber 15. Ski coach, Fred Lonsdorf, the only college ski coach in a mid-west college, is hoping that his men will win the meet because of their pre-season training.

The Duluth branch of the U of Minnesota is uncertain as to whether or not they will send a team. Other colleges, of the 30 invited to the Inter-collegiate combined ski meet, may register their teams on the day of the meet.

Registration for the skiers will be held in the college Union from 9 till 11 on Saturday, January 14, the day of the meet.

The jumping tournament will be held on the 35 meter jump in Wakanda park. The record on this jump is 92 feet and was made by Reider Andersen in 1939. The cross country trail has been laid out and will start and end at the club house in the park. The best time anticipated for the trail is about 35 minutes. The trail is made up of about four miles of varied terrain, about 1/3 up hill, 1/3 down hill, and 1/3 flat.

Three medals are being awarded to individuals totaling the most points in the jumping and the cross country race combined. The medals are gold, silver, and bronze for first, second, and third places respectively. A traveling trophy is presented to the winning team. Minnesota will be defending this trophy, which they won in the meet last year at Madison.

All college students and the general public are invited to see the meet, and watch some of the best of college skiers go through their paces. The club house in the park will be open during the meet and coffee, donuts, and hot dogs will be on hand. The ice near the bottom of the hill will be cleared for anyone wishing to skate. Arrangements have been made for transportation from Menomonee proper out to the park on the afternoon of the meet.

OFFICER AND NAVIGATOR

In this era of long range flights, the role of the navigator has become increasingly important.

The U. S. Air Force now offers new opportunities to young college men between the ages of 20 and 26½ who are single and can qualify for such training.

If you can meet the high physical and educational standards (at least two years of college), and are selected, you can be among the first to attend the new one-year navigator training course at Ellington Air Force Base near Houston, Texas.

A new class begins each month!

You'll be an Aviation Cadet! And, you'll receive the best available training—including 184 hours in the new T-29 "Flying Classroom."

Then, graduation! You'll win your wings as a navigator . . . and a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the Air Force. After a 30-day leave with pay, you'll be ready for challenging assignments as navigator with one of the famous commands in the U. S. Air Force. Your office will be the "front office" of mighty bombers or long-range transports!

Be among the first to win your wings as a U. S. Air Force navigator under the new navigator training program—be a key man on the Air Force team!

Air Force officer procurement teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Watch for their arrival—or get full details at your nearest Air Force Base, U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S. Air Force, Attention: Aviation Cadet Branch, Washington 25, D. C.

Other Flying, Non-Flying Careers
Aviation Cadet pilot training is also available to young men between the ages of 20 and 26 1/2. See about the many nonflying assignments, too! FIRST AID INSTRUCTORS COURSE TO BE GIVEN

"Join the Red Cross First Aid class," is the reminder to all Stout students of the offering the Red Cross is making to students who are interested in learning First Aid. This is to work for an ultimate goal of becoming a certified Red Cross First Aid instructor, according to coach R. C. Johnson.

For qualified students who already hold a Standard First Aid Certificate, an advanced course will be offered commencing immediately after the start of the second semester. Upon the successful completion of the twelve hour advance course, students who are interested may take a fifteen hour instructor's course which will be offered by a Red Cross national field representative between April 24 and May 5 on alternate dates. With the successful completion of the instructor's course the student will become a certified American Red Cross First Aid instructor.

The advance first aid course will be instructed by Herb Watanabe, certified Red Cross First Aid instructor. The date and time of the class meeting will be decided upon at the first class session. Students who are interested in the course may sign up on appropriate blanks that are posted on bulletin boards around the campus.

Here, once again are the qualifications and general information. To obtain an instructor's certificate, you must have both standard and advanced first aid certificates. Advance training will be offered, beginning immediately after the start of the second semester. Date and time of the advance course meetings will be decided upon at the first class session called by the instructor. Students completing advance course may work on the fifteen hour instructor's course which will be instructed by a National Red Cross field representative and upon the successful completion of this course, the student becomes a certified Red Cross First Aid instructor.

WHITEWATER FACES STOUT JANUARY 14

1949 Cellar Dwellers Have Rangy Team With Many Newcomers

Saturday, January 14, the Quakers from Whitewater Teachers college migrate to the Company A Armory to furnish Stout competition in the Blue Devils second game in two nights.

The Quakers are expected to be a stronger club than last year's cellar dwellers who gave Stout a battle royal before succumbing to a 60 to 59 score.

Coach Ray Krzoska will field a rangy team with three of the starting five topping the six foot four inch mark. These giants are Bob Polzin at forward, Wes Herbst at center, and Bob Hahn at guard. The remainder of the first team contains Dick Noonan, 5 ft. 10" forward from Milwaukee, and team midget, from Mill Schlatter, from Racine.

Of this aggregation only Schlatter is a letterman, the tall newcomers beating out last year's veterans for starting positions.

INTRAMURAL BOWLING STARTS

The bowling alleys at the union are busting with activity now that intramural bowling has begun. Bob Young, director of the intramural, states that twelve teams are competing this year. A schedule has been arranged which allows each team eleven matches. This enables each group to compete with all the remaining teams in the league. This year teams will be scored on a point system, allowing points for the highest total of pins in a match, in addition to the point awarded for games won.

Competing teams are Keglers, Loiters, Lynwood Hall, (two teams) Alpha Phi Omega, Sigma, FOB's, Pinsters, Fair Oaks, "S" Club, Sigma Tau Gamma, and the KFS.

Intramural bowling is four nights a week and is expected to continue throughout the coming quarter. Anyone interested in setting pins is requested to contact Fred Wenthorf or Bob Young.

INTRAMURALS BEING PLAYED IN GYM

The gymnasium is once more the center of attraction as intramural basketball started last Monday evening, January 9, entertaining eighteen teams with nine teams to each league, the American and National.

Approximately 220 male students are participating in intramural basketball which will run for two months with a break between January 12 and January 25 because of final exams.

At the close of the season, an all-school championship game will be played with medals given to each player of the championship team by the athletic department. The game will be between the winner of the American league and the winner of the National league.

Coach Storti feels that the intramural program is running because of the enthusiasm of the students and because the past volley ball season has been a grand success.

The teams and team numbers in each league are as follows:

- American
1. Sig Tau No. 2
 2. The Fireballs
 3. Kigbies
 4. FOB No. 1
 5. Sigma
 6. Hotshots
 7. Sleepyheads
 8. Mule Train
 9. The Knutneaks
- National
1. FOB No. 2
 2. Master Painter's
 3. Ky Paz Znash
 4. Lynwood Bucket Brigade
 5. Sig Tau No. 1
 6. KFS
 7. Copenhagen Kids

SKI CLUB TAKES TRIP TO TELEMARCK

This last week end was another big one for the Stout Ski club. Eight fellows of the club went up to Telemark last Sunday for a very enjoyable day. The snow was in good condition and a good work out was had by all of the fellows. After this trip, and the good reports that come from it, the Ski club is getting set to make the most of the Telemark ski area.

COVEY'S CORNER

This weekend the sports fans around school can forget their school worries momentarily and enjoy a weekend filled with sports.

Tonight the basketball squad plays Milwaukee teachers, tomorrow afternoon the collegiate ski meet will be held at Wakanda park, and tomorrow night we welcome the Quakers from Whitewater.

The team ran into a high-riding River Falls team last Saturday. Nate DeLong with 30 points had the local team stumped. Benson was held to 3 points and he got most of these in the latter part of the game.

Pollock with 16 points, Stai with 10, and Nylund with 7 points, were the big 3 on the Stout score boards.

The scoring column I tried to start a few weeks back hasn't been printed for so long that I lost track of individual scoring. Guess I will have to get Jim Brown to do some adding for me some weekend so the fans know how their favorite player is coming.

Tonight the team plays Milwaukee. I don't believe any Milwaukee football or basketball team has played here for quite some time.

Tomorrow the team plays Whitewater, it was the victory over Whitewater that sent the football team on its string of victories, maybe history will be repeated and help the basketball team along.

SKIING
Tomorrow afternoon at 1:00 the boys start going off the jump at Wakanda.

I always wondered where the jumpers got the nerve to go off those things.

This event has come due to large effort on the Ski club's part combined with the fact that it will be the only event of its kind coming to Stout for four years; I would think every sports lover would get out to Wakanda if they had to beg, borrow, or steal a ride.

Probable outstanding skiers at the meet will be a Norwegian exchange students at the U. of Minn and Kaare Engebo who won the Central cross country race at Milwaukee in 1948. This year Engebo placed first in cross country, and first in combined at Madison. In 1947 he also placed second in the National combined meet at Duluth.

I think the Norwegians can ski before they can walk.

Over instructors' protests I would recommend all students to forget their worries of the closing semester and take in all the sports events of the coming weekend.

PLACEMENTS ANNOUNCED BY REGISTRAR

Miss G. M. O'Brien Reports
Usual Number of Midyear
Calls for Graduates

According to Miss Gertrude M. O'Brien, college registrar, the graduates listed below have accepted positions as indicated:

Robert Bachman, Milwaukee; Robert Crowley, St. Paul; John Hansen, LaCrosse (Sept.); Arlene Hark, Sun Prairie; Mrs. Eleanor Howard, Holcombe; Ardelle Lietzke, home extension agent; Robert Lynch, Green Bay; Ellen McGarty, Anchor hospital, St. Paul.

James Payne, LaCrosse (Sept.); Lois Quist, Edgerton, Minn.; Eileen Riley, Trempealeau; Richard Roepke, Milwaukee; John Ziegler, Moberg, S. D.; Doris Zimmermann, Hartland; George Norton, Council Bluffs, Iowa; Alvin Schmidt, Flint, Mich.; Carol Lindgren, Gilmanton; Walter Vernon, Vocational School, Kaukauna, Wis.; and Merlin Moore, Washburn.

This list brings up-to-date the mid-year placements to January 25. No doubt, says Miss O'Brien, there will be additional placements reported in the near future.

Stout Institute received the usual number of midyear calls, the registrar reports, and indications are that there will be a strong demand for home economics and industrial education teachers for next year.

That superintendents are already looking for teachers for next year is evidenced by the fact that several of this year's graduates have accepted positions for next year.

Visiting the placement office on January 25 in search of teachers were Mr. V. E. Klontz, superintendent of schools at Janesville, and Mr. R. A. Klaus, superintendent of schools at Edgerton.

BILLIARD CHAMP TO SHOW SKILL TO STOUTITES

Charles C. Peterson, the world's fancy shot billiard champion, will give an exhibition of his cue skill, January 8, here at Stout in the men's club room.

Peterson will devote his show to a demonstration of billiard fundamentals, designed to show the beginner how to approach the game; open his bag of "impossible" shows and perform the favorite shots of such champions as Willie Hoppe, Jake Schaefer Jr., Welker Cochran and others.

Mr. Peterson

Pete is appearing before American colleges, boy's clubs and other groups as a billiard missionary, under the auspices of the Billiard Congress of America and the Association of College Unions.

He is perhaps, one of the most amazing billiard players of all time, devoting his life to fancy shots that make the spectator say "impossible," even after he has seen the shot with his own eyes.

Peterson is enthusiastic about his appearance before men and women in the college group, since he believes billiards is a game of relaxation after the concentration of the classroom, and he is confident that new stars in the sport will emerge from college students who learn the game while in school.

SIGURD RASCHER PLAYS IN ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

If anyone has set the concert world agog, that job has been done by Sigurd Rascher, Scandinavian concert artist who appeared at the all-school convocation on Wednesday, January 25.

The hair rising feature of Mr. Rascher's career seems to be the fact that he does not sing, or play the piano, or the violin, or any of the other respectable instruments. He plays, of all things, the saxophone, an instrument which, thanks to Mr. Rascher, is beginning to lose its mongrel reputation and to be regarded as a respectable breed in its own right.

A capacity audience, restless and very annoying, would have heard, if they had been paying attention, the versatility of the saxophone as Mr. Rascher played it. After each of his concert performances, extravagant words of amazement and praise have been heard from the critics.

APPOINTMENTS TO FACULTY LISTED

Appointment of Miss Ella Jane Meiller as associate professor and head of the department of food and nutrition, and Mrs. Philip Ruehl as teacher of physical education for women has been announced by President Verne C. Fryklund.

Miss Meiller, holder of the bachelor of science from Kansas State college, and a Master's degree from the University of Wisconsin, comes to Stout from the University of Chicago Clinics, where she was head of the outpatient nutrition service.

Previous positions which she has held include a dietetic internship at Johns Hopkins hospital, a therapeutic dietitian post at Halstead Kansas hospital, and membership in the department of food and nutrition at Kansas State college. She is a member of Phi Kappa Phi and Omicron Nu.

Mrs. Ruehl holds a bachelor of science in physical education from La Crosse State college. She has taught physical education in the Eau Claire public school system.

Miss Meiller joins the Stout faculty as a replacement for Miss Mary Margaret Shaw, who has resigned, and Mrs. Ruehl takes the place of Mrs. Donald Fahrman, who has left the staff because of illness.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES MEET IN MILWAUKEE

Action on faculty tenure and retirement, faculty resignations and appointments, and purchase of an organ for the college auditorium highlighted a meeting of The Stout Institute Board of Trustees in Milwaukee, January 16.

Members of the Board approved a proposal calling for Stout faculty tenure after a probationary period of three years. Compulsory retirement for teachers, deans, and president who attain the age of sixty-five was also approved by the Trustees, with reappointment possible until the age of 70. The proposal will next be submitted to the State Legislature.

Resignations of Miss Mary Margaret Shaw, head of the Food and Nutrition department, and Mrs. Donald Fahrman, assistant instructor in Physical Education, were accepted by the Board. Appointment of Miss Ella Jane Meiller to replace Miss Shaw and Mrs. Philip Ruehl to take the place of Mrs. Fahrman was also confirmed.

Purchase of a Baldwin organ for The Stout Institute auditorium was approved by the Trustees. The instrument has been installed in the auditorium and is now ready for use at college functions.

888 STUDENTS ENROLL FOR SECOND SEMESTER

Enrollment at The Stout Institute for second semester classes totals 888, announces Miss Gertrude M. O'Brien, college registrar. This is two more students than were registered last year at this time.

Of the total, 582 are men and 306 are women. One woman and forty men are doing full-time graduate work.

NO PROGRAM CHANGES AFTER SECOND WEEK

Program changes are not permitted after the second week. If you wish to change your program within the next few days, see the Dean of your division. Bring the permit to the Registrar's office. This procedure must be followed if you wish to drop a course during the semester. Otherwise, a FAILURE will be recorded.

NSA VICE-PRESIDENT IS ASSEMBLY SPEAKER

Richard Medalie, vice president of the National Student Association will speak at the student assembly, Wednesday February 1. This speech should be of interest to every student and your attendance is requested.

"TITO'S PEOPLE" TOPIC OF TALK BY GRIM

"I Saw Tito's People" is the dramatic, on-the-spot subject of the talk to be given by George Grim, Minneapolis Tribune columnist, WCCO commentator, and frequent visitor to the world's trouble spots. The newsman will appear at the Stout Auditorium, in Menomonie, on Wednesday, February 1, at 8:00 p.m. His appearance is sponsored by the American Association of University Women.

The sudden break between Tito and Stalin opened a hole in the iron curtain through which Grim was able to pass. He was able to watch a communist land at work, its propaganda machine, its government officials, its people.

What he saw forms the basis of his dramatic, first person talk to be given in Menomonie.

"I'm eager to tell our Upper Midwest neighbors about what happens when a communist regime takes over," said Grim. "It may frighten them, but it will help clarify their ideas and their faith in American democracy."

Grim was able to visit farms, factories, schools . . . to go about Belgrade alone . . . and to step behind the scenes for some glimpses of what was happening to the people of Yugoslavia. He also will report on the correspondence that led to the break between Tito and Stalin.

"Yugoslavia may well be the key to the future of all of us," says Grim.

On a lecture schedule, limited by his intensive radio and newspaper schedule, George Grim's talk in Menomonie will form an opportunity for person-to-person reporting. He will answer questions at the conclusion of the talk.

Tickets may be obtained from any AAUW member or at the Menomonie stores usually handling such tickets.

TELEVISION SET FOR OUR UNION? COLLECT COFFEE STICKERS

Loyal Stoutites,

Have you ever wondered if the Stout Student Union would own a television set? Would you believe it if I told you that television can become a permanent fixture in the union by spring? Well, I too have often wondered if I would be able to relax in the union and watch the major football games, see the top college and professional basketball contests, or see the many other current happenings as they occur.

This all may seem like a dream, but it is more of a reality than you may think. With a little cooperation from every student at Stout, it is even more of a reality. All you have to do is urge your friends and relatives to buy Flame Room coffee. Simple, isn't it?

You see, the McGarvey Coffee company, makers of Flame Room coffee, will give the student union a free television set if we can collect 10,000 of the red scotch tape stickers that are found on each can of Flame Room coffee. Wait a second, don't stop reading yet, 10,000 isn't as much as you think. Actually it is only slightly more than ten stickers per student. Not only that, several of the local restaurant owners are going to be helping, also. They use as much as 100 pounds of coffee each week and, combined with the stickers you and your friends turn in, our goal can be reached by spring.

Now this video set is not a second rate affair. It is a genuine 12 inch screen Philco floor model with radio and phonograph combined. A library of 300 hours of long-playing records accompanies the set and the installation of the antenna and leads are included. It is not only a good deal, it is the opportunity of our college days.

So far, plans for this drive have been made by a committee of interested students who have contacted most of the grocers in Menomonie. They have agreed to collect stickers, but stickers may also be turned in at the SSA office or mailed to the McGarvey Coffee Co., 601 North Fourth street, Minneapolis, Minn. If you mail in your scotch tape vote, be sure and indicate that it should be credited to the Stout Student Union drive.

Since this offer has been sponsored, many colleges and organizations in Minnesota have won television sets. One of the more recent college winners was Gustavus Adolphus college, St. Peter, Minn. This school has only 600 students and yet they earned their set in six short weeks. However, the Stout committee is a little more pessimistic and has set the dead line at April 15.

Between now and April, everyone of us must become Flame Room coffee salesmen. Whenever a group of "Norskies" get together, make certain they drink Flame Room. Naturally all married students and faculty will be expected to have Flame Room on the cupboard shelf. If your sorority, fraternity, church organization, or other group meets, make certain they have a "teatotaling" good time with Flame Room. In other words, whenever you drink coffee, make certain it's

SSA TO PRESENT MOVIE THIS SUNDAY

"The Dancing Pirate" will be shown at the Stout auditorium, Sunday, January 29, at 2:30 p.m.

The SSA office is making this movie possible for Stout students, faculty and their friends. As SSA Vice-president John Poellinger says, "This entertainment is a relaxing Sunday afternoon must."

The SSA officers are planning to present another movie in the near future and warn the students to be on the lookout for coming attractions in the Stoutonia.

SSA MESSAGE

As we start a new semester we tell ourselves that it will be the best semester ever. We tell ourselves that we will hit the books, that we will participate in extra-curricular activities, and that in general, we will have a good time.

It is up to us to keep our promises in order that this will be a truly successful semester.

There are many activities scheduled for the next four months. The first one that should concern us is the new television set for the union. This plan needs the co-operation of every student.

The next activity will be the community chest program. As in the past two years the responsibilities for the program will be left up to the classes. The details concerning this drive will be explained in a student assembly.

The third big activity is an all-school carnival. The proceeds are for a worthy cause. Everyone is asked to co-operate in making the carnival a success. Watch for further information in regards to this.

Beside these big events there are social activities planned for every weekend. This Saturday, after the Eau Claire game, Sig Tau is sponsoring a dance. Everyone is invited and a good time is guaranteed. On Sunday there will be a free movie in the auditorium.

Let's start the new semester with a bang. Those of us who have tickets can take in the basketball game; all of us can take in the dance; and, on Sunday, all of us can take in the movie.

Sincerely,
The SSA Officers
John Poellinger, V.P.

AUDIO-VISUAL GROUP BUYS SEVERAL FILMS

The recently formed Audio-Visual committee has purchased the first five films for the film library.

The films, McGraw-Hill Teacher Education series, include: Broader Concepts of Methods I (covering the diagnostic phase) and II (covering the remedial phase), Maintaining Classroom Discipline, and Learning to Understand Children I and II (again covering both the diagnostic and remedial phases).

The Audio-Visual committee which is made up of six faculty members—David Barnard, chairman, John Jarvis, secretary, Lillian Froggatt, Ernest Rawson, Ann Noble, and Marjory E'dliott—has decided to combine a record library with the film library. Both the film library and the record library are temporarily housed in the reference library until the construction of the new library, when the committee hopes ample room will be provided for both of these.

Welcome back, you lucky people,

Ah, it sure feels good to start school without a worry or a trouble. Is everyone glad to be back? That's good. Well, we got through the first semester all right, so this one should be a snap.

What happened this week-end? From the looks of the campus, I'd say everyone went home. Well, almost everyone. Those who went home don't know what they missed. How about it?

There sure were a lot of parties during the week-end. The party of all parties, though, was the one given by Lee Flanders and Chuck Jorgensen. They had plenty of reasons for a celebration too. The main one was a "B" in physics.

Did you know that Dorothy Groethe is in the movies? Yes, she has the leading role in "The Stout Institute Movie." Who knows, Hollywood might be in her future.

Rumors have it that Bob Becker is having a rough time with Connie Anderson. Connie spent the long week-end in Hudson while Bob stayed here in Menomonie. Did you go to see your old flame, I mean friend, Connie? Could it be that the spark is still there???

I've been wondering why Mary Ashmun hasn't been dating. It seems that she has a very strong romance at home. Well anyway, she went home after exams to see her man.

Fred Wentorf and Vaughn Stai are walking around with long faces. It seems that they don't appreciate the hair cuts their girlfriends got. Ruth Ann Christensen and Gerry Erickson trimmed each other's hair. It's a good thing that Sadie Hawkins week isn't too far off. Add to that Joe Miglio, whose girlfriend Ann Rossmiller also sports short locks now.

Jean Pengilly, Donna Heike, Karl Windberg, and Russ Gerber were having a good time Friday night in Eau Claire.

Dorothy Widell was sure cutting the rug over the week-end. She and Dale Sievert make a pretty good jitterbug couple.

Bernice Danzinger moved into the Home Management building Monday, and who do you think helped her move? It was none other than Don Sargent. Are we back together again? Hmmm.

Just got word of a new romance. It's developing pretty fast too. Clarice Zarling is getting married. The date as yet is not set, but it will take place about six or eight weeks from now. The lucky fellow is Lee Flanders (I think). The MAP's are putting on a play entitled, "Double Door." In this play Clarice and Lee are to be married.

Dick Johnson was all smiles Sunday night. Mary McHatten and he were at the movie. I don't know if his smiles were because of Mary, the movie, or because he received an "A" in chemistry. At any rate they all seem like good reasons for smiles. How about it, Dick??

John Yount and wife Beth, Fred Wentorf and Gerry Erickson, Arnie Potthast and Nancy Glenn, and Steve Grudichak were all out Friday night. And what a night it turned out to be. What were we celebrating?

Don Landsverk must still be going with Kathryn Chambers (the girl from Juda, Wis.). He hasn't been dating any girls here at school for some time. How serious is it, Don???

Carol LaBorde will be happy this week-end. Bill Ballentine is coming home (he is a Menomonie boy and former Stout student) from the U of Wisconsin. Carol and Bill are engaged. Will we be making any plans for the future???

Glen Sommers is another one of those fellows who went home to see their girls. I think that those fellows would save a lot of time traveling if they just got married.

Could it be that we have a new couple around the campus? Ann Banker and Bill Owen have been seen together. Would someone please confirm this bit of information?

This has been a rough week-end as far as information goes. Why don't you people make it a little easier for me to get this information? At this rate I'll have gray hair in no time.

Now that everyone is back in school maybe I'll be able to pick up something to give this column some life.

Here's wishing you the best of luck in the coming semester. I hope your classes are as easy as ours.

See you next week,
Key and Hole

CAMPUS MANNERS

Poor manners have very little place in college. It has been noted the Stout students have had to be reminded of their manners in the library, halls, and classrooms.

Reference books in the library may be in great demand, but first come, first serve is the policy—breathing on the neck of the person using the book is quite out of order. Instructors, whether in the halls or in their classrooms, may be busy even though classes are not in session. Crowding into a conversation or standing conspicuously by with a "large" ear listening to the business of someone else is most irritating to the parties concerned.

While a student waiting to keep an appointment with an instructor who is busy with other students, barging into the teacher's office is certainly ill mannered for college people, or anyone, for that matter.

Are you guilty of breach of good manners? What are we, as students, going to do about this trend in our school? A little forethought will save much embarrassment and ill feeling.

COOS BY WALLY PIGEON

Dear Readers,

I made it
I happened to receive the following: One student who had received a zero in his exams was telling his instructor, "I don't believe that I deserve a zero."

Instructor: "I know that you don't deserve a zero, but that's the lowest mark I can give!"

As I went through the lines on Monday afternoon, I saw some new faces around school and I want to say to these people, "Welcome to Stout." May you enjoy yourself at Stout and may you become successful at your studies. This also pertains to all students for the second semester.

All right fellow students let's bear down this coming semester and may our efforts be recognized.

Here's one that I want to dedicate to a friend, because this person told it to me. It seems that a fellow and girl were driving around one night, and the girl asked the fellow the following question, "Say, can you drive with one hand?"

The fellow got excited by the question so he answered, "Sure, I can, you want to see?"
"You bet I do, because your nose is dripping," said the sweet young thing.

According to very accurate survey by many inexperienced or beginning ice skaters, it is definitely stated that the hardest part about skating on ice is the ice!

One man knows this much about the female sex, which at times is the hardest subject to understand, that the old-fashioned girl used to blush when she was ashamed, but she now has a granddaughter that is ashamed when she blushes.

The scene is in the dentist's office, the dentist is speaking.
Dentist: "Little boy, what kind of filling do you want?"
Little boy: "Chocolate."

A foreman was at a point where he couldn't stand the new worker and his sloppy habits so one day he said to the man: "You told me how good you were when I hired you a week ago; now please tell me all over again. I'm getting all discouraged."

Fellows, beware of the compliments that you give your date when you are with one; because one fellow "once" said to his date that her hair was like silk—corn silk.

Since this is the season for it, here is one about it. Saint Peter met a new arrival so he questioned the candidate.

Saint Peter: "How did you get here?"

New Candidate: "Flu."

I read somewhere a woman columnist proudly pointed out that there are 30 per cent more men in mental hospitals than women. Sure, but who put them there?

Two Home Ec girls were working together in the kitchen when one of them accidentally knocked the other's cook book off the table. The victim immediately flared up:

"Just look what you've done. You've lost my place and I haven't the slightest idea what I was cooking."

The crowd watched a woman lion tamer as she got her beasts under perfect control. At her command the fiercest lion came up to her meekly and took a piece of sugar out of her mouth. The crowd cheered—all except one man.

He yelled out: "Anybody could do that."

The ringmaster asked scornfully, "Would you dare to do it?"

"Certainly," answered the man in the audience. "I can do it just as well as the lion can."

I am dedicating the following to someone I know: They claim that Grandma had her trials and tribulations, but she never faced the problem of getting the lipstick off the stem of her corn cob pipe.

Fellows, here is an answer to the biggest problem of yours; if you wonder where all those crazy hats that many women wear come from, well, many of the girls claim that when they are down in the dumps they buy a new hat—that's the answer.

"That's the guy I'm laying for" was hatched by a hen when she pointed out her farmer-owner as he walked by.

A reminder to fellow students: Abraham Lincoln did not become great because he was born in a log cabin, but because he got out of it.

THE TIME IS NOW

What is being done to further the interest of our college? How can we stimulate students to attend Stout? In an open letter, the scholarship committee of the Stout Alumni association explains its program to encourage promising students to come here and what you, in Stout or working in the field, may do to assist.

The Stout Institute Alumni association is offering annually two scholarships to freshman students (one girl and one boy) entering as graduates from any accredited high school.

The application blanks are ready, so the students should get them from their teachers in Home Economics or Industrial Arts or the chairman of the scholarship committee: Miss Belle G. Soukup, 42 North 8th Ave., Sturgeon Bay, Wis. The application blanks and all credentials are to be mailed to the chairman by April first.

Each scholarship consists of sixty dollars ($60.00 cash) which may be applied on fees or extra-curricular activities. This amount is to be paid upon enrollment. Any out-of-state student in addition will be allowed the tuition exemption.

We hope that this is only the start in awarding scholarships. As the funds of The Stout Alumni association increase, the size of the scholarship may be increased or more scholarships offered.

We will be very happy to give you any further information.

Sincerely yours,
The Scholarship Committee

FROSH CLASS HOLDS "WINTER WONDERLAND"

A small but enthusiastic crowd enjoyed the first freshman class all-school dance last Saturday, January 21. The dance, "Winter Wonderland," was held after the basketball game with the Oskey North Stars, and music was supplied by George Soderberg and his Royal Blackhaws. They played many numbers in keeping with the theme of the dance, and it was evident that all those who attended had a good time.

Work for the dance was done by a comparatively small number of people, and the greatest turnout was for the decoration of the gym. Charimen for the committees were: decorations, Nadine Brown; refreshments, Donna McDonough; publicity, Jim Tomita and Nadine Brown; and cleanup, Paul Rauth and Jim Brown.

Chaperones were Doctor Salyer, Miss Diefenbach, and Dean Antrim.

HOME EC CLASSES HEAR MISS DORA RUDE

Miss Dora Rude, state supervisor of city vocational home economics, talked to several home economics classes at The Stout Institute on Monday and Tuesday, January 9 and 10.

"Interpreting a Home Economics Department" was Miss Rude's topic in Miss Ann Noble's administration class. Course development students heard about "Curriculum Changes." The state supervisor also talked to Miss Marjory Elliott's vocational classes and to the freshman in Dean Kirk's personal development class. "Teaching as a Profession" was discussed in the latter.

Miss Rude usually comes to The Stout Institute campus to confer with faculty members on any problems she or her department may have.

DESIGN CLASS MOLDS FIGURES FROM CLAY

Members of the Advanced Design class, under the supervision of Miss Martha Amon, are now busy working with clay.

The students are each forming two objects. One is a flat plate, saucer, or ash tray; the other is a playful figure.

Carl Lindgren has completed an unusual version of a polar bear, rather abstract in design. Phyllis Bartosic displayed her artistic skill in her creation of the human figure. Also ready to be fired in the kiln is a dresden figurine formed by Barbara Pech. Other students in the class are making varied clay figures, plates, and vases.

Other activities of the Advanced Design class during this semester have been metal work, stenciling, batik, tie and dye, and screen painting. The main purpose of this course is to create designs suitable to the intended use.

MAGICIAN HIGHLIGHTS NEWMAN BRUNCH

A magic show, a business meeting and a brunch highlighted the meeting of the Newman club, Sunday January 17, after the 10 o'clock Mass at the St. Joseph's school auditorium.

The program of magic by L. K. Hight of Boyceville, Wisconsin, was presented after the brunch to the Newmanites. Some of the tricks included changing a cane into a silk scarf, pouring milk into a hat, disappearing block, and several others.

Highlighting the business meeting was the planning and accepting of the club's invitation to the River Falls Newman club, Sunday, February 5, for a group gathering of entertainment. The transportation to River Falls will be furnished by members of the Stout Newman club.

A brunch of grapefruit halves, creamed chipped beef on baking powder biscuits, doughnuts, coffee, and nuts was served by the men members. Those on the food committee were John Poellinger, chairman; assisted by Pete Schellinger, Herb Meisner, Clancy Urankar, Bob Braun, Steve Grudichak, and Bob Manson. Pete Jeatran was chief assistant to John.

Following the meal, the clean-up committee which was selected were the girls who wore green and their escorts. The selected group included Florence Pleszczynski, Dan Foltman, Beatrice Sagstetter, Paul Axelsen, Alice Billiet, and Bernice Danzinger.

USED-TO-BE-PLUMP GIRLS NOW DIET

Have you upperclassmen noticed the change in many of the Tainter hall and Annex girls? Have you noticed how slim and well-proportioned many of the used-to-be-plump girls are becoming? What has caused this amazing change? The answer to that question lies in these reasons: a firm resolution, resistance to temptation, hard work, and the dorm "diet tables."

Many of the hefty girls told Mrs. Nelson that they would like a table where rich desserts, whipped cream, gravies, salad dressings, white bread, and other fattening foods would be eliminated from the menu. The idea took hold fast, and now three tables have been set up for these girls. Sometimes it is pretty tough for these girls to see the non-dieters eating prune whip and apple pie when they are eating prunes and apples, but they all agree that the reward at the end of their sacrifice will be worth all their sufferings.

A typical dinner for the dieters is as follows: baked ham, sweet potatoes, spinach, gelatin salad, rye bread, lemon sherbert, and black coffee.

IE AND TRADES BUILDING HAVE FACE LIFTING

Paint and New Window Shades Make Rooms More Pleasant

Many of the rooms in the IE building and the Trades building are having their faces lifted. The beauty preparations that are being used are paint and new window shades. Mr. R. M. Roen, building superintendent, says that all of the rooms in the IE building are to be redecorated, and also some in the Trades and HE Building. As of now, the rooms that have been painted are Dean Bowman's office, Dean Price's office, Mr. Wigen and Mr. Brown's office, also rooms 22, 25, 26, 32, 33, and room 102 in the Trades building.

All of the color schemes being used have been planned here at school. The main purpose behind this color technique is to make the walls and ceilings of the rooms easier on the eyes. All rooms that are exposed to the south are being painted with greens and grays. Those rooms on the north side of the building are being painted with warmer colors such as pink, with a light ceiling. Rooms with good color combinations always lend a pleasant atmosphere, even though it is an eight o'clock morning class or night school.

Painting the IE building creates a problem which does not exist in a home or other type of building. The painting can be done only when students are not in the class rooms, and the only time this happens is during vacation periods. Even the summer months are of little help because of the large enrollment of summer school students. That is the reason why the face lifting is not being completed at once.

Many students have been peering into the electricity room on the third floor of the IE building and have been commenting very favorably on the remodeling job that is still in progress.

During Christmas vacation, floor joists were repaired in the sheet metal shop. Some of them had weakened under the constant strain of the weight of the equipment in the shop.

Board can continue the employment of specially qualified teachers in good health on a year-to-year basis.

There will be an annual appraisal of teachers and presidential recommendations for reappointment, but there can be no reappointment beyond the last day of the semester following the date on which the teacher attains the age of 70.

Students on faculty tenure and retirement leading to the proposals submitted to the Trustees were largely the work of the Stout chapter of the American Association of University Professors. Faculty members then voted to accept the recommendations and President Fryklund cooperated in bringing the proposal before the Board of Trustees.

STOUT CAGERS SPLIT IN CONFERENCE WINS

Win Over Whitewater STC; Lose To Milwaukee STC
And Semi-Pro Oskey Team

Stout Institute cagers lost their second conference game to a tall and fast-passing Milwaukee STC team 70 to 59, and then sprang back to win a 71 to 52 decision from Whitewater STC in conference game. They then dropped a 57 to 54 contest to the semi-pro North Star Oskey Bros. team of Minneapolis.

Milwaukee Wins

Stout center Erickson dumped in the first basket of the game to shove Stout into a two point lead, but Milwaukee soon connected and moved into a 24 to 16 lead midway in the first half and continued on to lead 33 to 21 at intermission.

The second half was much the same story. Although the Blue Devils matched the invaders point for point, they couldn't make up the first half deficit. Milwaukee turned red hot in opening minutes of the second half and at one time held an 18 point lead, 43 to 25.

Erickson and Kieffer played good defensive ball for Stout, nabbing rebounds and intercepting passes. However, height played an important role off the back boards and the three big boys from Milwaukee scored consistently on rebounds and tip-ins.

Vaughn Stai, who failed to make a point during the eight minutes he played in the first half, found the range for 17 makers in the second canto, which was high for Stout. Pollock followed closely with 16 points, getting eight in each half. Kieffer, the boy who played an exceptional defensive game, scored five baskets for ten points. Bolz paced Milwaukee with 18 counters.

Whitewater Game

The Blue Devils ran away with Whitewater here at the armory with Stai, Kieffer, Nylund, and Pollock running up a quick 27 to 14 lead in the first eight minutes of the opening half.

Coach Johnson substituted freely, attempting all combinations, while Whitewater narrowed the margin to ten points at halftime. Stout recovered the lost points during the opening minutes of the final half and poured on a few in addition. Substitutes from both benches played the remaining part of the contest.

Kieffer played another good defensive ballgame and did equally as well on offense, pouring in 12 points. Stai, however, was hot under the basket and pumped in 21 points for scoring honors.

Oskey Game

The semi-pro Oskey North Stars nipped the Blue Devils 57 to 54 Saturday night at the armory, but had to go all out to do it. The local cagers gave a galaxy of college stars one of their better games of the season, led by the usually high scoring Red Mattison, who fouled out with no points.

The game revolved around the center position with Vaughn Stai pumping in 25 counters, while holding two opposing centers to a total of nine points.

Stai was high scorer with 25 followed by Nylund with 13 markers for Stout, while Mauer with 19 points paced the pros.

SKI CLUB SPONSORS SKI MFET AND DANCE

After running a successful meet the Stout Ski club put on a record hop which was enjoyed by the many who attended. The Novelaires sang at intermission. Their renditions of old and new songs were enjoyed by all of those present. They topped off their songs with a novel number called "Heap Big Smoke, But No Fire." The drawing for the sweater was made and Art Piner was the lucky fellow.

COVEY'S CORNER

Three home games have gone by since the last edition of the paper came out and we find the Bluedevils with a one win, two loss record.

Despite the losses, the team's personnel keeps improving with experience on their playing. If the team plays basketball the second semester as good as they have the last two years they will still be able to give opposing coaches some headaches. In the previous two seasons the Stout quint played mediocre basketball the first semester, but they caught fire in the second semester and handled all opponents with ease. Let's hope history will repeat itself!

Milwaukee had quite a bit of height and their control of the backboard was a large factor in their victory. Bob Erickson started at center for the Milwaukee game. Bob played good ball in the last three games and he is definitely one of the big improvements on the team. Erick has been doing a swell job on rebounding all year but lately he has done some scoring from out in the court as well as under the basket. In some portions of the games Coach Johnson has had Stai, Nylund, and Erickson at forwards and center, that is really piling a lot of height around the basket.

Bill Kieffer also has been playing a lot of ball and adding a touch of finesse to the last three games. Kieffer is a good ball handler and shot, but the thing that catches your eye the most is the rebounding he does, compared to the other men on the floor Bill is relatively short on one end, but if you would keep track of individual rebounding I think you would find Bill right around the top of the list.

Two freshman who have been seeing more action lately are Bill Bachmeyer and John Jacobson, they both are fairly tall and also handle the ball smoothly. The fans should see more of them in the next couple of games.

Notably missing in last Saturday's game were Stout students for fans. The game lacked the rah-rah spirit but the fans saw some mighty fine playing on the floor. The closest the Stout team got to the Oskey North Stars were the start with a 2-0 score and at the finish when the Oskey's won 57-54.

Vaughn Stai had the Oskey center's coming and going and scored 25 points for the Bluedevils while one of the opposing centers failed to connect for a point. If Stai continues to hit like that for the remainder of the season the local fans will see some sharp playing from the pivot spot.

New in the Stout squad last Saturday was Don Jacobson, who became eligible at the end of the semester. His playing at guard indicated that he will add some helpful strength at this position.

Tomorrow night the team plays the Bugolds from Eau Claire. This is one game I'm really eager to see. The Eau Claire bunch lacks height and have won about 3 out of 14 games so far this season but they have a crew of sharp shooters. They almost upset River Fall's appcart last week with their center Bos doing a lot of scoring. This game should develop into the usual hot contest between Stout and Eau Claire. Other players to watch on the Minnie Creek squad are Emanuel who is a dead shot and Musolph who isn't too tall but he goes up for the ball at the right moment and who's terrific on tip-ins.

BLUEDEVILS TO PLAY BLUGOLDS

The Stout Institute basketball team will be in action again Saturday, January 28, when they take on the Bugolds from Eau Claire in what promises to be one of the top games on this year's schedule. The game will be played at the Company A armory starting at 8:00p.m.

Starting at center for the Bugolds will be James Bos, a six foot two inch sophomore from Glenwood city. Jim played in only eleven games last year, but he amassed a total of 193 points for a 17.5 average. This average places him twenty-ninth among the scoring leaders of the nation's small colleges.

Other Eau Claire starters include Ade Washburn, George Eillmeyer and Gene Musolf. All of these boys top the six foot mark, but none of them will be able to match the height of Stai and Erickson on the Stout aggregation.

Intercollegiate Meet

The Stout ski team walked off with the jumping honors of the Central Intercollegiate Classic combined ski meet at Menomonie, Wis., on January 14, with a team total of 810.70 jumping points. Michigan Tech. was second, and Minnesota third followed by Carleton in the jumping event.

In individual scoring in the jumping event Don Letourneau of Michigan Tech took first followed by Kaare Engebo of the U. of Minnesota. Stout jumpers Holmberg, Rudow, Dodge, and Banks placed third, fourth, fifth, and ninth, respectively in the jumping event. John Rudow of Stout leaped the longest distance of the day with a distance of 79 feet.

In the cross country race, Art Shultz, Norwegian scholarship student at the U. of Minnesota was first by running the four mile course in 32 min. and 13 sec. His teammate Kaare Engebo took second place in this event. Charles Banks of Stout came in third just 46 seconds behind Engebo. Jack Holmberg (S) came in fifth in the race behind fourth place Bob Sanderson of the U. of Minnesota.

In the individual combined results of the skiers, Kaare Engebo (M) was first with a combined total of 448.4 points. Charles Banks was second with 430.5 points. Don Letourneau of Michigan Tech was third followed by Jack Holmberg (S) and Bob Sanderson (M).

In team standings the U. of Minnesota was first with a total of 1651.56 points. Michigan Tech was second with a team total of 1552.10 points. Stout was third with a team total of 1546.7 points followed by Carleton college with 1433.4 points.

Seventeen skiers competed in the meet. Skiers from the Duluth branch of the U. of Minnesota and the U. of Wisconsin could not get here because of poor traveling conditions.

THE FAIR

PRESIDENT TO SPEAK AT TWO EVENTS

President Verne C. Fryklund will be the principle speaker at two events taking place early in February. On February 9 he will address the Wisconsin Federation of Labor carpenters' local union at the Labor Temple in Eau Claire. He will address union members on "The Socio-Economic Aspects of Teacher Education."

On February 15, Dr. Fryklund will be convocation speaker at Eastern Illinois State college, Charleston, Illinois. He will address the entire faculty and student body of the institution.

NEW TEACHING POSITIONS ANNOUNCED

The following is a list of other Industrial Arts majors who have received recent teaching positions, according to the placement office:

Jerome Alt, Menomonie, Southern State Teachers College, Springfield, South Dakota; Thorwald Magnuson, Marinette, Wis., Boys' School, Green Bay, Wis.; Howard Michalsen, Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., St. Paul, Minn.

"CHRISTIANITY AND FREEDOM" TOPIC OF CONVO

Charles Emerson Boddie To Speak On Human Relations At Convocation

Charles Emerson Boddie, an authoritative speaker on effective human relations, will speak at convocation on Wednesday, at 10:00 a.m. on the topic "Christianity and Freedom."

Zealous to help mankind attain more effective relationships, Mr. Boddie devotes his efforts to helping peoples of all faiths to live together in harmony and understanding. For his contribution to racial relations in Huntington, West Virginia, he was cited as Man of the Week in that city. In Rochester, New York, he was selected also by the editors of that city's Democrat & Chronicle as Man of the Week "for personal effort in the service of his fellow citizens above and beyond the call of ordinary duty."

Mr. Charles Boddie

Mr. Boddie is a favorite speaker at youth conferences. In 1943 the New York State Baptist Youth Fellowship established an annual scholarship in his name for a worthy Negro student at a southern college.

Mr. Boddie, the son of a colored Baptist preacher, comes from a large family; three members are ministers and all eleven of his brothers and sisters are college products. Mr. Boddie is a graduate of Syracuse university; he earned his B.D. degree from the Colgate-Rochester Divinity school and his A.M. degree from the University of Rochester. He is the author of two books, A Giant in the Earth and The Biblical Basis of the Negro Spiritual, and of numerous articles in professional journals.

His talks on effective human relations are always beautiful in their simplicity, humble in their earnestness, and powerful in their impact. His genius for getting along with people springs from real understanding of human nature and wide acquaintance with human problems.

Mr. Boddie's tour of this area has been arranged by the University of Minnesota Concert and Lecture service.

NEW ELECTRIC ORGAN INSTALLED AT STOUT

Will Provide Background Music For College Functions Held In Auditorium

Installation of a Baldwin electronic organ has been completed in the Stout auditorium, and will now provide background music at college concerts; overtures to plays, convocations, and lyceums; and accompaniment for musical productions, announces President Verne C. Fryklund, under whose authorization the improvement was made.

Housed in a beautiful walnut case, the organ is a two-manual instrument with a full thirty-two pedals. Four fifteen-inch speakers in one cabinet located in an auditorium loge are used for amplification of the music.

The principle upon which the organ operates is that of an amplified tube attached to each individual console key. This type was chosen over organs based on spinning disks or vibrating reeds because the separate tube amplification provides fast playing action without undesirable suddenness of tone.

According to Charles U. Frailey, director of music at Stout and the person in whose charge the organ has been placed:

"This electronic organ represents a most valuable addition to the cultural facilities available at Stout. Its installation is in conformity with the policies of many large educational institutions which are taking advantage of the fullness and versatility of organ music."

LIFE SAVING OFFERED AGAIN TO STUDENTS

The American Red Cross senior life saving course will be offered again this year. The first meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m., February 6. Everyone interested is encouraged to sign up and try out. It is not necessary that a student be an expert swimmer to be eligible. Preliminary refresher swimming will take place.

The class is tentatively scheduled for one hour a week on Mondays and Wednesdays between 6:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Watch for the sign-up sheets to be placed on the bulletin board in the near future. Dave Tank will be in charge of the senior life saving course.

Those obtaining certificates from the senior life saving course will be eligible to enter the standard water safety instructor's course. This course will follow immediately after completion of the senior life saving course and will be under the direction of a Red Cross field representative. The date for this course is tentatively set for April 24 to May 5.

TEA ROOM CLASS CHANGES

On January 12, 1950, the first semester tea room management class served their last meal. The menu was typical of the Northwest area.

Next semester the tea room will again be open; however, ten different girls will be in management. The places planned to be visited are Honolulu, South America, and Hollywood or Santa Barbara.

Miss Killian and her class wish very much to thank the faculty and student body for helping to make the tea room the success it was; they sincerely hope that those who enjoyed eating in tea room will continue to patronize it during the second semester.

VIDEO SET FOR UNION IS AIM OF STUDENTS

SSA MESSAGE

Fellow Students,

We can't offer you a cup of Flame Room coffee and a donut, but how about dropping into the SSA office and see how it has had its face lifted. We are holding open house so come in and see us if you haven't already done so. Just a brief reminder to those of you who haven't secured your SSA cards, stop in and pick them up because you will find yourself inconvenienced in taking part in the school activities without them.

Have you done your part in helping us to secure the television set? The sooner we really begin to push the campaign, the sooner we will reach our goal. If we really work at it, perhaps we can see the basketball play-offs on our own set in union. Don't forget to spread the word and encourage everyone to save their Flame Room coffee stickers for us.

Now that Stout has affiliated with NSA we must, more than ever, feel a real responsibility as a mature student body. It certainly isn't too soon to be thinking about candidates to fill the 1950-51 year. The SSA officers are your representatives, not merely figure heads. So begin thinking now who the responsible people would be to fill these offices.

Our basketball team is playing at LaCrosse tomorrow night, but let's hope they bring home a win. While waiting for the final score of the game, why not go to the sophomore dance and enjoy yourself.

Sincerely,
The SSA Officers
Jean Waltzer, Secretary

FIFTEEN STUDENTS NEW AT LYNWOOD

Lynwood hall's population has increased by fifteen students since the beginning of the second semester. During the first semester, the dormitory was not filled to capacity. The (seasoned) men of Lynwood are doing their utmost to make the new occupants feel at home, because the dorm is new to them.

ENROLLMENT REACHES 901 SECOND SEMESTER

According to statistics released this week by the college registrar, "At the beginning of the second week the enrollment figure for the second semester had reached 901. This is an increase of thirteen over last week's figure. There are now 593 men and 308 women enrolled."

SSA ADOPTS ITALIAN ORPHAN LAZZARO CASTELNUOVO

Maria, SSA's Former Orphan Has Now Been Given Home In Belgium

Word has been received from the director of Foster Parent's Plan for War Children, Inc., in Belgium, that Maria Karaskiewicz, SSA's adopted war orphan, has been placed in a permanent home and no longer needs attention from the students.

To take Maria's place The Plan has assigned a 12 year old Italian boy, Lazzaro Castelnovo. Lazzaro's case history was inclosed in the letter from the director. "Lazzaro was wounded during an air-raid and part of his left leg below the knee was amputated. The family continued to live in the ruins of their home, facing daily hunger, exposure and fear. Under these circumstances, Lazzaro did not recover from the terrible shock or have proper medical care. There are four other children in the family of Andrea and Angela Valsecchi Castelnovo—Filomena and Mario are older than Lazzaro, Gerolamo and Antonio are younger." The letter tells further of Lazzaro's pitiful condition and expresses the hope that he may soon be fitted with a prosthetic limb. The

Must Collect 10,000 Red Stickers From Coffee To Receive Combo-Set

"Drink Flame Room Coffee, it means a beautiful television and radio-phonograph combination set for the student union," are the words heard over the campus. Warren Phillips, SSA president and chairman of the drive, urges students to save the red scotch tape stickers from the coffee cans which, when sent in, will be converted to a video set in the Union.

The goal to be reached is 10,000 of the red stickers. The large figure shouldn't be as alarming as it sounds for it amounts to a little over ten stickers per person.

If the students and members of the faculty write home for the red stickers right now the set could be a reality by spring. The McGarvey Coffee Company of Minneapolis, Minn., is sponsoring the contest. The red stickers can be mailed directly to the McGarvey Coffee Co., 601 North Fourth St., Minneapolis, Minn. If the stickers are mailed in, senders should be sure to credit them to the Stout Student Union Drive. Stickers can also be left at the SSA office.

To stimulate the drive, plans are being made to erect a thermometer of progress and to place it in the Student Union for a daily report of stickers turned in. Another graph will be placed somewhere in Menomonie where the townspeople may view the results of their contributions.

In the following issues of the Stoutonia the SSA will publish a score square to illustrate just how many more stickers students will have to contribute to reach the goal of 10,000. The people of Menomonie and surrounding communities are responding to this special drive splendidly, but the television set committee warns that everyone must cooperate and contribute to make the drive a success.

The television set is made by Philco with a 12 inch television screen, large enough for the Union audience. The record player is of the long playing type with fine reproduction of undistorted music. The record feature is just as fine as the television.

Tentative plans made thus far call for closing the drive in mid-April because enough stickers should have been turned in to meet the goal of 10,000 by then. This would enable the video set to be delivered and installed before the close of the school year.

Plan further states that Lazzaro needs the friendship, interest and encouragement of young Foster Parents as much as he needs the material help that the adoption of Lazzaro means.

OPEN NOTEBOOKS

One quality which is characteristic of a mature adult is the courtesy to listen intently while another fellow speaks his piece, whether in the classroom, the student union, or the auditorium.

It has been observed that there are a few people attending Stout who are not courteous enough to do this. In classes, these people begin closing notebooks and textbooks several minutes before the end of the class period. In the auditorium, these people begin donning coats and hats, and some even leave before the assembly program is concluded. Is this courtesy?

Whether an audience is composed of two, ten, thirty, or even five-hundred people, there is bound to be someone who is interested in what is being said or done. We should respect that person and also the speaker.

Let's be courteous enough to leave that notebook open until the class period is over, and let's stay in that seat until the assembly program is concluded. You, too, may have something to contribute some day and then you'll appreciate a courteous audience.

—B. G.

TROUT SEASON

This is the season to prepare for luring the rainbow trout and the speckled trout into your creel.

Flies must be tied, and tackle must be put in perfect condition. This cold winter weather is the ideal time also to "pace-set" and get ahead in your courses. Then the nights and weekends during trout season will be free for the pleasing sport of fishing.

Spring fever will, as always, tempt students to cut classes. If you do your work now, you can have more enjoyment in better weather.

—B. G.

A COED AND JEANS

"What to wear and when" may be a problem even at the college level—it even seems to be a problem for home economists here at Stout. In the various centers of campus life, jeans and their accompanying attire have been seen.

Is it wrong? No, not always. Jeans have their place among the coed's wardrobe but not under the list of all-occasion apparel. Jeans may be appropriate for picnics, outdoor activities and other strenuous tasks, but the wearing of jeans and their usual accompanying attire to classes or lyceum programs is as outmoded as the sack dress of the naughty nineties.

As future home economists we should be aware of our dress and its appropriateness to the occasion. Hereafter, let us see the jeans at the school picnics only, and dresses or the variations of the skirt and blouse combinations at classes and lyceums.

Question of the Week

Since The Coos is one of the most important articles in the Stoutonia, I thought it would be interesting to find out a few opinions on the column. Some are as follows:

Leverne Ablard: "Some are really clever, but then there are others..."

Johnny Kuula: "I think it's pretty good. I get into it once in while."

Martin Conway: "I'd like to see those that aren't printed."

Ed Maurer: It's pretty good, but some of those jokes are older than the hills."

Florence Pleszczynski: "It adds interest and variety to the paper."

Isabel Benedict: "I believe in reading the most intellectual parts of the Stoutonia first, so I always begin by reading the 'Coos' column."

Beverly Hedlund: "I don't understand some of the jokes, but some of them

Hi, Did you have a nice week-end? A little cold, wasn't it? The weather, that is. Wouldn't it be nice if the temperature would stay above zero for a week.

There was a bit of activity around the campus this week. The basketball game, dance, and SSA movie brought out some of the couples around school.

Saturday night saw Harter Peterson and Rita Ziegeweld gliding around the dance floor. They were out last weekend too.

I guess it's going pretty strong between Daynee Buell and Don Bredahl. Daynee is now wearing Don's ring.

Sigma Tau members are going around pinning girls down. Last week some of the members received their frat pins, and they didn't hesitate to give them to their best girls. Some of the lucky girls were: Jerri Pleszczynski pinned by Dan Foltman, Marge Thompson pinned by John Poellinger, and Bev Brehmer pinned by Bud Ryder. What are the rest of the members waiting for?

Charlie Schiferl is really sweeping Kay Ziehm off her feet. They've been going out pretty regularly these past two weeks.

Ever since Dick Krueger transferred from Stout, Bill Banks has been taking Harriet Homer out. No doubt trying to get Harriet to forget Dick. Alice Fechner and Jim Brown have been seen together recently. This might be something to watch.

Bill Kieffer has been sporting Donna McDonough around during the last couple of weeks anyway. Saw Les Duenk and Ross Slater pick a chick up in front of Lee's Saturday night. Say Les, is Ross showing how he does it??

Phyllis Patch and Howard Knop made a nice couple Saturday night. I wouldn't be surprised if we saw more of these two people together. Jean Van Liew and Russ Boettner are being seen together quite often. If this keeps up it might get to be a habit.

Is Bev Struck changing escorts??? I don't think that she was out with Bob Houghton. Who was the new fellow Bev??

Jean Gehrke and Duane Freiberg are seeing each other quite often on weekends.

Who was the fellow that you were out with Saturday night, Connie Anderson? It looks interesting.

I see Stan Kendall is taking Phyll Bartosic out again.

Dick VanDuzee went to Marge Wisemiller's home for dinner Sunday. This couple has been going strong for some time. Could there be bells in the future?

JoAnn Granney was all smiles over the weekend. Could it be because her man was down from the "U"?

There wasn't much of a crowd at the SSA movie, but I can't say that I blame the students for not coming.

From the comments that I heard after the movie they were not very complimentary. I should think (and a lot of the student body does too) that the SSA office would be willing to spend a little more money for some better movies. If the movies improve, I sure think that the turn-outs for these movies will also improve.

I guess that there will be a lot more dates next week. Seeing that the month ended this week, the fellows pockets will be jingling again. Till then, I'll be looking for you.

See you next week.

P.S. Sadie Hawkins week is not far off. Girls, you had better start looking for that certain fellow.

V.A. REPORTING—

NEWS RELEASES BY THE VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

The Veterans Administration cannot honor any assignment of National Service Life Insurance dividend checks, L. C. Cocheu, Director of Insurance for the Chicago District Office of the Veterans Administration, warned today.

"Dividend checks can be mailed only to the person who made application for the payment," he said. "We cannot, even if directed in writing, mail the check to any other person or concern."

The fact that a veteran has a policy does not indicate the amount of his dividend, Cocheu continued. The dividend must be used to offset any overpayment the veteran has received or any other indebtedness to the Government.

"We cannot tell the amount of any veteran's dividend here in Chicago," Cocheu said. "All of the dividend records are in the Washington Central Office and will be maintained there."

"As we explained last summer any correspondence regarding veterans dividend account will result in a delay in payment to that individual. Therefore, we are in no position to give any information about what amount any individual will receive."

Cocheu reminded veterans that the application for dividend payment had requested an address where the applicant would receive his or her mail for the next six months. He explained that the Veterans Administration could not change mailing addresses at this late date and recommended that those who had moved since making application, request that postmaster change their addresses.

"At present the Veterans Administration Insurance Service is not in a position to advise any veteran as to the length of time his NSLI policy has been in force, the amount of the dividend he may receive, or when he will receive it," Cocheu said.

"We will tell any veteran who writes us whether his policy is active or in a state of lapse. We cannot give more than that just to permit the veteran to estimate the amount of his dividend without delaying its actual payment."

COOS BY WALLY PIGEON

A college student was impatient with the fact that his roommate was talking to himself, so he demanded an explanation from the fellow.

The self-listener: "Well first, I like to hear an intelligent man talk; and secondly, I like to speak to an intelligent man."

She was the bell of the school until somebody tolled on her.

Operator: "I'm sorry, sir—that number has been taken out."
 Bill Owen: "Oh, is that so? Well, can you give me any information as to just who has taken her out?"

Visitor (to host in Lynwood): Well, how do you find it here?

Oh! I thought it was Dick Johnson

To economize, a young doctor and a young dentist who had adjoining offices decided to hire one nurse who would work for both of them. Unfortunately both fell in love with her.

The dentist was called away suddenly and left a note for the nurse. The note explained that he would be gone for six days and with the note were six apples.

Les Duenk: I know a place where the girls wear nothing but beads. It sure is strange how some people call money "dough" because dough sticks to your fingers.

Favorite pastimes—Those things only the seniors have nerve enough for and only the freshmen have time for.

Two little boys were bragging about their big brothers. One little boy said: "My big brother is a big gun in the industrial world."

Little friend: "How do you know?"
 Little bragger: "Well, he's been fired 7 times."

The tryouts for a play were being held and Mr. Ziemann asked the likely prospect: "Have you ever been on a stage?"

Lee Flanders: "No, but I had my leg in a cast once."

The following material I discovered will reveal the Life Cycle of a creature which we men at times become interested in. The creature is, of course, the girl. The Life Cycle is as follows:

Safety pins
 Hair pins
 Fraternity pins
 Clothes pins
 Rolling pins

Gerry: "Why didn't you shave before taking me to the dance?"

Wentorf: "I did."

Gerry: "When?"

Wentorf: "Before I came over to get you; you've just kept me waiting as usual."

A college student after graduating was fortunate enough to get a job, but the job soon created a neurosis in this worker so the fellow went to a psychoanalyst.

Doctor: "What kind of work are you engaged in?"

Patient: "I sort oranges, all day. Oranges keep pouring down a chute. I stand at the bottom and sort them. Big oranges go into a crate in the center. See?"

Doctor: "I do, but certainly there's nothing in that to upset you! It sounds easy enough to me."

Patient: "Easy! Don't you realize? It means decisions! decisions! decisions—all day long!"

Pollinger: I'm going to sneeze.
 Marge: At who?
 Poellinger: Atchoo!

Mary had a Ford.
 She learned to drive it very well, One day she hit a telephone pole, And smashed it all—in small pieces.

Mathematicians say that figures never lie, but it sure takes a good tight girdle to keep them from telling the truth in some cases.

STS TENTATIVE PLANS SET FOR FIELD TRIP

The committee for the STS field trip brought their plans before the society for approval at the last meeting. The trip is scheduled for April 20 and 21. Tentative plans are to visit paper and pulp mills, other plants, and the Appleton vocational school. All of the stops will be made in the Neenah-Menasha area.

The group will return on Saturday, April 22.

HE CLUB SWEETS SALE IS BIG SUCCESS

A cookie and candy sale by the Home Economics club was held Thursday, January 26, in both the HE and IE buildings. Dorothy Krushas was in charge of the sale. The proceeds of this event will help two Home Economics club delegates to the Home Economics province meeting in Chicago. The delegates who will represent the HE club are Dorothy Amendt and Beverly Brehmer.

One hundred junior and senior girls furnished the cookies and candy which made the sale possible. The HE club president, Marvel Oelke, stated that the turnout for the sale was wonderful.

SOCIAL MEETING HELD FOR PHILOS

The Philomathean society and their adviser, Miss Hazel Van Ness, held a social meeting Thursday evening, January 4, at the Apel home. Margaret Peery and Phylis Bartosic were co-hostesses.

The party was for three Philos who will join the alumni ranks at the end of the semester. Ellen McGarty goes to St. Paul on January 30 to begin a dietetic internship at Ancker hospital. Jean Peterson, a sophomore, will be married on January 28 to Jim Stenberg at Cumberland. They will live in Baldwin. Jean will kneel on the Philo pillow when she repeats her vows. Eileen Riley left Monday for Trempealeau high school to teach. The seniors were presented with the traditional hammered silver bracelets, and Jean was given an electric mixer from the Philo's.

Canasta and pinocle were followed by refreshments. Mary Fox of Edgerton was a guest at the party.

VACANCIES FILLED IN STS

The Stout Typographical Society held an emergency election at their regular meeting Wednesday, January 11. The election was held to fill vacancies made by mid-semester graduates.

The new officers who were elected Irving Lathrop, president; Paul Axelsson, vice president; and Stan Hoffman, secretary. Those officers who are graduating are George Norton, president and Lloyd Gannagan, vice president. Paul Axelsson is the retiring secretary.

NEWMAN CLUB TRAVELS TO RIVER FALLS

Sunday, February 5, the Newman club is going to River Falls for a social meeting between the Newman clubs of the two colleges.

Transportation to River Falls will be furnished by the members who volunteer to take cars. Anyone who is able to take his car is asked to contact Dick Johnson, president.

For any further details about the trip, members should contact Dick Johnson or Barbara Lovering. They should watch the bulletin boards for further notice as to the meeting place and means of transportation.

INDIAN CAMPING GROUNDS AND HORSE BARN FORM COLORFUL BACKGROUND OF DORMS

Tainter Hall

The land on which stand the homes of the freshmen girls was once an Indian camping ground. Captain Andrew Tainter, a wealthy lumberman, built a mansion on the grounds. This mansion is now The Hall. The mansion had a greenhouse which was later remodeled into what is now the dining room of the dormitory.

Captain Tainter was very fond of fine houses. On his farm, Oak Lawn, outside of Menomonie, he had the largest covered race track in the world at that time.

Senator James H. Stout purchased the mansion early in the century for use as a dormitory for the Stout Training school. Through the years it has been remodeled many times. As recently as 1940 the porches surrounding the Hall were removed.

Mrs. Rebecca Nelson, director of residence halls for the past three years, resides there.

Tainter Annex

More than sixty girls live very comfortably at Stout in what was once a horse barn. The Annex was purchased early in the 1900's by Senator James H. Stout for use as a college dormitory. The barn had been the home of the Tainter horses and carriages. Senator Stout remodeled it.

Since that time the dormitory has been remodeled many times. Once the grey stucco was removed and the present asbestos shingles were put in its place.

Mrs. Gertrude Adams is preceptress at the dorm and sees that all the girls are in on time.

LSA TRAVELS TO BLAIR FOR MEETING

An LSA group from Stout journeyed to a Luther League meeting at Blair, Wisconsin, on Sunday afternoon, January 29.

After the singing of hymns, Bea Anderson introduced the Stout LSA program to the Blair league. Then Rev. Halvorson of the Zion Lutheran Church of Blair led the devotions.

Russ Boettner gave an interesting reading on "Interest on a Dime," regarding work in the mission field of the church. Judy Hintz then read a poem relating to mission work.

This was followed by a duet "Hold Thee My Hand" sung by Charmaine Chopp and Emery Nelson with Dorothy Messerschmidt as accompanist.

Don Winters led some group singing, after which a delicious supper was served by the mothers of the League.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer and the singing of the doxology.

Overheard at a dance: "Does my gown look as though it were falling off my shoulders?"

"Naw, let's dance."

ANDERSON CLEANERS

REPLACE BACK DOOR OF LYNWOOD

Stout repair men have replaced the old back door on Lynwood hall with a new one.

The old door has received a considerable amount of use, perhaps just as much as the front door. The back door offers a short cut to the Menomonie business district.

The new door closes tightly and quietly—this will greatly please the students residing near the door.

The job was completed very quickly and efficiently January 23.

IN SPOTLIGHT IS R. A. CHRISTENSEN

The Who's Who spotlight falls on Ruth Ann Christensen this week. You will recognize her as the tall brunette with blue eyes who claims Kasson, Minnesota, as her home town.

Ruth Ann will graduate in June. During her four years at Stout, she has been active in many extra-curricular activities.

She is president of Phi U., and a member of SMA's, Home Ec. club, and Stout Symphonic Singers. This year, as you all will remember, she was homecoming queen.

Ruth Ann is almost too busy for any special hobbies now, but when she was in high school she had a pretty nice stamp collection. This weather should suit her since she is especially fond of winter sports.

Her one outstanding pet peeve is people who don't keep to the right when walking down the corridors and stairs. This peeve originated when she was waitress. One day, Ruth Ann, carrying a heavily laden tray, reached a swinging door at the same time another girl was about to come through the door from the other side. It seems Ruth Ann was on the left hand side and, of course, the expected accident occurred.

QUESTION—ANSWERS ABOUT SCF

In order to answer the many questions about the Stout Christian Fellowship group, the SCF—as they are better known—have prepared the following information.

Stout Christian Fellowship is the Stout group associated with the Inter-varsity Christian Fellowship, an international, interdenominational organization of college Christians.

The group at Stout holds Bible study meetings each Wednesday evening at 7:15 p.m. in room 122. On the second Wednesday of the month a program meeting is planned, which usually includes a guest speaker, special music, and a time for food and fellowship.

Prayer meetings are held daily in room 311 from 12:40 to 12:55 p.m. Members of SCF believe that the Bible has the answer for the individual's problems. They try through Bible study, prayer, mutual help and encouragement to build up a vital living faith in the Lord, Jesus Christ.

SCF activities are not designed to replace or supplant church activities but are a supplement to them.

"SEEN MY PIPE?" PLEADS J. COVEY

Have you seen my pipe? These pleading words can be heard all over the campus as James Covey dashes about in a frenzy trying to recover his delinquent briar. It seems he had an expensive pipe collection of three "rare" drug-store specials, but Dame Fortune struck a wicked blow and broke one of these gems, whitening the collection to two. The following day, ever-greedy Dame Fortune struck again and Master Covey lost his pride and joy, his Yellow-bowl. This particular model is small, straight stemmed and has a light finish and the distinction of having holes instead of a slot in the mouth piece. So, if you know the whereabouts of Jim's $2.50 "man's best friend"—next to his dog that is—kindly notify this despondent unfortunate who lost a pipe that was "broken in."

Who traveled from Weldon, North Carolina, to enroll in Stout Institute as a sophomore last year? You guessed it—it's Ellis Bibb, otherwise known as "Pete" Bibb around the campus. He is a member of the Junior class at the present time.

Bibb

back home in North Carolina, and his interest in the sport has not ceased since he moved here. He plays the game quite often during the warmer months.

Here's something unusual! Nobody has ever heard of skiing in N.C., but Pete takes part in the sport. To explain, Pete said he did his first skiing while in the army. While attending Stout, he joined the ski club to improve his techniques. He enjoys the ski club and feels that more students should take advantage of that activity, since it offers a lot of fun for the winter months.

Pete is going to major in painting and decoration. He said that the courses deal with projects which are unlimited as to the various ways they can be finished with paint and decorating materials.

FORMER EDITOR WRITES FROM ROCHESTER

When I sent in my life membership fee last spring, I informed the office that I was about to change my name.

On June 4th, I was married to Arno Dittbrenner. Since that time, my husband has received the appointment as superintendent of the Racine County Agricultural School. We live on the beautiful school campus. Our school is one of the two agricultural schools remaining in the state, the other being the Dunn County Aggies.

Lucille Lindberg, '49 graduate, replaced me as the homemaking instructor. Although I am now putting into practice what I taught last year, my interest is in the activities of the Future Homemakers. The girls invite me to attend many of their activities.

I wish to congratulate the Stoutonia staff on the excellent job they are doing.

Yours very truly,

SCHOLARSHIP FUNDS

The constitution of the SIAA states that our objectives shall be to advance the interests, influences, and efficiency of The Stout Institute and to strengthen the connection between the members of this association and their Alma Mater.

In order to carry out the objectives set forth, the SIAA annually provides funds to worthy recipients in the form of scholarships.

The Scholarship Fund committee set up by the SIAA annually sends out scholarship blanks to all active alumni and the returns are then screened carefully and selections are then made.

At the present time only two awards are made annually and will continue to be made until such time as the Scholarship Fund is of sufficient size to warrant more awards.

Each member of the SIAA can assist the Scholarship Fund committee by sending candidates blanks at an early date. In that way the committee can then do a thorough job of screening and select the most worthy candidate.

SISTER ORANDA SENDS GREETINGS TO STOUT

Sister Oranda, graduate of Stout last year, writes to Mr. T. F. Fleming to tell of her teaching experiences and sends her greetings to all.

January 5, 1950

Before vacation draws to a close, I must complete the letter I promised myself so long ago to write. However teaching has kept me so busy that, somehow, I just never completed the letter.

If I have my data straight, you were appointed to take the place of Mr. Baker as the adviser to the Stoutonia staff. Another impression I have is that as an ex-Stout student of last year, 1948-49, I should be getting the Stoutonia. The reason I feel that I am not getting it is that you do not know my address. I really do miss the Stoutonia and look forward to receiving it once more.

My season's greeting to you and the Stoutonia staff.

Sincerely yours,
Sister Oranda

ON QUIZ SHOW

According to a report received by the Stoutonia, Dr. Frank Huntley, former head of the Stout English department and now a member of the faculty of the University of Michigan, was a guest on the national Quiz Kids program, Sunday, January 8. The program was broadcast from Lansing, Michigan.

Dr. Huntley answered several questions during the presentation and wished the audience good luck in Japanese, according to several students who heard the broadcast.

January 17, 1950

Am writing just a short letter to inform you and the Alumni Association of a change in address. This new address will be 1431 S. Fourth St., Louisville, Ky.

They are keeping me very busy teaching at Southern Junior high school in this city. As I am teaching printing they have kept me moving with production jobs. Would appreciate hearing from any of "you all," and I promise to answer to all letters.

Sincerely yours,
Jack R. Bongey

Mrs. O. B. Iverson, the former Mary Finney '36, writes to inform the Alumni Association of the birth of a son.

"We are very thrilled to inform all our friends that our nine-year old son, Jim, is no longer an 'only child.' Little Jack Iverson (John Charles) arrived on November 13 of this year at the Milwaukee Maternity Pavilion. After all these years, his Dad and I have gotten very 'rusty' on the technique of baby care, but we are having a lot of fun re-learning it and Jim insists on helping with Jack.

OFF CAMPUS TEACHERS IN NEW CLASSES

A new semester, new classes, and new teachers. Among the new teachers are twenty-eight senior women who will take over teaching responsibilities with the beginning of the new semester. The women will teach for nine weeks and will be in an off-campus training center for two weeks. The seventh grade units of Our Share in the Care of the Home and Let's Eat Breakfast will be taught by Marjorie Musil and Norma Cole, section 1, and Betty Braun and Marion Saari, section 2. The ninth grade city class of Related Art and Clothing: Selection, Care, and Construction will be taught by Jean Waltzer, and Mrs. Leona Goetch, section 1, and Dolores Pirlot and Ruth Johnson, section 2. The tenth grade Home Nursing, First Aid, and Home Furnishings will be taught by Carol Radtke and Verle Sneene.

The boys' twelfth grade General Home Economics will be taught by Rosalie Orth and Betty Hoyer. Another seventh grade of Our Share in the Care of the Home and Let's Eat Breakfast will have Mrs. Helen Loper and Alice Oates for the teachers. An eight grade unit in The Girls Room Planning, Preparing and Serving Suppers will be taught by Caroline Lanzer and Marvel Oelke. The eleventh grade unit of Family relations and Child Development will be taught by Mrs. Jeanne Simon and Mrs. Willa Lammer. The two sections of twelfth grade Individual Problems will be taught by Peggy Welch and Helen Helm, section 1, and Marilyn Erickson and Mrs. Gloria Kuula, section 2.

Mary Hoehn and Helen Wolsey will teach an eighth grade unit of The Girls' Room Planning and Preparing Supper. A ninth grade unit in Related Art, Clothing: Selection, Care, and Construction will be taught by Doris Eckstein and Mrs. Virginia Grunsted, section 1, and Janis Oebser and Mrs. Betty Janiak, section 2.

The supervising teachers for these classes are Miss Marjory Elliott, Miss Margaret Harper, Miss Ann Noble, and Miss Cecilia Zine of the home economics education department.

MENOMONIE HIGH FEATURED IN STORY

On Sunday, January 8, the Milwaukee Sentinel featured Menomonie high school in their full page section "High Schools on Parade." The article contained a history of Menomonie high school and The Stout Institute; an essay, "What I Like Most About Menomonie H. S."; a message from the principal; and six pictures.

Stout Institute is mentioned several times in the article. The article tells how Stout's history started in 1891 when James Stout established a two room schoolhouse for the purpose of teaching home economics and industrial arts. James Stout pushed his school to near perfection by his financial expenditures of more than $600,000 and by his own personal interest. His school grew to become The Stout Institute which is now state owned.

FINE WORK DONE BY GRAPHIC ARTS CLASS

The students in the class in General Graphic Arts are turning in some fine work according to the instructor, Robert Blaesing. In this course conditions prevalent in the small school system with a general comprehensive shop are emphasized. The students do their work with tools and equipment which are inexpensive and more apt to be found in the small school.

Many phases of creative and reproductive processes are covered in the course. These processes are basic, and, in some cases, even crude; however, it has been found that even junior high school students can turn out some remarkably fine work.

Upon completion of the course, the students are in possession of a fine bound volume of their own making, which contains examples of all the processes covered in the course, plus accompanying printed instructional material pertaining to each process.

Mr. Blaesing states that the course is being constantly revised and additions are being made to keep abreast of technological advances in this line. Also materials are kept moving so that the newest for a particular process is always in use.

Students who took the course this past quarter are Robert Bachmann, William Baer, Sherman Dreyer, Herbert Ebsen, Gerald Gappa, Robert Hartig, Matthew Janik, Milton Miller, Conrad Olson, Henry Peterson, Owen Reppert, and James Young.

DEADLINES FOR VA EDUCATIONAL BENEFITS

According to a recent announcement from Veteran Administration, World War II veterans discharged before July 25, 1947, must start their G.I. Bill education or training before July 25, 1951. Veterans discharged after July 25, 1947, must begin their courses within four years after discharge. In both cases, the training must be completed by July 25, 1956.

An exception has been made for veterans who enlisted or re-enlisted under the Armed Forces Recruitment Act (Public Law 190) between October 6, 1945, and October 5, 1946. They have four years from the end of their Public Law 190 enlistment or re-enlistment period in which to begin G. I. Bill training, and nine years from that date to complete it.

Disabled veterans of World War II may begin Public Law 16 education or training at any time after discharge, but in time to complete their courses by July 25, 1956.

BIRTHDAY MEAL AT THE HALL FOR FROSH

Under the able chairmanship of Leone Nagel and her assistants Fern Naedler, Phyllis Lumby, Catherine Magee, and Ardis Manderschied, the birthday dinner on January 10 at Tainter Hall was a huge success.

The birthday table was artistically designed into a snow scene, with skiers and skaters made out of pipe cleaners. On a ski slide tiny figures were seen going down on their skies. Figures of comical skaters falling through thin ice with signs saying "Thin Ice" made up the place cards.

The menu for the evening consisted of Swiss steak, stuffed potatoes, a delicious salad made of pineapple, cottage cheese, and cranberry jelly, hot rolls with grape jelly, pickles and ripe olives, and last but not least—birthday cake with chocolate chip ice cream.

All girls who had birthdayays in December and January were honored at this dinner. These girls were Marge Fitzgerald, Ann Rossmiller, Marge Lennie, Donna Jens, Donna Leslie, Joyce Harbridge, Ardis Olson, Bernice Televik, Carol Ann Hammerstein, Joan Zorn, Vilyn Erb, Mary Ann Vamstad, Betty Johansen.

Other distinguished guests at this dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Agnew and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Phalen. Mr. Phalen told many entertaining stories and jokes which, along with his splendid facial and body movements, drew many laughs from the girls and all those present.

All in all, the meal was a great success. The food was delicious and the anecdotes were most entertaining.

UPS, DOWNS IN STATE SCHOOL REVENUE

While in terms of dollars the tax revenue available for public elementary and secondary education in Wisconsin has doubled in the past decade, relatively speaking schools aren't as well off as they were 10 years ago according to a release issued today by the Wisconsin Education Association in Madison. In 1940 the schools received 17.7 cents of the total tax dollar—federal, state, and local—compared to 8.7 cents for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1949. In the past decade the low point in school support of 5.2 cents was reached in 1945.

The price paid for education seems high when looking at property tax bills. In Wisconsin as a whole for the past fiscal year about 45 percent of all property tax revenue went for education. This 45 percent, however, accounted for about 85 percent of all tax revenue for public elementary and secondary education.

The Association went on to explain that Wisconsin is able to afford better education. Back in 1940 her citizens spent 3.4 percent of their total income on public elementary and secondary schools. In 1949 educational expenditures had decreased to 2.2 percent of income.

Men Who Make Your World, by Members of the Overseas Press Club of America.

Twenty-four present and former foreign correspondents have written about world figures, each man choosing as his subject a man on whom he is an authority. There are chapters on Molotov, by Walter Duranty; Tito of Yugoslavia, by Leigh White; and Winston Churchill, by H. L. Matthews.

Among good books of fiction received recently are these: The Plum Tree, by Mary Ellen Chase, in which the nurse and matron of a home for aged women spend more than they can afford for a party for three women who have to be taken to an institution for mental cases; It Was Like This, by Anne Goodwin Winslow, a dramatic but written novel with its scene in Mississippi in the nineteenth century; and The Last Enchantments, by Robert Liddell, a novel in which the fate of old Mrs. Foyle, with her faults and eccentricities, becomes important to the reader. Its setting is a university town in England on the eve of World War II.

STOUT GOES ON ROAD TO MEET LA CROSSE

Indians And Bluedevils Clash
Saturday In Last Game
This Year Between Rivals

The La Crosse Indians will get a chance to even the score in games with the Stout Bluedevils as the latter team migrates to their reservation for a tussle Saturday, February 4.

In the last game between these traditional rivals, the Indians outscored the Bluedevils from the field. The Stout five, however, connected on 21 freethrows while their opponents caged but 10, thus eking out 61-55 victory.

The two squads have quite similar records in the conference competition and a real battle is expected Saturday.

Those students who are making the trip will be treated to a great game between two evenly matched clubs.

FOUR-WAY TIE IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

After a strenuous week of final exams, the male students are once more relaxing their minds and are resuming intramural basketball.

At the present time there is a four-way tie in the American league among Sig Tau No. 1, FOB No. 1, Hotshots, and the Mule Team while the KFS lead the National league.

The league standings are as follows:

American League	Won	Lost
1. Sig Tau No. 1	2	0
2. FOB No. 1	2	0
3. Hotshots	2	0
4. Mule Team	2	0
5. Knirtneaks	1	1
6. Kigmies	1	1
7. Sleepyheads	1	2
8. Fireballs	0	1
9. Sigma	0	2

REMEMBER WHEN

Remember when one year ago semester exams were just over and everyone breathed a sigh of relief before they started a new semester? Louise Tabbert and Ed Dittman got engaged; so did Warren Thomas and Verena Price. Murnice Dallman was looking rather lost without Maxine Pence, who went to Michigan to teach. Frank Tank, the proud owner of a new "coffee strainer," was more than happy in a chemistry class with more than twenty women—too bad you can take chemistry only once.

The old Orpheum theater had a rather interesting selection of pictures coming: "Isn't It Romantic," "Velvet Touch," and "Julia Misbehaves."

"Kiss me kid, I'm Vaccinated" was the head for a feature story on the various types of kisses. The article ended with a poem:

"Kissing spreads diseases—
So it's stated.
But kiss me kid,
I'm vaccinated."

The sport highnotes were Stout Triumphs In One of Four Games. This was followed up by Stout upsetting River Falls 59-57.

STOUT SPLITS GAMES LAST WEEK

The Stout cage squad split last week's games with a victory over Winona State Teachers college and a conference loss to Eau Claire Teachers college.

Winona Game

Stout jumped to a 9 to 0 lead in the first three minutes of the game, and Winona never closed the gap.

The Bluedevils dominated play in the first half and led Winona by a 20 point margin most of the first period. The half-time ended with a score of Stout 35, Winona 14.

In the second period the Winona cagers began to hit the basket and soon narrowed the gap to within 4 points of Stout. The Bluedevils weathered the rally and went to win the game with a 52-45 score.

Vaughn Stai with 12 points and Russ Pollock with 10 were the high scorers for the Bluedevils. Albrecht paced the losers with 8 points.

Eau Claire

The Bluedevils ran into a sharp-shooting Eau Claire team and dropped this conference game by a 71 to 62 count.

The game in the first half was played on an even par with neither team able to build up a substantial lead.

The second half started on two baskets by the Bluedevils, then Eau Claire opened up and jumped to a lead which the Stout squad couldn't overcome.

Vaughn Stai and Ed Nylund scoring 17 and 10 points respectively paced the local team. Eau Claire's victory came with the help of Dick Emanuel, Blugold forward who tallied 19 points, and the shooting of center Jim Bos and forward Gene Musolf who scored 15 and 12 points respectively for the Eau Claire squad.

TWENTY STUDENTS IN NIGHT CLASSES

With the beginning of a new semester and new classes, about twenty students are enrolled in night class. The plans had been to have two night classes, one in gas welding and one in architectural drawing. The pre-semester enrolment in the welding class totaled only three, so the class was dropped.

The architectural class is made up of three courses, architecture one, two, and three. There is one person in course three, six in class two and the remainder in section one. The class begins at 6:00 p.m. and dismisses at 8:00, but runs only four days a week.

At a college examination a professor asked: "Does the question embarrass you?"

"Not at all, sir," replied the student, "not at all. It is quite clear. It is the answer that bothers me!"

STOUT SKI CLUB TAKES ANOTHER TRIP

Fine weather and good snow conditions were again enjoyed by the members of the Stout Ski club this weekend. Skis were loaded on Friday and 29 fellows and girls piled into 7 cars and were on their way about 6:00 a.m. Saturday. The first stop was at Rice Lake for a quick breakfast. The whole group was at the Ski area and on skis at about 10:00. The beginners were given about two hours of instruction on the training slope, after which they took to the lower ends of the big runs to practice what they had been shown.

The beginners did exceptionally well and were doing their snow plowing and turns like advanced skiers. Some of them even took to the bigger hills to really practice what they had learned on the small slopes.

The snow conditions were perfect, a fact which added to the participants' enjoyment and made learning much easier. When the fingers and toes got cold and stomachs empty, the skiers went into the chalet to get warm and eat hot dogs and hamburgers and to drink coffee.

On the way back to Menomonie, the group met at a restaurant in Rice Lake to have supper and talked over the events of the day. The only slip-up of the day was when one car load of skiers turned on the wrong road and found themselves far off the track. The Ski club is planning more of these trips in order to take full advantage of the fun that winter time affords.

Winona Game

Stout jumped to a 9 to 0 lead in the first three minutes of the game, and Winona never closed the gap.

The Bluedevils dominated play in the first half and led Winona by a 20 point margin most of the first period. The half-time ended with a score of Stout 35, Winona 14.

NEW SET OF STUDENTS MOVE INTO "HOUSE"

Nine girls of the home management class moved into the home management house on Wednesday, January 25.

The girls in the house for the first six weeks of this semester are Carolyn Blain, Alice Billiet, Bernice Dauterman, Rachel Dauterman, Phyllis Bartosic, Nancy Glenn, Eileen Deetz, Ruth Ann Christensen, and Gerry Mae Erickson.

The girls are assuming their duties with much vigor and determination for this will be quite an experience for the girls.

Among the duties the girls assume are those of cook, assistant cook, first floor housekeeper, second floor housekeeper, laundress, hostess, waitress, guest, and house repairman. The duties rotate at three-day intervals. Although the girls moved to the home management house Wednesday, January 25, their duties began Friday, January 27, with the evening meal.

COVEY'S CORNER

Eau Claire seems to have the jinx on Stout this year. Their football team didn't go so hot this year, but they helped keep Stout out of a championship share. Their basketball team now comes along with only a few wins to its credit and helps pull the Bluedevils down towards the cellar.

Emanuel's absence from the Ec Tech squad must be a major factor for their low standing against Stout; he couldn't miss. Bos did his scoring on shots that made him look more like a forward than center.

Winona must have really had a bad night here. Their star center quit school to begin spring baseball training; he was supposed to be the hot-shot on the Winona quint.

Bob Erickson has continued playing some sharp ball. Erick really hauls in the rebounds, and he picked up a dozen points against Winona and Eau Claire.

Brimer

Winona. He was Bluedevil captain of that game.

There aren't many home games left this season. River Falls is probably the one big attraction. Nate DeLong has been going strong this year; he scored 45 points against Superior last week. DeLong, Benson, and the rest of the River Falls squad should be a big attraction one of these Saturday nights.

Tomorrow night the team plays at LaCrosse. Stout's record on the road hasn't been sensational this year, but they already have a victory over the LaCrosse quint. Stout's height should be an important factor in the game.

BILLIARD EXPERT GIVES DEMONSTRATION

One table in the union experienced a great number of amazing billiard shots by the expert hand of Charles C. Peterson on the afternoon of February 3. Peterson lectured a few minutes on style, fundamentals, and his past experiences before he began his series of "simple and complex" shots.

Mr. Peterson had several fancy shots, such as balancing one billiard ball on another, shooting out the lower one and having it return and strike the dropped ball. There were many others too numerous to mention.

Mr. Peterson instructed students not to be fancy in their shots, as the most elementary shots will win games of pocket billiards or billiards.

CHARLES E. BODDIE SPEAKS AT CONVO

Charles Emerson Boddie, an authoritative speaker on human relations, presented an interesting speech at convocation on Wednesday. His topic was "Christianity and Freedom."

Mr. Boddie is devoting his efforts to helping peoples of all faiths to live together in harmony and understanding. For his contribution to racial relations in Huntington, West Virginia, he was selected by the editors of that city's Democratic and Chronicle as Man of the Week "for personal effort in the service of fellow citizens above and beyond the call of ordinary duty."

Mr. Boddie is the son of a colored Baptist preacher and came from a family of twenty; three members of the family are ministers and twelve of his sisters and brothers are college persons. Mr. Boddie graduated from Syracuse university; he earned his B. D. degree from the Colgate-Rochester Divinity school and his A.M. degree from the university of Rochester.

The speech he gave to the Stout audience seemed to interest all, as the comments made by many students upon leaving were, "He was interesting," and "he talked to everyone as an individual."

WINDOW SHADE CHARTS DESCRIBED BY BARNARD

"Window shades make excellent charts" according to David Barnard, head of Stout Institute's Audio-Visual Education department, in his latest article for the December '49 issue of Educational Screen.

In this article, Mr. Barnard gives the basic steps in preparing a window shade chart, including the tools and materials needed to make this type of chart, and suggests ways of arranging chart information and illustrations.

Accompanying the article are illustrations showing properly-arranged charts.

To conclude his article, Mr. Barnard offers helpful suggestions for using such charts in the classroom.

SADIE HAWKINS WEEK! TAKE TO THE HILLS

Open Season For The Gals—
Sunday, February 12,
Til 12 Midnight Saturday

This article is to give notice to all Stout's Dogpatch men what ain't married yet, to "take to the hills", 'cause the SMA's have proclaimed that from February 12th until February 18th will be Stout's official Sadie Hawkins' week. Seein' as how there be inside this college a passel of gals what ain't married yet but crave somethin' awful to be, we're advisin' yo men to git out your runnin' shoes, 'cause thar ain't no whar that's safe anymore. Even the Union will be filled with gals just achin' to ketch one of yo pore unsuspecting males.

The SMA's are not only providin' yo gals with a chance to take out the man you've been dyin' to "hook" all year, but also providin' yo men with a chance to be asked, instead of all the time doin' the askin'. Any gals who don't go a-courtin' at least one Lil' Abner during this hyar week will be violatin' all the laws of Stout's Dogpatch Chapter, and will be considered one big mezzuble skonk. To help yo gals keep the men happy, the SMA's are sponsoring a Candy Sale Monday, so yo' can get him just plumb full of candy to keep him sweet for the rest of the week. Wednesday is also the day of the all-school tea in the Harvey Memorial from 3:15 to 5:15, so fetch him in thar, 'cause yo knows that the way to a man's heart is thru his stomach. Saturday is the big event off the whole week—the Sadie Hawkins' Dance, so dig out yore wallet, gals, fetch yore man a corsage, and jump into yore best Daisy Mae outfit, 'cause thar's goin' to be some mighty nice prizes for the best dressed Dogpatch couple.

Official Sadie Hawkins' Week Rules

1. All gals should go courtin' and if a guy is ketched he's gotta co-operate.
2. The gals have gotta go after the guys, but the males have to fetch the gals home.
3. Females has gotta open the doors, walk on the gutter side of the sidewalk, help the guy with his coat, and do all other male courtesies.
4. Gals have gotta keep the men happy and amused.
5. Remember gals that the little things count, too. (compliments as—"My, yore hair looks purty" or "What a cute pair of overalls" shore do help.)
6. Pay for all entertainment, which includes his chewin' terbakker and Kickapoo Joy Juice.

KEYHOLE INSPIRES SSA OFFICE TO ACT

There were some movies shown at Stout in the past that raised a question as to whether or not they were worth attending. The film catalog expresses in a dozen words the plot or preview of the movie. Using this limited amount of information, the SSA officers have to select the movies to be shown.

The SSA officers would like to have the students write their opinions on a slip of paper, and in the near future, put them in the box outside the SSA office door.

Listed below are the movies for future Sundays.

Feb. 12 "The Gladiator"—starring Joe E. Brown. The picture centers on the life of a college football hero, namely Joe, who is very humorous on both the football field and the campus.

Feb. 26 "Slightly Honorable"—starring Pat O'Brien as a two fisted crusading attorney fighting a political uproar. To offset tension, comic relief is plentiful in this picture.

March 12 "Duke of West Point"—starring Louis Hayward, Tom Brown, and Joan Fontaine. A story that will make your blood tingle. The old tradition of Uncle Sam's fighting men showing their courage is the plot.

March 26 "Raiders of the Desert"—starring Maria Montez, Turhan Bey, and Andy Devine. The plot centers on the Arabian desert; it is adventure, humor, and a fight with warrior tribes that make the movie lively.

GYM IS "SNOWLAND" FOR PA SNOW BRAWL

The wind blew, the snow fell, and the great snow king spoke. To whom was he speaking? The Pallas Athenes were awaiting his command. "Go," he said, "into the land of The Stout Institute, and prepare a snow dance for all of the people there. I command you to do this every year in the cold season. Make it a gay place to be, where the people can have fun, but do not fail to remind them that I am near."

The members of the Pallas Athene society heeded the command and every year since they have decorated the Stout gym in mantles of white. The annual dance was first called the Snow Ball, but the title has since been changed to the Snow Brawl. The Pallas Athenes always work hard to make this annual affair a beautiful occasion.

This yaer's Snow Brawl promises to be as big and beautiful as in years previous. The music of Johnny Farwell's orchestra will float through Snowland on Saturday night. Of course there will be a floorshow during intermission. All students who are looking for an evening of relaxation in dancing and fun, will find it at the PA dance. Admission is 40 cents per person, and 70 cents per couple. The Pallas Athenes urge all to join them on Saturday night for fun in Snowland.

MISS ELEANOR H. COX ATTENDS AAUW MEET

Miss Eleanor H. Cox, president of the Menomonie branch of the American Association of University Women, attended the state board meeting of AAUW at Madison, Saturday, February 4. Reports were given by the state AAUW chairmen and branch presidents. Areas reported on were those of education, fellowship, international education and relations, legislation, radio listening, social studies, status of women, Badger briefs, membership, creative arts, and publicity.

After lunch at the College club, Mrs. Fred E. Risser, state president, turned the afternoon meeting over to Mrs. Fred B. Alsbaugh, vice president of the Northeast Central region. She discussed plans for the coming regional conference at Madison, April 21-23. Speakers of national note at the conference will be Dr. Helen White, Dr. Pearl Wanamaker, and Dr. Althea K. Hottel, national president of AAUW.

CHINA JOURNEY TO BE FEATURE AT LYCEUM

Lyceum time on Friday, February 17, will find the more adventurous members of the Stout faculty and students starting out with Karl Robinson on a "China Journey."

Anyone unfamiliar with present-day China would hardly suspect the headaches involved in making such a motion picture—as "China Journey." And though Mr. Robinson doesn't stress his difficulties, he surprised even himself with his speed in scaling a high wall—camera and all—when a spurt of civil war engulfed the town he was photographing. Nor would one suspect the endless transportation complications in getting from province to province.

"China Journey" is a smooth succession of one interesting storytelling sequence after another by a man who knows how to tell a story picturewise. Despite the civil wars and chaos, Robinson went about his work of photographing agrarian China, a phase of the country he feels gives it the underlying strength with which it has built a brilliant record of survival for the past few thousand years.

It is not easy to cover adequately so vast a division of humanity as the Chinese or to do justice to their expansive nation, but "China Journey" gives a remarkably well coordinated over-all feeling of present day China. For a glimpse of this country and an enjoyable evening, students and faculty are urged to attend this lyceum committee production in the Stout auditorium.

"JUST SHOW US" SAYS JOHN P.

(Editor's note: The following contribution is an answer from the SSA office by John Poellinger to the gripe about Sunday movies recorded last week in the Keyhole column. Since the writer of the Keyhole is free to express opinions, the paper is giving John a chance to have his say for the SSA.)

I will agree with the gripe that the past two movies have been nothing to write home about; however, I want to add that the selection of movies available to Stout at a reasonable price is quite limited. It should be remembered that Stout cannot compete on the open market with theaters for first run movies.

Furthermore, the lists of those movies that are offered Stout by various film exchanges have been scrutinized by the committee, and those that have been picked have had good write ups.

The movie that has been selected for this next Sunday is "The Gladiator" with Joe E. Brown. The data judged by is as follows: "A rollicking story of a college football star with augs galore, both off the gridiron and on. Joe E. Brown in college, performing belly-laugh jokes—the hero of the football field. A boisterous picture with a smattering of romance that captures the collegiate spirit in the unparalleled Joe E. Brown comedy." Come and judge for yourself.

If after this movie, it is the general consensus that Sunday movies are not worthwhile, the future movies will be cancelled.

Along with this, if anyone knows where good movies are available at reasonable prices, they can contact the SSA office. Also, if anyone has an "in" with Jack Warner, or any of his associates, and can arrange to bring a premier showing to Stout, the movie committe will be happy to see that the auditorium will be made available.

DR. ANDERSON TO SPEAK AT MEETING OF PHI DELTA KAPPA

Dr. Stuart Anderson of the Stout graduate faculty will be the speaker at a noon luncheon meeting of Phi Delta Kappa, honorary educational fraternity, on Friday, 10, in Madison, Wisconsin. This luncheon is being held in conjunction with the meeting of the Southern Wisconsin Education association on the same day. Dr. Anderson has been asked to talk on the subject, "Extra-contractual Income of High School Teachers in Wisconsin."

INTEGRITY IN LEADERSHIP

During the past week, several articles appearing in Wisconsin newspapers have been of particular interest to the students and faculty of The Stout Institute. These news items have been concerned with the appearance of President Fryklund before the state Emergency Board in Madison and his request for sufficient funds to continue operation of the college during the present fiscal year.

In two or three of these articles, mention was made of the fact that members of the emergency appropriations board had reprimanded President Fryklund and Stout Institute's Board of Trustees for committing two errors: first, for raising teachers' salaries more than $180 per year, and second, for failing to increase the tuition for students. On both of these counts President Fryklund agreed with the committee, but he gave clear-cut reasons for the actions taken in each case. He reported that teachers' salaries had been increased more than $180 not only to retain the college faculty, but also to put into effect the salary schedule which had previously been approved both by the Board of Trustees and the State Legislature.

Furthermore, he said, student tuition had not been increased because the state's directive to do so was issued too late to inform students of such an increase well in advance of their registration for the present year. Dr. Fryklund stated, however, that the college catalog already in press, carried the announcement of an increase in out-of-state tuition for next year, as stipulated by the Wisconsin Legislature. After a consideration of these statements and some further deliberation, the Emergency committee released certain funds to the college for its most urgent needs, funds already identified in the law as being for The Stout Institute.

These are some of the facts that help to round out the news picture of the college's recent request for the release of additional funds. Perhaps the Emergency Board is to be congratulated for vigilance in protecting state funds against possible inroads until a satisfactory explanation of Stout's needs could be given. Certainly the friends of The Stout Institute should be pleased that they have a college president who is also on guard, an administrator who keeps in sight the welfare of faculty and students alike, when, as an executive, he is required to make an emergency decision.

Well, here it is! Another week of the old grind. At 12 noon there are only 1299 hours left before we can leave for home. We are looking forward to the Easter vacation.

Not much news of any interest this week. Ross Slater went to his home for the weekend. We are going under the assumption that there is something besides his mother that he wants to see. Could we be right?

Two couples that we know of who went home are Karl Windberg and Jean Pengilly, and Pete Schellinger and Joan Davidson. Mighty nice looking couples if we do say so.

Nadine Brown looked a little lonely Saturday night. Could it be because Harold "Christy" Christensen was down at LaCrosse with the basketball team? She looked a little better Sunday, but where did she catch that cold? Christy?

Rosie Grzadziewski has been going home pretty regularly these past few weekends. We wonder if it is for the skating carnival or to see Gordy Best, a former Stout student who captivated Rosie's thoughts a few years back. Rosie won't tell.

Overheard Don Winters talking about Donna Leslie the other day. We didn't know there was any connection there. Just making plans, Don?

Our mutual friend Bill Kocaj has been "literally" sweeping Clarice Zaring off her feet. There is a cute couple. Another couple in the same category is Gordy Goessner and Joanne Buboltz. We hear they are really stuck on one another. That's pretty nice.

We noticed that Don Sargent and Bernice Danzinger have been around together lately. Don seems to be quite a "Casanova" when it comes to the girls.

We have seen Warren Barberg and Ruth Quigley out a few times. They seem to hit it off rather nicely. Can't quite seem to keep these couples straight.

Marv Lundin was walking around in a daze last Saturday. Seems his wife was in the hospital, and Marv was a little worried. We hope she's better, for Marv's sake.

Dave Randall has been heading for Woodville along with Rod Hanson these last several weekends. Could be there is something in the wind? Maybe there is something in Woodville besides nickle beer. Tell us, boys.

Dirk VanDuzee and Marge Wisemiller must be getting more than friendly. They went to River Falls last Sunday.

Dan Foltman is getting fickle. He was spending his brother's "silver dollars" that his brother received when he was discharged from the navy. Florence Pleszczynski had to play second fiddle to a sailor all weekend.

Proud pappas are Lewis Jackson and Bill Jokkel. Events just happened the past week, we understand. But we haven't received any cigars as yet!!

Noticed a lot of personalities at the Sanna Dairy Bar over the weekend. Our great bowling star Gene Tahlier took his wife in for some ice cream as did Jim Norris. Another couple that amazed us was Connie Olson and Phyl Bartosic. Imagine, Phyl eating ice cream. T'ain't right.

Over hear "Toto" Taono tell Lois Subitch that if she didn't stop bowling better than he was, he would make her pay for her own lines. We guess Toto bettered himself, for we saw them at the dance Saturday night.

There comes every year at the old Institute a chance for the fairer sex to make known their heart's desires. We are referring to Sadie Hawkins Week. Sunday, February 12, starts this happy event. The week will be climaxed by a dance Saturday night. Girls, get your running shoes on. This is your big chance.

We understand that there are three men on the campus who have defied any girls to call them for dates during Sadie Hawkins' week. We wish you girls would do something about this. We will give the names and phone numbers of these introverted males and leave the rest up to you belligerent and domineering females. First we have Casimir Brzezowicz-755R; second Henry Roesler-261W; and last but not least is Hank Tall-994M. Come on girls, do your stuff.

Well, that about winds up our supply of news for this week. What with all the girls dating the men next week we should have some pretty juicy gossip for you next issue—we hope. If you know any interesting news, bring it to the Stoutonia office, label it Key-hole, and drop it in the basket. We will get it eventually.

'Bye for now Girls—remember the old adage—Smile and the world smiles with you, Snore and you sleep alone. See you then if not sooner.

V.A. REPORTING—

NEWS RELEASES BY THE VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

The Veterans Administration recently sent a letter to the Industrial Arts department of Stout concerning veterans' requests for leave. The letter had reference to veterans enrolled in educational institutions under the provisions of Public Law 346.

The purpose of the letter was to clarify the procedure to be used by these trainees in notifying the Veterans Administration of their election as to the 15 days of leave available to them upon completion of the certified period of enrollment.

Any veteran wishing further information on the subject or desiring forms to apply for this leave should contact Dean Bowman's office as soon as possible.

National Service Life Insurance special checks will not bear any identification of the veteran, J.P. Cullen, Wisconsin regional manager of the Veterans Administration, said today.

The Veterans Administration has received many inquiries about the identification of veterans seeking to cash their NSLI special dividend checks, he said, but since it does not cash checks it can do nothing about the identification of individual veterans. That is up to those cashing checks as it is with all other checks.

The National Service Life Insurance special dividend checks will only show the object for which it was drawn, "Special NSLI Veterans Administration", Cullen stated.

COOS BY WALLY PIGEON

A teacher was having some trouble with one little boy, so she started talking to him, "Johnny, do you have any brothers or sisters?"
Johnny: "No, I am the only one."
Teacher: "Thank goodness."

This was overheard from a source outside of school: "Oh, this is the place that my folks told me to stay away from. I thought that we'd never find it."

Now when I tell a joke, I can tell that when some people laugh right away that they get the point, but when they laugh the second time I know that they see a double meaning.

I have the following material that may increase the life of some people and in fact some of you readers. If you want to live to be 100 years old, well, all you have to do is drink a glass of milk every morning for 1,200 months.

After the highway accident, the dazed motorist came to. I had the right of way, didn't I? I'm positive I did."

Witness: "Sure, but the other fellow had a truck."

Girls if you want to keep your youth, don't introduce him to anybody.

STOUT'S
Tonia

Go out with Bob? I'd rather take out Bill with his car!

Co-ed: "If I let you kiss me on one cheek, which one will you choose?"
Lover: "I would probably hesitate a long time between them."

One day, as a Stout student made it to class on time (which was never his habit before), the instructor told him: "Glad to see that you made it, right on time."

Stude: "Yes sir, I got me a parrot."

Instru: "A parrot, young fellow! I told you to get an alarm clock."

Stude: "I never could wake up when I had the alarm clock; but now I've got this parrot. And what that parrot says when the alarm awakens him is enough to wake anybody."

So the installation of parrots in all classrooms will begin in the near future.

Some of you readers are, of course, familiar with organization charts, but the following is one that you should especially note. In the public schools in our present times, the teachers are scared of the principals, principals are scared of the superintendents, superintendents are scared of the board, the boards are scared of the parents, the parents are scared of the children, and the children are scared of nobody.

A shocked reformer: "On the way here we passed about twenty-five people in parked cars."

Liberal Person: "Oh, I'm sure that you're mistaken. It must have been an even number."

Here's one reason why women have some consumer education, a certain woman drove into a garage and complained that her car was burning too much gasoline. The mechanic pointed out that the choke button was pulled way out from the dash, so he asked her, "Do you know what that button is for?"

"Oh, that thing," answered the woman quite uncertainly, "I never use it, so I keep it pulled out to hang my handbag on it."

A country school teacher in Arkansas was confronted, one day, by a hillbilly who had brought his big son in for an education at the beginning of the school term.

Hillbilly: "I brung in my son for larnin'. What's yore bill o'fare?"
Teacher: "I teach arithmetic, algebra, geometry, and trigonometry."

Hillbilly: "That last one I think is good," said the hillbilly. "Load him down with that triggonometry. He needs it. He's the only pore shot in the family, now."

Some critics of the fashions of women's hats state that many a modern girl's hat looks like a mop, but that doesn't bother her. Since she is a modern girl, she doesn't know what a mop looks like.

"DOUBLE DOOR" SELECTED AND CAST BY MAP

As this year's choice for Stout's spring play, the Manual Arts Players have selected a mystery-drama, "Double Door."

The "Double Door" is a story of Victoria Van Bret who rules her family with a maniac's firmness. Her sister Caroline is helpless before her. Her half-brother Rip cannot stand up against her. In a dark room that has not been changed since her father died, Victoria goes through her cheerless routine with cruel regularity. She is more cruel than ever just now because Rip is marrying a young lady who is not of his social station, and Victoria senses a threat to the integrity of the Van Bret fortune. How Victoria tortures the bride with studied austerity and finally tries to murder her is the malevolent burden of the play.

The cast chosen to support this well-written play is as follows: Victoria is played by Geraldine Raisler; Caroline by Dorothy Widell, their half-brother by Lee Flanders, Rip's wife Ann by Clarice Zarling, the housekeeper Avery by Jeanette Bolles, Louise the maid by Mary Bohrnstedt, William a young footman and Telson the butler by Eugene Sawyer and Allen Swan respectively, Chase a kindly representative of New York's "Rascals" by Dave Johnson, Mr. Neff a lawyer by Donald Landsverk, Dr. John Sully by Dennis Brooks, and Detective Lambert by Robert Adkins.

The play will be put on sometime in the middle of March.

NEWMANITES TRAVEL TO RIVER FALLS

An outdoor party was held for the Stout and Eau Claire Newmanites at River Falls, Sunday, February 5, from 2 until 7 p.m.

The afternoon entertainment consisted of tobogganing and other outdoor sports. Upon returning to the church dining hall, students played cards before lunch was served.

Refreshments served were chili and crackers, cake, and coffee.

After lunch was served, a River Falls faculty member showed slides on Alaska where he had been stationed while he was in the service.

Father Carl Wolmuth, adviser of The Stout Institute Newman club, was also present.

"KENJI COMES HOME" MOVIE AT LSA

Team two under the capable leadership of its co-captains, Ruby Jarmen and Gordon Goessner, had charge of the Sunday meeting of the LSA, held at Our Savior's Lutheran church.

Joan Lee was head of the food committee which served a delicious supper consisting of spaghetti and cheese, apple and cabbage salad, rolls, coffee, and chocolate pudding.

All of the people who had spoons with pointed handles had to help wash dishes. While they were cleaning up, Don Winters led group singing.

Jean Van Lieu then read the scripture lesson and the prayer for the evening.

Russ Boettner introduced the main part of the program, "Kenji Comes Home," a movie showing how a homeless, friendless, and defeated Japanese soldier became a Christian.

The group then formed a friendship circle and sang "Blest Be The Tie That Binds." The meeting closed with the Lords Prayer.

LABS PAINTED RE-EQUIPPED IN IE BUILDING

Electricity Rooms Receive More Work Stations And Rose Colored Walls

Facilities for the teaching of electricity at Stout are being greatly improved with the complete remodeling and thorough re-equipping of the electricity rooms on the third floor of the IE building.

The remodeling, under the direction of Mr. Phil Ruehl, instructor in electricity at Stout, was begun during Christmas vacation and is expected to be finished by the end of the current semester.

Greatest single improvement will be the doubling of the number of available work stations. Previously, a class of twenty-four students was forced to work in twelve booths. Now, there are twenty-four work stations, situated along newly installed and completely equipped benches.

The old booths were found inadequate because of the cramped conditions they created, and because of the difficulty found in properly ventilating them. The new benches were designed with the cooperation of Mr. Rudolph Roen, and constructed by the Heebink Lumber Company, Baldwin, Wis.

Each bench has an electric channel down its center, which provides it with low current AC-DC, as well as 110 volt AC-DC. The radio class has been given the job of wiring these channels which will eventually contain over 2000 feet of wire.

Other improvements will be three new tool cabinets, 66 new lockers, a modernized clean-up sink, and a special radio test bench. Special high voltage DC power has been added for radio work. The room itself was completely redecorated with light ceiling and rose colored walls.

Among other improvements was the removal to storage of much of the antiquated motor generator test equipment.

PAPER RECEIVES PEP-UP WITH PAINT

As a highlight to the redecoration program being carried on in the buildings on the campus, 'Ye Olde Stoutonia Office' has received a new coat of paint. This office is the home of the editorial staff of your paper.

The room, which is located in the basement of the Home Economics building at the extreme north-west end of that structure, has been painted a light yellow and is trimmed with grey. (Artist and colorists will please forgive the failing eyes of this reporter if the hue or chroma is off a shade).

To say that the new shine is an improvement would be an understatement. The improvement in brightness alone has cost reporters inches of shoeleather in walking back to be sure they have turned out all of the lights. But, above all, the improvement in the homey appearance of the office has brightened the spirits of its occupants, and will, in the long run, result in more cheerful reporting for your school paper.

"THE GLADIATORS" FILM TO BE SHOWN SUNDAY

A fellow with a mouth so large that he uses two tooth brushes at one time to do a faster job, is coming to the Stout auditorium screen on Sunday, February 12, at 2:30 p.m.

Here is a hint to his identity—his first name is Joe, his middle initial is E. and his last name is Brown. The whole works compose the name of a comedian who will be as funny as a smoke stack on a flat-bottomed duck boat in January.

The name of the movie is "The Gladiators." The dictionary stated a couple of definitions, but this one seems to fit Joe's bill—"one who fought with a weapon in public for the amusement of the people."

A short subject will also be shown during the program.

A-V FACILITIES AT STOUT ARE INCREASED

Here's good news for those members of the faculty and student body who have been stymied by the lack of audio-visual facilities around school. Some of the bottleneck is being eliminated by a program now underway to convert room IE 22 into a projection room. Blackout curtains will be fitted to the windows of this room and a movie screen installed.

Mr. Barnard of the Audio-Visual Education department has requisitioned a new light-weight projector to be used in this room.

The projector, a 28 pound Ampro "Stylist" constructed of magnesium alloy castings, will be stored in the office which is shared by Messrs. Phil Ruehl, Ray Kransusch, Ernest Rawson and Matthew Reneson. It will be light enough to facilitate the converting from classroom to projection room as circumstances require.

A 2x2 slide projector has also been placed in the hands of Mr. Chinnock and his practice classes to help improve the audio-visual set-up.

MARJORY ELLIOTT, NEW HE TEACHER

By now you have all noticed the teacher with the bright smile and pleasing personality who has taken her place in the Home Economics Education department here at Stout. This is Miss Marjory Elliott, who is assistant professor of home economics and supervisor of cadet teachers.

But did you know she claims to be a native from Missouri? Being a graduate from the Missouri University with a Bachelor of Science and a Master of Arts degree, together with a long list of teaching experience in the state, well justifies Miss Elliott's claim.

Highlighting her teaching career is "the one wonderful year" that she spent supervising intern teachers at the University of Hawaii. She has also had supervising teaching positions at the University of Missouri, Northwest Missouri Teacher's college and the Iowa State Teacher's college.

When asked about her special interests, Miss Elliott commented, "I have no particular likes or dislikes."

HOME ECONOMICS FILM TO BE SHOT SOON

Final plans are being made by the Audio-Visual department for the photographing of the Home Economics publicity film. The committee has decided to make the film a sound film of the narration type.

Actual photographing for the film will be done by the Audio-Visual department under the supervision of Mr. Barnard and Jerry Cook. The film will then be sent away for processing where a professional announcer will do the narrating. Just which company will do the processing and who will do the narrating have not as yet been disclosed.

ISSAC WALTON'S REPORT "FISHING IS FINE"

The residents of Lynwood hall have a few fishermen in their midst. The Issac Waltons report that, besides head colds, they are catching a few blue gills.

They do not rely on weekends; they fish the whole week through. The fellows must live on a straight fish diet.

The boys reported that the season on large fish closed January 15. Small fish season will be closed March 15. If other students are interested in this cool sport, they could start right now, and keep it up until the day the season is over.

"SWING YOUR PARTNER AND DOCI DO"

As a part of the girls Physical Education program, Mrs. Phillip Ruehl instructs classes in square dancing for those girls choosing that part of the curriculum. Mrs. Ruehl believes that a course in square dancing is a valuable asset to any Home Economics graduate. Teachers often need such experience for 4-H and other youth work.

TEACHERS ARE NEEDED IN THE PHILIPPINES

According to the registrar's office, the following information has been received concerning grants for encouraging American vocational teachers to teach in the Philippine Islands:

The Department of State and the Board of Foreign Scholarships announce grants to 14 American citizens to teach in two educational institutions of the Philippines under the provisions of the Fulbright Act, Public Law 584, 79th Congress. These grants will include a basic living allowance, a supplementary maintenance allowance, and round-trip transportation, all payable in Philippine currency. Applicants should have a bachelors degree and graduate work, be between the ages of approximately 25-50 years, have at least three years of successful teaching experience and practical vocational experience. Appointments of successful candidates are for the single school year 1950-51. Experienced teachers for the following positions have been requested for the Philippine School of Arts and Crafts in Manila:

Automotive mechanics, plumbing, electrical wiring, sheet metal work and air conditioning, machine operations, mechanical drawing, machine design, blue print reading, woodworking with machinery, industrial arts, and vocational education.

Persons interested in these opportunities may secure application blanks from and file their applications with the Division of International Educational Relations, Office of Education, Federal Security Agency, Washington, 25, D.C., or from the registrar's office at Stout.

According to the Department of State, certain minimum qualifications have been set up for American teachers going abroad to teach in foreign schools:

Education and Professional Training—A bachelor's degree and additional graduate work; preferably a master's degree.

Successful Teaching Experience—At least three years of teaching experience and a reasonable likelihood of continued teaching service.

Good Health—Proof against changes in diet and climate, as evidenced by a medical examination and a physician's statement.

Emotional Maturity and Stability—A well-adjusted personality which enables teachers to cooperate and make personal and professional adjustments and to hold current plans in abeyance pending complete approval of an exchange teacher appointment.

Adaptability—Willingness to make friends with foreign nationals.

Age—Approximately between 25 and 50 years.

U.S. Citizenship

Good Moral Character

Competence in a Foreign Language—Candidates should have a reasonable facility in speaking, reading, writing and understanding the language of the country in which they wish to teach. Occasionally positions are available which do not require this language competence.

Genuine Interest in a foreign Culture and Educational System.

DAVID E. THOMAS DIES OF LEUKEMIA

A Stout graduate, David E. Thomas, died at the home of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Thomas, at 822 N. Avenue, Waukegan, Illinois, on December 31, 1949. Mr. Thomas, 38, suffered from leukemia for the past year and a half.

Mr. Thomas was born in Waukegan, December 9, 1911, and had lived there most of his life. He was deaf from birth. Mr. Thomas attended Miss Reinhardt's Home for Little Deaf Children in Kensington, Md., and North School in Waukegan. He was a graduate of Waukegan Township high school and The Stout Institute.

Mr. Thomas was a member of the Lutheran church at Menomonie. He belonged to the deaf fraternity of Rockford.

Mr. Thomas had worked at the Johns-Manville plant and Alexander Carpet company at Waukegan.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his wife, Irene, and daughter, Dixie, of Rockford, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Anderson of Rockford and Mrs. Jean Schowalter of West Bend, Wis.

PETER BROSS, ARCHITECT, PASSES AWAY

Peter Paul Bross, Stout graduate and architect, died at Saint Mary's hospital in Rochester, January 17, following a stroke which he had suffered the previous week. He was 55 years old.

Mr. Bross was born September 24, 1894, in Waseca. He went to Rochester from Owatonna in 1915.

He graduated in mechanical drawing from Stout Institute in 1913, and in architecture from the University of Minnesota in 1925. At the university he was a member of the Tau Sigma Delta, honorary fraternity in architecture, and Tau Beta Pi, honorary fraternity in engineering. He was a member of the American Institute of Architecture and the Minnesota Society of Architects.

He was in partnership with the late John McMiller from 1925 to 1932. The Rochester city hall, fire station, Hawthorne addition, and many churches. In association with Harold Crawford, Mr. Bross served as architect for the Central school post office, and library.

POLICY SOUGHT TO PROTECT TEACHERS

John R. Wolter '23, who is with the Pittsburg Public schools, Pittsburg, Va., sent an article to the Stoutonia that should be of interest to every teacher of shop work. It tells of the effort to obtain insurance for industrial arts similar to that started by football coaches and parents to cover football players.

The article follows:

Several years ago a move was started by the football coaches and parents of the boys in the squad for an accident insurance policy to cover any accidents that may occur either during practice or during a game. Such a policy was obtained at a nominal fee and the protection of the coach was assured from any court suit.

Now the industrial arts, home economic, and vocational teachers are striving for a policy to cover accidents occurred by the pupils while in their shops. As you know, a pupil or parent cannot enter suit against a school board, but they can enter suit against an industrial teacher claiming negligence in the line of duty—a charge not easily defended in court. In order that such a policy would protect the teacher, every pupil would have to participate and be a policy holder. Those who could not afford it would either be deprived of shop work or have their policy financed some other way.

Another way in which the teacher may be protected is by having a rider or clause attached to his Household Liability insurance whereby for a small extra fee he can have his policy protect him while in his shop.

The Pittsburg T.I.E. (Trade and Industrial Education) is now working on such a program, and it is hoped that next year every teacher of industrial arts, home economics, and vocational education will be adequately protected against any law suit that may arise because of injuries received by the pupils while in their classes.

LYLE CROSBY REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

The following letter is from Lyle Crosby '47, who is teaching in Neah Bay, Washington, as far northwest as anyone can get and still be in the United States.

"Will write you a few lines and let you know what has happened to me. I am as far northwest as anyone can get and still be in the US, it is only about five miles out to Tatoosh Island, the last point of land. I am rather busy teaching four shop classes, algebra, and geometry, but the classes are small, averaging about ten students. The shop is excellent, but it is run down and needs a lot of work to get all the general shop areas in operation. It has all the woodworking machines, metal lathe, forge, foundry, a separate drawing room, a 45' X 20' boatshop, toolroom, darkroom, and printshop."

R. W. BURGETT "34. GRADUATE EDITS ARTICLE

Among the articles in the November, 1949, issue of Illinois Vocational Progress magazine is a feature "Does Quality Work Pay?" by Ray W. Burgett. Mr. Burgett is an industrial arts instructor at East high school, Aurora, Illinois, and a Stout graduate ('34).

He begins his article by asking if the importance of student projects has decreased because of the need for broadening course content and providing related information. Mr. Burgett answers by saying that a well-chosen project can serve as the hub of an entire program.

According to the author, each project must challenge the student, provide opportunity for development of new skills and learning of new information, and provide the student with pride of accomplishment in his work. The danger, however, is that much of the real value of a project is lost once the project has been chosen.

Mr. Burgett warns all instructors not to accept lowered standards of work while attempting to broaden course content. He bases his decision on the success which four of his students have recently in winning national woodworking prizes, believing that acceptance of lowered standards of workmanship sacrifices both the project and all other objectives of a program.

The author next turns to the problem of encouraging better work in the finishing room. He suggests stimulating a feeling of pride of workmanship rather than that of "getting by." He warns also that permitting students to depend on plastic wood to cover errors of workmanship is poor advertising for both teacher and school.

An additional warning stressed by Mr. Burgett is that of not permitting the teacher to do procedures which students dislike or have not learned. Students, he says, learn very little when the teacher is excessively helpful. Furthermore, the author points out, sound training in hand tool work in grade and junior high shops is vital, for it provides a sound basis for later machine work which lies more in the realm of high school shop.

According to Mr. Burgett, holding students to high standards of work helps make a course occupationally functional. He cites examples of students whose school-obtained skills have won them ready industrial employment. Other graduates have written letters in appreciation of the type of training which stressed high standards, work discipline, and wholesome respect for the right of others.

In concluding his article, Mr. Burgett urges shop teachers to upgrade themselves by seeking appropriate va-

ANNE LARSON FINISHES DIETETICS INTERNSHIP

In a letter from Paul and Anne Larsen informing the Stoutonia of their change of address, Mrs. Larsen writes that she has completed her internship in dietetics, but she has not as yet taken a position. She informs us that Paul is an assistant scoutmaster for a group of Boy Scouts along with his teaching duties. He is kept sufficiently busy with his work.

She writes that they have been somewhat disabled too; Paul with a sprained left knee and she with a sprained right wrist.

Their new address is 2016 Hamilton, Manitowoc, Wis.

On Thursday of last week the Alpha Kappa chapter of Sigma Tau Gamma held a smoker for all the men on the campus.

At this event, the men were treated to pop corn, cigars, and cigarettes, after which the enjoyed the film, "World Series of 1949." Two other films on baseball were presented to wind up the evening. A large crowd of males enjoyed this exclusive entertainment, which took a great deal of planning on the part of the committee.

N. VAN DALSEM GIVES ACCOUNT OF EXPERIENCES

Former Stout Grad of 1902
Teaches Forty-Two Years;
Recalls "Good Old Days"

As one of the oldest Stout graduates still living, Newton Van Dalsem has responded to a request for a summary of his activities during the past half century.

Mr. Van Dalsem came to Menomonie from Eau Claire in 1900 to finish his high school course. He graduated in 1902 and taught for a few years on the strength of a diploma and a little trade experience. He returned to Stout in 1906 and graduated in 1908. He spent eight years at Neenah, two at Davenport, and a few months with the U. S. Shipping Board during World War I. He served for a brief period as State Supervisor in Colorado, and State Director in Oregon before going to California in 1920.

A year in a suburban high school and twenty-one years in the Los Angeles city schools with retirement in 1944 wound up his forty-two years in the teaching profession.

Mr. Van Dalsem states that when he came to Menomonie in 1900 he met another boy of his own age with whom he was destined to spend a great deal of time. Together they attended school, went to parties, worked at trades, and at times even ate and slept together. Later they built the manual training equipment at Chippewa Falls. The man was H. M. Hansen, present wood-working teacher at the college.

Some years later when he was a senior at Stout and "a kind of" member of the faculty, Mr. Van Dalsem had in one of his classes a young man named Clyde Bowman, and he mentions that he believes after Mr. Bowman became a member of the Stout faculty one of his students was a young man named Verne Fryklund.

"Alas for the good old days of fifty years ago," says Mr. Van Dalsem in concluding his summary.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER GIVES IMPRESSIONS

Editors Note—The Stoutonia is initiating a series of articles written by previous winners of alumni scholarships which are offered each year by the Stout Alumni association. James Cook of Cambridge, Wis., one of the scholarship winners this year, tells how he first heard of Stout and his later impressions.)

The first time I heard of Stout was when a friend of mine mentioned it to me. When he explained to me what the school curriculum covered, my interest was awakened and I decided that I would obtain more information about the school.

I wrote to Stout and asked for college catalog.

After examining the catalog, I began to inquire of my high school teachers to obtain their opinion of Stout. In all cases, the teachers recommended Stout to me. It was at this time that I decided to enroll at The Stout Institute.

One day, my social science teacher gave me an application form for The Stout Institute Alumni Association scholarship. Enthusiastically, I made out the necessary forms and mailed them to the Scholarship Committee. Later, I received a reply from the committee stating that I had been awarded the Alumni Scholarship.

I can state that the scholarship has been of great value to me, and I wish that all interested persons would make an active effort to distribute the application forms to prospective Stout students, so as many people as possible.

My first impressions of Stout have been very favorable. The one factor which has impressed me most during the past semester, has been the friendliness between the students and the fact that there is no discrimination between upper and lower classmen at Stout.

REMEMBER WHEN

Remember when three years ago a new fraternity was organized on the campus. The Phalanx began with fifteen charter members.

The new student Union opened its doors for business, and already was overcrowded. The SMA's proclaimed Sadie Hawkins week, and published twelve rules to be followed; these were to give the fellows an even break when the rush started.

The Stout Radio club became official when President Fryklund approved the charter of the new club.

CAGERS TRAVEL TO OSHKOSH, PLATTEVILLE

The victory-starved Blue Devils will attempt to break into the win column with a pair of games on the agenda for the coming weekend. The team will travel to Oshkosh, Wisconsin to play Oshkosh Teachers College on February 11. From there, they move southwest to play the Pioneers of Platteville, State Teachers College.

The man Stout will have to watch in the Oshkosh aggregation is Doug Richie. Richie's average rivals that of such well-known players as Rehfeldt of Wisconsin and Ron Bontemps of Beloit. Other Titans that will bear watching are Lautenschlager, Shumacher, and Spaulding.

NEW RULES PASSED AT LYNWOOD

The men's dorm recently held a meeting at which some very important items were brought up for the men to act upon. These points have been passed upon by the men of the dorm, and it is the wish of the dorm officers that all men of the college who visit the dorm at any time read and know just what has been done.

Mr. Storti, resident head, brought up the point that recently many long distance phone calls have been made from the dorm. These calls are charged against the men of the dorm. It must be known by all people having any connection with the dorm, that this phone is for residents of the dorm only and they are to use this phone for local calls only. Any person caught using the phone, who is not a member of the dorm, will be dealt with severely.

Secondly, the fact that many outside students have been using the dorm as an "open-house" shower house was brought up. Again the men would like to point out that the dorm showers are for members of the dorm only. Any man wishing a shower is free at any time to use the showers in the Physical Education building. Again, outside men caught using the showers of the dorm will be dealt with appropriately.

SKI CLUB MAKES USE OF REMAINING SNOW

With the coming of warm weather the Ski club is rushing to make the most of what snow is left. The club had planned to go to Mount Telemark again this week-end but Carleton college sent up a ski train to Telemark and reserved all the extra skis so the Stout Ski club spent the week-end on local slopes. The fellows and girls piled into three cars about 10:00 p.m. Saturday and took off for a good all-round hill near Menomonie.

Some of the better skiers set up a slalom course and practiced their turns while the novices and their "coaches" spent the day on less difficult runs. After about three hours of climbing, skiing, and a few minor spills, the group came back to Menomonie for dinner and an afternoon of rest. With the coming of spring close at hand, the club is considering one or more trips up to Telemark before hanging up their equipment for the summer. These last trips will be held soon so as to take advantage of the remaining snow.

INTER-VARSITY CONFERENCE TO BE HELD HERE

"I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life" will be the theme of the Northern Wisconsin Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship conference sponsored by Stout Christian Fellowship, Friday through Sunday noon, February 24-26, on the Stout campus.

Dr. Bruce Compton, professor of philosophy and religion at Macalaster college, St. Paul, together with Mr. Donald Rosenberger, ex-professional gambler and now instructor at Northwestern schools, Minneapolis, and his wife, will be the guest speakers. With the cooperation of John Hermanson, Inter-Varsity staff member for this area, an entire program will be presented.

Beginning the three-day session will be a registration period, followed by the opening meeting at which Mr. Rosenberger will speak. Bible study and discussion group, recreation, an afternoon session, and a banquet followed by an address from Dr. Compton will be included in the Saturday program. A Bible study period and worship service will conclude the conference on Sunday.

The main objectives of the sessions are to help students in learning to know, love, and serve the Lord Jesus Christ; to find time to pray; to study the Bible; and to become effective campus witnesses; and prepare for spiritual leadership.

Students from Eau Claire, Rive Falls, Minneapolis, and Winona have been invited to the meetings, and all Stout students, regardless of denomination, are welcome to attend any or all of the sessions. A registration fee of one dollar and $1.25 for the banquet will be made. Further information will be announced at a later date.

I know of a surprise that nothing can compare with—this surprise is treading on a stair that isn't there.

TEAM DROPS SUPERIOR AND LA CROSSE

The Bluedevil basketball squad dropped two conference games last week. On the armory floor last Tuesday, the Superior Yellowjackets staved off a last minute Bluedevil rally to defeat the Stout five 64 to 61. Last Saturday the LaCrosse Teacher's college team defeated the Stout squad 51-44.

Superior
The first half the game was played in even terms. Superior scored the first basket and led the Bluedevils throughout the course of the game. The half time ended with Superior leading 29-21.

The second half started with Superior jumping to a quick lead. In the early portion of the second half Superior had a 42-24 count on the Bluedevils. With four minutes remaining, Superior's centers fouled out of the game. The Bluedevils caught fire, and rebounding by Stai and Erickson pulled the Bluedevils within three points of Superior.

LaCrosse
The LaCrosse Teacher's college team's scoring drive in the closing portion of the game was strong enough to defeat the Bluedevils 51 to 44.

The first half was slow with neither team able to do much scoring. At the half time, La Crosse was leading, 23 14.

At the second half both teams began hitting. LaCrosse scored 28 points in the second period, Stout scored 30 points in the second half, but the Bluedevils couldn't make up the difference of the first half.

For LaCrosse, Glen Schwanberg tallied 12 points. Vaughn Stai led the Bluedevil scoring with 10 points.

Mr. and Mrs. Quickrich were staying at a swanky seaside hotel. One evening, while they were dining with friends, the conversation turned to music. Someone spoke of Mozart.

Mrs. Quickrich smiled archly. "Oh, of course," she said, "What a coincidence. Only this morning I saw him and his wife on the Monroe Bus on their way to the beach."

"How many times have I told you to keep quiet when they're discussing something you know nothing about?" "What did I do this time?"

"Ye gods! You've been here long enough to know that the Monroe Bus doesn't go to the beach!" —Emerson

SWIMMERS THINK FAST FOR SHRAMM

Fast thinking on the part of several swimmers in the Stout pool last Monday night, February 6, perhaps prevented a serious accident when one of the participants in a game of water polo dislocated his left shoulder and had to be helped from the water.

The accident occurred when Guy Shramm dislocated his shoulder in a sudden lunge for the ball. Shramm held onto the edge of the pool until another swimmer, Elwin Amyx, arrived, and with the help of several others, managed to pull Shramm from the water. The boys had been in the pool with several of the lifeguards who had just finished supervising a boy scout period.

Doctor George Bryant, the physician who had been summoned immediately five minutes from his home and corrected the dislocation without charge, as a token service to the students of Stout Institute.

An instructor was conducting a science course on the fourth floor of the I.E. Building. One of the requirements in the written quiz was "Define a bolt and nut and explain the difference, if any." A girl wrote:

"A bolt is a thing like a stick of hard metal such as iron with a square bunch on one end and a lot of scratching wound around the other end. A nut is similar to the bolt only just the opposite being a hole in a little chunk of iron sawed off short, with scratching around the inside of the hole."

The startled professor marked that one with a large "A".

FOURTH HOUR OF MUSIC DRAWS LARGE CROWD

The fourth program of An Hour of Music was held Thursday afternoon, at 4:00 in the Harvey Memorial. The program consisted of "The London Suite" by Eric Coates, played by the London Philharmonic orchestra and conducted by the composer. The second recording played was a Columbia Long-Playing recording "Suite from Der Rosenkavalier" by Richard Strauss, played by the Philadelphia orchestra with Eugene Ormandy conducting. The last number was a favorite of many—"Rhapsody in Blue" by George Gershwin, with the Boston "Pops" orchestra, Arthur Fiedler, conductor.

In spite of the short notice of the fourth program, a large number of interested students attended the hour of classical music.

MEET STANDARDS For B. S. Degree

According to Miss Gertrude M. O'Brien college registrar, the following students completed the requirements for the bachelor of science degree in January, 1950. Candidates with majors in industrial education are:

Amthor, Fred; Ayers, Charles W.; Babick, Robert; Bachmann, Robert; Berghuis, Harvey; Blaessing, Robert; Boetcher, Bert; Bolt, Milton; Braun, Donald; Burmeister, Louis; Crowley, Robert; Dreyer, Sherman; Dunne, Richard.

Ebert, Edwin; Fehrenbach, William; Gannagan, Lloyd R.; Gappa, Gerald; Hanna, Robert; Hannes, Robert; Hansen, John E.; Hehli, William; Jensen, George; Kane, Ellsworth; Katalinich, Joseph; Kickbush, Roland.

Kunz, Paul; Lake, John; McKay, Robert; Magnuson, Thorwald; Meisner, Herbert; Michalsen, Howard; Moore, Merlin; Norton, George; Oettmeier, Arthur J.; Olson, Harris; Pott-hast, Arnold.

Raether, Donald H.; Richter, Warren; Robinson, Lynn; Roepke, Richard; Rotnem, Manfred; Rudow, John P.; Schmidt, Alvin; Schwellenbach, August; Serra, Darwin C.

Smith, Ralph; Thompson, Teppen; Vernon, Walter J.; Wasinger, Gordon; Wentorf, Fred; Willink, Robert A.; Yadosky, Paul; Young, James R.; and Young, William F.

Women who received the bachelor's degree with a major in home economics include:

Howard, Eleanor Erickson; Harck, Arlene; Lietzke, Ardelie; Lindgren, Carol Brack; McGarty, Ellen; Quist, Lois; Riley, Eileen; and Zimmerman, Doris.

DEMONSTRATION CLASS TO START ON MONDAY NITE

Are you looking for ideas to cut your food budget or for something different you can serve that hungry family? If you are you will want to join that group of women who will be meeting for six weeks each Monday evening from 7 to 9 for food demonstrations in Room 301 in the Home Economics building at The Stout Institute.

As you probably know, this is one of the new food laboratories recently completed at The Stout Institute. The mirror over the demonstration table makes the demonstrations as much fun to watch as any program on television report those who have had an opportunity to watch one.

If an educational as well as entertaining evening is what you wish, then join this group to learn some ways of preparing thrifty, satisfactory dishes. Suggestions for cutting time in preparation and for efficient use of equipment will be stressed throughout the course.

Those wishing to enroll should call Mr. Loren Jaeger in the vocational office at the High School. While there is no fee for this course, early registration will assure you a copy of the recipes being prepared for the class.

The subject for the first meeting will be "The Thrifty Touch for February Meals," the time 7 o'clock Monday evening, February 20, and the place Room 301 in the Home Economics building at The Stout Institute.

M.S. DEGREES OBTAINED BY FOUR STUDENTS

An announcement from the office of the registrar indicates that the following persons met the requirements for the Master of Science degree on January 20: Richard James Trezona, Minneapolis; Robert Royce Lyuch, Green Bay; Edward W. Flayer, Buffalo, N.Y., and Roy Herman Mittelstadt, Roberts.

The diplomas will be awarded to these men at the annual college commencement which takes place on June 2. At that time, additional candidates, who will complete the requirements, will also receive the Master's degree.

National, Regional Officers Of National Student Group See Stout Firsthand

The vice-president of the National Student association and two officers of the Wisconsin NSA region visited Stout last week. Originally slated to appear at the student assembly in the morning to present NSA to the Stout student body, the three representatives arrived too late and, therefore, spent the day in talking to students and visiting the shops and labs.

Richard Medalie, NSA vice president in charge of educational problems; Winston McDaniel, president of the NSA Wisconsin region; and Les Scharf, public relations, were the guests of the SSA officers and the Stout governing board during the day.

The visitors were impressed by the student governing set-up at Stout. As they commented, "Stout is fortunate to have a good student governing system which cannot be compared in many other schools."

NSA was the chief topic at a noon lunch meeting of the NSA representatives, the SSA officers, student governing board representatives, and the faculty advisers.

Stout was the first stop of a four-day tour of colleges in western Wisconsin. Eau Claire, River Falls, Lacrosse, and Platteville teachers colleges were also in the itinerary.

Warren Phillips, SSA president, and the other SSA officers will be informing students of Stout more about NSA through their column, SSA Message.

LAST EDITION WANTED OF STOUT CATALOG

An emergency is being faced by the dietetic graduates who need copies of the regular session Stout catalog now. All those applying for internship at hospitals must include a Stout catalog along with their other credentials. Because the college is out of the current edition, the dietetic majors are asking for catalogs which the students might have.

All who have a presentable copy of the catalog—the brown and gold cover edition—are asked to contact any of the needy students as soon as possible. They are Donna Franken, Alice Fechner, Delores Lanners, Lila Nelson, Darlene Nelson, Ardelie Krueger, and Florence Severson.

The seven women each need three copies of the catalog. Ardelie Krueger, acting as spokesman for the student dieticians, emphasized the need and speed of sending out the catalogs with the application forms right away.

STUDENT TEACHERS HOLD CONFERENCE HOUR

Every Wednesday afternoon from four to five, student teachers in home economics hold a conference hour. Announcements and questions which have arisen during the week are discussed, and various topics which deal with student teaching are brought out.

On Wednesday, February 7, Miss Cecilia Zine gave a talk on bulletin board displays and demonstrated briefly the way to cut block letters. After these meetings refreshments are usually served by various committees.

SADIE HAWKINS' DANCE TO BE NOVEL AFFAIR

Sadie Hawkins' Dance is Sat. Nite Dancin' from 9:30-11:30, all right? George Soderberg's orchestra will play, you see.

A penny for each inch off your waistline, the fee.

So gals grab a man with a waistline that's small. It'll be easier on the pockets, and not much to haul.

Everyone come dressed in best Dogpatch style.

With the prizes we've got, it'll be worth your while.

Corsages are in order, so you gals start to think,

Use your imagination, but easy on the stink.

After the game, the shuffle will begin. So rope'em up, gals, and bring 'em in.

ALUM SCHOLARSHIPS

Students: Do you know of any deserving high school senior interested in attending Stout? If so, obtain an Alumni scholarship blank from Herb Anderson and mail it to that senior. The blank must be filled out and returned by April 1 so that the scholarship committee will have sufficient time to select the two winners.

SSA REPORTS TV DRIVE GROWS

Various Methods To Obtain Stickers For Drive Are Worked On

The SSA office reports over 1,000 red Flame Room coffee stickers are accounted for toward the Philco television, radio-phonograph set. This means one tenth of the total distance reached.

The committee is happy to record the first 1,000 stickers, but the next 1,000 should be attained in a shorter period of time if everyone hustles around and really gets busy.

Now that the wheels of progress are rotating, the students, the faculty, and everybody connected with the drive directly or indirectly must continue to feed the thermometer that boils a vido set at 10,000 stickers.

Various methods of obtaining stickers are being worked on. Merchants of Menomonee are co-operating to the fullest extent to lessen the load on the students' part. The best way the student can help is to write home immediately and inform his parents, relatives, and friends to switch to Flame Room coffee to support the large sticker drive. Remember, just a little over 10 stickers per person and the vido set will be installed in the union, free of any cost, by the Mc Garvey Coffee company of Minneapolis.

Mailed Flame Room stickers can also be credited to the Stout union if designated so in letters sent directly to the Mc Garvey Coffee company, 601 North Fourth St., Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Folks back home can send them to the SSA office, where they are happily accepted.

JULIAN GROMER WILL PRESENT TRAVELOGUE

Julian Gromer, world traveler, photographer, and lecturer, will present a travelogue on "Sunny Cuba" at convocation on Wednesday, February 22.

Mr. Gromer will take the audience on a 2,000 mile tour of the island of Cuba, portraying the beauty of a tropical island which is truly foreign. On the tour, visits will be made to many Cuban cities such as Havana, Artemisa, and Santa Clara.

Mr. Gromer will show pictures of beautiful Cuban scenery, the lovely flowers, a cockfight at Santa Clara, the harvesting of sugar cane and the processing of sugar, and various other sights in color, with a musical background which will no doubt prove to be a delightful hour to all who are present.

FORD MOTORS TO PRESENT AWARDS

Ford Motor company announced recently that it will sponsor a national Industrial Arts Awards program for junior and senior high school students.

Cash awards for outstanding workmanship and design will be offered in the fields of wood work, metal work, mechanical drawing, printing, model making, plastics, machine shop and electrical work. Students in industrial arts and vocational classes in all schools, from grades seven through twelve, may enter. Entries are regular class projects made in the school shops under supervision of an instructor.

Henry Ford II, president of Ford Motor company, said both students and teachers heartily approve the industrial arts awards and he encouraged students and teachers to start their projects for 1950. Rule books and other information will be available by addressing inquiries to Industrial Arts Awards, Ford Motor Company, 3000 Schaefer Road, Dearborn, Michigan.

The new Ford program will be a continuation of the Industrial Arts Awards originated three years ago by Scholastic magazine. Because of the fact that interest in the program has outgrown the magazine's facilities to handle entries, Scholastic magazine relinquished its sponsorship to Ford.

CHINA JOURNEY IS SUBJECT OF LYCEUM FRIDAY NIGHT

Karl Robinson Takes Audience On Film Trip To Orient For Performance Tonight

To be a true master of any job, one must make his work look easy enough for anyone to undertake. Karl Robinson, who will entertain at the lyceum on Friday evening, does precisely that. His film, "China Journey," makes his job look as simple as a sight-seeing tour.

Those who have been in and around China lately, or who are familiar with the present day China, will certainly suspect that many a headache and no little danger went into the making of the film which Robinson will present.

Mr. Robinson has selected what he thinks—through his personal experiences—to be the most interesting shots possible of a land engaged in continuous civil war.

For six months Robinson traveled the countryside, changing interpreters as he moved from one dialect area to another; flying when he could on the long jumps; when necessary traveling on freight trains crowded with cargoes of shifting humanity; hitchhiking with the Chinese air force when cut off by hostilities; bouncing over roadless terrain in a jeep; taking riverboats; and, in many cases, just plain hoofing it. All of which adds up to the comprehensive picture of both North and South China which may be seen at the lyceum on Friday.

MR. CHAIRMAN—

It has been noticed in more than one organization meeting on the campus that the presiding chairman or president and the members do not know or do not follow correct parliamentary procedure.

As future teachers, this editorial concerns everyone of you. Some time during your teaching career you will probably be connected, in an advisory capacity, with various clubs or school organizations. No organization can be successful unless its meeting follows established rules of order. Being an adviser you are directly or indirectly responsible for the organization's success or failure. Knowing the essentials of parliamentary procedure will help you to guide students along the path of successful meetings and, therefore, successful organizations.

Below is an example of a short meeting illustrating only the high points in common parliamentary procedure.

1. Unfinished business is order by the Chairman. (The chairman presides over the meeting and is responsible for keeping order, protecting the rights of the individual as well as the majority, and seeing that business is properly brought before the meeting and acted on.)
 2. Minutes of the previous meeting are read and approved.
 3. Committee reports are received and acted on. (Example) A committee member who is finishing his report says, "So our committee recommends that we grant $10.00 to the trophy case fund." After completing the committee report, he may say, "Mr. Chairman, I move that $10.00 be granted to the trophy case fund."

The chairman re-states the motion and then says, "Is there any question or discussion on the motion?"

If no discussion follows, a vote is taken.

4. Unfinished business is taken up and acted on.

5. New business is taken up and acted on. (Example)

A person, who wants to speak, must be recognized by the chairman. If no one else is speaking, the person rises and says, "Mr. Chairman."

The chairman nods or looks at the person to show his recognition.

The speaker continues, "I make a motion that the club hold a special meeting this Friday to discuss the club's coming dance."

The speaker sits down.

Hi Everybody,

Another week and another article. First, we would like to give roses to the SSA office. The movie last Sunday was a great improvement. We hope that the other movies will continue to be as good.

It seems that the girls at Eichelberger Hall got a jump on Sadie Hawkins' week. They had a dorm party last Friday and invited men over. Some of the couples at the party were Shirley Carlson and Howard Knop, Shirley Doner and Wayne Coleman, Donna Gardiner and Buzz Madison, Bernice Habeck and Bob Marser, Donna Heike and Russ Gerber, Doris Heil and Al Goto, Noreen Kahl and John Cook, Peg McHatton and Jim Coad, Jean Pengilly and Karl Windberg. Ramona Rathburn and Bill Wensel, Gerda Ravnhoft and Claude Klein, Clarice Zarling and Bill Kocaj, Katie Ziehman and Charley Schiferl were also there.

Speaking of parties, the Sigmas had a dinner at the Marion hotel, and quite a turnout it was. Bob Braun escorted Mary Ann Moore, and Danny Gordon escorted Rita Hack. A few of the other couples that we observed were Jim Gehrke and Helen Kenna, Don Tietz and Anita Clark, Dick L. Johnson and Mary McHatton, Paul Axelson and Beatrice Sagstetter, Don Sargent and Bernice Danzinger, and Pete Schellinger and Joan Davidson.

Charlie Takahama, Gordie Wasinger, Bob Morley, Lee McPherson, George Kinsler, George Tinetti and Marvin Lundin all brought their wives to the party to represent the married couples.

Pardon me while I part my eyebrows, but I hear that Dave and Joe Randall went to the Sigma party together.

This was a pretty big week-end. The PA's really put on a nice dance Saturday. The decorations were different and well liked by everyone.

Dorothy Amendt and Rog Gibbns made a nice couple at the dance. Barb Lovering and Marvel Oelke had their men down for the affair. Rita Kane and Connie Olson were also at the dance.

Jim Ooley and Dorothy Hardies were at the dance together. They've also been seen together quite often. Could it be that they have made up?

Mel Witte and Pat Peterson didn't know anyone else at the dance. They had that far away look in their eyes.

Mike Huley and Eileen Deetz have been dating rather frequently. Could something be in the wind?

Saw Lois Heike at the dance, but didn't see Herb Watanabe. What happened?

Speaking of what happened, Connie Anderson and Bob Becker seem to have broken up. Connie has been going out with other fellows lately.

Ann Banker, who is the new graduate student you've been seen with?

We went to the show Sunday night and found all the ex-G.I.'s rolling in the aisles with laughter. They tell me that in order to really appreciate the picture "Battleground" you have to be an ex-G.I.

Saw Margaret Perry at the show. Who was the escort, Marge?

Rog Landgraf and Dorothy Groethe plan to make it permanent. Rog gave Dot a diamond this last week. Rumors have it that they plan to marry this June.

Haven't seen Rolland Wolfe around lately. Does anyone know if he is still going steady with Pat Goodrich?

Well, enough of this for now. Next week will probably be pretty dull, unless the girls get out and 'git' their men. We'll be looking forward to next week's issue.

Key and Hole

P.S. Sig Tau also threw a party on Friday night. The party was a little different though. It was a swimming party. Lee Flanders and Dor

Gee were together at the party. I was wondering if they came together. A few of the couples at this party were John Poellinger and Marge Thompson, Charley Jorgensen and Rowena Christen, Armin Gerhardt and JoAnne Seymour.

Question of the Week

The question of the week is: How do you plan to entertain the men, or man, during Sadie Hawkins Week?

Donna Heike—I'd rather not say.

Ann Banker—Ignoring 'um.

Marilyn Erickson—That would be telling.

Dorothy Amendt—Sitting on the porch swing.

Laverne Ablard—He's too far away to entertain.

Dr. Marshall—Did you expect an intelligent answer from me?

Lois Subich—I'll have to decide on a man first.

Lois Jensen—Do I have to tell?

Roberta Hutchins—The usual walk to the Annex.

Alice Fechner—Everything I can.

Lila Nelson—That's the week we stay home.

Madge Erickson—The same as I have the last three years.

Another person stands, is recognized by the chairman, and then seconds the motion.

The chairman re-states the motion and then calls for questions and discussion.

If there is no discussion a vote is taken. (A majority of those voting usually adopts the motion.)

6. Adjournment.

More complete information of conducting a meeting may be found in reference books in the library as Roberts Rules of Order.

HERO OF THE WEEK: RUSSELL GERBER

This week's candidate for hero of the week is volunteer fireman Russell Gerber. Risking life and limb, Russ braved death to smother a fire that raged in the HE basement corridor.

Well, maybe it wasn't quite that bad, but Russ was right on the spot nevertheless. It seems that Dave Tank forgot to put out his pipe before he stuck it in his pocket and hung up his jacket. Russ came along just about the time smoke was visible, and seeing the glow from the burning threads of the pocket, extinguished the blaze and saved the remainder of the jacket.

REMEMBER WHEN

Remember When one year ago a radio-phonograph unit was installed in the union by Mr. Ruehl's radio class.

Some of the STG boys had quite a time serenading Lynwood hall with "Behind Those Swinging Doors." Lynwood hall put on a skit during assembly depicting "Life at Lynwood." It was at that skit that Stout students discovered the cutest couple on the campus—Chuck Jorgensen and Warren Barberg.

Because of some icy walks (or maybe Psychology students swept all the sand away) Dr. Saylor was forced to take a short absence from Stout with a fractured collar bone.

The big question of the week was "What do you think about dates during the week?" Quote Les Springmire who said "They're all right if it isn't the last of the month when the monetary systems are at their lowest ebb."

Bachelor's Quarters

Dear Readers,

I am thanking the people who expressed their ideas about this column in the Question of the Week a few weeks ago. Yes, some of the jokes may be old, but there are always some who have never heard or read at least a few of these jokes.

Sadie Hawkins' week has been a success to some of the girls who were brave enough to ask a fellow of their choice. You know that this week is the one week that the female sex has the opportunity to practice the equality of the sexes. You can actually hear some of them complaining about the expenses of a date. Some of them may now realize the reason why some fellows are so bashful. . . . What a week, I had to study every night!

You girls who read the paper last week and noticed that three fellows dared all girls to call them up; well, you still have a chance before Saturday night rolls around.

Wally Pigeon

Wife: "Know what day it is? Just 25 years ago we became engaged." Absent-minded professor: "Why didn't you remind me of that sooner? It's high time we got married."

First fellow: "What's eating you, anyway?"

Second fellow: "Oh, nothing much. But when your girl said that she'd dig up a date for me—brother, she wasn't kidding!"

One of those ever-skeptical old ladies went into a drugstore, looked the place over very suspiciously, and immediately spotted a boyish clerk. "You appear a little young to be a registered pharmacist," she said.

"But I am a pharmacist, madam," answered the clerk.

"And you've passed all your examinations?" she continued.

"With honors."

"Well, I guess it's all right, then," decided the old lady. "I'll take a box of those cough drops."

Now tell me what school you love.

Some Hotels—These are places where a person can get bad quarters for good dollars.

Girl's father: "Young man, we turn out the lights at 10:30 in this house." Wally Weiss: "Gee, that's darn nice of you, sir."

I read somewhere that 1 man in 1,000 is a leader of men. The other 999 are followers of women. Gosh . . .

An ardent reader of ghost stories was telling his friends about experiences which his reading had instilled in him. "One night about midnight while I was reading, a ghost came through that wall just as if the wall wasn't there."

"What did you do?"

"Well, I went through the other wall the same way."

Here's one on women drivers again. Carolyn Blain was being examined for driver's license.

Police Officer: "What is the purpose of the white line in the middle of the road?"

Carolyn: "Bicycles."

It is certainly remarkable how many so-called pure-minded persons can find so many doubtful meanings in an entirely respectable joke.

Did you ever hear about the college student who wrote home and told his parents that he had three cuts—he received a first-aid outfit in the return mail.

An instructor who was trying to impress his students by relating his ideals stated the following: "—and so at the age of twenty-five I faced the world with one dollar and a clear conscience."

Bored voice at the rear of the room: "And what happened to the conscience?"

Ralph Hetzel: "Did you knock 'em cold in that quiz, today?"

Al Hodges: "Boy, I sure did. I got a Zero."

Lover Boy: "What charming eyes you have."

Girl: "I'm glad you like them. They were birthday presents."

Phi U Celebrates Founder's Day

Phi U Celebrates Founder's Day

Phi Upsilon Omicron Founder's Day was celebrated by Tau chapter with a banquet, February 6, at the Hotel Marion. Speakers included Miss Marjory Elliot, one of the chapter advisers, and Mrs. J.E. Ray, one of the charter members of Tau.

President Ruth Ann Christensen, acting as toastmistress, introduced the program speakers after the meal. Dressed in a native muumuu, Miss Elliot told of her impressions and experiences in Hawaii during the time that she worked over there. Miss Elliot held the attention of the group with her varied and interesting topics of Hawaiian food, flower arrangement, scenery, greeting, and teaching.

The history of Tau chapter was the subject of Mrs. Ray's talk. As one of the charter members of the chapter, she told the present members the actual founding of Tau seventeen years ago.

Members Dorothy Amendt and Florence Severson sang a duet, accompanied by Mrs. Frances Gray.

SWIMMING PARTY HELD BY SIGMA TAUS

Last Friday saw Alpha Kappa chapter of Sigma Tau Gamma hold their fraternity swimming party. A large crowd of members, along with their dates, enjoyed themselves immensely. Ranging from the well qualified swimmers to the mere beginners, all tried and believe that they have helped themselves learn not to fear the water. Attentive life guards were on duty during the entire party.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis, he being the faculty adviser to the fraternity, kept a careful eye to see that all went along smoothly.

After getting thoroughly soaked, the group made their way to the third floor of the union where a light lunch and coffee was served. The refreshments were under the guidance of Steve Grudichak and Henry Tall. Restful music was provided by a record player manned by a disc-jockey, Russ Larson.

SNOW BRAWL DANCE QUAINLY DECORATED

The Snow Brawl, sponsored by Pallas Athene society, was held last Saturday night in the school gym. The dance was under the co-chairmanship of Dorothy Amendt, Norene Kahl, and Rosie Grzadzilewski. The music was very capably rendered by Johnny Farwell and his orchestra.

The society decorated the gym, using a winter theme. The center of attraction was the band stand, a large igloo, which was constructed at the south end of the gym. The remaining walls were banked with artificial snow, skis, sleds, and toboggans; the floor itself represented a large skating rink. Around the edges of the rink were benches for the skaters to rest on. On the west side of the rink was a small fire.

At intermission the crowd was entertained by a group of Eskimo girls, singing a number of winter songs native to their country. The finale was a plug for the television set and Flame Room coffee.

The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Betterley, Dean Antrim, and sorority adviser, Miss Anne Marshall.

"SADIE WEEK" BEGINS WITH SMA CANDY SALE

As a starter for "Sadie Week," SMA society sponsored a Valentine candy sale in the Home Economics corridor, Monday and Wednesday, February 13 and 15, from 8:30 a.m. on.

Among the beautiful dainties were pink and white divinity, nougat, fudge, and penoche.

In charge of the sale was Gerry Mae Erickson. The candy was not only beautiful, but also delicious.

SIGMA FRAT HELD DINNER DANCE

Sigma fraternity held its annual dinner dance at the Hotel Marion, Friday, February 10. The theme of the evening was Valentine's day. The tables were decorated with various symbols of the occasion. The committee in charge consisted of George Kinsler, Dan Gordon, Robert Braun, Stanley Kendall, and Lee McPherson. Jim Gehrke led the group in a series of songs.

Stan Kendall served the punch throughout the evening. Entertainment was made up of modern and folk dancing. At intermission the entertainment consisted of Truth or Consequences, all of which added up to a very enjoyable evening of fun and entertainment.

WAA HAS VALENTINE PARTY AT MEETING

A Valentine party was held in addition to the regular business meeting of the WAA, Monday night, February 13.

Monthly basketball has ended and badminton is to begin next week. Dorothy Hilton is sports head for this month. Badminton will be held on the fourth floor of the IE building.

A farewell present and speech was given to Mrs. Fahrman, last semester's adviser. Mrs. Philip Ruehl was welcomed as the new WAA sponsor.

A lunch of ice cream, cup cakes, and pop concluded the evening.

VALENTINE PARTY HELD AT EICHELBERGER

Women at Eichelberger hall were hostesses at a Valentine party, Friday, February 12. The couples were divided into groups for square dances under the direction of Bernice Habeck, who called the dances. Later, they competed as teams in a group of valentine games. The recreation rooms in the basement of the hall were decorated attractively with hearts and valentines. A false ceiling of red and white crepe paper carried out the valentine theme. Cards, darts, and other games were played, and there was dancing in the recreation room. A lunch of coke, pop corn, ice cream, and candy was served later in the evening.

President Kathryn Ziehm was general chairman for the event. Helen Haase was in charge of decorations; Clarice Zarling, lunch; and Donna Gardiner, entertainment and games.

TRAVEL FILMS SHOWN TO APO BY BARBERG

Members of the Alpha Phi Omega enjoyed a party at K.P. hall on February 7. Warren Barberg highlighted the program by showing films taken in the Black Hills and Yellowstone park. Les Duenk added to the gaiety of the occasion by playing several selections on his accordion. After playing cards for the remainder of the evening, the group was led in a singing finale by John Lurquin.

A food committee composed of Otto Carlson, Bob St. Clair, and Lee Bedsted served the group with chili and coffee. Program arrangements were under the direction of Virgil Halverson. Advisers present were Messrs. Herbert Anderson, Merle M. Price, and Guy Salyer.

LLOYD SWANTZ TALKS TO LSA ABOUT TRIP

Part of the LSA's attended the Christian Life Series which is held at Our Saviors Lutheran church the four Sundays preceding Lent. Mr. Johnson, retired professor of history from St. Olaf College at Northfield, Minnesota, spoke on "Romanism Today." After the lecture, the weekly meeting of LSA was held at six o'clock at Peace Lutheran church.

Alice Fechner served a delicious supper consisting of escalloped potatoes and weiners, mixed fruit salad, buttered rolls, coffee, and gingerbread cake decorated with red candy hearts.

Lloyd Swantz, student at Luther seminary in Minneapolis, gave a short talk introducing his film "Rambling Through Europe." He brought several of his classmates with him, one of whom was a Lutheran pastor on the island of Sumatra.

Throughout the showing of his movie reels, Lloyd related his experiences as a scholar at the University of Oslo in Oslo, Norway; as a traveler in Sweden and Denmark; and as a scholar at Kings College in London, England. Upon finishing his studies with three months left on his visa, Lloyd took a 1,500 mile bicycle trip through Belgium, France, and Germany.

The group was very much impressed with his film and his narration of the film.

TWO COURSES OFFERED AGAIN IN RED CROSS

Stout students are again in action. They are participating in the standard and advanced Red Cross courses offered at school. The standard course is a twenty hour course, and the advanced a twelve hour course. Upon completion of each of these, the candidate is eligible for the instructors' training course, which is a twelve hour course also. The certificate issued upon successful completion of these three courses entitles the holder to teach the Red Cross course to others.

Herb Watanabe will be in charge of the standard course, instead of the advanced course as previously announced. Norman Lenius is in charge of the advanced course. Classes will meet at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesdays and 5:00 p.m. on Thursdays, subject to change upon notice. The rooms in which instruction will be given are not yet decided but will be announced later. If enough persons completing the standard course sign up for advanced training, an advanced course will be offered again so as to allow those in the standard course to get their instructorship yet this year.

DRAMA BUG BITES CAST, CATCH STAGE SICKNESS

Have you passed the auditorium lately and wondered what all the hustle and bustle was about? Why students were running around the stage with books in their hands, calling music stands windows and tables, and talking over telephones that aren't even there?

Fear not, it isn't the heat that's affecting them; it's stage sickness. They've been bitten by the drama bug and are forced to resign themselves to the fact that they might even become actors and actresses.

At the present time these play rehearsals are scheduled for four nights a week—Monday through Thursday—but as the date of presentation draws near, additional rehearsals will be held. Rehearsals start at 7:30 and usually last till 9:00 or 9:30 p.m.

LIFE-SAVING CLASS STARTS TO ORGANIZE

Two meetings of the life saving class have been held so far. Twenty-six students attended the first meeting, which was held for organization and indoctrination purposes.

At the second meeting, the class went immediately into the pool to demonstrate their swimming ability in all of the basic strokes. Instruction and drill in the basic strokes were given under the guidance of the instructor, Dave Tank, in an attempt to make better swimmers of the class.

The majority of the thirty students who attended this second meeting went home exhausted, sore, and lame from the vigorous exercise.

Instructor Dave Tank states that class spirit and attitude are high and a successful life saving course is anticipated.

The preliminaries over, the main part of the course will start the second week. It is not yet too late for additional newcomers to sign up.

RIFLE CLUB TO START SPRING ACTIVITIES

With the coming of spring, the Rifle club is beginning to get many of its activities under way. The first Monday in March the club will have their election of new officers. Classes started last Monday for those not so handy with a gun.

The club is planning to purchase guns of their own, the idea being to buy one a year till they build up a small arsenal of their own. The present system is to get guns from the government. The club is now waiting for their government guns, and as soon as they come the matches will be scheduled with other schools. Inter-club matches will be held again this year, with medals going to the winners. The club is getting shoulder pads for their members as a further protection.

SYMPHONIC SINGERS HOLDING RECORD SALE
The Stout Symphonic Singers are selling records which were recorded at their Annual Spring Tour concert. The selections include the complete "Finian's Rainbow," "Stout Hearted Men," part of "Carousel," "Rejoice and Sing," and "Emitte Spiritum." Anyone who is interested in buying a record or two is requested to sign up on the music bulletin board. The price list of the records is on the board. Records may be paid for by giving the money to Ralph Myhrman or Dorothy Amendt; they would like to send the order in February 21.

SOMEONE'S IN THE KITCHEN WITH DINAH!

Somone's in the kitchen with Dinah! Although he's not stummin' the banjo, he is learning the fundamentals of ccooking. That somone is Dick Vanek — the only man in the Stout foods classes.

Dick Vanek

Denver, in Colorado, next fall. His major will be Hotel Management.

Bacteriology, speech, foods, nutrition, and organic chemistry are all in Dick's curriculum. "I like to cook, but not do the dirty dishes," moans Dick.

The kitchen is not the only place where Dick is happy. He is an active member of the Ski club; he was on the Stout football team last fall, and he likes tennis.

Menomonie, and The stout Institute are old favorites of Dick's. Dick was introduced to Stout at the age of three years, when he entered the Stout nursery school. After completing his high school education, Dick entered the Navy for a period of two years.

Dr. Vanek, Dick's father, is a dentist. Dick also has three younger brothers.

COIL, SLAB, OR POUR CLAY TO MAKE POTTERY ACCORDING TO DISPLAY

On the second floor of the H. E. building (near the elevator entrance), the Art department has a prominent display of ceramics. "Ceramics" is the art of making objects out of clay, just in case the word is new to your vocabulary. This display shows the materials that go into making pottery, and also how these items are used to obtain this exquisite work.

There are three methods of making pottery, the coil method, the slab method, and by pouring into a mold. The coil method is just a process of putting coils of clay on top of each other, and shaping them with a template and hand wheel. Using this technique, the girls have completed a large number of vases, cream pitchers, dishes, and bowls. When these pieces of pottery have been properly glazed, they will give just as good service as any that can be bought in a store. When the slab pottery method is used, a paper pattern of the sides of the design is constructed. Then the clay is rolled to one quarter inch thickness and the sides are fastened to the bottom with coils of clay or slip. Another fascinating way of making pottery, especially jewelry, is to pour slip into a mold. It takes considerable time to make the proper mold, but much experience and jewelry is the reward for the work involved.

P A'S COMMEMORATE FOUNDER'S DAY

Pallas Athene society commemorated their founder's day, Tuesday, February 14. Members of the society wore a red rose, the society flower, throughout the day. In the evening, founders and other alumni were present at a Founder's Day dinner at the Marion hotel.

Mrs. George LaPointe, one of the founders, told the story of how the society was organized. Other alumni traced the organization's history through the years. President Dorothy Amendt reviewed this year's events. The day ended with the singing of traditional Pallas Athene songs. Florence Saverson and Marlys Eaton were chairmen of the activities.

PALLAS ATHENES WEAR RED ROSES

Tuesday, February 14, was Founder's Day for the Pallas Athene society. Each member in the society wore a red rose to commemorate the sixteenth anniversary of the organization.

In the evening a dinner was held at the Hotel Marion, with several of the alumni attending. The menu for the occasion consisted of baked pork chops with dressing, french fries, clover leaf rolls, buttered peas, molded jello salad, cherry cobbler with ice cream, and coffee.

FIELD TRIP TO POWER CO. TAKEN BY MEN

Class Members Of General Industrial Mechanics Course

See Local Electrical Plant

Last week the men in Mr. Reneson's class in General Industrial Mechanics course were lucky enough to take a field trip. Many of the students look upon such an adventure merely as an escape from classes, but this was a wonderful experience for all concerned.

Spending the afternoon in Menomonie's Northern States Power company, the fellows gathered a wealth of experience firsthand. Following the generation of electricity from the water-driven paddle wheels to the homes of Menomonie and the surrounding territory was like tracing a long winding road through the mountains. Charts, graph, and precision instruments line the wall, heavy generating equipment fills the floor space, and miles of wire carry the electricity to the homes.

The class also learned that it is the initial cost which is the big burden in setting up a hydro-electric plant; but much cheaper in the long run, being less expensive to operate than coal or oil. They saw D.C. current changed to A.C., and found that the plant at present is too small to supply our town, so some of the power is brought in from Ceder Falls.

Mr. Reneson's course is set up to provide his students with plenty of practical experience, teaching the opportunities that lie in all types of industry, so as to better prepare them to teach and acquaint their own students in secondary schools with these opportunities. Mr. Reneson was heard to say that the men in his class are lucky, because it is not often they are located so near a power supply.

In the near future, a trip is planned wherein his class will view the Ford Motor company, Minneapolis Moline company, and Minneapolis Honey Well company, all of Minneapolis, Minnesota.

YWCA TO SPONSOR ITS MOM-DAUGHTER DATE

The YWCA is sponsoring its annual Mother and Daughter banquet on March 10. The banquet will take place in the Stout cafeteria and all college women and their mothers are invited to attend. Plans are still being made and tickets will go on sale starting Friday, February 17, and may be purchased from any YWCA member.

PAINT REPRESENTATIVE AT EPT MEETING

Theta Chapter of Epsilon Pi Tau presented Mr. Keith of the Glidden corporation at an open meeting in room 411, at 7:30 p.m. February 6. James Bohn introduced Mr. Ralph Baker, also of the Glidden corporation, who in turn introduced Mr. Keith.

Stressing the importance of finish from the standpoint of protection and beautification, Mr. Keith cited examples of different types of finishes. He emphasized the importance of finish by saying, "At the start, remember the finish."

Elements which were discussed in Mr. Keith's presentation consisted of preparation, types of stains, wood fillers, sealers, and finish coats.

A discussion period and inspection of sample panels followed Mr. Keith's lecture.

GIRLS LOSE WEIGHT AT DIET TABLES

Whipped cream, apple pie a'la mode, and other tempting foods have lured twelve of the thirty diet girls away from the diet tables. The courage of these twelve has left them, and they are now happily eating their favorite foods and even having "seconds" if they want it.

The other eighteen girls are still bravely sticking to the diet table. Some of the girls have lost as many as fifteen pounds and these sticklers no doubt want to keep on losing pounds, as they close their eyes and bravely stick their teeth into an apple or a potato without gravy.

DR. RAY, BRICKLAYER WITH DOCTOR'S DEGREE

Dr. Ray Recalls Early Days At Stout And Many Rewards From 35 Years Of Teaching

Skilled tradesmen in America are becoming better-educated everyday. Even college graduates are not uncommon within their ranks.

But did you know that there is a bricklayer in the United States holding a Doctor's degree in education?

Yes, the Northwest claims that extraordinary tradesman in the person of Dr. J. E. Ray of The Stout Institute. A bricklayer who worked his way up from apprentice to master, he laid brick on large building projects throughout the country, as well as in the Menomonie area, while striving to obtain the educational qualifications which today fit him for the position of chairman of the Stout drafting department, teacher of architectural drawing and bricklaying, and member of the Bricklayer's Union.

Dr. Ray's story is an interesting one, for it personifies the educational growth of the American laboring man during the last half-century, and is evidence again that the American dream of "unlimited opportunity for all who are willing to strive for it" still lives.

Born in Philadelphia and having spent the early part of his life in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, he obtained his early education in the public schools of Salem, New Jersey. He left the second year of Salem high school in 1905 to attend Williamson Free School of Mechanical Trades at Williamson, Pennsylvania, where he served an indentured apprenticeship for three years. Dr. Ray graduated from Williamson as a journeyman bricklayer with related work in drafting. His studies also included academic subjects equal to those in a regular high school course.

He then went to work as a journeyman bricklayer from 1908 to 1914 in many larger cities of the United States, and on such large projects as the Rice Hotel in Houston Texas; El Paso De Norte, Texas; some large hotels in Atlantic City, and other coastal cities; the post office in Shreveport; churches and offices in Los Angeles, and other projects in Arizona, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Florida, New York, and Wisconsin.

Dr. Ray entered the teaching field reluctantly, especially in view of the educational training which he then possessed. He was hired by Dr. Lorenzo Dow Harvey, then president of Stout, to come to the college in 1914 to teach bricklaying. Mr. Ray took the job largely because the city of Menomonie appealed to him, but he began teaching with no little trepidation.

He was right about his lack of educational background — in three months he wanted to quit. Dr. Harvey, however, persuaded him to stay and after several more months things looked brighter to the young teacher. In addition, he began taking Stout educational courses himself—the beginning of the education-work combination which permitted him to become the "bricklayer with the doctor's degree."

After taking all the courses in drawing offered at Stout, and taking summer school work at the University of Wisconsin, Dr. Ray began teaching mechanical drafting and architectural drafting, along with his bricklaying classes. By picking up courses here and there while teaching, he received his Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Education from The Stout Institute in 1922.

To say that Stout Institute, during Dr. Ray's first years as a teacher, was a conservative institution is to put it mildly. As he recalls the college before 1923:

"All home economics girls were stripped uniforms to class, and all students were checked into their lodgings at seven-thirty in the evening. For very special occasions, evening hours were extended to ten or eleven o'clock. Many parents sent their offspring to Stout because of the quaint hours and the strict moral training. Students were not allowed to have cars, smoking was forbidden, and even faculty members were questioned about their personal habits."

According to Dr. Ray, married students were unheard of in those days, except for those attending summer school. President Burton E. Nelson, president of the college from 1923-1945, was responsible for the beginning of greater personal freedom and the liberal thinking on the part of the students.

Among the present Stout faculty whom Dr. Ray had in his early classes was Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, present president of Stout and now Mr. Ray's boss. In spite of Dr. Ray's rather unusual manner of criticizing young Fryklund's work in bricklaying at that time, today the two are firm friends. Dr. Ray says it happened this way:

"Teaching before World War I was less scientific than it is today. I was trying hard to be a good teacher, and was maybe a bit abrupt. Whenever I didn't like a brick wall or corner which a student had constructed, I just kicked it over in front of the student. That really impressed the student and then we'd rebuild it together.

Archy Boys See How It's Done

Architectural students watch intently as Dr. J. E. Ray points out some parts of a model house under construction.

"If I'd known then that young Fryklund would someday be president of the college, maybe I wouldn't have kicked his work over so readily. Thank heavens he's proved to be broad-minded."

To continue his membership in the Bricklayer's union, Mr. Ray worked at his trade during summer vacations and other spare time. Most of this work was confined to Menomonie, some of these jobs being the home economics building at Stout, the Menomonie post office, the Masonic Temple, a milk condensary, a church, and many other small jobs.

Dr. Ray explains his teaching-working combination by saying, "I'm always eager to get back to working in the trade, but when school starts, I'm even more anxious to begin teaching."

In 1930, Mr. Ray received his Master's degree from Iowa State college and later continued his educational improvement at Saturday sessions at the University of Minnesota and eventually at New York university, from which he received his Doctorate in 1944.

Describing his life in Greenwich Village while attending New York university, Dr. Ray says:

"I lived in Greenwich Village for over a year, and learned something different every day. I met authors, artists, and sculptors, all of whom were experts in their line. A person's education is not complete until he has spent some time in New York seeing the art work, shows, museums, and the many nationalities all going somewhere to accomplish something. Anything that can be done is done in New York. This city with its canyons of brick and stone, with its teeming millions, make one think of the wide-open West. New York's the place for a visit; but to live in — never."

In addition to keeping membership in the Bricklayers Union when working at the trade, he is a member of several professional groups. Among them are the Wisconsin Educational association, National Educational association, State and National Vocational association, Epsilon Pi Tau, and Phi Delta Kappa, the latter two organizations honorary educational groups.

Teaching and bricklaying are only part of Dr. Ray's life. He has many hobbies which he carries on in his "spare" time. Whenever he is asked about the type of hobbies he has, Dr. Ray answers, "Anything on or near the water." These avocations include all types of outdoor recreation, swimming, skating, hunting, fishing, boating, camping and exploring different lakes with a motor boat, hiking, or taking an old car and following back roads to see where they lead. Other hobbies include photography, making slides of architecture and other types of drawing for class

A none too prosperous clergyman reluctantly accepted the offer of a commercial firm to supply his congregation with free books containing the standard hymns, with the stipulation that a little advertising might be injected. When the books arrived, the minister was overjoyed to find the books contained no advertising matter at all. But on the following Sunday, he was horrified to hear the following: Hark! The herald angels sing.

Murphy's pills are just the thing. Peace on earth and mercy mild, Two for man and one for child.

STOUT SUCCESS STORY- KAREN FLADOES

Writer Of Detroit Alums Tells Of Miss Fladoes Work As Kelvinator Kitchen Director

Here is an idea for alumni news which local chapters may well consider. The publicity writer of the Detroit Women's Alumnae group, Orvetta Braker Moltzau, has submitted two "success stories." The following is an example.

Karen Fladoes
by Orvetta Braker Moltzau

The success stories of some of the Stout graduates in both teaching and in industry always intrigue me. To meet or hear about the Stout Alumnae and their amazing successes in life always gives me a feeling of wanting to stand up and cheer. We were talking about it at the luncheon served at the Nash-Kelvinator Kitchen at the Nash-Kelvinator building in Detroit, Mich., on January 14. The hostesses were Karen Fladoes, Marion Arnston, and Elvira West. Our table talk was about the background of study acquired at The Stout Institute, for, with added quirks of aptitudes, abilities, and experience, destiny has brought the Stout Alumnae into many fields of responsibilities and success.

Karen Fladoes' job as Director of Kelvinator Kitchens is one of the successes of our Stout Alumnae which can be admired by both students and alumni. With all the qualities of a professional person in dress, voice, personality, and presentation, Karen told her alumnae guests about her job as director of the kitchens. The Kelvinator Kitchen is in the advertising department of Nash-Kelvinator corporation and is located in the big Nash-Kelvinator building in Detroit.

Little did I realize when I read the Kitchen Reporter, a paper put out for Nash-Kelvinator by Joan Adams, that Joan Adams and Karen Fladoes are the same person. As the Kelvinator Kitchen project comes under advertising, Karen's job includes testing appliances from the homemakers' view point. She works with three other home economists to put out instruction books for the full line of Nash-Kelvinator kitchen equipment, including all models of stoves, refrigerators, and deep freezers.

The distributors of these appliances come into the kitchen for training and sales demonstrations. Miss Fladoes' demonstrations are done only for key groups such as distributors, not to consumers or dealers.

Karen also cares for school appliances and gives demonstrations for college laboratories. She stated that there has been a burst of remodeling in the home economics departments in high schools and colleges. She recently visited the Foods department at Stout and reported that an outstanding job has been done in those kitchens that we can all be proud of the fact that Stout is an up and coming college.

To sum up her work at the Kelvinator Kitchens, Karen said, "There are 17,000,000 things to do with never a dull moment." She gave us the impression that she loved every moment.

OFFICE OF EDUCATION ANNOUNCES DEGREES

Industrial Education
Bachelor of Science—2,490 men, 105 women; Master of Science—297 men, 18 women; Doctor of Philosophy—4 men, 0 women.

"THANKS AGAIN" SAYS WINNER, CLASS OF '50

(Editor's Note: This is the second article written by alumni scholarship winners. Miss Oelke received the scholarship four years ago.)

After four years at The Stout Institute, I would again like to thank the Alumni association for helping make my college education possible. As a high school student I had always considered college as a great opportunity, but one that I would have to pass up because of lack of finances.

I heard about the alumni scholarships during my senior year of high school, and after filling out the scholarship application blank I started to inquire about the curriculum and activities at Stout. I became very much interested and decided that Stout was the college I wanted to attend. Many other high school seniors undoubtedly made the same inquiries, so the alumni should be given credit for stimulating their interest too.

Thus, four years ago, if I received the scholarship I could attend Stout, and if I did not I could hope for no college education. For, at that time, the scholarship funds took care of both my first and second semester fees. Even with this chance in mind, I didn't actually plan on attending Stout until the very day the late Mr. Baker notified me of my having been selected as a scholarship recipient.

The scholarship helped me through my freshman year at Stout and led me to see the importance of continuing for the following three years. As I look back on those four years, I can see where the scholarship would be a major aid in helping other high school students gain an interest in a college by actually allowing those who are more or less financially handicapped, to attend for at least a part of one year. Therefore, I am sure they would come to see the importance of higher education and gain interest enough to work toward financing more college education themselves.

Now that I am about to graduate and step into the teaching profession, I regard my past four years as being both enjoyable and enriched by many educational experiences. When I leave the campus, I shall join the ranks of Stout alumni with the hope that I, in turn, can help direct the attention of some worthy girl to Stout and perhaps aid her by nominating her for an alumni scholarship—the same type of scholarship which has meant so much to me.

Marvel Oelke
1946-1947 Winner

DID YOU FORGET?

Alumni: What did you do with the alumni scholarship form? Did you give it to some student who wishes to attend The Stout Institute or did you pass it on to some teacher who may know of a student who would like to apply for the scholarship? Did you present it to the principal of your school or guidance director? Or did you merely forget?

STOUT GRAD OF '42 IS DEAN AT WHITEWATER

Arnold J. Lien, graduate of Stout in 1942, writes from Whitewater, Wisconsin.

"I have wanted to write to the 'home office' of our alumni association for a long time, but sometimes even the more important things get put off. Now that we have a little breather between semesters, I decided to take a few minutes to write a line or two.

"From an historical standpoint, Mrs. Lien (Harriet Stevens) and I were in Madison, Wisconsin, from 1946 to 1948. I was attending graduate school at the University and Harriet was employed by radio station WIBA. In the fall of 1948 we came to Whitewater and have been here since. At present, I am at the State Teachers college in the capacity of Dean of Men. In addition to these administrative duties I am teaching educational psychology, educational statistics, education measurements, and principles of guidance.

"Of course, our loyalties have been divided when our Whitewater Quakers have played our alma mater in football and basketball. Whatever the outcome, we have been happy with the result as it meant one of our teams won. We had anticipated coming up for Homecoming this last year as we have in the past years, but we were obligated here for that weekend this last year."

Sincerely,
Arnold J. Lien

STOUT GRAD FINDS SUCCESS IN CHEMISTRY

Genevieve M. Armstrong Is Chemist For Parke, Davis;
Attends Alumni Luncheon

The following is another "success story" by Orvetta Braker Moltzau.

"At the alumni luncheon at Nash-Kelvinator, I had lunch with Genevieve McClurg Armstrong. We were both very impressed with Karen Fladoes' work at Nash-Kelvinator company as Director of Kelvinator Kitchens. We talked about the undergraduates at Stout, the privilege of advanced education, and what it ultimately did for many students. It is not always home economics education or industrial education that develops into life's work from study at a college such as Stout. It so happens that Genevieve is a chemist for Parke, Davis and Company, a well-known pharmaceutical company. She started in metallurgical chemistry with a concern in Saint Paul, Minn. For a number of years she has been a chemist in the analytical department of Parke, Davis. She works in the alkaloid section which deals with all narcotics, both crude and finished products.

"Genevieve McClurg Armstrong attended The Stout Institute 1925-1927 and 1930-1932. Her interest in chemistry while attending Stout was probably average, but it was the courses in chemistry offered at Stout Institute that gives her background for her work as a chemist for the Parke, Davis and Company. Just conversing with Genevieve makes one feel her fondness and interest in her vocation. In fact her interest in chemistry is so contagious that her daughter Jean is studying pharmacy at the Detroit Institute of Technology."

AWARD WINNER OF '46 VALUES SCHOLARSHIPS

(Editor's note: This in another in the series written by alumni scholarship winners. Miss Donna Franken received her award for the year 1946-1947.)

As one of two students who entered The Stout Institute under an alumni scholarship in 1946, I can say that the scholarship was an important factor influencing my selection of a place of higher learning upon my completion of high school. I honestly believe that I have never regretted my choice of colleges and of fields of endeavor, especially because of the fact that I was asked to come, and therefore, felt that this school desired my presence. Scholarships such as the one which the alumni of Stout so generously offered me are an inspiration to the beginning student. Thus graduates, now and in the future, can do much to further Stout by contribution to these funds and by bringing to the attention of worthy students the opportunity of availing themselves of such scholarships.

WALSH WRITES ON HUMAN RELATIONS

Former Stout Instructor Is Author Of Article In Vocational Magazine

Many alumni and faculty members of The Stout Institute will recall Miss Letitia Walsh, a former member of the college faculty and now head of home economics education at the University of Illinois.

The November, 1949, issue of Illinois Vocational Progress magazine carries an article by Miss Walsh, entitled "Time for Teaching Human Relations." In the feature she discusses varied aspects of adjusting homemaking courses to the present desire of many educators for increased emphasis on human relations.

Miss Walsh opens her discussion by presenting a justification for improvement of a well-integrated personality, pointing out that relations in family groups are even more delicately balanced than student-teacher relationships. She says further that vocational counselors have found that social and personal adjustments outweigh even job skills in a person's success in making his way in the world. Because of the unique training which teachers of homemaking possess, the author feels that they have special contributions to make such adjustment.

Before the teacher begins to add or subtract from the course content, however, Miss Walsh suggests that he or she study the reaction of students to the proposed changes. Such studies can be made from prepared checklists or from informal discussions with students themselves.

An interesting approach to the problem of combining time for human relations with that for foods and nutrition is offered in a seven-point streamlined food study which Miss Walsh has developed. Some of the proposals include questionnaires to parents, teaching of minimum essentials, short cuts in food preparation, and others.

Short cuts in clothing construction also form an important part of Miss Walsh's article. She includes such ideas as stressing basic principles early and not reteaching them, limiting the scope of textiles technology, use of "Bishop" short cuts, and improved work habits.

To conclude her article, Miss Walsh lists additional techniques for obtaining further time to be used in necessary teaching units. Among the adjustments listed are those of cutting across curriculum lines in various ways, earlier offering of home economics training, separate courses in personal and family living, cooperation of school administrators and school organizations in providing the necessary personality training, and telescoping learning into related units and projects.

B. BOETCHER ACCEPTS NEW POSITION

Bert Boetcher has accepted a position as teacher of Industrial Education at the Boys School in Waukesha. He began teaching February 13. Mrs. Boetcher left Thursday to join her husband.

Members of the administration gave a party in the Tea Room Tuesday afternoon for Mrs. Boetcher, better known as "Sara," who has been a secretary in the Stout business office for several years.

SSA MESSAGE

Fellow Students:

It seems that when one of us misses writing this column one week, you students jump on Ye Olde Editor and she jumps on us. So better we disregard all our other things and write this. The editor can be quite tough!

It has been brought to the attention of the SSA office that "over-friendliness" is again becoming a nuisance on our campus. "Over-friendliness" means hand-holding, or walking with your arm around your girl (or boy, as the case may be), or anything of that nature which is reserved for other times and other places. Our President told is in an assembly a few years ago about the situation and again feels it necessary for the subject to be brought up. So now, this time of year, when Stout Institute has a more-than usual number of visitors on the campus, let's keep the above in mind and confine our affections to other places.

As you know, the time is drawing near for the annual FOB Stunt Night show. All organizations are asked to participate and soon a central committee (made up of a representative from each organization or group) will begin bringing the show together. More will appear in the Stoutonia later on the performance. You'll want to be there, as it's considered one of the brightest spots on this year's social calendar.

Our Flame Room coffee television drive seems to be progressing as satisfactorily as can be expected. The latest count shows our stickers amounting to more than a thousand. We still have a long way to go. Much credit is in order for the committee that keeps the weekly campaign going. Selmer Drolsum heads the publicity and advertising end of it and he's doing a bang-up job. He's the one that, among other things, puts up different displays of our advertising material.

Don't miss the big game tomorrow night. Those of you who have tickets, use them. If you have a ticket and don't intend to go, make that ticket work by giving it to someone who hasn't one and wants to go. The demand from both townspeople and students has been terrific.

The SSA Officers

John Rowe, Treasurer

P.S. We still haven't been able to get a premier showing of "Stromboli" but we'll keep trying.

"THE GLADIATOR" FILM DELAYED TILL FEB. 26

The movie, "The Duke of West Point," was shown in place of "The Gladiator" because of difficulties that occurred in the movie companies' shipping order.

The movie was pronounced very good, even though it is a little outdated. Persons who did not attend because of previously formed ideas missed a good movie.

"The Gladiator" starring Joe E. Brown will be projected on the Stout auditorium screen February 26, at 2:30 p.m. Students are urged not to miss it—Joe E. Brown will have them in the aisles—they hope.

TALL MAN OF YEAR — MEET MR. HARTIG

Who is that tall, tall man we see walking around the campus. Is he a student or a teacher?

Who is he? Why, that's Robert Hartig of Baraboo. What is he —

Hartig

Stout's tall man of the year, and will continue to be until someone comes along who thinks he can top Bob's six foot eight and three-quarter inch record.

Robert is the tallest member of his family, for the information of those of you who may have been curious. He has brothers—he says—who are tall, but they reach only 6' 1" feet three inches and six feet four inches. His sisters reach only five feet ten and five feet eleven. So you see, Bob has really gotten a lot further up in the world than any other member of his family.

Sorry to disappoint the girls, but Mister Hartig is a happily married man, and the father of a sixteen month old baby girl, Susan Marlene. At the present time he and his family are living at Fair Oaks, here at Menomonie.

Bob is a woodworking and drawing major here at Stout, and plans to teach in these fields when he graduates. He has had six and a half years experiences at teaching in rural schools and state graded schools in and around Baraboo, stopping only long enough to put in three and a half years in the army, where he held the rank of buck sergeant.

Carving and oil painting are Bob's hobbies, though going to school and caring for a family offer little time for pastimes. Bob is also the official representative for the Industrial Arts and Vocational magazine at Stout, and a member of the Arts and Crafts club.

Next time you pass the tall man with the friendly smile, say "hello," and don't be surprised if he comes right back with the cheeriest "hello" of the day.

Two friends were chatting.

"Well, Mac, they tell me ye've got married?"

"Ay, Angus, it's true."

"An what kind of a wife hae ye got? Can she cook?"

"No."

"Can she sew?"

"No."

"Mon, what can she do?"

"Angus, she's a grand singer."

"Ah, ye're clear daft! Wouldna canary been cheaper?"

R. ANDERSON WRITES ARTICLE FOR MAGAZINE

This February, 1950, issue of School Shop magazine includes an article by Dr. Stuart Anderson entitled, "What's Your P.Q.?" The writer has identified fifty different factors under the following headings: As a Director of Learners, The Professional Pulse, Let's Get Personal, and In the Community. This check list was designed to help the industrial arts teachers objectively determine his "professional quotient."

BARB LOVERING IS BUSY STOUT GIRL

How would you like to be the only girl in the club with 35 men? No, she isn't a mascot of a fraternity; she's a member of Arts and Crafts, and she's Barbara Lovering. Barb was born in South Milwaukee, and was very active in South high school. She was a member of Cardo Club, Q Club, Orchesis, A Capella Choir, and was president of the National Honor society. She's a junior at Stout now, and is in many activities. Besides working in the Union and Cafeteria, she is treasurer of Philo's, secretary of Newman club and of the Junior class, and a member of Phi U. She holds the important post as secretary of SSS.

Lovering

Gossips and narrow-minded people are Barb's pet peeves. She is very broad minded, and thought that "I Was A Male War Bride" was really cute.

Even though Barb is a very busy gal, she's not too busy to be engaged. She's engaged to Francis (Perry) Perigoue, a Stout grad in January in 1949.

DELONG, RIVER FALLS PLAY STOUT HERE

Nationally-Known Scorer With Teammates Benson, Most, Place Devils as Under-Dogs
Stout's "never-say-die" Blue Devils will be definite underdogs on Saturday, February 18, when they entertain Nate DeLong and his River Falls Falcons at the Company A armory.

The big problem facing Stout Saturday night will be that of putting the shackles on nationally-famous DeLong. High-flying Nate scaled the heights of greatness against Gustavus Adolphus last week. He missed only one field goal attempt and one free throw in amassing a total of 30 points. Other potentially dangerous scorers on the River Falls quint are Newman Benson and Charley Most. The unheralded Most exploded for 18 points against Stevens Point in a recent contest.

Stout has been playing very good basketball during the past week. However, they dropped a pair of heart-breakers to Platteville and Oshkosh last Saturday and Monday. If the Blue Devils continue this improved playing, they must be conceded an outside chance of upsetting the Falcons on Saturday.

If the Blue Devils succeed in dumping the league-leading Falcons, they will pull the greatest upset in the conference this season.

SKI CLUB JOURNEYS TO TELEMARK

Another big week end was sponsored by the Ski club when twenty-six fellows and girls boarded the bus and were off for Mt. Telemark at 6:15 Saturday morning. After a short stop at Rice Lake for breakfast, the group was on its way again. Telemark was reached at about 9:45, and by 10:00 the gang had their skis on.

Several of the girls were not very well acquainted with the boards and spent the morning with our able coaches, Banks and Holmberg, going through the elements of skiing.

The weather was perfect; one stranger had his shirt off getting a sun tan. The snow stayed powdery on top of a very firm base.

A few of the Stout group were not members of the Ski club. After the fun had Saturday, the club is assured of many new members next year.

"For those of you who think you might like to join next year, now is the time to purchase your equipment. With spring sales starting you should be able to get a lot of things pretty cheap. To assure good purchases, the club invites those interested to come to Ski club meetings and secure aid and information on ski equipment. "The Ski club will be glad to help you," says Jack Holmberg, club president.

Vision
In an old Hindu story Ammi says to his son, "Bring me a fruit of that tree and break it open. What is there?"
The son replies, "Some small seeds."
"Break one and than what do you see?"
"Nothing, my lord."
"My child," said the wise man, "where you see nothing there dwells a mighty tree."

STOUT QUINT LOSES TWO GAMES

Oshkosh Teachers and Pioneers Of Platteville Defeat Blue Devils Last Weekend

Two conference games were lost by the Blue Devils, who were away from home last weekend. Last Saturday the squad lost to Oshkosh Teachers college 64 to 56. Monday night the Blue Devils played the Pioneers of Platteville and dropped the decision with a 67 to 60 count.

Oshkosh
The Stout cage squad trailed the Oshkosh team in the first half of the game; the half time score was Oshkosh 30, Stout 24.

In the second half the Blue Devils came back to tie the game 6 times during the second period. With three minutes of playing time remaining, the Stout squad led Oshkosh 53 to 52. The Oshkosh quint caught fire and finished strong, defeating the Blue Devils 64 to 56.

Ed Nylund paced the Blue Devil squad with 21 points. High scorer for Oshkosh was Doriz Ritchie with 17 points.

Platteville
The first half of the Stout-Platteville game was close all the way, the half time score being a 27 to 27 tie.

In the second half the Blue Devils had a 59 to 58 lead with two minutes of the game to go. Stout, however, scored only one point while Platteville pushed in 9 points in the final two minutes of the game.

Ed Nylund again paced the Blue Devils with 21 points; Russ Pollock also picked up 17 points for the Stout team. Leading scorer for Platteville was Leo Butts, who scored 16 points from the pivot spot.

COPENHAGEN KIDS WIN FROM KFS TEAM

The KFS suffered their first defeat last week when the Copenhagen Kids started chewing away at them. Both teams have lost one game with the KFS having played one more game to give them a greater percentage.

There is a three way tie again in the American league among the FOB, Hotshots, and the Mule Team. This will be broken when the FOB and Mule Team clash Wednesday, February 15, at 8:15, in the upper gym.

There are eight games left to be played in the National league and only six in the American. When these are played there will be the finals to determine the all-school champions.

The standings up to February 14 are:

COVEY'S CORNER

The schedule shows two conference games remaining. The River Falls game here this weekend, and the Eau Claire contest round off the season.

Local fans have probably heard about Nate DeLong and his River Falls buddies as much as they have heard about the entire Bluedevil squad.

I don't believe Nate has played on a Falcon squad that has beaten Stout twice in one basketball season. This year should be no exception. Stai has played against DeLong in both high school and college, so he knows as much about Nate as any opposing center ever will.

Vaughn had a bad night against Nate earlier this season, but in the past years he has held Nate down pretty well. A couple of years ago Vaughn held DeLong to about 12 points, which is way under par for big Nate.

The rest of the Falcon squad is pretty well balanced; Benny Benson at forward is pleasing to the River Falls fans' eye.

Despite the difference in records for this season, the game between Stout and River Falls tomorrow night should provide plenty of attraction for the onlookers.

The road trip to Oshkosh and Platteville last week didn't prove to be at all successful for the Stout squad.

Stout had a strong second half against Oshkosh, but couldn't quite turn the trick. In both games the Stout team had a one-point lead with a few minutes to go, but they just couldn't hold on to that one point.

Big Ed Nylund led the Bluedevil scoring in both games with 21 points in each contest. Ed seems to be finishing up his last season with a welcome scoring splurge.

In a couple of weeks the golfing net will start taking its everyday beating. That's the sure sign of spring when the boys start teeing-off in the "Cracker Box."

FRED FULFILLS 40 YEARS AS STOUT JANITOR

Walking up and down the halls, pushing a broom day in and day out, is the job of no person but the janitor. It is he who keeps our floors clean, our rooms lit, and our everyday life one of convenience. But today we wish to pay tribute to one janitor in particular. He is a familiar figure in Stout corridors and deserves hearty congratulations for his many years of faithful service. This person is none other than Fred Retzlaff.

Last week Thursday, Fred celebrated his fortieth anniversary as custodian in The Stout Institute. Some persons will say 45 years, but upon checking, one finds that both are right. He started to work when he was quite young. He literally started from the ground up, working with his father helping to sweep the basement when he was but ten years old. Fred worked here off and on for a few years, and in 1910 became full-time employee, and has been with us to this day.

No teacher or student can say that Fred denied even the smallest favor which was within reason. His services have been invaluable to the faculty and student body alike. There is no glory to his job, but the personal satisfaction of having done something each day to help make someone's life easier far outweighs the monetary returns and the lack of glory in such a position. Certainly Fred deserves a round of congratulations for his many years here at Stout.

8500 STICKERS ARE REQUIRED FOR TV DRIVE

Drink it, give it away, do anything that can be done with Flame Room Coffee—just get those red stickers into high gear and into the television radio-phono contest where the Stout Student union will benefit by the presence of a video set.

There are occasional people who turn green because of an overabundance of Flame Room coffee in their system. Let's turn green with these poor souls; besides green is such a pleasing shade of color.

Think of it! Instead of playing canasta you can ride the brushy trails with the one and only The Lone Strangler and his horse Beulah on the T.V. screen. Instead of spending a pleasant evening at home you can come over to the union and suffer with the wrestlers.

All this and plenty more will happen in the union if those remaining 8500 stickers come floating, or better yet stamped, into the mails to the SSA office, or direct to the contest sponsor, the McGravey Coffee company, 601 Fourth North St., Minneapolis, Minn. Remember to state in the envelope that the stickers are to be credited to the Stout Union drive.

JULIAN GROMER PRESENTS FILM "SUNNY CUBA"

Julian Gromer, world traveler, photographer, and lecturer, presented a most interesting travelogue on "Sunny Cuba" at convocation Wednesday. In spite of a little difficulty with "blowing fuses," Mr. Gromer did a fine job of entertaining the audience during the time of replacing them.

Mr. Gromer took the audience on a 2,000 mile tour of the island of Cuba, portraying the beauty of the tropical foreign island. On the tour he made visits to many cities such as Havana, Pinar del Rio, Santa Clara, and Santa de Cuba.

Pictures were shown of the beautiful Cuban scenery, and lapse-time photography revealing the growth of flowers 4,000 times faster than natural from small buds to a bloom of rare beauty. The cockpit supplied much excitement at Santa Clara, and at Holguin, pictures were made of the basket weaving, harvesting of peanuts, sweet potatoes, and bananas along with the harvesting of sugar cane, and the processing of sugar.

"S" CLUB TO MANAGE ALL SCHOOL CARNIVAL

Word has been received from the "S" club that they have accepted to take over the responsibility of running the all school carnival. The athletic organization will be responsible for the smooth operation of this carnival in March. This proposal has been accepted and passed by the various organizations on the campus.

PUBLICITY RELEASES PROVIDED FOR SENIORS

As has been the policy for the past four years, the Stout publicity department will provide publicity releases for all graduates again this year.

Most of the senior women have already filled out the forms for their high school and daily and weekly paper releases for their home towns. The men will be notified when their forms will be available. They are requested to obtain these forms from Dean Bowman's office and to fill them out as soon as possible after the notice has been published.

SADIE HAWKINS DANCE JUDGED SUCCESSFUL

Sadie Hawkins week was declared successful Saturday evening when most of the Stout girls displayed their "catches" and brought them to the SMA dance.

The gym was decorated with large life-like imitations of the various characters in the Lil Abner comic strip: Sadie Hawkins, Lil Abner chasing Daisy Mae, Mammy and Pappy Yokum, Wolf Gal, etc.

During intermission a grand march was led by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Reuhl to display costumes worn by the couples. Stan Kendall and Phyllis Bartosic were chosen as the best dressed couples, Russ Gerber as the best dressed man, and Ruth Conjurski as the best dressed woman.

Admission was charged by measuring the waists and charging a penny per inch.

George Soderberg and his orchestra played. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. David Barnard and Mr. and Mrs. Frailey.

FELLOWSHIP MEETING TO BE HELD AT STOUT

The members of the Stout Christian Fellowship want to remind all Stout students that they can still plan to attend the meetings of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship conference, to be held on the Stout campus, February 24-26.

John Hermanson, IVCF staff member, has arranged for Dr. Bruce Compton, professor of philosophy and religion, Macalaster college, St. Paul, and Mr. Don Rosenberger, ex-professional gambler and now instructor at Northwestern schools, Minneapolis, to be guest speakers.

The registration fee for this conference is one dollar.

The tentative program is as follows:

Friday:
7:00—8:00 Registration
8:15 Opening meeting
Saturday:
Morning—Study and discussion group
1:30—3:00 Recreation
4:00 Afternoon session
6:00 Banquet followed by speech
Sunday:
10:00 Bible study
11:00 Worship service

"FOOT WARMER" THEME OF RUSHING PARTY

"The Foot Warmer" will be the theme of the intersociety rushing party to be held in the union Saturday morning, February 25, at 9:30 a.m. for all girls eligible for entrance into societies on the campus.

The Hys are general chairmen; the SMAs are in charge of entertainment; the PAs, refreshments; and the Philomatheans, invitations and clean-up.

KARL ROBINSON SPEAKS, SHOWS FILM OF CHINA

Karl Robinson took the audience on an interesting sight-seeing trip to the Orient, at the lyceum Friday evening in his film "China Journey."

Mr. Robinson proved to the audience that he was a true master of his job by showing that his work was as easy enough for anyone to undertake.

Through his personal experiences Mr. Robinson selected what shots he thought would be most interesting in a land engaged in continuous civil war.

Mr. Robinson traveled the countryside for six months; changed interpreters as he moved from one dialect area to another; flew when he could on long jumps; traveled on freight trains crowded with cargoes of shifting humanity; when necessary took riverboats; and in many cases, just plain hoofed it.

Yes, the audience spent a most enjoyable sight-seeing trip to north and south China with Karl Robinson.

SENIORS TOLD METHODS OF GETTING POSITIONS

A meeting of June graduates interested in learning techniques of securing positions in education was held Wednesday evening in the tea room. Marvin Lundin presided.

Speaking to the seniors were Mr. Ballentine, superintendent of Menomonie public schools, who stated the techniques of hiring teachers; Mr. Thomas Fleming, who spoke on letters of application; Mr. E.R. Oetting, who explained job interviews; and Mr. H. Arneson, who discussed general opportunities for employment in the field of teaching.

The meeting consisted of an open forum discussion with questions directed to Mr. Ballentine and the Stout faculty members. The questions concerned situations which the students could expect to meet when they are seeking employment after graduation.

At the conclusion of the forum, refreshments consisting of ice cream, cake, and coffee were served by Stan Kendall and Marvin Lundin.

SSA ELECTIONS TO BE HELD ON MARCH 16

SSA MESSAGE

Fellow Students,

Well, our television drive is in its third week now, and the way the stickers are coming in it looks as though we may reach our goal in time to enjoy a few video shows this spring. The progress of the drive has been very encouraging and I thought it would be appropriate to pass along to you some of the high lites of the drive that you may not have heard about.

Stickers have been sent in from several of the surrounding communities by people who heard of the drive when it was announced on the "Stairway to Stardom" radio show. The Flame Room Coffee salesman in Eau Claire is a brother of the former Doris Gehring, secretary of the SSA in 1941-42. He has been very cooperative in helping the local cause and has been collecting cards of stickers from grocers in the neighboring towns. The local Farmers Store Co. has notified all of its stores and they are going to send any stickers they collect to us. All of the Menomonie grocers are helping collect stickers and several of the restaurants are using Flame Room Coffee in order that we may reach our goal.

You can see that everyone is doing their best to make this drive a success and with the continued cooperation that has been shown so far, we can't miss. All we have to do is keep reminding our friends and relatives to continue using Flame Room Coffee. We've really got the ball rolling and are nearing the two thousand mark.

Before leaving the television subject, I have one more point. I would like to urge all of you students who live in the area where Flame Room Coffee is sold to contact the local grocers in your home town. If you will stop in the SSA office we will give you cards on which the stickers may be placed and also posters advertising the drive. Generally, the merchants are happy to cooperate and it will mean that we will receive our television set that much sooner.

The attendance at the last two student assemblies has not been too favorable. However, I know that you will all want to be present next Wednesday when the Lynwood boys will stage their annual production. This event offered many a laugh last year so we will be looking forward to the assembly next week.

Election time is rolling around again, and before long the new SSA officers will be taking their positions as Student Government Leaders. In order that this election be a representative one, however, it is necessary that each of us takes an individual initiative to see that competent students are put up as candidates for the various offices. To nominate a person for office, it is necessary that a petition be signed by at least 25 persons who wish to have an individual run for office. These petition blanks may be secured at the SSA office and must be filled in and returned by March 8. Come in and pick up a petition blank at any time and see that we have a large field of candidates from which the new SSA officers may be selected.

In closing for this week, here is the latest. A postcard recently arrived at the SSA office addressed as follows: Dance Committee, State Teachers College, Stout, Wisconsin.

See you next week
Your SSA Officers
Warren Phillips, Pres.

COVER IS CONSTRUCTED FOR BALDWIN ORGAN

A dark brown cotton gabardine cover for the new auditorium Baldwin organ was recently constructed by Miss Jeanne Diefenbach and Miss Lillian Jeter, clothing instructors at Stout. Because the auditorium is used so frequently, the possibilities of the organ being marred by dust and scratching are great. The cover will tend to eliminate these dangers which would eventually affect the appearance of the organ.

Annual SSA elections will soon appear on the calendar once again. It is customary to start a train of thought towards the promotion of new officers to replace the present staff.

Nominating petitions, which are available at any time to all members of the Stout Student association, will have to be filled and returned to the SSA office March 3, at 5:00 p.m. The March 15 convocation will permit the new candidates to display their oratorical abilities and their plans for the future. March 16 will be declared election day in the H.E. building during the hours 11:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

The officers to be elected by the student body will be the channel by which the students reach the college administration to solve problems. This important factor, plus many others, should be in everyone's mind when a petition is circulated for some candidate. Ask yourself this question—"Can this person fill the bill competently?" If the answer is "yes," the election results will show it.

A president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer are the officers to be elected for a term of one year. Any student belonging to the association may become a candidate for any office except the presidency and vice-presidency; these two offices must be chosen from the junior and sophomore classes respectively.

"SOCK" DANCE PLANNED FOR TOMORROW NIGHT

The Foot Ball, annual intersociety all-school "sock" dance, will be held Saturday, February 25, in the Stout gymnasium. There will be dancing from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. to the music of George Soderberg's Royal Blackhaws. Admission for the dance will be 40 cents per couple.

As in previous years, shoes will be checked at the door, so everyone will be dancing in his stocking feet.

"SPRING-FOBIA" DANCE TO BE HELD MARCH 4

"SPRING-FOBIA" will be the theme of the 1950 FOB all-school spring formal, to be held in the college gym at 8:30 p.m. on March 4. The annual FOB formal will open the spring social season at Stout and will have the traditional soft spring atmosphere created by gala decorations.

John Yount, social chairman of the FOB's, reports that plans are underway to equal the decorative beauty of the past FOB spring formals, with some new twists in decorations in store for the dancers.

The Royal Blackhaws will provide the musical background, and punch will be served throughout the evening. Admission has been set at $1.00 per couple in order to make it easy for as many couples as possible to attend the dance.

MODERN ART IN FURNITURE TOPIC OF MEET

Modern furniture will be the topic presented at the coming Home Economics club-Phi Upsilon Omicron sponsored meeting, Monday, February 27. Mr. William M. Friedman, director of exhibitions at the Walker Art center in Minneapolis, will give an illustrated lecture for the students and faculty of Stout, in the auditorium beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Marvel Oelke, president of the Home Economics club, stated that men who are interested in furniture design, especially modern design, are welcome to attend. "We aren't limiting this to women only," she said.

The co-sponsoring of such an instructional and interesting program each year is one of the annual joint projects of the Stout Home Economics club and Tau chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron.

A LOT FOR A LITTLE

Few people realize what a bargain they are getting in entertainment from Stout's lyceum programs. The prices paid by the students for these programs are much lower than what they would pay if the same program were offered as a public presentation. The main idea of this editorial is to give students an idea of what is being offered at such a little cost.

The number of students who take advantage of these opportunities is almost as low as the cost that the students pay in admissions to the performances. The benefits derived from their attendance is to their own advantage, and no one else's. Another purpose of this editorial is to stimulate greater interest in the entertainment being offered to the students here at Stout.

So why not participate in attending the lyceums, which are presented for your own enjoyment? The answer to this question lies in your own mind; do you have the answer?

HATS OFF

Wednesday, February 22, was more than a typical college day to be spent in shops, labs, and classrooms; Wednesday was celebrated as George Washington's birthday. On Washington's birthday we all took time to thank this great American for his courage, enormous energy, sense of justice, and interest in others, all factors which helped so greatly in developing the American we know and appreciate today. With fond gratitude we give Washington the title "Father of our Country."

Hi, People—

Well, we've got to catch up on the news from Sadie Hawkins week. There were quite a few turnabouts for this affair.

Everyone should know by now that handsome "Red" Kendall and gorgeous "Phyl" Bartosic won the prize for the best-dressed couple at the dance. Of course, compliments must go to Russ Gerber and Donna Heike for pulling in a close second. That corsage Russ had sure was a peach; we mean it was lemons, onions, and a few other non-conforming combinations. We would like to mention at this time that captivating "Wolf gal"—Ruth Conjurke along with meek and mild Les Springmire. That was surely a cute couple.

And then of course we can't forget that handsome hunk of man, the M-C and chaperone, Dave Barnard. He shore looked right purty in his blue denims, with a corn-cob pipe. Mrs. Barnard was along to see that he kept away from all the purty gals. Mr. and Mrs. Charles U. Frailey came along to see that everything went off according to schedule. It did, so we have to give them our thanks.

Then too, did you notice Mr. Phil Ruehl in his Sunday-go-to-meeting-square-dance-round-up-riding-singing and real western cowboy duds. He gave all the credit to Mrs. Ruehl for his glamorous costume.

We noticed Muriel Roffers dragging Francis Fritz to the dance Saturday night, but "Fritz" escorted Muriel to the cinema Sunday. Wonder what happened to Earl.

We kinda wonder what Bea Anderson did to Emery Nelson at the dance Saturday; he up and left about eleven o'clock and didn't return. Rumor has it he had a headache. Maybe Bea was giving him a rough time. Wayne Rudesill imported a girl from back home for this shindig. Delores was her first name, but we couldn't get close enough to hear what her last name was. Nice looking, too!

Have noticed that Joe Miglio is taking Ann Rossmiller out in real style now-a-days. Joe is the proud owner of a new Studebaker. Must be nice to have money.

We haven't seen Howie Greening around the campus on weekends for a long time. He says he goes home to see his wife, but we wonder, since Ross Slater went along home with Howie and "Doc" Monk last week.

We saw a foursome that were really comrades last week. We can't remember one night that they weren't together. You probably know who we mean. It could be none other than Helen Kenna and Jim Gehrke, and Bette Worthington and Bob Cseh. They were really hitting it off last week. Not bad, either!

Heard that Emery Nelson and Charmaine Chopp sang a beautiful duet at church last weekend. Emery says he is quite a singer, but we have had the occasion to hear him. Maybe the SSA will ask him to sing for stunt night or some other such program. Then we can give our honest opinion.

We have some startling news. Geraldine Jurwitz and Eugene Weigel are engaged. Sorry we didn't get them in last week, but we can't be all over. We must mention also Helen Helm and Dorothy Hiltop are engaged to men outside of Stout. We guess you guys just don't have "IT".

Joe Brejcha and Donna Jens have really been hitting it off for quite a while. During Sadie Hawkins' week Donna surely got her man out. She even had him out to the park in the afternoon. We saw them, so there, too! We wonder if there is something a little stronger than friendship there. Of course Emery Nelson and Bea Anderson have been hitting it off pretty nicely too. Emery even gave up going out with other girls. That was nice of him.

We saw three of the unsatisfied Stout girls out last weekend with some Eau Claire men. Seems that Ruth Larson, Irene Tiller, and Jo Grosskopf think variety is the spice of life. The Stout men may not be very spicy, but they are well-seasoned.

Terry Mroczkowski was happy last weekend. Her man, Ed Saxhaug, was up to visit her. We must admit she has been very faithful.

Three other girls that imported men for the weekend were Margaret Periman, Dorothy Krushas, and Doris Eckstein. We think the men of Stout must be slipping.

Then again we saw some couples left over from the Sigma party. Dick L. Johnson was dragged to the dance by Mary McHatten, while Anita Clark was gallantly escorted by Don Tietz. By the way, Don was elected the new "God's Gift to Women" after Dirk Van Duzee fell for Marge Wiseman. Nice going, Don.

P.S. Someone asked us when Bill Banks was getting hitched. We're afraid they will have to ask Harriet Homer about that, eh, Bill?

Well, that's it for this week—take it easy during this cold weather. Remember, save your lolly-gagging and love-making for places such as lake banks that are appropriate for that purpose.

See you next week?

Dear Readers,

Now, that we are back in the same old rut again—thank goodness—where fellows take out the girls of Stout, we are hearing the same old line that the fellows of Stout Institute "just aren't social-minded!" Please girls, don't be so critical of the fellows because we have to practice steadily what you girls have to do only one week out of 52. Usually the following statement is used by the fellows, but during the Sadie Hawkins' week, we heard the girls use it. It is as follows: "Gee, I don't know anyone whom I can call up for a date." What an excuse! Are you girls still narrow-minded as to the fact that fellows aren't socially adapted after last week?

In all fairness, and I'm not referring to female qualities, Sadie Hawkins' Week was surely publicized by the use of posters and through this paper. The posters were not of legal sizes—but they sure were clever and attracted attention. Three cheers for the poster artists; it was good work.

So much for Sadie Hawkins' week, I want to insert the following joke in here.

George Stegman: "What's that gurgling noise that you're making?"

Kay Thurston: "Oh, I'm just trying to swallow that line you're handing me!"

I am quoting the following from the great Chinese philosopher, Confucius—He who kisses girl on hillside is not not on the level.

College Students: They are people who keep the home fires burning.

Don Gee: "Say, I am sort of curious as to what caused those marks on your nose."

Jack Myers: "Oh, those were caused by glasses."

Don Gee: "Then you should learn to tilt your head back; it pours easier that way."

He: "Do you neck?"

She: "That's my own business."

He: "Ah, a professional."

The following can be reversed, but I'll state it to fit one side. Mother of some girls smile when her daughter talks about the kind of man that she wants to marry. Mother had her dreams once, but she wound up by taking DAD.

I want to dedicate the following to the Hawaiians attending Stout Institute—I heard or read somewhere that a Hula Dance is a Wild Waist Show.

Remember girls—it may take face powder to catch a man, but it takes baking powder to hold him.

In a class that was studying English, the instructor made the following statement: "Students, sometimes a class acts as a sponge and soaks up the wrong knowledge."

Voice from back of room: "Well then, let's squeeze it out, again."

The following error in an add was discovered before it could be printed. . . . It was an ad for advertising ladies "foundation garments." The error referred to them as "Line Tamers."

The following sign was posted in a restaurant: Hangover Breakfast—One jumbo tomato juice, black coffee, toast, two aspirins and deep-felt sympathy.

As the young people were love-making, the girl all of a sudden hauled off and socked the fellow. What was the reason? The reason for this action is what the fellow said: "Your lips reminded me of petals—bicycle pedals!!!!"

Just because she was a clergyman's daughter didn't mean that you couldn't put anything pastor.

Fellows, I have the following advice for you—the best value that you can get for your nickle is to pay for a phone call to the right girl!

of the Week

The Question of the Week

What do you think of the cartoons called "Stout's Tonia"?

Francis Fritz—"Let's have more of them."

Jane Sawyer—"They are very realistic and true to life."

Don Straw—"They create interest because they are something different."

Tony Buehner—"I think they are original and interesting."

Jim Brown—"I think they're amusing."

Fred Hodges—"I like 'Gismo' better."

"Corky" Collette—"I think they're corny."

WSF HOLDS BOX SOCIAL TONIGHT

This is it! Tonight is the night—the long awaited and oft postponed WSF box social is really and truly going to be held tonight, in the Methodist church basement, at eight o'clock sharp.

The box social is an amusing contrivance developed to some extent by "Freckles and his Friends" of comic page fame, for the purpose of raising money for worthy charities—in this case, the World Mission Fund of the Methodist church. The best part of it all is that you need be neither a Wesleyite or a Methodist to attend and have fun.

Without further ado, we will outline the major rules in an effort to clarify things for you confused men, women, and Stout students.

1. Each eligible young woman who wishes to attend is encouraged to pack a large lunch of suitable size to feed herself and some starving young member of the male specie who might attend.

2. Eligible young men who wish to attend have naught to do but have fun, and when dinner time comes around, bid for an aforementioned box. People are advised not to lose their head in the rush; they can't spend more than two dollars anyway. It's agin' the rules.

The interesting part of the evening arrives with the bidding for the lunches. Keeping in mind previous rules, there are two ways available for yo' gals to rope a man. They are,

1. Wrap such a huge lunch that your starving he-man won't be able to resist it.

2. Slip him the news by carrier pigeon as to what your attempt at cookery will look like.

This second method, in addition to being somewhat frowned upon by the authorities, is vulnerable to attack by other hungry men. Therefore, the first method is expected to be the more popular.

In case any of you men should happen to be afflicted suddenly by pto-maine or some other related affliction, the person to blame for the whole thing is Norman Lenius, general chairman, or more directly, the girl—a foods major at Stout, no doubt—who prepared your dinner.

DIETETICS CLUB TO SPONOR COOKIE SALE

Mint surprises, peanut butter cookies, coconut macaroons, chocolate chip cookies, and brownies will be sold by the Dietetics club on Wednesday, March 8, in the corridor in front of the Harvey Memorial. Some of the cookies will be boxed and will have the recipes enclosed. All of the cookies will be made by members of the Dietetics club.

ORDERS FOR SYMPHONIC RECORDINGS COMPLETE

Final orders for the records of "Finian's Rainbow," "Stout Hearted Men," part of "Carousel," "Rejoice and Sing," and "Emitte Spiritium," which were recorded at the Symphonic Singers' annual spring concert last year, were completed February 22.

Sixty-five orders have been taken from old and new SSS members, orchestra members, Symphonic alumni, and students not in choir who signed up last year.

DIETETICS CLUB MEET WITH NEW MEMBERS

The Dietetic club initiated ten new members at its February 6 meeting, held at the Stout tea room. At this supper party, Miss Ella Jane Meiller, new Stout foods and nutrition instructor, was introduced to the group. After the meal the club enjoyed card playing.

The future plans of the Dietetic club include a bake sale, to be held in the H. E. corridors March 8; election of officers, March 13; and a social function, sometime during May, for the graduating seniors. The club plans to have speakers for its meetings, held on the second Monday of each month, and will announce the schedule of speakers at a later date.

The women initiated into the club on February 6 were Shirley Carlson, Beverly Hedlund, Joan Mitby, Eleanor Ushijima, Elizabeth Seufert, Phyllis Patch, Louise Neumann, Dorothy Knutson, Barbara Bargen, Joyce Grosskopf, and Loree Woolen.

GLEE CLUB PRACTICES FOR COMING CONVO

The Girls' Glee club, under the direction of Mr. Charles Frailey, is preparing for a musical convocation which will also include selections by the band. The concert is to be presented during the latter part of March.

Selections being rehearsed are "Allah's Holiday" by Fremel; Cole Porter's thrilling "In the Still of the Night" and "Hi Ho Sing Gaily," a gay yodling song by Luvass.

Twenty-five song-loving girls comprise the Glee club. After the March convocation, the club plans to sing primarily for its own pleasure or for civic functions in which it might be requested to participate.

SKI CLUB ENJOYS SPORT AT TELEMAR

They have done it again. The Stout Ski club is certainly taking advantage of every bit of winter weather. Twenty-seven fellows and girls boarded a chartered bus for Mt. Telmark Saturday morning shortly after 6:00 a.m. The club made its usual breakfast stop at Rice Lake and got up to the ski area about 10:00. At 10:30 the sky cleared and the sun stayed out for the rest of the day, making it another good skiing day.

Many of the girls who came along were new to the boards, so the usual class was held for them. Dave Tank got himself a new pair of army surplus ski boots; to say that they were large is an understatement, for it took him most of the day to get skis fitted to the boots.

Snow conditions were not as good as on the previous Telemark trip. The runs were slow, but many of the novices liked that because it gave them a chance to try the bigger hills without too much help from gravity. The number of stiff arms, shoulders, and legs, from the long hours of riding the tow and schussing the hills, is rapidly decreasing. The club members have been out skiing so often that everyone is in pretty good condition. Judging from the loud praises from participants in ski activities, it seems everyone has had a good time on the trips and all are looking forward to many more.

NEWMAN CLUB HELD BRUNCH SUNDAY

Highlighting the Valentine Newman club brunch, February 19, following the 10:00 mass at which the Newmanites received Holy Communion in body, were the business meeting, an educational movie on the South, and the movie The Sullivans.

During the business meeting Father Wolmuth explained the pilgrimage to Rome. It would cost $500 for a round trip ticket for any of the members. Any member wishing to go is to sign up before February 27.

Immediately following the business meeting the movie on the South was shown. It was an educational movie showing the industrial progress of the South in agriculture and industry.

At 1:30 p.m. the movie The Sullivans was exhibited for all who wanted to see it. It was the "heart melting" story of five Sullivan brothers who were killed in the war. Everyone enjoyed the movie thoroughly.

"DOUBLE DOOR" TO BE OPENED SOON

"Power and suspense" are just two of the qualities that make Elizabeth McFadden the famous playwright that she is and makes her play "Double Door" the Manual Arts Player's choice for the spring play.

"Double Door" is a well-written play that becomes a part of the audience within a few minutes after the curtains open. The strong dominant character of Victoria, who strives to get and keep under her power everyone she deals with, the sweet kindness of her sister Carolyn, and the fine portrayals of the other members of the cast will be ample proof of the play's qualifications when it opens March 30.

LIFE TIME EXPERIENCES
TOLD BY TOM KING, '46 GRAD

Life Member Gives

Interesting Facts And Addresses For Friends

Tom King, life member of the Stout Alumni association, has replied to a request for information concerning his past life. He writes the following:

"The story starts way back in February, 1921, when I was born at Alma Center, Wisconsin, to Elva (Van Gorden) and Thomas R. King. Mom graduated from Minnie Creek and Dad holds a two-year certificate from Stout. Dad was teaching at Black River Falls at the time.

After tiring of life in these United States, I succeeded in talking Dan into accepting a teaching position with the Panama Canal department, so I was able to live on the Pacific side of the zone for four years. It was there that I started school.

In 1929, Dad accepted a teaching position at Springfield, Massachusetts. He has been there ever since and at the present time is looking forward to that golden day of retirement only a few years hence. His address is

Thomas R. King
74 Vermont Street
Springfield 8, Mass.

It was in Springfield that I completed my public school education. I attended several grade schools because of our moving residence. They were the Forest Park junior high school and Springfield Technical high school. I graduated from Tech, in June, 1939. During my junior and senior high school days, I was active in the school band, debating society, and school orchestra.

It was in the fall of 1939 that Stout first saw me as a freshmen. That fall I joined in the school activities through the band, Symphonic Singers, and MAP. After struggling through the first year, I returned as a glorified sophomore, to continue in the same extracurricular activities. These remained about the same through my first three years. I held offices in the band, MAP, Alpha Psi Omega, and Symphonic Singers. I was a member of EPT in 1946.

My college days were interrupted in the fall of 1942 by my induction into the Army. During the next three years I spent time in the Canal Zone, U.S., and Europe as a member of the coast artillery, anti-aircraft artillery, infantry, and armored field artillery.

I married a home town girl, June Birchad, in 1942. We both returned to Stout in January of 1946. I finished my B.S. degree in August, 1946, but I stayed at Stout to work on my master's degree, which I completed a year later in June.

On leaving Stout, I accepted a teaching position in Detroit, where I am still teaching. The first year was very interesting as I taught in one of the lesser-privileged areas of the city and in an elementary school where I was to open the first shop to a new subject. House hunting and working on the shop took up all my time.

At the end of my first year I was transferred to Redford high school where I am now teaching. The first year at Redford I was given the beginning work to teach. They concentrated on content of fundamentals, simple projects, involving bench and simple lathe work, pupil personnel planning, and woodworking shop safety. This present year I have been assigned the two advanced woodworking classes and retain one of the beginning classes. The woodworking shop is being run with the idea of rotation of classes. By this I mean that one year one teacher will conduct the two advanced classes. The next year he will teach the three beginning classes. In this way it is thought the quality of teaching will be raised by enabling the teacher to recognize more readily the weakness in one course and thereby strengthen them in other courses. It is a new plan at Redford, and we are eagerly looking forward to seeing what the results will be.

The other fellow in the shop with me is Gerald Decker of Menomonie. The department head at Redford is Rudolph Gaerttneu an old Stout grad.

Last fall I attended the Michigan Industrial Education society fall fair. It was organized along the new equipment-demonstration - display activity. Connected with the display was a dinner at which regional elections were

Telling Of Equipment And Facilities Of School

In answer to the request of the Stout Alumni association for information on interesting educational projects being carried on by Stout Institute alumni, the following article and pictures were submitted to the Stoutonia by H. M. Clark, director of the Kenosha School of Vocational and Adult Education, 625 Fifty-second street, Kenosha, Wisconsin:

Ground for the new $1,000,000 Kenosha Vocational school was broken November 24, 1947, when R. Y. Cooper, president of the Vocational board turned the first shovelful of earth.

Present for the ceremony, besides Cooper, were city Manager A. E. Axtell; F. E. Conner, former superintendent of schools and a member of the Vocational board; M. C. Frost, board vice president and chairman of the building committee; William H. Byrne and John A. Reid, board members; H.

M. Clark, director of the Vocational school; Frank McCaughey and Raymond Peterson, building architects; and C. R. Nicolazzo, city building inspector.

bridge, once the site of the N. R. Aller and Sons tannery, was constructed by the George Sollitt Construction company of Chicago. The base is constructed of Ashlar stone and the exterior of Indiana limestone and face brick.

Located on the first floor in the east end are the practical nursing rooms and the main University of Wisconsin Extension Division classroom. Storage rooms and small offices are also located in this section. Classroom walls and ceilings are painted soft pastel and white shades. The west end of first floor houses the school boiler room, a drafting room, and two other the class rooms.

The southeast wing houses the electric shop, arc and acetylene welding areas, aircraft shop, aircraft engine room, and radio and refrigeration class rooms. The southwest wing houses the machine shops, foundry, and wood shop.

The shops are each one story high with 16-foot ceilings. Lockers and washing facilities are located on balconies. Ceilings of the various rooms are covered with accoustical tile. Metal lockers are recessed into tile walls throughout the corridors, which are also painted in pastel tones. All floors except those in the shops are covered with asphalt tile. Featured are new type fluorescent lighting fixtures. Radiation and tempered air combined make up the heating and ventilating system.

The second floor houses the school library, a general office, the superior's offices, a large conference room, the visual education section, a science room equipped with the latest equipment and textbooks, an English class room, a social studies room, and two large class rooms.

The third floor houses the business training phase of the school, with shorthand, typing, bookkeeping, comptometry, and business machine class rooms. The other half of the floor is arranged to house the clothing, cooking, weaving, and home nursing class rooms. A model apartment for class room work is also located on the third floor, containing all the necessary household materials.

Numerous pieces of new equipment were obtained, many from the War Assets corporation. The material includes, for the carpenter apprentices, a De Walt saw; for the engine school,

23 motors, including radials, opposed, inverted, and V-type, two Nash motors, two Link trainers, and two complete airplanes; for the sheet metal apprentices, a power roll; for the barber apprentices, a barber chair and tools and supplies; for cosmetology apprentices, tools and supplies; electrical shop, new modern type teaching panels and four different type motors; for the radio department, field sets, receivers and sending units, oscillator tubes and small parts in great numbers; auto mechanics shop, a complete Allen motor tester, a Weidenhoff distributor test unit, a Souix valve grinder and fitter, and armature growler; for the welding department, a new Wilson Hornet generator type arc

VELDA MILBROT IS ALUMN LIFE MEMBER

Among the many names of life members of the Stout Alumni association we find that of Velda Melbrot.

Miss Milbrot has had a variety of experiences since her graduation in 1938. For several years she taught home economics in schools in upper Michigan and southern Indiana. In 1944 she joined the Woman's Army Corps. She was stationed at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland, as a chemical laboratory assistant most of the time until she received her discharge two years later.

Shortly after her discharge, she accepted a position in the dietary department of Michael Reese hospital in Chicago. Because she liked this work better than anything else that she had ever done, she decided to become a dietician. This involved completing her Institution Management course at the University of Chicago. She received her internship at the Milwaukee County institutions last August.

Major Bill Reynolds, Oregon '40 Pilot-Professor, U. S. Air Force!

Bill was an all-round athlete. He chose football as his favorite sport, made the varsity teams at Pomona Junior College and also at the University of Oregon.

A Theta Chi, Bill enjoyed campus social life. Found that it eased the pressure of rugged athletics and his heavy study schedule in Personnel Management.

Upon graduation, Bill chose a future in the Air Force. He "flew" his first Link trainer as an Aviation Cadet in 1940. By March, 1941, he had won his pilot wings.

The 1st Observation Squadron, Fort Riley, Kansas was Lieutenant Reynolds' first assignment. While there he met the future Mrs. Reynolds. They married a year later and now have two fine sons.

The Squadron moved to Panama, then to the Pacific. Bill advanced from pilot to operations officer to squadron commander. He came home a Major and qualified for a Regular Commission.

Recently commended for peacetime work—organizing and improving instruction techniques—Major Reynolds, a "Pilot-Professor", looks forward to a long and gainful career in the U. S. Air Force.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider the many career opportunities as a pilot or navigator in the U. S. Air Force. Procurement Teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Watch for them. You may also get full details at your nearest Air Force Base or U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S. Air Force, Attn: Aviation Cadet Branch, Washington 25, D. C.

STOUT TO PLAY BEMIDJI AND EAU CLAIRE GAMES

Stout To End Year Playing Eau Claire; Blugolds Have Returned To Full Strength

The Stout Blue Devils have two games on the slate for the coming week-end. Friday, February 24, they will be in Bemidji, Minnesota, to engage the Bemidji State Teacher's college. Monday, February 27, they will wrap up this year's basketball schedule with the traditional game at Eau Claire.

Stout will have to play heads-up ball to defeat Eau Claire on Monday. The Blugolds are at full strength for the first time this year. At the beginning of the year, they had to play without the service of Dick Emanuel. Lately they've been hampered by the loss of Gene Musolf, who has been troubled with a back injury. This probably explains Eau Claire's 7th place standing in the conference. Since returning, Emanuel has dumped in 114 points in 8 games. Jim Boos and Gene Musolf have been also setting a torrid pace in scoring recently. Both are averaging close to 20 points a game.

Because this is the last game for both teams, besides the intense rivalry between these two schools, a hard fought, exciting game is in prospect. Therefore, all Stout students who possibly can make the trip are urged to do so and help cheer the Blue Devils to victory.

SCORE 87-72 IN FINAL HOME GAME

The Stout Institute cagers dropped their final home game of the season last Saturday, when they lost to River Falls Teachers college 87 to 72.

River Falls, the current conference leaders, tallied the first point of the game on a charity toss. River Falls led the Stout team throughout the game. The first half was played on even terms; River Falls would build up a lead and the Bluedevil cagers would close the gap to within a few points of the Falcons. The halftime score was River Falls 43, Stout 33.

The second half started with the Falcons extending their lead over the Bluedevils. At one point of the second half the River Falls quint led the home team by 23 points.

The game resulted in a scoring duel between the Falcon center, Nate DeLong, and the Bluedevil center, Vaughn Stai. DeLong led the victors with 39 points, while Stai paced the Stout team with 29 points. Lindholm tallied 21 points for River Falls; Nylund and Pollock scored 14 and 12 points respectively for the Bluedevils.

COVEY'S CORNER

Big Nate suffered neither a loss on his scoring average nor his prestige during last Saturday's game. DeLong's 39 points didn't hurt his overall average, which is around 24 points. I believe the crowd's applause showed how big, likeable Nate created good feelings with his sportsmanship and fine basketball playing.

The Stout team as a whole played one of their finest games of the season. Stai at center didn't have to take a back seat to Nate; I believe he could show Nate how to shoot some hook shots. Benson from River Falls picked up only 3 points; this can be attributed to some careful guarding on the part of Russ Pollock. Pollock held Benson to 8 points earlier this season. Benson's passing, however, indicated that he knew what the game was about. Pollock also picked up 12 points for the Bluedevil cause.

Big Ed Nylund played some nice ball, stopping up the center spot. Ed has been hitting the last few weeks; he scored 14 points against River Falls.

If any of you are feeling happy because DeLong is ending his cage career with River Falls, I wonder if you noticed the big boy that substituted for Nate at the end of the game. This center, Kuss, is going to help the Falcon coach forget DeLong in the next few years. For his size, Kuss is really coordinated, and the coaches in this Teachers College conference are going to have a headache when he starts rolling.

When this season ends, the River Falls coach is going to kiss goodbye to a really sharp team.

Stout, victors over Winona, snapped a losing string which started right after Stout had beaten Winona earlier this season.

Tonight the team plays at Bemidji, and Monday night they finish off the season with Eau Claire. The Eau Claire game will be a nice one to see if you can get there.

STOUT PLACES THIRD IN ST. OLAF SKI MEET

Chuck Banks won the individual combined ski meet at St. Olaf on February 7. Chuck won the slalom event, placed fourth in cross country, and ninth in jumping. Jack Holmberg placed fourth in the individual combined score. Other Stout team members helped Stout as a team place third in the meet.

The meet consisted of cross country, slalom and jumping. The skiers representing Stout at the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference ski meet were Chuck Banks, Bob Becker, Byron Dodge, John Rudow, and Jack Holmberg.

The ski team will compete in a four-event ski meet on February 25, at Duluth, sponsored by the U of Minnesota (Duluth Branch). Stout will send a strong team of eight men to this meet.

STOUT WINS FROM WINONA 47-51 FINAL

Stout snapped their six game losing streak as they defeated Winona State Teachers college 57 to 51 at Winona last Monday.

The Blue Devils jumped to an early lead, and led the Winona quint throughout the game. The score at halftime was in Stout's favor 28 to 23.

The second half of the game was played on an even basis, with the Winona quint slowly narrowing the gap. With 1 1/2 minutes remaining in the game, the Winona team tied the game 50-50. Vaughn Stai scored four points to break the tie and the Blue Devils tallied 7 points to Winona's 1 point in the closing part of the game.

Stai, Nylund, and Pollock scored 16, 18, and 12 respectively to pace the Blue Devils. Polus scored 11 points for Winona.

DEAN A. KIRK ANNOUNCES JOBS IN CAMP

In a letter recently received by Dean Alice Kirk from Eleanor M. Schelper, executive director of the Green Bay Area Girl Scout Council, Inc., ten camp counseling positions were described as being available between July 2-August 17 at the established camp at Lost Lake in the Nicolet National Forest near Tipler, Wis.

Board and room while in camp, and round trip transportation from Green Bay to Lost Lake, are included in the compensation. The camp accommodates 50 campers and 15 staff members.

In order to qualify for waterfront director, one must be at least 21 years of age and possess a current ARC Water Safety Instructor's certificate. The salary is $100-$200 for the season, depending on the applicant's experience and training. There is only one opening in this capacity.

Two waterfront assistants are needed. The applicants should be at least 19 years old and have a current ARC Senior Life Saving Instructor's certificate; a Water Safety Instructor's certificate is preferred. According to the training and experience of the candidate, the salary for the six weeks is $40-$45.

An applicant should be at least 21 years of age for the position of craft specialist. Based on training and experience, the salary is $75-$80 for the camping period.

Requisites for the three unit leader openings are the following: be at least 21 years of age, previous experience with children, and have had some camping background. In accordance with training and experience, the salary for the season is $75-$80.

To qualify for the three unit leader assistant positions, the applicants must be at least 18 years old and preferably have had some camping experience. The salary is $40-$45 for the six weeks depending on experience and training.

A request for a camp dietitian was made by Mrs. Adrienne K. Minnick, made by Mrs. Adrienne K. Minnick, executive director of the Sheboygan Girl Scouts, in another letter received by Dean Kirk. The position will be open from June 13 to August 19. Further information is expected later. Students may receive application blanks from Dean Kirk. Notices of other available positions may be received later, and interested students are advised to contact Dean Kirk from time to time.

PHI U MEMBERS HOLD BUSY MEETING

Movie plans, chapter newsletter, election of librarian, and a money raising project were the topics discussed at the meeting of the Tau chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron, Monday, February 20.

Dean Alice J. Kirk, one of the chapter advisors, told members of plans made thus far for the home economics film. Scheduled to be shot in technicolor with narration to be dubbed in later, the movie will cover the main phases of college life in which high school girls and their parents would be interested. Since the filming will be over a longer period of time than first planned, date of completion will not be until next year. Phi U members will be working in collaboration with the film committee in planning and setting up various scenes.

Assignments for the chapter newsletter were made by Margaret Perman. Each member is responsible for one article which is due on March 13. Only one newsletter is being issued this year instead of two because of lack of time. Leverage Ablard was elected to fill the post of chapter librarian. The vacancy was created by the semester graduation of Lois Quist.

Plans were made by the group to sell sandwiches at the dormitories. Barbara Lovering, chairman of the project, enlisted help for preparation and selling.

SSA MOVIE GOERS ENJOY MOVIE SUNDAY

On Sunday, February 26, at 2:30 p.m. Stout SSA moviegoers braced themselves for 1½ hours of hilarious entertainment. Everyone let his hair down and really enjoyed Joe E. Brown in his picture "The Gladiator." The picture centered on the life of a college football hero, namely Joe, who was very humorous on both the football field and on the campus.

W.C. Fields starred in a riotous comedy which preceded "The Gladiator."

AVA HAMILTON TO PRESENT FILM LECTURE

Distinguished Explorer To Present Travels In "Land Of The Mayas"

Ava Hamilton, distinguished explorer will present a motion film-lecture "Land of the Mayas" at the lyceum Monday evening, March 6, in the Stout auditorium.

This new color film-lecture, photographed and edited exclusively by Ava Hamilton, portrays the indescribable beauty and charm of the little-known republic of Guatemala—its masses of brilliantly tinted flowers; its breathtaking mountain scenery dotted by towering volcanoes and deep, clear lakes; its picturesque Indians with their symbolic native costumes and exotic dances. This is Guatemala today, a land unspoiled as yet by tourist travel and the rush of a modern world.

Vividly depicted, also, is the Guatemala of yesterday with its historical landmarks, its churches and colonial mansions, dating from the dramatic days of the Spanish "Conquistadores." Marvelously carved temples, palaces, and great pyramids towering 200 feet or more above the dark green jungle bear mute testimony to a great civilization that came and went, leaving to posterity only these silent monuments.

Ava Hamilton, a descendant of a distinguished southern family, has spent almost her entire life in traveling and exploring distant parts of the world. She is a graduate of the Sorbonne in Paris, is a gifted linguist, a lecturer, an author and artist, and a top-notch photographer.

In Ava Hamilton's film-lecture, we will see enchanting Guatemala—a Land of Eternal Spring, which should be very interesting for those who have never been there.

ATTEND CONFAB ON EDUCATION AT CHICAGO

Miss Ann Noble and Miss Marjory Elliot from the college education department recently attended the Central Regional Conference of Home Economics Education. The meeting was held February 20-23 at Chicago in the La Salle Hotel.

Delegates from thirteen central states included state supervisors, teacher trainers, city supervisors and supervising teachers. Miss Noble acted as secretary of the teacher trainers group. Miss Elliot was recorder for the same group.

The main theme of the conference was how to teach child development in high school. Dr. Robert Havighurst of Chicago University, chairman of Human Relationship Research, gave the keynote address Monday concerning factors in a child's environment affecting his development. Dr. Lydia V. Swanson of Iowa State college was the chief consultant throughout the conference. She spoke on helping teenagers understand human behavior through child development.

Director and organizer of the conference was Miss Rua Van Horn, program specialist from the Office of Education in Washington, D.C.

On Tuesday evening a dinner was given for all persons attending the conference during which Miss Van Horn was presented a map of each state from the delegates for her map collection. A tea for all members was given at the Hotel La Salle Wednesday afternoon.

SLIDES SHOWN, LECTURE GIVEN ON FURNITURE

William Friedman Of Walker Art Institute Displays Modern Chairs And Stool

An illustrated lecture on modern furniture was presented by Mr. William Friedman in the Stout auditorium. Mr. Friedman, a resident of Minneapolis, is Director of Modern Exhibitions at Walker Institute.

Slides were shown of modern furniture including those for bedrooms and living rooms designed by well known designers such as Barwa, Tustel, Bartaluchi and Waltime, Nelson, and Matson.

The modern chairs look very odd in shape, but they are shaped to accommodate the body and are found to be most relaxing.

The modern trend in home and furniture is simplicity and one can create a feeling of space out of a small area with good, careful planning.

Modern furniture may be mixed with traditional furniture. Traditional furniture does valuable things for the room because the ornate furniture will show up better in a simple background and will not seem lost.

Some of the modern chairs are very comfortable and Mr. Friedman said that by sitting in a chair like the one designed by Barwa you can get an hour's rest in twenty minutes. Mr. Friedman brought several chairs that were designed by Scandinavians and one designed by Bruno Matson from Sweden for the audience to sit in and try out.

Persons have to sit in a chair and try it out and then make up their mind if they like it or not because the furniture does not look very comfortable.

Another modern trend is storage walls or storage units which take up very little space and give the room an illusion of space and good arrangement.

Large windows in a bedroom or living room may seem a bit exposed, but with large drapes over the windows you can still find privacy.

The rooms of 1910 and 1920 were only confusion and gave the impression of being cluttered. No longer are people saving everything old, because simplicity and comfort is the modern aim.

The illustrated lecture was attended by a large number of students and faculty who were interested in seeing some of the modern trends in furniture and homes.

"SPRING FOBIA" FORMAL TO BE HELD SAT. EVE

"Spring Fobia" is the theme for the FOB all-school formal to be held in the college gym at 8:30 tomorrow evening.

The spring social season will open officially with this formal, the first of many gala events. To make spring seem more of a reality than it is at present, the FOB's will create a spring-fobia atmosphere through gala decorations.

The social chairman of the FOB's, John Yount, reports that "Spring Fobia" will equal the decorative beauty of past FOB formals, plus having some new twists in decorations to delight the dancers.

Admission to the formal has been set at $1.00 per couple to accommodate all who wish to attend. The musical background will be provided by the Royal Blackhaws.

VISITOR MEETS STUDENTS AT SPECIAL CONVO

Miss Rua Van Horn, program specialist from the U.S. Office of Education, visited the Stout campus last Monday, February 27. During the day Miss Van Horn held conferences and visited classes. A special convocation was held in the auditorium arranged to give all home economics students an opportunity to meet Miss Van Horn.

Dean Alice J. Kirk introduced Miss Van Horn to the students. Also assisting in the special convocation was Miss Ann Noble of the college education department.

Miss Van Horn described the first post-war international home economics conference which was held in Stockholm, Sweden, last year. She was one of the official delegates from the United States.

After convocation, Miss Van Horn held a short meeting with the senior students who were given the opportunity to ask questions. In the discussion which followed, she pointed out the importance of community work for the future home economists.

STOUT BAND TO GIVE PROGRAM ON MARCH 15

Stout bandmen, under Mr. Frailey's direction, are rehearsing for a convocation to be presented on March 15.

The program will include the following selections:

March "His Honor" Fillmore
"Student Prince" Overture .. Romberg
"Cyprus Silhouettes" Bennett
"American Patrol" Meacham
"Old Man River" Scored by Grofe
"I'm Getting Sentimental Over You" Arranged by Yoder
"American Rhapsody" Long
March "National Emblem" Bogley

The band is now depleted to 48 members and more instrumentation is needed in every section, with exception of the saxophones. Anyone interested in playing in the band should notify Mr. Frailey.

One of the outstanding convocation presentations of the year will be Louis Kaufman, the violinist who will appear at assembly on Wednesday, March 8. Mr. Kaufman is well-known as an exponent of new music, and in order that the town's people may enjoy this fine presentation, a concert will be presented Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock. The admission for this concert will be $.75.

Louis Kaufman was born in Portland, Oregon, and was educated in New York. In 1928 he made his debut in New York's town hall. Continuing his musical career, he toured in both Europe and United States as soloist.

After his European tour, Mr. Kaufman married. He and his wife, Annette, who became his accompanist, made their home in Hollywood where he recorded background music for over four hundred and fifty motion pictures.

Since 1948 Mr. Kaufman has devoted his entire time to concert and orchestral solo performances.

Mr. Kaufman is particularly well-known as an exponent of new music, and has introduced new works of such distinguished contemporary composers as Aaron Copland, Aram Khachaturian, Robert McBride, Ernst Toch, and Robert Russell Bennett. He believes that we owe a debt to the music of our contemporaries and their works should be played not merely occasionally but consistently. He says, "Present this music to audiences for evaluation. Time will select that portion which has permanent value and is worthy of living."

During the past summer Mr. Kaufman rediscovered the first edition of the eight "lost" violin concertos by Antonio Vivaldi. The hunt for this musical treasure took him to Paris, Milan, Venice, Antwerp, and finally The Library of the Royal Conservatory in Brussels, where his efforts were successful. Mr. Kaufman's interest in the massive work grew out of his recent American recording of the four known concertos of the group, entitled "I Quattro Stagioni."

PETITIONS FOR SSA OFFICERS AVAILABLE

Petitions Must Be Filled Out And Returned By March 15

Students are again reminded that nominating petitions for the annual SSA elections must be filled and returned to the SSA office by Friday, March 3, at 5:00 p.m. The petitions are available to all members of the Stout Student association, and may be obtained in the SSA office.

To introduce the candidates and acquaint the students with their future plans, the March 15 convocation will include speeches by those nominated.

A president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer are the offices to be filled for a term of one year. For any office except the presidency and vice presidency, any student belonging to the association is eligible to become a candidate; the two other officers must be chosen from the junior and senior classes respectively.

Because of the importance of electing officers who will be capable representatives of the student body, everyone should earnestly consider the qualifications of the candidates for whom petitions are circulated.

FLAME ROOM SALES REACH 2 THOUSAND

Have you had your cup of Flame Room coffee today? If not, get the gang together and head for the Union for a cup of Flame Room—let's keep those stickers piling up.

Maybe you've noticed the thermometer in front of the Harvey Memorial which registers the number of red stickers. The thermometer now rests at two thousand. Let's build a Flame Room fire and set the thermometer soaring toward our goal—a television radio-phono set for the Stout Union.

AIRPLANES AND YOU

This is the appropriate time to ask yourself a question which might be embarrassing to answer. "How do I conduct myself at student assemblies and lecture programs?" Students who are in college are supposed to be trained in the art of setting an example for others to follow, but hearing the stamping of feet on the floor and seeing the paper airplanes flying around our auditorium make one wonder whether we are still children, or whether we are mature men and women.

Any disturbance like sailing paper airplanes or unnecessary noise makes it very hard for a speaker or performer to present an excellent program. There are some people who come to hear the program, not just to sign the attendance slip. So let's prove to ourselves that we can be well-mannered men and women who really enjoy the excellent programs that are presented in our auditorium.

THIS ISN'T STOUT

Friendliness and cooperation are lacking in many colleges today. Although these colleges are administered well and the school plant functions to the highest degree, they do not have this spirit of friendliness and cooperation which makes college years the best years of our lives. Many people probably will not agree with this now, but they will change their minds when they get out in the world and face reality.

Stout can be very proud of the fact that friendliness and cooperation reign so overwhelmingly in all of our activities. Extra-curricular activities thrive on this spirit, and there are many organizations on our campus that demand it. If friendliness and cooperation did not prevail, how could we explain the fact that we have one of the most efficient school government systems in the state? It would be difficult to achieve this goal without that air of friendliness and cooperation.

Another thing which makes this bond stronger is the relationship which exists between Stout students and faculty. Many schools would indeed appreciate having this strong bond between their students and instructors. So, let's pat ourselves on the back for having a part in making Stout a grand college in which to further our education. If we are to be leaders of tomorrow, a spirit of friendliness and cooperation must exist in all phases of our lives.

—D. L.

Hi Gang,

Another week and more gossip. Where is everybody hiding? There weren't too many people at the sock dance last Saturday. What happened? No socks?

Rose Young was the dreamiest person at the dance. Her escort came in from Luther college just to see her. His name is Chris and the rumor was that he is the star basketball player for Luther college. Not bad.

Joanne Buboltz had one of her girl friends visit her from Kansas City. Or I should say visit Bohumil Holub. He was with her most of the time.

Don Bredahl and Daynee Buell are still going strong. Hear that Don is going to the cities for the week-end. Just a coincidence, no doubt, that Daynee lives in the Cities, and that she is going home this week-end.

If you've been wondering why Helen Haase is as bright as a Christmas tree, come to the formal tomorrow night. Her one and only "Al" is coming up from Missouri. Helen bought a book the other day titled Marriage and Family. Could there be any connection, Helen???

Ex-Stout student Eugene Traxler went to Neenah, Wisconsin, with Pat Krause. Every since Trax left school, we haven't seen much of Pat.

Dave Randall, Rolland Wolfe, Les Duenk, and Dick Pederson went up to Iron Mountain for the ski meet. We understand that the meet was postponed. We were also wondering if any stops were made on the way.

Dick Johnson and Jean Waltzer were shopping in Eau Claire. Getting into the swing of it, eh Dick?

Hold everything just got word of a flash marriage. Elaine Anderson and Don Pederson got married over the week-end at Stillwater, Minn. Gee, that was fast.

ELEVATOR MANNERS

It is needless to say that the elevator is one of the busiest places on the campus during the week. Lately, however, there has been an unusual amount of pushing and crowding when students are getting on and off the elevator. Of course, everyone has to get to class on time, but no teacher will condemn a student for being a second late if he has to wait for the next elevator trip. It is best not to make a practice of waiting though, because we are striving for promptness.

The law states that no more than twenty persons may ride in the elevator at one time. If everyone pushes and shoves, it is very difficult for the elevator operator to keep the load even at maximum. As a matter of fact, the elevator makes on an average of six hundred trips a day. Unless everyone cooperates, it is easy to understand that the elevator entrance may become total confusion at class time. Many students go to class a little sooner to avoid the rush. If more of us did that, the rush probably wouldn't be so bad. Courtesy and cooperation pay big dividends, so let's remedy this crowding and pushing situation at the elevator entrance.

Noticed Don Sargent and Jean Bulmer at the high school play "John Loves Mary." Not only that, but Jean is doing Don's typing for him. Could we be burning the candle at both ends. I wonder-----

Dorothy Hardies and Jim Ooley must have really made up. They have been seen together for the last three or four weeks.

Don Cataldi and his wife made an appearance at the sock dance. Haven't seen them in a long time.

You lucky girls better be on the lookout for Frank Tank. Frank is back in circulation again. He and Lois Subitch were out during the week-end.

We just can't pass up the opportunity to mention Helen Kenna's and Jim Gehrke's name. Helen and Jim are going pretty strong. At least you can't see the one without the other. They also went to Eau Claire Friday night. Betty Worthington and Joe Randall also went along. Understand that Don Winters was their driver until they got to Eau Claire. He then picked up his date, a nurse from Eau Claire.

Wayne Coleman spent the week-end at Shirley Doner's home and Jean Pengilly spent the week-end at Karl Windberg's home. Sounds like something in the wind.

John Debrauske and Patsy Webb were out Saturday night, but we only saw them for a little while. Where did we go in such a hurry?

Haven't seen Gale Woelffer around last week-end. Were you in Eau Claire, Gale? What is her name, or wasn't it a she?

Speaking of Gale, we can't help thinking of Mary Bohrnstedt. Mary went out this week-end with Rueben Schwantes.

Ed McMahon has been courting a local girl, but we don't know her name. Maybe Ed will tell us.

Has anyone seen Bev Brehmer and Bud Ryder lately? Haven't seen them around in a long time. Could it be that someone found a place that we don't know about?

Just overheard a conversation. If you had a hard time finding your shoes after the Sock dance last Saturday night, you can blame Ed Bergman. Yes, he was the villain. At least that's what I overheard.

Oh, I almost forgot. I better run out and get myself a ticket for tomorrow night's formal. I'll be expecting to see most of you people there. Tickets are only a buck a couple, so let's all come out and make the "Spring Fobia" a success.

See you all tomorrow night. Until next week, we remain your faithful friends.

COOS BY WALLY PIGEON

I don't know if the following is an old joke, but the punch line of it sure is. It seems that a middle-aged bachelor was eating his breakfast in a restaurant and while he was enjoying his meal, he noticed that there was a penciled message on his hardboiled egg.

It read as follows: "If this is read by a young man who wishes to marry an eighteen year old daughter of a prosperous farmer, please write to Miss _____."

So after the meal, the bachelor immediately wrote to the young girl, proposing marriage and he received the following reply in a few days: "Thanks, but your most generous offer arrived much too late. I am married and have three children, already."

I read somewhere that a modern sophisticated wife is one who thinks that the greatest water sport is speeding up the electric refrigerator to make more ice cubes for highballs.

It sure is strange how older people can create an idea in small children. For example, a little three-year old was staging a quiz show of his own in the parlor.

"Daddy, do you know how to cook?" asked the young quiz master.

The father cooperated with him by replying, "No, son, how do you cook?"

"Well at first," said the little expert as he looked warily at his mother, "you strike a match. Then you stir with a spoon and then you go lie down."

Isn't this true? It is said that in big cities, a man's sins usually find him out. But in the smaller communities a man's friends do, and much more quickly, too.

The local drunk, who was drinking continuously, one day was hauled into court before a judge. The judge said to him: "Listen, you were brought in here for drinking and what do you have to say for yourself?"

"Tash mighty fine," replied the drunk. "Sarge, lest get started?"

Isn't it strange how some old materials are used in some other way to promote new processes. For instance, peroxide is an ingredient which is being used as fuel in the jet-propelled planes; but of course, we all know by now that the stuff has been used before to improve the pick-up!

It was a very dark night as two safecrackers entered a bank; the two sinister characters approached the safe. One of them sat down, took off his shoes, removed his socks, and proceeded to turn the dial on the safe with his toes.

"Say, what's the big idea?" inquired his buddy. "Why don't you use your hands and get this job over faster?"

"It'll only take a few minutes longer this way, but it surely will drive them fingerprint experts nuts," replied the boy with the touch.

A fellow who was bringing his date in at the wee hours of the morning was confronted by her father. The father immediately demanded an explanation: "Listen, young man what's the big idea of bringing my daughter home at 8:30 in the morning?"

Boyfriend: "I got a class at 9:00 o'clock."

Little boy: "Say, daddy, is the word 'cofferdam' a bad word?"

"No, son it isn't a bad word," replied the father. "Do you think you can use it in a sentence?"

"Sure, dad," said the little boy. "Teacher has a bad cold and I wish she would cofferdam head off."

City Slicker: A person who complains that the farmer is making loads of money, but who himself is scared to get his hands and body dirty in doing likewise.

Two young females were talking about their social life and one of them stated: "No man kisses me goodnight."

"How come?"

"Oh, they just don't leave until morning."

Sonny: "How do they catch crazy men?"

Doddy: "That's an easy one. They just use a little rouge and some lipstick, a cunning hair-do and a pretty dress."

When right, you can afford to keep your temper; when wrong, you can't afford to lose it.

CLUB MAP IS ACTIVE SCHOOL GROUP; NEED MEMBERS

Are you interested in dramatics, stage work, play production? Then why not join the members of the Manual Arts Players in their work on the various stage programs presented throughout the year.

The Manual Arts Players is a chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatics fraternity, the only national dramatics fraternity in the United States. The work of its members and pledges is varied and enjoyable, for they are a part of stage work at Stout: They direct and produce stage performances as their activity and include in the production such activities as making their own scenery, developing lighting effects, painting properties and scenery, and all other jobs that are peculiar to the stage.

To become a member of the Manual Arts Players is a simple task. By showing interest in the organization and by taking part in their work students can earn points toward becoming a pledge. After pledging, further interest and activity will enable the student to become a member of the fraternity.

If you are interested in this type of activity, talk to one of the present MAP members, or watch the bulletin board across from the registrar's office (the one marked MAP). When a notice for work appears, join them at the time and place designated. They'll be glad to have you there.

GIRLS ORGANIZE TEAMS TO PLAY BADMINTON

Badminton doubles are at present hovering over the Women's Athletic association. The girls interested in badminton have formed eleven teams with two girls per team.

A game consists of 15 points, with one game deciding the winner. The sport is set up in a round robin fashion; in this manner each team will play the other ten. The badminton tourney is being played on the fourth floor of the IE building.

TEA ROOM LUNCHEON TRIP TO POCKANO INN

The Tea Room Management class's latest luncheon trip, taken March 2, was to the Pockano Inn in the Pockano Mountains in Pennsylvania. The manager of the luncheon was Elva Lovett, and the hostess was Ruth Ann Christensen.

The Pennsylvania menu was as follows: baked stuffed pork chops, mashed potatoes, gravy, cabbage slaw, Harvard beets, spiced apple sauce, hot rolls, butter, gingerbread and whipped cream, Dutch apple cake and vanilla sauce, Dutch apple pie, milk, tea, coffee, and buttermilk.

WSF TO PRESENT OPEN DISCUSSION ON LENT

The WSF program for this coming Sunday, March 5, will be an open discussion on Lent, led by Jim Brown. Phases covered will be the history of Lent, customs pertaining to Lent, and related questions. Discussed at Wesley last week were the events preceding the crucifixion, the discussion being led by Reverend Reece.

The last important date on the WSF calendar was February 24, the date when the second annual box social was held, after being postponed for a week because of a conflict with a Lyceum program. Top bids on the boxes were limited to two dollars this year so that none of the fellows would be financially embarrassed. After recreation led by Jo Ann Graney, the auctioning of the boxes began with Mr. Earl Knight acting as auctioneer. After the auction, everyone participated in the major event of the evening, eating the lunches which had been prepared by those highly trained home-economists from the Stout Institute. After eating the lunches, some of the fellows were convinced that although the girls came here to cook, they just hadn't gotten that far yet. But everyone had fun in one way or another, anyway.

"DEAR MOM" YWCA MOM-DAUGHTER BANQUET

Using "Dear Mom" as a theme, the members of the YWCA will sponsor their annual mother-daughter banquet, for all Stout women and their mothers, next week, March 10.

Dear Mom, Have you heard? The YWCA is sponsoring an all-school banquet for all Stout women and their mothers. It will be March 10 in the school cafeteria at 6:30 p.m. There will be a choice of two menus. Before dinner there will be a tour of the new college foods laboratories, so you'll be sure and come, won't you?

Your loving daughter Miss Alice J. Kirk, dean of the division of Home Economics at Stout, will be the main speaker at the banquet. Jean Van Liew will serve as toastmistress.

General chairman of the event is Elaine Johnson.

FOOT BALL HELD BY INTERSOCIETY

The "Foot Ball," annual intersociety all-school "sock" dance, was held Saturday-February 25, in the Stout gymnasium from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. to the music of George Soderberg's Royal Blackhaws.

As each person entered the gym, his shoes were checked at the door, and everyone danced in his stocking feet.

The gym was gaily decorated with brightly colored paper "sox." Each sock had a society name written on it: namely Philo's, Hyp's, PA's, and SMA's.

REMEMBER WHEN

Remember when one year ago the State Theatre opened at 1:00 p.m. with five continuous shows that day?

The FOB's sponsored "Tropiganza," annual all school, semi-formal dance, with Johnny Farwell and his orchestra from Eau Claire furnishing the music for the event.

Dr. Oetting administered the National Teachers examinations to thirty-one seniors.

The Stout Band gave an inspiring assembly concert, consisting of marches, boogie woogie and assembly singing.

The Stout Ski club took third place at the Intercollegiate Classic combined events held at Madison.

Stout Blue Devils beat LaCrosse and lost to Superior, placing Stout in third place in the state college standings.

SOCIAL FRATERNITIES TO START RUSHING

Stout's four social fraternities, the FOB, Sigma, KFS and Sig Tau Gamma will soon start rushing, in hopes of finding some good men to take the place of January graduates. Each fraternity has a limited membership of thirty-five. Any man with a passing average and one semester's work under his belt is eligible to be pledged by a fraternity. The active members of the social fraternity, nominate and elect their future fraternity brothers.

Each fraternity garbs its pledges in a special manner. The FOB's wear a derby hat, T shirt, and bow tie. A KFS pledge will wear a straw hat and KFS sweater and carry a cane. Sigma's are denoted by a red sash, Sigma necktie and fez. If a pledge is carrying a blue and white shield and a sword, you can identify him as a future Sig Tau Gamma.

TAINTER ANNEX HOLDS PARTY THIS EVENING

The Tainter Annex girls are in the midst of crepe paper and sandwich fillings as they busily prepare last-minute decorations and foods for their annual party, to be held Friday evening, March 3.

General manager for the party is Mary Lou Bohrnstedt, with Catherine McGee as decorations chairman and Vilyn Erb and Gail Sand as co-chairmen of food.

MARCH 17 SET FOR ANNUAL STUNT NITE

On March 17, one of the most awaited Stout events, the FOB stunt night, is to take place. Being one of the most exciting and entertaining programs in the school year, there has always been a capacity crowd, and this year will be no exception.

The participants in this friendly get-together are to put on a stunt, short play, pantomime, musical rendition, or any other acceptable form of entertainment. All clubs and organizations have been notified of this great event and each will have something special and different. But this is not limited to clubs only. Any private group or single person is eligible to enter, just as long as they are registered Stout students.

Entry into this two to two and one-half hours of talent and laughs is made on one of the entry blanks posted in the halls of the H E Building. By depositing these blanks in the customary place, each entry will be given due consideration for the contest.

And as it is a contest, prizes will be given to the first, second, and third winners who will be selected by a panel of handpicked, impartial, faculty members. For students who do not enter, a minimum fee will be charged, a very small price for the high class entertainment which will fill the evening. The public is also invited.

HERE'S YOUR CHANCE

The industrial education division of The Stout Institute is anxious to maintain and advance its high degree of preparation for its graduates to enter the teaching profession. To do this, it is necessary to know how the training of past graduates enabled them to succeed at their positions as teachers. This information can best be found by contacting former graduates. Several graduate students are vitally interested in making this survey and have completed plans for gathering the necessary data. A sampling of all groups: B. S. graduates, M. S. graduates, and drop-outs will be contacted so that a total picture can be assembled.

In order that this information will be authentic and reliable, it is urged that each recipient of a questionnaire will frankly and honestly complete and return the form. Names will be seen only by the investigating student for the purpose of checking each form. This is your opportunity to be of valuable assistance to your alma mater and to advance its standing to even a higher level. Remember! Help Stout and help yourself!

Sincerely,

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER VALUES ALUMNI AWARD

(Editor's note: This is another in the series of articles written by alumni scholarship winners of previous years. Miss Joan Graney received the award for the school year of 1948-1949.)

After I considered applying for an application to The Stout Institute, my high school home economics teacher, who is an alumna of The Stout Institute and from whom I first heard about Stout, informed me about the Alumni scholarships which are given by the college each year and suggested that I apply for a scholarship. I then wrote to the president of The Stout Institute Alumni association and inquired about the scholarship. Later I filed my application.

My plans to attend The Stout Institute were definite after I received a reply that I had been awarded the Alumni scholarship.

The scholarship helped me very much. I believe that these scholarships are very worthwhile and that now is the time to inform prospective Stout students about this opportunity.

I have been very thankful, for various reasons, that I chose to attend The Stout Institute. I have indeed enjoyed the past year and a half, and I will always cherish the memories of the fine friends and unforgettable experiences which I have had while at The Stout Institute.

SENIOR IN IE TAKES FROSH HE COURSE

Frank Tank, senior from Sheboygan, Wisconsin, is taking as an elective Fundamentals of Design, a freshman H.E. course, under the direction of Miss Winifred Hinkley. Frank is taking this course to gain knowledge in the field of color and the applications of color to three-color process plating. It is necessary in printing design to establish proper color combinations and tonal groups.

The girls do the regular art assignments, but Frank has three definite projects: (1) to make color combinations, (2) to make color scales out of international printing inks, and (3) to write a paper on the wave lengths of color.

EUGENE MILLER WRITES TO INFORM OF POSITION

Eugene Miller, Stout graduate in 1947, writes to inform the Stoutonia and Stout alumni of his present position. Following is his interesting letter:

"Greetings from Western Minnesota:

"With the passing of a few years, the names and faces in the Stoutonia become unfamiliar and the interest of grads lags a little in campus activities. Don't believe that we fail to contribute because of lack of interest, but we feel that what we are doing is of little interest to readers.

Since our Alumni secretary, Herbert Anderson, has asked for write-ups for the Stoutonia, I feel safe in leading off. My present job stems from a new angle on farm shop work which I was fortunate enough to be able to organize in this locality. This type of work with veterans taking the "On the farm training" under the G. I. Bill, has grown into a full-time job which consists of advisement on building, repair, and designing of farm buildings and equipment for various farm enterprises.

During the winter, I have a shop where I hold classes in forging, welding, woodwork, and machinery maintenance. During the summer, I have a mobile unit with which I do a good deal of work in the fields of the various farms.

After working with grade school and high school students for several years, I find this job a pleasure in a sense, but it also calls for a lot of work too. I estimate and advise on building and repair to the extent of several hundred dollars for some of these veterans, and I would hate to be wrong.

We had a very successful hunting and fishing season in these parts this year. I managed to finish it off with a deer in the locker, which is always satisfying. My wife often wonders whether hunting is profitable, and I try to prove it is.

Our family is growing up in a hurry it seems. Gene, Jr., is past four years now, and Elizabeth Ann will be two this spring. Arline and I scouted the town down to the last block for a house and finally found one at 1010 N. Buse here in Fergus Falls.

Best regards to all our friends in Menomonie and around the campus and to all others who may get the Stoutonia.

Sincerely yours,
Gene Miller

ELKS CONTEST AWARDS $300 SCHOLARSHIPS

An annual program in which 11 college scholarships of $300 each will be awarded high school seniors throughout the nation was announced Wednesday by the grand lodge activities committee of the Elks.

Kenneth F. Sullivan, exalted ruler of Madison Lodge No. 410, said that the scholarships will be awarded to the boy or girl with the outstanding record for leadership in each of 11 districts into which the nation has been divided for the purpose.

The aim of the program, Sullivan explained, is to "strengthen democracy by developing leadership among the youth of America."

The awards will be made to students qualified to enter college and must be used to finance the students' first year of college, Sullivan added. He pointed out that the selection of the winners will be based on the qualities of leadership displayed rather than on scholastic attainments.

The scholarships will be financed by a grant from the Elks National foundation, the order's charitable trust, to the Youth Activities committee. The Youth Activities committee was established at the grand lodge convention at Cleveland last July.

Sullivan pointed out that the new scholarship program is entirely apart from the Elks National foundation's most valuable student scholarships which are granted to deserving students with the highest scholastic rating each year.

PLACEMENT OFFICE LISTS SALARY AVERAGE

According to the Stout placement office, which keeps constant touch with job and salary conditions in teaching, R. A. Walker, director of the Teacher Placement bureau of the University of Wisconsin, has made a study of the salaries paid to teachers last year within the state of Wisconsin. The average salary received by graduates of the University was $2,830 for men and $2,500 for women. This average is exclusive of the salaries received by George Barden home economics teachers, who are paid on a twelve-months basis. According to Mr. Walker, there has been no movement to cut the salaries paid to beginners. There is a tendency for cities to adopt a new salary schedule, which is a forward step.

GENERAL WW USES NEW WAYS OF TEACHING

Signs of the basic Stout policy of keeping abreast with the latest developments in all fields of industrial education can be seen in recent changes in the content of the general woodwork course, which is a sophomore elective.

The course covers four general fields of woodwork, with the newly developed techniques and keeping pace with recent changes in the upholstery field.

According to the older system of teaching, one technique in upholstery was taught, and the students then performed the operation. Now that more materials are available in the upholstery field, a change was found advisable. Beginning with the past quarter, students were instructed in six different new methods, and were given practical experience with each student required to construct a teaching aid which incorporates two of the six new materials.

Some of the new materials being used are foam rubber, No-Sag springs of the arch design, a rubberized hair substance known as paratex, kapok, and plastic covering material.

The teaching chair which was constructed consisted of a wooden frame upholstered on both sides, each side having a different process. It showed cut-away views of each.

AWARD WINNER OF '47 FAVORS SCHOLARSHIPS

(Editor's note: This is another in the series of articles written by alumni scholarship winners of previous years. Miss Geraldine Raisler received the award for the school year of 1947-1948).

Most Stout alumni and Stout students are aware of the alumni scholarships which are awarded to two high school seniors for use in their freshman year of college. In 1947 I was one of the fortunate persons who received the award.

When I heard the scholarship was to be offered, I became very much interested in Stout, not only for the reason that the scholarship would help me financially, but because it gave me the assurance that Stout was interested both in me and in promoting my education. I secured further information about Stout's academic standards and placement record from Mrs. Martha Schmidt, the former state F.H.A. adviser. However, the scholarship was the ultimate factor that made me more aware of Stout's existence and my possible matriculation here.

YOUNG KIDDIES ATTEND STOUT NURSERY CLASS

Quietly! Let us tip-toe in through the swinging doors of the nursery school on the third floor of the Home Economics building. We'll join some "224's" with their notebooks and pencils in hand, or perhaps some visiting parents, and be seated on the stools behind the one-way vision screen of the observation booth adjoining the playroom. Quiet now! We don't want the children to be distracted, or we will not see a natural picture of them.

As our eyes scan the room, we are surprised at how busy twelve little people can be. Johnny Andre is engrossed in the construction of his favorite train puzzle. At the other table, Patty Borgstadt is cutting paper. Despite the fact that she holds the scissors with her thumb down, she does very well for her age.

"Charlie" Sanna is absorbed with her painting at the easel. Martha McPherson is dialing a toy telephone and holding an imaginary conversation with her mother. Jan Schell and Jerry Wedell are intently listening to a story read by a 424.

It is interesting to notice how long Christy Schaar can persevere at her puzzle. Michael Leistic is occupied in engineering the lock-together train around the room. Look! Penny Puhl is the "little mama" pushing around the doll buggy. Mary Joe and Linda "are going to St. Louis" with her. In the sandbox Jimmy Iverson is busy amusing himself with his cars and trucks.

This semester finds a very young group of children in the nursery school, the youngest child being two years, nine months and the oldest, three years, six months. One wouldn't realize that Charlie, Jimmy, Martha, and Mikey are new to the school this semester. They are certainly well accustomed already to their new situation, taking the places of Kathy Arneson, Billie Draler, Carol Jean Magnuson, and Stephanie Owen, who graduated last semester. Who knows but that Jimmy, Martha, and Jerry may later follow in their daddys' footsteps and become Stout students as Stanley Iverson, Lee McPherson, Kenneth Wedell, their respective fathers, now are.

Shortly before the Christmas holiday, some new toys were added to the nursery school. The list included, two doll buggies, a double-deck doll bed, some dolls, miniature dishes, a rocker, some puzzles, modeling clay, and peg boards. When the children came one morning and found all these new things, little Miss Kathie Arneson quietly slipped up to Mrs. Benita Smith and said, "Mrs. Smith, did Santa Claus come last night?"

Yes, the glow of the new toys is still adding sparkle to the nursery school day!

One very special day comes only once a semester, and that came Thursday, February 16, in the general physical check-up given by Dr. O'Neill, the college physician. Some children take this all in their stride and get a bang out of it; others are hesitant and reluctant about having their throat, ears, and chest examined for the first time. Later, they too, take it as a matter of course.

The parents of the Nursery school children meet on the second Wednesday of each month from 8-10 p.m. in the kindergarten room of the Menomonie high school to discuss the care and guidance of the preschool children. Mrs. Smith is in charge of the meetings, which are a part of the Menomonie Vocational program. Anyone interested in child care and guidance is welcome to attend these meetings.

GIM STUDENTS TAKE FIELD TRIP

On Tuesday February 7, following through with the modern plan of the integrated curriculum, Mr. Reneson's general industrial mechanics students went on another interesting field trip. As the course of study centered around live steam and its uses, and since Stout has one of the most modern steam plants in this part of the country, the men toured our own steam plant.

Mr. Strozinsky, chief engineer for Stout, conducted the class through the power and heating plant. He gave a very clear and detailed explanation of the units and their use, following the step by step processes from water in each case to the electricity generated or the steam for heating purposes.

The men learned how steam is generated, the types of boilers used, how electricity is generated, and how the excess steam is used. Any steam plant generates more steam than it can use, so our excess is sold. Stout heats all the buildings on the south side of Main street between second and third streets. Also heated are the HE and IE buildings, the gym, the trades building, Lynwood hall, and the high school.

On Friday, February 17, this group of men headed out again, this time for the Twin Cities. Here they visited three plants; Ford Motor co., Minneapolis Moline co., and Honeywell Mfg. co. At Ford they saw major assembly processes and assembly lines in operation. At Moline they saw heavy tractors pouring off the assembly lines and observed the heavy equipment used by such a plant. At Honeywell, who manufactures mercury switches such as the type used in the movie on Cuba, they were given a fine lecture by the personnel manager on health, safety, and employment opportunities in these related fields.

"FRED" IS GIVEN RADIO, TOASTER AT ASSEMBLY

At the beginning of last Wednesday's assembly program, Fred Retzoff, college custodian, was honored for his 45 years of faithful service to Stout. Miss McCalmont spoke on behalf of the college. She spoke of Fred's loyal service and of the many things Fred has done to keep Stout functioning. Fred was given a radio for himself and a pop-up toaster for his wife, who has gotten him up and on the job for all these years.

Fred accepted his gifts very graciously, but immediately after the presentation he was confronted with work: he had to turn lights on and off several times for the assembly program and also fix a fuse. Despite these troubles, he lived up to every expectation and had the show operating in just a few minutes. All of which goes to show "our" Fred is really on the ball and really deserves recognition for his 45 years here at Stout.

FRENCH INFLUENCE — NOTE OF COFFEE HOUR

The French influence was the prevailing note of the Coffee Hour presented in the Tea Room on February 28, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Among the varied assortment of desserts were Rumpelmeiers, an authentic duplicate of a recipe which originated in a little Parisian pastry shop. Small tea cakes, Napoleons, Jelly tarts, turn overs, eclairs, cinnamon toast and marmalade, and assorted tea sandwiches comprised the menu.

Cafe au lait, coffee, tea, and hot chocolate, all typical beverages of France, were served.

HARTIG MAKES NEW HOBBY CLUB BOARDS

Have you seen those new arts and crafts announcement boards? They are really something to praise and admire, the workmanship being outstanding. If you were to scrutinize each quite closely, you would find a large amount of minute detail, not clearly visible from a distance but adding much to the overall appearance.

To Bob Hartig go the honors for this fine job. He spent much time and effort to turn out these fine specimens of work. Each board is different, involving two completely different types of work. The one is made of mahogany aircraft plywood. The letters stand out in relief; this was accomplished by removing the top layer of plywood in all places except the letters. This gives a two toned effect, dark on a light background. The other is made of wood and leather, the pine board acting as a base for the steerhide leather letters, which have been tooled and also stand out in relief.

But Bob's versatility does not stop here. While speaking to him the other afternoon, he gave out with a little information as to the results of the crafts last meeting. As you all know, there are rumors of an all-school carnival, and Bob said that if there is a carnival, and the arts and crafts club has a booth, he will again show his talents by drawing the profiles of those willing. Also, the club has decided to give a card party instead of the conventional dance. It's to be around April 15 so watch the Stoutonia for further announcements.

PRODUCTION OF 1950 TOWER TO START SOON

Tower Staff Is Well Ahead Of Schedule; To Be Issued May 15; Theme Is Secret

Production of the 1950 Tower, at the latest report, will begin sometime in March. Herb Watanabe, editor in chief, firmly states that the book will be released during the week beginning May 15. Everything is reported far ahead of schedule as compared to the 1949 publication.

It has been reported that 85% of the Tower engravings have been completed. This is a good indication that the staff is running ahead of the planned schedule. The engravings were reported as excellent by the editor.

An important addition to the 1950 Tower will be an index which will be a great convenience for everyone. This Tower extra is made possible because of the staff's efficiency in the past and present.

The staff was organized in September of last year. Since then they have come a long way in producing and composing a different theme idea. The theme of the book will be kept a secret to the student body proper, until distribution of the Tower has taken place. Another interesting note to keep in mind is the fact that the Tower is utilizing the artistic talent of a certain someone in college to draw up a little cartoon character. This little character is the one the theme is based upon.

Contracts were signed during the summer with the Bureau of Engraving, Minneapolis; Lund Press, Inc. Minneapolis; Durand Cover Company, Chicago; and National Bookbinding Company, Stevens Point.

Because of this early publication, spring sports, like baseball, golf, and tennis will be left out. It has been planned to have them put in the next year's book and carry on like that, thereafter.

STOUTONIA STAFF MAKES CAKE VANISH

With little risk to either life or limb, the Stoutonia staff acted as guinea-pigs for the experimental foods class at the last staff meeting. Darlene Nelson, one of the Stoutonia staff members and a member of the class in experimental foods, offered two of her experimental cakes to the staff. There was a slight bit of skepticism at the idea of eating experiments, but one taste of these samples of the culinary are proved all rash judgment to be false.

For the benefit of the fellows, the class in experimental foods takes a product, in this case a cake, and by varying the initial constituents, learns what effects can be obtained. In this particular experiment, Darlene varied the leavening agent. In one cake she used tartrate baking powder, and in the other she used phosphate baking powder.

If this all sounds like a very chemical method for making a cake, each reader is reminded that the effects certainly graced the palate. Not one case of illness was reported, and the general consensus of opinion was, "This we'd do again."

BLUEDEVILS DEFEAT EAU CLAIRE 66-62 IN SEASON'S FINALE

Stout Takes Early Lead In Final Game; Pollock High Scorer For Bluedevils Five

The Stout basketball team defeated their conference rival Eau Claire, 66 to 62, in the final game of the season.

The Bluedevils grabbed a lead, on two field goals by John Debrauski, early in the game. The Stout squad led the Bluegolds throughout the first half, and had widened their point advantage by the end of the first period.

In the second half, the Eau Claire team tried their comeback; with four minutes remaining in the game they tied the score. The Bluedevils never relinquished their lead and went on to win the final game of the season.

Russ Pollock, the high scoring guard on the Stout team, led the scoring with 26 points. Gene Musolf scored 21 points from the pivot spot for Eau Claire.

BEMIDJI WINS CLOSE GAME BY 61-58 SCORE

Last Friday night at Bemidji the Blue Devils lost to the Bemidji State Teachers college team 61-58.

Stout grabbed the lead early in the game and led Bemidji most of the game. Stout had a 9 point lead at half-time; the score was 34-25.

In the second half, the Bemidji team closed the gap and caught up with the Stout team with about 3 minutes remaining in the game. The Bemidji team edged out a 3 point victory.

Stai led the scoring for Stout with 16 points. Dahnip led the Bemidji team with 11 points.

"RED" KENDALL IS AVID SPORTS LOVER

"Teetotaler" Stan Kendall needs little introduction to most Stout students. His big red nose.....er, ah..... head of curly hair, and his beaming smile are a familiar sight on and off the campus.

Mr. Kendall

Stan is a California man at heart — North Hollywood, California to be exact — but he suffers all the trials and tribulations of living in the north central merely to gain an education ??? I mean merely to gain an education.

Red, as he is commonly called, is a sports lover. A really rugged fisherman is he, for instead of the droll pastime of fishing for "minnows" like bass and pickerel, he goes all out for the "big" stuff in the deep seas.

Stanley is also a music lover and has quite a collection of the modern masters, the jazz artists of today.

When questioned about his pet peeve, Mr. Kendall wrinkled his brow in deep meditation. A moment later a wry grin crept over his face and in a tone of determination he announced, "I hate sarcasm."

FRANCIS FRITZ ENJOYS SPORTS AND DRAWING

Francis Lester Fritz, treasurer of the freshman class, is a well-rounded college student. Francis hails from Belleville, Wisconsin, where he was graduated from high school in 1948.

As a drawing major here at Stout, it is easy to see why Francis uses a lot of pencils, erasers and ink. Architectural drawing is his preference, and probably in a short time he will be making house plans by the dozens.

Mr. Fritz

Francis likes sports in general. He participated in intramural volleyball and is now playing with an intramural basketball team. His two favorite hobbies are dancing and playing cards. His one complaint is that there are two few extra curricular activities. He likes Stout because of the friendly teachers and small classes.

Francis's cheerful disposition is an asset which cannot be overlooked. He is 5'7" tall and has black hair.

COVEY'S

CORNER

The basketball team ended the season with the right idea! The victory over Eau Claire at least evened the score with our closest rivals.

Three players ended their playing days with the Stout squad. Vaughn Stai at center has been playing regular ball for Coach Johnson for the past three seasons. Vaughn has led the scoring for the Stout team this year. Stai is one of the better centers in the conference and will leave quite a dent in the Blue Devil lineup next year.

Ed Nylund transferred to Stout three years ago and has been a regular forward ever since. Ed has been a leading scorer for the Blue Devils since he enrolled at Stout.

Bill Amthor has been on the squad the past four years. Bill has been a regular guard on the squad for the last couple of years.

For the team as a whole it amounts to the loss of a regular guard, forward and center.

Although the scheduled season is done, basketball isn't yet a thing of the past. For the students, one of the best games of the season is yet to be played. When the FOB and KFS teams square off at each other in the annual Grudge Game, the crowd usually sees one of the more hotly contested games of the season. The KFS team has Vaughn Stai and Russ Pollock, two of the leading scorers on the Stout squad, and also Bob McKay and Gene Landgraf, who have won their "S" for basketball at Stout. Jerry Larson, Rog Landgraf and Dick Pederson, who have seen action with Stout squads, are also KFS's.

The FOB's have varsity players Bill Amthor, Hilary Janikowski, and Bob Erickson. Wally Hammerberg who received his "S" for basketball at Stout, and Bob Young played on the Stout team in past years.

This game will probably be the last game offered to local fans, and it's a game that shouldn't be missed.

The coming of spring will soon have the baseball, golf, and tennis teams getting in shape

IVCF CONFERENCE SESSIONS AT STOUT

The Northern Wisconsin Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship Conference, sponsored by Stout Christian Fellowship was held here Friday evening through Sunday noon, February 24-26. Students from Eau Claire, Winona, and Minneapolis attended.

"What God's Word Means to Me" was expressed by Mr. Donald Rosenberger, instructor at Northwestern schools, Minneapolis, at the opening session Friday at 8:15 in room 29 in the Home Ec building. Afterwards refreshments were served in the tea room.

John 14 was the text of the conference, and it was studied in the discussion groups, Saturday and Sunday at 9:00.

Instructive meetings were held each morning at 10. A critique on Bible study was led by Rosenberger on Saturday, and an impromptu mock witness, to instruct Christian students in personal Christian work, was presented on Sunday. Mr. John Hermanson, Inter-Varsity staff member for this area, planned much of the program, and led discussions on witnessing.

In keeping with the theme for the weekend, "I Am the Way, the Truth, and the Life," three messages were given. Dr. Bruce Compton, professor at Macalaster college, St. Paul, spoke on "I Am the Truth," Saturday at 11, and on "I Am the Way," following the banquet at the United Brethren church, Saturday evening.

The recreation period Saturday afternoon consisted of bowling and swimming. Saturday and Sunday the group assembled in the tea room for dinner.

All students are invited to attend the special monthly meeting of Stout Christian Fellowship, Wednesday, March 8, at 8:30 p. m. in the third floor of the gym.

PUPOSES AND AIMS OF NSA PRESENTED

Have you heard of the NSA which Stout recently joined? Do you wonder as to the aims and purposes of the organization? Here are several of those aims direct from a bulletin published by the NSA.

The United States National Student Association (NSA) is an organization of college student bodies, represented through their student governments. It was created to serve the long-existing need for a representative intercollegiate organization designed to serve the American Students Community, and to promote students interests and welfare.

NSA's aims and purposes are dedicated to maintain academic freedom, stimulate and improve democratic Student Governments, develop better educational standards; improve student welfare, promote international understanding, guarantee to all people equal rights and possibilities for education and hasten the recognition of the rights and responsibilities of students to the school, the community, humanity and God, and to preserve the interests and integrity of the government and constitution of the United States of America.

A national student organization is a valuable catalyst in the process of creating a community consciousness on the part of students which will help permeate the university atmosphere with the spirit of brotherhood and cooperation among faculty, students, and administrations.

NSA MEET TO BE AT STOUT ON APRIL 22

This spring Stout will be host for the Wisconsin Region NSA assembly. Representatives from all member schools in the Wisconsin region and many schools planning to join the National Student association will spend a busy week-end hashing out school problems, formulating student policies, and discussing NSA programs. A regional art exhibit is being planned in conjunction with the assembly.

Stout's bid for the regional assembly was presented to the Wisconsin Region NSA Executive Committee by Warren Barberg, Stout Student Governing board member. The executive meeting was held at Madison on Saturday, February 25, the main purpose being the planning of the spring assembly. The date for the assembly was set as the week-end of April 22, from 7:00 Friday until 12:00 Sunday.

The assembly will be divided into four commissions, each discussing only the problems arising in its particular area. The four areas are educational problems, student life and student government, international affairs, and a just recently proposed commission of the problems of state teachers colleges.

At the close of the final committee meetings Saturday afternoon, each commission will type up its minutes along with the conclusions drawn and the resolutions they have to make and then mimeograph them, so that at the final plenary session Sunday morning, each member of the assembly will be able to have a copy of the material covered by the other three commissions as well as that of his own area. At this time the assembly will cover the results of the four commissions.

It is through the discussions in the commission and round-table meetings that school representatives are able to find possible solutions to the problems confronting their particular student body.

POSTPONED LYCEUM TO BE PRESENTED TONIGHT

The lyceum scheduled for last Monday night featuring Ava Hamilton will be presented tonight at the Stout Auditorium. Miss Hamilton was ill Monday making it impossible for her to be here. The lyceum will begin at 8:00 p. m.

Miss Hamilton will present a motion film-lecture, "Land of the Mayas." She photographed and edited the film-lecture herself. In her film-lecture, students will see enchanting Guatemala which should be very interesting.

TWO STOUT DELEGATES GO TO CHICAGO MEET

Beverly Brehmer and Dorothy Amendt were the two Stout delegates to the 1950 Workshop of Province VII of the Home Economics association. The conference was held February 23-24 at the Allerton hotel in Chicago. It is a yearly workshop and its purpose is for college Home Economics club members to get together and discuss the aims and accomplishments of the previous year. The delegates' pool ideas for club programs, publicity, getting members, making money, handling finances, and other aspects of the club's operations.

Province VII included colleges from four states: Iowa, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin. There were approximately 65 girls present, plus many club advisers. The delegates attended style shows, panel discussions, and listened to speakers. The two Stout delegates returned Saturday evening after an eventful two days.

"GRAD" CLASS HEARS TALK ON ADMINISTRATION

Superintendent Ballentine's appearance before the graduate "Administration" class on Monday was a delightful change in schoolroom routine. Interspersed with bits of shrewd humor, Mr. Ballentine outlined procedures to guide the school administrator through the problems of planning and constructing a new building. Points considered were the establishment of need for the plant, obtaining of local authorization, financial methods, selection of architect and engineer, obtaining of state industrial commission approval, contractor selection through bidding procedure, and miscellaneous items of importance during actual construction.

Observations based upon experience were that planning for future needs is vital yet most difficult to achieve, that building flexibility is essential, and that most building represents a compromise between educational needs and financial limitations. If the proposed building is to be erected on a new location, selection of this site is another major problem which sometimes brings forth such a conflict of community interests that the construction may be indefinitely postponed.

LUTHER COLLEGE BAND TO GIVE CONCERT SATURDAY

At 8 o'clock Saturday evening, March 11, the Luther college concert band will present a concert in the Stout auditorium. This band is from Luther college in Decorah, Iowa, and has traveled from coast to coast in America. It has given one hundred and fifty concerts in Europe. Some European cities in which the band has given concerts are Oslo, London, Paris, Berlin, and Copenhagen.

This band was the only college band selected to play at the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco. It was featured at the century of progress exposition in Chicago, and thirty thousand people heard and applauded a concert at Mitchell Park in Milwaukee.

The conductor of the band is Mr. Weston H. Noble, who studied under Dr. Carol A. Sperati (deceased), the colorful pioneer conductor of the band. Mr. Noble is one of the country's youngest conductors of a concert band "with a reputation."

SSS TO HAVE BAKE SALE AT FARMER STORE

The Symphonic Singers are sponsoring a bake sale to help defray the expenses of their coming spring tour. The sale is to be held March 11, between 8:00 a.m. and 5:30 p.m., at the upper Farmer's store.

Even the male members of the choir are contributing baked goods. In fact, Mr. Frailey has already spoken for Ralph Myhrman's cake. The committee is also asking the faculty wives, stenographers, and librarians to contribute baked goods.

SSA MESSAGE

Last week-end Warren Barberg represented Stout at a Regional Conference in Madison of NSA officers. He submitted Stout's bid for the next regional conference.

Stout's bid has been accepted and the dates for the conference are April 21, 22, and 23. All of the schools in the Wisconsin region that are not yet members are also being invited.

The cooperation of the student body will be needed to make this conference a success. It is hoped that those students who are asked to assist will consider it both a duty and a pleasure.

Watch the bulletin board outside of the SSA office for the names and qualifications on the candidates for SSA offices. At the assembly on March 15 all of the candidates will be introduced. On March 16 we will pick the officers that will represent us next year.

More cooperation is needed in getting "Flame Room Stickers" if we expect to get the television set in the near future. One suggestion is that those students who live in this area cooperate by picking up blank cards at the SSA office and taking them to the grocery store in their home town. Easter vacation will be an excellent opportunity for doing this.

Sincerely,
The SSA Officers

7800 STICKERS TO COLLECT FOR OUR TV

Let's get a terrific yen for Flame Room stickers. Who wants the coffee, just get the stickers. A combination television and radio-phonograph would look mighty handsome on the south side of the Union's floor.

2200 stickers are accounted for. A renewed effort is in order—a graph that has a plateau at 10,000 Flame Room stickers should be the goal on everyone's part. If everybody gets "rolling" and communicates with home right away, the steps to the top rung of the ladder will appear sooner than is expected.

Mail your stickers directly to the Mc Gravey Coffee Co. or to the SSA office. The address for the company is 601 Fourth St., Minneapolis, Minn. A statement in the letter as to who is getting the credit should be made clear.

A reminder to the folks back home is the key to a speedy sticker campaign. They are the ones who can put this contest on its upward course. Do not forget, write home tonight and let them in on the secret.

"S" CLUB TO SPONSOR FUN FULL CARNIVAL

Carnival To Be Held March 31 To April 1; Auction And Dance, Side Show Features

An all school carnival will be held by the various organizations and clubs from March 31 to April 1.

The student governing board founded the idea some time ago, and since then the project has been taken up by the "S" club which is in charge of the carnival at the present time. The "S" club is taking care of the procedure and plan to be followed, and is also in touch with the various ideas submitted by the clubs to avoid the chance of similarity.

The fun-packed days begin on the last Friday of March. The general outline for the two day event is as follows:

An all-faculty show is scheduled for Friday. This will be something to see—if a person has any imagination at all, he will be sure to attend.

Another event of social interest is the White Elephant auction. White elephants are annoying to people who have them. The idea of the auction is to get rid of something worthless to the present owner. According to the paper's source of information, white elephants to Grandma's shoestrings.

Side shows in the gym will probably be the greatest attraction. Every side show will be sponsored by some club or organization and each one will be different. It will be a genuine side show carnival for everyone to attend, so don't miss it, warn "S" club members.

Games and prizes are also listed for the two days so there will be entertainment for the skilled operator.

Winding up the gala event is the Saturday night dance.

This will be a big weekend. To make it outstanding, club members should cooperate with the committees. The students and faculty of Stout will experience something new and different. An event of this type brings a feeling of fun and relaxation to anyone who attends. "Let's make it BIG," urges the sponsors of the carnival.

GIM STUDENTS TAKE FINAL EXCURSION

As the last in a series of field trips, the general industrial mechanics students in Mr. Matthew Reneson's class completed its final excursion on Thursday, March 2. They went through the U.S. Rubber Co. at Eau Claire, the former Gillette Rubber Co.

Viewing some of the most modern machinery in the United States proved to be quite interesting to these 20 ambitious fellows. The company manufactures tractor, truck, and automobile tires exclusively, and they also make the respective tubes for each.

The class saw the complete processes of making a tire, from the raw rubber, to adding the nylon and rubber plys, and finally the shaping of the tire. This plant, which employs 4300 persons, also makes its own molds in a well equipped machine shop. The fellows also learned that the company keeps all their own molds, so if you need a tire for that "28", they can supply it.

STS PLANS FOR FIELD TRIP COMPLETED

Most of the shops and plants contacted in the Neenah-Menasha area have replied and accepted the request of the STS to visit them. Plans for the trips have been completed. The bus is scheduled to leave bright and early at 4 a.m. April 19. A Stuart bus has been chartered to transport the members to the Appleton Hotel in Appleton, Wis. From that central point various places will be visited during their stay in the area. The return trip will be made Saturday afternoon, April 21st, after their last visit on Saturday morning.

FOB'S PLAN FOR STUNT NIGHT

Hear Ye—Hear Ye; everyone get prepared for the big FOB Stunt Night, to be held in the Stout auditorium, March 17, at 8:00 p.m. All organizations and groups are invited to enter acts in the stunt program, and try for the cash awards. The deadline for entries is March 10. Tickets may be purchased in advance or at the door for 25 cents. Seats will not be reserved.

At a meeting of the groups stunt chairman, March 12, the acts will draw for their position on the program. The show will last from 2 to 2½ hours with each skit about ten minutes in length. Between the acts Mr. Hoving will provide musical entertainment on the organ.

Judges for the stunts will be chosen from the faculty. They will make their decisions on the following; humor, presentation, originality, and adherence to the time limit.

THEME OF ANNEX PARTY WAS IRISH

The Irish were in their glory as they danced to dreamy music or played cards in rooms decorated with shamrocks, pipes, and crepe paper at the Annex party on Friday, March 3.

In the middle of the evening after several fellows and gals had tried unsuccessfully to break an Irish "pinta," Gale Woelffer with a magnificent swing broke it causing candy, suckers, gum, and other favorites to be scattered around the room.

IT'S COMING!!

As spring approaches, we hear students discussing that ever-popular disease: Spring Fever.

Just what is Spring Fever? One student described it as a disease which causes young men's fancies to turn to thoughts of what girls have been thinking of all winter long. Daniel Webster says, "The lazy, listless feeling that comes to persons with the first warm days of spring."

In Spring Fever, as in any other disease, there are numerous signs and symptoms. Some students merely develop a lazy, indifferent nature, while others ditch their studies entirely and "take to courtin" their "favorite Miss." Spring Fever may attack anyone, but rumor has it that some of the Stout faculty are immune.

Let this be a warning to you—beware of the "fever that comes in the spring."

—A. R.

Question of the Week

What do you think of the lyceums, and what do you like to see?

Vilyn Erb, freshman: All types of musicals are just tops. They have been of an excellent variety and very well chosen.

Duane E. LeBague, senior: Programs this year have been the best during my time at Stout. I think the lyceum committee is doing a fine job of choosing programs.

Rodney Hanson, senior: I think most of the lyceums are very good. I would like to see more on traveling, etc.

Howdy do, folks,

Well, we can put our formals and tuxs back into the mothballs for another period of rest. That was some shindig last weekend. Everyone looked right purty.

We have some good news for you gossip hounds this week. Helen Haase enticed her boyfriend Al up for the formal last weekend, but it was worth her while. She got a big engagement ring out of the tall handsome red-headed lad. Congratulations from us to her.

Another bit of unfinished business is that concerning Ed McMahon and his Menomonie girlfriend. We found out that it is Barbara Hermann. It seems that Ed leaves his car in the Hermann's garage, so it must be that Ed is taking out the landlord's daughter, so he will get his rent reduced. Or maybe Ed doesn't have such villainous attitudes toward girls.

Rolland Wolfe really gets around. Last weekend he went to the Cities with Pat Goodrich to see the "Ice-capedes," and the week before he went to Marinette. However, the trip to Marinette was alone. Don Straw also went to the Cities with Elaine Speicher, assistant librarian, who, by the way, lives at Goodriches. Some correlation there, no doubt.

Saw Bob Morris and Phoebe Smith at the formal last weekend. Bob looked as if he were floating on a cloud. And a good reason he had, if you ask us.

Another couple that was out of this world was Jim Brown and Alice Fechner. Alice must like that flashy red hair that Jim is wearing this season.

Bohumil Holub made one of his few formal appearances with a girl from Elkhart Lake, by the name of Leone Nagel. It looked as though Bohumil was having a good time. Gordy Goessner and Joanne Buboltz made a spectacular showing at the brightly arrayed formal jitter-bug session. Wonder if they have set the date yet?

We also noticed Jim Papez fully enjoying himself after his off-campus teaching position. He and Rachel Dautermann were dancing on a cloud.

We are beginning to think it is either the melodic strains of George Soderberg's Royal Blackhaws, or the fragrant aromas of the lovely flowers the girls were wearing that made the men quite heady. Of course it could be spring fever setting in early. Then too, it could be love? or could it??? We missed—and so did Emery Nelson—Bea Anderson at the formal. She went too Blair last weekend, but we are wondering if she really went to see her mother. Emery was walking around the campus as if he had lost his last friend. It must be serious to get that look.

The Hawaiian boys really came out in force for the formal. Bob Hirano escorted Eleanor Ushijima through the wind and puddles to attend the regal affair. Al Goto, a true FOB member, brought a native of Cuba City, Doris Heil. It has been said that this is the first year Al has even looked at girls, but that is only rumor of course. Paul Kokobun gallantly escorted Audrey Porter to the dance, even after an afternoon of bowling with the boys. And last, but not least, we have Herb Watanabe bringing a Menomonie girl by the name of Gerry Erickson. Herb seems to be playing the field these days. Too early to settle down anyway.

Howie Knopp and Shirley Carlson were "all alone" at the formal as were three other couples, namely Dick Johnson and Betty Braun, Bill Kocaj and Clarice Zarling, and the famous "Al" and the fortunate Helen Haase. Saw a few married couples at the dance also. Toby Hendrickson brought his gorgeous wife as did Wil McCarthy. John and Beth Yount made a spectacular entrance as should all true FOB'ers.

Noticed that since the weather is warming up there are many people out walking. Katie Ziehm and Charley Schiferl have been sloshing thru the slush. Daynee Buell and Don Bredahl (Mutt and Jeff) have been waltzing hand-in-hand ever since last weekend when they went up to the Cities to Daynee's home.

Russ Boettner and Jean Van Liew have been seen at different times in the process of interdigitating (holding hands—Ed.). Of course spring fever is here again.

Well, the worm is turning and our hearts are yearning for the great outdoors. If the warm weather keeps up summer will be here early.

So long for now, see you next week.

Key and Hole.

One more joke—this one is about an economics professor and his bright students.

Prof: "Students, can anyone of you give me an example of indirect taxation?"

Stude: "Yes sir, I think of a dog tax."

Prof: "How is that?"

Stude: "Well, the dog doesn't have to pay it."

Some daffynitions that I gathered from the dictionary:

Conceit—Seeing yourself as more intelligent and clever than others—Your eyes can deceive you!

Advice—A thing that is "More blessed to give than receive."

Bore—A person who talks about himself when you would like to talk about yourself.

The Average Person—One who thinks that he isn't.

Courtship—It is that period when a girl tries to decide whether or not she can do better.

Experience—The name given to our mistakes.

Forty—(This is what I found) It is the age when a woman stops patting herself on the back and begins under the chin!

Good Sport—A person who lets you have your own way.

Hug—It is the roundabout way for people to express their affection!

Self-Made Men—A horrible example of unskilled labor.

Swell-Head—Nature's frantic and unsuccessful attempt to fill a vacuum.

Vulgarity—The behavior of others.

I know that many jokes about drivers are always inclined to raze the missing ability of most women—but fellows remember that the woman who drives from the back seat of a car isn't any more annoying than the man who cooks from the dining room table! Thank you, girls!

We can't choose our ancestors, but still this is fair enough when you

Grandson: "That might be, but the cars of today have better springs."

The following I believe is somewhat absent in the classrooms of The Stout Institute, but I'll use it anyway.

Advice to College Students:
Don't bring pencils, pens, and paper to class. The confusion caused by your borrowing will give you a "stand in" with the instructor.

I heard of a drunk who was extremely polite, because he said "How do you do?" when the floor came up to meet him.

A fellow comes into a barber shop, sits down, turns to the barber and says: "Give me the works."

The barber sees that the fellow has his hair all slicked down with a very liberal amount of oil so he returns with the following question: "What do you want, a hair cut or an oil change?"

Her eyes reminded him of pools—cesspools.

STOUT GRAD AS HEAD OF FREDERICKSBURG IA

Art Schwartz '34, Menomonie Boy, Is Supervisor Of IA For Virginia City

Another Stout grad, a Menomonie boy, wins high praise for his work in the field of education. He is Arthur Schwartz, Stout graduate in 1934, who is supervisor of industrial arts for Fredricksburg, Virginia schools. Mr. Schwartz is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Schwartz of this city. The following is from the Free Lance-Star, published at Fredricksburg. It was sent to the Stoutonia by Josiah P. Rowe, III, business manager, who writes, "Menomonie and The Stout Institute can well be proud of the achievements of Mr. Schwartz." Paul O. Schwartz, an instructor at the same school, graduated from Stout in 1941.

"The industrial arts program of James Monroe high school is second to none in the entire state." That was the way H. Dignowity, program planning specialist for trade and industrial education for the Office of Education in Washington, D. C., summed up impressions of his visit to the school's workshops last night.

Thirty-nine educators in the industrial arts field, gathered to observe the James Monroe shops in action as part of a meeting of the year-old Richmond Area Industrial Education Association, had similar words of commendation as about 45 junior and senior high school students put on an exhibition of such activities as printing, drawing, woodworking, electricity, metalwork and aeronautics.

Dignowity, who has been visiting work shops throughout the state, said that the ones here and in Norfolk are the best he has inspected and added that such diversified vocational programs were, in his opinion, the backbone of education, as they brought students nearer to the realities of life and aided them in making a satisfactory adjustment.

Other visitors included George L. Sandvig and Gordon H. Fallesen, assistant supervisors of training and industrial education in Virginia, Kurt A. Schneider director of industrial education for the city of Richmond, and Clinton Jones, one of the founders of the visiting association.

Sandvig singled out the "housekeeping arrangements" for praise, stating that the tools were adequate, well-protected against damage, and neatly arranged.

Stating that the exhibition showed evidence that a lot of good work was being done at the school, Schneider said that he and other visitors were impressed by the nature and variety of work taught in the shops, the spontaneous interest shown by the students, and their ability to perform "under their own steam."

"A lot of ingenuity, resourcefulness, and versatility is being shown by these teachers," he said. The teachers referred to were hosts to the visitors.

Principal aim of the exhibition last night was to show the different levels of activity provided at the school for students of all ages, Schwartz said.

IN THE MAILBAG

Robert Thompto, Stout graduate of 1948, sent the following letter informing the alumni of his present position: "I am now teaching in a general shop at Bently Junior high school, Flint, Michigan. The shop has been in operation just one year. Woodwork has been the main area of the shop, but sheet metal, drafting, freehand drawing, art metal, leather, and plastics are all part of the program. The school is planning a large building project this spring.

Last spring I married the former Carol Bagstad. We bought our own home less than a block from school.

Together we teach an adult education class titled "Craft Lessons for Leaders." The class is part of an adult education program sponsored jointly by the Mott Foundation, Flint Junior college, Board of Education, State Department of Public Instruction, and the Veteran's Administration. We plan to make visits to hospitals and other institutions where class members have actual teaching situations.

We also taught handicraft at Mott camp last summer and plan to do the same this summer.

Sincerely,
Robert Thompto

TEACHERS HELP DESERVING STUDENTS

Scholarships From Alumni Association Given To High School Students

To the Alumni:

Many students who are to graduate from high school at the end of this term are wondering about what they are going to do after they receive their diplomas. Maybe some very deserving boys and girls have given up the idea of attending college because of financial reasons. But, if they thought that a little financial assistance would be theirs just for the asking, they might reconsider their plans and make a concentrated effort to continue their schooling.

This is where the home economics and industrial arts teacher can play an important part in influencing a boy or girl who needs a little guidance to help make such a decision. As this is the time of the year that students and teachers should be thinking about scholarships, why not be alert to any likely candidate that would benefit a great deal by attending Stout? We, as teachers of industrial arts, home economics, and vocational subjects, are in an excellent position to discover likely candidates who we think might make capable teachers in our field.

The Alumni Association of the Stout Institute is offering annually two scholarships of $60.00 each and free tuition to freshman students (one boy and one girl) entering as graduates of any accredited school.

Scholarship blanks may be obtained by writing to the Secretary-Treasurer, Alumni Association, The Stout Institute, Menomonie, Wisconsin; or Miss Belle Soukup, 42 N. 8th Avenue, Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin; Mrs. John F. Galbraith, Route 2, Plainfield, New Jersey; or Michael Timbers, 3848-44th Avenue N. E., Seattle, Washington.

Signed,
Michael H. Timbers,
Member of the Scholarship Committee.

LEADERS IN IA MEET TO DEVELOP FORD AWARD

Clyde A. Bowman On Committee To Form Awards Program For Students and Teachers

On January 21 of this year, an executive group of leaders in the field of industrial arts and vocational education met in Detroit, Michigan, to assist in developing the Ford Industrial Arts Awards program.

The committee was composed of men who had served as the advisory board for the awards program when it was conducted by Scholastic Magazines, and on the strength of the decisions made by this committee, the Ford Motor company has announced 504 cash awards and 8 all-expense trips to Detroit and Dearborn for student winners in its Industrial Arts Awards program. For the first time, too, teachers will be included in the awards. The 8 all-expense trips to Detroit will be duplicated for the teachers whose students win special achievement awards.

Included in the planning committee were Clyde A. Bowman, dean of industrial arts, The Stout Institute, Menomonie, Wisconsin; George H. Fern, consultant from Scholastic Magazine; Earl L. Bedell, divisional director of technical and trade schools, Detroit, Michigan; Thomas Diamond, professor of vocational education, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan; Roy G. Fales, acting chief, Bureau of Industrial Arts Education, State Education department, Albany, New York; DeWitt Hunt, head, industrial arts education and engineering shopwork, Stillwater, Oklahoma; Frank C. Moore, director of industrial arts, Cleveland, Ohio; S. D. Mullikin, superintendent, Henry Ford Trade School, Dearborn, Michigan; and H. A. Sotzin, head, industrial arts education, San Jose College, San Jose, California.

As a result of their work, any junior or senior high school student is eligible to submit projects made in a regular shop or drawing course. Judging will be done by experts in the industrial arts and vocational educational education fields at the 1950 Industrial Arts Awards Fair, to be held at the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry, August 7 to October 14.

In order that the older students will not have an advantage over the younger ones, entries will be judged in groups according to the grade level of the student submitting the projects.

Cash awards of $100 for first, $50 for second, $25 for third, and $10 for six honorable mentions will be given in each of 56 classifications and groups. Judging will be based on excellence of workmanship and design. The all-expense trips will be special awards for the entry representing the outstanding achievement in each of the 8 major divisions—wrought metal division, patternmaking and molding division, wood division, electrical division, drawing division, machine shop division, plastics division, printing division.

The company said that entries should be sent direct to the Museum of Science and Industry, Chicago, not earlier than May 20 and not later than June 20.

SKI CUB WON SECOND PLACE AT DULUTH

Duluth Branch Takes First, Carleton Places Third In Intercollegiate Meet

The Stout Ski Team placed second in the Intercollegiate Ski Meet at Duluth Friday.

The colleges from the surrounding area that entered the meet were: Duluth Junior College, Carleton Junior College, Stout, Beloit Junior College.

First place was captured by U. of M. Duluth Branch. Stout took second place, and Carleton placed third in the meet.

The meet consisted of 4 events; slalom, down hill, cross-country, and jumping. The Stout team obtained points by: Charles Banks placed first in cross country and second in slalom, Jack Holmberg placed third in slalom, third in cross country and sixth in jumping. Byron Dodge placed eleventh in cross country and eleventh in jumping.

Members of the Stout team in the meet were: John Rudow, Charles Banks, Bob Becker, Byron Dodge, Fred Fisher, and Jack Holmberg.

COACH BIERMAN SPEAKER AT ROTARY CLUB

The Stout letter-men of football, the coaches, and the athletic directors were guests at the Menomonic Rotary Club Banquet held in the Marion Hotel, Wednesday, February 22.

The highlight of the program was the guest speaker, Bernie Bierman, head football coach of the University of Minnesota. The main topic of his speech consisted of football and athletics in general. The listeners enjoyed every moment of his related stories and humorous events that took place while he was gaining his vast experience as a top notch coach. Coach Bierman also explained the east-west Shrine game which is held New Years Day in San Francisco every year with the purpose of raising funds for Shrine hospitals for crippled children. Coach Bierman has been the head coach of the east section for the past 12 years.

The Stout guests and the others attending the dinner were very proud that they were able to attend the fine event sponsored by the Menomonic Rotary Club. It was truly a great event for sportsmen to get together and really have a fine time, and listen to a football coach who is known across the nation. The Menomonic High School Football team and their coach Einer P. Lund were also guests. 125 persons attended the event.

COVEY'S CORNER

Not much going on in this line of work for a few weeks.

The post season basketball tournaments are getting underway. A couple of teams consisting of Stout students have entered the YMCA tournament at Eau Claire. I don't know the entire membership of the teams; for the Menomonic VFW Bob Young, Bill Amthor, Bob Erickson, Herb Markley, and John Debrauski are team members. The VFW team won their opener last Monday against an Eau Claire team.

Playing for the Menomonic Lakers are Vaughn Stai, Wally Hammerberg, Russ Pollock, Bob McKay, and Bob Brimer.

The Grudge Game between the FOB and KFS fraternities will be played off next week. The KFS led by Stai and Pollock will be out to stretch their two year winning streak. The cheerleading and between half entertainment will probably be supplied by the pledges of the two organizations. This game will be the last one of the season around here and it should prove to be one of the best.

Saw some grass this week in place of the snow. Spring sports like baseball, golf, and tennis should be getting started pretty soon.

The Wisconsin members of the spring sports Conference will have their meeting next Friday. The whole Conference will have their meetings the following Friday.

SNAFOOS LICK FOB TO WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

The Snafoos (National league) defeated the FOB No. 1 (American league) last Tuesday evening, February 28, at the Armory, making them the undisputed all-school intramural basketball champions.

Coming from behind in the first quarter, the Snafoos were able to maintain their hold and defeat their powerful opponents 39 to 32. The game was interesting and exciting to watch as the two teams battled it out.

Previous to this, the Snafoos defeated the KFS, by a score of 36 to 31.

Some of the high scorers of the year are Ooley, Johnson, Houghton, Larson, Pederson, Cseh, Chachick, Oberpriller, Christensen, Arnetviert, Flanders, Phillips, Young, Braem, Desrocher, and Klein.

CLASSES WORK ON SCENERY

Play production classes under the guidance of their instructor, Mr. Norman Ziemann, have been working on the scenery to be used in the forthcoming Spring play.

Among their efforts is a ceiling for this set—and for other sets. (A ceiling is not fitted to any particular set but fit any stage setting within the span of its dimensions). It is an increasingly popular trend in the theater to use a ceiling on a set and light the stage from around the front edge of the ceiling. Until this time Stout has never owned a scene ceiling. It will be a great contribution to the stage facilities here.

Besides the ceiling, the classes have built and painted scenery wall flats and such props as windows and doors. Some of the girls have been working on the program to be used and on make-up problems.

Practical experience in applying the rules of play production is the basis of this activity.

"DEAR MOM" TITLE OF YWCA DINNER

With the theme "Dear Mom," the YWCA will hold their annual Mother-Daughter banquet for all Stout women and their mothers, Friday, March 10, in the school cafeteria at 6:30 p.m. Dr. Alice J. Kirk, dean of the home economics at Stout, will be the after-dinner speaker.

Preceding the dinner will be a tour of the foods laboratories to acquaint the mothers with these new facilities. Jean Van Liew will act as toastmistress, and Elaine Johnson is general chairman. There will be a choice of two menus. Each plate will cost $1.25.

REMEMBER WHEN

Remember when one year ago today, shuffleboard, the latest addition to the recreational facilities of the hall, was installed at Lynwood?

Coach Johnson was sick and Wally Hammerberg acted as coach during the Stevens Point game played here at Stout. Incidentally Stout beat Point 65-53.

YWCA held their annual Mother-Daughter Banquet at Our Savior's Lutheran church.

Twenty-seven Stout students returned from Marquette university where they attended an intensive one-week course in driver education and behind-the-wheel training methods.

Measles spoiled the FOB formal for several couples. The infirmary was specializing in communicable diseases—namely measles and chicken pox.

KFS presented the first one hundred ladies with a baby orchid at the all-school "Orchids For M'Lady" dance.

SKIING ENJOYED AT TELEMAR BY SKI CLUB

Last week end the Ski club took what might well be their last trip to Mt. Telemark if the big snows fail to come soon. There is still a good deal of snow up at Telemark but it was very poor for skiing. 24 men and women boarded the bus at 6:00 Saturday morning and made their usual stop at Rice Lake for breakfast then continued on to the ski area.

There were several of the group who had not skied before. Pete Bibb, Selmer Drolsum, and Ralph Myhrman took over the coaching for the day and did a very good job of teaching the new skiers the fundamentals of skiing.

On the return trip the group stopped at Rice Lake for supper. The restaurant was ready with the tables all set up, and the group was fed in record time. After leaving Rice Lake the rest of the trip went quickly with lots of group singing.

Allen Ellingson, who is handling the ski movies has the following movies scheduled for the club; March 7 the club saw "Skiing On Your Feet," and "Ski Trips." Future movies are as follows: March 14, "Skiing With Hans Schnieder;" March 21, "Skiing Thrills of Norway;" April 4, "Let's Go Skiing." Plans for next year are to have these movies earlier in the year which should increase their instructional value and create interest in the club.

STUNT NIGHT PROGRAM TO BE THIS EVENING

Tonight's the night for a swell time because 200 fellow students will perform in the FOB Stunt Night. The program is scheduled to begin at 8:00 p.m. in the college auditorium. Tickets are 25 cents per person.

Cash prizes will be awarded to the three skits rating the highest on these points: originality, humor, adherence to time limit, and presentation. Five judges from the faculty will rate the acts.

The ten acts will last approximately twelve minutes each, while the whole show is estimated to be a two-hour affair.

The program for tonight is as follows—

1. Tainter Hall - The Hall Speaks
2. Tainter Annex - The Evolution of a Coed
3. Hyperian - We're in the Red
4. Philomatheans - Satire on Fashion Editor's Column
5. Sigma - General Confusion

BETTERLEY FEATURED AT HOUR OF MUSIC

Ralph Betterley, assistant professor of industrial education, will appear as soloist on the sixth program of "An Hour of Music" to be given in the Harvey Memorial on Thursday afternoon, March 23, at four o'clock. Mr. Betterley will sing "In My Garden," the theme song of the Firestone Radio program; "Oh, Miss Hannah"; and "Short'nin' Bread." The recorded portion of the program will include the Grieg Concerto for piano, and a Rossini overture. The complete program follows:

- I Overture "Italians in Algiers" Rossini
(The NBC symphony orchestra conducted by Arturo Toscanini)
- II Concerto in A for piano and orchestra Grieg
(Arthur Rubenstein, pianist, and the Philadelphia Orchestra, Ormandy, conductor)
- III In My Garden.....Idabella Firestone
Oh, Miss Hannah.....Hollingsworth-Deppen
Short'nin' Bread.....Jacques-Wolfe
(Mr. Ralph Betterley, Tenor)

"DOUBLE DOOR" PRESENTED MARCH 30-31

Do you like mystery and drama? If so, the Manual Arts Players are sure you'll like their production of "Double Door," which they will present on the evenings of March 30 and 31.

"Double Door" is a well-written play and was chosen for this year's spring presentation because it showed signs of having real production and entertainment possibilities. It was a great challenge to both the cast and the production staff, but a challenge that has been well met.

The play depicts the rise of a domineering woman in her efforts to break up the marriage between her half-brother and a nurse whom she considers to be of a lower social class, and of what happens when the control she has over those around her is broken by the appearance of a stronger force.

The time and action in the play are of the not too distant past, and the Manual Arts Players are sure that the emotional and entertaining appeal of the play will make it enjoyable to all.

A. G. BROWN RETURNS TO TEACHING STAFF

Faculty and students of the college have been happy to note the return to teaching of Arthur G. Brown, of the Stout education department. Mr. Brown resumed his classes on February 27 and has been on the campus regularly since. He had spent the previous month at home convalescing.

MISS O'BRIEN KNEW THE ANSWER

A finder of unexpected treasure last week was Miss Gertrude M. O'Brien, college registrar. She successfully answered a question on the WEAU "Dinnerbell Jamboree" program and received $7.00 for her efforts.

The question was, "In what book is Long John Silver a character?" Could you answer it?

DR. FRYKLUND ATTENDS MEET IN NEW JERSEY

Representing The Stout Institute at the Annual Meeting of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, held February 23-25 in Atlantic City, was President Verne C. Fryklund.

As a participant at a forum meeting on "International Aspects of Teacher Education," held the afternoon of February 25, President Fryklund introduced a successful resolution recommending to the State Department and the Department of Defense that education in occupied countries be reinforced as a vital means to world peace. Chairman of the forum was Grady Gammage, of Tempe State college in Arizona.

UNSOLVED PROBLEMS

Leading educators from all parts of the United States attending the annual conference were told that the basic problem in teacher education today is to find guiding aims and goals. G. Lester Anderson, dean of teacher education at the College of the City of New York, told educators in attendance that improved personnel services including recruitment, guidance, and See DR. DR. KIRK BEGINS PROGRAM SERIES

Radio listeners interested in receiving the latest information on "Food—Fashion—Family" had that opportunity beginning last Monday, March 13, when Dr. Alice J. Kirk, dean of the Stout division of home economics, began a series of programs over Station WEAU at 1:30 p.m. daily.

Miss Kirk devotes her material each day to providing home-makers with newest trends of interest to them. She also gives some time to discussing experimentation which has been carried out in Stout laboratories, presenting it in a form which will be usable to her listeners.

CELEBRATE OUR 35TH BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Thirty five years ago today, our forefathers brought forth to this Institute a school publication, dedicated to the proposition that news of student interest be publicized for all to read and be informed.

If the rhythm of these lines is somewhat similar to those immortal words of Abe Lincoln's Gettysburg address, the similarity is intentional, for it was thirty five years ago today, March 17, that the first copies of Stout's publication were run off the press.

At that time, the paper was known as the Weekly News—for want of a better name. Three issues of the paper were published with this name, and then, in reply to a request for a name more suitable to the school and paper, such as Pi and Pies, Stout Weekly and Stoutonia were submitted for printing class selection. The latter name was the one selected at that time, and it has stood the test of time and remained the name of the college paper ever since.

When the paper was first put out, it was a small four-page four-column paper, five by eight inches in size. It remained that size until the increased See ANNIVERSARY—Page 4

Vote Determines Outcome Of Week's Campaigning; Officers In At Quarter

New officers of the Stout Student Association are Warren Barberg, president; Dorothy Krushas, vice-president; Jean Archie, secretary; and Donald Braem, treasurer, according to the final results of elections which were cast Thursday, March 16, in the Home Economics building. Balloting began at 11:30 Thursday morning and closed at 4:00 in the afternoon. The new officers will take office at the beginning of the second quarter of the semester.

President

Warren Barberg, a junior hailing from Cokato Minnesota, is at present secretary of Sigma Tau Gamma, and treasurer of Alpha Phi Omega. Organizations which Warren belong to include Epsilon Pi Tau, Sigma Tau Gamma, Alpha Phi Omega, Arts and Arms in the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity and a member of the NSA committee; in the past Bill was freshman vice - president. FORMAL INITIATION HELD BY PHILOS

Sunday night, March 5, Mrs. R.J. Martini extended her hospitality to the Philos during the formal initiation of their pledge, Ann Seymour. Ann is a sophomore at Stout and comes from Elkhorn, Wisconsin.

Rosella Transgrud, president, presided over the impressive candlelight ceremony. A light lunch of pineapple up-side-down cake with whipped cream, coffee, and nuts was served while the girls hashed over life at Stout. Warren Barberg was the lucky fellow who took pictures.

QUILLING CONDUCTS COOKING SCHOOL

Miss Henriette Quilling, a graduate of Stout, is conducting a "Betty Service Cooking school" in St. Paul. Miss Quilling is director of Home Service for the St. Paul Division of the Northern States Power company.

The cooking school will emphasize cooking on an electric stove, and the use of its various accessories, such as the rising surface units, broiler, and deep well cooker.

Crafts Club, Student Governing Board and The Tower.

Vice-President

Dorothy Krushas, also from Milwaukee, is a Stout Symphonic Singer and a member of the SMA society. In the past she has been president of Eichelberger Hall. You may have recognized Dorothy working at the Stout Union.

Secretary

Watertown, Wisconsin, claims sophomore Jean Archie, who is a prospective SSA officer. Jean is Sophomore class secretary, and a member of Pallas Athene and Phi Upsilon Omicron. At Milo State Jean was a dorm officer for three semesters.

Treasurer

Donald M. Braem, who is a junior from Marshfield, Wisconsin, has held the following offices; Sophomore class president, Band vice-president and Orchestra president. He is now a member of the FOB fraternity and the Epsilon Pi Tau fraternity.

Opposing Warren Barberg for the office of president were James Gehrke and Clarence Urankar.

James Gehrke, his home town; Wausau, is a junior and is now vice-president of Alpha Phi Omega and historian for the Sigmas. His past offices have been secretary of APO and secretary of the Sigmas. James is a Stout Symphonic Singer.

Junior, Clarence (Clancy) J. Urankar is Junior Class President. Clancy is also recognized as a member of the KFS fraternity, Newman Club, and VFW. Urankar's home is in Milwaukee.

The office of vice-president was unopposed. Remaining candidates were Gerry Raisler and Bill Banks.

Bear Creek, Wisconsin, is credited with Gerry Raisler. Gerry, a junior, is a member of Philomathian Society, Dietetics Club, and Home Economics Club. As a freshman she was secretary of Tainter Hall.

Bill Banks, a sophomore from Chetek, Wisconsin, is now Sergeant of which Bill belongs to are Sigma Tau Gamma, Arts and Craft Club, and Student Government.

The retiring SSA officers are Warren Phillips, president; John Poellinger, Vice-president; Jean Waltzer, Secretary; and John Rowe, Treasurer.

The total number of ballots cast was 613.

FRYKLUND TO MAKE SURVEY IN FLORIDA

To complete a comprehensive study of the vocational program of Duval (Florida) county, President Verne C. Fryklund of Stout Institute will be a member of a three-man advisory committee which will spend the first week in April evaluating the educational program of that county. The committee will then make recommendations on administrative and educational policies to the county superintendent.

In addition to Dr. Fryklund, members of the advisory group are Dr. Walter Williams Jr., professor of education at the University of Florida, and Lowell B. Selby, director of vocational education for the Norwood schools, Cincinnati, Ohio. Dan W. Boyd is superintendent of Duval county.

Methods to be employed by the committee include an inspection of plant and physical provisions, a study of administrative and instructional provisions and procedures, and a review of the recommendations made by administrative and instructional personnel; a citizens' advisory committee; and state department of education representatives.

Following their study, the committee will present to Superintendent Boyd a suggested vocational program including immediate and long-range policies, organization of administration for vocational education in Duval county, and upgrading of instructional personnel and listing of procedures for articulation of the vocational program with the total program of Duval county public schools.

Included in Duval county is the large Florida city of Jacksonville. The county itself is in a heavily-populated portion of the state.

ELECTION IS HERE

Election time is here again. This week has brought excitement to the campus, because of the campaigning that has been carried out by the supporters of the candidates and the candidates themselves.

Election time is more than a mere formality here on our campus. It is a time when we as students must elect new officers to be our leaders for the following year. It is not an easy task to represent the student body in any of the four positions, and a great responsibility rests on the shoulders of the officers. The duties of the four officers are so numerous, that many do not realize what detailed work such positions entail.

Now that the elections are over, we must give the newly elected officers our full support. Maybe all the candidates we voted for did not win, but it does not mean that we shouldn't cooperate with them to the fullest extent. If the majority of the students have elected a specific officer, it is the duty of all who were in the minority to give him or her full support. This is a sound democratic principle that makes for a well knit organized government that will work for the school and students. Being future teachers, we must develop and cultivate an attitude of wholehearted cooperation because our profession demands it of all its members. If we lack this spirit of cooperation because of a few individual differences now, we will not automatically drop this attitude when we graduate from college. Our student association here on the campus thrives on student participation and cooperation.

MAIN ARTERY

Our library is one of the main arteries here in college. Every college has a library, but many are not operated as efficiently and cooperatively as the one on our campus. Have you ever thought how much college students depend upon the library for invaluable reference material? Many students frequent it, and yet do not realize that it takes a lot of hard work to keep a library operating smoothly. Reference books for various classes pass over the desks everyday, and must be tabulated and accounted for. This does not even include all the magazines and books we should read for pleasure.

Reference books are not the only books to be found in the library. Everyone likes to read for leisure at some time, and the stacks hold a host of good books for recreational reading. To further our knowledge, culturally, we should at times read

Howdy,

Tonight is the night! Yes, the annual FOB stunt night will take place tonight. All the organizations have been working hard in preparing for this night, and I know that it will be a huge success.

What did you think of the elections? Man, the school was really plastered with campaign signs. Glad to see so much election spirit.

Noticed Emery Nelson with a smile in his face this past week. Could it be because Bea Anderson stayed in Menomonie last weekend to keep him company?

Also saw Lorton Layman running around on the loose for the past few weeks. Rumor has it that he and Ruth Johnson have broken off their engagement. Well, that's life, we guess.

Saw some of the "new" parents strolling with their offspring last weekend. Bob Andrews was wheeling his new addition with his pretty wife last Sunday. Have also seen Bob Blasies and his wife out acquainting their youngster with the big wide wonderful world. Tony Storti and wife were out teaching their young one the rudiments of football last weekend. We understand that Tony has hopes for a good center or guard. Good luck!

This week would like to mention one girl and one boy who we have never seen out with a person of the opposite sex. One pretty freshman girl that lives at the Annex, Vilyn E. by name, hails from New Glarus Wisconsin. We understand she has captured a man, however. He is supposedly a third year student at the U, and reports have it he is very deserving of the girl from New Glarus.

Now we must mention a junior (boy) from Elmwood, Wisconsin. Seems this person drives a yellow Packard convertible of debatable vintage, and is very shy and backward when it comes to girls, especially those of the opposite sex. We think you have guessed his name by now, but for those who are still in doubt, it is the one and only Marv Fuhman. Marv, we understand, is a confirmed bachelor—how about it, Marv?

Noticed a former Stout student, Allan Engen, visiting Jean Neimann last weekend. How long has this been going on, Jean?!

We guess the band concert was quite fruitful for one or two persons last weekend. Donnie Leslie looked quiet happy as she sat playing cards with one of the band members from her home, Stoughton, Wisconsin. Some people have all the breaks.

2400 COFFEE STICKERS COLLECTED IN TV DRIVE

A total of 200 Flame Room Stickers were received during the past week to boast the total count to 2400. This amount, plus the addition of three stickers from each student and faculty member, would make the half way mark. Only a little over 5 stickers apiece after the half-way mark and the Vidio Set will be installed free of charge by the McGarvey Coffee Co., 601 Fourth St., Minneapolis, Minn.

Let's write home right now. We'll tell the folks that stickers from Flame Room coffee means entertainment for the Stout Union.

good novels and stories. Many of us do not read for pleasure because we think it takes too long. Truthfully, that is just an excuse for not reading at all. Reading for pleasure does not involve sitting down for hours at a time, but merely means doing it in free moments. It is not hard to pick up a good book for that spare half hour when other duties are not pressing. In fact, a good book may provide the relaxation that is necessary for everyone, no matter how busy.

So, whenever you frequent the library, why not take time to browse through the stacks and pick out a good book that will serve no other purpose than to provide pleasure? It is really worth the effort put forth.

—D. L.

Saw Neil Palmer and Donna Frank- en at the band concert. Donna surely switches brands alot. More power to her if she can do it.

Faye Lehner has attracted the attention of one of the KFS boys. R. Dean Frey is the lucky man who has been teaching Faye the essentials of driving an automobile. We heard that Faye has a liking for snow drifts, and Dean spent one Sunday afternoon routing out a farmer to pull them out of a drift with a team of horses. Some fun, but not too good for the car.

Also we must mention the sad expression Beatrice Sagstetter has had on her face ever since Paul Axelsen left for Eau Claire for his off-campus teaching. It can't be too long before he returns, so buck up, Bea.

Spring must be approaching. We saw Shirley Donner and Wayne Coleman out walking. This must mean something. Of course Jim Gehrke and Helen Kenna have been out quite often and spring hasn't arrived yet. Could be a false alarm.

Ross Slater must be some Romeo. He was up to Rib Lake again last weekend. We hear that he has been dating a certain high school girl over there. What is her name, Ross??

Doris Eckstein, Bob McKay, Ruth Ann Christensen, and Vaughn Stal were really knocking 'em over Saturday afternoon. Bowling pins, that is. They make a good looking bowling team. By the way, who won?

Have you noticed June Keefer and Tiny Norman? They've been going together for some time now. Might be something in the wind.

I've always suspected it, but wasn't sure until this weekend. Joan Davidson is wearing Pete Schellinger's frat pin. Pretty soon it should be something more. How about it, Pete?

Carol Hansen and Don Gee were out together Friday night. So were Clancy Urunker and Barb Pech.

It seems that the Luther college concert made quite a hit last Saturday night. I have yet to hear a contrary remark about the program that they gave. It's too bad that more Stout students did not attend. Perhaps the lyceum committee should take notice. I've never heard so many good remarks about any of the lyceums. It would be nice if the committee engaged a program for "the students."

Enough for now. We'll be looking forward to seeing you people next week. So long for now.

Key and Hole

P.S. That Luther College Concert band would surely have made a nice lyceum program.

Perfume of Pussies

Prostrates Phys Kids

"Phew, I smell cats." "What hand lotion has the sweetest and strongest perfume?" These were some of the remarks heard last week from members of the physiology classes. You guessed it; the cats are here. In case there are some who haven't heard about the cats, here is the "inside dope."

Every semester the "phys" classes of Dr. Anne Marshall and Mr. Herman Arneson learn their physiology and anatomy from the practical standpoint, working with cats. These cats are already dead when they arrive and they have been embalmed so all the students have to do is skin them (pleasant thought).

Most of the cats have already been named. Some of the names are Fifi, Minnie, Bubbles, Esmirelda, and Stinky.

Before long, members of the phys classes will be walking throughout the halls muttering to themselves, but don't be alarmed. They will be trying to memorize the muscles, bones, and tissues of their cats.

OLD RELIABLE IS REPLACED FOR LYNWOOD MEN

Lynwood hall has a new telephone. The old model was replaced by a new cradle desk type. The telephone was installed March 10.

Do you think this way? As you watch people go by you, some look awfully queer to you; maybe you might feel for them with pity, but then you see that some look at you; and maybe you might slowly realize or decide that maybe you look queer to them, and then you might slowly see that it isn't all one-sided!

Teacher: "Now, children, I want to remain so still that you can hear a pin drop!"

For a moment, the stillness of the room prevailed. Then a voice from the back of the room sang out: "O.K., teach', let'er drop."

After attending many dances, at which the impression I gained of this form of recreation was that of "struggling," I have come across this definition of Dancing: "Dancing is the pulling your feet away faster than your partner can step on them." This definition can fit either partner, so fellows don't become discouraged if your dancing form isn't perfect; just improve on your skill to pull your feet away fast enough so your partner can't get revenge, because you too just mangle the poor girl's feet. Now as the dancers improve upon their pull away form, we have what is called "an accomplished dancer."

One Reason why we call them MAD PRINTERS

He had sworn to be a bachelor;
She had sworn to become a bride;
I guess you know the answer;
She had Nature on her side.

1st Sap: "Well, my father has another wife to support."
2nd One: "Bigamy?"
1st One: "Naw, I got married."

It sure is funny how many different meanings are attached to some words, for example the word "angel." To some women it means "a sucker with a car and lots of money!"

He: "In spring, a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love."

She: "Yes, but you think it's spring every time you get into a warm room."

1st Fellow: "She sure does put on a wonderful front, doesn't she?"
2nd Fellow: "Shut your mouth. That ain't put on."

Drinking jokes are considered bad taste by some people, but the following is inserted for laughs and not for critical appraisal.

A local policeman stopped his squad car and hailed an inebriated gentleman who was making his dubious way down the street.

"Hey you!" he shouted to the drunk, "where are you going in that condition?"

"Gonna work," mumbled the drunk. "Oh yeah," growled the officer. "What kind of work can you do in the shape you're in?"

"Minin'." "Minin' what?" persisted the cop. "Min'in' my own business," snapped the drunk, "and why don't you do the same?"

Stude: "Gee, I can't answer your question today. I have an awful cold in my head."

Instru: "Well, you ought to be thankful there is at least something in it."

REMEMBER WHEN

Remember when one year ago the STS took a five day trip through the Midwest with a visit to Boy's Town, Nebraska, as the high spot of their tour?

A special assembly was called about Stout action against the merger bill. Stout students were requested to write letters to their assemblymen and senators in Madison.

Stout Blue Devils made it three wins in a row by defeating Eau Claire 72-64.

The annual Intersociety all-school "sock" dance was held. Shoes were checked at the door, creating a problem for girls who depended on heels to give them height.

BIRTHDAY DINNER HELD AT HALL AND ANNEX

The Tainter hall and Annex girls had their monthly birthday dinner on February 14. The menu consisted of veal birds, mashed potatoes in the shell, cauliflower, mint jelly, clover-leaf rolls, ice cream, heart-shaped cakes, and coffee.

The birthday table was decorated with a valentine-laden tree and heart-shaped place cards. Because it was their night to shine, the girls each received a red carnation. The birthday girls were Dolores Lillian Fox, Nancy Hauser, Fern Nan Naedler, Janis Knudson, Michako (Mitchie) Okada, Beverly Henderson, Patricia Pagel, and Phyllis Lumby. The hostess for the table was Dolores Lillian (Gertrude) Fox who cut the huge heart-shaped cake which was surrounded with glowing candles.

Guests of honor at the dinner were Miss Winifred Hinkley Miss Martha Amon of the art department and Miss Ella Meiller of the nutrition department.

BUFFET LUNCHEON IS SERVED IN TEA ROOM

The Tea Room Management class under the direction of Miss Killian celebrated George Washington's birthday by serving a buffet luncheon on February 23. The menu which consisted of baked ham, scalloped potatoes, frozen ring mold, cranberry salad, red and white cabbage salad, individual jellied fruit salads, assorted relishes, dinner rolls, cherry log, cherry tarts, milk, coffee, and tea was carried out in the traditional colors. The centerpiece was composed of red and centerpiece was composed of red and white, carnations and flags.

Dorothy Groethe was the manager of the luncheon and Sister M. Filotea the hostess.

The following students are in this semester's Tea Room Management class: Phyllis Bartosic, Sister M. Bertilia, Ruth Ann Christiansen, Sister M. Filotea, Dorothy Groethe, Janet Jewel, Darlene Nelson, Lila Nelson, Elva Lovett, Geraldine Raisler, Jane Rezin, and Peggy Welsh.

The girls are planning to visit different places than those of last semester, and are contemplating a Sunday morning brunch later in the semester.

DOSEY-DOE CLUB AIDS SQUARE DANCE

Square dance, schottishes, polkas, and the grand march were the highlights of PA's Barn Dance sponsored by the Pallas Athenes society last Saturday night, March 11.

The music was furnished by the Dosey-Doe club with Mrs. Phillip Reuhl calling. Dosey-Doe club members appeared in their brightly colored costumes and were very helpful in teaching the students to square dance.

Everyone who attended had an enjoyable time getting acquainted with everyone else and by really getting into the "swing of the Ole Barn Dance."

The faculty attending the dance were Dr. Marshal, advisor, Dean Antrim, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Betterly; and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Whydotski.

SCF MEETS FOR BIBLE STUDY IN HE BUILDING

The Stout Christian Fellowship will meet this Wednesday at 7:15 p.m., in room 122 of the HE building, for Bible study as usual, but will not study an incident in the life of Christ as has been done in the past meetings.

RIFLE CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS; BUYS RIFLES

Election of club officers took place at the last regular monthly meeting on Monday, March 6. Officers elected for the coming year are Curtiss E. Howard, president; Burton Jaeger, vice-president; Carolann Hammersten, secretary; and Alice Billiet, treasurer.

At the meeting the club purchased two match type rifles. A Stevens 413 and a Winchester 75. Shooting on the rifle range this spring will commence on March 24.

Also at this meeting the club worked out and settled the details of their concession for the "S" club carnival to be held this spring.

"DEAR-MOM" DINNER, YWCA SUCCESS

Covers for 88 were set for 44 Stout women and their mothers (or their "stand ins") for the evening at the annual Mother and Daughter banquet held at the Stout cafeteria on Friday, March 10, at 6:30.

Principal speaker for the event was Dr. Alice J. Kirk, dean of college division of home economics. She welcomed the mothers warmly and spoke briefly on an appropriate theme.

After Jean Van Liew, toastmistress, had opened the program, the banquet was served, consisting of breaded veal cutlet or broiled salmon steak, mashed potatoes and gravy, buttered mixed vegetables, relishes, jellied golden glow salad, rolls, angel pie with milk, tea, or coffee.

The remaining portion of the program included a solo, "The Spirit Flower," sung by Donna Jens. Pat Jones gave a toast to the mothers, and Mrs. P. M. Jones followed with a toast to the daughters. Group singing was lead by Donna Jens, accompanied by Dorothy Messerschmidt on the piano.

PASTOR FROST SPEAKER FOR LSA SERIES

On Sunday, March 12, a joint meeting of the LSA and the congregation of Our Savior's Lutheran church was held in the church parlors. A large group heard Pastor Frost, on the faculty of Luther college, give an interesting talk on God's college. This speech was so uniquely given, that anyone from five years to eighty could understand its full meaning.

After the program, ladies of the congregation served a delicious supper. This meeting was another in the Christian Life series being presented every two weeks. On March 26, a woman who has lived in Latvia will relate her experiences before coming to the United States.

COLLEGE GIRLS ASSIST IN TALK ON MEAT CUTS

Thrifty cuts of meat was the subject of the demonstration given last Monday evening by Miss Clara Carrison to the adult vocational class, which included over fifty homemakers of this community. She was assisted by Miss Eileen Deetz and Miss Elaine Johnson, members of the college food demonstration class.

Miss Carrison pointed out that usually meat consumes a large portion of the food budget. The size of this portion can be reduced by the use of the less expensive cuts of meat. The less expensive cuts are less tender and are from the much used muscles of the animal. They can be made tender by proper cooking and are just as nutritious as the more expensive cuts.

In order to tenderize meat, it is necessary to cook it in the presence of moisture. Some of the common tenderizing methods are stewing, braising, and boiling. The addition of an acid, such as tomato, fruit juice, or vinegar, also has a tenderizing effect. Cooking meats at low temperatures for less shrinkage was also stressed.

Miss Carrison demonstrated the uses of the less tender cuts by preparing a South American stew, barbecued beef, and meat loaves de luxe.

NEWMAN CLUB BRUNCH TO BE HELD SUNDAY

The March Newman club brunch will be held Sunday, March 19, in St. Joseph's school after the 10 o'clock Mass. Following the brunch there will be a business meeting and entertainment.

All Newman club members are urged to attend the Mass and receive Holy Communion together in a body.

PASTOR IS SPEAKER AT SCF MEETING

"The Scriptural Teaching of the Diet of Christ" was discussed by Rev. Glen Teasdale, pastor of the Hersey Community Bible church, Hersey, Wis., at the special monthly meeting of Stout Christian Fellowship, Wednesday, March 8, at 8:30 p.m. in the third floor clubroom of the gym. Duane Lebeague, president, led hymn singing and then read John 1:1-14 from the Bible. "The Heavenly Vision," by Helen Lemmel, was sung by Donna Gardiner, accompanied by Ramona Rathbun at the piano. Fellowship and refreshments followed Rev. Teasdale's message.

WAA HOLDS MONTHLY MEETING IN CLUB ROOM

The regular monthly meeting of the WAA was held on Monday night, March 13, in the clubroom.

Twelve badminton teams have reported that they have completed the tournament which was held on Monday and Tuesday evenings of last month. The sport for this month will be either bowling or swimming.

SANDWICH SALE HELD AT DORMS BY PHI U

"Any sandwiches today?" Phi Upsilon Omicron is selling sandwiches at the dormitories after 10 p.m. every other Tuesday evening.

The types of sandwiches sold are egg salad and ham salad, with the choice of dark or white bread. The sandwiches are sold for twenty cents apiece.

Sandwiches will be sold again next Tuesday night, March 21, at 10 p.m. in Tainter annex, Tainter hall and Lynwood hall.

"ST. PATRICK'S DAY" IS THEME FOR CONGO

"Saint Patrick's Day" was the theme of the decorations for the Congo supper on Sunday, March 12. Barbecues, carrot and celery sticks, milk, cookies, and chocolate pudding were served.

A long business meeting followed the supper. The discussion on faith by Mrs. Buran was postponed for two weeks because of the long meeting.

The evening ended with a worship service.

NSA POLICIES DESCRIBED FOR STUDENTS

As a continuation of the previous article about your NSA, here are several important facts of the organization structure that should be understood. The following paragraphs are taken directly from the bulletin published by the NSA.

"Who determines NSA policy? Programs and policies are promoted for the benefit of the entire association and represent the membership. Individual members, however, are not bound by all programs nor must each institution feel legally bound by all policies. These policies are the goals which NSA is striving for, not to be violated in principle or action, but always subject to the modifications necessitated by individual circumstances. Local policy of NSA may be determined by the regional organization.

What are the regional organizations of the NSA? Each member of the NSA also belong to one of its 24 geographical regions. Regional assemblies, meeting several times during the year, determine programs for their area and appoint individual members to supervise their execution. The regional organization is the agency primarily responsible for supervising the intercollegiate activities of NSA and maintaining direct contact with each of the member schools.

How does a member college participate in NSA? There is no standard organization for campus participation in NSA; each college adapts its NSA activities to its own particular extracurricular program. Generally the student government will form an NSA committee for the express purpose of insuring that programs and materials from NSA reach its appropriate agencies. The NSA committee, while it may carry on certain campus programs itself, should be a committee of the student government, subject to its instruction. NSA on campus is the student government, and the student body is represented in NSA through its student government.

PAT O'BRIEN STAR IN SSA MOVIE

On Sunday, March 12, Stout students were again entertained with an SSA movie. Starring Pat O'Brien as a two listed, crusading attorney fighting a political uproar, "Slightly Honorable" proved to be one of the better pictures shown thus far. To offset tension, comic relief was plentiful and there was also the romantic angle for love birds. Only favorable comments were heard after the movie, with anticipation expressed by many as they looked forward to the next movie.

Two shorts preceded the main attraction, one being a wrestling match and the other an original "Terry" cartoon.

MORNING BRUNCH A TEA ROOM PROJECT

A Sunday morning brunch held on March 5 was the tea room management's latest project. Because this brunch was breakfast for some people and lunch for others, the menu was widely varied. It consisted of baked apples, stuffed grapefruit, fruit compot, fresh strawberries, honeydew melon with lime, red cranberry juice, scrambled eggs, baked eggs, sausage and pineapple hominy grits, spooned corn bread, steamed rice, pecan rolls, butter Scotch Oats, plain toast, marmalade, honey, and butter.

The manager of the brunch was Darlene Nelson and the hostess was Gerry Raiser.

TWELVE NEW MEMBERS JOIN ARTS. CRAFTS

Eleven men and one woman were initiated into the Arts and Crafts club on Monday evening in the club room above the union.

The eleven members selected to fill vacancies in the club were Robert Boehm, Glen Brooks, Gordon Goessner, Jerry Greischar, Royce Myers, Robert Morris, Bud Ryder, Henry Roesler, Don Straw, Jerry Wescher and Al Wegner.

Marg Thompson was initiated also, and accepted into the club as an honorary member.

After the initiation, refreshments, consisting of cup cakes, ice cream and coffee, were served. As a grand finale to the initiation, the initiates had the "pleasure" of cleaning the dishes and club room after the meeting.

PHILO'S OBSERVE THEIR FOUNDER'S DAY

Thirty-eight years ago on March 1, 1912 the Philomathean society was founded. Thursday, March 2, the Philos celebrated their anniversary with a dinner at the Marion Hotel. Philo alumni present were: Mrs. H. J. Vanek, Mrs. Lucille Phillips, and Miss Rosalie Ofstie, all of Menomonie. After a delicious steak dinner, each of the alumni gave an interesting talk about the organization when they were members. Everyone had an enjoyable evening and the girls learned many things about their organization which they didn't know before.

Miss Van Ness, the Philo advisor, was also present.

A. HAMILTON PRESENTS FILM - LECTURE

A motion film-lecture, "Land of the Mayas," was presented by Miss Ava Hamilton at the Lyceum, held in the Stout Auditorium on Friday. The Lyceum, which was to have been presented Monday evening, was postponed because Miss Hamilton was ill.

In the film-lecture were photographs of the beauty of the little-known republic of Guatemala, its mountain scenery dotted by towering volcanoes and deep clear lakes, and its picturesque Indians with their symbolic native costumes and exotic dances.

Vividly depicted also were historical landmarks, churches, and colonial mansions of the Guatemala of yesterday.

S C F ANNUAL ELECTION TO BE HELD MARCH 22

The annual election of officers of the Stout Christian Fellowship will be held Wednesday, March 22, at 7:15 p.m.

Following the election will be the weekly Bible study. This week the study will be on Christ's revealing himself to a Samaritan woman.

DR. FRYKLUND —

placement, improved social and economic status for teachers, a curriculum geared to the demands of public education, and the enrichment of instruction through clinical methods of teaching were requisite to dynamic teacher training.

The "more sophisticated" citizenry of America look down their noses at teaching as a profession, Dean Anderson pointed out. Because of this, the recruitment of badly needed teachers for the nation's public schools is hampered at every turn.

LOOKING AHEAD

Improvement of classroom methods on the part of college teachers themselves, ways and means to develop understanding of the fundamental principles of democracy on the part of students, the school's role in establishment of moral and religious values, evaluation of curriculum patterns, and the rapidly growing field of public relations were among areas of teacher education calling for on-going programs of study as proposed by Edward S. Evenden, Teachers college, Columbia university, New York, in his address "Looking Ahead."

GOOD TEACHERS OF TEACHERS

Teachers of teachers have long told prospective young teachers how to make good in the classroom. Now comes a check-list from 197 teachers college presidents and deans telling what they expect of the teacher's teachers.

Among qualities rated highest were: ability to inspire students to think for themselves, a friendly, democratic, tolerant, and helpful attitude, a teacher as opposed to a "subject specialist," emotional stability and maturity, fair-mindedness, infectious enthusiasm for teaching, ability to organize and prepare carefully for each meeting of class, breadth of view of educational problems, genial sense of humor.

The report was made by Dean Marion R. Trabue of the School of Education, Pennsylvania State college, State College, Pa.

TEACHER SUPPLY AND DEMAND

"Although we have passed from a seller's to a buyer's market in the high school teaching field, the shortage of well prepared elementary teachers remains so acute that it seems impossible to be relieved within a decade." This was the report of Ray C. Maul, dean of Kansas State Teachers college, Emporia, Kansas, in a discussion of the situation of teacher supply and demand. The total number of students preparing to teach in high school increased steadily. The number preparing for certain fields such as social science and physical education "has increased sensationally." In the fields of health education and men's physical education the 1949 production was exactly four times greater than in 1941.

There are evidences of readiness on the part of the public to support our insistence that elementary teachers not only be prepared for this important task but that they be given equal recognition in salary and social status," said Dean Maul.

CAMPUS LOCALS

Connie Anderson met an old friend from near her hometown of Manitowoc when the Luther College band came here to play a concert.

Margie Fitzgerald from Tainter Annex spent the weekend at her home in Manawa, Wisconsin.

James Papez returned from student teaching in New Richmond. He states that he is very glad to get back, but he also reports that those two weeks were very favorable.

Corkey Collette is home with the mumps.

Donna Krisk went to the cities to see her aunt and a friend.

Betty Erickson spent the weekend in Madison where she attended a formal at the University of Wisconsin.

Ollie Leiskau visited her hometown at Birnamwood, Wisconsin.

Donna Jens enjoyed her weekend in Minneapolis where she saw the "Ice Capades."

Leone Nagel, also of the Annex, spent the weekend at Keil, where she celebrated her own birthday and her father's birthday.

Nadine Brown visited her grandmother in Chetek, Wisconsin.

Patricia Peterson entertained her housemother Friday evening by taking her to the Mother-Daughter banquet.

Jeannie Douglas entertained her mother last Friday evening by attending the banquet and attending the Lyceum. Jeannie accompanied her mother on her return trip to Adams, where Jeannie spent the remainder of the weekend.

The mothers of Donna Gardiner and Donna Heike visited the girls and together they attended the Mother-Daughter banquet.

MRS. FELLOWS TO SPEAK TO CLOTHING GROUP

Mrs. Lenore Fellows, sales representative of the Gossard company, is returning by request to give her lecture and demonstration in Room 411, at 1:00 p. m. on March 23. Mrs. Fellows spoke here last semester to enthusiastic audiences. All girls who have free time are invited to attend.

The speaker will be at the Norris company all day Friday for consultation and demonstration.

enrollment after World War I necessitated a larger issue.

During the course of years since the first issue of the Stoutonia, many radical changes have been made. As in any undertaking, survival depended upon a continuous struggle for influence and prestige. With the combined efforts of the staff and student body, the paper has had prestige, and it is only with a continuation of these efforts that the paper can uphold the ideals of its predecessors and bring the activities of the campus to interested readers.

The Stoutonia is not so much the property of the reporting and publication staff as it is the property of the student body and the alumni. We on the staff merely edit your news for your reading convenience and pleasure.

Since this is your paper, we need and want your support and sincerely hope that future editions will warrant your approval.

DARK ROOM RECEIVES DRESSING UP

The photographic room in the Trades building has received a dressing up. After about a week of work, the lab was converted from its old green and cream color to light green walls with a lighter ceiling. The new hues have given the lab a bright pleasing appearance.

In the past, the walls became dirty from photographic solutions, so to prevent this there will be a coat of clear plastic paint put on the bottom half of the room. The plastic can be easily cleaned, thereby eliminating those splash marks.

FORD COMPANY TO PRESENT INDUSTRIAL ARTS AWARDS

Cash Awards Of $13,000 To Be Given To Winners; New Rules, Regulations Set Up.

More than 500 cash awards and 16 three-day, all-expense visits to Detroit and Dearborn are highlighting the 1950 Industrial Arts Awards, according to latest releases from Ford Motor company, the program's new sponsor.

Old readers of Shopcraft will recognize the program as the same one originated three years ago by Scholastic Magazines under the direction of George H. Fern. Although Ford Motor company has taken over full responsibility for the program, officials of the magazine are cooperating fully and Mr. Fern is serving as consultant for the program.

Aside from increases in the number of groups and classes, standardization of cash awards and a general increase in the awards, the program will be conducted on virtually the same basis as in the past. The company will continue to publish Shopcraft, with another issue scheduled for April. The Industrial Arts Awards Fair, where the outstanding entries are displayed, will be held as before at the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry.

Rules and regulations for the 1950 program provide for cash awards totaling more than $13,000 in 56 different groups and classes. The all-expense special awards will be granted to students and their instructors for entries which, in the opinion of the judges, represent the outstanding achievement in each of the eight major divisions.

As in the past, awards are open to students in grades seven through twelve who are enrolled in shop, drawing, printing courses in public, private, or parochial schools. There is no entry fee. Entries should be sent directly to the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago not earlier than May 20, 1950 nor later than June 20, 1950.

In order to broaden participation, the company has increased the divisions from six to eight and the number of classifications from 15 to 19. Entries will be judged in groups according to the grade level of the students submitting the projects. Group I is for students in the seventh and eighth grades; Groups II and III for students in the ninth and tenth, and eleventh and twelfth grades, respectively, who do not spend more than 10 hours per week in industrial arts. Group IV is for students in vocational, technical and trade, and industrial schools who spend more than 10 hours per week in courses related to the entries which they submit.

The following are the divisions and classes:

- Wrought Metal Division — wrought copper and brass, wrought aluminum, wrought iron.
- Patternmaking and molding Division — patternmaking and molding.
- Wood Division — furniture making, wood turning.
- Electrical Division — radio, electrical devices.

Drawing Division — working drawings, machine drawings, architectural working drawings, architectural presentation drawings.

Machine Shop Division — hand tools, machine tools.

Plastics Division — carving, fabricating.

Printing Division — single impression letter press printing, letter press printing in two or more colors.

In getting the program under way, the company asked the men who had served as advisory committee members for Scholastic Magazine to continue in that capacity. There was an enthusiastic response.

It is the company's plan to expand committee membership to include representatives from each state. Eight of the committee members have agreed to serve as an executive group to be available for occasional meetings with company representatives.

LOUIS KAUFMAN ENTERTAINS AT VIOLIN CONCERT

One of the outstanding convocation presentations of the year was presented at convocation Wednesday by Louis Kaufman, who gave an excellent violin concert. Mr. Kaufman is well-known as an exponent of new music and introduced new works of Aaron Copland. The concert which was to be presented Tuesday evening was cancelled because Mr. and Mrs. Kaufman were unable to reach Menomonie due to the poor weather.

Louis Kaufman was born in Portland, Oregon, and was educated in New York. In 1928 he made his debut in New York's town hall. He continued his musical career and toured in both Europe and United States as soloist.

After his European tour, Mr. Kaufman married and his wife Annette became his accompanist. Since 1948 Mr. Kaufman has devoted his entire time to concert and orchestral solo performances.

Mr. Kaufman played selections by Beethoven, Dvorak, Ravel, and the most enjoyed one was "Waltz and Celebration, from "Billy the Kid" by Aaron Copland. He believes that we owe a debt to the music of our contemporaries and their works should be played not merely occasionally but consistently.

To those who enjoy the fine art of classical music, the concert presented was most outstanding and Mr. Kaufman was an excellent interpreter of new music.

KFS SMOTHER FOB'S IN GRUDGE GAME

(Editors' note: The following story was submitted by a loyal fan who attended the game. The sports editor was unavailable for comment.)

A smooth-working KFS quintet romped to a 50-33 victory over the FOB's Wednesday night. Led by big Vaughn Stai, the KFS held a commanding lead from the starting whistle. The score at halftime read 27-9 in favor of the KFS.

At the beginning of the second half the FOB's, spearheaded by the sharp-shooting of Hillary Janikowski, brought the FOB's to within the closest score of the contest.

Vaughn Stai led the KFS with 22 points and Pollock with 16. For the FOB's, Keiffer and Janikowski netted seven apiece for top honors.

HYPs TO OPEN HEIDELBERG INN WEDNESDAY

Ye Olde Heidelberg Inn, managed by the Hyperian society, will officially open at 3:30 p.m., Wednesday, March 22, in the Harvey Memorial. The Inn forms an unusual setting for the Hyperian tea, which is probably misnamed, because tea is not served.

Behind the swinging doors, guests will find small tables covered with red-and-white checkered cloths and there will be a bar at one end of the room. The hostesses will wait on table and serve root beer, ginger ale, pretzels, pop corn, and potato chips. More hearty souls may sit at the bar.

The Hyps invite all faculty members and students to visit the Inn between the hours of 3:30 and 5:30 p.m.

SSA MESSAGE

Well, the campaign speeches are over, the campaigning through, the election is done, and the winners are known. All in all, even with certain restrictions on campaigning, the select methods of campaigning were uncovered, and it may be well that they be remembered for coming years. We had a fine group of qualified candidates for the four offices, and every one campaigned wonderfully. Indeed, it was a great success.

Next week will be the last message from the present officers. After that, the new officers will write each week to keep you posted on student affairs.

In closing, I'd like to congratulate the new officers on their election. To the other candidates who weren't quite as successful, congratulations to you also, for you helped make the election an outstanding event.

WISCONSIN HEA HOLDS CONVENTION IN APRIL

Oshkosh To Be Host For State Meeting; Speakers on Program Listed

The fifth annual spring convention of the Wisconsin Home Economics association will be held in Oshkosh on Friday and Saturday, April 14-15. Convention headquarters will be the Raulf hotel. Presiding will be Miss Ethelyn E. Robinson, state president of the WHEA.

The Oshkosh Home Economists announce the following speakers included on the program.

Dr. Gertrude Chittendon, head of the Child Development Department of Iowa State college, who will speak on "Teaching Family Relationships Throughout Home Economics"; Dr. Warren Southworth of the University of Wisconsin, whose subject will be "Health Education in Relation to Home Economics"; and Mrs. Rebecca Barton, director of the Governor's Commission on Human Rights, who will speak on "Towards Overcoming Prejudice". "Money Management for Women" will be given by Miss Emmet Steinke, who is associated with the First National Bank of Oshkosh, and "House Plans for Living" will be discussed by Mrs. Angus O. Leindorff of the University of Wisconsin.

Council meetings will be held on Friday, followed by a general reception Friday evening. Registration will begin at 2 p. m. on Friday and again at 8:30 Saturday morning. The general program and luncheon is scheduled on Saturday beginning at 9:15 a.m.

Miss Marion Wagner, Winnebago county Home Demonstration Agent, and Mrs. Gladys F. Bauer, Home Economics coordinator of the Oshkosh Vocational school, are co-chairmen.

SIROS DESCRIBE CALIFORNIA STATE COLLEGE

The following letter was received from Einar E. Siro, (B.S. '33) a Stout Institute graduate who, with Mrs. Siro (the former Iney Pickering, B.S. '36), visited the Stout campus earlier this college year. Mr. Siro is head of the industrial education department at State College, Chico, California:

Dear Dr. Fryklund,

The Siros traveled over 4200 miles to reach Chico. We stopped at a number of colleges and other points of interest enroute. The following high spots will indicate the trip: Ames, Iowa; Kansas City, Missouri; Enid, Oklahoma; Amarillo and Lubbock, Texas; Hobbs and Carlsbad Caverns, New Mexico; Grand Canyon; Hoover Dam; Las Vegas, Nevada; San Bernardino, California; San Diego; Los Angeles; Santa Barbara; San Luis Obispo; Fresno; San Jose; San Francisco; over the Golden Gate Bridge to Muir Woods, Sacramento, and Chico.

In San Diego we were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Thorsten Carlson. They have three fine boys aged four months, two years, and seven years. I was "surprised" when Thorsten told me he had hired one of your teachers.

I also enjoyed visits with a number of Stout men: Darvey Carlson and Lloyd Wilson at Santa Barbara, Francis Whiting at San Luis Obispo, Robert Jensen at Visalia, and Dwight Nichols at San Francisco. No doubt I will meet many more Stout men at the state industrial arts convention in San Francisco the latter part of March.

Chico, located in the valley approximately 90 miles north of Sacramento, is a pleasant little town with a population of about 15,000. The main industry in this area is the raising of almonds, walnuts, oranges and other fruits and nuts. The almond orchards are just beginning to bloom. Rice is grown in the surrounding communities. The weather is comfortable. At present the wearing of a hat or topcoat is unnecessary. Many of the spring flowers are in bloom, and the farmers are doing their spring planting.

Nearly 200 of the 1500 students enrolled in the college are in the industrial arts department. There are five full-time and one part-time faculty members teaching shop and industrial education theory courses. The main industrial arts building houses our offices, wood, auto-mechanics, and the machine shops. The drawing room is in the administration building. Three temporary buildings house the ceramics, welding, printing, sheet metal, art metal, lapidary, and craft areas. According to the president, an addition to the industrial arts building is next on the building program.

The college has a new training school. Part of the equipment and tools have been purchased for a unit woodwork shop, but it is to be converted into a general shop. It appears as though the training school shop will also be under my supervision. It will be used to accommodate part of the practice teachers.

Sincerely yours,
Einar E. Siro

KILMER MOE LOCATED IN HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

Kilmer O. Moe Jr., Stout graduate in 1947, is now teaching in the Kamehameha Boy's school, a private school in Honolulu, Hawaii, which has about 1000 students.

He writes that at the present time, along with his teaching, he is working on his Master's Degree at the University of Hawaii. He will complete this degree in the next two years.

There has been an addition to his family, the four month old, Robert Kilmer.

MANDERSHEID ENCOURAGES ALUM AWARD

(This is the last of a series of articles written by alumni scholarship winners. Ardis Manderscheid, this year's winner along with James Cook, tells of winning the award. Ed.)

I first heard of Stout in the chance remark of a friend. She said it offered a home economics major. Since I was considering the home economics field, I thought I would send for a catalog. When I sent for the catalog, I also inquired about the scholarship, and I decided to try for it. I was very happy to receive the scholarship because of the honor and financial aid it gave me. I hope all prospective Stout students will avail themselves of this opportunity.

When I entered the city of Menomonie last fall, I was pleased to see the lake, and when I found that the dorms were overlooking the lake, I was overjoyed. I live near a lake at home and now having one so near has made me feel right at home.

My first semester I took courses in clothing. I found them very interesting. This semester I have foods. I enjoy working in the modern foods laboratories.

There are plenty of extra-curricular activities to interest everyone and the upperclassmen certainly help the freshmen in making their first year at Stout enjoyable. Yes, I'm glad I took advantage of the Alumni Scholarship and came to Stout.

ANNOUNCE ARRIVAL OF BABY GIRL TO D.C. HANSENS

Proud parents of a 7½ pound baby girl, Jean Marie, are Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Hansen. The baby, 21 inches long at birth, came into the world at 9:00 a.m. on March 9.

Mrs. Hansen is the former Audrey Keith (M.S. '49) and Don is a senior at Stout. The baby's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Keith of the Stout faculty and the paternal grandfather is Bervin Hansen.

TWO FRESHMAN SECTIONS TO MAKE CABINET

H. M. Hansen Directs Project Of Constructing Permanent Storage And Work Cabinet

Two freshman sections in elementary machine woodwork, working under the direction of Mr. H. M. Hansen, have undertaken the project of constructing a thirty-two foot permanent storage and work cabinet of break-front design for use in the Stout art department. Plans at present are to have the cabinet completed by the end of the semester.

The project is one of the largest ever to be undertaken in the Stout cabinet shops, and when finished will comprise the efforts of a quarter's work for over fifty people. Mr. Hansen emphasized that stress throughout the quarter would be laid upon the educational opportunities available in the construction of such a project, and on the actual teaching of elementary machine woodwork, rather than upon the production end of the venture. Actually, constructing the cabinet as is being done now, will save the school in excess of $750.

Construction of the cabinet, in itself, is only part of a large-scale re-decoration project being done in the Stout art department. Home furnishing classes for more than a semester have been hard at work designing cabinets, planning color schemes, and performing the operations necessary for the long-range decoration.

This is not the first large project to be undertaken in this manner. In the past at Stout, many large jobs have been handled expertly in the wood-working shops, always with the same excellent results. Some of these previous products were the cafeteria tables, the workbenches for the chemistry and the art classes, and the tables in the library.

Constructing this large project with the double aim of getting it done and of teaching the regular course in Machine Woodwork presents quite a problem. In order to co-ordinate the two inexperienced classes throughout its construction, countless numbers of complicated forms have been devised, and over fifty square feet of drawing paper have been covered with simplified working drawings of the project. The most tedious part of the construction, however, is expected to be in the use of an official lumber stretcher in the construction of a fourteen foot section of the top.

Keeping in mind the extreme complexity of the job, it can be seen that production on the project is rolling along nicely, and Mr. Hansen reports complete satisfaction with conditions as they are now. Anyone interested in watching the cabinet under construction is invited to visit the shop in the trades building any day between 8:00 and 10:00 AM, or 3:00 and 5:00 PM, the hours during which the cabinet is being worked on.

TEACHERS' TEST GIVEN TO 17 MEN

On Saturday, February 18, seventeen Stout men took the National Teachers examination in room 411 of the H. E. building. The candidates reported at 8:30, and did not complete the testing program until 5:30 p. m. Those who took the examination are as follows: Ayers, C. W.; Bauer, Ronald R.; Bergman, Edwin C.; Blaesing, Robert W.; Boetcher, Bert O.; Gannegan, Lloyd; Hammerberg, Wallace; Kishimoto, Sadao; Lebegue, Duane; Merrill, Paul F.; Phillips, Warren; Piner, Arthur; Roen, Richard; Wasinger, Gordon; and Wat-anabe, Herbert.

This examination is recommended for all prospective teachers on the theory that prospective teachers should be able to demonstrate that they are above average intelligence, culture, and professional preparation. The tests included are those of general culture, mental abilities and basic skills, and professional information. Teachers examinations of this type help in a number of ways. The examination report serves as an important basis for student guidance and self-study by revealing strengths and weaknesses in areas measured by the test. It can also be used as a comprehensive examination for undergraduates and as a qualifying exam for graduate students.

Students are not required to take this examination, but many school superintendents and boards of education require teaching applicants to submit scores they received on the test, so it is therefore an asset for an individual to take the examination.

V.A. REPORTING—

NEWS RELEASES BY THE VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

The endless stream of human problems which Veterans Administration helps to solve every year is reflected in the 15,500,000 personal interviews that VA employees conducted with veterans, their dependents or beneficiaries during the last fiscal year.

The problems involved benefits administered by VA under laws enacted by the Congress—one of the nation's largest mutual life insurance operations, the greatest mass education and job-training program in the history of the United States, death claims, disability claims, GI Bill loans, automobiles for amputees, "wheel chair" homes for seriously disabled veterans, guardianships among several others.

In some cases, many interviews were required with each individual to arrive at a satisfactory solution; in most cases, a single interview sufficed.

The story of this big "human" operation is related in the Administrator's Annual Report for Fiscal Year 1949 to the Congress, now available from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C., at 65 cents per copy.

Here are some of the highlights:

VA handled 177,900,000 pieces of mail during the year, more than was received by the entire city of Kansas City, Missouri.

It provided medical care and hospitalization for a daily average of 107,000 veteran-patients in VA and non VA hospitals.

It furnished nearly 5,000,000 outpatient medical treatments and over 763,000 outpatient dental treatments.

At the end of the fiscal year, 2,313,545 veterans were receiving disability compensation, pension or Army retirement pay from VA. In addition, 960,000 dependents of deceased veterans were drawing death compensation or pension payments.

The average number of veterans in education or training under Federal laws administered by VA totaled 2,272,000 during the year.

VA handled nearly 300,000 applications for GI home, business or farm loans during the year.

Approximately $450 million in unemployment allowances and another $65 million in self-employment allowances were paid out during the year under the GI Bill.

The number of beneficiaries under the VA guardianship program increased by 34,861 during the year to reach a high of 231,861 wards on June 30, 1949.

Approximately 200,000 employees were engaged in administering the VA program during the year.

Total expenditures for the year amounted to $6,985,493,167, including $226,000,000 for supplies and equipment for 129 hospitals and 582 other field stations in the United States, its territories, possessions and in the Philippine Republic.

During the year, the veteran population increased from 18,760,000 to 18,943,000. The living veterans together with their dependents, constituted about 40 percent of the nation's total population.

NEW MEMBERS PLEDGED BY FRATS

No, it wasn't student teachers from India, they were only the Sigma fraternity pledges fulfilling the duties assigned them during the annual Stout "Hell Week." And any other strange sights or apparitions which you may have happened to meet with during the past week or so were probably only figments of the ingenuity of the pledging committees of the different social fraternities on our campus.

Hell week for the different fraternities were overlapping periods beginning last Friday for Sigma, and ending next Thursday for the pledges of the KFS. Sigma Tau Gamma's Hell week extended from Monday until tomorrow, and for FOB, from yesterday until next Wednesday.

Hell week originated as a process for eliminating the oversupply of aspirants to an organization, but in its present form, it has been modified greatly, and usually now serves the purpose of giving the pledges an opportunity to enter the organization with a bang and have fun doing so.

In case you are in doubt about which fraternity some of the men were entering, the swords and shields were those of Sigma Tau Gamma, only national fraternity at Stout, the straw hats and canes KFS apared, the FOB's donned the usual derby and white "T" shirts, and the above-mentioned sashes and fez belonging to the pledges to Sigma fraternity.

LIBRARY NOTES

Backwoods Teacher, by Joseph Nelson.

During the depression, when jobs were hard to get, Joseph Nelson got the school at Big Piney in the Ozarks at a salary of sixty dollars a month. How he and Sally, his wife, became part of the community is the subject of his story.

The Mature Mind, by H. A. Overstreet.

The author of About Ourselves defines maturity in the human being and reviews "the forces that shape us." The book is at once scholarly and interesting to the layman.

Target: You, by Leland Stowe.

A reporter and lecturer who has been heard at Stout Institute urges the great middle class of the United States to take its world responsibilities. If this class is destroyed, Stowe thinks, the world will belong to totalitarians.

Two new books about Jane Austen will please her admirers. Elizabeth Jenkins is the author of Jane Austen, both a biography and a book of criticism. Helen Ashton has written Parson Austen's Daughter, a biographical novel that follows the events of Jane Austen's life as they are shown in her letters and in manuscripts.

HELEN KENNA LIKES STEAK WITH TRIM

Helen Kenna, Freshman class secretary, claims Racine Wisconsin, as her hometown. The fact that she is secretary of the newly arrived Freshmen is not too difficult to understand, for while in Washington Park high school, she was secretary in both her sophomore and junior years, and treasurer of her senior class. She is also following her musical talents here at Stout. In high school she sang in the acappella choir and here at college she renders her voice to the nationally known Symphonic's.

Among her likes are dancing, and all kinds of sports, baseball, and basketball in particular. Most of all though, she loves a good time.

Helen's pet peeve is of all things, a dripping faucet. Her favorite food is a thick, juicy steak with all of the trimmings.

With a major in Home Economics she intends to go into the merchandising field, buying and selling women's clothes.

Why did she come to Stout?—Perhaps for the same reason that every other freshman did, she heard it was rated very highly, and also had heard good comments from others about it.

NEW GROUP MOVES TO H M HOUSE

On Monday, March 6, a group of nine Stout women, laden with their suitcases, moved into the home management house for a six-week period of putting into actual practice the principles which they developed in class with Miss Gladys Trullinger. This period will be interrupted by Easter vacation, with the women leaving the house on April 21 to make room for the last group which will reside there until the end of this school term.

Included in the group for this six weeks are Carol Hanson, Barbara Lovering, Margaret Perry, Rosella Trangsrud, Janis Vaughn, Ruth Voss, Kay Welch, Lois Forehand, and Lois Heike.

FINISHING CLASS HAS TRIP TO CITIES

Last week, March 9, the students in Mr. Soderberg's General Finishing class left our fair city at nine o'clock, and headed for the twin cities, with a field trip as the event. These 51 students, who filled two buses, spent a most wonderful day in the cities.

Immediately upon arrival, the group was conducted on a tour of the Minneapolis Paint Inc., and saw the entire paint and varnish factory. Every manufacturing operation was viewed, from the use of resins, the boiling of varnishes, and the filling and labeling of cans for shipment. After the tour the students were given a fine demonstration on the finishing of woods.

The group next entered the Minnesota Mining & Mfg. Co. Here they saw those processes and operations involved in the manufacture of abrasive papers and the packaging of the same.

At each plant free samples of the products were handed out and much instructional information was received. At 5:45 a bunch of tired and worn men pulled into Menomonie.

"We've got to get rid of some of this extraneous noise," snorted a physics prof. He then walked calmly out of the room.

Thinking most of the extraneous noise had just left, some of the students rose to follow. Their joy was short-lived. The prof flipped off the cooling system and stalked back in with more vigor.

SPEECH CLASSES MAKE WIRE RECORDINGS

Speech I and II classes under Mr. N. C. Ziemann's direction have been making wire recordings of their voices. Each person gave his name and a few introductory statements to provide a sample of his natural speaking voice. After this, each read a passage which was arranged to include all of the sounds employed in speaking.

When the recordings were finished, they were played, and Mr. Ziemann and the other students offered criticism.

Some of the students admit that they were shocked when they heard their voices.

MISS AMON'S CLASSES START PROJECTS

Miss Martha Amon's house furnishing class will study many different phases of house furnishing during this semester. The projects and studies planned, some of which are already completed, are perspective drawing of a room; mixing colors for a wall-paper color scheme; picture framing "inside and out" (this is, cutting and fitting a mat), refinishing frames, choosing suitable pictures for suitable frames, and making lamps.

Here, the student conceives the whole lamp design, learns to construct a suitable shade for the base, and finishes with a lamp fit for a king. Also during the course, the class plans to make drapes and work out a color scheme for the art rooms.

PINER, BARBERG MAKE MURAL FOR UNION

Our Union has been graced with another mural of a Stout building. The picture of the HE building that is now in the union was made by Warren Barberg and Art Piner and was enlarged from a 3 1/4 by 4 1/4 negative.

The work was done in the visual education dark room in the trades building.

The process was not a difficult one but required a good deal of time and patience. The 40 by 50 piece of enlarging paper was set on the floor and the enlarger was left on the table. The enlarger head was then swung over the edge of the table and the picture projected on the paper.

To develop the picture, a wooden frame with a plastic cloth on it was used to hold the developing liquids. For those who might be interested, the paper used was a regular enlarging paper, Kodak Bromide G3 Double weight matt, and comes in rolls 40 inches wide. The picture was wet and mounted on masonite. The wetting allowed the boys to get all of the wrinkles out of the print.

There are hopes of making another print of some sport or another Stout scene before the end of the year.

COVEY'S CORNER

Just a few words to write so the Editor knows that I'm still with the paper. Things are so slow in this department now that I'd steer clear of racing with a turtle. Intramural for the winter season is just about wrapped up and the boys will have to wait for softball.

By the time this paper comes out the grudge game will be a thing of the past, and you have to wait another week to read about something that you knew a long time ago. The VFW team consisting of Stout men lost last week in the YMCA tournament, the person pacing the winning team was a former Stout center, Harley Hesslerman.

The Lakers another team from Stout, entered the finals against the same Eau Claire team; you'll have to wait another week to find out the final results of that game.

Guess we'll have to wait for the coming of spring before we can get anything going around here for stories.

SCF TO DISCUSS TOPIC OF CHRIST'S MINISTRY

On Wednesday evening, March 1, at 7:15, the Stout Students Christian Fellowship is having their regular evening meeting in room 122 of the H.E. building. The topic of discussion will be "Christ's first ministry into Judaea," taken from St. John 3:22-36.

The SSCF cordially invites all students, faculty, and their friends to attend and bring with them any questions they may have.

BADMINTON SIGN UP STARTS NOW IN GYM

Intramural badminton will be started soon, according to word from Coach Tony Storti. Schedules for singles, doubles, and mixed doubles will be made up when students have signed up on the gym bulletin board.

This is the first time (according to our news sources) that intramural sports have been listed as co-educational. So, therefore, all fellows are urged to sign up "individually, with a buddy, or even with a girl friend." The girls "shouldn't be bashful, either."

Badminton, to the uninitiated, is similar to tennis. The game is played with racquets and uses a feathered cork, called a "bird," instead of a ball.

A big turnout is expected for this intramural sport.

SPORTS, PINOCHLE RATE HIGH WITH JIM

Jim Covey, sports editor on the Stoutonia staff, is a junior here at Stout. Besides being sports editor, he is a member of the FOB fraternity. Jim's weekly comments in Covey's Corner on various sports events around the campus are always interesting to read.

Covey was born in Menomonie on July 17, 1929. He attended grade school in Menomonie, and graduated from high school in 1947. When it came time to fill out application papers for admission to Stout, Jim just slid under the deadline. In fact, while he was registering on Monday morning, Jim didn't know for sure if he had been accepted. Jim says that he was little undecided during the summer, and, all of a sudden, he was here as a woodworking and drawing major in Industrial Arts.

Sports rate high with Jim, and he as a spectator, but is an active participant in basketball is his favorite game. Two of Covey's favorite hobbies are playing pinochle in the union and going to the movies. The motion picture industry holds a little priority over cards.

Have you wanted to meet a person who likes to eat most anything? Well, Jim is just the personality. There are very few foods that he doesn't take delight in eating.

Jim is 5' 8" tall, has black hair, is the owner of a pair of dark brown eyes, and weighs about 180 pounds. (He says that he is a little heavier during the winter months).

Instead of attending summer school or taking a vacation during the summer months, Covey works for a lumber company here in Menomonie. It is easy to see how the time must fly for Jim, who participates in so many activities on and off the campus.

FACULTY SHOW HIGHLIGHTS ALL SCHOOL EVENT

The all-school carnival, to be held March 31-April 1, is sponsored by the "S" club of Stout Institute.

The carnival will be the product of planning which began within the student governing board quite some time ago. The "S" club has full responsibility for progress of the event.

The fun begins on Friday, so everyone can prepare for it. From rumors picked up by large ears, it is learned that the all-faculty show will be a dilly. Can a person visualize possibilities that the faculty could cook up to surprise everyone? It has been said that such a production is quite impossible to imagine, so the only solution is to be present at the mysterious event.

Everything from buttonholes to deformed salt shakers will be sold to the public in another carnival event, the White Elephant auction. When the auctioneer says "Sold!" another person will be made a happy owner of something worse than nothing. Things will not all be this bad, but it is recommended that students set a twenty dollar maximum on shoe strings.

The sideshows will give everyone the thrill of carefree carnival days. This event will take place in the gym. The sideshows are sponsored by the clubs and organizations within Stout Institute, but the general management falls again under the "S" club.

Games and prizes are available to seekers of strenuous entertainment. Last but not at all least is the final wind-up dance to be held Saturday night.

HOME EC CLUB SENDS TWO TO CONFERENCE

Dorothy Amendt and Beverly Brehmer were the two representatives sent by the Home Economics club to a home economics conference held at Chicago on Thursday, February 23 until Saturday, February 25.

The conference, "The Province Workshop, 7 District" was attended by representatives from schools from the states of Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Illinois.

FAIR OAKS SET PACE IN FINAL PLAY-OFFS

Just a word about intramural bowling. This week should see the playoffs, where the pace is set by Fair Oaks with a 25 win and 7 loss average. Following closely are the FOB's with 23-13, and the Sigma team with 19-13.

Individual averages put Young in the top bracket with 158, Antes second with 154, and Taona and Sargent tie for third with 153 each.

LYNWOOD SKIT DELAYED UNTIL FUTURE DATE

By this time you have probably heard many conflicting reports concerning Wednesday's convocation and what didn't happen and why. To clarify this, your Stoutonia reporters have done some investigating.

The difficulty arose because the auditorium was booked solid for all times when the cast of the Lynwood Hall skit, scheduled for Wednesday's convocation period, was able to rehearse. Therefore, without a rehearsal, a performance with any degree of quality could not be put on, and it was decided that the skit should be delayed.

In itself, that sounds simple, but, in answer to the question that has been asked, "Why wasn't the stage available?" Mr. N.E. Zeimann had an answer. He stated that MAP had signed up for the stage for the nights preceding their March performance of "Double Door" and that he had already given the stage up on that Monday night and most of Tuesday night, the nights which Lynwood wanted. "We had scheduled a two-hour practice on Tuesday night, after a band practice, and we felt it unreasonable to cancel it for another group whose request was of last-minute nature."

And, so, with the passing of last Wednesday's convocation, so passed the last open date until April 29. You never can tell, perhaps by the perseverance of the Lynwood officers, that may well be the date of the skit previously planned for last Wednesday.

FAIR OAKS TEAM TOPS BOWLING TO DATE

Fair Oaks is still maintaining its hold on first place in intramural bowling with 25 wins and 7 losses. The FOB's are second with 23 wins and 13 losses.

The three top single game scorers are Young, Antes, and Sargent with 158, 154, and 153 respectively.

The standings are as follows:

Fair Oaks	25	7
FOB	23	13
Keglers	19	13
Sigmatas	19	12
Sigma Tau	18	14
Lynwood	19	17
APO	18	19
KFS	17	19
"S" Club	13	19
Lofters	12	24
Lynwood	9	27

GIFT OF $100 FROM THE DETROIT ALUMNAE

Gift To Be Used For Two Freshmen Students Who Enter From An Accredited School

Twenty-one Stout Alumnae women of the Detroit Alumni group met at the home of Mrs. H. Stevens (Marion Bull), March 11, and decided to send $100 to the Stout Scholarship fund.

A scholarship gift has become an annual project of the group, the most active of all alumni groups. The money had been raised a few weeks earlier at a card party and musical. Members of the committee in charge of the fund raising were: Mrs. Ira Moddenas (Emma Nogowitz), chairman, Anna Mae Feist Baysinger, Helen Voetz Hofman, Helen Marty Christopherson, Elaine Thomas Charlick (President), and Irma Miller Mann, according to recent correspondence from Mrs. Verne Nutter Shaw, reporter for the group.

The Alumni Association of the Stout Institute is offering annually two scholarships of $60.00 each and free tuition to freshman students (one boy and one girl) entering as graduates of any accredited school.

Scholarship blanks may be obtained by writing to the Secretary-Treasurer, Alumni Association, The Stout Institute, Menomonie, Wisconsin; or Miss Belle Soukup, 42 N. 8th Avenue, Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin; Mrs. John F. Galbraith, Route 2, Plainfield, New Jersey; or Michael Timbers, 3848-44th Avenue N. E., Seattle, Washington.

EVEN COLLEGE PREXY DID HOMEWORK

Evidence that even future college presidents had to do their schoolwork "just like anybody else," was uncovered recently by Miss Lillian Froggatt, college librarian when she found the thesis with which President Verne C. Fryklund fulfilled a portion of the requirements for a Stout Institute two-year diploma in 1915-16.

The project, titled "An Illustrated Lecture on Logging," consists of a sequential group of photos on steps in logging, each accompanied by a typed explanation of the operation shown. Miss Froggatt found the thesis filed with special historical material which had been preserved because of unusual value and interest.

When asked why he completed such an extensive project for only a two-year diploma, Dr. Fryklund recalls:

"Today our five-year Master's candidates feel that the requirement of a thesis means a great deal of work for them. However when I attended Stout, all graduates wrote theses, some of the academic type which I completed and others consisting of cabinets and worktables for the Home Economics department.

Dr. Fryklund completed the project in the winter of 1915-16, when he took a camera into the forests near Cloquet, Minnesota. There he visited lumbering operations in progress, photographing the lumberjacks at their actual jobs.

As the title of the thesis suggests, the photographs trace the steps in lumbering from selection of a tree to be felled to the finished boards in a commercial lumber yard. Among the steps pictured are timber selection, cutting, forest clean up, forest rail-roading, and cutting of logs into boards. Also of interest are photos and descriptions of a lumberjack dining hall, a log jam, an old-type Lima engine, and a large log pond. The photos were hand-tinted by Dr. Fryklund.

STS TO HOLD FORMAL INITIATION MARCH 28

At the regular STS meeting March 15, an informal initiation ceremony was held for the new members and those regular members advancing in rank.

Plans have been made for the formal initiation scheduled for Tuesday evening, March 28. A banquet and a speaker will highlight the evening, honoring the new members initiated into the ranks of apprentices and also those advancing in rank from apprentice to journeyman and to master.

LEARN ABOUT YOUR NSA PROGRAM

You may wonder as to the program that your NSA carries out; consider the following questions about the NSA and their answers from the NSA Bulletin.

How does NSA carry out its programs? There are three levels of NSA activity: national, regional, and campus. Nationally, the NSA program is implemented through its national commissions. On the regional level the commissions of the regions analogous to the national commissions implement intercollegiate programs. The student government is the instrument of NSA activity on each campus.

What is the student life program? The student life program is concerned primarily with services to the student government and the extra-curricular life of the study body. The commission prepares informational material and surveys on student government structure, functions and financing; it sponsors the National Student art exhibit, the Symphony forums, World Affairs council, and other cultural activities. In addition the Student Life program assists in the development of student leadership training programs, sponsorship of student government clinics and intercollegiate services to special interest clubs. Intercollegiate athletics, social life, students health, and orientation are important phases of the commission's work.

What is the educational problems program? Concern of the student in his educational process, legislation affecting education, student economics, welfare, discrimination, intergroup relations, educational practices, scholarship opportunities, vocational guidance, and similar matters concerning the educational community as a whole form the program of this commission. Informational services and program implementation are provided through the area headquarters of the Subcommittee on Educational Practices and Human Relations, and such subcommittees as those of legislation, scholarship opportunity, vocational guidance, and economic welfare.

What are the other NSA services? In addition to the broad programs of the commissions, NSA also operates the nation-wide purchase card system which established discount contracts with some 200 merchants in New York, Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia, Boston, Minneapolis, Jersey City, and other cities. The NSA purchase card entitles student holder to list price discounts of from 10 to 30 percent at merchants in any of these cities. The association maintains a national subcommittee on Academic Freedom and Student Rights which has performed significant work in research and information in its field. NSA's regional organizations also sponsor informational, welfare, and cultural services.

ALL SCHOOL CARNIVAL TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

The gala weekend of April 1 is the highlight of the present semester. The fun ranges from an auction and the all-faculty show, to the side shows and Saturday night dance. It will prove to be an eventful weekend for everyone because of the wide variety of things to attend and enjoy.

The entire event is under the direction of the "S" Club. The events scheduled for the two days will be arranged in chronological order and published in the Stoutonia March 31.

Much enthusiasm is being shown in the project, with most of the organizations in the college cooperating to make it a success. All patrons are promised an exciting evening for their money.

Finances for the event are being handled by the "S" club, working under the direction of a committee com-

AUDIO-VISUAL DEPT. ADDS A NEW COURSE

The Audio-Visual department will have a new course to offer to qualified students which will further them for the teaching problems they will doubtlessly run across in the teaching world.

The new course is titled, "Production of Audio-Visual Materials," and will be numbered Ed. 439. It will be classified as an elective education course and will run two days a week with two hour periods (four class hours per week) for 18 weeks.

Prerequisites for the course will be: Elementary Photography, I.E. 205 and Audio-Visual Education, Ed. 306, or by permission of the instructor. The course will be a 2 credit course.

"Production of Audio-Visual Materials" will deal with the production of motion pictures, filmstrips, standard and miniature slides, mock-ups and models and graphic materials. It will include the selection and organization of subject matter, production of scripts and technical problems of production.

The class was organized to develop skills in the production of Audio-Visual materials which will prepare these students more adequately for the Audio-Visual Industrial Arts type of job.

posed of student and faculty representatives. It is hoped that the carnival will prove successful, as it is the first such project attempted in recent years.

The side shows are to be erected by clubs and organizations will provide entertainment for Saturday afternoon. The placement of the "shows" will be in the H. E. and I. E. buildings. The side shows will be typical of the old-time carnival days with barkers, dancing girls, games, and such.

The all-faculty show will be a "must" on the attendance list, along with the white elephant auction.

So, don't miss the happy go lucky weekend of April 1! The event will be as large as the people of Stout make it, so let's see it come out successfully.

FACULTY WIVES TO MEET AT LA CORTE

Stout faculty wives will meet Tuesday, March 28, at 7:30 p.m. at the cafe La Corte. The committee consists of Mrs. Oetting, Mrs. Betterley, Mrs. Chinnock, Mrs. Ruehl, and Mrs. Good. If faculty wives are unable to attend they are requested to call the committee.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDED FOB STUNT NIGHT

Hawaiians, Annex and Sig Tau Awarded Prizes By Judges Of Stunt Night

A capacity crowd packed the Stout Auditorium to witness the FOB Stunt Night, Friday March 17th at 8:00 p.m. Bud "Smitty" Smith served as master of ceremonies, telling jokes and introducing the stunts. Mr. Hoving supplied organ music between the acts. Of the ten stunts the Tainter Annex and the Hawaiian Group were the top two with the judges scoring both with 88 points out of a possible 100. The money for 1st ($20) and 2nd ($15) places was split by the tying stunts. The 3rd prize ($10) was awarded to the Sigma Tau Gamma stunt which scored 85 points.

Tainter Annex's stunt "The Evolution of a Co-ed" was seen from the knees down; the fire curtain was lowered to knee level. The skit, which was pantomimed, followed the Co-ed strolling through the park, then being caught by a man, then the proposal, then the marriage, and finally our Co-ed with her traditional mob of kids. For the finale, in full view, the entire cast sang a "Tainter" song.

The Hawaiian students at Stout presented genuine Hawaiian entertainment in their stunt "Across The Sea." Herb Watanabe introduced the acts which included; a vocal duet by Paul Kokubum and Al Goto and a hula dance entitled "Lovely Hula Hands" danced by Sumi Doi and Eleanor Ushijima. Herman Fong was recognized as Hula Hattie in the comedy hula by that name.

Sigma Tau Gamma's "Typical College Classroom" was a riot every minute of the way. For the protection of the instructors and students alike the Stoutonia hesitates to print the names involved in the Classroom of last Friday night.

DISCUSS EQUIPMENT FOR HOME EC. LAB

Senior women of the Administration of Home Economics class are discussing the problems involved in equipping a high school home economics department. Through these panel discussions the girls aim to gain a working knowledge of some of the problems they may face next fall.

The first panel discussion was held last Friday, March 17, by Jean Walzer, Margaret Perman, Mrs. Virginia Grunsted, and Mrs. Leona Goetsch. They discussed facilities, space, and equipment needed in a department to teach units on laundry, grooming, and textiles.

Monday the second panel discussed equipping the clothing laboratory to teach units on clothing construction, selection, and care. Discussion was led by Sister Filotea, assisted by Sister Bertilia and Peggy Welch.

Wednesday's discussion by Mrs. Frances Gray, Mrs. Ardelle Fish, Jean Winsor, Ruby Jarman, and Norma Cole gave suggestions for equipment needed by the teacher for her personal and professional effects. Other topics on Wednesday, dealt with facilities needed to teach child care and development, and foods and nutrition.

Topics planned for discussion on Friday are in these areas: home furnishings and house care, home care of the sick and home management, and cost of furnishing a laboratory unit.

Later in the semester the class is planning a field trip to visit different homemaking departments in this area of the state.

Are you looking for FREE entertainment? If so, the Manual Arts Players have a suggestion to make. "Why not attend our spring play, "Double Door," on March 30 or 31? We've scheduled two performances to give everyone a chance to see the play who want to, and have eliminated all the poor seats in the auditorium—all top balcony and side aisle seats as well as those behind the posts. It's a great chance to come and see your friends and classmates at their performing best."

The cast for this year's production include—in order of their appearance: Avery, played by Jeanette Bolles; Telson, by Allen Swan; Louise, by Mary Lou Bohrnstedt, and William by Eugene Sawyer. Clarice Zarling portrays Anne Darrow, Dorothy Widely plays Caroline Van Bret, Geraldine Raisler as Victoria Van Bret, Dave Johnson as Mr. Chase, and Don Lansverk as Mr. Neff. Lee Flanders does the part of Rip Van Bret, Dennis Brooks the part of Dr. John Sully and Robert Adkins plays Mr. Lambert.

On the production staff, Mr. N. C. Ziemann is the director; Glen Sommers is the assistant director; Harold Satterlund is the business manager; and Marjorie Lennie is the prompter. Richard Duthler and Bill Wensel have charge of the lighting; properties by Audrey Porter and Harriet Homer. The sound effects will be handled by Jerri Plezeczynski, costumes by Carolyn Blain, Pat Pagel and Harriet Homer and make-up Jerri Plezeczynski, Laverne Ablard, Beatrice Sagstetter, Mary Ann Timmerman, and Carolyn Blain. Ushering for the performances are Carolann Hammerstein, Connie Schlozer, Priscilla Strommen, Phoebe Smith, Donna Ebert, June Higgins, Phylliss Horning, Gretchen Shoenoff, Joan Schwanemann, Betty Holenweg, Joan Staehle, Virginia Lane and Mary Shadewald.

Tickets will be available in the corridor of the HE building. Student tickets may be had by presenting ridor of the H E building. Student lecting the desired seat.

BAND PRESENTS CONCERT WITH GLEE CLUB

A very entertaining concert was presented by the Stout band assisted by the Girl's Glee club at convocation Wednesday. The program consisted of:

I
March "His Honor" Fillmore
"The Student Prince" Overture..... Romberg
Cypress Silhouettes Bennett
March, "Father Knickerbocker" Goldman

II
Allah's Holiday Friml-Riegger
In the Still of the Night Porter
Hi, Ho, Sing Gaily Swiss-Luvaas
Noreen Kahl, accompanist

III
American Rhapsody Long
Ol' Man River Kern
I'm Gettin' Sentimental Over You Bassman
American Patrol Meacham
March, "National Emblem" Bagley

The band and girl's glee club were well accepted by the entire student body, and several encore numbers were played. The selection of the numbers played were well chosen and enjoyed by all.

JURWITZ FEATURED IN MUSIC HOUR

An excellent all-Chopin program was held in the Harvey Memorial on Thursday afternoon, with Geraldine Jurwitz, pianist, as soloist. This was the fifth in the series of an "Hour of Music" program.

Miss Jurwitz played the following selections: "Masurka in B flat," "Minute Waltz," "C sharp Waltz," "Raindrop Prelude," "Waltz in E Minor," "Fantasia Impromptu in C sharp Minor," "Nocturne in E Major," and "Waltz in A Major."

WORK AND NO PLAY

Spring is almost here, and with it comes the varied social functions on the campus. All social events are for the benefit of the students in school, and if these events are to be successful we must participate wholeheartedly. No formal dance or other type of entertainment can be a success with just a few students attending.

We all come to college to earn an education, but unless we also take part in social events, we can, as the old expression goes, "get into a rut." All work and no play can make a person very dull. That's why we have all the social activities that are offered. Many students present the age-old problem of "too much school work to do." In many cases, it is more a matter of "studying when we study and then play when we play." No one can study and play at the same time. One or the other will suffer.

As the social functions come this spring, let's participate wholeheartedly. Assuredly, we will be able to plan our work so that some time may be allotted from the work schedule,

— D. L.

THE LOST BATTALION

After the SSA elections results had been tabulated and accounted for, it was noted that approximately six hundred students voted in the last election. This is only two-thirds of the students attending Stout. What happened to the other three hundred students? Are we to have a "Lost Battalion" of students at election time each year?

We are being unfair to ourselves as well as our school government organization when we don't vote. Really, it is not a privilege but a duty to participate in the student elections. Our local, state, and national government elections are no different in principle, and if people take time from their work to go to the polls, why can't we? Many students say that their vote would not make any difference in the election; however multiply that by three hundred students and it makes a big difference. And it is at elections that we get a chance to express ourselves, so full representation is vital.

The election booth in the HE building was in a very conspicuous place, and really there is no excuse why everyone could not have arranged to stop there during voting hours. Stop for a moment and give the election a thought; then when the election rolls around, don't become a member of an unpopular "Lost Battalion" non-voters organization.

Hello, fellow slaves!

Easter is nearing and so is the point of frustration and insanity.

This weather is something to write home about. If you do, however, be ready to pack up and leave, for no parents in their right minds would allow their children to remain in such lousy weather. Enuf said!

Well, last week we spent one good night at the FOB Stunt night. And we mean one night. Someone could have made his million renting pillows to the quickly tiring audience. We have never sat in one place for so long a time on so hard a surface. Hint to the building remodelers.

We saw quite a few couples at the stunt night. Dave Bieniasz escorted Menomonie's own Gerry Erickson to the gala affair. Don't know whether Gerry was watching the performance or Dave more that evening.

Jim Papez and Rachael Dautermann were up in the balcony enjoying the novel show. Ardelle Krueger and Francis Stephens were also up in the balcony with Jim and Rachael.

Noticed Norma Nelson back in town over the weekend. Seems she was back to see Wally Hammerberg. Have noticed Norma at the old Alma Mater quite frequently.

Betty Achterkirch, grad of '49, was also in town over the weekend. We wonder who she came back to visit. Anyone know?

Larry Bohn: "Did you hear about the trouble in the Bake Shop?"
Harter Peterson: "No, what was it?"

Larry Bohn: "Two stale buns tried to get fresh."

Bea Anderson was visited by her folks last weekend. We are wondering if they came up to give their approval of Emery Nelson? Mayhap they have set the date.

We saw big Tom Jacobson at the stunt night with his girl Doris Youngren. Doris is a local girl, and she seems to keep a pretty good hold on Tom. Tell us more about it, Tom.

Jim Gehrke, the lover from Wausau, ventured forth to Racine last weekend. Racine is also the home of Helen Kenna and Case tractors. We wonder if Jim went down to see the Case plant, or to see Helen's family. He won't tell.

Seems as though we saw one of the local Romeos out with a gal from Chippewa Falls. Seems that Ralph Olson likes to travel a lot to find his gals. What is the matter with the local stock, "Ole"?

We heard that Carl 'Andy' Anderson has been going to Eau Claire quite regularly. He never says what he goes for, but we have a pretty good idea.

Milan Huley has been sorta rushing Eileen Dietz these past weeks. We see them in the union, at the show, at church, and just about everywhere else we may look. Could be the bug bit, huh?

The tall and tantalizing Bob "Erick" Erickson, the basketball star from New Auburn, has been going home nearly every weekend for we don't know how long. We are beginning to wonder what Erick has at home besides his mother's cooking.

We would like to point out at this time that it is impossible to write a column such as this without juicy bits of gossip. In the spring the bug bites and couples start out for the lovers lanes. We can only write what we see and hear about, so please don't do anything that you don't want in this column. If we see it, we'll print it. Thanks!

Lover-boy: "I'm not the sort of fellow who leaves girls in the dark."
Friend: "I'll say you're not! When you call on them you don't leave them till it's daylight."

Bill Kieffer and Donna McDonough have been waiting patiently for the coming of spring. Donna seems to have a cold, but that must be because of the weather. 'Twill be nice to be able to go walking without slushing through the snow and sleet.

Some other couples seem to have gone home over the weekend. Nadine Brown visited Hudson, the home of Harold "Vern" Christensen. That's nice! Then we have Bob Cseh, the unpredictable lover, running off to Manitowoc with the Annex's Bette Worthington. We heard that Bob had a girl named Jill at home, but broke up with her to go out with Bette. Then Bette started going out with Rog Randall and now the two romanticists are back together again. Can anyone tell what is going to happen next? Also heard that Joe Brejha went to visit the town of Manitowoc. Seems that Dona May Jens lives in Manitowoc. Could it be that Joe went to Dona's house. Does spring have this much affect on people?

We heard a story a while back and we wonder whether Donna Leslie has been staying home to sew on her grandmother's dress. Must be quite a dress to merit breaking dates to stay home and sew on.

Saw some of the married couples at the stunt night. Stan Hoffman, his wife, and their son were enjoying the show as much as possible on the hard seats. Oliver Ohr and his wife were also at the performance. Saw Mrs. "Toby" Hendricson, but didn't see Torval.

K. Marilyn Erickson got some good news last weekend. She received an engagement ring from Jerry Solie, a former Stout student. Congratulations Marilyn, best wishes and all that sort of rot!

Has anyone noticed the Stout cheerleader in front of the 2nd street HE entrance at noon. It seems she has become interested in one of the younger King brothers. This brother is attending high school. Too bad the girls can't find men to go out with.

Don't forget the Alpha Phi Omega all school dance tomorrow night. It is the first one by the service frat, so we would like to see a good turnout. Maybe next week we will have some new to write about.

We remain your faithful friends,
Key and Hole

"Porter—there's a man down there."

COOS BY WALLY PIGEON

I am dedicating this joke to the people who see marriage as an institution which to them is only a beautiful dream with no realities. The joke is as follows:

Friend: "Is that wife of yours as beautiful as ever?"

Husband: "Yes, but it takes her somewhat longer these days."

Presence of mind in an auto accident is fine, but even finer is the absence of body.

The following contribution is an example of the most polite brush-off ever stated:

"Where have you been all my life and why don't you go back there?"

Pal: "Say, I heard that you were the life of the party last night."

Joker: "Yeah, I sure was. I was the only one who yelled louder than the radio."

A young couple was sitting on a sofa at a formal affair. The young lady was attempting to impress the young gentleman with her family tree. She remarked: "My family tree can be traced back to the days of William the Conqueror."

The young man was on the verge of telling her in a polite way to stop talking about her family, but he wasn't sure of a good tactful statement. Then he was hit by a brain storm so he remarked rather casually: "Well, my family tree is rather old, too, but unluckily all our family records were lost in Noah's Flood!"

Mr. Fleming: "Are you a writer with imagination?"
Wally Pigeon: "Sure. I imagine that people will read this column."

1st Dame: "You know what? I have been asked to get married so many times that I lost track of the times."

2nd Dame: "Who asked you?"

1st Dame: "My mother and father."

A husband was getting rather irritated by his wife's back seat driving because everytime they went for a ride he would hear her commands. With every turn of the wheel she gave directions. "Go to the left! Don't drive so fast; watch out for that car!"

One day, they came to a railroad crossing and a train was approaching in the distance. The husband drove halfway onto the tracks and stopped.

He jumped out of the car.
"I got my end over," he shouted.
"What are you going to do with yours?"

CAPPILITES ARE PART OF SPECIAL MEAL

Each six week the women at the Home Management house here at Stout have at least one meal that is considered unusual. Worthy of this praise during the past six weeks was the meal served by Carolyn Blain as cook and Ruth Ann Christensen as her assistant cook. This meal, consisting of a menu centered around the Italian "cappelletti," was served on February 15.

The plans for this dinner started when Carolyn mentioned the fact that her mother has a friend who makes these cappilites. Cappilites are a rolled noodle dough in the form of a hat and stuffed with highly seasoned meat. Everyone at the house was interested in this unusual food, so Carolyn wrote to her mother and soon the cappilites, in a frozen state, were on the way to the Home Management house.

Before serving, the cappilites are cooked in a beef broth. To complete the menu and carry out the Italian theme, Carolyn and Ruth Ann added a variety of Italian cheeses, a salad of beets and carrots, breaded pork chops, and Vienna bread. Grape juice with sugar wafers was served as a fitting climax to the dinner.

$100.00 Gift From Detroit Alumnae

Each day the alumni mail contains inquiries such as—why haven't I received my Stoutonia; in most cases the answer is, because you haven't given us your address; or the Alumni section in the Stoutonia lacks news—the reason perhaps, you haven't submitted news.

But to-day the mail contained a most pleasant surprise—a $100.00 check from the Detroit Alumnae treasurer, Louise Hobart. Their only comment accompanying the check was and I quote: "Enclosed is a check for $100.00. The Detroit Alumnae of The Stout Institute wish to present this as a gift for the scholarship fund."

And so again, the Detroit group has displayed the kind of interest in their Alma Mater that is needed to keep Stout up front as a leader in the field of training Home Economics and Industrial Arts teachers.

DUES INCREASE CONTEMPLATED BY ALUMNI

Request Members Write Soon Regarding Proposal Of Dues Increase By Exec Council

On January 6, 1950, the Alumni section of the Stoutonia carried an article on the need of increasing membership dues. The alumni were asked to mail comments or suggestions to the secretary, Mr. Herbert Anderson of Stout Institute so that the consensus of opinion of our alumni will be known at the time of the annual meeting. Only six grads have responded to the request.

During a recent meeting for the Senior Recognition dinner, which is sponsored by the alumni for the graduating seniors, our executive council members were confronted with the question, "Can we continue to put on a dinner which will cost about $1.65 per plate or almost the equivalent of two years membership dues?" The annual treasurer's report indicates that the $1.00 yearly membership dues is not sufficient to carry the cost of one person's membership through the year. "How then can we possibly give the graduating seniors the equivalent of two years' membership?"

The executive council feels very strongly that the Senior Recognition dinner should be continued if at all possible, but it may be necessary to sponsor an affair of less cost as a substitute unless the income of our association can be increased.

Let's hear from you on the matter. We will also appreciate any news from you that may be published in the Stoutonia.

AUDIO-VISUAL CLASS ATTENDS MADISON MEET

The class in problems in audio visual education attended the third annual meeting of the Wisconsin Department of Audio-Visual Instruction at the University of Wisconsin, March 16.

Attending the meeting were Mr. D. P. Barnard, the instructor, and Ronald Bauer, Margon Berg, Edwin Bergman, Ray Doane, William Fehrenbach, Thomas Miller and George Tinette.

The morning session was held in the Union's beautiful Play Circle. The topic discussed was "What's Happened in Teacher Education for Audio-Visual Instruction?" The Old Madison room was the scene of the luncheon and business meeting. A representative of the Coronet Film company talked on "Communication of Ideas in the Modern School."

Following the luncheon the group adjourned to visit and inspect the university. The group visited the weekly film preview session held for all instructors and students interested in new films acquired by the audio-visual department. A brief discussion was held after each film was shown.

INFORMATION ON GRADS RELEASED BY O'BRIEN

Miss Gertrude M. O'Brien, college placement officer, has notified the Stoutonia of information concerning the following Stout graduates:

Lawrence Braaten, B. S. 1936, who has been the training officer for The Stout Institute veterans, has resigned his position with Veterans Administration at Eau Claire and will be a member of the Curriculum and Instructor Training Section in the Bureau of Naval Personnel in the Pentagon building.

Lieutenant Commander Robert Olson, B. S. 1939, has recently been added to this staff. He is now located at Norfolk, Virginia.

Mr. Homer C. Rose is head of the Curriculum and Instructor Training section. Mr. Rose received the degree of Bachelor of Science in August, 1931.

The new Veterans Administration training officer for the Eau Claire area is Mr. M. D. Berlin.

C. Q. ALMANAC NOW AVAILABLE FOR USE

The latest copy of the Congressional Quarterly Almanac has been received by The Stout Institute library and is now available for use. This publication is the authoritative reference on Congress and contains much information and many statistics of value to students and faculty. It is looked upon as the detailed story of what happened in Congress during the past year.

Dick Fryklund, son of President Verne C. Fryklund, is affiliated with the organization which publishes the volume.

Containing more than 900 pages, the yearbook provides a fully-documented account of action by individual Congressmen, the Senate, the House, by committees and by pressure groups. The annual CQ Almanac is especially useful to students in preparing term papers, and is consulted also by many civic groups which also make use of the current CQ reports received weekly by the library.

In the case of major bills passed, the Almanac traces them from their origination through hearings and floor action to eventual signing by the President. Lobby stands are also noted, and the fate of all amendments is recorded. The book also lists alphabetically every public bill introduced in Congress. It records every roll call vote in both Senate and House, with the CQ Poll supplementing those instances where legislators' votes were not recorded.

The first 128 pages of the CQ Almanac are devoted to special features, including summaries of many of the exclusive tabulations which appeared in CQ Logs for Editors during the year. Included in this category are:

Charts showing how President Truman's program has fared in Congress, and how progress in the first session of the 81st Congress compares with other first sessions.

Results of key votes in Senate and House from 1949 back to 1919.

Records on party unity, bipartisanism on "on-the-record" voting of Congressmen.

DR. D. AGNEW WRITES HISTORICAL ARTICLE

Lead article in the January, 1950, Iowa Journal of History is "Iowa's First Railroad," an account of the coming the "iron horse" to that state as told by Dr. Dwight Agnew, head of the department of history and social science at Stout. The Journal is a quarterly published by the State Historical Society of Iowa.

The article describes the founding of the Mississippi and Missouri Railroad company from the incorporation of articles in December, 1852, to the reaching of "end of track" in 1856. Numerous quotations from historical documents and a graphic map are included.

Figures on what it cost to elect the 81st Congress.

Text and figures pointing up the issues for the 1950 Congressional election in 1949.

Full listing of lobby registrations and expenditures and the only available partial listing of lobby withdrawals.

Major nominations by the President and biographical sketches of the nominees.

At the outset there is a general listing of contents by pages, and throughout the book speedy cross-references are used. The index is very detailed. In addition, special pages at the front of the book explain CQ's special features and tell how to use the Almanac most effectively. The information includes a glossary of Congressional terms and a detailed explanation of how a bill is passed.

The organization which produces the Almanac—Congressional Quarterly News Features—is the only news bureau exclusively devoted to covering Congress. Library patrons are invited to make use of both the new Almanac and CQ current reports on campaign.

Vocational Educators Meet In Green Bay

The annual convention of the Wisconsin Association for Vocational and Adult Education scheduled for Green Bay on May 4, 5, and 6, will bring teachers together from various sections of the state.

Opportunities will be provided for the interchange of ideas, new information will be gained, and social contacts made with both teachers and homemakers at the general and the sectional meetings.

VAN LOONS ANNOUNCE BIRTH OF DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Van Loon, 406 N. Jefferson, Harvard, Ill., informed the Stoutonia of the birth of a daughter, Barbara Jean, on March 11. She weighed seven pounds, 14 ounces. Lauren graduated from Stout in 1949.

John: You know you're not a bad looking girl.

Hope: Oh, you'd say so even if you didn't think so.

John: Well that makes us even then. You'd think so, even if I didn't say so.

"SPRING FERVOR" THEME OF TOMORROW'S DANCE

"Spring Fervor" will be the theme of the Alpha Phi Omega all-school dance to be held in the college gym at 8:30 p.m. on March 25.

Virgil Halverson, fraternity social chairman, reports that plans are underway to decorate the gym in a delightful "Spring Fervor" manner. Music will be provided by George Soderberg and the Royal Blackhaws.

Admission will be 75 cents per couple, 40 cents stag. This is the first all-school event by Alpha Phi Omega. According to fraternity members: "Come on fellas, phone up that gal right away and show her a good time tomorrow night. If she's got a date with some other guy, come stag and you'll still be assured of a wonderful time."

SSS SPRING CONCERT TO BE PRESENTED

The Symphonic Singers will present their annual spring concert on April 18 at 8:00 p.m. They will also present an assembly concert on May 3.

The complete choir of sixty members will leave on tour April 25. This year's tour will include visits to Great Lakes Training School, the Veterans hospital at Wood, Wisconsin, and performances in Milwaukee. If anyone is interested in having the choir in his hometown, Mr. Frailey, music director, will attempt to make the necessary arrangements.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION HELD AT THE HALL

Mrs. Adams, Barbara Houlton, Leona Nagel, Phoebe Smith, Hazel Nelson, and Pat Loosen were the girls feted at the monthly birthday party held at Tainter Hall on March 14.

The birthday table had as its centerpiece a silver harp and each cover had a shamrock for a place card. Decorations to carry out the theme were used throughout.

Mashed potatoes, gravy, roast chicken, mixed vegetables, twist rolls, St. Patrick salad, ice cream, cake and coffee constituted the menu.

Guest of honor at the dinner were Miss McCalmont, Mrs. Goodrich, Miss Miller, who was spending the weekend here, and Mrs. Vogtsberger.

FROSH GIRLS SERVE AT ANNUAL GREEN TEA

Under the chairmanship of Phyllis Amacher, the "time to shine" came to the freshmen girls Wednesday, March 15, at the annual St. Patrick's tea. Catherine Magee and her committee scattered shamrocks around Harvey Memorial and had two interlocking gold lyres with a gold shamrock underneath for the table centerpiece. The menu, consisting of white and chocolate cupcakes, nuts, mints, coffee and tea, was planned by Beatrice Anderson and her committee. Dean Alice J. Kirk, Miss Ann Noble, Miss Winifred Hinkley and the officers of the Home Ec. club poured.

Under the direction of Nadine Brown, a committee had previously sent invitations to the entire faculty and administration.

MOVIES BEING SHOWN AT SKI CLUB MEETINGS

The Ski Club is winding up a big year with a series of movies. Some of the movies have an instructional theme to them, and all of them are entertaining. On Thursday March 14 the Club presented the movie "Skiing with Hans Schnieder." The movie was both instructional and entertaining and was enjoyed by all present at the meeting.

The Ski Club will hold its annual elections in the last meeting this month. The elections were formerly held in the fall of the year. The reason the change was made was because of the difficulties the club would encounter in starting up in the fall if the officers were not already elected and set to go to work.

FOAM RUBBER LECTURE TO BE GIVEN MONDAY

Miss Irma Winkleblack, home economist, will speak at the Home Economics club meeting, March 27, at 7:15 p.m. in the Stout cafeteria.

Miss Winkleblack will speak and present an exhibition and demonstration on the use of foam rubber. At present she is employed by the United States Rubber company, Rockefeller Center, Charleston, Illinois.

In her speech she will discuss rubber materials for the home and other decorative effects. There will be an opportunity to see some of the spring line in footwear as well as to see hose-savers.

Another of the new items on display will be Uskon, an all-electrical radiant heating unit. The use of foam rubber as floor cushioning material, mattress material, furniture upholstery, and other cushioning uses, around the home will also be included.

Dorothy Amendt and Beverly Brehmer will also give a report on their trip to Chicago as the Stout home economics club representatives to the Home Economics club province "workshop."

SCF HOLDS BIBLE STUDY CLASS

"The Scriptural Bases for the Five Principles of Faith" were studied, under the leadership of Duane LeBague, by the members of Stout Christian Fellowship at the regular meeting Wednesday, March 15, at 7:15 p. m. in room 122, HE building. Because the officers are required by the constitution to subscribe to the principles of faith, the discussion was primarily designed to prepare the members for the election of officers

NEWMAN CLUB HOLDS BRUNCH, HAS SPEAKER

The March Newman Club brunch and meeting was held Sunday, March 19, in the Catholic school auditorium after the 10 o'clock Mass at which the Newmanites received Holy Communion in a body.

After the delicious brunch of baked eggs and bacon, clover leaf rolls, baked apples, lime chiffon pie, and coffee, the monthly business meeting was held. After congratulating the "cooks" on the wonderful meal, a committee for the April brunch was appointed. All those with "green eyes" were chosen as the next "chefs."

The brunch was in honor of St. Patrick, so the theme was closely correlated to the decorations. A centerpiece of green shamrocks was on the head table. The place cards were white and green shamrocks with "O" before each name to make it Irish.

Upon conclusion of the brunch, Captain Earl H. Madsen of the Air Force spoke on his nine year's experience in that branch of the service. He was a former resident of Menomonie and a graduate of the Dunn County School of Agriculture. At present he plans on the air force being his career.

7000 STICKERS TO REACH OUR TV GOAL

In just a few days, the majority of students will be enjoying their Flame Room coffee at home. This is a good time to be thinking of bringing a few stickers back to Stout. Introduce Flame Room at home to your friends and ask them to save for the Stout TV drive.

Obtain a sticker card from the SSA office and leave it at your favorite grocery store back home, with proper explanation. These minor tasks will get that TV set in the Union so fast it will be surprising. Grocery stores are by far the best places for obtaining stickers, so with this in mind, go home with the idea of really helping to carry it out.

At the present time it has been recorded that about 3000 stickers have been received in the drive. The half way mark is just about reached and after the Easter vacation this point should be reached with ease through everybody's help.

BOW HUNTERS ORGANIZED IN NEW CLUB

A new organization has been founded here at Stout and is well on its way to having a permanent position in our social program. Bud Ryder, Al Spanheimer, and Chuck Schiferi noted there was need of an organization to increase interest in bow and arrow hunting. This club, the Bow Hunters club, is not a target shooting organization, but was founded to expand and perpetuate the practice of bow hunting among Stout students. It is also designed to cooperate with the Wisconsin Bow Hunters association and other bow hunting organizations, in the fostering and perpetuating the use of the bow in accordance with its ancient and honorable custom.

Mr. Lloyd Whydotaki and Mr. Herb Anderson have consented to act as advisers for this club, but as yet have set no definite meeting dates. The formal constitution has been turned in for overall approval and results should soon be seen. The meetings are to serve as a chance to plan hunting trips and also to lay out target courses for practice use. As of now, 35 students have signed up but there is still plenty of room so "If you are truly interested, we welcome you," say Bud, Al, and Chuck.

STOUT BAND GIVES CONCERT AT CONVO

The Stout band presented a concert at convocation Wednesday, March 22. Included in the concert were many well-known overtures and marches.

Mr. Frailey is now working on plans for a "Pop" concert to be held in May if there is any time available. The program for this concert will be composed of popular tunes, marches, and other light music.

PAINT PANELS DISPLAYED IN FINISHING

In room 201 of the Trades building, Mr. George Soderberg has a display of painting-decorating panels that are well worth seeing. Last week a large rack holding thirty-two panels, was installed against the north wall of the room. This rack is unique in design, and makes the panels accessible to anyone who wants to take them down and examine them. The panels are not behind closed glass doors so that they cannot be handled. The objective of having the display is to show what is being done in the painting-decorating department.

The panels that are placed in this rack represent the best work of each student enrolled in painting-decorating. Besides giving visitors an insight into painting-decorating, these panels help to show students what can be done and what is expected of them.

This display has taken considerable time to erect, and it is for the benefit of all who appreciate what is done in the finishing field. Mr. Soderberg extends a personal invitation to everyone to see the display.

DIETETIC CLUB HOLDS ELECTIONS; PLAN SALE

The election of officers was the business before hand when the Dietetic club held its meeting in the tea room at 5:45 p.m. on Monday, March 19.

From the candidates the nominating committee had suggested, the following officers were chosen: Ruth Voss, president; Janice Vaughn, vice president; Eleanor Ushijima, secretary; and Elizabeth Seufert, treasurer.

Plans for going to Stillwater on some future date in spring were discussed. The trip would be in honor of the graduating seniors. A committee of Eleanor Ushijima and Elizabeth Seufert have undertaken the responsibility of making arrangements for transportation.

April 19 was the date set for a cake sale. It was also related that a representative of Grandma Anderson's Kitchen, located in Warbesha, Minn., would speak to the club on March 27 at their bimonthly meeting.

FIVE JANUARY GRADS RECEIVE ASSIGNMENTS

Notice has been received by The Stout Institute placement office of the assignment to territories of the five January graduates who recently accepted jobs with the Delta Manufacturing company of Milwaukee. Each man has been allotted a new company car for use in reaching his territory and for his duties on the job.

The graduate and the area to which each has been assigned are as follows: George Jensen, Fort Wayne, Indiana; Herbert Meisner, Dallas, Texas; Warren Richter, Davenport, Iowa; Thompson Teppen, Kansas City, Missouri; and Darwin Serra, Canton, Ohio.

PRODUCTION STARTS ON HOME ECONOMICS FILM

The production staff of the home economics film committee has started the photographing. To date they have run off some one hundred feet of pictures and are taking more each week. Eventually they hope to have a very complete publicity film of the home economics program and facilities at Stout.

Photographing for the film is being done by the Audio-Visual department under the supervision of Mr. D. P. Barnard and Jerry Cook.

The film, a narrative type film, will be sent away for processing when the photographing is completed.

SUGGESTIONS OFFERED FOR PUBLIC RELATIONS

An interesting aspect of college public relations has been received at Stout in a letter from the public relations office of Baldwin-Wallace college, Berea, Ohio. The letter, written by Marion Cole, public relations officer of Baldwin-Wallace, points out ways in which students and faculty of any college are in reality integral parts of that college. Perhaps all persons affiliated with Stout in any way can benefit from the following public relations suggestions:

1. Every employee of the college, from the president through the faculty and including the maintenance workers, is a member of the Public Relations staff. In the eyes of the townspeople and of every individual he meets, the professor is Stout; and his attitudes are interpreted as being those of the college. Every friendly gesture each person makes creates friends for Stout.

2. A basic proverb of journalism tells us "Names Make News". For this reason we always are interested in faculty activities, ranging through speeches, sermons and recitals, elections, publications, attendance at meetings, and so on. What these "names" say and write is equally newsworthy. When you fulfill a speaking engagement there is no harm in saying something ear-catching.

It need not be on a controversial subject, but any definite statement will be picked up by local newspapers and your own name as well as Stout's will benefit. Even talks on serious topics can contain unusual facts or viewpoints which make good conversation after the lecture—AND good newspaper reading. When being written up or introduced for a program be sure your own name and that of the college are linked.

3. It is usually the small annoyance which makes students and faculty dissatisfied. This is illustrated even in this week's Baldwin-Wallace Exponent, where a letter to the editor concerns permissions for women students. Seldom, however, do students feel any great compulsion to air their views on requirements for a B.A. or any other fundamental problem of their education. By helping iron out the difficulties in his own department, each faculty member can help create a happier administration—student relationship—and needless to say this will in turn improve alumni dealings as the years progress.

4. And, lastly, no item is too small for the Public Relations Office. Anything which happens at Stout is NEWS.

NEW MOVIE PROJECTOR ARRIVES AT STOUT

In a recent memorandum to the faculty it was announced that the new lightweight sound movie projector which the Audio-Visual department had purchased has arrived and is being housed in the office of Mr. Ray Krantzsch on the second floor of the Industrial Education building.

The projector, a 16 mm, 28 pound Ampro "Stylist" constructed of magnesium alloy castings, is to be used in the Industrial Education building and may be taken out by signing the schedule in Mr. Krantzsch's office.

Room 22 in the IE building is being outfitted with dark shades and a screen so that it may be used for projection purposes. A portable screen will be placed in the office with the projector for use in rooms other than room 29.

EASTER BREAKFAST TO BE HELD APRIL 4TH

The annual Easter Sunrise breakfast will be held Tuesday morning, April 4, at 7:00 a.m. in the clubrooms above the student union. Breakfast charges for the occasion will be 15 cents. Tickets may be purchased after Monday, March 27, from any of the YWCA members or from the presidents of any of the church organizations.

Born in Red Oak, Iowa, Roy graduated from Thomas Jefferson High School at Council Bluffs. He was ready to enter the University when war changed his mind.

He went to work at Consolidated Vultee in San Diego, building PB's and B-24's. But it wasn't long until he had put in his application for Aviation Cadet training.

Cadet Carlson won his wings in April, 1943, was assigned to P-47 "Thunderbolts" with the 368th Fighter Group in England, to break ground for the Normandy invasion.

Roy completed 125 combat missions, leading many of them, supporting the invasion and the advances on into Germany. Won Air Medal, D.F.C., many other decorations. Promoted to Captain, then to Major.

Back home, he married the lovely Army nurse from Lowell, Massachusetts, whom he had met at Cannes, France. After the honeymoon, he returned to finish his studies at the University of Iowa.

Major Carlson is now Chief of Operations, 2471st Air Force Reserve Training Center, at O'Hare International Airport, near Chicago. Has two husky sons, a fine job, a great career still ahead of him!

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider the many career opportunities as a pilot or navigator in the U. S. Air Force. Procurement Teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Watch for them. You may also get full details at your nearest Air Force Base or U. S. Army and U. STOUT SHARES IN CHAMPIONSHIP

RIVER FALLS FORFEITS ALL FOOTBALL GAMES

Football Team Holds Title With La Crosse State And Stevens Point College

The Stout representatives at the college conference meeting last Friday in Madison were officially presented with a piece of the Conference Football Championship.

This action was officially ruled in by ten representatives of the Conference Faculty Managers of Athletics. The faculty representative from Stout is Mr. Dwight Chinnock.

The ruling was made because River Falls Teachers college used an ineligible player in their lineup, and this disqualified their conference games. The only school affected was Stout. This gave Stout a seven won, one loss record. This record ties La Crosse and Stevens Point who were previously tied for the conference championship.

This year's squad, who defeated the La Crosse team, was the first squad from Stout to obtain a championship spot since the 1941 Championship team.

Question of the Week

Would you like musical lyceums such as that of the Luther College concert band for a lyceum number here at Stout?

Mary Lou Groom: Yes. Most of us like and enjoy good musical programs. We don't get a chance to hear these very often.

Bruce Arntsen: I enjoyed the program very much and I think other students would enjoy it too.

Bernice Danzinger: The Luther College band concert was extraordinarily good, and I think that all of the students would thoroughly enjoy it as much as I did. It is a type of a program that one seldom has an opportunity to attend.

Roberta Hutchison: I think we should have more musical lyceums like the Luther College band concert.

Bill Wensel: Yes, I would like to see and hear more programs of this type because they are relaxing and entertaining.

Lora Heike: The Luther College band was truly inspiring. No Lyceum program thus far can be compared to this splendid event.

COVEY'S CORNER

Last week I wasn't around for comment on the Grudge game; the same holds true for this edition.

Last week in the 'Y' tournament at Eau Claire, the Menomonic Lakers, consisting of Stout players, were beaten in the championship game in an overtime.

Another team consisting of Stout's team entered the tournament at St. Croix Falls. They won the first game but lost the second one to the team that reached the finals.

Basketball is finally finished around Stout for this season.

The spring sports are now receiving more attention, with Coaches Johnson and Storti attending a meeting last Friday concerning spring sports.

CAMPUS LOCALS

Miss June Miller, former Physical Education teacher at Stout, arrived Wednesday evening to spend a few days here visiting friends.

Helen Haase spent the week-end at Milwaukee visiting relatives. Had hoped to see Al also, but he couldn't come up from Missouri.

Mary Ann Vomstad spent the week end at her home at Blanchardville. She also attended the State High School Basketball tournament at Madison.

Betty Braun, Dick Johnson and Wayne Koehler went to Milwaukee for the weekend. Betty was sick all weekend.

Ben Gabriel, an ex-Stout student, is now stationed with the Air Force at San Antonio, Texas.

Marge Forsman went up to cities to visit her aunt and uncle. Her father and mother also came. To make the weekend complete, her boy friend paid her a surprise visit.

MANAGER AL BROWN IS GRID, CAGE FAN

"Stout's basketball team wins 21 straight games!" That is the headline, "Brownie," our basketball manager is waiting too see.

Why does manager Brown (don't call him Albert) have such an interest in Stout's basketball record? That's easy—he wants Stout to duplicate the number of consecutive wins that his high school team chalked-up when he managed that squad. Al, a sophomore, is a graduate of Menomonic high school where he first became interested in basketball.

"Basketball is a very interesting sport, and I wish that I could play it well," complains Al, as he explains how his lack of natural ability but his love for the sport led him to become manager.

All duties vary from supply man to trainer. It is his job to issue out equipment to the players, and to keep the basketballs properly filled with air. When game-time rolls around, you'll see him sturry around checking and rechecking to see if the scorebook, basketballs, rosin (stickum), and the warm-up jackets are all in their proper places.

Al's love for sports is evidenced by the fact that he has been on Stout's football squad for the past two years. He is a husky, six foot lad who played center and guard on his high school grid team. In his senior year, Brownie played no small part in helping his team win the Middle Border championship on the basis of an undefeated season.

Among Al Brown's hobbies he includes "tinkering" with his car, and whiling away his time with his girl friend, Mary Lou. He also likes hamburgers with onions, pinocle, and the soft seats in the union. His biggest dislike is the beating Wisconsin takes from Minnesota every year in football. Al's biggest thrill was last year's River Falls-Stout game, when the Stout team held the Falcons high-scoring Nate DeLong to 13 points and won the game.

EUROPEAN MED STUDENTS NEED ASSISTANCE

New York, N.Y. - Dr. Ernst Lauda, Dean of the Medical Faculty of the University of Vienna Medical School, has turned over to CARE a list of 81 neediest students "to whom a CARE package would mean a very great help."

The destitute medical students, struggling to eke out a living while they pursue their studies, were recommended by the Austrian College Students Association, Dr. Lauda explained. "Their need," he wrote, "is apparent alone from the fact that they are released from paying fees for lectures, which are very modest."

Lecture fees at the medical school Austrian mission pointed out in for-are only $4.60 a semester, CARE's warding the report to the non-profit agency's New York headquarters. Yet one out of every nine of some 3000 students enrolled in the medical school cannot pay the fee, the report stated.

Among them was 25-year-old Gertrude Hubner, now in her final semester after five years at the university. A $10 CARE food package was delivered to her small, dingy room at Wien XIX, Pyrkerstrasse 29. What would food mean to her?

"Now I can buy a pair of shoes," she said.

BOWLING NEXT SPORT FOR WAA MEMBERS

Bowling was chosen as the WAA sport for this month at an organizational meeting on Monday, March 13. Rachel Dautermann is the head of bowling, and Bea Anderson is her assistant. The fee is ten cents a line for WAA members and twenty cents a line for non-members. Anyone who signs up and does not bowl or send a substitute will have to pay a fine of twenty cents. Mrs. Philip Ruehl and Mrs. Don Fahrman will be on hand to help with the bowling.

LOCAL MAN TO SPEAK ABOUT ALCOHOLISM

"Alcoholism: A Personal Tragedy and National Problem" is to be the topic of Austin Ripley's talk, which will be given at convocation on Wednesday, March 29, at 10 o'clock.

Ripley, who once forced the problem of alcoholism, now works actively for Alcoholics Anonymous and travels extensively giving talks such as he will present before the Stout student body Wednesday.

Living near Colfax, Wisconsin, Mr. Ripley counsels many people around his vicinity and tries to help them when they are in need of aid.

Mr. Ripley is said to be a very dynamic speaker and he is speaking on a topic of much concern to the entire nation. All students are urged to be present and hear what he has to say.

AUSTIN RIPLEY LECTURES ON ALCOHOLISM

"Alcoholism: Personal Tragedy and National Problem" was the topic of the speech given by Austin Ripley at convocation Wednesday.

Austin Ripley at present is established with a nationally known magazine. He speaks from experience as he was once an alcoholic himself.

Throughout his entire lecture, Mr. Ripley followed through the life of an alcoholic.

Alcoholism is a sickness of the mind, body, and soul and can only be cured to the extent that the alcoholic involved must never indulge in a drink again Mr. Ripley said.

The underlying cause of alcoholism is emotional immaturity, the speaker noted. There are many other minor causes such as economic insecurity, fear, pampering, and weak control of the nervous system.

The medical physician, the psychiatrist, and the church are unable to get rid of this tragedy. The most successful group in aiding the alcoholic is the Alcoholic Anonymous Fellowship that understands people who are alcoholics, the speaker said. They help get at the seat of the trouble and make those who are alcoholics realize just what the latter are doing and unless they admit that they are alcoholics they can not be helped.

Mr. Ripley was indeed a fine speaker and did a fine job of portraying to the students just what the problem is with which the nation is faced.

TRUSTEES HEAR REPORT BY PRESIDENT

Discussion of the campus street closing project, action on faculty matters, and appointment of persons to the summer session faculty were items of business before The Stout Institute Board of Trustees, as they heard President Fryklund's quarterly report in Milwaukee on March 27.

Board members were informed by Dr. Fryklund that bids for closing streets on the Stout campus are now being advertised and that the bids will be opened on April 15. The project is expected to be well under way within the next 60 days.

Matters of faculty concern which came before the board included a request for retirement this June, submitted by Daniel Green, associate professor of industrial education. Mr. Green has taught mechanical drawing at Stout since September, 1924. President Fryklund recommended that his request be granted and spoke of his faithful service to the college.

Promotion of Lloyd Whydostek, acting head of the printing department after W. R. Baker's death, to headship of the department was also approved by the board.

In order to meet summer school staff requirements, the Trustees approved appointment of the following persons: Dr. Claude H. Ewing, director of the Chicago Vocational school; Richard Iblson, Indiana University; Allan Powalek, Ball State Teachers college; Theodore Pierson, Salem (Oregon) public schools; H. W. Teichroew, St. Paul Vocational school; and Herbert Bast, Sheboygan School of Vocational and Adult Education.

President Fryklund pointed out to the Board the valuable assistance provided Stout each year by Clarence Greiber, Director of Vocational Education for Wisconsin. The President told the Trustees that the arrangement expedited Stout's service to Wisconsin vocational teachers and allowed Mr. Greiber's staff to have longer contacts with the college than would be possible by visitations.

The Trustees also discussed plans for a new library at Stout with Mr. Roger Kirchhoff, state architect, who appeared before Board.

The Board approved the quarterly budget for the fourth quarter of the year 1949-50.

BRING IN TV STICKERS, RAISE THERMOMETER

Easter vacation offers Stout a new lift in the drive for more Flame Room coffee stickers.

The few days that are spent at home can be very beneficial to the drive. Introducing the coffee to your friends, calling on your favorite grocery store with a sticker card, and using Flame Room in the home will boost the card above the halfway point.

Think of it, only two more stickers per person attending Stout will boost the total to 5000 stickers.

If everyone makes it a point to bring back 5 stickers, the TV drive will be out of the spring slump and well on the way to the top.

Remember this—that poor old thermometer in the H E building is getting mighty tired of just standing there. It was heard said that one day the mercury inside the poor thing was about to turn to coffee in a last drastic attempt of raising the level.

So, turn your stickers into the SSA office as soon as possible.

STOUT SKI CLUB GOES TO CONVENTION

Four members of the ski club are going to the central Ski Association convention, being held at La Crosse on April 2 and 3. They are John Row, Charles Banks, John Holmberg, and Allen Ellingson. They will attempt to get the Central Intercollegiate Combined championships in Menomonie next winter.

A colored ski film, running 30 minutes in length will be shown by the club in the auditorium during the noon hour of April 5.

SCF TO SPONSOR TWO HOUR MOVIE APRIL 2

"King of Kings," a 12 reel movie depicting the life of Jesus Christ, will be presented by the Stout Christian Fellowship on Palm Sunday, April 2, at 2 p.m. in the school auditorium. This Cecil B. DeMille production, having a running time of two hours, is particularly appropriate for the Easter season. There will be no regular admission charge, but a free-will offering will be taken to help defray the film expense. Every one is welcome to attend.

DEAN KIRK'S OFFICE PAINTED, REDECORATED

A deep blue color has supplanted the light beige, which was the original color of Dean Kirk's office. Painters have been working for the last few days giving the office a "new face" of two coats of paint.

Not only has there been a change in color, but also there have been changes in the furnishing of the office. The conference table, which was originally in the outer office, is now at the farther end of the office, and the Chinese embroidery wall hanging, which formerly hung over the desk of Mrs. Ruth Sveum, secretary to Dean Kirk, now hangs over Dean Kirk's desk. Also added was a yellow and light brown striped, slip-covered chair, which now resides opposite the Dean's desk.

In order to execute a color scheme of wine and deep blue, wine tape will replace the white tape now on the venetian blinds and a wine rug will complete the scheme.

CARD PARTY FOR ALL TO BE HELD APRIL 15

The Arts and Crafts club announced recently that they would hold an All-school card party on Saturday, April 15, in the Stout gym.

Cards and tables will be prepared and partners arranged so that all attending card players may play whatever game they choose.

Prizes prepared by the club members at their regular work meetings, which include many fine leather articles, plastic salad spoon and fork sets, and many other fine articles, will be presented to game winners.

A door prize, consisting of a framed portrait of the winner, to be taken and mounted by Warren Barberg, will be given to the holder of the winning ticket.

SSA MESSAGE

Greetings from your new SSA officers:

By now, the old officers are just finding out the finer details about the big job ahead and with the carnival, Student Governing Board election, and the NSA assembly, there is work to do.

The first item of importance is the All-School Carnival, held tomorrow afternoon and evening—one day only. The "S" club, under the new president Don Gee, is doing a fine job of making final arrangements for the carnival. Items for the White Elephant Auction are still much in demand; put your contribution in the white boxes in the H. E. corridor and the Union. The SSA is sponsoring a free dance in conjunction with the carnival. Let's all attend the carnival and help to make it a big success.

Another item of importance is selecting new Student Governing Board representatives. By now, each class should have met and nominated eight candidates as class representatives. Four of these candidates will be screened by the Student Governing Board. Two of the remaining four will then be elected by the student body as a whole. These new representatives will attend Board meetings as observers for the remaining of the year.

And last, but not least, is the Wisconsin Regional NSA Assembly to be held at Stout April 21-22-23. Here's a swell chance for students at Stout to get to know NSA at least on a regional basis. Any number of visitors are welcome. Save that weekend for the NSA Assembly plus the free NSA dance being sponsored by the SSA on Saturday evening.

In conclusion, remember that the SSA officers are your representatives. Tell them your gripes; maybe they can do something about them.

Here's hoping for a successful year of student government.

Warren Barberg
SSA President

NEW CAPS FOR MILK SERVED IN CAFE

The shiny new aluminum caps seen on the milk bottles in the cafeteria are as sterile and sanitary as the glass bottle itself. They are non-porous, non-fibrous and non-absorbent. The milk is sealed, air tight, in the bottle by the addition of the aluminum caps which cover the pouring lip of the bottle at all times. All such caps are approved by the American Medical Association and The United States Public Health Service.

Menomonie has a new city ordinance requiring the capping of milk and milk products be done by approved mechanical equipment; hand capping is prohibited. The cap or cover shall cover the pouring lip to at least its largest diameter. Machine capping of milk and milk products prevents contamination by handling. Any milk seeping out cannot go back into the bottle.

The new bottle caps are easily removed by grasping the bottle with one hand, placing palm of the other hand, fingers extended, on top of cap. With a little downward pressure, turn cap about a quarter turn. Do not grip or squeeze cap, just lift one side first as if the cap were hinged. If removed properly the cap retains original shape, enabling the cap to be replaced; tipping will not spill the milk.

PA EASTER SALE MONDAY, TUESDAY

Who will have the lucky number to win the Pallas Athene Easter basket? The "Easter Basket" will be the outstanding feature of the PA Easter sale beginning Monday, April 3, and lasting through 5 p.m. Tuesday, April 4, at which time the number will be drawn.

A stick of gum will accompany each bid of ten cents toward the Easter basket. The basket's content is that of several Easter delicacies and treats which are enjoyable and pleasing.

The sale will include a large selection of baked goodies, candies, and home sewed articles made by the Pallas Athenes.

Why don't you and your friends patronize the sale by buying some of the items of interest and take them home for Easter?

NEXT STOUTONIA ISSUE THURSDAY, APRIL 20

Due to the Easter vacation which begins on Wednesday, April 5, the Stoutonia will not be published next week. The next issue of this college paper will be Thursday, April 20. This coming issue will come out a day early due to the fact that the printers are leaving on their annual field trip on Thursday morning. So remember the next issue of the Stoutonia will be on Thursday, April 20.

Here we would like to wish the entire student body, faculty, administration and everyone connected with the college a very Happy Easter.

PHI U ALUMNI ASKED TO SEND IN ADDRESSES

For preparation of a national directory of Phi Upsilon Omicron members, Tau chapter has been asked to complete a directory of its own members to be ready for the national editor at Conclave held in June this year. Alumni members of the Stout chapter are asked to send in information to help historian compile addresses for the directory.

The alphabetical information has been requested in this order: last name, husband's initials, maiden name, chapter, year of graduation, present address.

Cards, requesting this information, have been mailed to every alumni member whose address is in the local files. However, since the files are incomplete, a general appeal for information is being printed in the Stoutonia.

"Do you know of any alumni whose address we might not have? If you have not been contacted, or know of any other alumni member whom we might have been unable to contact, will you please place the above requested information on a postcard and mail it to: Mrs. Virginia Grundsted, Historian, 100-9th Ave., Menomonie, Wisconsin. With your cooperation, Tau chapter will be able to complete an accurate, up-to-date directory of all its members." This is the request of Phi U president, Ruth Ann Christensen.

YWCA TO HOLD SUNRISE SERVICE APRIL 4

The annual sunrise service, sponsored by the YWCA, will be held April 4 in the clubrooms above the union. The service will begin at 7:00 a.m. and will be finished in time for eight o'clock classes. April 4 is the day before Easter vacation.

Tickets are being sold by all YWCA members. They can also be obtained from church organization presidents. The price is fifteen cents. Dorothy Messerschmidt is chairman of the breakfast and Carol Radtke is chairman of the worship service.

Did you miss the performance of "Double Door" last night? If you did, then why not get yourself a ticket right now for tonight's performance! It won't cost you a cent—just show your SSA card to the ticket seller in the hall of the HE building—and you're sure to enjoy yourself.

It's been a long time since a good three-act play has been presented at Stout for all-school entertainment. So, the Manual Arts Players are presenting one they think you'll like. It has enough true-to-life action and mystery to interest all who enjoy stage plays. And, if you have never attended a theater production or seen a stage play, come and enjoy your friends' and classmates' rendition of this well-written play.

The stage scenery and properties used in this production have many unique innovations that the production staff feel will add to your enjoyment. All undesirable seats in the auditorium have been discarded so that all can see and hear.

After the performance, why not come up and visit the cast and inspect the setting. See what makes a play click and what the production of a play includes. The Manual Arts Players are very anxious for your opinion so that they can plan for future entertainment features.

MR. WEINLICK TALKS TO GRADS AND SENIORS

Mr. H. C. Weinlick, field representative of the Wisconsin Education Association, was the special speaker at a meeting of senior and graduate students on Wednesday, March 29.

As an introduction, Mr. Weinlick quoted statistics which showed that in 1947, Russia spent a larger percentage of its money on education than did the United States. He continued to say that we need to be alert and progressive in order to "hold our own." He was very emphatic about the importance of publicizing education, especially through the medium of newspapers and magazines.

Mr. Weinlick went on to interpret some of the Wisconsin educational laws. First of all, he believes, every teacher's contract should provide for five days of sick leave per year, with pay, accumulative to 30 days. Secondly, after a teacher has reached the age of 25, six percent of his salary is to be withheld for retirement.

Next Mr. Weinlick recommended that seniors and graduate students secure their teaching licenses just as soon as they have signed contracts for the next year. By law, a teacher is not entitled to any pay until he has shown his license to the board of education of the system in which he is employed.

Group health and accident insurance for teachers is becoming increasingly popular, and Mr. Weinlick went on to explain it somewhat. This program was started during the war in many of the city systems in order to compete with the attractive offers of industry. If a teacher takes out the insurance during his first 60 days of teaching, he is asked no health questions whatsoever. The rate per year, for one person without dependents, is about $46.

Retirement was another subject explained briefly by the W.E.A. representative, as well as the proposed social security plan for teachers.

Continuing, Mr. Weinlick spoke about the new contract law now in effect in Wisconsin. This law, called the "Continuing Contract Law," provides that if a teacher is to be hired for the following year, he is to be offered a contract, in writing, by April 1. By law, this contract must be returned by April 15.

In conclusion, Mr. Weinlick told of advantages received through membership in the Y.E.A., which includes a subscription to the W.E.A. Journal and the privilege of attending the annual state convention in Milwaukee.

EASTER MESSAGE

Easter time is here again. To all of us here on the campus it means a time when the wheels of education grind to a halt and we have an opportunity to forget school and enjoy a week in our respective homes. To our small brothers and sisters at home, Easter means the coming of the Easter rabbit. We probably will have as much fun watching them hunt for the proverbial Bunny's generosity as they have in the search. And if we read chapter fifteen of the book of Saint Mark in the Bible, the complete Easter story is unfolded in words that no author has been able to equal.

In this modern world of today, many people have the tendency to forget the real meaning of Easter; we, however, cannot afford to make this grievous mistake. Our life is based on Christianity and we should observe Good Friday and Easter Sunday in worship at our respective church. So when we go home for Easter vacation, let's not forget what Easter time is really suppose to mean to us. Then we'll come back to the campus refreshed spiritually and physically.

—D. L.

HIT ON THE HEAD

Danger!
Heavy, heavy hangs over thy head!

And where is this danger? Why it's on the first floor of the Stout auditorium when the thoughtless "characters" in the balcony above load the balcony railing with coats, overshoes, slide rules, and books which can come tumbling down at the slightest provocation.

To date, two students have been struck by falling articles; fortunately, however, neither was seriously injured. Nevertheless the situation is dangerous and should be corrected. And the solution is easy—Let's all of us stop using the railing of the auditorium balcony as a catch-all for items which we shouldn't bring to the auditorium or, if we must carry them, which we should put on the floor.

And while we're improving things in the auditorium, why don't we go one step further in keeping the premises as presentable as possible? Let's keep our feet off the seat backs, seat arms, and railings. If we do, we can cut down the maintenance required and still have an auditorium which we are proud to show to the public.

Greetings

Only 128 hours left from noon today until the Easter vacation officially starts. That isn't too long to wait in spite of all the hard work left before us.

Before we get too far along in discussing people, we would like to make an apology to the cheerleader we mentioned in last week's article. Through an error on our part we left out a word which changes the meaning of the sentence to a great extent. If you will remember we said "Too bad the girls can't find men to go out with." This should have had Stout in it so that it read "Too bad the girls can't find Stout men to go out with." We hope that the cheerleader will forgive us for this drastic oversight.

Robert Hartig has been passing out big stogies this past week. Seems Bob's wife gave birth to a 10 pound baby boy, appropriately named Robert A. Hartig, Jr. Congratulations and best wishes on your new arrival.

Noticed Gene Landgraf and Bev Struck strolling together these past few weeks. Also saw them at the cinema last weekend. Wonder why Gene is taking out freshman girls. His taste used to go for higher levels of education.

Noticed Cassnova Frank Tank making the rounds last weekend. Friday night he was out with Joan Braun while doubling with Burt Jaeger and Pauline Zweifel, and Sunday at the SSA show with Barb Lovering. And some of us can't even get one girl to go out with us. By the way, Barb Lovering has broken off her engagement with Francis Perrigous. Barb returned his ring to him last week. Take notice fellows.

This may be old news to most of you kids, but speaking of couples breaking up I thought I'd mention Dick VanDuzee and Marge Wisemiller. They broke up two or three weeks ago. Did some say that spring is here???

Saw quite a few married couples at the dance Saturday night. Glen Brodin took his wife out in their new Stude convertible. He even broke down and took his wife to the dance. A couple of the other couples that were also at the dance are Torval Hendrickson and wife, and Charles Mueller and wife.

CLARIFICATION OF POLICIES FOR NSA

What does NSA mean by Student Rights and Academic Freedom? NSA believes that certain conditions and guarantees should exist on the college campus to insure the freedom of inquiry, research and opinion essential to the educational process in a democracy. These guarantees, outlined in the association's by-laws, are not presented as absolute standards required of each of NSA's members but as goals to be striven for and as criteria to be followed in the judgment of individual appeals brought before NSA. NSA believes that the ability of a man to teach and the qualification of a student to learn, should be based primarily upon the character and qualities of the individual.

Does NSA engage in political activity? NSA is prohibited by its constitution from participating in "partisan political activity" in all levels of the association. NSA adheres strictly to that principal. Some academic freedom program, may be construed as "political". Such programs are based upon the broad aims of the association and are not geared to the support of a particular political party or doctrine. NSA does stand opposed to any political doctrine which would stifle free and democratic education in the United States.

What is NSA's policy on discrimination? NSA's goal is the eventual elimination of all forms of discriminatory educational systems anywhere in the United States. The association's program is geared along educational lines, seeks to influence the attitudes of committees concerned rather than to coerce them, and provides for the development of programs on Saw Ed McMahon and his girl Barbara at the APO dance last Saturday night. They sure make a nice couple. Warren Barberg escorted Jean Bulmer to the gala affair. Warren also had another interest that night, his one and only, old faithful camera. Don Straw and his finance, Elaine Speicher made a grand entrance to the APO shindig.

Faye Lehner and Dean Frey are sure going pretty steady. They were at the dance Saturday night and really looked miles away.

We hear that Bob Christianson is planning to join the army. Oh, well, guess some fellows will never learn. Seriously through, if this is true, we wish you the best of luck.

Hold it. Just got news of another birth over the weekend. Jim Norris is the proud papa this time. His wife gave birth to a nine pound baby girl. Congratulations.

Guess who else we saw Saturday night? Pete Schellinger and Joan Davidson were out. Spring must be here. Guess Joan and Pete are coming out of hibernation.

We've been noticing a sparkle in Jean Carswell's eyes these past few weeks. Don't know his name, but they sure make a nice couple.

We hear that John Myers was finally victorious. It seems that John and Pauline Zweifel had a slight argument over a table lamp. Understand that John finally got his lamp back from Pauline.

We bumped into Dale Digerness, Sam Basile, Martin Conway, and Cully Johnson Saturday night. Also saw them Sunday morning drinking black coffee. hmmm.

Jim Miller is getting back into circulation again. He was out with Rita Kane Friday night. We're looking forward to seeing more of these two people together.

We can't dig up much more for this week. That Easter ham is taking our mind off of our work. Perhaps we'll be able to have more for you after we return from our vacation.

Hope everyone will have a good Easter vacation and come back in one piece. See you all after the holidays.

YMCA DESIRES SENIORS FOR CAMP POSITIONS

The YMCA office in Minneapolis has requested the names of students who are interested in YMCA secretaryships. The call is for seniors, but underclassmen who are interested are invited to check up on the opportunities available to qualified men. A limited number of women graduates are also taken into YMCA work.

Those interested are urged to see Dean Price for further information. The camps where positions are to be filled are located in the North Central states of Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, North Dakota, and Wisconsin.

the local and regional level "to implement its stated principles with regard to the legal limitations involved."

What is NSA's policy towards student government? NSA believes that democratic student government is an important factor in the training of students for their ultimate responsibilities as citizens in the community. NSA does not set itself up above student governments on the campus, but rather seeks to "stimulate and improve" democratic student government.

What are NSA's relations with other student organizations? NSA has no organizational ties with any of the many religious, political, social and professional student groups throughout the country. It does, however, consult with them informally on projects of mutual concern. NSA has greeted many of these groups on the occasion of their national conferences and provided speakers and observers on several occasions in behalf of the association. On the campus level it has encouraged its NSA groups to cooperate with all student organizations on NSA projects of interest to their various local chapters.

COOS BY WALLY PIGEON

At the time I was writing this, spring was still in the far-away future, and I was immediately hit by a brain storm. This overtaxing of my "little" brain cell created the following theory: I think that you readers have noticed that the season of spring is usually represented by a woman; well, I think that this representation is correct not only in the sense of beauty, but also another factor should be considered. This factor is that a woman is usually late in keeping an appointment! Yes!

A fashion promoter has lately come out with a new fad which is called an "aid to beauty." This aid is named "doe eyes," and it has some very frightening possibilities of making women highly painted spectacles! I just wonder what would happen to some woman who had her face painted if she would happen to encounter rain storm. I think that after such an incident, she would more or less resemble a flashy Easter egg. In fact, "a flash in the pan" would be the definition. Now women worry about a run in their stockings and if they would use

With the greatest dignity possible, the drunk answered: "I'm holding this building up, officer."

"Holding the building up, are you?" replied the officer very sarcastically, and he immediately raised his nightstick threateningly.

And the drunk staggered away—with that—WHAM—down came the building.

A starved woman had just brought her husband to court.

"Judge, I am bringing charges against my husband because he's so cruel. His job is that of a hypnotist and just before every meal he always hypnotizes me and turns me into a canary and gives me bird seeds to eat and nothing else."

"Is that true?" asked the judge.

"Yes, your honor, it is true," answered the husband. "But she can still consider herself lucky. I could just as easily turn her into a sparrow and then she would have to go out and hunt her own food."

EASTER BUNNY TO STOP 400 AT MENOMONIE

The "400" will stop at Menomonie on April 5 for Stout students and faculty who are homeward bound for Easter vacation. The "400" will also stop April 12 to return students and faculty to Stout.

Those planning to take the "400" are advised to purchase their tickets well in advance at the Menomonie City depot. If this is done, any confusion or tieups can be avoided at Menomonie Junction just before train time.

As usual the City Bus and Baggage Line will transport passengers to and from the Menomonie Junction. On April 5 the first trip will leave the Second street entrance of the Home Economics building at 3:00 p.m.

SIGMA TAU SPONSORS ELECTION OF OFFICERS

John Poellinger was officially installed last night as president-elect of Sigma Tau Gamma, national social fraternity, for the coming year, assuming the duties vacated by retiring president Milton J. Miller.

Other officers installed at the annual ceremonies were vice president, Russ Larson; recording secretary, Bohumil Holub; corresponding secretary, Henry Tall; treasurer, Armin Gerhardt; chaplain, Charles Jorgensen; sentinel, Charles Schiferl; historian, Henry Roesler; saga and Stoutonia reporter, Jim Brown.

Retiring officers are Milton Miller, Don Gee, Warren Barberg, Don Fahrman, Marilyn Tibbits, Bud Ryder, Bill Banks, Bohumil Holub, and Henry Tall.

Business transacted at the meeting a week ago was, in part, awarding of the activities key to John Poellinger, and the official surrender of the organization's date on the school calendar for April 22, so that the SSA may give a free, all-school dance on the date of the National Student Governing board conventions being held at Stout that weekend.

Organization personals were noted in Don Gee, newly elected president of the "S" club, and the departure of Herb Meisner, '48 grad. to Texas, to accept a position with the Delta corporation.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA HAS ELECTION

Alpha Phi Omega held its election of officers at a regular meeting on March 21. New officers are as follows: James Gehrke, president; George Kinster, vice president; James Haas, secretary; Don Straw, treasurer; Les Duenk, corresponding secretary; Robert Ohm, historian; Roger Randall, alumni secretary; and David Randall, sergeant at arms.

Faculty advisers are Merle M. Price, Herbert A. Anderson, Guy Salyer, K. T. Olsen, and Dwight D. Chinnock. The local scouting adviser is Phillip J. Johnson.

Alpha Phi Omega also drew up a tentative program for the numerous activities which it expects to undertake during the next school term.

SCF HOLDS MEETING; ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

A Bible discussion on "Jesus and the Woman of Samaria" and election of officers were included in the meeting of Stout Christian Fellowship on Wednesday, March 22, at 7:15 p.m. in room 122, HE building.

After Bob Marsh had concluded the first part of the discussion from John 1:1-42, which will be continued at the next meeting Wednesday, March 29, the election of officers was held. Bob Marsh was elected president; Donna Gardiner, vice president; Jeanette Bolles, secretary; and Keye Loper, treasurer. Also elected were Ramona Rathbun, librarian, and Betty Johansen, historian.

Previous to the meeting the executive committee composed of Duane Lebague, president; Mary Reid, vice president; Bernice Habeck, secretary; and Donna Gardiner, treasurer, and two elected representatives of the group formulated the slate of candidates which was modified by nominations from the floor. Informal group pictures were taken after the election.

Instead of meeting in the third floor club room of the gym building as had been announced, SCF will continue to hold the regular meetings in room 122, HE building, and use the third floor club room for the special monthly meeting every second Wednesday of the month.

NEW SSA OFFICERS TAKE OVER DUTIES

The new SSA officers have taken posts along with the present officers on Monday of this past week.

During this period of one semester the new officers will be made familiar with the tasks they will take over on their own next fall.

The following students, elected by secret ballot during the day of March 16, are accepting offices for a term of one year: the presidency goes to Warren Barberg, a junior who hails from Cabato, Minn.; the vice-president's office is to be filled by Dorothy Krushas of Milwaukee, Wis.; the new secretary for the next term will be Jean Archie of Watertown, Wis.; and the job of handling the SSA funds is in the capable hands of Donald Braem, who is a junior from Marshfield, Wis.

WSF HOLDS ELECTION OF NEW OFFICERS

Election of officers was held last week at Wesley Student Fellowship meeting, and the slate presented by the nominating committee was accepted with the exception of three offices.

Chosen as president was Wayne Coleman, to succeed Lorton Layman, last year's president. Other officers selected were, vice president, George Stegman; secretary-treasurer, Grace Duchow; food chairman, Fred Kajihara; worship chairman; Shirley Evans; recreation chairman, Paul Rauth; publicity chairman, Jim Brown; missions, Noreen Kahl; membership chairman, John Cook; state council representative, Shirley Doner.

The election was the main item on the program, and programs for future dates were discussed.

Retiring officers are, Lorton Layman, Shirley Doner, Ruth Johnson, Wayne Coleman, Noreen Kahl, Jo Ann Graney, Caroline Blaine, Lester Duenk, and Selmer Drolsom.

LYNWOOD TO PRESENT SKIT ON APRIL 5

The annual Lynwood Hall dramatic production this year entitled "Dorm Life," postponed for some weeks due to a conflict in the use of the auditorium for rehearsals, is now scheduled to be held on April 5, at the regular 10:00 a. m. convocation period in the auditorium.

That is the last day of school before the Easter vacation, and the dorm residents have expressed hopes of giving a performance that will send their classmates home for the Easter vacation with fond recollections. Those who remember last year's skit will remember the effective, more-or-less spontaneous way in which it was presented, and, according to reports from Bill Ludke and Ray Stasiluk, this year's general chairmen, the 1950 edition should be somewhat of the same nature - only taking in a somewhat broader area.

SARDINE PARTY HELD BY PA'S

Pallas Athene society got in the swim of it on Thursday, March 23, when they had their traditional sardine party at Dr. Marshall's apartment. This annual event is called the sardine party because it is difficult to pack so many PA's in an apartment the size of Dr. Marshall's.

In keeping with the theme, the newest PA's who always sponsor this party, constructed paper sardine cans as invitations. After everyone had arrived, a short business meeting was held to elect officers for the ensuing year. The four officers who were elected are Rose Grzadzilewski, president; Noreen Kahl, vice president; Roberta Hutchison, secretary; Beverly Hedlund, treasurer.

Upon completion of the business meeting, a humorous skit was presented interpreting social life. Then under the direction of JoAnn Graney, the group played several games. Refreshments consisting of egg salad sandwiches, watermelon pickles, crackers spread with sardine paste, chocolate cake, and coffee were served.

General chairman of plans for the party was Pat Krause; she also directed the skit. Beverly Hedlund and Roberta Hutchison were in charge of refreshments. Games were the responsibility of JoAnn Graney.

APO TO HAVE SALE OF PROJECT BLUEPRINTS

On Monday and Tuesday, April 3 and 4, the sale of blueprinted project plans will start in the HE corridor. The tracings for the blueprints were drawn by the various members of Alpha Phi Omega as a service project which would be of value to the graduating seniors especially. The fraternity feels that a set of these blueprints would be very valuable to a man when he starts out on his first job.

At the present time, there are two series of blueprints available. Each series contains twenty blueprints and will sell for $1.00. A typical series will contain approximately 2 lamps, 2 metal projects, 2 or 3 woodturning projects, 3 cabinet-making projects, 3 craft projects (plastics, leather, etc.), and 7 or 8 simple wood projects.

The fraternity plans to make this a permanent project and hopes that by next year, two or three additional series of new plans will be available.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY "S" CLUB

The "S" club held its annual election of officers last week. The officers took over their post as soon as they were elected. The offices were filled as follows: president, Don Gee; vice-president, Ruel Fleming; treasurer, Hilary Janikowski; secretary, Russel Pollock; sergeant at arms, Dale Digeress; historian, Eugene Weigle.

PHI U NEWS LETTER TO BE MAILED THIS WEEK

This week the Phi Upsilon Omicron news letter will be in the mail, addressed to all of the alumni of the Stout chapter. In charge of the letter this year are Margaret Perman and Rosella Trangsud, co-editors. This letter, a yearly project of the organization, has formerly been sent out in two issues, one containing the professional news and the other the social news of the chapter and its members. It was decided that this year the letter would be compiled in one issue combining all of the news.

The news letter, bound in a black cover with a block print of the Stout tower, will include news such as the initiation of the new members in the chapter, the inspection of the chapter by the district council, and the combination meetings with the Epsilon Pi Tau and the Home Economics club. Also to be included in the letter will be a complete description of the work done thus far on the movie of Stout being sponsored jointly by the Phi U and the EPT.

JUNIOR CLASS TO HAVE PROM SUGGESTION BOX

Here is something everyone should think about and act upon very soon. Word has been received from Clancey Urankar, junior class president, that a suggestion box will be placed in front of the library in the corridor where the students will be able to place their suggestions for a theme to decorate the Armory for the Junior Prom, to be held on Saturday May 6.

For the winning suggestion, the winner will receive two tickets to the prom. Some cautions to remember in thinking about the theme are safety and fire precautions. Also the cost of decorating to the particular theme must be considered.

Above all, drop your suggestions in this box so that the best one may be chosen. Success is possible only with a great response from the student body.

WORK PROGRESSING ON NEW CATALOGUE

Work on the Regular Session Catalogue is still progressing. The catalogue proofs have been revised and the pages are now being made up. The catalogue should be ready for the presses in another week, reports the Stout print shop.

"Dear Madame Editor—"

OPEN LETTER TO PAPER CONCERNS POLICIES

During the past few weeks, there has been some controversy as to the policy of the Stoutonia. And, evolving from the discussions, the following open letter was received in our office three weeks ago. We did not publish it immediately in order to allow enough time for a reporter to contact all persons involved and get their written reactions and answers. To date, no written answers have been received, so the Stoutonia is alone in answering the charges.

An open letter to the editor of the Stoutonia:

Dear Madam Editor:

There has been much discussion around the campus to the effect that the Stoutonia, the school paper—"a paper to which the administration does not dictate policy"—does not represent the students view point on matters of school policy, which either directly or indirectly affect the student body.

Matters of school (and consequently student) interest which are discussed by the Assembly Lyceum Committee and the Student Governing Board are seldom published by the Stoutonia. Many times these groups are unable to reach a decision on important matters in one meeting. Why not, then, make the matter public (to the school) by a report in the school paper? Recently the Assembly and Lyceum committee—which incidentally has only two student members—was unable to reach a decision about what to do with some eight hundred odd dollars which it had. The said committee recommended to the Student Governing Board that the money be used to "help" fix up the stage. The Student Governing Board rejected the proposal and in turn recommended that the money be used to buy a new movie projector for the auditorium. When the Student Governing Board's proposal reached the Assembly and Lyceum committee, the Committee rejected the movie projector proposal. The money now lies dormant. Why not have the members of the committee consult the students, and get some student opinions on a useful disposal of the money? Nothing has appeared in the Stoutonia about this matter.

Another point about which there has been much discussion is student government here at Stout. On paper the Student Governing Board is excellent; it is well organized, coordinated, and objectively representative. However, in practice the Board has little actual power. The board may not take any action on matters of school policy. Its powers are limited to matters which concern students directly; and in the past, when an issue came up where there was a conflict between students and administration, the Board—in one major case at least—decided to uphold the administration in spite of the fact that they knew that the students had broken no rules and had done nothing for which they could be legally reprimanded. Don't misunderstand this criticism; I think that the President has done much to promote good student government at Stout and that he is to be commended for his efforts; however, I think that the Student Governing Board should be given more powers and should, at all times, vote for what it believes is right for those persons concerned with the issue. Perhaps the Stoutonia, through a series of articles, could help achieve these things.

We need a new library for Stout. The money has been appropriated and all the plans have been laid. For some reason or other though, the state architect has not yet given his approval to go ahead on the project. Publicity from the Stoutonia could, conceivably, help Stout get its new library before our grandchildren become of age.

There are many other points which could be brought up, but there is neither time nor space to present them all here. Many members of the faculty and the administration seem to be of the opinion that the students at Stout are naive, that they are to be treated and handled like high school students. Perhaps the reason for this is that those persons who hold that opinion of the students have never given the students an opportunity to fully express themselves. Let's prove that the Stoutonia is not run by the administration or faculty.

Respectfully,
Lee Flanders

"HIDE-AWAY" IS SCENE OF KFS INITIATION

The KFS fraternity held their annual formal initiation, Thursday, March 23. The initiation took place at the "Hide-Away." New members formally initiated were Dominic Cataldi, Larry Mosher, and Bert Jaeger.

Advisers and guests who were present were A. G. Brown, Ralph Berkeley, and Merle M. Price. T-Bone steaks, French fried potatoes, salad, and relishes made up the menu which was served previous to the initiation.

ANNEX GIVES SURPRISE PARTY FOR MRS. ADAMS

At 12:30 on Friday, March 24, the Annex girls quietly gathered around the balconies. At 12:32 the dorms rang with song as the girls wished a "Happy Birthday" to Mrs. Adams, their popular and surprised house-mother.

After the singing, the girls gathered downstairs to present Mrs. Adams with a gift and a birthday cake. A lunch of ice cream, cake, and cookies was served; afterward the girls went back to their rooms tired but happy.

SEVERSON ELECTED YW PREXY FOR NEXT YEAR

Election of officers for next year for the YWCA was held at a meeting on Tuesday, March 28, at 7:00 p.m. in the third floor club room of the gym building. Bette Severson became president; Jean Van Liew, vice president; Mary Lou Groom, secretary; and Dorothy Messerschmidt, treasurer. The present officers are Jean Bulmer, president; Eileen Deetz, vice president; Barbara Johnson, secretary; and Bette Severson, treasurer.

OUR ANSWER

We of the Stoutonia staff feel that this letter was prompted through misinformation on the part of all who have discussed the problem.

Therefore, in defense of our efforts, we should like to make the following comments.

First, it is to be understood that the Stoutonia is not solely a student paper, but rather it is a school paper, produced through the combined efforts of both the faculty and the students. Because this is a dual-effort, the paper tries to cover news of interest to all groups in the college.

Because we do not have enough students on the staff to handle all the stories which come in, some stories are overlooked during the rush of each week. This situation, as it is now, has resulted in a certain number of possible story leads being overlooked. This is not a deliberate withholding of news, but is a situation due to circumstances beyond our control.

Secondly, the student governing board and Lyceum committee have both assigned the position of reporter to a member of their group. It is not a matter of refusal, on our part, to print stories of the activities of these groups as much as it is a refusal of these groups to submit stories for publication. Again, the inadequacy of our staff makes it impossible for us to place a member at each meeting of the Lyceum committee or Student Governing board. We requested their cooperation, as we requested the cooperation of all organizations—clubs, fraternities and sororities—in placing one of their members in the position of reporter of publicity chairman, for the purpose of contacting us when they have information for a story, or of writing it up themselves if they wish.

So, as defense against our failure to publish lyceum committee and Student Governing board news, we refer you to them with a "lack of co-operation" stamp from us.

In view of what you have just read, it is the hope of this staff that you will consider the letter, as well as the talk prompted it, the work of misinformation. This is our side of the story!

Excuses you say? Yes, maybe they are, but if you will only stop to realize that we are not in a journalism school—as a matter of fact, only two classes are offered, one in journalism and one in feature writing—you will discover therefore that we are not fully qualified for the task of writing some stories in a manner so that the facts may be understood. Staff members spend many hours every week—leisure hours which could easily be used for rest, entertainment, or studying—to cover as many happenings as possible before the weekly deadline so that you may have your school paper. It's time and effort donated for your conveniences and pleasure.

We are pleased to see that Mr. Flanders put his thoughts on paper and submitted them to us. This shows more initiative than many other persons who have only talked and gossiped without knowing all of the facts and or considering the other side of the question.

As to possible outcomes of this letter, perhaps some of the suggestions and criticisms will be taken to heart and acted upon. We hope that printing Mr. Flanders' letter will not be the end of the matter of student interest in college affairs.

So, in the hope that we have satisfactorily declared our position and straightened out any misinformation,

We remain,
The Stoutonia
Glenn Sommers, reporter

After reading Mr. Sommers' answer, the editor has one short comment to make. The following is a brief definition of a school newspaper—

The Stoutonia is a great publication, The school gets all the fame, The staff gets all the work, The Editor gets all the blame.

SPRING SPORTS START SOON AT STOUT

The change in the weather brings about the starting of spring sports. All sports will soon be getting under way, with the coach for the tennis team being Wallace Hammerberg, and the coach of the golf team Roger Windberg. The baseball squad will probably be coached by Coach Ray Johnson, and the call for players will soon be out.

This year Stout will be participating in two conferences. The Wisconsin State Teachers College Conference will include the ten teachers colleges in the state. The Bi-State conference will include three teams from Wisconsin and three teams from Minnesota. The Wisconsin teams are Stout, Eau Claire Teachers college, and River Falls Teachers college. The Minnesota Teams are Mankato Teachers college, Winona Teachers college, and St. Cloud Teachers college.

The baseball, golf, and tennis teams all travel together when they enter in competition with other schools, and all teams play their respective sports on the same day.

A good turnout is expected in all sports for the spring schedule.

SPRING FOOTBALL

Spring football will be getting started right after the spring vacation. The definite date has not yet been set, but all men will be notified in advance.

Coach Storti says, "All boys are cordially invited to come out, even if they did not come out last fall."

Coach Storti would like to have a fine turnout, so he can get an idea of what to expect for next fall. The men participating in spring football will be drilled in the fundamentals of football.

MRS. FELLOWS SPEAKS TO FRESHMAN CLASSES

Mrs. Lenore Fellows presented a lecture on foundation garments to the freshman clothing selection class on Friday, March 24, at 1:00 p.m. in room 411. Mrs. Fellows is an Iowa State college graduate and has been associated with the Gossard company for the last five years. In her discussion, Mrs. Fellows stressed the importance of good posture and proper selection of foundation garments in maintaining style and beauty.

REMEMBER WHEN

Remember when Hyperian Society opened "Ye old Hiedelberg Inn" in the Harvey Memorial? The results of the SSA elections for the 27th year of SSA activity were as follows: Warren Phillips, president; John Poellinger, vice president; Jean Waltzer, secretary; and John Rowe, treasurer. MAP selected a cast for the two one-act plays to be presented at a Stout convocation. The cast for the one-act play, entitled "Hearts Enduring," included Armin Gerhardt and Lois Heike. The cast for the second one-act play, "Red Carnations," featured Richard Kruger, Lee Flanders, and Beverly Hedlund. The Arts and Crafts club sponsored a special "Basket Dance" in the Stout gym. The girls tried to out-decorate one another as shown by the many attractive baskets that were auctioned off to the highest bidders.

THE FAIR

HYPERIANS OBSERVE FOUNDERS DAY

Founders' day for each of the societies on the Stout campus is a day easily recognized by all students and faculty members. Tuesday, March 21, the members of the Hyperian society observed their Founders' day. Actually March 19 is the Founders' day for the society, but because this was a Sunday, the following Tuesday was designated as the day for honor. As is customary, the girls in the organization wore yellow roses throughout the day in school, and the climax of the daily event was a dinner at the Hotel Marion that evening. In charge of the general arrangements for the day was Joan Davidson, with Alice Billiet assisting in the distribution of the roses.

The dinner program, presided over by the newly-elected president for the next year, Beatrice Sagstetter, included her reading of the history of the organization and the introduction of Miss Clara Carrision, adviser; Dean Antrim; and the Hyperian alumni who were present. Also introduced by Beatrice were the other officers elected for the coming year. They included Barbara Johnson, Dorothy Knutson, and Bette Severson.

STYLE REVIEW HELD IN TEA ROOM

"Clothes Horse Luncheon," an informal dress review, was presented in the tea room on Thursday, March 23. All the garments modeled were made by the models in clothing construction classes this year. The types of clothes included skirts, blouses, summer cottons, casual wool dresses, party clothes, formals, and suits and coats with matching hats. Beverly Brehmer, Jean Bulmer, Anita Clark, Norma Cole, Betty Erickson, Lois Forehand, Nancy Glenn, Nancy Haertlein, Betty Johansen, Hazel Nelson, Joan Staehle, Beverly Struck, and Beth Yount were the models. The commentator was Dorothy Krushas.

KFS HOLDS ELECTIONS FOR NEXT YEAR

Election of officers was one of the main items on the last meeting's agenda of the KFS fraternity. Bob Houghton, a junior from Manitowoc, Wis., was elected president; Dave Hartzell, also a junior, who hails from Kenosha, Wis., was elected vice prexy; and Ed Paul, another junior, who is from Wauwatosa, Wis., was elected secretary. Dean Frey, the only sophomore elected, comes from Madison, Wis., and will hold the position of treasurer. Vaughn Stai, a junior hailing from Menomonie, fills the position of historian for the coming year and Jim Norris, also a junior, will be the next sergeant at arms.

33 OF FORMER ANNEX MEMBERS ATTEND REUNION

"We are the girls from the Tainter Annex; We are the cause of all the panics, ---" was sung again at the second annual Annex reunion which was attended by 33 out of the original 69 1947-48 Tainter Annex girls and their house mother, Mrs. Gertrude Adams, at the Marion hotel, Saturday evening at 6 p.m.

A strong feeling of unification was enjoyed by all present. The girls honored their former house mother, Mrs. Adams, by presenting her with a corsage of jonquills and sweet peas. A belated birthday wish was also sung to her.

In Mrs. Adams' talk to her first Annex girls, she related some of her experiences and thoughts of her first group. She reminded the girls that they came in the fall when longer skirts came into style, and that they also won the first prize at stunt night in the spring of 1948.

Geraldine Jurwitz played two favorite piano numbers for the girls: Fantasia Impromptu and Claire de Lune. Carol Molner, accompanied by Dorothy Amendt, sang her version of "Take it Slow and Easy." Dorothy Amendt also reread the '49 Annex reunion poem.

The five out-of-town girls gave a short synopsis of their present occupations. They are Miss Frances Fiedler, nurses' training at the University of Minnesota; Miss Shirley Chipman, primary teachers' training at Oshkosh, Wisconsin; Mrs. Robert Smith (Barbara Winn), homemaker with one child; at Two Rivers, Wisconsin; and Mrs. Loren Thomas (Marilyn Uber), homemaker, New Richmond, Wisconsin.

Statistics of the '47-'48 Annex girls show that 19 percent are married, 16 percent are engaged, 4.5 percent have babies, and 4.5 percent are expectant mothers.

Thanks were given to the following girls for making the reunion possible: Shirley Cox and Carolyn Blain, in-

HYPERIANS PRESENT ANNUAL TEA IN HARVEY

The Hyperians presented their annual Old Heidelberg tea in the Harvey Memorial on Wednesday, March 22, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Swinging doors, waitresses in peasant costumes, tables with red and white checked tablecloths, and candlelight produced a rustic atmosphere. Potato chips, pretzels, and popcorn were served with root "beer" and ginger "ale." Piano, clarinet, and piano accordion accompaniment added to the atmosphere. The general chairman was Bea Sagstetter.

visitations; Dorothy Krushas, hotel reservations; Rose Mary Goede, general chairman; and Lois Heike, place cards.

The dinner was concluded by the girls singing their Annex song: "We are the girls from Tainter Annex. We are the cause of all the panics. We came to school, but not for knowledge. We came to find a man in college. The porch is not to kiss good-night, because there is so darn much light. We take our men to the 'parking lot'—any kind of weather, cold or hot. What we do there you can tell my brother, but don't you ever tell my mother. The Prexy's rules are her ideal, but to me they don't appeal."

FOAM RUBBER SUBJECT OF HE CLUB TALK

Miss Irma Winklebach, a home economist with the U. S. Rubber company, was the speaker and demonstrator at the Home Economics club meeting held on Monday, March 27, at 7:15 p.m. in the cafeteria.

Miss Winklebach's topic was uses of foam rubber. U. S. Koylon, trade name for foam rubber, a product of U. S. Rubber, has many and varied uses. It is being used for the making of pillows, mattresses, and in sheet form it has unlimited applications, one being for upholstery.

Section 2. Regional vice-presidents shall be elected from regions established by the four other officers of The Stout Institute Alumni Association in conference with the president and administrative deans of the college.

Section 3. All officers shall be elected by members of the association, with exception of the secretary-treasurer. Section 4. The secretary-treasurer shall be appointed or dismissed by joint action of the other officers of the association in conference with the president and administrative deans of the college.

Section 5. All officers shall be elected to hold a term of office for two years except the secretary of treasurer.

Section 6. OFFICERS SHALL BE DISTRIBUTED ON A FIFTY-FIFTY BASIS AMONG GRADUATES OF THE DIVISIONS OF THE STOUT INSTITUTE, SUCH DISTRIBUTION TO BE MAINTAINED BY THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

Article IV

The Executive Council

Section 1. THERE SHALL BE AN EXECUTIVE COUNCIL CONSISTING OF PRESIDENT, FIRST VICE PRESIDENT, SECOND VICE PRESIDENT, AND SECRETARY-TREASURER. THERE SHALL BE AT LEAST THREE MEMBERS OF SAID EXECUTIVE COUNCIL PRESENT TO FORM A QUORUM, ONE OF WHOM MUST BE THE SECRETARY-TREASURER FOR CARRYING ON SUCH BUSINESS AS THIS COUNCIL IS DESIGNATED TO PERFORM.

Article V

Duties of Officers

Section 1. The president shall be chairman of the executive council; shall preside at all meetings of the association, and shall perform the other duties usual to the position.

Section 2. In the absence of the president, the first vice-president shall preside. In the absence of both president and first vice-president, the second vice-president shall preside. In the absence of the three above officers, any one of the four regional vice-presidents shall preside.

Section 3. The secretary-treasurer as secretary shall keep all the records of the association; shall give notice of all meetings; shall keep the roll of the members; shall carry on the correspondence of the association, shall exhibit the books at any time to any member of the executive council; shall make an annual report of the regular business meeting of the association; shall perform all other duties assigned to him by the executive COUNCIL. In addition, he shall collect and take charge of all revenues of the association and shall disburse money and funds in such a manner and under such conditions as the executive council shall from time to time prescribe.

Section 4. The executive council shall make arrangements for an annual meeting; shall fill for the unexpired term all vacancies occurring by death, resignation or otherwise; shall have supervision of the property and funds of this association; and shall make all laws and regulations not provided for in this constitution.

TRAVEL EXPENSE MONEY FOR ANY ONE YEAR IS TO BE VOTED ON BY THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL. THE SECRETARY-TREASURER AND PRESIDENT ARE TO BE THE OFFICIAL DELEGATES TO A CONVENTION. IF ONE DELEGATE IS TO ATTEND, IT SHALL BE THE SECRETARY - TRASURER. THE OTHER MEMBERS OF THE COUNCIL ARE TO ACT AS ALTERNATES. THREE MEMBERS, ONE OF WHOM MUST BE THE SECRETARY-TREASURER, OF THE COUNCIL SHALL CONSTITUTE A QUORUM.

Section 5. THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL MAY TRANSACT BUSINESS BY CORRESPONDENCE WHENEVER IT IS IMPOSSIBLE FOR THE MEMBERS TO MEET IN PERSON PROVIDED THAT SUCH BUSINESS AS IS TRANSACTED HAS THE WRITTEN APPROVAL OF AT LEAST A QUORUM OF THE MEMBERS OF THE COUNCIL. SUCH ACTION SHALL BE MADE A MATTER OF RECORD BY THE SECRETARY-TREASURER OF THE ASSOCIATION.

Article VI

Committees

Section 1. Committees as are deemed necessary shall be appointed by the president with approval of the executive council. The chairman of such a committee shall be a regional vice-president, whenever possible. Such a committee shall consist of at least two members besides the chairman. Each chairman shall be empowered to enlarge his committee as it is deemed necessary with approval of the president. Each committee shall perform the duties indicated by its name and all other duties required of it by the executive COUNCIL.

Section 2. The executive council shall in each election year appoint an election committee of three persons, none of whom shall be members of the executive COUNCIL or of the election committee.

Section 3. The executive council shall in each election year appoint a nominating committee of three members, none of whom shall be members of the executive COUNCIL or the election committee.

Section 4. THE PRESIDENT SHALL APPOINT AN AUDITING COMMITTEE OF TWO, NEITHER OF WHOM SHALL BE AN OFFICER OF THE ASSOCIATION, WHO SHALL AUDIT THE ACCOUNTS OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER FOR THE FISCAL YEAR, AND REPORT TO THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL AT A TIME DESIGNATED BY THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

Article VII

Meetings

Section 1. The annual meeting of the association shall be held at the place and time as designated by the executive council.

Section 2. The meetings of the association other than the annual meeting shall be held at such time and place and for such purposes as the executive COUNCIL shall from time to time determine. The president shall call a special meeting at the request of fifty members, in which case a notice, stating the object for which it is called, shall be sent to each member of the association at least three weeks prior to the date of the called meeting.

Article VIII

Amendments

Section 1. THIS CONSTITUTION MAY BE AMENDED AT ANY TIME BY A MAJORITY VOTE OF ALL MEMBERS OF THE ASSOCIATION. A NOTICE OF SUCH AMENDMENT INCLUDING A BALLOT SHALL HAVE BEEN SENT TO EACH MEMBER ONE MONTH PRIOR TO THE TIME OF VOTING.

By Laws

Committees

Section 1. The nominating committee shall prepare a slate with nominees for President, First Vice-President, Second Vice-President, and four Regional Vice-Presidents one from each district so indicated Article III, Section 2 for the annual election between APRIL 1 and APRIL 30 and file it with the secretary-treasurer, who in turn will submit it to the election committee.

Section 2. Such slate shall have the names of nominees recommended by the committee, also names submitted on nominating petitions, and it must also make provision for the insertion of names of additional nominees.

Section 3. Nominating petitions for any officers must be signed by at least twenty-five members of the association and endorsed thereon or subscribed thereto by the person in whose behalf such petition is filed. Such petitions must be filed in the office of the secretary-treasurer of the association before APRIL 1 of the election year and submitted by him to the chairman of the nominating committee.

Section 4. THE ELECTION COMMITTEE, IMMEDIATELY AFTER APRIL 15, SHALL PREPARE THE OFFICIAL BALLOT FROM THE REPORT OF THE NOMINATING COMMITTEE.

Section 5. SUCH OFFICIAL BALLOTS SHALL BE MAILED BY THE SECRETARY-TREASURER OF THE ASSOCIATION.

Section 6. Election committee shall close its polls on May 15 of the same year.

Section 7. Election committee shall, after close of said poll, but not before, count the votes and certify the results to secretary-treasurer of the association, who shall enter it in the records of the organization. The secretary-treasurer shall announce such report in the alumni issue of the Stoutonia. All ballots shall be preserved by the election committee for a period of two months after time of publication of results.

Section 8. A majority vote shall constitute an election.

ELECTION HIGHLIGHTED EPT MEETING

Election of officers highlighted the meeting of Theta chapter, Epsilon Pi Tau, Monday night, March 20. Dean Clyde A. Bowman commended the outgoing officers. Committee reports were heard to complete the meeting.

William Malone will take over the post of president, vacated by Warren Thomas; Lewis Mallow succeeds Robert Blaessing as vice president; and Robert Houghton moves up from assistant secretary-treasurer to secretary-treasurer. Gordon Wasinger vacates that post but will continue to aid Mr. Houghton. A new assistant secretary-treasurer will be selected at a later date. Duties of the new officers begin immediately.

Before the election of officers commenced, Dean Bowman, chapter trustee, summarized the events of the past year and commended the retiring officers for a job well done. He emphasized the fact that a tradition of good leadership has been built up in Theta chapter, and that this tradition has been upheld during the past year.

Three committee reports were heard. Lee Bedsted explained to the organization what was being done for the news letter; William Malone reported for the awards committee; and Robert Swanson told of what professional events are being considered for some future meeting.

MISS AMON CHAIRMAN OF PANEL ON ART

Chairman of a panel which will be part of the program of the Western Arts association convention, to be held in Chicago on April 3-6, will be Miss Martha Ruth Amon, head of the art department of The Stout Institute. The panel topic will be "Bridging Barriers for Newcomers in Art" and will take place in the Palmer House.

The Western Art Association is a regional organization composed of persons interested in art in ten states. It is an affiliate of the National Art Education association, which is composed of members from the entire nation.

More than one hundred participants and spectators are expected at the panel which Miss Amon will conduct, and over 1200 delegates will attend the convention as a whole. General topic for the total group is "Bridging Barriers in Art," with separate panels attacking various aspects of the problem of attaining greater cooperation between schools and the public.

Convention planners intend to make wide use of the many art offerings available in Chicago. Special attractions will be shown at such famous art centers as the Chicago Art Institute and the Institute of Design. Coinciding with the association meeting will be a workshop display put on by persons specializing in crafts and designing. Such varied craft fields as metals, draperies, and ceramics will be featured.

PADDED COVERS FOR '50 TOWER GET GO-AHEAD

May 15 Is Set For Tower
Distribution Day This Year
According To Latest Word

A sample cover for the 1950 Tower was received last week and was approved. The Durand cover makers have been given the go-ahead on the manufacture of the covers. This year a padded, embossed cover in blue and white will be used to set off the new 1950 Tower. The Tower staff agree that it is the best cover that Stout has had in many years. The staff believes that this year they are presenting one of the best books in entirety which has been put out at Stout. They hope that the Stout student body will appreciate the work which has been spent by the staff members in putting out a better year book.

Another go-ahead signal was given the printers this week, when on Tuesday morning editors Toby Hendrickson, Herb Watanabe, and adviser D. P. Barnard journeyed to the Lund Press at the Cities to present the copy work for the printing of the book. The setting of type on copy will begin immediately and the printing should be completed by the end of April in time for binding to be completed and the covers to be put on. Thus, distribution should take place sometime during the week of May 15.

At the present time only a few pages of engraving remain to be completed and approximately five pages of copy remain to be completed. This year the literary staff has had quite a job in writing all of their stories to correspond with the theme of the book, which will be kept secret until the book is distributed. Naomi Wendt, literary editor, and her staff have been very busy getting out the stories for the Tower. A set procedure is followed in the literary department. As the stories are received and checked by the literary editor, they are typed and sent to Mr. Howard Hoving, adviser, twice for grammatical check.

EASTER VACATION TO LAST APRIL 5-13

The Stout Institute will close its doors of learning on Wednesday, April 5 at three o'clock. At this time all classes will be suspended for the Easter-Thursdays, April 13. Remember that the day before and after a holiday are no cut days. Do not endanger your total grade points by cutting any classes on these two days.

before they are submitted for final typing. Russ Gerber, editor, is responsible for all copy fitting, proofreading and getting final copy ready for the printers—besides his other varied duties on the staff. Herb Watanabe, as editor in chief, is responsible for all engravings and picture arrangements as well as making up the dummy. Toby Hendrickson is responsible for the business transactions taking place on the Tower. This forms a closely knit team which cooperates with the faculty advisers and decides the policies for the 1950 Tower.

Russ Gerger voices the sentiments of the staff as he says, "The making and completion of a yearbook is a thankless task at best. We hope that the student body will appreciate the hours of hard work put in by them."

UNEXCELLED SERVICE

AUCTION, DANCE, GAMES, SHOWS: CARNIVAL HIGHS

—GAMES—

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

Alpha Phi Omega will have a booth where you will be able to test your skill by throwing tennis balls at coke bottles. Throwing light balls as these may really surprise you. Come in and prove to yourself that you are as good a ball player as you claim to be.

If your aim is as good as you claim you may win one of the many swell prizes they offer. Norm Lenius, head of the campus projects committee, is in charge of the arrangements.

K.F.S. FRATERNITY

If you feel that you can toss a ring and make it circle a pop bottle then here is your chance. The K.F.S. fraternity is sponsoring such a booth at the all-school carnival. Visit this booth and test your shooting eye plus your skill in tossing these rings. It takes a lot of practice and skill to toss rings onto bottles. How do you stand in this sport? Plan on being at this booth during the carnival on Saturday. The K. Foos will be looking for you.

EICHELBERGER HALL

Eichelberger Hall is sponsoring a fish pond for the all-school carnival. It will be located on the gym floor where it can't be missed. When looking for this booth look for "Eich the Puke."

Donna Gardiner is general chairman for the event. She promises treasures and fun for all who participate—so bring your best fishing techniques for there will be some "big whoppers" on the line.

F.O.B. FRATERNITY

Have you tried the sport of pitching pennies lately? Spring is here and the season for pitching pennies is also here. You had better get some practice real soon. The F.O.B. fraternity is sponsoring just such a booth at the carnival tomorrow. Dig out those extra pennies lying around the room and bring them to the booth for pitching pennies. Here is a swell chance to have a great deal of enjoyment.

PALLAS ATHENES

The Pallas Athene's contribution to the all-school carnival will be the "P. A. Telegram Service." You will be able to send telegrams to anyone at the carnival from the "P. A. Telegram Booth" and your message will be delivered to any person you want by a cute P. A. messenger.

The P. A. Telegram booth will be gram senders, and specially dressed messengers will help contact your friends at the carnival.

Why not take advantage of this booth and come in and see us? We'll be available day and night.

STOUT RADIO CLUB

The Stout Radio club is featuring a new, intriguing game of skill at the all-school carnival Saturday. The game is a new kind of shooting gallery using sling shots. Radio tubes are used for the targets. The tubes are lined up on one end of the booth and sling shots with marbles are used to shoot at the tubes. The object of the game is to try and break the tubes. Prizes will be given for the best shot.

RIFLE CLUB

How accurate are you in throwing darts? Would you like to try your hand in this sport? You have the opportunity tomorrow night at the all-school carnival. The Rifle club is sponsoring a booth where you will be able to throw darts at targets and try to hit the bulls eye. Wonderful gifts are available and a swell chance to try your skill in throwing these well-balanced darts.

Who knows you might really excel in this sport and come out as one of the leading dart throwers on the campus? Plan to visit this booth and try the dart throwing booth sponsored by the Rifle club.

WAA—CLOCK GOLF

The Women's Athletic association is sponsoring the "Clock Golf." What is it? The base is a carpet which is printed to resemble a clock with numbers and all. In the center there is a hole that one tries to hit as a goal by putting a golf ball with a golf club. How one is able to win easily with this game is something one must see for himself. The organization expresses a desire to see everyone here at this concession stand tomorrow to try their skill and win a wonderful prize.

ALL SCHOOL CARNIVAL PROMISES TO BE HIGHLIGHT OF SEMESTER

—WHITE ELEPHANT AUCTION—

Do you know what a White Elephant auction is? Here is your first chance to be present at one. Who knows you might be able to bid for something which might come in very handy to you some day?

Everything from buttonholes to deformed salt shakers will be sold to the public at this auction, another event in this "S" club carnival. When the auctioneer yells "Sold!" another person will "be made a happy owner of something worse than nothing." Things will not be this bad, but it is recommended that students bid no higher than twenty dollars for a pair of shoe strings.

For a lot of fun and good enjoyment don't miss this White Elephant auction.

S.T.S. SOCIETY

"Not a booth, not a game, nor a side show" is the work of the S.T.S. organization toward the all-school carnival. They have put to use their time and well-liked talents to bring forth all the posters used in the publicity of the carnival. These posters were done as no other posters have ever been done here on the campus. Time and cost of machines and stock have been contributed by this organization as their share in putting the all-school carnival over the top.

THE STOUTONIA

The entire Stoutonia staff has been very glad to be able to participate in this all-school carnival. We as a whole have had a great pleasure in working on publicity with the committee in putting this carnival over with a bang. A successful carnival is the expressed desire of the entire staff. Plan to be there and enjoy yourself at a treat that has never before been presented on the campus.

See You there!

Games, Side Shows, Dancing, White Elephant Auction Among Top Drawing Cards

Tomorrow's the day; the all-school carnival has its send off with the concessions on Saturday afternoon.

The entire event, sponsored by the "S" club, will run from 2 p.m. to 12 p.m. that night.

The central ticket office will be located in the H.E. corridor. This booth will be open at 2 p.m. and will remain open throughout the remainder of the afternoon and evening. Here is where anyone who is to participate in the carnival is to get his tickets. This will be the only place where tickets will be available. No booth will accept cash or anything other than the tickets. This is so to eliminate any confusion with money.

The following schedule is composed for the convenience of all who wish to attend:

Saturday, March 1, 1950

- 2:00 Concessions in H.E. and P. E. building.
- 7:00 K.F.S. Skit in the auditorium.
- 7:30 White elephant auction in the auditorium.
- 9:00 Dancing in the Gym to George Soderberg's orchestra.
- 12:00 All activities cease.

This program will be followed as closely as possible and is a reliable means of knowing where to be when some event takes place.

Much enthusiasm is being shown in the project, with most of the organizations in the college co-operating to make it a success. Everybody can plan on an exciting afternoon and evening.

The barker will be selling anything from popcorn to tickets to a side show. The fun involved in the side shows will be endless for variety because of the planning that went on before the weekend. The "S" club accepted the responsibility of arranging the carnival side-shows to give the visitors everything.

According to the schedule everything starts Saturday afternoon at 2:00 p.m., it is recommended that everyone must take it easy before that time because the way things add up there will no stopping until Midnight.

K.F.S. is putting on a skit in the auditorium at 7:00 p.m. This is something that will start the evening program off with a snap. What the skit is about is unknown but it is known that K.F.S. always comes through with something good.

"Sold to the man in the blue tie in the front row!" This will be a familiar ring in everyone's ears at 7:30 p.m. that same night. Yes, the white elephant auction will try its best at this time to give something to someone for a price. If someone gets stuck with an object or specimen that proves to be useless, he can save it and submit it for the next year's carnival; this type of cycle would keep things going for years if proper care is taken.

To top everything off with sweetness, George Soderberg's orchestra will furnish the music for the final wind-up dance. Everyone is invited to attend the last event of the evening for what's a complete day if a person cannot dance to peaceful music.

The carnival is promising a good time for every person who attends. Be there to enjoy it, for another like it will be far off in the future. Students, bring your friends, family and also your house mothers and fathers. This invitation is extended to all the towns people. It is the expressed desire of the "S" club to see many of the folks from around this vicinity attending this carnival. Here is something new to the citizens of Menomonie. Come and visit the carnival tomorrow afternoon and evening.

—DANCING—

ALL SCHOOL DANCE

For a perfect close to a wonderful day of delightful events, an all-school dance has been planned for your enjoyment. This event is being put across by the SSA office. Enjoy the remainder of the evening dancing to the wonderful music of the Royal Blackhaws under the leadership of George Soderberg. What better way is there to spend a tired day than dancing to the soft mellow music coming from members right from this vicinity? The dance is an all-school event and so by presenting your SSA card you will be guaranteed entrance. Remember the all-school dance for a finale to a wonderful weekend.

—SIDE SHOWS— ARTS AND CRAFTS

Have you often wondered how you are judged by other people? Do you know what your face will cast upon a wall where a well-qualified artist can trace your outline? The Arts and Crafts fraternity has this to offer at this all-school carnival. In just a short time you will be able to see what an artist can do with your particular features. Here is something you will cherish for a long time to come, a wonderful thing to take home at Easter time. You might even be surprised yourself at what you look like.

Remember that for a picture of yourself the way an artist sees you, visit the Arts and Crafts booth during the carnival tomorrow. Come in and visit us.

SIGMA FRATERNITY

For a thrill that will last in your mind for days and nights hence, be sure and not pass up the opportunity to go through the house of horrors.

The wonders of life will be before your very eyes; this is really something you can't afford to miss. You might be sorry for passing this wonderful opportunity up.

Remember the house of horrors on Saturday night!

S.T.G. FRATERNITY

Sigma Tau Gamma's donation to the annual all-school carnival will be a house of intrigue, mystery, and mostly scares. You will be able to find the room by following the eerie music and horrified screams to the murky depths of room 29, HE building.

Sigma Tau is giving out no information as to the contents of the spook's den, other than that it is designed to terrify its timid patrons, and that there will be absolutely nothing employed that will injure the student very much.

"S" CLUB

Behind this entire program is the "S" club. It was their idea which has developed into this forthcoming carnival tomorrow. Don Gee, club president, expresses his views by saying that a great amount of work has been put into the idea.

—FUN & FROLIC— HYPERIAN SOCIETY

After eating pop-corn and hot dogs at the carnival, you'll probably be thirsty. The Hyps have a remedy for that. They are having a stand on first floor in the Home Ec. building. Root beer and soft drinks will be served. The Hyps will wear "Olde Heidelberg" costumes, cotton skirts and peasant blouses. They hope to have a German band to complete the picture.

STOUT SKI CLUB

The Ski club is sponsoring a photography booth as their contribution to the carnival. They are going to have two backgrounds, one a Stout Tower, and one of a skiing scene. There will be appropriate holes in the back drops for the heads of the prospective candidates.

A head sticking out here and there will give everyone a laugh and a photo that will be an excellent souvenir of the carnival days at Stout on this weekend.

Plan on visiting this particular booth and help make this event go over with a boom.

S.M.A. SOCIETY

Let the SMA society lead you around on their sight seeing tour. Members of the society will be the guides in showing the vast campus of this school to anyone who wishes to see it on a short and snappy tour. All the sights will be seen in a hurry with nothing left out.

They will also hold a chicken raffle in honor of the coming Easter season. Buy a ticket and maybe you will be able to serve chicken for your Easter dinner.

The SMA's hope that everyone will turn out for the carnival and have a swell time. Here is your chance to show your real school spirit.

TAINTER ANNEX

All the girls are busy at the Tainter Annex making popcorn balls which will be sold during the carnival, for ten cents each. The girls are having a great deal of fun making these balls and they wish that you will have as much enjoyment eating them. Try them and help the carnival go over with a bang.

COME ONE.. COME ALL.. THE SCHOOL CARNIVAL TOMORROW, APRIL 1

ELECT MEMBERS TODAY FOR GOVERNING BOARD

Time has come again for Stout students to elect their governors. The big day is near at hand and if you want to be governed by a capable student Governing Board, then you are urged to turn out and vote to see that you get the representatives you want.

The four Student Governing Board candidates selected from the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes are as follows:

Junior Class Leverne Ablard, Campbellsport, Wis.; Robert Manson, Kenosha, Wis.; Roger Randall, Woodville, Wis.; and Geraldine Raisler, Bear Creek, Wis.

Sophomore Class Bill Banks, Chetek, Wis.; Robert Braun, Two Rivers, Wis.; Robert Berg, Milwaukee, Wis.; and Charles Schiferl, Ft. Atkinson, Wis.

Freshman Class Phyllis Amacher, Medford, Wis.; James Cook, Cambridge, Wis.; Alfred Hodges, Racine, Wis.; and Helen Kenna, Racine, Wis.

As in previous years, eight representatives were nominated in each class then the Student Governing Board selected four members of those nominated by each class. Final selection of two members in each of the classes is made by the entire student body.

The Student Governing board is composed of the SSA officers as executive members, the six class representatives, and three members from the Committee on Student Affairs. The Judge of the Student Court is elected by the Governing Board from one of its members, exclusive of the SSA officers.

Today is voting day. Voting will be the same as in previous years; ballots and ballot boxes will be provided in the hall near the Harvey Memorial. Voting will be open until 4 p.m. Last year 484 ballots were cast; this year it is hoped that all turn out to establish a new record.

GRADUATION COMMITTEES ANNOUNCED

WATER SAFETY TO BE TAUGHT BY RED CROSS

Field Representative From Red Cross Will Be At Stout During Next Two Weeks

The American Red Cross field representative, Mr. Edwin C. Cram, will be in Menomonie to give the Red Cross Water Safety and First Aid Instructor courses, each on alternate nights, at The Stout Institute during the April 24 to May 5 period. David Tank has been preparing the Stout students in Water Safety and Norman Lenius in First Aid to get ready for these Instructor courses. Anyone who has previously completed the Red Cross Water Safety and Senior Life Saving course, or the Standard and Advanced Red Cross First Aid courses, are eligible to take the Instructor course. Students should make appointments with either of the above instructors or with Coach Ray Johnson and Miss Keturah Antrim for registration for these Instructor courses.

The First Aid class will meet at 6:30 p.m. on Monday, April 24. The Water Safety class will meet at 6:30 on Tuesday, April 25. Both classes will hold their first meeting in the lecture room on third floor of the Physical Education building.

Mr. Cram will also teach a course in Accident Prevention for the students in the Safety Education course, which is taught by Mr. Ray Kranzusch.

Mr. Cram, American Red Cross field representative for safety services in Wisconsin and the Upper Michigan Peninsula, has been active in the field of safety education for the past eight years. Prior to that time he was a physical education instructor in the public schools of Des Moines and West DeMoines, Iowa.

Cram visits Red Cross chapters in his territory to advise them on the planning and promotion of their First Aid, Water Safety, and Accident Prevention programs. He first assumed the post of field representative in 1942. During World War II he resigned to serve as an officer with the Navy and in 1946 accepted a position as director of Safety Services in the San Antonio, Texas, chapter. He rejoined the Red Cross Midwestern Area staff, however, in 1946.

A graduate of Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls, Iowa, Mr. Cram obtained his master's degree from Iowa University in Iowa City. He is a member of the Navy Reserve, the American Legion, Alpha Delta Alpha fraternity, and the Masonic order.

NSA REGIONAL CONFAB HELD THIS WEEKEND

This week end students from colleges all over the state of Wisconsin will meet here to represent their schools in the annual Regional Assembly of the Wisconsin chapters of the National Student Association. Not only member schools, but those that are going to join and those interested in NSA, have been invited to attend the meeting.

This meeting of NSA at Stout is Stout's first big role as a member since joining last fall. This meeting is an excellent opportunity for the students of Stout to get acquainted with the workings of the NSA. Students are urged to register tonight and participate in the entire program. Those who do not register and become part of the meeting are urged to attend some of the meetings of committees to see the workings of NSA.

The meeting will be an exchange of ideas on the four major problems now outlined for the committees and will also be used for a change of officers. The assembly will be broken down into four commissions. These divisions are Education Problems, Student Life and Government, International Af-

"MILK" IS TOPIC OF HE CLUB DEMONSTRATION

Helen Helm And Elva Lovett To Show Uses Of Powdered And Evaporated Milk

Milk will be the general topic at the student demonstration to be given for the next Home Economics club meeting, Monday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the food demonstration laboratory. Helen Helm and Elva Lovett will represent the food demonstration class by showing the various uses of powdered and dry milk.

Miss Helm will show various uses of evaporated milk in her demonstration, Sir Galahad of the Pantry Shelf. Her products will include an eggless mayonnaise, an ice box dessert, and a beverage. She will also exhibit the various uses of evaporated milk as a whipped product, whole milk, and as a cream substitute.

Dry Milk Marvels is the topic for Miss Lovett in her discussion of dry milk. She will demonstrate its use as a dry ingredient in cake, a liquid ingredient in cocoa, and as an added nutrient by using it double strength in a chocolate pudding. In addition to these uses, the product will be shown as a whipped topping and a confection. Miss Lovett states that there will be samples for all.

Miss Helm and Miss Lovett are giving the exhibits as their public demonstration for Food Demonstration class.

FRYKLUND AT PENTAGON BY ARMY ASSIGNMENT

Word has been received at Stout that President Verne C. Fryklund has reached the Pentagon Building in Washington, D. C. He was called there by the army for a special assignment between April 16 and April 29, returning to Stout May 1.

Now a colonel in the United States Army Reserve Corps, Dr. Fryklund began his military service as a sergeant in World War I. In World War II, President Fryklund was Director of Teacher Training at Fort Knox Armored school. He then directed Analysis of Instruction for U.S. Ordnance at Rock Island, Illinois.

Later he was Chief of Curriculum Training, Office of Assistant Chief of Air Staff, Personnel Head, U.S. Army Air Forces, with offices in Washington, D.C. He then became Officer in Charge of the Educational Branch of the Convalescent Service Division.

SSA MESSAGE

Well it's good to see everyone back looking so rested and refreshed. The vacation did seem to come at an opportune time when exams, meetings, programs, and activities in general were taking place fast and furiously. However, after a week of rest and Easter eggs we can resume our work here with new vitality and finish the semester off with a bang.

This weekend the NSA convention is taking place. We will see quite a few new faces in the corridors and around the town. Let's all get together and greet them with a smile to let them know that the welcome mat is out and that we are happy to receive them. Friday night will be taken up in meetings and discussions concerning the policy, problems, and functions of the NSA. Saturday morning and afternoon will be filled similarly. However, Saturday night the SSA is sponsoring an all-school dance. Let's go! It's fun to meet students from different colleges, and it's educational, too! I'm sure that they are looking forward to a weekend of both work and enjoyment. You and I can go all out in each respect and give them a reception worthy of The Stout Institute.

Monday, April 24, we will see a few fewer faces around school. The Symphonic Singers will be off again on their Spring Tour. This year's route will be confined to Wisconsin except for one concert at Great Lakes. We wish Mr. Frailey and the SSS lots of luck and success, knowing that their efforts are pointed towards further acclaiming Stout.

See you this weekend

WHEAT FLOUR INSTITUTE DEMONSTRATOR HERE

Miss Helen Rodgers, east central representative of the Wheat Flour Institute, will give a demonstration for the Food Demonstration class on Friday, April 28. The demonstration will be held in the Home Economics building, in room 301, from 10-12 a.m.

Will Sing At Schools, Radio Network, And Great Lakes Naval Training Station

Mr. Frailey has announced that the Stout Symphonic Singers will leave on their annual tour on April 24, and will return home on April 28.

The choir of sixty-five members will leave Stout at 8:30 Monday morning. Their first stop will be Augusta high school. Monday evening at 9:00, the Singers will present a concert over the state FM network. They will broadcast over WHA at Madison, which can be heard through WHKW at Chilton, and WHRM at Rib Mountain. At this time records will be made for future broadcast over the entire network.

On Tuesday, the 25, the choir has a concert scheduled at Great Lakes Naval Training Station. On the 26th, the choir will travel to Milwaukee and give a concert at Kingsly Methodist church at 8:00 p.m. On April 27, they will sing at Wood, Wisconsin.

When the choir returns home, members will present their concert at the convocation, May 3. They will also present an evening concert, May 3, at 8:15.

The program presented by the choir will consist of the following selections:

MISS O'BRIEN TAKES PART IN CAREER DAYS

Miss Gertrude M. O'Brien, college registrar, visited Ashland and Superior, on March 29 and 30 respectively, to take part in Career Days for high schools in those areas.

As a representative of one of 32 colleges participating, Miss O'Brien pointed out the opportunities in Industrial Education and Home Economics, especially as they are enhanced by preparation at The Stout Institute.

At Ashland, the Registrar met with students from Ashland, Washburn, Cable, Mason, Drummond, Bayfield, and other towns. At Superior Central high school, students from such towns as Maple and Port Wing participated.

Miss O'Brien said that much interest in Stout was shown during these conferences, with several student applications already having been received. Some of this enthusiasm is attributable to the fact that many students in previous years have come to Stout from these areas.

STOUT COMMITTEES

In an exchange paper from Winona Teachers college, March 31, 1950, it has been noted what is being done in another college to solve the old problem of whether or not students should be on every school committee. Winona is placing students on many school committees, a good idea in every respect. Could we not have more of this here at Stout?

We do have student representatives on the Assembly and Lyceum committees, but even more representation would be an asset. It would be an advantage to have students on such committees as Finance and Commencement. As commencement directly involves seniors, it should certainly have senior representation. Such representation would help to develop a stronger bond between faculty and students, and everyone would benefit directly. Students are the benefactors of all committee decisions, so why should not students work hand in hand with the faculty?

It is a little late to bring up the question of registration, but it is possible to suggest some modifications that would be to the advantage of all concerned with registration in years to come. First, why not have students fill out all necessary cards before semester registration? This would eliminate one undesirable line, if not two. It might be an advantage to have freshmen students fill out their cards together, because their programs are planned: upper-classmen be compelled to fill out cards when each student sets up his personal program. This wholly necessary but tedious job could be accomplished more easily within the students' respective homes than in the college halls.

Next, wouldn't it be an advantage to work out a solution to the problem of the long line that exists in front of the text book library? Surely one out of nine

Hi Gang,

Well, we're back again. Have you missed our column?

Spring is really here. If you don't believe me, just look around and watch all of the couples pairing off. Speaking of couples pairing off, have you noticed some of the couples that have broken up? Yep, it must be spring. Oh well, they say it's a great life, if you don't weaken.

Betty Worthington and Bob Cseh are back at it again. (More so than before). By the way Betty, whose ring are you sporting around your neck?

A fast and up-coming couple are Bruce Arntson and Alice Billiet. They have really been hitting it off pretty steadily. Bruce even went up to the cities to see Alice during the Easter vacation.

Understand that Kathleen Welch and Jim Heller are due to be married pretty soon. Say kids, when is the wedding?

This girl Ann Banker really gets around. She's now going out with some fellow from the University of Wisconsin.

Ever since the presentation of Double Door, Lee Flanders has been going strong with Dorothy Widell.

Don Tietz and Anita Clark took a nice long walk Sunday afternoon. All the way out to Point Comfort. Did you have a nice walk?

BACK TO WORK!

Another Easter vacation presented itself and has now passed to the "pleasant memories" category. No doubt everyone had an enjoyable time in his respective home.

Easter vacation was the time to relax and forget school work; but now that vacation is over, we must get back to work. Really, this is the short quarter of the year, and the six weeks that are left will slip by quickly. Besides being the shortest quarter of the year, it is one of the busiest.

Stop for a moment and take into account what must be accomplished before spring vacation. The little effort required to do the work pays big dividends. Time is too precious and valuable for students to wander aimlessly around. Sometimes they wander in a mental, not a physical sense.

Again we urge every student to do some serious studying this last six weeks. Let's leave the campus this spring knowing that we have done our utmost to obtain perfection in the field of home economics or industrial arts.

hundred and sixty students must be harboring an idea that might eliminate the long library line which no one appreciates.

Now that the above problems have been brought to the attention of all, let's see if there are possible solutions to be reached.

—D. L.

Dirk Van Duzee is quite an operator. Sunday afternoon Dirk picked up a few of the Annex girls and went driving around town. The girls were Nadine Brown, Donna McDonough, Ellen Williams, and Phyllis Keys. Understand that the girls took turns driving. That surely must be the life. By the way, I'm looking for a couple of female chauffeurs to drive around. Anyone interested apply at the Keyhole office.

Ross Slater has been going around telling everybody that he is engaged. It seems that Marna Larson, a town girl attending River Falls, gave Ross her high school ring. I can't seem to be able to figure it out though. Friday night Ross took Rita Hack to the Sigma banquet.

Barney Hazarian gave Ruth Schrader a diamond ring last week-end. Congratulations, kids. When is the wedding?

Donna Krisik and Bob Morris have been going pretty steady. They were out to Devil's Punch Bowl Sunday afternoon. Say Bob, are you going for the home-town girls?

Warren Barberg seems to be taking up where Russ Gerber left off. Warren was out with Donna Heike Saturday night. They have also been spending a little time in the Tower office.

What happened to Bill Banks and Harriet Homer? Harriet was at the card party with Bob Sipple. Hmm.

Another couple that has been seen together quite often is Don Gee and Carol Hanson. They make a nice looking couple too.

Isabel Iverson was out Sunday night but we didn't see with whom. Does any one know?

Here is one for the books. Helen Kenan went to the Sigma banquet with Jim Gehrke Friday night. Saturday night she was out with someone else, and Jim was out by himself. (out that is). They must have patched up their difference though, because they were back together again Sunday afternoon.

Question of the Week: What faculty member is opposed to the Keyhole column? We will give you a hint. It's a male faculty member, and he thinks that more professional articles should appear in the paper in place of this column. What do you kids think? I could write more on this subject, but I've just been over-ruled. I think the Keyhole column should stay.

This is it, gang. I'm afraid that I have spring fever. See you next week. That is, if the faculty doesn't discontinue this article.

Dear Readers,

Well, another Easter vacation will be past history when you read this column. But when I was writing this, I was in the process of recovery from the carnival excitement and noise. I spent most of my time painting signs, making "noise," taking pictures with my new camera and flash unit, plus drawing pictures of some "former" friends! "What do you expect for a dime?" But seriously, I think this carnival brought out the best of school spirit, enthusiasm which has been absent before in so many cases!

Some of the following jokes were submitted by that good friend of mine and maybe yours, and none other but that campus joker and occasional visitor at Eichelberger-Charlie Schiferl:

Charlie told me that one of his friends was wearing shoes with soles that were so thin that when he stepped on a cigarette butt that he could tell what brand it was!

Two drunks riding along in a car during one of their drinking bouts, and the fellow who wasn't driving the car yelled at his buddy who was driving: "Hey, look out for that bridge."

Driver? "H---, I thought that you were driving."

Charlie heard a fellow boasting that he was the best supporter of his college because he had been suspended so many times!

The following was also submitted by Charlie—Remember that the mighty oak was once a nut like you!

Schiferl also told me the following one: There was a fellow who spent most of his money on drink and women and the rest he spent foolishly.

The following I discovered in various reading material around school: Professor: Your brother took this course, last year didn't he?

Student: No, it was I. I'm taking it over, again.

Professor: What an extraordinary resemblance.

Girls are like newspaper—they're worth looking over, but back numbers are no longer in demand.

V. C. FRYLUND THANKS DETROIT ALUMAE

The following letter was sent by President Verne C. Fryklund to the chairman of the Fund Raising committee of the Detroit alumnae in appreciation for the splendid gift of $100.00 which the organization recently sent to the Alumni Scholarship fund:

Mrs. Ira C. Madden
Chairman, Fund Raising Committee
Detroit Chapter, Stout Alumnae
Detroit, Michigan

Dear Mrs. Madden:

It was with the greatest pleasure I learned that the Fund Raising Committee of the Stout alumnae in Detroit has voted to appropriate $100.00 to the Stout Scholarship Fund.

My gratitude in the matter is twofold. First, I wish to express my deep appreciation to the alumnae for the effort which I know they have expended to make their donation possible. Their active interest in the Stout Alumni Association and in their alma mater is something of which the college can feel justly proud.

But your generosity assists more than just the college. Rather, the principal benefit will be that enjoyed by the worthy freshmen who will be the recipients of the scholarships which your donation makes possible. More frequently than not, these scholarships mean more to such students than just aid during the first year of college. Often such a grant is the deciding factor in whether or not the student will seek a higher education.

Perhaps you have noted that in recent weeks "The Stoutonia" has printed letters in which earlier scholarship winners have expressed their thanks for the financial assistance which made their coming to Stout possible. In all cases, these persons are enjoying a successful college career, and in all cases they are heartily grateful. I feel that at most I can but add my appreciation to theirs in thanking you for the wonderful opportunities which you are providing.

Sincerely yours,
Verne C. Fryklund
President

Whydowski's Announce Daughter's Birthday

We have received news that Lloyd and Myrtis Whydowski's daughter, Lynn Marie, is now 1 year. Lloyd received his bachelor's degree from Stout in 1941 and his wife, the former Myrtis Peterson, received her bachelor's degree in 1942. This is the announcement of their daughter's birthday:

This card is sent to tell you

At our home we now are three—Lloyd and Myrtis Whydowski,

And in the high chair, Lynn Marie.

One candle on her birthday cake;

March 13 was the date.

We'll celebrate with trimmings

Although a little late.

Blue eyes, blond hair, just toddling,

Sweet smiles for those she knows,

She is so sweet and precious,

ANNUAL F.O.B. DINNER DANCE TO BE HELD AT COUNTRY CLUB

On Saturday, April 29, the annual FOB dinner dance will take place at the Menomonie Country club. Dance music will be furnished by George Soderberg and his Royal Blackhaws.

ALL-SCHOOL TEA TO BE PRESENTED BY PHI U

A spring-time tea will be presented next Wednesday afternoon for the students, faculty, and administration of Stout by members of Phi Upsilon Omicron. Committees under the chairmanship of Dorothy Groethe are now busy making plans and preparing for the all-school tea.

Assisting will be the six new initiates: Mrs. Aino Nylund, Nancy Haertlein, Dorothy Krushas, Ruth Voss, Betty Severson, and Geraldine Raisler.

RUMMAGE SALE BY HE CLUB NEXT WEEK

April 29 is the date set for the rummage sale sponsored by the freshman and sophomore women of the Home Economics club. This project will correspond to the bake sale, sponsored by the juniors and seniors of the Home Economics club, which was held a month ago.

Every freshman and sophomore girl majoring in home economics is required to bring at least one garment or article for the sale. Boxes will be provided in the three girls' dorms and in the alcove of Miss Hinkley's room at the east end of the hall on second floor.

Garments should be clean and pressed, and in a condition suitable for wearing. The donor's name should be printed clearly on a slip of paper and pinned securely to the top of the garment or article given. If the garment is one to be hung up, it must come on a hanger; hangers will later be returned to their owners. If several garments or articles are given, (such as ties, socks, etc.) they may be tied together and marked as a single unit.

All garments and articles are to be turned in before 5:00 p.m. Wednesday, April 26. All freshman and sophomore women who did not contribute to the bake sale and do not contribute to the rummage sale will be asked to donate 50 cents to the Home Economics club treasury.

All types of clothing—men's, women's, and children's; accessories—hats, gloves and mittens, scarves, purses, shoes, jewelry, men's ties; and other small articles are suitable for donations.

FOB'S ELECT OFFICERS FOR THE COMING YEAR

At their last meeting, election of officers was held by the FOB's. The president for the coming year is Willis Bogenhagen, a sophomore hailing from Sheboygan, Wis. Al Goto, a Stout junior from Honoum, Hawaii, will preside as vice-president next year. Jim Covey, a native Menomonite who is a junior at Stout, was elected secretary.

Other officers for the coming year are as follows: historian, Hilary Janikowski, a sophomore from Cudahy, Wis.; sergeant at arms, Ruel Fleming, a junior from Viroqua, Wis.; and alumni editor, John Yount, a junior now residing at Oakwood Heights, Menomonie.

CLASS VISITS WOOLEN MILLS AT CHIPPEWA

Miss Hazel Van Ness, Miss Lillian Jeter, and the members of the Friday textile lab section left at 10:00 a. m. on March 31 for a field trip to the Chippewa Woolen Mills.

Under the direction of a capable guide the group was shown through both of the buildings of the mill. All of the processes, which finally yields the finished wool, are handled in one place. In the other section of the mill, the material is sewn into finished garments.

SKI CLUB ELECTS NEW OFFICERS; PLAN MEET

The Stout Ski club had its annual elections, March 28. The new officers will take over their posts at the next meeting. The election ran as follows: president, Allen Ellingson; vice president, Tiny Norman; secretary, Leone Nagle; treasurer, Bob Morris; historian, Carol Hammersten; publicity chairman, Dave Bieniasz.

The election highlighted a long and eventful year for the club. Every week-end since the snow fell, after Christmas vacation, the club members have been out on the hills. Beside the many local trips, the club boasts of trips to Mt. Telemark, Mt. du Lac, and other ski areas around the state.

The members are also getting set for next year. They plan to put on another ski meet, increase the size of the club, and promote bigger ski trips.

STS BANQUET AND INITIATION HELD MARCH 28

Formal initiation for members of the Stout Typographical Society took place on March 28, at the Hide-a-Way Cafe. Twenty-seven members of the club were present for the banquet and candle-light ceremony. The speaker engaged for the evening was called and advised not to come because of hazardous road conditions between the cities and Menomonie.

For dinner the menu consisted of roast chicken, mashed potatoes, gravy, salad, rolls, butter, relish dish, coffee, and milk. The dinner was served family style and everyone ate to their stomachs content.

After dinner the candle-light ceremony took place at which time members having fulfilled the requirements to advance in rank are formally initiated into their new rank. Also new apprentices are accepted into the society and given their duties. Members advancing in rank from Journeyman to Master were Bob Manson, Stan Hoffman, John Wooley, Don Sargent, and Rolland Wolfe. Those advancing from Apprentice to Journeyman were Don Winters, Dan Foltman, Bruce Arntson, Bill Kocaj, Ed McMahon, Oliver Agerlie, Armin Gerhardt, and Mel Witte. The two new members accepted into the rank of apprentice in the society were Bill Banks and Gene Weigel.

EQUIPMENT FOR TEAS ADDED TO HARVEY

The following information, of interest to students and faculty planning on using the Harvey Memorial, has been received from Dean Kirk's office:

Many new pieces of equipment for serving teas and receptions have been placed in the Harvey Memorial kitchen. With the exception of a table cover, which will be added soon, the equipment and furnishings are complete. It is recommended that tea and reception menus be adapted to this equipment, thus making it unnecessary to borrow from the food laboratories. The use of paper doilies for trays and the use of paper napkins for pouring will eliminate the purchase of additional materials and also serve the purpose well.

An inventory of the items belonging in each cupboard is placed on the cupboard door, and a complete list of the available equipment can be procured from Dean Antrim. Please report any breakage to Dean Antrim and arrange for the replacement if it is necessary.

SPRING SPORTS START FOR STOUT STUDENTS

As spring is finally showing its colors, student thoughts are turning to the out-of-door sports of tennis, baseball, and track. Probably the person who enjoys the sight of spring most is Wally Hammerberg, who is and has been coaching tennis for the past three years. He has done well at coaching, for his boys have placed second in the conference all three years.

Some of Wally's regulars who will return this year are R. Landgraf, Tank, Frank, Fish, and Biffs. Of the newcomers, a couple of likely prospects are H. Taono and Nooyen.

HAMMERBERG

There is a system in tennis at Stout known as the triangle system in which a member can challenge the other members in his triangle, placing him in a different one if he wins, to reach the ultimate, the top position of the top triangle. Also, as he is subject to challenge by another member who is in the same triangle, he can go downward.

The first tennis match of the season for Stout will be held at Mankato, April 22, followed by a match at Eau Claire Teachers College on April 26. Then Stout will play against La Crosse and Oshkosh in a Triangular meet at La Crosse April 29. The rest of the tennis schedule is as follows:

River Falls	H	May 2
St. Cloud	H	May 6
Winona	T	May 13
Wis.-Minn. Conference Tournament
Winona	H	May 15
River Falls	T	May 15
State Meet at Oshkosh		May 20
E.C.T.C.	H	May 23

Also catching the eye this spring will be baseball. There has been a big turn out, with quite a few freshmen as very promising prospects. The first game of the season will be a double-header at Mankato on April 22 followed by:

E.C.T.C.	T	April 26
La Crosse	T	April 29
River Falls	H	May 2

NAME OF NUMERAL, LETTER MEN RELEASED

Coach Ray C. Johnson has just released the names of the letter winners and numeral winners in basketball for this year. There were eleven letters and five numerals given, with three letters and all the numerals going to freshmen.

The lettermen are R. Pollock, V. Stai, E. Nylund, W. Amthor, J. Debrauske, H. Markely, R. Brimer, H. Janikowski, W. Keiffer, R. Erickson, and D. Cataldi.

The numeral winners are Mike Wingert, John Jacobson, Vern Christiansen, William Bockmeyer, and Don Jacobson.

Thus ends another season of basketball. Every one will be looking for the spring and summer sports to come. If it quits snowing, you might soon be able to see some sports in action.

SPRING FOOTBALL

Spring football started last Monday, April 17. All men who are not out for spring sports and are interested in football are urged to come out. Coach Storti is interested in having men come out even if they have not had previous experience with the Stout squad. The Spring squad will be drilled mainly in fundamentals.

COMPETITION STARTS FOR SOFTBALL TEAMS

All clubs, organizations, and independent teams are to get their softball team roster in to the athletic department by 4:00 on Monday, April 24. The teams will start competition on Wednesday, April 26.

A large turnout is expected, with teams being divided into two leagues, the National and the American. The final team champions will receive medals.

The late spring causes the crowded schedule which will be necessary to complete the softball schedule.

AUCTION HIGHLIGHTS S CLUB CARNIVAL

The S club carnival was a bang-up affair from beginning to end. Here is a brief resume of the Carnival, which was held from 2:00 to 12:00 on April 1. Two o'clock saw the halls of the H E building filling with Stout Students eager for a good time. Fortunately there were few "ground lice" (a carnival expression for people who spend no money) at the carnival. The decorations along the midway were unique to say the least. The concessions did a swell job in being original and successful. Everyone had a wonderful time and participated wholeheartedly in the carnival.

The KFS skit, which preceded the white elephant auction, featured the following acts; Schults and Shoots—Frank Tank and Dave Hoffman; a band, with Dave Hoffman on the trumpet, Jerry Zelinka on the accordion, and Bill Jones on the tuba; and Clancy Urankar giving the audience a salestalk on some very fine suits.

Seventy-five of Menomonie's merchants contributed valuable merchandise which was auctioned off at the white elephant auction. Everything from shoe buttons to diamonds were put up for sale; and the bidding was spirited. Mr. Earl Knight, a local insurance agent, contributed his services as an auctioneer.

The all school dance, in conjunction with the carnival, was held in the gym from 9:00 to 12:00. George Soderberg and the Royal Blackhawks furnished sweet music for the well-attended event. At the intermission the SMA chicks, feathered chicks that is, were raffled off. The chickens were won by Bill Kieffer and Gordy Nooyen. The Philos awarded the door prize of a carton of cigarettes to John Yount. Carl Samdahl won Sig Tau Gamma's bean guessing contest. The prize was a meal ticket at Stoppe Cafe.

The S club's committees for the carnival were headed by the following persons: publicity-Eugene Weigel concession arrangement-Dan Jetran; auction-John Roe; material and equipment for concessions-Lauren Norman; ticket sales-Hilary Janikowski; and cleanup-Dale Digerness. General chairman was Bill Amthor.

The class met for the first time and the instructor stated that he wanted the students to write their names on the paper being passed around—not their signatures.

FOAM RUBBER USED IN GENERAL WOODWORK

Excerpt from Minneapolis Sunday Tribune, March 19, 1950:

New York—(AP)—People who use foam rubber never had it so soft, but it's a hard life for the manufacturers. They just can't make enough of it to fill the insistent demand for automobile seats, mattresses, furniture cushions, pillows, and powder puffs.

"Latex foam is simply rubber tree sap whipped into a mighty froth and baked into shape. Latex also can be made synthetically.

"An industry survey two years ago showed that only 29% of the people had ever heard of latex foam. Today the manufacturers have their customers on allocation."

Yes, "Foam Rubber" is one of the latest upholstery products on the market, just two years new, but it is interesting to note that for the past year and a half, the general wood-working course, (IE 116) has employed this product in class room instruction in the upholstery part of the course.

SIGMA HOLDS ELECTION AND FORMAL INITIATION

Results of the recent Sigma elections find George Kinsler shouldering the burden of being president. The other positions are filled by Joe Randall, vice-president; Bob Braun, treasurer; Dick Johnson, sergeant-at-arms; Howard Greening, historian; and Jim Gehrke, secretary.

Formal initiation for the new members took place at the Hide-a-Way.

New members accepted at this time were Dirk Van Duzee, Gerald LaBorde, Roland Wolfe, Ross Slater, Bob Cseh, and Dick Schwantes. A banquet highlighted the formal initiation ceremony, with choice of steak or chicken for the main portion of the meal.

ANNUAL SPRING PLAY PRESENTED BY MAP

On March 30 and 31, the Manual Arts Players presented their annual spring play, "Double Door," in the Stout auditorium.

The play was a three act mystery-drama. The plot of the play revolved around the stage marriage of Lee Flanders to Clarice Zarling, and Geraldine Raisler's attempts to break up this marriage. Dorothy Widell, as the younger sister, was among the household members who were dominated by Miss Raisler.

A secret room, used as a vault, added to the suspense of the action. Other actors in the cast were Robert Adkins, Dennis Brooks, Don Lansverk, Jeanette Bolles, Mary Lou Bohrnstedt, Allen Swan, Eugene Sawyer, and Dave Johnson.

Play production classes worked on the set and assisted as stage hands, with make-up, and so forth. The Manual Arts Players wish to thank all those who contributed their time and properties to help in the production of the play. Their cooperation was greatly appreciated.

DR. M. TSUZAKI VISITS STOUT ON TOUR OF U.S.

Japanese College Dean Relates Changes In School Systems Since The War

The Stout Institute recently played host to Dr. M. Tsuzaki, Dean of the Engineering faculty of Ibaragi University, Hidachi City, Ibaragi Prefecture, Japan. Mr. Tsuzaki toured the school surveying industrial and vocational education as part of his special study in the United States.

Mr. Tsuzaki was advised by the state department on foreign relations to visit Stout for his interest in vocational and industrial arts training where his stay was arranged by Dean Bowman in the absence of President Fryklund.

During an interview with Dr. Tsuzaki current changes in Japanese education, much of it being the result of American influence since the war was discussed. Before the war Japanese education consisted of six year compulsory elementary grades, five year "middle school", three year higher school partly supported by the government, and three years of University. Technical schools were included with the three year higher training. Since the war and under American direction, the system has followed the United States pattern: six elementary grades and three junior high grades, both compulsory, although the three junior high grades are causing the government financial difficulties. Then there are three grades that correspond to the U. S. senior high school which also includes technical school. Finally four years of college or university are added.

It is the hope of Mr. Tsuzaki that their technical schools may be improved and industrial arts courses added. Japan has 17 universities compared to the ten that existed before the war.

During his stay here Mr. Tsuzaki, was assisted by two Hawaiian students attending Stout, who acted as interpreters. They were Taheshi Hirano and Sado Kishimoto, both of whom saw active service during the war as interpreters in the Armed Forces.

WISCONSIN ARTISTS PRESENT CONCERT

A very entertaining program was presented by two talented Wisconsin artists at convocation, Wednesday. Miss Drake, vocalist, and Mr. Otto, pianist, were enjoyed by the students in the presentation of their program, which was divided in four groups:

Miss Drake sang the first group of selections:
One Fine Day Puccini
(From the Opera Mm. Butterfly)
The Birth of Morn Leoni
The Lord's Prayer Malotte
Mr. Otto presented the second group:
Two Concert Etudes Chopin
Waltz in A Chopin
Then Miss Drake concluded her selections with:
Mountains Rasbach
Romance Romberg
(From the Desert Song)
A Birthday Woodman
The program was concluded by Mr. Otto and his final selections:
Prelude in G Minor Rachmaninoff
LaCathedral Englautie Debussy
(Sunken Cathedral)
Sixth Hungarian Rhapsody Liszt

HE CLUB SPONSORS SALE ON SATURDAY

Undertaking their responsibility to reimburse the treasury, the freshman and sophomore girls of the Home Economics club will sponsor a rummage sale on Saturday, April 29 to be held in the Odd Fellows Hall, which is above the Fair Store.

Boxes for clothes were taken from the three dorms on Wednesday, April 26. A box for late comers will be in Miss Hinkley's room on second floor.

All types of clothing will be on sale: mens, women's, and childrens; accessories—hats, gloves, and mittens, scarves, purses, shoes, jewelry, men's ties; and other small articles suitable for donations. Every freshman and sophomore girl is required to contribute at least one garment or fifty cents.

Betty Erickson is chairman of the rummage sale committee; Ruth Quigley, Roberta Hutchinson, Beverly Brehmer, and Dorothy Hilton are her co-workers.

SSA MESSAGE

Last weekend was a very interesting one for those who took part in the SSA regional conference. At the conference, Stout students met with students from Eau Claire Teachers, Milwaukee, La Crosse, Mount Mary, and the University, and exchanged ideas on teacher evaluation, student governing, and the formation of a State Teachers College Commission of NSA. We discovered in these discussions that Stout has somewhat of a history with its 26 years of student government, considering that Superior for example has no student government at all, and ECTC's government is just a year old! Being host to other colleges and visiting other campuses is just what we need to help broaden campus interests and activities.

We are proud to have a member of the regional board elected from Stout—at the final session John Poellinger was made chairman of the Student Life and Government Commission, the first regional office to be held by anyone from Stout. Congratulations John! It will mean a lot toward strengthening the interest in NSA on our campus.

The friendly attitude and the welcome reception offered by the Stout students was appreciated by the visitors, who gave many compliments to our student hospitality. We'd like to thank Selmer and also Bob Morris for the fine job they did decorating the gym for the dance, the Lynwood boys for lodging the fellows, and Miss Killian and others who helped us welcome our visitors.

The halls around school this week have seemed a bit bare without the SSS members. We'll be happy to welcome them back from their trip tonight. Don't forget the choir concert in Convocation next Wednesday.

The sophomores will celebrate the arrival of spring tomorrow at their annual class picnic. A good time is promised for all.

Music will be furnished, and delicious refreshments will be served to those who attend.

MEMBERS ELECTED TO GOVERNING BOARD

The Student Governing Board election was held Thursday, April 20. The voting for the day was lighter than expected but in comparison with previous governing board elections it compared favorably. The six candidates elected were (Junior) Geraldine Raisler and Robert Manson, (Sophomore) Charles Schiferl and Bill Banks, (Freshman) Phyllis Amacher and Alfred Hodges. The new board members will attend Student Governing Board meetings for the rest of the year. They will have speaking privileges at the meetings but their voting privileges will not be effective until next year.

The Student governing board is composed of the four SSA officers the

PROM KING NAMES PECH AS QUEEN

Clarence "Clancy" Uranker and Barbara Pech will reign as King and Queen of the junior prom, "Lilacs in the Rain," Saturday, May 6. There will be dancing from 9 to 12:30 p.m. in the Company A Armory to the music of Ace Samuel's well-known all-Negro, 8-piece orchestra. This may be as special interest to some students; it will be a 1 o'clock hour night.

The winning theme for this annual semi-formal dance, chosen at a regular junior class meeting, was submitted by Janice Vaughn.

Tickets for the prom will go on sale in the HE corridor starting May 2 at $2.00 per couple.

Clancy Uranker, junior class president, has chosen a decoration committee to aid him; members are as follows: Bohumil Holub, Betty Pott-hast, Jan Vaughn, and Henry Roesler. Bette Severson and Shirley Cox have contributed many ideas to this committee. A plea is being made for all loyal junior class members to roll up their sleeves and come to work at the Armory on Saturday afternoon, May 6, at 4:00 and continue to work into the evening.

LYCEUMS FOR 1950-51 BOOKED BY COMMITTEE

1950 List Includes Such Programs As Dancers And Musicians, Speakers, Play

The Assembly-Lyceum committee, which is composed of both students and faculty, has again, as in past years, taken great pains in securing for Stout the best Lyceum programs. The Lyceum programs booked for next year, 1950-51, offer entertainment, educational value and interest. Below are the scheduled Lyceum programs:

1. Oct. 27, 1950 The Guardsmen Quartette
2. Nov. 10, 1950 Swing Your Partner
3. Dec. 8, 1950 University of Minnesota Play—"She Stoops to Conquer"

T. F. FLEMING GOES TO RELATIONS CONFAB

Among WEA delegates attending a public relations conference held at River Falls Teachers college on Wednesday, April 19, was T. F. Fleming of the college English department.

The institute was conducted by Otis A. Crosby, director of public relations for the public schools of Detroit, Mich., and editor of "Detroit Public Schools".

The program was developed to give school administrators a look at the various techniques that can be used to build up better relations between the school and the community.

Discussions were held on public opinion polls, press relations, printing problems, the teachers role in good school-community relations, and the part of the layman in the school.

Thirty—STS Men Spend Three Days Visiting Plants And Industrial Schools

Members of the STS were up bright and early Thursday morning, April 20, for their annual field trip which got under way at 4 a.m. This year all of the visits were made to mills and plants in Appleton or within a few miles of Appleton, Wisconsin. Lodging for Thursday and Friday nights was obtained at the Appleton hotel.

At 9:30 Thursday morning, the bus arrived at the first stop on the trip, the Kimberly-Clark paper mill located in the village of Kimberly, Wisconsin. In the Community hall, situated very near the mill, the group was given a preview or briefing of the excursion through the mill before the actual two-hour trip through the mill began.

In the briefing, members of the STS learned that the Kimberly-Clark mill

5. Feb. 2, 1951 Malcolm Miller—"The Conquest of Mt. St. Elias"
6. Feb. 16, 1951 A l a n Pierce—"The World Cruising Yankee"

The Guardsmen Quartette, of Hollywood, has been constantly engaged in motion pictures, radio, and concerts; it has appeared and supported famous artists and worked with America's finest orchestra conductors. The quartette does a "Gay Nineties" routine in addition to their regular program. Joe E. Weber said, "One of the finest quartettes I have ever heard in my seventy years in show business."

Malcolm Miller will present his illustrated lecture, "The Conquest of Mt. St. Elias," February 2, 1951. Mr. Miller is one of America's foremost explorers, having made studies for scientific institutions and having investigated geological aspects of glaciers and snowfields. "The Conquest of Mt. St. Elias," is a full color 16 mm motion picture, follows Miller and his party for 31 exciting days upward to the summit of the peak. Miller and his party conquered the 18,008-foot Mt. St. Elias, North America's fourth highest peak.

"The Gypsies," a group of four musicians and four dancers garbed in gorgeous costumes, will bring Stout entertainment that is unique and delightful. "The Gypsies" bring to audiences the results of a decade of research in Gypsy Music, presented with a delivery which American audiences demand. Their program consists of short lively gypsy tunes, violin solos and vocal solos, and gypsy compositions done in beautiful glorified gypsy costumes.

Everyone will enjoy a taste of real opera when Helen Clayton and Howard Jarratt come to the Stout Auditorium in their joint recital. The program, which is accentuated by beautiful costumes and authentic props, includes solo groups by Miss Clayton and Mr. Jarratt as well as by their accomplished pianist, Mr. Sidney Stafford. Both artists are well known over the country.

"Swing Your Partner," to be presented November 10, 1950, has a group of singers and dancers who will bring songs of America. "Songs of America" are the folk songs of the people of the nation brought in a sincere, and enchanting way. Each member of the group, 2 men and two women, has had intensive study and work in ballet, opera, musicals, and radio.

Alan Pierce's full-color movie-lecture, "The World Cruising Yankee," is the adventure of the "Yankee," a brigantine carrying 7,775 sq. feet of sail, as it makes its way throughout the beautiful, strange, and romantic islands of the South Seas. Mr. Pierce and Commander Irving Johnson, commander of the "Yankee," have edited this film from the 10 miles of negatives taken on their expeditions. The "Yankee" cruised the seas for a year and a half compiling the adventure story that will be brought to Stout on March 9, 1951.

DID YOU VOTE?

Well, it has happened again! To some this may be a surprise, and to others it will be old news. Only three hundred and sixty students, on a college campus which boasts over nine hundred students, voted in the student governing board elections. This representation is not a credit to a fine college which is turning out future leaders, for every student had time to vote on election day. The HE corridor is centrally located, most of us pass through at least once a day if not several times.

It is easy to remember when six hundred and thirty students voted in the S. S. A. election. At the time, we thought it bad when approximately three hundred didn't vote. Comparatively speaking, that commission was a mere drop in the bucket to what happened in this last governing board election. We should consider it a privilege to vote for student representatives, and nine hundred and sixty ballots should be in the box after every election.

It should take some of us a long time to think of a good legitimate excuse for not voting. Maybe this is being blunt, but it is time we awoke to what we are not doing. When the next school election rolls around, let's get out and vote. It is, fundamentally, just as important to vote here in school, as it is to participate in local, state, or national elections.

MISSED A BUTT CAN?

During the last several weeks it has come to my attention that many wastepaper and cigarette butts have been collecting around the entrances to all buildings on the campus. It must be taken into consideration that some of this debris has blown in from the streets, but that does not excuse us from putting our own wastepaper and butts in the proper receptacles. It doesn't take long to step over to one of the butt cans instead of throwing "from a distance" and hoping that the waste hits its mark. When a fraternity spends time and money to provide the necessary trash cans, we should show our appreciation by using them.

In the future, let's help keep the entrances to all buildings as neat as possible. We are the ones who will benefit from this worthwhile effort.

Hi Fellow Inmates,

Are you enjoying this beautiful spring weather that we are having? It seems to be snowing all over now-adays, and it sure is getting pretty deep. How any faculty member can say that the Keyhole column is a waste of space is beyond me. I wish this faculty member would come out into the open and state what is wrong with this column. In respect to this mysterious instructor, the keyhole column will not be printed this week.

Fellow inmates, what is your response to this controversy? Which do you prefer, the Keyhole column, or a scientific article on how some thing-a-majig works?

During the next week or two, some of you students will be approached to give your opinion. How about co-operating with us by giving us your opinion.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

What did you think about the MAP production, "Double Door"?

Augie Schulz — I didn't get to see it, but from what I hear, I missed a great presentation.

Paul Rauth — I thought it was very good, but I thought my high school did a little better job, probably because we had better facilities.

Jim Brown — It was one of the best student productions I have seen, and I hope that MAP will put on some more of the same kind.

Fred Hodges — I didn't get to see it because I had to work, but from what I hear of it, I'm sure not going to miss the next one.

Eugene Sawyer — I think the butlers were the best part.

"Corkey" Collette — I thought it was very good and should be followed by more of the same kind.

Roger Herried — I didn't see it, but I hear it was very good.

Norm Lenius — I thought the play was very good, much better than any student play we've had at Stout for a long time.

Bob Berg — It was good, legitimate entertainment, which is long overdue at Stout; it left nothing to be desired.

The following item defines what some call a considerate professor: "A considerate professor is an instructor who talks a person to sleep, then wakes that person up five minutes early so he won't be late for the next class."

Angry father: "You young brat—I'll teach you to kiss my daughter."

Brat: "Too late—I've learned already."

At a party in Hollywood, a former beauty was finishing her boring and long-winded talk by telling her listeners that years ago the public had called her the girl with the "Hour glass figure."

In the background one of the spirited guests raised his glass up rather high and toasted the former beauty by saying: "Time marches on!"

There may be such a thing as the "age of discretion" but no one has ever lived long enough to reach it.

A couple in a small town were at home, the husband was reading the evening paper and his wife was in the kitchen doing the supper dishes. The husband looked out the window and then he casually said: "There goes that woman our neighbor Mr. Love is so terribly in love with."

The wife, who was in the kitchen, dropped the dish that she was drying, stormed out of the kitchen, knocked over a floor lamp, tripped over a living room rug, and just about went through the living room window. She stretched her neck for a good view.

"Where, where?" she inquired.

"There," he answered, "that woman in the milk coat on the corner."

"You D--- FOOL," she hissed, "that's his wife."

"Yes, I know," the husband replied triumphantly.

As a certain young couple was tripping the light fantastic, and sometimes he tripped her and she also did likewise. The young man turned finally to his partner and said: "You want to know something about my family?"

Lady: "What about your family?"

Dancer: "Well, dancers run in our family."

Tactful young thing: "So, I've noticed."

An FBI agent was traveling through one of the Mid-western states, so he stopped in a small town for something to eat. Well, this agent was rated by the FBI as one of their best marksmen and naturally he was always interested in the shooting skill of others. So after finishing his meal, he looked the town over for some evidence of shooting skills. As he was looking around the town, and he spotted some homemade targets with some startling evidence of someone's shooting, because every target had a perfect bulls-eye. So the agent inquired around the town, he spotted some turned out that the marksman was the town's moron. Although his I. Q. was low, the evidence proved that this character had great skill with a gun.

FBI agent: "I've noticed your skill with a gun and I want to know how you are able to shoot so skillfully. How do you do it?"

Moronic Marksman: "Well, I shoot's and then I draws the circle afterwards."

A college student applying for a job as a mail carrier:

The question which startled the college student read as follows: "How far is it from the earth to the moon?"

Stude: "If that's the route I am to travel, I don't want the the damned job."

CENSUS BLANKS FILLED OUT BY STUDENTS

Population Of Menomonie Swells With Addition Of 850 College Students To 1950 Census

Ninety-four per cent of students attending Stout will swell the population in Menomonie for the 1950 census count. Six per cent of the Stout enrollment is estimated as living here or commuting to their home towns. A census bureau ruling that makes college students residents of the cities where they attend school will give some Wisconsin cities disproportionate population growths, as witness the 850 number push which Stout gives to the city here.

The enrollment in Wisconsin major educational institutions and estimated out of city attendance is as follows:

SIX GIRLS PARTICIPATE IN PHI U INITIATION

In an impressive ceremony at 7:00 on Sunday morning, April 16, Nancy Haertlein, Aino Nylund, Geraldine Raisler, Elizabeth Severson, Ruth Voss, and Dorothy Krushas were initiated into Tau Chapter, the local chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron, national honorary home economics fraternity.

Following the initiation, the new members were presented with lovely corsages of yellow and white daisies. A breakfast of assorted fresh fruits, Swedish tea ring, and coffee was served by a committee headed by Florence Severson and Helen Wolsey. Ruth Ann Christensen, president, and Rosella Trangsrud, vice president did the pouring.

NEWMAN CLUB ENJOYS BRUNCH AND MOVIE

You Can Change the World was the movie shown at the April Newman Club brunch, Sunday April 16, after the ten o'clock Mass at which the Newmanites received Holy Communion in a body.

The movie You can Change the World explained the Christopher movement. Some of the outstanding stars in the movie were Loretta Young, Irene Dunne, Ann Blyth, Bing Crosby, Jack Benny, Rochester, and Bob Hope. The movie was educational and entertaining.

Scrambled eggs and polish sausages, hot rolls, ice cream, cookies, and coffee composed the brunch. Those responsible for the delicious meal were all of those with green eyes.

A picnic is planned for Sunday May 4, with Pete Schellinger as chairman.

All of those present who found a penny under his plate were automatically drafted as the clean-up committee.

TAINTER HALL GIRLS GIVE PARTY

Tainter Hall was the scene of a fun-packed combined Hall and Annex dorm party on Friday, April 14. The dining hall was transformed into a ballroom for dancing, with decorations carried out in an "April Showers" theme by Joan Staehle and her committee. Card tables were set up in various parts of the Hall where card games of every sort were the chief attraction. All recreation was in the hands of Virginia Lane.

Midway in the evening, a committee under Ardis Olson passed around refreshments consisting of open-faced sandwiches in various sizes and shapes, ice cream bars, and milk.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY PHILOS

At a meeting held in the Harvey Memorial on April 13, the Philomatheans installed their new officers. The old officers turned over their office to each new one. The new officers for 1950 and '51 are: President-Carol Hanson; Vice-president-Viola Leiskau; Secretary-Geraldine Raisler; and Treasurer-Betty Potthast. Historian elected was Jane Wooldridge and reporter-Rosemary Goede.

Following the installment of new members was a cultural program. A book review on Nothing So Strange was given by Barbara Lovering and a declamation of "Arsenic and Old Lace" was given by Carol Hansen.

CLASSES HELP REDECORATE ART ROOM

The painting of the House Furnishings room and the crafts room has now been completed. Following the latest trends in interior decoration, the rooms have been given a very gay and spacious look.

Plans for the re-decoration of these rooms were made by the members of the House Furnishings class last semester under the direction of Miss Amon. The class selected for the draperies in the room the hunting scene print "Fauna," and from the colors in the draperies, which they are now making, the class determined the colors for the walls and the other decorations in the room. The main room now has three walls of a shade of greenish-grey and the fourth wall of a brilliant orange-red. Carrying through with the plan, the crafts room has been painted a light shade of greyed green and Miss Amon's office, yellow.

In painting the rooms, all the woodwork and cabinets on each of the walls were painted the same color as the wall to give a feeling of spaciousness and unity. A special job of remodeling has been done on the set of cabinets on the East wall of the main room. The cabinets have been made lower and have had a new top put on them and also new handles.

Miss Amon reports that in addition to the work that has been completed thus far, a bulletin board extending the full length of the room and a glass display case will be added. Upon completion of the re-decoration plan, the rooms promise to be very colorful, inviting, and of special interest for decoration trends.

LSA ELECT OFFICERS FOR COMING YEAR

On April 2, the Lutheran Students association elected new officers for the following year. They are as follows: president, Jean Van Liew; vice president, Warren Wold; secretary, Kathryn Ziehm; treasurer, Gaylord Roe; mission secretary, Russel Boettner; publicity, Charmaine Chopp and Don Landsverk; librarian, Gerry Erickson. The preceding officers with Emery Nelson as president were responsible for the job of planning the programs for the past year. Much time was spent in planning the LSA events, which included a week end trip to Gustavus Adolphus College at Saint Peter, Minnesota, last fall.

STUDENT UNION GETS NEW COFFEE MAKER

Our Union is now the proud owner of a new coffee maker, and soon will have another. The burners of these hot plates are encased and are not of the open wire and step-up type, which will eliminate greatly the danger of accidents.

In all, the Union now has eight burners for making coffee, including four for high speed cooking and four for warming.

32 GIRLS ENROLLED IN SQUARE DANCING

Mrs. Reuhl's advanced square dancing class has been meeting every Tuesday from 9-10 p.m. in the gym since April 4. There are now four complete sets, or 32 girls in all, enrolled in the class. For the benefit of those who have not had the beginning square dancing, the simple dances are included. Advanced students are learning to call dances and teach beginners. More complex dances will be studied later. At the end of the semester the class plans to sponsor an all-school square dance.

STOUT HAWAIIANS IN HONOLULU NEWSPAPER

The April 7 issue of the Honolulu Star Bulletin gives some publicity to The Stout Institute by printing a picture of the Hawaiian group at the college performing during the recent Stunt Night.

WISEMILLER WINS CARD PARTY GRAND PRIZE

An all-school card party, sponsored by the Arts and Crafts club, was held last Saturday, April 15, in the Stout gym.

The club decided to offer a card party to offset the full schedule of dances that have filled the school activities. Cards of all types were played, ranging from the now-popular Canasta to the ever-popular Sheep's head and Pinochle.

Prizes were offered for high scorers and runners up in all of the various classifications. The prizes consisted of projects made by the members of the club at their regular work meetings, and included serving trays, plastic salad sets, knife holders, plastic jewelry boxes and cigarette boxes, and leather key cases.

A grand prize was awarded to Margaret Wisemiller whose name was picked by Mrs. Kranzusch, wife of Ray Kranzusch, faculty adviser of the club. The prize consisted of a plastic picture frame made by members of the club and a portrait of the winner to be taken by club member Warren Barberg.

SEWING TABLE ON TRIAL IN CLOTHING LAB

A trial sewing table, combining a roll-a-way sewing machine and a "pull-out" cutting table, has now been in use for nearly two weeks in Miss Jeter's clothing laboratory.

Plans for the table had long been under discussion. Drawings were made by Mr. Roen, and the table was constructed by an outside firm. The table measures 86" by 37", and is made of oak.

Besides the roll-away sewing table and "pull-out" cutting table, there are also these practical features: a wide cupboard for purses and books, a drawer for attachments, a middle section for the storage of a portable ironing board and pressing equipment, and a drawer on the other side for each girl to keep her material and sewing equipment.

Girls have been using the table to discover any necessary changes which may be "worked into" the other nine tables yet to be constructed. Some of the suggestions already made are: "Make the drawer for the attachments deeper," and "Place the sewing machine on the right hand side a few inches closer to the end."

Other plans for the improvement of the clothing lab include the installation of fluorescent lighting, venetian blinds, and the painting of the room in a color scheme including yellow and light green.

HOME EC. CLUB HOLDS ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Home Economics club recently announced its newly-elected officers for the coming year. Beverly Brehmer was elected president elect; Beverly will work with President Dorothy Amendt throughout the coming year. Other officers are as follows: vice president, Beverly Hedlund; secretary, Leverage Ablard; and treasurer, Gerda Ravenholt.

STOUT CAFETERIA NOW OWNS DISHWASHER

"Streamlined, time-saving, and simple to operate," are only a few words that describe the new automatic dishwasher that was installed in the cafeteria during January of this year.

Many reported advantages of the new dishwasher in comparison to the old one are that it takes little human effort during the process of dishwashing; it is simple to operate; it is "nice looking"; and it takes less room. It also thoroughly disinfects the dishes. The only dishes that are towed are the silverware and glassware.

The dishes are fed and removed from the dishwasher by the means of an automatic tray. The very hot rinsing water "makes for a quick self-drying job."

Why do the boys who work in the cafeteria kitchen prefer the new dishwasher? Their answer is simple: "It's easier and washes a lot faster."

All in all, if you want to see a "real" automatic dishwasher work, you should observe the one in the Stout Cafeteria dishwashing kitchen.

GRADE SCHOOL PUPILS VISIT STOUT CAFETERIA

Twelve seventh grade students and their teachers enjoyed breakfast at the Stout cafeteria, Wednesday, April 5. The pupils, accompanied by student teachers Miss Betty Braun and Miss Marion Saari, had never had the experience of eating in a cafeteria, so they decided to do this as a part of their unit on breakfast. After breakfast, the group toured the cafeteria kitchen to see how breakfast is made on a large scale.

The class, composed of girls from Coddington and North grade schools, and the Model school, is studying a breakfast unit in which they learn to prepare and serve breakfasts. At the end of the unit, a breakfast will be served to their mothers.

LYCEUM COMMITTEE ANSWERS ACCUSATIONS

Committee States That The Surplus Money Problem Was Settled In Agreement

(Ed. Note: One month ago in the March 31 issue of the Stoutonia appeared an open letter to the paper, a letter from Mr. Lee Flanders. The newspaper, through reporter Glenn Sommers, gave rebuttal. The Assembly-Lyceum committee waited and now gives its rebuttal to both Flanders and Sommers.)

To the Editor of the Stoutonia:

In the March 31 issue of the Stoutonia the Assembly-Lyceum Committee was criticized by Mr. Lee Flanders for its failure to disseminate any news concerning the disposal of an "eight hundred odd dollar" surplus, and by Mr. Glenn Sommers, a reporter for the Stoutonia, for its failure to cooperate with the staff of the paper. The Committee wishes to take this opportunity to reply to both of these charges.

First, the matter of the surplus. At the time of the writing of Mr. Flanders' letter the Committee had a $900 surplus over and above its requirements for a working balance. This surplus accumulated this past year as a result of a final straightening out of G. I. accounts for the past few years. The amount which non-veterans pay as Assembly-Lyceum fees are credited immediately to the Committee's account, but payments for veterans are credited to the Committee's account by the Business Manager only after they are received from the Government. These veterans funds were not credited to the Committee for a few years because Government payments are often slow and because of the shortage of help in the Business Office. The accounts have now been brought up to date as of September 1, 1949. Hence the surplus.

The Committee spent many hours considering the disposal of this surplus. Many suggestions were offered including spending the money on a program for the students, contributing to the organ fund, and helping to renovate the stage in the auditorium. The first suggestion was rejected because the Committee felt that since a major share of this money had been contributed by students who no longer are in school, the money should be spent on something more permanent than a night's entertainment. The second proposal was rejected because the administration notified the Committee that it had arranged to pay for the organ. The third suggestion was finally adopted because the stage is badly in need of repair, and because the Committee was given reasonable assurance that once a start was made repairing the stage, the chances were very good that further funds would be made available for the completion of the job. It is estimated that the completed project—including repairing the front of the stage, new footlights, and a new switchboard—will cost over $5,000.

It is true, as Mr. Flanders states, that at first consideration of the Committee's suggestion, the Student Governing Board rejected the suggestion and recommended that the money be used to buy a new movie projector for the auditorium. The Student Affairs Committee in turn considered the Governing Board's proposal but discovered that because of technical difficulties a larger projector would be impractical and that projectors—in contrast to stage improvements—are relatively easy to obtain from budget funds. Upon reconsideration, the Student Governing Board, in a joint meeting with five members of the Assembly-Lyceum, decided that the Committee's suggestion for spending the money on stage improvements should be adopted.

Mr. Flanders did not know the facts when he stated that the Assembly-Lyceum Committee rejected the Student Governing Board's recommendation to buy a new movie projector and when he stated that the money now lies dormant.

Second, the matter of reporting to the students the decisions of the Assembly-Lyceum Committee. The Committee has been and is ready to provide any information requested concerning its decisions. It is not true, however, Mr. Sommers stated in his reply to Mr. Flanders, that the Committee has "assigned the position of reporter to a member of [its] group." The Committee does have two members assigned to publicity work, but their duties involve no more than advertising coming productions so that as many students as possible know what these productions will be.

No, Mr. Sommers, your excuses are very weak. It is the function of a newspaper to get important news; it is not the function of an organization to hand it over on a platter. What newspaper ever used a shortage of reporters as an excuse for missing important stories? If six or eight pages have to be filled, your reporters can just as well write about important matters as about events which have already happened or which concern only a few students.

It is true that members of the newspaper staff spend time writing their stories. Naturally. The members of the Assembly-Lyceum Committee—students as well as faculty—also spend many hours trying to get the best possible entertainment for the money available.

It is the Committee's hope that this presentation of the facts will help to inform students of the work of their Committee. The members of the Assembly-Lyceum Committee welcome any suggestions or criticisms from students or faculty, and are ready at all times to provide the Stoutonia with any information requested.

I love the paper,
I think it's swell.
On Friday mornings
I run pell mell
To get my copy,
And read each line.
The stories and columns
I think are fine.
I laugh at the jokes,
I read all the ads;
I note all the news,
I take up the fads.
When I praise the paper,
I scorn those who laugh.
I'm really most loyal—
I'm on the staff.

LSA HOLDS ELECTION AND HEARS SPEAKER

LSA met in the church parlors of Our Savior's Lutheran church at 5:30 p.m. on April 2. A delicious supper of barbeques, jello fruit salad, rolls, cupcakes, and coffee was served by Jean Pengilly.

Emery Nelson, retiring president, then took over for the election of officers, who are as follows: president, Jean Van Liew; vice president, Warren Wold; secretary, Katie Ziehm; treasurer, Gay Roe; librarian, Gerry Boettner; publicity, Charmaine Chopp Erickson; mission secretary, Russ and Don Landsverk; membership, Gordon Goessner; fellowship, Don Winters and Joanne Buboltz. These new officers will be installed at a later meeting. Mr. Reneson, General Industrial Mechanics teacher, new adviser to LSA replacing Miss Strand, librarian, was introduced to the group.

The evening's devotional service opened with the group singing some hymns. K. Windberg then proceeded with scripture reading and prayer. After that Karl introduced the speaker, Miss McCalmont, who spoke on "Earthen Vessels" (how we should use the gifts God has blessed us with to the fullest extent).

The meeting closed with the forming of the Friendship Circle and the singing of "Blest Be The Tie That Binds."

LIBRARY NOTES

New Books in the Library

High Jungle, by William Beebe.

Beebe is just as good in his account of explorations in the jungles of Venezuela as in his books about undersea exploration.

Cradle of the Storms, by Father Bernard Hubbard.

This book, written by the Glacier Priest in 1935, tells about the search for the spot where the worst storms of the northern world originate. In spite of the best preparation possible, exploration in Alaska is always an adventure, and Father Hubbard knows how to write the adventure story.

Flight Into History, by Elsbeth Freudenthal.

This biography of the Wright brothers does not settle all the controversies about them, but it does give a fair-minded account of their achievements. Of special interest is the record of their association with Octave Chanute.

Textbooks in Education.

This report by the American Textbook Publishers Institute has suggestions for writers of textbooks as well as for users of these indispensable aids. The book includes a chapter on the history of the textbook in America.

VETERANS OFFICE

After three years of scientifically controlled testing and development, the Veterans Administration is making the suction socket artificial leg available to eligible veterans who have suffered leg amputations above the knee of a character which makes its use medically feasible.

The VA said that during the past two years, it had tested more than 500 amputee veterans in its experimental program on the suction socket leg. Successful results were obtained in a great majority of the cases, the VA said.

This above-knee artificial leg differs from the conventional artificial leg in that it has no pelvic hinges or suspension harness. The leg is held to the stump by moderate suction created in the closed socket each time the leg is lifted from the ground in walking.

The suction socket leg is designed to give greater freedom of movement in all directions, appears more like part of the body and does away with the discomfort of the pelvic belt (a heavy belt with steel hinge fitted to the waist).

The earliest known reference to the suction socket is in a patent issued by the United States Office in 1863 to Dubois D. Parmelee of New York. The principle of the suction socket was the attachment of the socket to the amputee's stump by atmospheric pressure.

Others, both in this country and abroad, experimented with the suction socket principle of suspension, but it was only after the recent war that this country studied the suction socket leg in a cooperative program of limb makers, medical experts and scientists.

With the joint cooperation of the Advisory Committee on Artificial Limbs of the National Research Council, University of California, Orthopedic Appliance and Limb Manufacturers Association, the Army, Navy and other interested organizations, the VA sponsored an extensive program to determine the possibilities and limitations of the suction socket limb.

Besides the more than 500 veterans who were tested in the VA program, a much larger number of non-veteran amputees have been fitted with successful results by the artificial limb industry.

Also during the past two years, short courses have been conducted in various parts of the country to instruct over 300 orthopedic surgeons and limb fitters in the technical details of prescribing, fabricating and fitting the suction socket leg.

Effective January 18, 1950, the suction socket leg was made available, upon request, to eligible disabled veterans through the established artificial limb program of the VA. When a new limb is required to replace an unserviceable limb previously issued to the veteran, the suction socket leg may be selected by the amputee upon medical prescription by a surgeon certified by the VA. A list of certified surgeons has been distributed to all VA Regional Offices, Hospitals and Centers.

The VA emphasized that no suction socket legs will be furnished to veterans without prior examination of the stump by a surgeon on the VA certification list and a written prescription signed by the examining physician.

Amputee veterans who are eligible for a new artificial leg, may obtain complete information about the suction socket leg from the Prosthetic and Sensory Aids Unit of the nearest VA Regional Office.

Research on the suction socket leg was only part of a broad VA research program in prosthetic devices and for the development and testing of all types of artificial limbs, aids for the blind, orthopedic braces and hearing aids. This research program, VA prosthetics experts said, will not only aid the disabled veteran, but will ultimately be of benefit to the civilian handicapped throughout the nation.

calenders which put a smooth hard finish on the paper. The rolls of paper are then cut into sheets of various sizes, sorted and inspected, trimmed, wrapped, and shipped to the customers.

Due to an insufficient source of water power the Kimberly mill generates most of its own hydro electric power by steam from coal. To produce the 10 car loads of paper shipped out every day requirements are 300 tons of coal, 10 million gallons of filtered water, 6 million gallons of screened water, and 300 cords of wood, plus a multitude of other materials. It requires approximately 1 cord of wood, 1 ton of coal, and 56,000 gallons of water to produce 1 ton of paper. To provide the Kimberly mill of enough pulp wood in the future, reforestation measures to balance the cutting have been developed to a point where the Kimberly mill is assured of a perpetuity of pulp supply.

At 1:00 the group assembled at the Appleton Post Crescent newspaper plant. The tour of the plant began in the business office, where the reporters and others begin the paper, then to the photographer where pictures are fixed up or taken for the paper, next to the composing room, and then to the pressroom where a 48 page paper comes off the press printed, folded, inserted, and counted at the rate of 400 per minute.

One of the newest inventions in newspaper production has been in use by the Appleton Post Crescent for about a year. It is the teletypesetter. News brought in by wire is automatically typed on the teletype machine. After the news is screened, an operator takes this typed news and sets it on a teletypesetter which punches holes in a ribbon of paper: the holes or combinations of holes represent letters of the alphabet. The ribbon is then put in the teletypesetter attachment on the linotype machine and the machine runs automatically. Using this method, one linotype operator could keep an eye on and operate two or three machines at one time.

From the newspaper plant, the group went to the Appleton Coated Paper company. There they saw paper coated by various means in a variety of colors. The Appleton Coated Paper company does not produce any of their own paper; buying it they coat it according to customer orders. The mill produces several different types of coatings, coats almost any kind of paper, and has a versatile selection of colors. It does not have a supply of coated papers but fills customers orders directly. Friday morning found the field trippers at the Marathon Company Ink plant. Here also a brief lecture was given as to the ingredients and processing involved in the manufacture of printing inks. Different inks for the different printing processes and various printing presses are made in a wide range of colors. Here also the customer can have ink made to suit his particular needs.

After the tour of the ink plant the group spent the remainder of the morning in the School of Vocational and Adult Education in Menasha, Wisconsin. The school has junior high school of seventh and eighth grade, four years of senior high school, two years of University Extension work, and the Vocational school, having apprenticeship training and trade extension. Trade extension consists of 400 hours of school training along with six years in the trade. The head of the printing department, Harold Griffith, gave the group a hearty welcome. Mr. Griffith is a graduate of Stout and has been in the printing trade for 35 years. There are a great many printing industries and other industries related to printing in that area and consequently a demand for labor qualified along those lines. Mr. Griffith acts as a coordinator between the industries and the school in an attempt to solve industry's problems. According to Mr. Griffith, an analysis of the area as to positions available is made in an attempt to help place students to the benefit of industry and the student.

Mr. Griffith also gave the group much sound philosophy on teaching. He said, "Teaching is a satisfying experience. In being a specialist you must know what is going on ahead and behind you to get along in your specialty. Also you must have a capacity and interest in your work to get along in it and remain happy. In being in a school it is a good thing for a teacher to find out what the student loves to do most of all and then help him to reach success in that which he loves. This, however, is a difficult job. Now schools have exploratory courses and experiences which are a valuable aid in successful guidance. It is a hard thing not to put students where they should not be. In teaching, the new teacher should not expect every day to be rosy. Teaching is not a Utopia. Kids size up a teacher consciously or unconsciously and can make teaching a very trying experience. The teacher should attempt to place a good attitude in his pupils, for if their attitude is right, the teacher can teach them anything. The teacher's attitude also means a great deal. If your attitude in teaching is wrong then you might as well stay home."

Also Mr. Griffith said to be up to date and accept new ideas in the teaching field when they were proved sound. He said, however, "Be evolutionary in method rather than revolutionary." According to Mr. Griffith the satisfaction of seeing pupils in work they love, marrying, buying homes, and settling down in a community is adequate compensation for not getting a good salary.

Doc Huges, a recent graduate of Stout, is the printing instructor under Mr. Griffith in the school printing department. Doc took the group on a tour of the school shops, Home Economics laboratory, and athletic department.

After dinner the field trippers spent two hours in the North Western Engraving company. A guide took them through in small groups giving detailed explanations on the various processes of making engraved printing plates, and answering all questions asked by the group along the way. The plant makes various plates for many different printing firms and also school year books.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in the Neenah high school, visiting the print shop. Mr. Poellinger is the instructor in the shop, and is also a graduate of The Stout Institute. A good display of printing done by the students was seen, among which was some very fine two-color letterheads. Mr. Poellinger was glad to have a Stout group visit the school and also gave the group valuable suggestions as future teachers. The principal of the school spent a few moments with the STS, welcoming them to the school.

Saturday morning brought the STS field trippers to their last visit, the Neenah Paper company. The Neenah mill produces high grade rag content business papers. The paper ranges from the base quality of 25% rag content to the best quality of 100% rag content.

The basic process in making the paper is the same, except the rags are used in place of wood. The speed and size of the machines vary, however, in order to produce a higher grade paper. The equipment is designed for quality instead of quantity. The paper machines therefore produce about 250 feet of paper per minute compared with 1400 feet per minute on some paper machines making paper from wood fibers.

At five o'clock Saturday evening a tired and weary group pulled into Menomonie after an interesting and very educational two and a half days of field tripping. As future printing instructors, they acquired many valuable pointers and experiences in their field.

PHI U SPRING TEA HELD WEDNESDAY

Patricia Vogels, junior from Green Bay, Wisconsin, was elected president of Phi Upsilon Omicron for the coming year at the organization's annual election of officers, Monday, April 17. Pat will succeed Ruth Ann Christensen, who has been president this past year.

The vice president's position, now held by Rosella Trangsrud, will be filled by Ann Banker. Corresponding secretary Margaret Perman will hand her job to Barbara Lovering and Ruth Schrader will receive the recording secretary's books from Florence Severson.

The positions of treasurer and chaplain, now held by Frances Gray and Jean Waltzer, will be filled by Dorothy Amendt and Leverage Abland respectively. The librarian vacancy left by Lois Quist will be filled by Geraldine Raisler. Faye Lehner will take the position of historian, now held by Virginia Grunsted. The marshall, Leona Goetsch, relinquishes her position to Bernice Danzinger, and Nancy Haertlein follows Caroline Lanzer as editor.

These new officers of the Stout chapter of the national honorary Home Economics fraternity will be installed at the regular meeting on Monday, May 1. At that time they will take over all the duties contained in their respective offices.

Capt. Paul Buskey, Middlebury, '38

Air Intelligence, U.S. Air Force

An excellent student at Middlebury College, Vermont, Paul found time to win the coveted All Sports Trophy in his senior year. He graduated in June, 1938.

He then joined a coated paper mill firm as research and control man. Pearl Harbor changed all that—Paul went to Maxwell Field to begin Aviation Cadet training.

An outstanding Cadet, 2nd Lt. Paul Buskey was held over as an instructor after graduation. Then he was assigned as a pilot in the Air Transport Command.

His big plane education was topped with 23 missions over the far-famed "Hump," flying C-54 transports. After V-J Day, he stayed on in the Far East until March of 1946—specializing in Air Intelligence.

Back home, after accepting a Regular Air Force Commission, Captain Buskey went to Air Tactical school, was there rated an outstanding student, and won assignment to Command and Staff school.

Today, Captain Buskey is an Air Intelligence Officer on MATS Headquarters Staff at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington, D. C. He looks forward to a rewarding future in the U. S. Air Force.

MISS KILLIAN SHARES TRAVELS WITH TEAROOM

Reflections of Glamor of Famous Eating Places of World Displayed

The following feature article was written by Helen M. Helm for The Stout Institute feature writing class. It appeared originally in the "Eau Claire Leader-Telegram", from which the following is quoted:

An original tearoom idea by which Miss Killian, director of institutional management at The Stout Institute, shares with her patrons the glamor of her travels to the noted eating places of the world has resulted in a unique course, Applied Institutional Management, which is offered at the college. Because the tearoom is one of the favorite eating places on the campus, a system of reservations is necessary. These reservations are eagerly snapped up as soon as the tearoom event is announced.

Typical of the tearoom's famous holiday celebrations of America and foreign countries was the Easter luncheon served to patrons of The Stout Institute tearoom recently. The meal was served buffet style, as this type of service lends itself very nicely to holiday color schemes and ideas.

Remember the Easter bunny nest of your childhood? Well, the tearoom offered one of lime jello containing pineapple, grapefruit and cucumber salad in a ring mold resting on endive. In the center of the ring was placed beet-pickled eggs. To complete the luncheon the menu consisted of: Peach Halve Salads with Philadelphia Cream Balls, Assorted Relish Trays, Buttered Parker House Rolls, Baked Glazed Ham-Loaf garnished with Green and Red Apple Rings, Baked Tuna and Noodle Casserole, Steamed Wild Rice in a Chafing Dish, Orange Ambrosia in Orange Shells, Pecan Balls, Grape Punch, Coffee, Tea, and Milk.

Once each week Miss Killian takes her patrons either on a visit to some section of the United States or a foreign nation or to the celebration of an historical event or a holiday. She accomplishes this by depicting a menu and tearoom setting typical of the atmosphere desired. Visits have already been made to the coffee shops of France, with their rich pastries and desserts, and to the homes of the Dutch, for a taste of simple, hearty foods. Also enjoyed have been the beef typical of South America, and the salads of California.

A graduation dinner for all senior girls is a coming event being eagerly anticipated, as well as visits to some of the famous, summer resorts of the United States that will be projects of the summer session Applied Institutional Management class.

All themes are carried out in color scheme, flowers, china, linens, glassware, and food. The college art department cooperates by designing original menu cards. The meals are not confined solely to buffets and luncheons, but include dinners, brunches, banquets, coffee hours and style shows.

Care in these many details provides a variety of educational experiences to all coeds enrolled in the course. They enjoy the opportunity of developing efficiency in quantity cookery, managerial ability, cookery of various kinds of foods, different types of service, organization of work, entertaining the public, and artistic arrangement of food.

The class meets twice a week, one hour each Tuesday for lecture and discussion, and two hours on Thursday for the preparation and serving of the meal to faculty, their wives or husbands, and the student body. Duties are assigned to each girl; these responsibilities are varied from week to week. After completion of the course, each girl has had full responsibility for all aspects involved in being hostess, manager, waitress, baker, housekeeper, and salad girl.

Members of this semester's class are Phyllis Bartosic, Independence; Ruth Ann Christensen, Kasson, Minn.; Dorothy Groethe, Kindred, N. D.; Janice Jewel, Viola; Elva Lovett, New Matamoras, Ohio; Darlene Nelson, Blum City; Lila Nelson, Tompah; Jane Rezin, Wisconsin Rapids; Geraldine Raisler, Bear Creek; Sister Mary Bertilia, Chicago, Ill.; Sister Mary Filotea, Chicago, Ill.; and Peggy Welch, Menomonie.

Alumni and other readers of the Stoutonia may be interested in testing this recipe of Miss Mary E. Killian, which has proved a favorite with patrons of the Stout tearoom.

One of the popular foods served at The Stout Institute tearoom is an unusual treat, Transparent Butterscotch pie. Miss Killian added this recipe to her collection, after receiving it from a farm homemaker in a small Nebraska community. A favorite whenever and wherever served, the recipe is practical, time saving, and inexpensive—for it uses water instead of the milk generally used in butterscotch pie:

Transparent Butterscotch Pie
 1½ c. B. Sugar 1½ c. Water
 2 T. Flour 2 T. Cornstarch
 1 t. Salt 2 Egg Yolks
 1 T. Butter 1 t. Vanilla
 Mix sugar, flour, cornstarch, and salt thoroughly. Stir in hot water gradually. Cook until thick. Add this mixture to beaten egg yolks a little at a time. Remove from fire; add vanilla and butter. Cool. Pour into baked pie shell. Cover with meringue. If a thicker filling is desired, add an additional tablespoon of cornstarch.

FEIKE FEIKEMA, NOTED AUTHOR SPEAKS HERE

Feike Feikema, author of five novels and frequent contributor to magazines, spoke to Mr. Howard Hoving's class in American Literature on Thursday, April 13. Mr. Feikema is distinguished not only by his ability as an author, but also by his size. He stands six feet nine inches tall, and since the death of Thomas Wolfe is the tallest American author. At the present time, in addition to his writing, Mr. Feikema conducts a seminar in creative writing at Macalaster college in Minneapolis.

Mr. Feikema told briefly why he has chosen to spend his time writing instead of teaching, or doing any of hundreds of other occupations. He traced the beginnings of his interests in writing to the inspiration received while still a boy, the inspiration coming from his aunt who told him that to become an author was the greatest achievement possible. When he first began to write, he imitated the styles of other authors, but soon found out that if he was going to be able to say what he felt within him, he would have to use a style of writing which would reflect his own experiences.

Until the publication of his first novel, The Golden Bowl, in 1944, he received little or no encouragement from friends or relatives. Yet he believed he had written something good and with faith in himself he continued writing. His perseverance has resulted in his writing of five novels, for one of which he received a $1,000 prize from the Academy of Arts and Sciences.

LIFE SAVING CLASS TO RECEIVE CERTIFICATES

Since February 6, the life saving class has been meeting two times a week for instruction on water life saving practices. The instruction consisted of lecture and demonstrations on land, shallow and deep water. The students practiced approaches, learned to analyze situations and break holds, and did many other things pertinent to water work.

The students who pass the course will be given Senior Life Saving certificates from the St. Louis Red Cross office. With these certificates the holders can get life guard positions and are eligible for class work that will give them teachers certificates in life saving.

Around 32 students started the class and about 20 will get certificates. Dave Tank, the instructor, says that he wanted the class to be the best that has come out of Stout. He has pushed the students hard and has held some extra sessions to make sure he gave them as much pertinent information as possible. Dave is pleased with the progress and fortitude of the students, and is very much pleased with the fine work of the class.

SIX MEN COMPLETE FIRST AID COURSE

On March 28, six Stout students completed the Advanced First Aid Course which was offered by the American Red Cross. The students who completed the course are Ernest Collette, Joseph Hainault, Morris McFarlane, Robert Miller, Robert Phillips, and Leonard Westberg.

These men had previously passed the Red Cross Standard First Aid course and now after passing the Advanced course are eligible to take the Instructor's Course. This First Aid Instructor's Course will be offered to all eligible students during the last week of April and the first week of May. Starting April 24, a representative of the National Red Cross will be here at Stout to give Instructor's Training in First Aid and also in Water Safety.

PAINTING OF FIGURINES TO BE DEMONSTRATED

The Main Street Farmer store has announced that Mr. Eli Barnett of the Barnett Figurine Manufacturing company and his head artist, Mrs. M. Peterson, will give a free Dresden demonstration in their store on Saturday, April 29.

Demonstrations will be given from 10:00 to 12:00 and from 1:00 to 4:00. The demonstration will cover the painting of Figurines and Dresden Craft.

A blanket invitation is extended to all Stout Students to attend this demonstration and to ask all questions necessary to clarify the subject.

EIKEN '28 DESCRIBES GREEN BAY VOCATIONAL

In response to a plea for alumni news, recently issued by National Alumni Secretary Herbert Anderson, the following biographical sketch and newspaper reprint was submitted by H. O. Eiken, director of the Green Bay School of Vocational and Adult Education.

Mr. Eiken began his college training at Oshkosh State Teachers college. He then taught two years—one at Wausaukee, Wisconsin, and one at Beach, North Dakota. He left teaching to enter the 341st Field Artillery of the 89th Division in World War I, serving in France and occupied Germany.

Upon his return from service, Mr. Eiken entered The Stout Institute summer session and by returning summers he earned his Bachelor's degree in 1928. He earned a Master's degree at the University of Wisconsin, also by summer session attendance.

While obtaining his degrees, he inaugurated the Ashland, Wisconsin, program of Vocational and Adult Education. In 1924 Mr. Eiken went to Antigo as Director of Vocational and Adult Education. Since 1928 he has held the directorship of the Green Bay School of Vocational and Adult Education.

With his letter, Mr. Eiken enclosed a copy of the Vocational Record, a publication of his Green Bay school. It contains a reprint of a Green Bay Press Gazette, article describing the rapid growth of the Green Bay School of Vocational and Adult Education.

According to the article, Green Bay is well in front in the growth of vocational education in Wisconsin. By 1912, only one year after the first vocational educational law in the United States, Green Bay's school opened.

Originally, the article states, the peak enrollment was 75 to 100 persons in a curriculum limited to such courses as cooking, sewing, and Americanization. Teachers were selected on the basis of "practical experience" rather than on educational preparation.

Within two years, however, the school required larger quarters. In spite of such problems as water seepage in the building, the Press Gazette notes that the enrollment continued to grow until additional shops were set up in an old YMCA.

In 1930, a three story building was built solely for vocational training. Within ten years an addition was necessary, and in 1946 the federal government added a war surplus building housing barber training, mechanics, and painting and decorating.

In 1949 the block-long beautiful vocational structure had the following enrollment as reported by the Press Gazette: 1,200 day students; 3,434 night school pupils, 390 apprentices, 68 half-time students, 864 part time students, 268 full-time students, for a total of 4,634 persons. A budget of $187,661.82 is required and 160 night classes are offered and 26 day teachers are available.

Mr. Eiken, director, and Miss Emma Toule, assistant director, are quoted by the article as saying the school's growth is not surprising. The Directors say: "If jobs are scarce, people enroll to increase their desirability to an employer, or they register to fill in their vacant hours. In a depression, young people enroll because they can't find work. In war-time, people enroll for special training to meet the demands of industry. If jobs are plentiful, people go to school part-time to advance more rapidly."

Also an encouragement to big enrollment, the Press Gazette believes, is the school's practice of revamping its curriculum to meet current demands and scheduling classes to suit its students. During World War II, the school operated 24 hours a day.

Standards at the Green Bay School of Vocational and Adult Education keep rising, the article concludes. Requirements for teachers are unusually high; for example, full-time teachers in the commercial department have Master's degrees. Other instructors are outstanding in their own field, and teach adult classes only on a part-time basis.

MANITOWOC FINISHES NEW IE DEPARTMENT

New Building Cost $150,000
And Is Built Of Concrete Block; Houses Five Shops

Lincoln high school, in Manitowoc, Wisconsin, has just completed a new addition to its Industrial Arts department. The erection of a new $150,000 shop building adjacent to the high school was begun early in the summer of 1949 and was ready for the opening of school in September. The building shown in the enclosed photo is of white concrete block type construction.

The outside walls are faced on the inside with concrete block, making a double wall construction for insulation purposes. All interior walls are concrete block. The flat roof is supported on a steel framework and is composed of pine planking covered with insulation material and a bonded felt paper tarred roof.

Industrial Arts Building, Lincoln High School, Manitowoc, Wisconsin. Completed September, 1949.

This building is 189 feet long and 102 wide. It houses five shops, an agriculture room, a soil and milk laboratory, a display room, and a classroom for visual instruction. The shops are metals, electricity, drafting, woodwork and auto mechanics. The shops are separated through the center of the building by a wide corridor having lockers on each side. The ceiling and side walls above the lockers are finished in natural knotty pine, giving a very soft and somewhat soundproof passage for students. All shops and classrooms are spray painted with the latest color dynamic color conditioning paints. The color combinations include tints in green for auto and metals shops, tints of blue for electricity, and beige for drafting woodwork. One wall in each room is of a darker tint than the other three, giving a most pleasant effect. All ceilings are white. All furniture and basic machinery are of metallic grey and as the machinery is repainted it will carry out the color program as prepared by the paint companies. Critical areas light-colored, electric switches red, etc. The building contains a great deal of machinery acquired from the government and, as time permits, this will all be repainted to follow the adopted color scheme.

Some may question the use of concrete block in this type construction. It has been found that spray painting the concrete block gives a very soft textured wall in appearance and acts almost as an accoustical material because the hundreds of small openings remain open when spray painted, yet give a solid color to the wall.

About 550 boys are in shops and about 50 in the agriculture department, 24 girls take home mechanics. Since the new shop is about 500 feet from the main high school building, extra time is allowed for passing to and from classes, but in most cases boys enjoy elective industrial courses and make the transition from one building to the other in short order. The distance traveled is perhaps less than some students have to travel within the confines of some of our large metropolitan high schools. All rooms are equipped with loud speakers connected to the main P.A. system in the high school.

The teaching staff of this department includes:

Bernhard Hagen, Woodwork, Head of Department.

Gerald Frogner, Auto Mechanics.

Charles Fuller, Drafting and Metals

William Rienks, Agriculture

Gordon Heffernan, Electricity

These shops have met the long felt need in the community to give high school boys industrial work in connection with their high school courses. It is hoped that the beginnings of the various trades learned here will be continued through apprenticeship and adult education programs at our vocational school. Many local industries have voiced their approval of programs and several garages have donated automobiles (not junkers) to the auto mechanics department for the boys to work on. This truly indicates interest and cooperation on their part. It has been learned through several studies made that about three-fourths of Manitowoc high school boys remain in the city and become wage earners at one trade or another. It is these boys whom the industrial arts program will serve to become better citizens of the community.

ALUMNI BREAKFAST TO BE HELD MAY 6

Stout Institute alumni will gather for a breakfast meeting at the Northland hotel in Green Bay Saturday, May 6, in conjunction with the Wisconsin Association for Vocational Education convention.

The breakfast meeting will begin at 7:30 a.m. in the Pompeian room. Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, president of the Stout Institute, will speak on the subject "Plans for Stout."

Tickets may be secured for the breakfast for $1.50 at the Stout Institute booth in the exhibit area.

A Stout grad of '49, Cyril Berkowitz, is teaching in the high school at Webster, Wisconsin, and he writes: "The school year is fast drawing to a close, and with it my first year of teaching. It has been an extremely active year setting up a new shop, but it has proved very interesting and well worth the experience."

This is the first contact our students have had with industrial arts work, and they have shown a great deal of interest and enthusiasm towards it. I'm teaching drafting and woodwork now, and next year will add another area of work.

Enclosed you will find $1 to cover my alumni dues for 1950-51. I look forward to the Stoutonia every week and don't want to pass any issues up next fall.

Another Stout alumnus has joined the faculty at the high school in Bakersfield, California. His name is Robert Parsons '48 and this brings the number of Stout grads in that locality up to two. The other is Gladys I. Penn '28.

STOUT ALUMNI GROUPS SET UP NEW CHAPTERS

Minneapolis-St. Paul Area
Alumni Plan To Organize
New Stout Alumni Chapter

On March 21, 1950, a nucleus group of the Stout Institute Alumni met at the home of Mrs. Helen Diamond Wicher to plan an installation dinner as the beginning of a new chapter in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area. Those people in attendance were Carl Patrick, Forode Anderson, Robert Crowley, Henry Howe, William Micheels, James Lands, Deborah Roberts, Mrs. Adelle Maxfield, Holly M. Jorgenson, Marion Heatchate, Delores Elliot, Helen Taylor, Maxine Clark Hanson, Henriette Quilling, and Helen Diamond Wicher.

This group has made arrangements for a dinner meeting, which is to be held in the Junior Ballroom of the Coffman Memorial Union of the University of Minnesota on May 4 at 6:15 p. m.

All Stout grads in the area who are interested in attending the dinner should contact Mrs. Helen Diamond Wicher, 27 Groveland Terrace, Minneapolis 5, Minn., or Dr. William J. Micheels before May 1.

Any Stout grads not living in the area but who will be in Minneapolis and would like to attend are also invited. A successful banquet will give the chapter a good send-off. Election of officers for the new group will take place at this time.

HERBERT ANDERSON TALKS TO GRAD CLASS

Mr. Herbert Anderson related his experiences as coordinator at Red Wing, Minnesota, to Dr. Stuart Anderson's graduate class in Coordination, Thursday, April 20.

Mr. Herbert Anderson stated that while the coordinator's pay was usually higher than that for teaching, the work was also more demanding. It was pointed out that the federal and state governments reimbursed the local community for part of the coordinator's salary. The Red Wing program included on-the-job training and adult evening classes, in addition to the diversified occupations cooperative program.

Under the D. O. C. program a student spent one-half a day in school and one-half day in employment. The training program should be determined from the results of a community occupational survey, according to Herbert Anderson. The importance of making use of advisory committees was also stressed. Other agencies which aided the program include the State Employment Service and the State Department of Education. Mr. Anderson explained the importance of the official agreements which contained information on wages and units of instruction.

RACINE GROUP PLANS NEW ALUMNI CHAPTER

Several Stout graduates in the Racine area met at the home of Elsie and Clifford Moe recently. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wheeler (Betty Smith), Mr. and Mrs. Nelan Lovance (Betty Quilling), Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mills (Marion Schultz), Mr. and Mrs. Dane Barry (Betty Larson), and Doris Rydberg Wayne.

The group plans to meet April 29 at the Wheeler home to discuss plans for forming an alumni chapter for the Racine-Kenosha area. Anyone interested is welcome to attend and is asked to contact any of the people who were present at the Moes'.

ALUMNI ORGANIZE A CHAPTER AT SUPERIOR

The following article is from a Superior paper. It tells of the organization of a new Stout Alumni chapter in that area.

"At a recent meeting of a group at the Badger Inn of Hotel Superior, it was planned to organize a local chapter of alumni of Stout Institute. Miss Eleanor Carlson was elected president of the group.

"Miss Eleanor Busse was named secretary-treasurer for the new organization which is planned for social activities as well as professional and promotional work in home economics and industrial arts.

"Any person who is a graduate or has attended Stout Institute will be welcomed to join the alumni group."

Miss Carlson wrote a short letter along with the article telling of the first meeting and the election of officers.

Other Stout graduates who help form the nucleus for the new group include Frank Jewson, Lois Kasmark, Alec Sislo, Herbert Ritzman, and John Jeffers, all of Superior. All graduates of Stout in the Superior area who are interested in joining this group may contact any of these people for information.

ROGER WINDBERG IS NEW GOLF COACH

Roger Windberg has been appointed head golf mentor for the coming season. The newly-chosen Bluedevil coach has the experience and know how that is invaluable in molding a good team.

"Windy" hails from Hibbing, Minnesota. He began his golf career while attending Hibbing high school. He continued as a member of the Hibbing Junior college team where he attended school for two years.

During the years 1939-40-41, Roger was employed as golf pro at the Swan Lake course in Northern Minnesota. Windberg then served 3 1/2 years in the armed service. He completed 98 missions while a member of the U. S. Army Air Force. After being discharged he entered Stout in 1946.

While golfing for Stout, Windy broke the record for the Wisconsin State Teachers College conference by 8 strokes, shooting a 7 under par at Oshkosh two years ago. He also placed second in the Hibbing Northwestern Tournament in 1947. At Stout, Windberg is active as a member of the "S" Club and KFS fraternity.

FIRST MATCH OF GOLF SEASON WON BY STOUT

The Stout golf team won their first match this year at Mankato last Saturday.

The team, coached by Roger Windberg, consisted of veteran members Lyle Johanson, "Chuck" Beaver, Bob Brimer, Gene Landgraf, Marv Friebe, and freshman Louis Precourt.

The Bluedevil golfers accumulated a total of 14 points, while allowing Mankato only 4.

Results of the matches are as follows:

STOUT
Johanson	73
Beaver	77
Brimer	78
Landgraf	86
Friebe	87

CAMPUS LOCALS

On Saturday April 22, Kathleen Welch and Jim Heller were married in St. Joseph's Catholic church. Many of the Stout students attended the very pretty wedding.

Helen Haase modeled her wedding dress at Eichelberger Hall last Monday night. She plans to travel to Milwaukee this weekend. That's where she plans on marrying this summer.

Josephine Haum of Whitewater spent the week-end with her fiancé Don Plale. His long awaited moment finally arrived after two years.

Fred Hodges is taking banjo lessons from Roger Herreid.

We wonder what it is that produces such an attention in Braham, Minnesota for Lloyd Anderson!

Tainter Annex was brightened by the presence of Sue Ryan from Eau Claire who spent the week-end with Marge Lennie.

We heard that Paul Rauth has an unusual job for the coming summer, and we were just wondering what it is!

Dorothy Hilton traveled to Melrose, Wisconsin last week-end to visit her fiancé.

STOUT SPLITS DOUBLEHEADER WITH MANKATO

The Stout Institute baseball team split its first double header of the season, winning the first game 7 to 3 from Mankato Teachers college and losing the second 5 to 1 at Mankato on Saturday.

Neil Maxa, Stout's veteran pitcher, held Mankato to three runs on four hits. Maxa had six strikeouts and gave up three walks. Leading batter for Stout was La Borde with two hits in four tries. Big gun for Mankato was Schoner, who hit a home run in the sixth with a man on base.

In winning the second contest 5 to 1, Mankato bunched two hits with two walks and a fielder's choice in the first inning to score four times. Stout got one run back in the sixth on two hits. In every inning but the second frame, Stout had runners on base, but failed to hit in the clutches.

Zitzmann led the Mankato attack with two hits in four trips. Cataldi paced the Bluedevils with three hits for three. Mankato's winning hurler was Weblenoe, who allowed only one run on five scattered blows. He struck out twelve and walked only one.

For Stout, Janikowski gave five runs on five hits, while striking out five and walking five.

Summaries:

REMEMBER WHEN

Remember When just one year ago student class representatives were elected at student assembly, with the following chosen: Bill Banks, Pat Krause, Warren Barberg, Bob Manson, Milt Miller and Rosella Transgrud? YWCA held a successful candy sale in the HE corridor. Miss Olive Berry of Simplicity pattern company presented a style review entitled "Time Table of Spring Fashions," with girls from the local club acting as models. STS returned from a six-day tour which covered Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, and Wisconsin.

One of the highlights of the social activities of Stout was "Wings of Spring," annual dance sponsored by the freshman class. SSS presented their spring concert for convocation upon return from the annual spring tour. For the singing of "Stout Hearted Men" Mr. Cooke and some of the choir surprised the audience by putting on cowboy hats which they had brought back as souvenirs from Cheyenne, Wyoming.

BADMINTON GAMES TO START SOON

It's a bird, it's a plane, it's Superman: No! I was right the first time: it is a bird, shuttlecock that is. Naturally this article pertains to intramural Badminton. The following rules have been laid down as to the playing of the badminton games. Matches will be played to the convenience of the teams involved. Arrange with your opponent on the time. Games should be played as soon as possible. Equipment can be gotten from the Athletic Office. The persons listed below have formed Badminton doubles teams. Wong and Fong, Fish and Takahama, Rauth and Sawyer, Ahlim and Crachich, Fleming and Young, J. Christensen and Leeg, Pickering and Miller, Mosher and Christensen, and Van Lieu and Forsman.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS BEGAN THIS WEEK

Play Ball! This familiar cry brings intramural softball into the limelight of the Stout Sports world. Eight crack teams have been organized, four in the National league and four in the American league. The sluggers open their season on April 26 at 6 p. m. The teams have a round robin schedule, each team playing five games.

Spring sports finally got under way last week at Mankato. The baseball team coached by Paul Tilleson split a double header with Mankato. Neil Maxa was credited with the first victory, as Stout won 7 to 3. Janikowski was the losing pitcher in the second game as the Bluedevils lost 5-1. Maxa allowed 4 hits, and Janikowski allowed 5.

The golf team won their match and the tennis team lost. That just about evens things up.

The golf team used five veteran members and freshman Lewis Precourt. Lyle Johanson's 73 was low for the afternoon on a par 68 course. Windberg's boys should have a pretty successful season with Johanson, Beaver, Brimer, Landgraf and Friebe back for another year.

Hammerberg's tennis team had some trouble at Mankato, with Frank Tank being the only Stout man to defeat his opponent. The tennis team had only been on the courts two nights of practice before the match.

As a whole, things look as if the spring sports teams will do O. K. for themselves if the weatherman does a little co-operating. All of the teams are going to need all the practice time they can get as soon as the snow melts.

Tomorrow the teams go to La Crosse. The baseball team will play the La Crosse team, while the golf and tennis teams will play La Crosse and Oshkosh in a triangle meet.

TOWER TO BE DELAYED FROM 3 TO 5 DAYS

The Tower staff announced recently that because of circumstances beyond their control, the date of issue has been changed from May 15 to a rather indefinite, but still very encouraging, May 22.

The time element is a bit indefinite because of shipping time. It will take an estimated week for the printers to finish their job after the page proofs reach them, and another week for the binders to get the covers finished and bound. The shipping time between these two companies and the time required to get copies from the binders to the Tower circulation groups will set the time of distribution.

If you are inclined to groan at the change of date, it might be good to remember that in past years the Tower has not been distributed until the last day of school, thereby making it necessary for those who finished their examinations early to pick up their copy when they return in the fall.

BASEBALL OPENER TO BE HERE SAT.; ST. CLOUD

Stout's home baseball season will open Saturday with a scheduled double header against St. Cloud. The game time is set for 1:00 pm, the game being played at Wakanda Park.

The probable starting pitchers will be Maxa, with a 11 record this year, and Janikowski with 01 record thus far. The Stout team will be out to even the series with St. Cloud.

PRE-PROM DINNER TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Tomorrow night, May 6, at 6:00, Sigma Tau Gamma will hold its annual pre-prom dinner in the basement of the Methodist church.

Preparations for the dinner, made by Lorton Layman, chairman of the Sig Tau social committee, call for the seating of approximately ninety alumni members, and their guests.

The dinner is one of the important annual functions of the fraternity.

NSA REGIONAL CONFAB HELD AT STOUT

This past weekend as scheduled, the NSA Regional confab took place here at Stout. You may have noticed some new or different faces around the campus; well they were the delegates of the various other colleges in the state.

Schools represented were La Crosse, Mount Mary, Milwaukee State, Eau Claire, U of Wisconsin, and Stout.

Delegates arrived at 9:30, were served a light lunch, and the first plenary session began immediately afterwards. The agenda for the assembly was presented and accepted and these new offices were filled.

Speakers followed the official business, and they were Robert Swanson, Dean Price, and Craig Wilson, director of publications in the national office of the NSA. Friday's meeting adjourned at 11:10 p. m.

The assembly reconvened at 9 Saturday morning, and divided up into three commissions and one committee to discuss topics relevant to their area. These areas were: Commission on Student Life and Government, Commission on International and National Affairs, Commission on Educational Problems, and Committee on Regional Structure, which was organized to set up a State Teachers College commission, under the Wisconsin region of the NSA.

At the close of the final committee meetings Saturday afternoon, each commission typed its minutes along with the conclusions drawn and the resolutions they had to make and then mimeographed them. These reports and resolutions were then presented to the entire assembly Sunday morning at the final plenary session.

YWCA TO HOLD RETREAT SATURDAY, MAY 6

Saturday, May 6, is the date set for this year's annual retreat of the Stout Young Woman's Christian association. The day's activities, consisting mainly of the installation of the new officers and the planning of next year's program, will begin at 11:30 in the morning. This retreat is being planned as an outdoor activity, including also a picnic.

Officiating at the formal installation of officers will be Jean Bulmer, retiring president. She will turn her office over to Bette Severson for next year. Jean Van Liew will be installed as vice-president, replacing Eileen Deetz; Mary Lou Groom, secretary, replaces Barbara Johnson; and Dorothy Messerschmidt, treasurer, replaces Bette Severson.

LIONS CLUB TO HOLD ATHLETIC BANQUET

Banquet To Honor Stout And Menomonie Athletes; Win Brockmeyer To Be Speaker

An athletic recognition banquet, honoring the achievements of football and basketball players from Stout, Menomonie high school, and the Dunn County Agricultural school, is being sponsored by the Menomonie Lions club and will be held on Monday, May 15, in the basement of Our Savior's Lutheran church at 7:00 p.m.

Members of the Stout faculty and Stout alumni who are interested in recognizing the efforts of athletes of the college during the past year will have an opportunity to purchase tickets for the event. A ticket is $3.00, which includes admission and dinner for the purchasers and also for an athlete who will be his guest.

Highlighting the program will be a talk by Win Brockmeyer, nationally-known Wausau high school football coach. A varsity football player at Minnesota when the Gophers were at their peak, Brockmeyer then coached at Faribault high school, where he developed Bruce Smith, later a Gopher all-American.

In 1939, Brockmeyer moved to Wausau high school, and in his eleven years there has won ten football

"Prom Time!" That's the talk on the campus these days. And, tomorrow is the prom. You're going, aren't you?

There will be "Lilacs in the Rain" as king Clarence "Clancy" Urankar and queen Barbara Pech rule their subjects in this 1950 junior prom. Royal palace for the occasion will be the Company A Armory and the dancing will be from 9 to 12:30 p.m. The music of Ace Samuels' well-known all-Negro orchestra will guide the dancers in this year's promenade.

King Clancy, a Milwaukee man at heart, is a member of the KFS fraternity and of course president of the junior class. His queen, Barbara, is from Necedah, Wisconsin. She is a junior, also, and a member of the Philomathean society. Much of her spare time is spent working in the union and helping Miss McCalmont in the inorganic chemistry laboratory.

Decoration committee for the prom includes: Bohumil Holub, Betty Potthast, Jan Vaughn, and Henry Roesler, with Bette Severson and Shirley Cox contributing ideas. The committee revoices its plea for all junior class members to roll up their sleeves and come to work at the armory. The work will begin on Friday—that's Friday and not Saturday as printed last week—at 4:00.

Come on in! Get your feet wet! Gather "Lilacs in the Rain."

SSS SINGERS RETURN FROM STATE TOUR

The Symphonic Singers left Stout early Monday morning on their annual spring concert tour. Their first concert was at Augusta high school at 10:30 Monday morning. Both the student body and the faculty at Augusta were well pleased with the concert, and the Singers received an invitation to come back often.

From Augusta the group traveled to Madison where they presented parts of their concert over the WHA radio station. At this time recordings were made for future rebroadcast over the Madison network. The vocal numbers were well presented, and should prove to be fine advertisement for The Stout Institute. The group stayed in Madison until 12:00 Tuesday when they left for Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

The concert at Great Lakes was enthusiastically received by 1400 sailors and Waves. In fact, one of the more modernistic numbers knocked a sailor off his feet when he attempted to relay a message back stage and tripped over the footlights. After the concert, the group was entertained at the officers club on the base, where the time was divided between watching television and dancing. Here everyone had a wonderful time, including Mr. Frailey and Mrs. Johnson, their chaperones.

The group received dinner and breakfast at Great Lakes, and Navy chow lived up to all expectations. After the choir had breakfast at Great Lakes, the milk supply at the base hit a new low. Rumor has it that Ralph Myhrman consumed nearly a gallon.

At 8:30 Wednesday morning the choir left Great Lakes and arrived in Milwaukee at 11:00. Wednesday evening at 8:00 the choir presented their concert before a packed house at Kingsley Methodist church. The audience was made up of many Stout alumni and friends who gave an ovation at the end of the concert.

The concert at Wood, which was to have been held on Thursday evening, was cancelled because of an unavoidable conflict, so the choir enjoyed a free night.

Two bus loads of weary songsters climbed aboard at 9:00 Friday morning and arrived in Menomonie at 5:30 in the evening.

Although the weather was miserable throughout the trip, the group compensated for it by their brilliant renditions and the good time that was had by all.

Here are just a few of the comments made by the choir members when they were asked about the trip.

Charmaine Chopp—"It sure was a lot of fun."

Joan Brack—"Wonderful."

Ruth Larson—"The Navy was very entertaining, also the army."

Hat Homer—"I'm broke."

Norm Lenius—"I'm tired."

Dorothy Amendt—"It's remarkable how long you can get along without sleep."

Mary Lou Hickcox—"We went souvenir hunting."

Grace Watson—"The last of my choir trips was as much fun as the other three."

Bud Medtzie—"?????"

Jim Gehrke—"!!!!!"

Don Pennock—"Was a plenty long trip—broke."

Gay Roe—"Nice while it lasted."

Percy Strommen—"And a good time was had by all."

LOCAL PREXY OF AAUW ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Miss Eleanor Cox, associate professor of science at The Stout Institute and president of the local branch of the American Association of University Women, attended the AAUW Northwest Central Region conference at Madison last weekend.

There she heard some of the outstanding educational problems and attended various panel programs and special group interest discussions.

Highlighting this regional conference was an orientation program panel on "A Panoramic View of the AAUW Program."

titles in the Wisconsin Valley conference. He holds a record of winning 46 consecutive grid contests and has rolled up 62 conference victories. In addition, he has had outstanding success as the Wausau high school basketball coach and also is Wausau's athletic director.

Brockmeyer's coaching genius was recognized recently when the National Scholastic Coaches Convention, in a meeting in San Francisco, named him as the outstanding high school football coach in the United States.

In addition to Bruce Smith, Brockmeyer has coached such grid greats as Elroy Hirsch, Wisconsin All-American and professional star, and two present Wisconsin gridgers, Ronnie Strehlau, varsity back, and Charles Behrnt, reputed to be the greatest freshman line prospect ever to attend the university.

Master of ceremonies for the banquet will be C. M. Meisner, Menomonie attorney. Committee chairmen are Don Berg, general arrangements; Marvin Huesby and Archie Johnson, tickets; Tony Storti, speaker and guest arrangements; Paul Hassett and Tom Fleming, publicity; Gus Bakke, food; and Lawrence Michel-book, banquet arrangements.

NSA CONVENTION

If time is not too big an element, let's go back to the NSA conference held from April 21 to 23. The purpose of the conference was to promote an exchange of ideas on current topics, such as educational problems, student life and government, and the Wisconsin state teachers college organization. The reason I mentioned the purpose of the conference was that not very many students attended the meetings. The conference was well advertised in the Stoutonia and everyone was urged to attend. There is a world of difference between reading about a conference and actually attending it.

It might be interesting for students to know that only one fraternity on our campus really took an active part in the conference. The other fraternities did not have many representatives at the various meetings! This is not intended as a slam to the other fraternities, but why weren't they and other groups represented???

From all reports on the conference, we could have gained some good instruction in parliamentary procedure. Is there not one of us who couldn't brush up on this a little bit? Parliamentary procedure will be used by all of us at one time or another.

Here is some food for thought. The students who attended the conference said that we have a very efficient student government, but still we as students do not seem to want to take an interest in keeping our student government one of the best in the region. Think about it a minute. Had this conference been on another college campus, it probably would have been inconvenient for a large body of our students to attend; but there is no excuse for this meager attendance when the conference was held on our campus. The NSA needs all our support, so let's get behind it and make this newly developed organization a success here at Stout. In the future, more conferences like this last one will be held on our campus and there will be more chances for students to attend meetings, so let's take full advantage of those opportunities.

DRINKING PROBLEM

This editorial will not try to say that drinking is immoral, sacrilegious, physically harmful and that no one should ever darken the door of a tavern or lounge again, because; primarily, in this article we are not concerned with these subjects.

Even though the college does not outlaw drinking and put all taverns "off campus," we, as college men and women, should have the power of temperance. Unfortunately there are students on our campus who drink to excess. These uninhibited persons undoubtedly threaten their own reputation. The reputation of these radical few is of little importance. If the story ended here you might say "So what?", but as excessive drinkers drag their own reputations down they force the Stout Institute's reputation to fall accordingly. Whether we realize it or not, Stout's reputation as a top quality school has been many a teaching job in the past and will help you secure a job in the future.

Many principals, superintendents, and other school officials visit Stout each year; naturally they leave with an opinion of the Stout student body. If their opinion should be formed on the basis of the over-indulging minority's actions, the school as a whole will suffer, not only the school as it stands here in Menomonie, but each individual student, whether he is an offender or not, will be classed as a drunkard.

The answer to the problem lies in each individual attending Stout. In order to preserve our reputation, we as students of Stout must conduct ourselves in a manner fitting our profession.

—P. P.

DENNIS FOLTMAN IS NEW STOUTONIA EDITOR

"Editor without official title" is Dan Foltman, now taking over the editorship of the Stoutonia. Dan, Stoutonia editor for next year, was selected by the present editor and advisers, from those eligible for the office.

Finishing up the year as editor-adviser is Caroline Lanzer. Several reasons for initiating the new editor during the spring quarter were given by Miss Lanzer, who said, "The new editor can 'learn the ropes' while working with a staff which is experienced in its work. Advance notice for the job is necessary to form plans and policies for the coming year. And the present editor has a resource unit due and will be off-campus for student teaching during the next two weeks."

SUPPLIES WASTED?

Many students and faculty have noticed that an acute shortage of paper towels has existed in numerous college shops and laboratories during the past several weeks. Immediately the question was raised, "Why don't we have these supplies?"

The answer is simple, but all-inclusive: "Supplies are being grossly wasted." To substantiate this fact, one need realize only that the present rate of towel usage alone has risen to $100 a month. According to the custodian of supplies, students recently expended $54.00 worth of towels in a mere seven days. This is 4% of the total planned for the entire year.

Neither the administration of the college nor the State of Wisconsin wishes to neglect in any way the proper needs of students in regard to sanitary supplies. However, a recent survey of locations in which such supplies are provided, reveals definite evidence that wastage of these items has reached the point where budget allowances just won't stretch to cover both needs and waste.

The college can furnish supplies only to the extent to which the legislative budget appropriates funds. When the funds are gone—so are the supplies. And what is the solution? It is that each user of sanitary supplies on campus utilize only as much as he really needs; that he take only his fair share.

When a student uses three or four towels if one would do; when he throws them on the floor or lets them drop into the washbasin; when he discards them half-used—these are the actions which will eventually rob himself and his neighbor of supplies later in the year.

So if you have found the towel container empty lately, did you blame the other fellow? Think back; maybe application of the Golden Rule to even such a mundane matter as allotment of paper towels will assure necessary supplies to all the students, all the time.

COOS BY PIGEON

Dear Readers,

I want to help defend the "Key and Hole" column and its importance in this paper. From what I have heard, some person or persons have come up and said that more important articles should replace it. Well, maybe from a practical standpoint that is true, but if that individual or those individuals would stop to realize that many of the things we do around here for work and play are in many cases very impractical, but we still do them, so why should the only slant on student life be discontinued from this paper.

If the one who complains would stop and look into any active newspapers and notice that they too have a gossip column for the interest of their readers, he would then realize that social occurrences are just as important as the so-called fine and technical arts. People enjoy reading what some do and what has happened around the place while they themselves were doing something else.

I want to add this: I would like to see the gossip column continued from the standpoint that it is a reflection of the social life at The Stout Institute, and also that so many people have enough of technical information during their classes and want to read something else for enjoyment. Technical articles are a good suggestion, and some one could start such a section in this paper, but let's keep the gossip column.

Fellows take note: What women's clothing leaves to the men's imaginations is what makes that clothing so expensive.

A professor in the middle of an old "joke" said to his class: "Have I told you this one before?"

Class: "Yes."
"Good, then maybe you'll understand it this time," replied the professor.

ADMINISTRATION CLASS TAKES FIELD TRIP

On Monday afternoon, April 17, the Administration class accompanied by Miss Ann Noble, instructor, went on a field trip to Baldwin and Glenwood City. The purpose of the field trip was to study the homemaking departments in the two schools.

When the girls arrived at Baldwin, they were entertained at a tea in the homemaking department and were served by the FHA girls under the supervision of their teacher, Miss Roberta Hansen, a Stout graduate. Also while there, the girls were escorted through other parts of the school by the principal, Mr. Borneman.

Later in the afternoon, the group traveled on to Glenwood City where Mrs. Richard Johnson, the former Arlene Pick, also a Stout graduate, discussed remodeling problems in her laboratory. She also pointed out several aspects of the hot lunch program as carried out in their school.

The group returned to Stout at four o'clock. All decided that the trip was very interesting and that it would be a good plan to visit several other schools.

Streetcar conductor: "Lady, that child is over five years old and he will have to travel full fare."

Lady: "But, I've only been married four years."

Conductor: "Well, just give me the fare, lady. I'm not interested in your past."

Overheard in some of the Bull-Sessions around the campus: My life's ambition is to marry a rich girl who is too proud to let her husband work.

An old maid and her brother were talking together. Said the spinster of a nephew, "If he were my kid, I'd --
"Just a minute, sis," said the brother. "If he were your kid you'd be so busy explaining you'd do little else."

A young couple who had just been married got into the elevator of their hotel. The elevator operator, a cute little girl looked at the groom.

"Hello, darling," she said.
There was a icy silence until the couple got upstairs. Then the bride exploded.

"Who was that woman?" she demanded.

"Look honey," replied the groom, "don't get excited! I'm going to have enough trouble explaining you to her."

"Where did you get that black eye?"

"From a cough."
"A black eye from a cough?"
"Yeah, I coughed in clothes closet."

Working on a crossword puzzle, a wife asked her husband, "What's a female sheep?"

"Ewe," replied the husband, and the battle was on.

PHI U SPRING TEA HELD WEDNESDAY

With bouquets of daisies and other colorful decoration, the Phi U spring tea, held on Wednesday, April 26, was made possible through the cooperative work of this year's new members.

Among the chairmen of the various committees were Ann Banker, equipment; Marge Musil and Nancy Haertlein, music and decoration; and Jean Archie, food. Dot Grothe was general chairman.

The refreshments served were tea, variety of date breads, a fruit plate, and nuts.

Question of the Week

Problem. Is the Stoutonia doing a good job in covering news of students who are participating in activities, or is it always the same groups or students who receive coverage?

Question. Has the Stoutonia been giving a fair coverage to students who participate in school activities?

Dale Anderson—"No, only the students who are popular crash the headlines."

Herman Fong—"No, absolutely not. It is run by a student group."

George Stephenson—"It's not perfect but it is as good a job as anyone could do."

Mary Ann Moore—"No, I think the same people get covered most of the time."

Jerry Wescher—"I wouldn't know. I don't read the paper."

Ray Steves—"No it isn't, but how can they expect to cover all the students in the school. It's too large."

Alfred Anderson—"Yes, I think they do cover the majority of the students."

Dorothy Widell—"Yes, students who are participating in activities should be mentioned in the paper."

Joan Drake—"Yes I do. I think as far as all students are concerned the Stoutonia is doing the best they can."

Warren Barberg—"Yes, there aren't very many newsworthy items that at least one of the Stoutonia reporters doesn't catch."

STOUTONIA PICNIC TO BE HELD AT RIVERSIDE

At this time of the year most of the students at Stout begin thinking about getting out into the outdoors for picnics. Although the weather this year is not very conducive to picnicing, many of the organizations on campus have scheduled their annual picnics, and so it is with your faithful Stoutonia staff.

On Wednesday afternoon, May 10, the members of the staff and their advisers will make the trek down to Riverside park for a gala and fun-packed outing. In charge of the general planning for the picnic are Elizabeth Seufert, chairman; Dorothy Hilton, Geraldine Erickson, Dave Bieniasz, Jim Cook, and Bill Kocaj.

Each spring the Stoutonia staff also has a dinner for the members and the faculty advisers. This form of entertainment is a bit more on the formal side, but is a very fitting climax for the year's work. The dinner this year will be held on May 24. As yet, the complete plans for this dinner have not been made by the committee in charge, consisting of George Stephenson, Ann Rossmiller, Donna Krisk, Dick Duthler and Nancy Haertlein, with George acting as chairman.

LSA GROUP ATTENDS DULUTH CONFERENCE

On Friday afternoon, April 21, the officers of the Lutheran Students association journeyed to Duluth, Minnesota, to attend the Land 'O Lakes regional spring workshop of the L.S.A.A. The Duluth Branch of the University of Minnesota was host to approximately one hundred and twenty-five students from sixteen colleges and universities. Not only did the Lutheran churches of Duluth turn over their building facilities to the conference, but the parishoners opened their homes and hearts to all delegates.

Friday evening was spent in Bible study and getting acquainted with the other delegates at Gloria Dei Lutheran church. On Saturday morning, new methods and techniques of LSA organization and promotion were discussed. The afternoon was spent in discussing the program, evangelism, and service phases of Lutheran Student activities. Saturday evening, Trinity Lutheran church was the setting for a delicious banquet, followed by a talk given by the Lutheran Students Association of America president, Verlyn Smith. Jim Anderson, newly elected regional president, concluded the evening festivities by presenting a talk on what L. S. A. Action is doing for worthy foreign students.

On Sunday morning, all representatives attended a breakfast at the Lutheran Welfare center. Morning worship was held in the Washington Junior high school auditorium.

Stout's representatives at the weekend workshop were Jean Van Liew, Russell Boettner, Marge Forsman, Don Winters, Emery Nelson, Warren Wold, Kathryn Zeihm, Don Landsverk, and advisers, Miss Myrtle Strand and Mr. Reneson.

All who attended the spring workshop are looking forward to future conferences for the furthering of LSA work here at Stout and in other colleges.

BEV BREHMER ELECTED H E CLUB PRESIDENT

Beverly Brehmer was chosen president-elect in the Home Economics club election held March 29. Other newly-elected officers include Beverly Hedlund, vice president; Levene Ablard, secretary; and Gerda Ravnholt, treasurer. Dorothy Amendt is president for the coming year, having been president-elect last year.

Beverly Brehmer is a sophomore from Milwaukee, and Beverly Hedlund, also a sophomore, is from Amery. Levene is a junior, and comes to Stout from Campbellsport, Wis. Gerda, a sophomore, is a transfer student from Luck.

Advisers for the Home Ec. club are Miss Winifred Hinkley and Miss Ann Noble.

LOOKING FOR NEW IDEAS? HERE'S HELP!

Are you looking for new food ideas?

If so, don't miss the series of public demonstrations to be given by the senior girls of The Stout Institute food demonstration class, in Room 301 of the Home Economics building, on May 10 through May 23.

"The girls will present to the public, interesting demonstrations, plus the latest information available, on subjects as frozen foods, pressure cooking, buttermilk, evaporated milk, meats, fish, and hot breads," states Miss Clara Carrison, assistant professor of Food and Nutrition at Stout.

The public is invited to attend these free demonstrations, which are scheduled as follows:

Wed., May 10, 11:30 a.m.—"My Own Fish Story"—Ardelle Krueger

Thurs., May 11, 2:00 p.m.—"Sir Milky Way of the Pantry Shelf Brigade"—Helen Helm.

WATER SAFETY CLASS STARTED TUESDAY

The water safety class was started Tuesday night, April 25, at 6:30. Fifteen persons were there for registration, five of which are renewing their instructor's certificate, and the rest are students who have taken senior life saving and are trying for their instructor's permit.

The course was outlined and the six basic swimming strokes were demonstrated to the class. The class will run for three hours each meeting for five meetings for a total of fifteen hours.

There will be two other courses offered soon. One of them is an instructor's course for the handicapped. The second will be an assistant instructor's course for those who are not yet sixteen years old and are not eligible for the instructor's certificates.

PHI U SANDWICHES SOLD AT DORMITORIES

The third sandwich sale in the dormitories was held on Tuesday evening, April 18. This project, sponsored by the Stout chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron, and under the chairmanship of Barbara Lovering, has proved very successful, and the organization is planning to make these sales a regular service project.

The women in charge of the sales have reported that the students are very enthusiastic about the project and that the resident head of each of dinner were Carol Hansan, Lois Forester. The proceeds are being used by the Phi U as a means of financing projects.

For this sale, sandwiches of minced ham and egg salad were made by Bernice Danzinger, Pat Vogels, Ruth Schrader, Dorothy Grothe, Margaret Perman, and Leona Goetch. Jean Archie and Ann Banker were in charge of the publicity for the sale. Selling sandwiches at Tainter Hall were Helen Wolsey and Rosalie Orth; at the Annex, Francis Grey and Florence Severson; and at Lynwood, Marjorie Musil and Laverne Ablard.

RUMMAGE SALE HELD BY HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

A rummage sale, sponsored by the freshman and sophomore girls, was held on April 29, beginning at nine o'clock, in the Odd Fellows hall, which is above the Fair store.

The price range of the garments and articles was from one cent to $1.50, as set by Miss Hinkley, Miss Diefenbach, and the committee. The money earned from this sale will go into the club treasury and will be used to send delegates to conferences and conventions.

Betty Erickson, chairman of the rummage sale committee, and her co-workers, Beverly Brehmer, Roberta Hutchinson, Dorothy Hilton and Ruth Quigley, were responsible for the collecting and selling of articles and garments.

OCCUPANTS CHANGE AT MANAGEMENT HOUSE

Changes were made among the occupants of Home management house on Friday, April 21. Lois Forehand, Carol Hansen, Lois Heike, Barbara Lovering, Margaret Peery, Rosella Trangsrud, Janice Vaughn, Ruth Voss, and Kathleen Welch were those who left. Incoming tenants include Jean Bulmer, Shirley Cox, Mary Lou Groom, Nancy Haertlein, Barbara Johnson, and Beatrice Sagstetter. They will live in the house until June.

REMEMBER WHEN

Remember When just one year ago EPT took a two-day field trip to visit the industrial arts departments in the junior, senior high schools and vocational schools of La Crosse, Austin, and Minneapolis? Members of Phi U wrote a radio script explaining the various fields of home economics in which they expect to work and presented it over WEAU at Eau Claire.

"In The Middle of May" was the theme of the Junior Class Prom held at Company "A" armory. FOB dinner dance was held at the Cafe La Corte and later at the Country club. The FOB's also sponsored a Milk Bar in the Harvey Memorial. Guests who attended the milk bar were served milk and cookies.

Over six hundred high school students, teachers, and parents attended Stout open house. Halls of the home economics building were filled with the many visitors who saw exhibits, demonstrations, displays, and a style show during the day. Stout Rover Crew, campus scouting organization, became part of the scouting fraternity Alpha Phi Omega, National Service fraternity. Eta Kappa Chapter was chartered with thirty-one active members, five faculty advisers, and two scouting advisers. Dr. Salzer found himself a victim of the flu gremlin. His classes had a two-day vacation.

The English prof asked his pupils to write an essay, telling what they would do if they had five million dollars.

Every student except Bill began writing immediately. Bill sat idle, twiddling his fingers and watching the flies on the ceiling.

The prof collected the papers, and Bill handed in a blank sheet. "How is this, Bill?" asked the prof. "Is this your essay? Every other pupil has written two sheets or more, while you have done nothing."

"Well," replied Bill, "that's what I would do if I were a millionaire."

WSF GROUP ATTENDS 1950 SPRING RALLY

The annual Wisconsin Methodist Student Movement spring rally was held last weekend at Waukesha, Wisconsin, with members of the Stout Wesley Student fellowship representing Stout there. The Carroll College Wesley group acted as hosts for the conference and placed delegates in the college dormitories and in private homes throughout the city for their two day stay. Total enrollment for the conference, comprised of about one hundred.

Main speaker for the conference was Dr. James Chubb, prominent Methodist minister from Western Nebraska. His topic for discussion, the general theme of the conference, was "Campus Evangelism." In his talks, Dr. Chubb talked mostly on the need for more real evangelism throughout the Methodist church, especially among college groups.

The Stout delegation of twelve, which left the Methodist church at noon Friday, reached Waukesha by 8:00 p. m., and attended the scheduled meetings for the rest of that evening, and all day Saturday. The Stout group had been made responsible for a short recreation period on Friday night, and Jo Ann Graney, assisted by Jim Brown, led several games.

The thirteen Stout delegates, who comprised one of the largest groups at the conference, were: June Higgins, Les Duenk, Jo Ann Graney, Jim Brown, Shirley Evans, George Stegman, Carolann Hammerstein, Fred Kajihara, Shirley Doner, Wayne Coleman, Bernice Televik and Phyllis Horning.

Reverend Ralph Reece, pastor of the Centenary Methodist church of Menomonie, was also present.

MISS HELEN RODGERS GIVES DEMONSTRATION

Miss Helen Rodgers, west central representative of the Wheat Flour institute, gave a demonstration for the Food Demonstration class, Friday, April 28.

"Hot, spicy yeast breads are one of the most tempting, appetizing ways to include the six-way nourishment of enriched flour in the day's meals," said Miss Rodgers.

She offered convincing proof for her statement at the demonstration given for the food demonstration students.

Miss Rodgers began her demonstration by making a basic sweet yeast dough. She said that once you get a good basic dough, you can do all sorts of delightful things with it by varying the shape and such extra ingredients as nuts, spices, and fruits. Two of the breakfast breads she prepared were flower petal coffee cake and whirligig rolls.

Two quick-type breads were also included in her baking schedule. Sugar plum muffins were Miss Rodgers' suggestion for a delicious "something hot" to go with chilled salad plates for summer. She also made a thrifty main dish combination called bologna puffs with vegetables.

HOME EC STUDENTS ATTEND CAREER DAY

For the second year, the Division of Home Economics at The Stout Institute was invited to participate in the Twin City's Career Day. This year's event was held on April 28 in Minneapolis and the theme of the day was "Forty-niners on the Job." A limited number of Home Economics undergraduates and one faculty member from each college and university in the North Central region attended.

Last year, Dean Kirk and three students attended the career meeting. This year, Miss Lillian Jeter accompanied the student group, which included Rosella Trangsrud, Faye Lehner, and Jean Carswell.

Many tours representing various fields of interest, such as foods, food services, equipment, advertising, textiles and clothing were arranged for the morning. Each guest had time for two tours. Those taken by one or more of the Stout group were as follows:

1. A kitchen equipment tour was taken to the establishment of the Minneapolis Gas company. There the director of the home service department explained the functions and the types of home service activities that are carried out by the ten home economists employed there. The Minneapolis Gas company has the largest home service department in the country, its major activity being that of home calls. The groups were taken through offices, the telephone room, the auditorium, the test kitchen, and the kitchen planning center of this establishment.

2. A second tour was that to Dayton's Sky Room to see the dining rooms and the large compartment kitchen. This kitchen, in which an average of 4000 meals a day are prepared, consists of one long rectangular main kitchen and several separate rooms, each for the preparation of all baked goods, candy, ice cream, and meats. The meat unit has three meat lockers, one for fish, one for fowl, and one for all other meats.

3. Another Dayton tour was one on textiles and clothing where the groups were taken to one of the textile training rooms. Then a home economist on the staff told about the Dayton training program for their textiles sales personnel and of the opportunities available in this field for trained home economics graduates.

The groups visited some of the lecture rooms, the Modern Home which was featured in the May issue of House Beautiful, the Traditional Home, and the Marghab Shop.

4. An advertising and journalism tour was made to the Ohmstead E. Foley Advertising establishment. There the functions of an advertising agency were explained. A tour was made of the building at which the groups were shown the steps by which advertising copy is produced. Teleslides of business ads and of some of the homes in which the products advertised are tested were also shown.

5. Another textiles and clothing tour was to the Strutwear company. Here the group was shown the entire process of the making of nylon stockings to the final inspecting, pairing, packaging and shipping. In the course of the tour, the guide gave several valuable suggestions for the buying and caring for nylon hose.

Strutwear also makes several types of lingerie. The cutting, assembling, trimming, making, pressing, and packaging of these garments was seen.

6. A tour which was taken by all of the Stout group was that to the General Mills Testing and Research laboratories. Probably the most interesting part of this tour was that through the five kitchen and the dining room. The latter was furnished entirely in early American antiques, most of which had come from old New England homes. The "Terrace" kitchen is the one in which all of the meals are prepared and the product tasting and demonstration work is done. The other four kitchens, "Kamera," "Polka Dot," "Tomorrows," and "Experimental," are respectively for the photographing of products, the testing of electrical equipment, the testing and evaluating of products, and for work done one new recipes and products. Upon completion of the tour, the groups were taken to the Stout Institute for lunch.

LSA INSTALLS OFFICERS

On Sunday, April 30, the new LSA officers for the year 1950-51 were installed at Our Saviors Lutheran church. The installation is performed during the regular church service and the students are addressed as a group. The officers who were installed are as follows: president, Jean Van Liew; vice president, Warren Wold; secretary, Kathryn Zeihn; treasurer, Gaylord Roe; mission secretary, Russel Boettner; publicity directors, Charmaine Chopp and Don Landsverk; librarian, Gerry Erickson.

The LSA met again on Sunday evening in the basement parlors of Our Saviors church. After a delicious supper, an LS Action program was presented with Russel Boettner as chairman, assisted by Don Winters, Emery Nelson, and Don Landsverk. It was a very unique program because one of the four students narrated while the others were in another part of the church speaking over the loud speaker system. In the future, more programs like this will be presented.

Commander Harold H. Randecker, USNR, Stout 1932, left, is shown being congratulated by Lieutenant Patrick Murphy, USNR, Stout 1941, upon Randecker's recent promotion to the rank of Commander. Following his promotion, Commander Randecker received orders to head the maintenance department at NAS Los Alamitos, California, the largest of the 27 activities in the Naval Air Reserve Training Command.

TWO STOUT GRADS MEET IN SUNNY FLORIDA

It is indeed a small world when two Stout fellows end up working together in the sunny climate of Jacksonville, Florida.

Such was the case when Harold H. Randecker, Stout 32, and Patrick Murphy, Stout 41, found themselves assigned to duty at the Jacksonville Naval Air Reserve Training unit.

Randecker, now a Commander and a senior Naval Aviator, serves as Aviation Maintenance Officer in charge of the condition of the 62 Naval Aircraft assigned to the Unit, the hangar area, and the 130 men of the maintenance department, who "keep 'em flying" for the famous "Weekend Warriors" of NARTU JAX.

Lieutenant Murphy is the Assistant Ground Training Officer and plays a most important part in the training of the more than two hundred pilots and ground officers and the nearly eight hundred enlisted men who maintain their wartime skills by weekend training with the Naval Air Reserve at NARTU Jacksonville.

Commander Randecker is now married to the former Evelyn J. Reed, of LaCrosse, Wisconsin. The couple have one son, Harold Jr., aged five. Mrs. Randecker is a graduate of Lutheran Hospital of LaCrosse and met her husband in San Diego, California when he was a member of Scouting Squadron VS 42, attached to the carrier USS Ranger, and she was a member on the staff of Scripps Memorial hospital at LaJolla, California.

Strangely enough, Pat Murphy also is married to a former nurse, whom he met while serving in the Navy during the last World War. Pat married Ensign Margaret Gray, a former Navy nurse, when they both were stationed at NAS, Jacksonville, during war time. The Murphys are blessed with three little Irishmen, Patrick, Jr., Maureen, and Kathleen. Before this story reaches print, both Randecker and Murphy will be serving in new duties in the Naval Air Reserve Training Command.

Commander Randecker is due to be transferred to NAS, Los Alamitos, California, while Lt. Murphy is under orders to report to NAS, Willow Grove, Pennsylvania.

CONGO CLUB HIKE TO POINT COMFORT CALLED OFF

The Congo club hike to Point Comfort, planned Sunday, April 30, was called off because of rainy weather. The would-be-hikers had their supper meeting at the church, where a report of the trip to Waukesha was given.

NOTE: Home Ec Club

Several girls have approached me, as a member of the Student Governing Board, and have asked me to obtain the views of the Board members concerning compulsory membership in the Home Ec club. The following letter expresses the opinion of one of the girls. To the Members of the Student Governing Board:

For as long as I have been acquainted with The Stout Institute, it has been the policy of the home economics department to have every girl enrolled in the school become a compulsory member of the Home Economics club.

As everyone realizes after being raised in a democratic country, it is no fun to be told that you must belong to this or that organization.

For this reason, the majority of the girls have not cooperated in attending meetings and participating in the club's activities.

There are numerous girls who owe current dues. These dues must be paid in full before graduation or these girls will not receive their diplomas upon the completion of their work for their degree.

This ruling concerns every girl in school, and I am sure most of us would appreciate any consideration that you may give this situation.

Since I desire to graduate from this school, I go on paying my dues and remain a member in disgust.

It seems that the girls have a good case; however, before the board gives its opinion, it wants to obtain views of other Home Ec club members. Please address your answers to John Poellinger, Student Government, % SSA Office.

THIRTY STUDENTS TO TAKE ART FIELD TRIP

A tour through Walker Art center, which also includes the Idea House, will be the highlight of the field trip to the Twin Cities to be taken by thirty art appreciation students accompanied by their instructor, Miss Ruth Amon, on Saturday, May 6.

Not only will the group see the Walker Art center and the Idea House, but also they will see the opera "Aida" held in the Northrop auditorium and presented by the traveling Metropolitan company. The desire to see the opera results from an outgrowth of having studied in class various forms of related art: lighting (color), and costumes combined with stage design. Music, one of the arts, is of course, included.

Structural examples of art will be viewed, such as the Court House in Saint Paul with its statue of a marble Indian sculptured by the famous Earl Miller, and the Saint Paul Cathedral.

tion of this tour, angel food cake and coffee was served.

The groups which had been out on tour all morning assembled at The Niccollet hotel for luncheon. This was a time for introductions all around and for getting acquainted. There was one very good luncheon talk and some entertainment.

The afternoon session was given over to the presentation of a number of short topics which are designed to show undergraduates the type of work they would be expected to be able to do should they chose to enter the business field. The topics were as follows:

1. "What are the opportunities for Home Economists in the Business field and what do you have to know to do these jobs?"

The value of as many home economics courses as possible was presented, including large quantity cookery, because of consumer requests for help in this operation of food for large groups, food preservation, household equipment as well as mastery of English composition, courses in journalism, as much art as possible, physics, etc.

2. Consumer Correspondence was an interesting topic. Delegates were told that over 2000 letters are received daily at the Betty Crocker Kitchens. It is the work of six women to read these letters, classify them, and refer them to the proper specialists to be answered. Most of the letters are requests for information; some are letters of praise and each day's mail brings enough good laughs to brighten the day for the staff, as illustrated by the request for information as to how to cook potato sprouts and where to purchase scalded milk. These letters show definite trends which set the pattern of the work of the home economics staff. The present trend is concerned with foods for entertaining.

3. The topic "Food Photography" vividly presented the vast amount of planning that goes into the production of a picture for an ad—the conjuring up of an idea, the conferences with executives and art personnel, the great expense of running the ad, and the excitement and joy experienced by everybody concerned in the production of an ad which has materially increased sales.

4. "Recipe Testing and Editing" was entertainingly and effectively presented in the form of a skit. An unbelievable amount of work goes into the testing of each recipe. After exhaustive tests have been made in the testing kitchens, the recipe is tried out in various sections of the country by practical homemakers. Then an average homemaker is brought into the test kitchen to make the recipe while the testing experts observe her at work. If she has any difficulty, it is obvious that still further work must be done on the recipe. Each recipe put out by the company represents an expenditure of about ten thousand dollars.

5. In the topic "Applying for a Job" many helpful suggestions were made. Applicants were instructed in techniques which would aid them in making a favorable impression. They were urged to make preparation for the interview by making an appointment in advance, by bringing with them a neat and well organized paper telling of their qualifications and background experience, a paper which could be clipped to the application blank. The value of a ready smile and a sense of humor was stressed.

6. The day's program closed with a television show. Television is still so new as a sales medium that anyone in the audience who had ever before seen a television show was said to be an authority in the field; those people owning television sets were said to be experts and anyone who had participated in a television show was considered to be a super-expert. All HEIB's were feeling the pressure of getting ready for television because it is proving to be an excellent sales medium and has developed much more rapidly than had been anticipated. Home economists are being welcomed especially on the informational television shows, which is what homemakers are demanding, the qualifications being especially technical skill backed up with knowledge.

The last item on the day's agenda was a delicious snack consisting of a very refreshing milk and fruit drink, appetizers, coffee and cookies.

The Stout Institute delegates say a big "Thank You" to the Twin Cities HEIB's for a most instructive and enjoyable day.

JIM BAILEY REPORTS ON FAMILY DOINGS

Former Editor of Stoutonia Keeps Paper Staff Posted
As Well As Alumni

We recently received an interesting letter from Jim Bailey, who is now at the University of Denver, in Colorado:

"Before my wife 'scoops' me and makes good on her threat to write the Stoutonia with the latest doings of the Bailey family. I think it's best that a former editor not be found in such an embarrassing position.

We try and write at least once a year to keep up with the records if not to let others know through the alumni column just where we are and what we are doing. And so here is the latest from Denver.

Our little family is in the best of health despite having gone through a siege of flu earlier in the year. Seems that particular disease has hit just about every part of the nation.

Dianne just passed her second birthday last month. It's amazing the way that these youngsters seem to grow up so fast. When we came out to Colorado two years ago she was just five months old. It just doesn't seem possible.

After spending an enjoyable year in Pueblo, Colorado, last year Audrey and I decided that I should work on my M.A. degree as soon as possible. Last summer I enrolled at the University of Denver and have been here since. Am in hopes of being able to finish up in June but cannot be sure that my survey will be completed in time to finish writing my thesis by June.

Some persons will probably be amazed at my major here at D. U. I am majoring in Speech with a Radio Area minor. Believe me, it is quite a switch to make from Industrial Education, but I am enjoying every minute of it.

I was fortunate to procure a graduate assistantship last fall in Basic Communication. It wasn't exactly a teaching position but varied between teaching and general research. Basic Communication at Denver university is a sequence course of three quarters based on general education practices.

In the Winter quarter, I transferred my attentions to the radio department and have been working with the campus radio station, KVDU, ever since. At present, I am Assistant Manager and Program Manager of the station and keeping a smooth operating schedule together. The biggest job is one of coordinating departmental work of KVDU operations. In this latter capacity, the theories expounded by one person at Stout whose classes were known as "Bowmanology" have been put to a great number of uses. (My personal thanks to Mr. C.A.B.) People around here call me "Chart-happy" Bailey.

Audrey is teaching again this year. Last year she taught a half-day session of Kindergarten in Pueblo. This year she is teaching first grade. She hasn't taught Home Economics yet. Given enough time, she may work herself up to it yet. Between her working and my schoolwork and assistantship we don't see much of each other. Weekends sees us enjoying about the only family life we have the opportunity to enjoy.

We are living in a Veteran housing unit right on the University campus. It is a quonset village with two units to a quonset. The units are somewhat similar to those at Stout with a few minor exceptions. All have two bedrooms, kitchen and living room. And believe it or not, all utilities are furnished. Furniture may be rented but most residents furnish their own, as have we. Rental fee is the nominal sum of thirty dollars. This includes gas for heating, cooking, hot-water-heating and water and electricity. Thought you would like the comparison with Stout's housing facilities. The ceilings are rather high with the rounded arch as are the walls on two sides. You don't notice this effect after living in the unit for even a short while.

There are several other Stout grads in Denver. Two families in particular are the Robert Chamberlains and Paul E. Baileys, jr. We have managed to get together several times and are in the process of planning another picnic for the near future.

Another grad we went into the mountains with only last week is Audrey (Harlander) Anshus and her husband, John. He is attending a jewelers' school.

A friend of ours, soon to graduate from Denver University, is interested in Industrial Education. Naturally I talked him into going to Stout. He evidently has made the necessary arrangements and you will more than likely see him next fall. His name is Glenn Bruce. We hope that you people will extend him the usual Stout welcome. He is married and has two daughters.

Have been investigating the catalog department of the University library. The library has a 1947 general catalog and a Home Economics bulletin from Stout. Can you make the necessary arrangements to have all the latest bulletins Stout has to offer sent to the Mary Reed Library, University of Denver, Denver (10), Colorado? This should also include the summer session bulletin. Seems to me that this could be another important function of the Alumni Association—that of checking up on materials sent to libraries and keep them up to date.

Where we will be next fall, we do not know. Our plans are not definite as yet. If a teaching job is available in the radio area, that is where we will go. Before I teach any radio, however, I hope to get into the small market operation of radio and then have an adequate background for the teaching angle. I notice by the newspaper that a station may open up in Menomonee. Perhaps I will even land back home again within a year.

Best regards to all alumni members and faculty at Stout.

Jim, Audrey and Dianne Bailey

STOUT GRAD FEATURED IN MILWAUKEE PAPER

A Stout graduate, Miss Ruth Gilgenbach, was featured in a recent Gimbel's advertisement in the Milwaukee Journal. In the ad, Miss Gilgenbach's picture is printed, showing her as a Mirror home economist, whose specialty is "How to Plan Meals for Variety-Hints and Tips on New Taste Treats." The event is a feature of a Gimbel's cooking school.

STOUT ALUMNI ON INDIANA IE PROGRAM

Miss Gertrude M. O'Brien, placement director of the college, has sent the following alumni information to the Stoutonia:

Gordon O. Johnson (B.S. 1930), who entered Stout from Eau Claire, is president of the Indiana Industrial Education association, which is meeting at Indianapolis this week. He has been teaching in the Indianapolis schools since he received his degree, with the exception of three years spent in the U.S. Navy.

Other Stout and Wisconsin names on the Industrial Education program this week are: Henry W. Schulze (B.S. 1931, M.S. 1938), who is Vocational Director at LaPorte, Indiana; Clarence L. Greiber, Director of Vocational and Adult Education for the State of Wisconsin; and Harry Belman, formerly of West Allis, now with Purdue university.

MRS. FRANK LYONS GIVES ADDRESS CHANGE

Mrs. Frank Lyons, the former Pearl Bailey, sent the following letter informing us of her change of address, and she writes that she has been in one of Gene Doyle's restaurants. There was a story about Mr. Doyle in a previous issue of the Stoutonia. The letter follows:

Will you kindly change my address in your files to 354 Warwick Ave., Oakland, California.

I also would like to have you—if possible;—include the maiden names of the alumnae who have changed their names. To us in distant places, unfamiliar to changes in past years, I believe this would be of much interest and we would be able to locate many of our old friends whom we do not recognize under their present name.

Mr. Lyons and I have recently returned from an extended motor trip in old Mexico—our second in two years;—and were quite deluged with the accumulation of Stoutonia awaiting us upon our return. Since we both enjoy reading the Stoutonia, we went through the past numbers and were quite surprised to read the article about Gene Doyle and his chain of restaurants in Phoenix and Tucson, Arizona. We have at several different times selected one of his places for lunch or dinner and found it very fine in every way. We are very glad to know that a Stout graduate and a Menomonee boy has made such a success in business.

May I enclose a match cover from the Gene Doyle steak house, a cover that I happened to have with me at the time—without knowing anything about the owner or where he was from. You see it does pay to read the Stoutonia

Very sincerely yours,
Pearl Bailey Lyons
Mrs. Frank Leslie Lyons

Ed. Note: We have been including maiden names in the Stoutonia's Alumni Roster recently.

DR. ANDERSON WRITES MAGAZINE ARTICLE

The March issue of The Journal of Education includes an article, "Why Not Use Committees," written by Dr. Stuart Anderson of the Stout graduate faculty. This brief essay suggests that committee work offers one technique for stimulating student participation in classroom activities.

Problems for committee work, the article continues, should grow naturally out of course objectives, and should be started from "scratch." Committee membership should be limited to from three to five students who have indicated an interest in the same similar problem. The chairman should make periodic progress reports to the teacher. Dr. Anderson suggests, for experience with this technique has demonstrated that students gain valuable experience working cooperatively with others.

Committee work, like other teaching devices, has certain limitations, the author shows. Because it is difficult to locate responsibility, the "rider" is encouraged to ride. It is comparatively easy for an individual to "pass the buck" or to "let George do it," Dr. Anderson warns, and one or two strong personalities, not necessarily the most capable, may dominate the committee. Evaluating individual contributions and growth presents a real problem for the teacher.

ELMER CLAUSEN, STOUT GRAD OF 1939 WRITES

Vancouver Teacher Tells Of His Position, Other Stout Grads, School Buildings

This interesting letter was received recently from Elmer E. Clausen, Stout grad of 1939. He is teaching in Vancouver, Washington.

"It was some months ago that you sent out material asking alumni members to send in letters that could be published giving news of and for alumni. There hasn't been any particular personal information which would be good copy, but when the last Stoutonia came out with the changes in the constitution noted I found something I would like to comment upon.

"The committee did a fine job with some much-needed changes having been suggested, but the one change bothers me. It concerns action by the executive board in that it requires the presence of the secretary-treasurer. I should much prefer to see that it require the presence of any three of the executive board with a provision that before their action could be official the fourth member must be notified in writing of the action that has been taken. For example, when Mr. Baker was confined to the hospital the executive board would have had their hands tied until such time as he was available. If the secretary-treasurer became stubbornly non-cooperative, the executive board would be helpless for a time, or would they? What if the executive board wanted to change secretary-treasurer against his wishes? So much for that.

"In this glorious west coast country where we had one of the coldest winters on record, a few of us from Wisconsin and other parts in the mid-west wondered whether we should have come out this way as weather slightly below zero seemed definitely on the chilly side; then we received a letter from Menomonie telling us about one of the 40 below zero days. We were content with our decision.

"Stout grads are around, but not as much as we would like to have and we hope that a few more will see fit to cut those binding tapes and heed the worthwhile advice of Horace Greeley, Louis Below, '48, and I are in the same printing department. He is a superior teacher with wonderful ideas and is doing an excellent job. Ray Johnson, another Stout grad and, I believe, a former Menomonie resident, is in charge of the commercial department at Clark college (our local junior college). We hope to have another printing man in neighboring city next year, while down at Salem, Oregon, 50 miles south we have Ted Pierson, '36, in charge of high school industrial arts and distributive education. Bruce Thompson and Dorothy Fels Thompson are also at Salem. He has the metals shop with Ted Pierson's program. Betty Milnes Peterson is still in Oswego as far as I know. We are also hoping that there will be another Stout man in our own vocational education shop program soon.

"Vancouver has a new over-a-million-dollar vocational building for Clark college and the high school; we will be moving in during the summer. The building will include auto mechanics, body and fender, machine shop, drafting, woodwork, metals, commercial, agricultural, graphic arts, and electrical. So that others may realize the size of the building, graphic arts, with a shop over seventy feet by seventy-five feet plus an eighteen foot by seventy foot balcony is not one of the larger shops. We hope to be able to give a program that will live up to the physical plant.

"In an earlier paragraph I mentioned the Stoutonia. We look forward to it most eagerly and appreciate it. The writing is good, but I notice a tendency for editorial opinion and comment in news stories more than ever before. They are doing a good job with the few number of people they usually have willing to work on the staff. Sometime for the benefit of the alumni not on the campus could the staff give a resume of the taken-for-granted items?

Our family is doing well and enjoying life. We miss our many good friends at Menomonie and The Stout Institute and want to extend our most sincere greetings to all of them.

Sincerely,
Elmer E. Clausen '39

W.K. PENN TELLS OF LIFE EXPERIENCES

In response to a request for a brief resume of what has happened to him since he left Stout in 1931, W. K. Penn, director of the Education Measurement, Naval Examining Center, Norfolk, Virginia, kindly submitted the following information.

Mr. Penn was teacher and coach at the high school in Chetek, Wis., from 1931-1935. From here he went to Fond du Lac, Wis., to the Vocational school where he taught for a year. At this time he began his work on his Master's degree during the summer session of 1935. He completed requirements for his M. S. degree in 1942.

He became Rehabilitation Coordinator for the State Board of Vocational and Adult Education located in Fond du Lac, handling the Fox River Valley area from 1936-1944. During the war he was a gunnery officer in the U.S. Navy, aboard three different ships. In 1946 he was made Unit Chief of the Vocational Rehabilitation for the Veterans Administration at Milwaukee. He held this post until 1948 when he became affiliated with the Curriculum and Instruction Training Section, Standards and Curriculum Branch, Training Division, Bureau of Naval Personnel, Washington, D. C., as an Educationalist. Then, the first part of this year, he was made the director of Educational Measurement at the Naval Examining Center in Norfolk.

He writes that his present assignment is challenging and interesting. The Naval Examining Center is a new activity established to develop, distribute, score, and compile data upon examinations governing promotions of all Navy personnel, both officer and enlisted. It has a potential of more than 600 new test forms annually, administered to approximately 300,000 individuals. An extensive machine installation is on order, and all examinations will be entirely machine scored and data tabulated.

Mr. Penn also informs the alumni of his marriage to Grace Greenwood, Park Falls, Wis., in 1932. They have two sons, Tom and Jim, who are 15 and 12 respectively.

There is a nucleus for an alumni group at the Naval Base in Norfolk with Bob Olson '38, and Otto Baker '31, besides Mr. Penn. They get together for frequent sessions to talk over school days.

Stout graduates can be found in many parts of the world. Here is an interesting excerpt from a letter of a Stout grad of '45 who is now overseas.

"Today is very comparable in Okinawa to any blustery March day in Wisconsin, less the snow. Of course you've heard of Okinawa since Life, Time, and every newspaper have spread their tales of its woe and importance in today's troubled hours. However, the spirit here is not too unlike that of a small college or small town - it is a friendly place where everyone has the same problems, the same living conditions, the same recreation. Do wish we had a Sunday matinee this afternoon, though.

It's encouraging to us old-timers on the "Rock" to see the Military Government erect solid school houses for Okinawans, to send students to the U.S., to have teacher-training centers on the island, and to see an economy based on a small-scale export and import basis begin. Their plight has tragic but slowly is improving under the handicap of a black market and little value yen. The complacency of the people is most amazing and in spite of everything they are happy people.

I have long ago lost track of Catherine Nick, Ruth Madison, Lindy Adams, Ruth TeBeest, and others of the classes of '44 and '45. Are we the lost war grads - and where is the spirit that some of the classes from '35-'39 have "for dear old Stout"?

I met a Nesei secretary who had done work for President Fryklund in Japan while enroute from there on leave last May. Other than that the mutual acquaintanceships have been few. While in the Tokyo PX, I kept an eye out for any girls I might have known who are now with their husbands in Japan, but was unsuccessful.

I will be back in Wisconsin for good in June. Have been away much too long! I am sorry that I will probably miss commencement and the alumni get-together by the late return.

The Stoutonia is always a welcome sight in the mail even though it does not carry enough news of former grads."

She walked into the cottage and was greeted by her roommate who whispered: "Quick—to the room, cleanup. The inspector's here."

Dashing to her room, she picked up scattered possessions, flung them in the wall closet.

Dashing around the room, she rapidly dusted, rearranged the top blanket on the bed and fell exhausted in her desk chair. Then she yelled out: "Has the old bag left yet?"

Then, came the answer. . . "Nope—she's still here. . ." said the inspector stepping out of the closet where she had been checking the shelves.

JACQUE BEERS WRITES LETTER TO ALUMNI

1949 Graduates

The following letter was recently received from Jacques Beers. Mr. Beers is teaching at The Hadley Technical high school in St. Louis, Missouri. He is a 1949 Stout graduate. Dear Mr. Anderson,

Well, I'm finally getting around to answering that letter I promised so long ago. I hope that the information I am going to write about will help graduates of Stout in many ways. I am sorry that I am so late about writing, but school is not the only thing that keeps me busy. In my spare time I design modern kitchens and rebuild the same. My specialty is Formica plastic counter and sink tops. I have been busy ever since August, when I came to St. Louis from Menomonie. I also have my own shop now in the basement of my home which keeps me busy designing and making projects of plastic, wood and metal for school.

As you know, the reason I am teaching in St. Louis is that I wanted to come to St. Louis. I am teaching at Hadley Technical high school in the ninth grade exploratory shop. Upon my arrival in St. Louis I endeavored to see the interior of the shop in which I would teach but could not get into school as it was in the process of being painted. The first four days in September I worked on a committee, working out programs for new students. When I was first shown my shop, I was a bit disappointed. All the benches were shoved in one corner of the room. The tool room was in sad shape, but I was promised additional tools. As for power equipment, I observed a Walker-Turner Bench Drill press, a small grinder and a 24 inch Crescent Scroll saw.

I had been told that the general shop did not work in St. Louis. As I believed that through the general shop, I could give ninth grade boys a wide range of activities, I decided that I would try it here. I started with areas in plastic, wood, and bench metal, making model projects and blueprints of each project. I found much surplus army plastic in a section of the basement of the school. This solved my plastic cost and in place of the plastic being thrown away, I have several hundred pounds stored in my shop. I can't emphasize enough the organizational plan of city or county systems, including the functions of each department.

Here are some of the things I've had to do, since September: make tool racks, make drawings of every project, design a testing program in accordance with the method of instruction, provide advanced projects for students of exceptional ability, cut all material for student distribution, make perpetual inventory of equipment and tools in shop, build a shop personnel plan, take students on field trips, and prepare estimate of equipment and supplies needed for next year. Tell Mr. Brown that the shop personnel plan works in room 219 at Hadley Technical School in St. Louis!!

At the beginning of every semester the student load is exceedingly unstable and for that reason no predictions can be made as to what to teach. After I thought I had the shop all set up for beginning ninth grade boys, we call them 91's, I was given 9-2 boys or advanced 9th graders. The first semester my day was filled with four classes, with the average number of students being about 32. My shop at that time had 25 work stations. This semester I had to redesign new projects and besides shop, have a related drawing and math. class. Now I am finding out why ninth graders cannot interpret the rule!

I can assure you that I was ready to throw in the towel at the end of the first week but found out that the important thing is that the teacher must be prepared in advance! One thing I might suggest to grads, is that a good collection of catalogs and project plans comes in mighty handy. I have on order two large bulletin boards which I plan to cover with visual aids, charts, etc. The faculty here is excellent many of them are tradesmen, and they are always willing to help you out. For example—senior drafting students trace all my project drawings, the duplicating department duplicates all my tests, the art department designs safety posters for the shop, the electrical department runs lines to my power equipment. Now, I find that I really enjoy my work and all the planning I've done has netted results—more time for myself—which, in my opinion, a lot of us need!

In my spare time I am planting a big garden—mainly watermelons and Kentucky pole beans! Ha! Say hello to everyone at Stout with my sincere hope that this letter will help some of the grads in their new jobs.

Sincerely,
Jacques Beers
7081 Thozan Avenue
St. Louis 9, Mo.

The truth came out yesterday. A coed in the back of the room raised her hand and asked a question.

The professor cleared his throat, began his answer.

Fifteen minutes later, he finished, added: "I'm not sure I've answered your question, however..."

"Oh yes," said the bright young thing, "yes, you did."

"Well," Professor modestly, "my theory is—if you talk long enough, you're bound to say something..."

STOUT NINE LOSES GAME TO LA CROSSE

Three runs on two walks, a hit batter, a double by Backmeyer, and a single by Henderson proved not enough power for the Stout nine to defeat LaCrosse State Teachers college on Saturday, April 29, at LaCrosse. LaCrosse fought off a desperate ninth inning rally of the Blue-devils to win 5 to 4.

LaCrosse scored first in the third inning on three successive singles by Curry, Knisple, and Krapton to lead Stout 1 to 0. Stout tied up the contest in the fifth inning with one run on two walks and a double by Markley. LaCrosse scored again in the sixth on a double and single and tallied two more in the seventh on an error by Stout and a double and a single.

Stout didn't score again until the ninth inning, when three runs were scored, but the rally fell short by one run.

Markley led the Stout nine at bat was the big gun for LaCrosse with two hits in three tries. Curry three for five. Maxa started the game for Stout pitching seven innings and giving up nine hits, seven runs. Bilse, Stout righthander, replaced Maxa in the eighth inning and gave one run on one hit, while issuing two walks. Benedict and Mitchell shared the pitching chore for LaCrosse, and were tagged for six hits and five runs.

STOUT LOSES GOLF MATCH AT LA CROSSE

The Bluedevil golf team lost their match last Saturday to the LaCrosse Teacher college team, at LaCrosse. Coach Windberg's squad dropped the match by one point, with the final Rog Windberg, new Stout golf coach total giving LaCrosse 9½ points and Stout with 8½ points.

Robert Takasaki was the new man on the squad which played at LaCrosse.

K-NINE'S DEFEAT FOB'S IN SOFTBALL OPENER

Intramural softball started out with a bang last Monday evening, May 1, at 6:00 p. m. for both leagues.

In the American League, the K-Nines whitewashed the FOB's by a score of 7 to 0. The Ky Pas Knash in the American League easily defeated the Snafoos 9 to 0.

Intramural softball will end around May 15, with the championship game played between the team with the best average in both the American and the National league.

BRATWURST FRY GIVEN BY GALS IN HM HOUSE

The girls who have been at the home management house this past six weeks, and their guest, enjoyed a "Bratwurst fry" in the form of an indoor picnic Sunday, April 16. Under the supervision of Carol Hansen, Sheboygan, the "bratwurst" or German sausage was fried on an outdoor grill and served with hot potato salad, buns, relishes, popcorn, apples, and coke, all in picnic style. The girls also roasted marshmallows in the fire place. Entertainment included games in the recreation room and group singing accompanied by Lois Hieke on the piano.

Guests were Phyllis Bartosic, Florence Gattchall, Janice Jewel, Jane Wooldridge, Betty Potthast, Nan Gehri, Ruth Conjurski, Barbara Pech, and Helen Wolsey.

On Monday evening, a candle light birthday dinner was given for the girls who had had birthdays during the time that they were in the house. The honored guests were Barbara Lovering, Rosella Trangsrud, Jan Vaughn, Ruth Voss, and Kay Welch. Those who prepared and served the dinner were Carol Hansen, Lois Forehand, Lois Heike, and Margaret Peery.

On both occasions photographer Herb Watanabe was on hand to take pictures.

THEME FOR P A TEA WAS MAYDAY

A Maypole of sweet peas as the "tea" table centerpiece with a background of "light" music combined with delicious refreshments, describes the atmosphere of the Pallas Athene tea, Wednesday, May 6.

The refreshments were served by the Pallas Athene adviser, alumni, and the present officers. The tea consisted of little white cakes with pastel tinted frosting, punch, nuts, and mints.

To add to the May Day atmosphere, the PA girls wore pastel cottons with a small spray of daisies.

RECORD CROWD ATTENDS NSA DANCE LAST WEEK

Saturday night, April 22, found a record crowd attending the NSA dance. Music was supplied by Pal Thede and his orchestra. The band was from Rochester and presented a superb collection of very danceable music.

Decorations were adequately taken care of by the use of huge white pennants on which were painted the names of the various schools throughout the state of Wisconsin.

It is not often students have the chance to dance to such a fine orchestra, and the turn out indicated that the event was a success.

COVEY'S CORNER

Three points meant Stout's losing three matches last Saturday at LaCrosse. Tilleson's baseball squad lost to the LaCrosse team 5 to 4. The golfers lost their match, despite the low 74 shot by Johanson, by the score of 9½ points to 8½ points. The afternoon's proceedings were finished as Hammerberg's tennis team lost their match 4 to 3.

The golf team had a slight face lifting since the opening match. Bob Takasaki was No. 4 man on the tennis squad at LaCrosse, with Landgraf and Friebe moving down the next positions. The golfers play St. Cloud here tomorrow; the greens are not green at the Country club but they have new cups and flags in the holes, so that should provide some satisfaction.

Hammerberg's tennis squad improved over their standings of a week ago, even though Fish was the only Stout man to win his singles match.

The doubles, consisting of Tank-Landgraf, and Fish-Bibb, won both their matches.

Tuesday's matches were postponed by River Falls.

This week the games will all be played in Menomonie, with St. Cloud of the Bi-State conference, as the opponent. The game is scheduled to be a double-header and will start at 1:00 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, at Wakanda park.

FONG AND WONG WIN FIRST BADMINTON GAME

Intramural badminton started May 1, with ten teams competing. The first to clash were Fong and Wong against Fish and Takahama. Fong and Wong won a victory and came one step nearer the championship.

Other teams haven't been doing so well, as they can't get together on the time to play, but that will pick up.

STREET CLOSING PROJECT BEGUN

1950 SUMMER SESSION BULLETIN IS READY

Plans Made For Larger 1950 Summer Session; Inquiries Made From Foreign Lands

The 1950 Stout Institute Summer Session bulletin began going in the mail last week. The distribution will be continued until all requests for the bulletin have been answered. The bulletin has been produced in the Stout printshop, and is an unusually attractive publication. In several colors, and carrying a very neat typographical arrangement, it includes several maps, illustrations, and full information on the summer session organization, courses, and personnel. The bulletins were completed in time to permit distribution at The Stout Institute booth at the convention of the Wisconsin Association for Vocational and Adult Education at Green Bay last Friday and Saturday, May 5 and 6.

Besides inquiries from prospective summer session students in the United States, there has been a noticeable increase in the inquiries from sources outside of the 48 states. Inquiries have come from Jerusalem, Israel; Montreal, Canada; Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada; Honolulu, Hawaii; Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico; Saint John, New Brunswick, Canada; Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada; Canal Zone, Panama; Kowloon, Hong Kong, China; Cristobal, Canal Zone; New South Wales, Australia; Marinduque, P. I.; Iloilo, P. I.; New Brunswick, Canada; Santiago de Cuba, Cuba; Kai Malino, Hawaii; Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada.

The 1950 session will be the 45th annual summer session at The Stout Institute. It will open June 19 and continue for six weeks, closing on July 28. In the arrangement of classes, particular attention has been given to the needs of teachers in the field who must attend a summer session to maintain their classification, for students who have started a program of summer session attendance leading to the degree of Master of Science or the degree of Bachelor of Science, for students new in attendance and continuing, and for high school graduates who wish to start their college work. Opportunity will be provided for teachers and others who desire to extend their experiences and preparation. Both graduate and undergraduate courses will be offered. A wide selection of work will be available in courses in education, social science, English, speech, mathematics, sciences, and coaching, as well as in the major fields of home economics and industrial education.

The Summer Session bulletin carries detailed information on provisions for veterans. Directions for enrollment are included, as well as special blanks for advance enrollment and for housing application. Prospective students who are planning to attend the 1950 summer session will find it convenient to use these blanks. In the past several summers, the enrollment has been heavy, and frequently a number of classes have been filled and closed. The volume of requests for the summer bulletin seems to point to the possibility of a heavy enrollment this coming summer.

The complete facilities of the college will be drawn upon to handle summer session work. Laboratories, shops, drafting rooms, dormitories, student union, recreational facilities, and the like, will be in use during the summer. During the postwar period, as the enrollment at The Stout Institute reached record numbers, the laboratory and shop facilities have kept pace in a program of modernization and expansion. Housing facilities have kept pace with the demand.

A large number of the regular faculty members of The Stout Institute are included in the summer session staff. In addition to these teachers, a number of visiting lecturers, conference leaders, and teachers are added.

DR. RAY'S NEW BOOK AVAILABLE SOON

Announcement has been received from the Charles A. Bennett Co. (formerly the Manual Arts Press) that Dr. J. Edgar Ray's new textbook, The Art of Bricklaying, will be available within the next few weeks.

With the announcement came a vivid advertising circular, prepared by the Bennett Co. and outlining the content of the new book. Stress was placed on such aspects of Dr. Ray's volume as the 168 photos and step-by-step drawings, the 42 bond pattern of bricklaying discussed, such necessary techniques as chimney construction and special ornamental skills, and the necessity and techniques for proper scaffolding.

According to the circular, the procedures and instructions aid both learner and teacher. Steps are in logical order for proper development of skill, and all procedures are taken from actual jobs. Speed exercises, 61 comprehension questions, a summary of work suggestions, and a good index are provided.

The new book contains a full glossary of 484 trade terms in 240 5½" by 8½" pages. The price is $4.00. The author is listed as "Dr. J. Edgar Ray, professor of industrial education, The Stout Institute, who has worked in the trade and taught bricklaying for 42 years."

PUBLICITY BLANKS READY FOR GRADUATING MEN

A notice has come from the office of Dean Bowman to the effect that all graduating men are requested to inform their home and school newspapers of their graduation and to give particulars on graduation and on their future plans.

Special blanks and envelopes for the purpose are available, in the Dean's office and should be completed immediately.

DIETETIC INTERNSHIPS ANNOUNCED

The Stout Institute is one of many colleges throughout the country whose Home Economics curriculum meets the requirements of the American Dietetic Association. Each year in April qualified students receive appointments to accredited hospitals throughout the country for one year of internship training. The course for dietetic internship is an apprentice type training. It is a practical application of the scientific knowledge which students have gained in college.

It is customary for the American Dietetic Association to send all appointments to the Home Economics deans of various colleges and universities. Senior students were very happy to receive their appointments from Dean Kirk in April. Four senior Home Economics students have accepted their appointments. Donna Franken will go to St. Louis University hospital in St. Louis, Missouri. She will begin her internship on September 6. Ardelle Krueger has accepted her appointment at the University of Minnesota hospital, Minneapolis, Minnesota, and will begin her training July 1. Darlene Nelson will receive her training at Milwaukee County hospital, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and will be a member of the class which begins August 14. Florence Severson will take her training at the Hines Veterans hospital, Hines, Illinois. She will go on duty July 13.

These girls will complete their training a year from now, and will then be eligible for a position in any accredited hospital in the United States.

POP CONCERT TO BE HELD NEXT WEDNESDAY

On Wednesday, May 17, regular concert will consist of a pop concert by the band, under the direction of Mr. Frailey. This is a concert of popular music. A partial list of the numbers is as follows:

32nd Division March ----- Steinmetz
Raggy Trombone ----- Kiefer
With A Song in My Heart ----- Rogers
Thunder and Lightning ----- Strauss
A Concert Polka
Harlem By Night ----- Bennett
Featuring Hot Lips Ebert

Peter and the Wolf ----- Prokovieff
My Heart Stood Still ----- Rogers
Ringling Brothers Grand Entry -- Sweet
As band personnel have turned in their uniforms, this concert will not be formal. This is the final performance of the year for the music department at Stout, and to close a very successful season the groups will hold a joint picnic Wednesday afternoon as a last get-together until next year.

AIR FORCE TO ADMIT MAJORS IN DIETETICS

Dean Kirk has recently received a letter from the Surgeon General's office in Washington, regarding the present plan to admit to the U. S. Air Force college graduates who have majors in dietetics.

This is one of the newest developments in the field of Home Economics, according to Dean Kirk, and one that will probably interest many Home Economists who have specialized in food service and dietetics.

Major General G. Armstrong, Surgeon General of the U. S. Air Force, announced that a limited number of women will be accepted each year for post graduate training from among qualified applicants who desire to become dietitians, occupational therapists, or physical therapists in the Women's Medical Specialist Corps of the U. S. Air Force Medical Service. The training is currently being conducted by the Army Medical Department.

The courses are dietetic internship, physical therapy training course, and occupational therapy clinical affiliation.

To apply for a dietetic internship, an applicant must have a bachelor of science in either foods and nutrition or institution management.

To be eligible for the physical therapy training course, an applicant must have a bachelor's degree, with major emphasis in physical education or the biological sciences.

To be accepted for the occupational therapy clinical affiliation, an applicant must hold a bachelor's degree and have completed the first year of a two-year course in occupational therapy.

Successful applicants will be commissioned as second lieutenants in the U. S. Air Force Reserve, but must express a desire in writing, to enter the regular component of the Air Force.

Candidates will first take the basic course at Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Upon completion of the basic course, students entering the 12-months' dietetic internship or physical therapy training course will continue their training at the same installation.

Students entering the 12-months' occupational therapy clinical affiliation will be assigned to select general hospitals.

Applications for this year must be received by May 15. Application forms and additional information may be obtained upon written request from the Surgeon General, Headquarters U. S. Air Force, Washington 25, D.C.

Qualified students who are interested in knowing more about the dietetic internship and physical therapy training courses on the postgraduate level can obtain this information from Dean Kirk's office.

'SPRING' WEATHER TO BE DECIDING FACTOR

STOUT FACULTY SPONSOR ROOM AT HOSPITAL

Contributions from faculty members and the administration of The Stout Institute will furnish a double room in Menomonie's new hospital when that structure is opened to the public in a short time.

To provide the necessary furniture and equipment for such a double room, a total of $450 was recently donated by faculty and administration. The money has been turned over to R. L. Pierce, president of the Menomonie Hospital board.

STOUTONIA BANQUET PLANNED FOR MAY 16

On Tuesday evening, May 16, at 6:30 p. m., members of the Stoutonia staff will again hold their annual dinner banquet at the Marion Hotel. Awards will be presented to the two most valuable members.

Georgia Stephenson, chairman of the committee, along with his co-workers Donna Krisik, Nancy Haertlein, Ann Rossmiller and Dick Duthler, has arranged the affair.

THREE STOUT GRADS PLACED

The following information has been released by Miss Gertrude M. O'Brien, college placement officer:

A 1929 graduate of Stout Institute, Mr. Lynn Ogden, now Director of Vocational Education, Richmond County Board of Education, Augusta, Georgia, has spent Monday and Tuesday of this week on the college campus. Mr. Ogden selected three Stout senior industrial education teachers for his schools: Drawing—Leslie Springmire, New London, Wisconsin; Printing—Richard C. Johnson, Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin; Woodwork—Paul Merrill, Newberry, South Carolina.

Mr. Ogden is a native of Menomonie and is a graduate of Menomonie high school.

NEW COURSES OFFERED IN SUMMER SESSION

Three New Home Economics Courses Offered During Summer Session

The summer session program in Home Economics this year will include three courses that have not been offered at The Stout Institute for the past several years, according to Dean Kirk.

The first, Seminar in Related Art, will carry advanced credit in all of the three Home Economics graduate programs. This course will be under the direction of Miss Winifred Hinkley, and will include a wide variety of related art work to meet the interests and needs of students. There will be emphasis especially on how related art work can be integrated in every phase of home economics subject matter.

The second course that has not been offered for some time is the special three-week technique course, Repair and Maintenance of Home Furniture. For several years, Mrs. Bethke's Slip Cover and Drapery Construction course has been very popular, and there has been a demand for an accompanying course on simple upholstery techniques. Mr. Herbert East, of the School of Vocational and Adult Education in Sheboygan, will offer this course in Repair and Maintenance of Home Furniture. Emphasis will also be placed on the selection of coverings and the techniques of finishing and refinishing wooden surfaces.

The third course which has not been offered for several years is Advanced Experimental Food. This also will be offered on the graduate level. The course will be taught by Miss Ella Jane Meiller, head of the Department of Food and Nutrition. Miss Meiller's experience in this area of work has been varied, and the scheduling of this course during the summer session should be a real opportunity for students who are working toward a Master's degree.

Money For Street Closing Released By Governor And Plans Approved By State

Work on the eagerly-awaited street closing project at The Stout Institute began formally last Friday, May 5, according to Harold Fletcher, Menomonie contractor, who is making the improvements.

To all those who bombard him with the question "When will the job be finished?" Mr. Fletcher can answer only, "It depends on Menomonie's 'spring' weather, but we'll certainly complete work as soon as possible."

Money for the street closing was released last week by Governor Oscar Rennebohm, after plans and specifications had been approved by the state architect. Money for the closing was appropriated by the Wisconsin State Legislature. Work on the project will be of two major types: the removal of some existing roadway and then the refilling of vacated streets and the later addition of some new facilities.

Removal of present facilities includes the breaking up and removal of the present roadway, which consists of both cement and blacktop. Also to be torn out are the curbs along the roadway.

In addition to the filling and seeding of the vacated streets, several service driveways are planned for easier delivery of materials to the college. An automobile turnaround will be added on Wilson.

A final top dressing and seeding will then add the necessary landscaping touches to the beautified campus.

PRESIDENT FRYKLUND RETURNS TO CAMPUS

President Verne C. Fryklund has returned to the campus after a short absence in which he participated in two projects. First, he took part in a comprehensive study of the vocational program of Duval county, Florida. His group then made recommendations to the county superintendent, suggesting administrative and educational policies.

Later, President Fryklund was called to Washington D. C. by the Army to work on a special project in the Pentagon.

In addition to the many other courses which are scheduled for the Home Economics Division, alumnae will be especially interested in the fact that Planning and Equipping Home Economics Laboratories will be offered again this year. This proved to be one of the most popular courses during the last summer session. It was expected that this course would be offered only once every two years, but because there are so many home economics departments in the state where laboratories are being remodeled, the Division of Home Economics at The Stout Institute will attempt to offer additional training to aid principals and home economics teachers who are in charge of reorganizing their departments. For the first time, this course will be offered on a three-week basis, June 19 to July 7.

All Home Economic students now in attendance have completed their summer session registration. However, if there are additional students who wish to enroll for the summer session, arrangements can be made by contacting Dean Kirk in her office at any time.

SPRING DEVIATIONS

Each new quarter of the school year offers a challenge. We constantly are gaining experience which we, as future teachers, will need to educate the citizens of tomorrow. Let's stop and think a minute. Have we gained all the experience to which we were entitled this past quarter? The range of experience is far-reaching and is vitally important that we have all the basic knowledge which makes for an efficient teacher.

The spring quarter always brings deviations like balmy days, but let's try to keep our minds on-school work. Our four short years of college pass quickly, so we cannot afford to waste a moment. Besides being the last quarter of the year, spring means we will wind-up another session of school. It's nice to be able to say that we have applied ourselves to the fullest extent for the complete year, and not lagged in the spring. Some people say that this statement is a farce, but even these persons will not be able to say it with a clear conscience. Think it over; then let's hit this last quarter with all the vim, vigor, and vitality we can.

D. L.

ARE YOU GUILTY?

When a person reaches the college level, it is only natural that he or she should be of a higher intellectual caliber than is a small child. We refer to the childish and moronic behavior of a few students during the lyceum programs.

These programs are compulsory and maybe are not always of the particular type we wish to hear or see, but they demand use of sound social principles and etiquette.

Special reference is made to the mutterings, restlessness, laughing, talking, and horseplay that goes on during these programs. They are an insult to the performer and show the rudeness, disrespect, and true character of the individual who is guilty of these actions.

As future teachers, we should serve as examples. We will not tolerate such disrespect in our own class, so why do we practice it now? All that is asked is that we sit quietly and respectfully during these programs and the performers the courtesy that we will someday expect our students to give us in the classroom.

— E. B.

Greetings,

Did you miss us? We hope you did, 'cause we surely missed being in our old place on this "enlightening" page. We are back, and we hope to stay.

Well, we have some items which may be of some interest to some people. Noticed Norma Cole wearing a sparkler. Understand Herb Ebsen is the lucky guy. Best wishes from us to them.

Another lucky couple is Merlin Moore and his wife. Heard they had an addition to the family in the form of a baby boy. Understand they named him Dennis Merlin. Another potential industrial arts major. Could be KFS material too.

Went to the Junior Prom last weekend. Quite an affair. Saw many people at the shindig. And we do mean shindig. A little crowded, but fun. Clancy Urankar sure made a nice king, not to mention the lovely queen, Barb Pech. The V.P. LaVerne Ablard looked as though she was having a good time while promenading with Lloyd Johnson. That has been a more than casual twosome as of late. Barb Lovering, secretary of the Junior class was escorted to the affair by Ed Bergman, a graduate student. They too looked as though fun was the theme for the evening. And last, but not least in the list of officers comes Bob Houghton who "floated" around the floor while entwined with enchanting Betty Neas. "Out of this world" would more aptly describe that couple.

Dean and Mrs. M. M. Price made an entrance just soon enough for the Dean to crown the queen. Must say he did a very excellent job too. Of course that is right in his line, as Dean Price is always "crowning" people in his government classes. Ouch, don't hit me! We must also mention the other chaperones who so kindly gave their services to make the dance a success. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Arneson, Dean Keturah Antrim, and Dr. and Mrs. Eric Oetting were the other chaperones.

Now we should perhaps mention some of the married couples we saw at the dance. We can't see everyone, so don't feel slighted if we missed you. Noticed Galen Quaderer and his wife having a gay time at the dance. Others having fun were Mr. and Homer Settles, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hoffman, Barney and Mrs. Fisher, Ray and Mrs. Doane, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Amthor, Mr. and Mrs. Al Barberg, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dehne, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Plonsky, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Swanson, and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ohr.

And now we come to the much-looked for portion of the column. The list of couples we have noticed around the campus as of late. The first are those we saw at the prom. To start the list should be none other than Stan Kendall and Phyllis Bartosic. Next are Warren Barberg and Jean Bulmer. To save space we will more or less make a list of those we saw. Next are Don Bredahl and Daynee Buell, Oliver Agerlie and his girl from town, Bill Albrecht, and Verl Sneen, Emery Nelson and Bea Anderson, Wayne Rudisell and his girl from home, but we don't know who, Gaylord Roe and Joan Brack, Gordon Goessner and Joanne Buboltz, Chuck Jorgensen and Rowena Christen, Vaughn "Leave my car alone" Stai and Ruth Ann Christensen, Don "GG" Tietz and Anita "Pug" Clark, Les Springmire and Ruth Conjurski, Jim Covey and Phyllis Amacher, Jim Vogtberger and Joan Kleinheinz, Russ Pollock and Madelyn Erickson, Jim Papaz and Rachael Dautermann, Bob Hirano and Eleanor Ushijima, Marge Forsman and her one and only Johnny from Crystal Falls, Michigan. Man, Oh man! We didn't know there were so many couples or we would have waited until next week to start the column again.

But to continue we have R. Dean Frey and Faye Lehner, Marilyn Tibbetts and Betty Potthast, Roy Walker and Ruth Hauge, Gene Traxler and Pat Krause, Karl Windberg and Jean Pengilly, Ann Rossmiller and her man (presumably from back in Burlington), Curtiss Briggs, a Stout grad and Marge Wisemiller; two grads: Robert Crowley and Lois Quist; Helen Haase and her husband-to-be come this June 18, Jim Ooley and Dorothy Hardies, Gerald Jeffery and Pat, Dirk Van Duzee and Rita Hack, Eugene Weigel and Geraldine Jurwitz, Bob Solberg and Lois Jensen, Bill Kiefer and Donna McDonough, Bob Morris and Donna Krisk, John and Austin Myers with their girls from back home, Glen Sommers and his girl from home, Pete Schellinger and Joan Davidson, Charles Schiferl and Katie Ziehm, Wally Weiss and Nancy Haertlein, Catherine "Peg" Welch and man "Joe", Fred Wentorf and Gerry, Erickson, Rolland Wolfe and Pat Goodrich, Bob Cseh and Betty Worthington, Jerry Zelenka and Rosemary Goede, Russ Larson and Isabel Benedict. Man, I'm beat. What a day, what a day.

The prom sort of took the life out of us, and as a result we're still trying to catch our breath. The PA's are holding their dinner dance tomorrow night so we should be able to pick up a few names there. Speaking of the PA's dinner dance, we understand that Bernice Danzinger has asked Frank Tank to be at her side that evening. hmmm.

We haven't got much more this week. We'll be back next week with a lot more. See you then, if not before. Before we sign off, we would like to remind everyone to remember those who can't forget. Buy a buddy poppy, today, O.K.?

Till next week

STUDENTS COMPLETE FEATURE ARTICLES

The first of three regular feature articles have been completed by all members of Mr. Fleming's feature writing class. Several of these already been sold.

Articles written by class members have appeared in The Milwaukee Journal, The Saint Paul Pioneer Press, The Eau Claire Leader, the local paper, and Stoutonia.

Subjects for these articles include such varied items as Miss Killian's direction of the Stout Institute Ten Room; the Menomonie Boy Scout movement; Ed Pralen, the Menomonie educator; and unusual personalities in Menomonie and Knapp.

Earlier, members of the journalism class has sold articles on H. M. Hansen and Dr. J. Edgar Ray, teachers at the Stout Institute; and Dick Vanek, a student at Stout.

The second set of articles is nearing completion, and several students have begun their third projects. These include articles for newspapers and professional education magazines. A summary of all articles sold and total money raised by students of the class will be given in a later edition of the Stoutonia.

COOS BY PIGEON

Dear Readers,

Well, May is here and the appearance of spring is still rather doubtful. Lady Spring has been altogether too late in keeping her date with us, this year.

As another school year will soon be drawing to a close in a few more weeks and as I look back at the past events of the year, I wonder if we really made the best of our study time. In one of my classes, we were presented with a test and the instructor ask the class if they all had coins with them. Heads, it's "true" and tails, it's "false" is one method of writing a test, especially if you don't study enough and the test is a true and false type of test. Also, during the past week, Mr. Barnard, in preparing his audio-visual class for a test, stated: "Write your name and code number on the answer sheet," and then he added, "also write down your code number on your chairs so you can remember it!" What wonderful advice and, of course, we all laugh.

Do you like to sing while driving your car? Please note the following selections. . . . and decide for yourself which one of these is for you.

At 45 miles per hour: "Highways Are Happy Ways."

At 55 miles per hour: "I'm But a Stranger Here; Heaven is My Home."

At 65 mile per hour: "Nearer My God to Thee."

At 75 miles per hour: "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder, I'll Be There."

At 85 miles per hour: "Lord, I'm Coming Home."

It was getting on into the wee hours. With a great show of courage and virtues she asked? "When are you going to drive back to town and take me home?"

He: "As soon as you say the word."

She: "Then let's go home."

He: "That's not the word."

Here's one about a husband who came home drunk and told his wife that he was himself. She beat him up because she doesn't allow strangers in her house.

Sweet young thing: "Mamma, come here and make Johnny stop teasing me."

Mother: "What's he doing, dear?" S.Y.T.: "He's sitting at the other end of the sofa."

Jitterbug—A girl who chews gum and is wriggly all over.

Editor: "Say this story can't be printed. It says here that the heroine was nude."

Author: "That's all right, I cover her with remorse in the next paragraph."

The following is excellent to insert, about this time of year, but I can't give credit to the author because he is unknown. It is entitled:

THE FATE OF A FLUNKER

Registration
 Invitation Participation Conversation
 Jollification
 Procrastination
 Examination
 Differentiation Investigation
 Disintegration
 Evaporation

There's one in every crowd. We mean a professor who delights in alternately sneering and cheering at the younger generation now in college.

One such professor was leaning over his rostrum delivering a dissertation on the mode of talk sported by the younger among us.

"Now what's that silly saying the girls on the campus are in the habit of saying?" he mused to the discomfiture of the coeds in the class.

"No!" shouted a male from the recesses of the back row.

ANNEX GIVES SURPRISE PARTY TO SSS GIRLS

Mrs. Adams called the Tainter Annex house meeting to order at ten-thirty on Sunday evening, April 22. She said that one of the girls had something to say. The meeting was then turned over to Mary Lou Bohmstedt. She said that conduct of several of the Annex girls had been brought to the attention of her committee.

Four girls were asked to stand. They were Helen Kenna, Dorothy Messerschmidt, Ann Rossmiller, and Priscilla Strommen. Varied, worried and surprised expressions were displayed. Suddenly, everyone yelled, "Surprise!" Yes, everyone but these knew that a surprise party had been planned for the Annex girls who would be leaving for the Symphonic's tour in the morning. Each of these girls was presented with a gift from the dorm.

After the girls sang some of their songs the party adjourned.

DEMONSTRATION ON TYPES OF MILK GIVEN

Demonstrations on the use of dried skim milk and evaporated milk were the interesting highlights of the Home Economics club meeting in the food laboratory on Monday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m.

Elva Lovett prepared a delicious spice cake, cocoa, chocolate pudding with a whipped topping, and a molasses confectionary from the dried skim milk. Helen Helm made a chocolate-lime swirl, egg-less mayonnaise, and French coffee from evaporated milk.

During the demonstration, the girls answered questions concerning their projects, and Elva explained that the dried milk she was using is made in Menomonie.

Everyone at the meeting had an opportunity to taste all the products, and they came to the conclusion that many uses have been found for the dried skim milk and evaporated milk. This milk is economical to use and the foods prepared were delicious.

Question of the Week

The question for the week is, "Was the all-school card party successful enough to be made a yearly event?"

Al Spaninhimer: It was fun making the prizes and I'm sure all had a swell time. I'm looking forward to a better party next year.

Bob Asman: I showed them who was the better sheephead player.

Tony Buhner: It was fun and nice as a variety, seeing there was no dance scheduled.

Bob Berg: I believe that all who came found it not only inexpensive but rather nice for a change.

Jack Meyers: We of Arts and Crafts are happy that all had a pleasant time. From comments on this party I'm sure we will make this an annual event and improvements will continually be made for the fuller enjoyment for everyone attending.

SMA ALUMNAE INVITED TO DINNER DANCE

SMA society invites you to its annual dinner dance at the Menomonie Country club on May 26 at 6:30 p.m. Cost of the dinner will be $2.00 per plate. Music will be furnished by Johnny Farwell and his orchestra.

Any alumna wishing to accept the invitation may inform Ruth Schrader, 2720 Wilcox Street, Menomonie, before May 19, and arrange.

AUDIO-VISUAL CLASS VISITS MINNEAPOLIS

The eight members of the graduate class in Problems of Audio-Visual Education experienced an ideal example of audio-visual instruction last Friday, April 28, when they visited several places of interest in Minneapolis with Mr. D. P. Barnard. The trip arranged and conducted by Ray Doane, included a tour of the Reid H. Ray Film industries, a visit to the Minnesota State Department of Education's tape recording project, a review of the Marshall high school audio-visual program, and a tour of the audio-visual center of the University of Minnesota. Transportation was provided by Roger Windberg and his Cadillac.

One of the recent developments in audio instruction is the use of tape recordings. The group visited the recording rooms of the Minnesota Tape Project. Mr. Richard C. Brower, Audio-Visual-Radio supervisor for the Minnesota State Department of Education, explained the project to the group, and answered many questions concerning the future of tape recordings in education.

For a better understanding of audio-visual programs in the school, the class visited Marshall high school, interviewing and questioning the audio-visual director. The group also toured the University of Minnesota Audio-Visual center, where the coordinator explained the program of audio-visual instruction, production, and services. Both the high school and the university are advancing their programs, and both places proved to be of interest and of help to the audio-visual class.

The field trip not only was an excellent example of good audio-visual instruction, but it emphasized the fact that more audio-visual instruction is needed, and that something is being done to meet this need. The audio-visual class feels that Stout has an excellent opportunity to promote good instruction by using audio-visual methods in all courses, for students will teach as they themselves are taught.

ANNUAL SPRING CONCERT GIVEN BY SINGERS

The Stout Symphonic Singers brought a successful year's work to a climatic finale when they presented their annual spring concert on Wednesday, May 3. The program featured religious, spiritual, and modern selections.

The fine ensemble work of the numbers and the unity of the presentations were evidence of the hard work which the group has put forth. The program was as follows:

I
Views in the Night Williams
Hosanna in the Highest Soderman
Praise to the Lord Christiansen

II
Were You There Arr. by Ringwald
De Gospel Train Arr. by Cain
Joshua Fit De Battle Ob Jerico Arr. by Gaul

III
Piano selection by Geraldine Jurwitz

IV
Sister Caroline in Yamacraw Gannett
Selections from "South Pacific" Rodgers
Evening Prayer & Dream

Pantomime Humperdink
Russian Cavalry Song Arr. by Hause
I Won't Kiss Katy Arr. by Smith
Stout Hearted Men Arr. by Rombert-Cook

Mr. Frailey expressed his appreciation for the cooperation which the singers gave him. He stated that he enjoyed this year's work very much, and hopes it is the beginning of a long series of successful, pleasant associations with the Symphonic Singers and Stout Institute.

STS ELECTS OFFICERS FOR COMING YEAR

The STS held its annual elections Wednesday. The new officers are as follows: Stanely Hoffman, president; Don Sargent, vice-president; Don Winters, secretary; John Woolley, treasurer; Rolland Wolfe, sergeant-at-arms. After the elections, plans were discussed for the Wazy-Goose.

EICH DORM COUNCIL ATTENDS ANNEX DINNER

The Eichelberger dormitory council, consisting of Kathryn Ziehm, president; Donna Gardiner, vice president; Carol LaBorde, secretary; Donna Heike, treasurer; and Shirley Dorer, SSA representative, were dinner guests of Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Adams, and Miss Zine at the dormitory hall on Monday evening, May 1.

The Eichelberger council are all former Annex girls and they were very glad to have the opportunity to eat in the dining hall again.

ENGLISH CLASS SEES "THE TROJAN WOMEN"

Six past and present members of Miss Wauneta Hain's English literature class went to Saint Paul Saturday, May 6, accompanied by Mr. Charles Frailey to attend the Saint Paul drama festival, presented annually by four Saint Paul colleges.

The presentation this year was "The Trojan Women" by Euripides, he'd in "The Little Theater" at Macalester. Students from Macalester, Hamline, Saint Catherine's, and Saint Thomas composed the cast.

Accompanying Mr. Frailey, of the music department, were Betty Erickson, Dorothy Hilton, Viola Leiskau, Gerda Ravnholt, Rose Young, and Kathryn Ziehm.

CONGO CLUB ATTENDS FELLOWSHIP CONVO

Betty Severson, Beverly Brehmer, Larry Johnson, and Wally Bondhus attended the spring convention of the United Student Fellowship of Wisconsin. The convention was held at Carroll college in Waukesha. The group left Friday noon, April 21, and returned Saturday night. The important business of the convention was the election of new state officers. The tour of the Carroll college campus and dorms proved to be a lot of fun.

DECORATIONS FEATURE DORM BIRTHDAY TABLE

A Maypole of sweet peas with streamers extending to each place card decorated the final birthday table of the year held May 4 at Tainter hall. The fifteen birthday girls — Shirley Lepien, Beverly Henderson, June Keefer, Betty Hollenwig, Zoe Melhauser, Ruth Stenzel, Dorothy Wildell, Beatrice Anderson, Ardis Manderschied, Catherine Magee, Nancy Folkstad, Donna Ebert, Phyllis Keyes, Ellen Williams, and Mary Lou Bohmstedt — expressed delighted ooh's and ahh's over the banquet of first cocktails, roast chicken, dressing, mashed potatoes, gravy, asparagus, relish trays, hot rolls, jelly, strawberry ice cream, and cake.

TAINTER ANNEX, HALL PLANS TO HOLD PICNIC

Once again Mrs. Nelson is planning a picnic for the freshman girls at Tainter hall and Tainter annex. The picnic, an annual event, is held on the banks of Lake Menomonie.

WSF TO HOLD SPRING PICNIC AND RETREAT

Members of the Wesley Student Fellowship last Sunday, May 7, participated in a scavenger hunt which took them to all parts of Menomonie in search of the sixteen illusive items dreamed up by Les Duenk and Fred Kajihara, who were in charge of the annual affair.

On the winning team, which captured all sixteen objectives and returned ten minutes ahead of the 45 minute deadline, were Donna Ebert, Ann Banker, Dorothy Hilton, Norm Lenius, and Jim Brown.

Items which the hunters were required to find were, in part, an earthworm, a picture of Stalin, a spring flower, stubs from the State and Stout theatres, a policeman's signature, an egg shell, and an envelope postmarked from Canada.

Scheduled for next weekend at Wesley are two annual events. The annual Wesley spring picnic will be held Sunday at the Olson cottage on Lake Tainter, beginning at 2:00 p.m. Members are requested to sign the posters in the HE corridor, specifying if they will be able to bring a car, so that the planning committee will know how many to prepare for.

Scheduled also for this weekend, is the annual spring retreat for the old and new cabinets, for the purpose of planning next year's programs tentatively, and for indoctrinating new members of the cabinet with correct procedures, etc. This retreat will also be held at Lake Tainter, with the cabinet members and chaperones spending the night at the lake.

NEW PHI U OFFICERS INSTALLED ON MAY 1

Installation of new Phi U officers was held last Monday evening, May 1, at 7:15 p.m. in the Harvey Memorial.

The new officers installed were Patricia Vogels, president; Ann Banker, vice president; Barbara Lovering, recording secretary; Ruth Schrader, corresponding secretary; Dorothy Amendt, treasurer; Faye Lehner, historian; Nancy Haertlain editor; Geraldine Raisler, librarian; Laverne Ablard, chaplain; and Bernice Danzinger, marshal.

The two active alumni present for the installation were Mrs. Ralph Betterly and Mrs. Lloyd Whydowski.

MANUAL ARTS PLAYERS HOLD INITIATION

The Manual Arts Players held their annual initiation and banquet on Monday of this week.

At their initiation meeting on the stage of the Stout auditorium, members of this dramatic fraternity formally accepted into their ranks five qualified initiates. These were Dennis Brooks, Dick Duthler, Geraldine Raisler; Bill Wenzel and Clarice Zarling.

After the initiation, the entire group retired to the Cafe La Corte, where the banquet was held.

YWCA PICNIC RAINED OUT; HELD IN CLUBROOM

Rain added an unwelcome note to the YWCA picnic held on Monday evening, May 8. The spirits of the members were not dampened, however; the girls carried on and enjoyed the program and picnic lunch in their clubrooms.

In charge of the food for the picnic were Shirley Cox and Marge Forsman, assisted by Eileen Deetz and Elaine Johnson.

The senior past and present members of the organization were guests and were asked to tell their plans for next year. Following this, the worship service was led by Jean Van Lieu, and the program was closed with the singing of hymns.

SENIOR HOME EC STUDENTS JOIN AMERICAN HE CLUB

During the past week, many of the senior home economics students on the campus joined the American Home Economics Association.

The new members will receive certificates and will be initiated at the Senior Recognition breakfast, sponsored by the Home Economics club, to be held on the last Sunday of the month, May 28.

By becoming members, the seniors will have an opportunity to exchange ideas with members of their own profession, an opportunity to know eminent members who may help them advance in their field, and an opportunity to keep in touch with current developments in their own field and related fields through the Journal of Home Economics.

TEA ROOM LUNCHEON GIVEN FOR SENIORS

Graduating senior girls enjoyed the annual spring luncheon given by the tea room class on Thursday, May 11. Gerry Raisler was student manager.

Dorothy Groethe acted as room hostess and the senior girls who had taken the tea room course were hostesses at their tables. The tables were gaily decorated with miniature diplomas used as placecards and with centerpieces of pink and white sweet peas.

REMEMBER WHEN

Remember When just a year ago the SSS sponsored a bake sale to help raise tour funds? Verle Sneen was chairman of the event—Lynwood Hall picnic plans were made by Robert Berg and Charles Schiferl. The picnic was held at Riverside park . . . SMA society held their dinner dance at the Menomonie Country club . . . The Stout tennis team captured six out of seven matches from River Falls.

SMA SOCIETY ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The SMA society elected the following new officers for another year: president, Ruth Schrader; vice president, Jean Carswell; secretary, Mary Jean Swanson; treasurer, Karen Anderson; historian, Dayne Buell; editor, Ruth Larson.

The SMA's installed officers at a dinner at the hotel Marion on April 20. Before the SMA's welcomed in their new members a formal initiation was held at the Kirk house on April 16. New members are Bette Rasmussen, Ruth Larson, and Clarice Zarling. Coke, ice cream, and coffee was served after initiation.

PARASOL PARADE DANCE TO BE HELD MAY 13

"Parasol Parade" will be the theme of the PA dinner dance to be held at the Menomonie Country club on Saturday, May 13 at 6:30 p. m. Music will be furnished by Jimmy Knight, and his orchestra.

Jean Bulmer, chairman of the event, has Beverly Brehmer, and Roberta Hutchinson as her co-workers.

The tables will be decorated with parasols and nut cup pipes. The menu for the occasion will include cranberry shrub, T bone steak with mushroom sauce, buttered potatoes, frozen mixed vegetables, fruit salad, relishes, roles, hardened meringue with ice cream and coffee.

About thirty-five couples and alumni are expected to attend. Among the honored guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Ruehl, and alumna, and Dr. Marshall, PA adviser.

SANTA BARBARA WAS FEATURED IN TEA ROOM

The dishes famous in the Santa Barbara locale were featured in the tea room luncheon on Thursday, April 20.

The menu consisted of individual chicken pie; mixed vegetables; assorted breads (date bread, banana, orange nut, butterscotch, and prune); peach melba and coffee, tea, or milk.

A top scholar and ROTC Honor Graduate, Cadet Lt. Col. Nathan Adams enjoyed his final military ball in 1940, soon left for Fort Sill's Field Artillery School.

Following a three month course, Lt. Adams decided the Air Force was the place for him. He applied for pilot training, was accepted, proceeded to Maxwell Field.

He won his wings and reported to the 36th Fighter Group in Puerto Rico. The group soon returned to the States, giving Adams a chance to marry his college sweetheart.

Within months Adams was overseas, flying "rhubarbs" (missions against enemy transport). He flew 63 P-47 missions within seven months, returned to the States late in 1944 for rest and recuperation.

V-J Day came, and Adams decided to make the service a career. He chose personnel work as his career field, was assigned for training to the Adjutant General's School at Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia.

Now a regular Air Force Major, he heads a 32-man section at Bolling Air Force Base. He advises his Commanding Officer on selection, assignment and promotion of all officers and airmen in the command.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider the many career opportunities as a pilot or navigator in the U. S. Air Force. Procurement Teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Watch for them. You may also get full details at your nearest Air Force Base or U. S. Army and U. NSA BEING 'ADAPTED' TO CAMPUS USE--WILSON

NSA is developing a new set of programs specifically geared to the individual campuses, Craig Wilson, national NSA director of publications, commented in a "keynote" address to the Wisconsin Regional Convention.

Wilson explained that campus NSA committees "are moving forward with new programs aside from the projects that have been the mainstay of NSA since the Association began."

He listed the older programs as including Symphony Forum, the Purchase Card System, Faculty Rating, and foreign travel bureaus.

"New programs springing up are adapted to the specific campus situation," Wilson said. Among these listed were:

1. Book Discussion groups—similar to the Symphony Forum—in the Los Angeles, Cal., area.
2. NSA groups in schools close together have joined forces in monthly meetings to coordinate efforts on the Purchase Card System and other projects adaptable to a large area.
3. A Theatre Arts Assembly in the Indiana region will bring students from more than eight schools together—each with a one-act play for presentation and criticism by other students.
4. A choral festival with participants from schools in the San Francisco area. Proceeds support the World Student Service Fund and eliminate campus bucket brigades seeking direct donations.
5. A unique taxi-cab routing system at Smith college which gets cabs returning on trains from distant dates to their dormitories before closing hours.

Wilson explained that these fledgling programs represent the adaptation of NSA services to specific campus needs and a stage of development which indicates that NSA is nearing maturity in many strong areas of the nation.

He called on students in the Wisconsin Region to give NSA programs "the once over" and seek out projects and ideas that are geared to their particular campuses.

Only in that way may NSA become an effective force in Wisconsin, he warned.

REGION PIONEERS NSA WITH S.T.C. PROGRAM

The Wisconsin Region has pioneered in the recognizing of the special position of the State Teachers College in the American Educational Scene.

The Region has created a fourth commission,—on an equal footing with other commissions—which will deal with specific problems of State Teachers Colleges.

It was the conclusion of the group that discussed this problem at the Regional Convention, that there was a great similarity in the problems the schools faced, and that it would help to be able to present a unified front in many cases.

An example of a problem the State Teachers Colleges have in common is that of spending State funds without the approval of the state auditor, and the keeping of funds collected by the Student Government separate from State Funds.

A meeting is planned for this month, to which all of the Teachers Colleges in the State would be invited, if possible this late in the year. It was asked that this meeting would complete a report to be presented to the National Student Congress this summer. At the summer Congress, more than thirty state teachers are expected to attend a Teacher College workshop at the congress according to the NSA national staff.

Possible specific topics to be discussed at this first meeting of the commission this month, are the exchange of talent through programs including theatrical productions between various colleges, exchanging half-time activities at athletic events, and exchanging information on bands and homecoming plans.

The Commission will also take up the possibilities of the mutual use of activity cards between the schools, conducting a survey as to the facilities and program on the State Teachers College campuses, and setting up more efficient judicial branches in student governments.

If the State Teachers Colleges here in the state will get behind this new commission and help it grow into an efficient medium for expressing their needs, Wisconsin will have set a pattern that many other regions will follow.

NSA GIVEN SEATS ON AGENCY FOR NEGRO STUDENTS

NSA has been granted two seats on the Board of Directors of the National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students (NSSFNS).

Appointed to fill the positions were veep Richard J. Medalie and former national staff member Eugene Schwartz.

The Scholarship Fund contacts negro students and advises them of opportunities that exist for study in interracial colleges and universities.

Information supplied by the Scholarship Fund includes listings of scholarships at interracial schools, and the where and when of applying for them. The fund also supplements existing scholarships that are not sufficient for Negro students.

According to the Fund, Negroes total less than 1 percent of the enrollment in non-segregated colleges, although they represent 10 percent of the nation's population.

Schools here in Wisconsin can assist the fund by contributing portions of its Campus Chests or other charity fund drives to this purpose. Students can also investigate the status of the scholarships now available on their campuses for qualified Negro students.

DELEGATES O.K. ART TOUR PLAN FOR WISCONSIN

Proposals to set up a Wisconsin art tour were approved by the delegates to the regional convention.

The tour which will be set up for the 1950-51 school year will be under the direction of the commission on Student Life and Government.

Pictures will be solicited from the campuses throughout the state, with contact through school art departments. Campus NSA committees will also be on the lookout for likely entries, which will also be considered for the National Art tour sponsored by the National Association.

The final date of the entries has been tentatively set for January fifth, 1951, and the judging will be done by judges to be chosen by the Commission judges to be chosen by the Commission chairman. The judging will take place at the Regional Executive committee meetings early in February.

Under present plans, each of the schools throughout the state will be allowed two entries, except the University of Wisconsin which will be allowed six.

The tour will travel C.O.D. from school to school, on an agenda to be set up after a questionnaire to these schools interested has been answered.

If sufficient interest is shown in the tour, it is contemplated that it will become an integral part of the regional program, and will be held annually. The plan has been discussed for a number of years here in the region, and it is hoped that the student artists of Wisconsin will finally have a medium of exhibiting their works throughout the schools in the state.

SIX CAMPUSES ATTEND REGIONAL CONVENTION

More than 30 students attended the Wisconsin Regional convention on April 21-23 at The Stout Institute, Menomonie, Wisconsin, representing six Wisconsin schools.

They discussed student views on current issues in the educational community and hammered out a program of regional activity for the coming year.

Schools represented were: The Stout Institute, Eau Claire State Teachers college, La Crosse Teachers college, Milwaukee State Teachers college Mount Mary College, and the University of Wisconsin.

An official welcome to the Stout campus was extended by former Stout student government president, Bob Swanson; and Stout Dean of Men, M. M. Price.

Included in the action taken by the region was:

1. A report on a Student Government Survey that was sent out by the Commission on Student Life and Government. Although the survey was sent out to 24 of the larger schools in the region, results were obtained from only seven. Various techniques were discussed which might increase the response to the future surveys, which are to be sent out every two years to keep tab on student government in Wisconsin.

Such a survey would be of value to any school which wants to start a student government on its campus, and would also assist those campuses with student governments in seeing how other schools have been solving problems.

2. A resolution to sponsor Essai, the National Student literary magazine, here in Wisconsin. An attempt will be made to contact the literary magazines, English departments, and authors, on the various campuses and interest them in contributing to the magazine. It will be the job of the local NSA committee or Student Government to push this project.

3. A resolution that a list of scholarships on local campuses be compiled and given to the registrar on each campus not having such a listing. Such a list would be used by the students on the campus and also would be made available to students making application for admission.

4. A report was given on a recent survey of discrimination on Wisconsin campuses. It was noted that at La Crosse State Teachers college and the University of Wisconsin, definite programs have been set up to remove all discriminatory clauses in campus organizations. At Milwaukee State Teachers college, no new societies are permitted to organize if they have any discriminatory clauses.

5. A resolution to present to the National Congress a proposal to investigate the possibility of a Pan-American Union of students to include student organizations in Canada, the United States, Central and South America.

6. An affirmation of the plan to send a delegation from NSA to the World Student Congress to be held in Prague this summer, if NSA is invited to attend.

7. A general agreement was reached that the region should support the portion of the present bill of rights which guarantees the right of students to hear speakers of their own choosing.

(See—Six Campuses Page 6)

NEW OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Three new officers have taken up their duties in the Region. The newly filled positions included the Regional Vice Presidency, the Chairman of the Commission of Student Life and Government, and the chairman of the newly-formed commission on State Teachers Colleges.

Filling the post of Regional Vice President is Virginia Gardiner from Mount Mary College. Virginia, who has worked with NSA in Wisconsin for the past year, is a 19 year old sophomore majoring in speech.

John Poellinger, a major in Industrial Arts Education at The Stout Institute, is the new Chairman of the Commission on Student Life and Interest. At 25, John is the oldest officer in the region.

The Chairmanship of the newly formed Commission on State Teachers Colleges is being filled by Ashley Ellefson, from La Crosse State Teachers College. Ashley, 19, is a sophomore, planning on teaching History at the secondary level.

These new officers will serve along with those already elected, until the National Student Congress this summer, 1950-51 officers will be elected.

MILWAUKEE TEACHERS SOLVE CASH PROBLEM

By selling over 200 purchase cards in their first campaign, Milwaukee State Teachers college has taken a lead here in the sale of cards which give students discounts on their purchases.

Milwaukee started with contracting seven stores to give the discounts, and now have about fifteen stores contracted. Card sales have enabled the student government to pay both their national and regional NSA dues.

The purchase card system is also operating in Madison, with seven stores giving discounts to students at the University. To date a little over 200 cards have been sold and another campaign is being planned.

It was recommended at the regional convention, that if Eau Claire State Teachers college was to join the NSA, they should consider setting up a PCS in Eau Claire, and the Stout Institute, in Menomonie, (twenty miles away) might help in setting up the system and take part in the benefits.

Opening the way for adapting NSA to teacher college problems, this panel at the Assembly worked out an amendment to the Wisconsin Regional Assembly setting up a fourth commission under the direction of the regional officer from a teachers college. Left to Right: Winston McDaniels, regional president, U. of Wisconsin; Ashley Ellefson, La Crosse State Teachers College, who was later elected head of the newly-formed commission; Jim Van Tassel, La Crosse; Bill Banks, Stout Institute; Doris Stensgaard, Eau Claire State Teachers College; and Craig Wilson, NSA national staff.

FACULTY RATING PLAN CATCHES ON IN REGION

Faculty evaluation programs are beginning to 'catch on' throughout Wisconsin Colleges.

More and more schools are becoming interested in this plan whereby students get a chance to help instructors improve their quality of teaching.

A report was given to the regional convention on the success of the program at Milwaukee State Teachers college.

The plan as it was initiated here, was entirely voluntary, with 65% of the faculty taking advantage of it. Grading sheets were handed out by the individual faculty members and each one compiled his own results.

It was pointed out by Lorraine Wilcott of MSTC, that there was still a definite misconception prevalent concerning faculty evaluation, an idea which is dangerous in inaugurating such a plan. Lorraine emphasized that the basic reason for the survey is not to get rid of unpopular faculty members. "The idea is to improve the general level of instruction, and let teachers know that students are interested in their education."

The convention resolved that a faculty evaluation coordinator should be appointed for the region to serve as information center on faculty evaluation work in the state.

The Regional Executive Committee has appointed Dick Burkhardt of MSTC to the position. He will shortly send out a questionnaire to see how many Wisconsin schools now have such an evaluation program, and how many without faculty rating would be interested in such a program.

Other schools in the region, which have faculty rating include the University of Wisconsin, where it is being used in the Integrated Liberal Studies program, and the University of Marquette.

A mimeographed booklet on faculty rating by Eugene Schwartz and Richard Medalie is available through Publications Bureau, NSA, 304 Park Stree, Madison, Wisconsin.

REGION WILL PROPOSE HEALTH INSURANCE

Plans are being studied for setting up a student health insurance plan. Students attending the regional convention, felt that the existing infirmity services were not adequate to cover present needs.

It was resolved by the convention, that a proposal be presented to the National Congress this summer, for initiating such a program on a national scale if possible.

Beloit college and Central State Teachers college in Michigan are being contacted for more information on this program.

The "No. 1" student in the United States is Robert A. Kelly, 20 years old who is president of the U.S. National Student Association.

He is a senior on leave from St. Peter's College, New Jersey.

UNIVERSITY REPORTS ON TRAVEL PROGRAMS

A report on the Study, Work, and Travel program, at the University of Wisconsin, was presented to the International Affairs Commission at the regional convention.

Nancy Walters, a delegate from the University of Wisconsin, told of the program, explaining that it included a series of programs entitled, "Badgers in Europe," which featured students who had recently traveled abroad.

The student panels discussed various types of travel now available to students, and presented movies and slides of foreign lands.

Specific international problems were discussed with foreign students.

On December 10, 1949, 307 schools had become members of the U.S. National Student Association.

THANKS TO STOUT

This fourth issue of the newsletter, "NSA in Wisconsin" is a supplement to the Stoutonia, published at The Stout Institute.

It will be read by Stout students as part of their regular weekly newspaper and by students in all other Wisconsin colleges as a report on the NSA Wisconsin Regional conference.

Extra copies in limited quantities are available from Leslie Scharf, Public Relations Director, NSA Wisconsin Region, 218 N. Mills Street, Madison, Wisconsin. Telephone 6-9187.

Official thanks go to our hosts, the students and administration at The Stout Institute, and the Stoutonia, for making the Regional Conference and this newsletter a great success.

SIX CAMPUSES

8. A discussion was held on the possibility of setting up a legislative subcommission in Madison. This group would keep an eye on bills affecting the students in the state, and would publish a newsletter keeping the schools throughout the state informed on what the legislature was doing.

Those attending the regional convention, were also oriented for the coming National Student Congress to be held at the University this summer. Details of the congress were discussed and all present were urged to attend the congress and to have their schools send either delegates if they were member schools, or observers if they had not yet joined NSA.

More than 600 students took advantage of tours to Europe sponsored by the U. S. National Student Association in 1949. Plans for 1950 will include more students.

These are the five students who are leading the U. S. National Student Association during Peter's College; Roert E. Delahanty, executive secretary, University of Louisville; second the 1949-50 academic year. They are, first row (left to right) Robert A. Kelly, president, St. Peter's College; second row Erskine Childers, vice president for international affairs, Stanford; Ted Perry, vice president for student life, Temple; and Richard Medalie, vice president for educational problems, Carleton College. (Frederic D. Houghteling, Harvard, replaced Delahanty in February.)

1,000 STUDENTS WILL ATTEND NSA CONGRESS

More than 1,000 American students will meet this summer to map NSA's program for 1950-51 and determine how students feel on the important educational issues of the day.

They will attend the Third annual National Student congress from August 23-31, at the University of Michigan.

With them will be faculty members. College and University administrators and representatives of UNESCO, World Student Service Fund, foreign student Unions, the U. S. Office of Education, and agencies which work with student on American campuses.

Through press and radio, the nation will watch the Congress for significant trends in thinking of the nation's alert younger generation.

Full information on the Congress program, including participation by NSA and non-NSA schools, is available through the National Office of NSA, 304 N. Park Street, Madison 5, Wisconsin.

More than 315 colleges and universities which are members of NSA are expected to send voting delegations to the Congress. Invitations to attend as observers have been sent to more than 1000 other institutions. Voting delegations are expected to represent more than 800,000 U.S. students.

Keynote speaker at the Congress will be Ralph E. Himstead, general secretary of the American Association of University Professors. Students will be welcomed by University of Michigan Dean of Students, Erich A. Walter.

All delegates in Plenary Session will meet in luxuriously-appointed Rackham Lecture hall, with sessions of small groups expected to fill the University's largest Literary Arts building, Angell hall. Students will live and dine in the University's West Quadrangle, which accommodates more than 1200 students.

Students attending the congress will break down into four discussion areas, from which small groups will split off to hash over specific problems and issues. The areas are:

1. Student Affairs (Welfare; Social Activities; Cultural Activities; Student Government Administration and Techniques; Student Government Relations to Campus Organizations; Relief Efforts; and Students Rights.)

2. Education Affairs (Education; Human Relations; Economics of Education; Student Economic Welfare; and Legislative Activity.)

3. International Affairs (Relief; Reconstruction; Exchange of Persons; Exchange of Information and Ideas; and International Relationships.)

4. Organizational Affairs (NSA on Campus; Regional NSA Operations; National NSA Operations; National Structure, Constitution; Relations with other U.S. Groups; Public Relations; and Finances.)

CLASS OF 1936 WORKS ON QUESTIONNAIRE

Class Asked Many, Varied Questions; Activities Serve To Keep Class Together

Perhaps the graduating class from Stout which has the closest contacts with its members is the class of 1936. Thirty-eight of the women of that class are answering the following questions for the seventh questionnaire edited by Marine Schultz Haase.

1. Name
2. Address
3. Newsy Notes about me
4. My husband
5. My children: Names, ages, abilities, tricks, clever remarks, etc.
6. My home
7. My choice conveniences of my home furnishings, or equipment include:
8. My "short cuts" and "time savers" learned since I graduated:
9. Last year's accomplishments
10. This year's goals
11. Alumni news
12. Favorite recipe

Each woman receives the two bound books about the size of a small town high school annual, the completed sixth questionnaire and the new seventh questionnaire to fill in. The duplicating and typing for the present questionnaire was done at the La Crosse vocational school. As each woman graduate receives the questionnaire, she notifies Marine Schultz Haase, La Crosse, Wisconsin.

The questionnaires have kept the Home Economics grads of 1936 close enough together to warrant the reunion held in July, 1946, of the whole class including the Industrial Arts men and their families.

By first class mail the questionnaires travel East as far as Brooklyn, N.Y., and West as far as Seattle, Washington. Those included in the questionnaire by choice are as follows: Evelyn Adams Suomi, Whitehall, Wisconsin; Margaret Allen Engel, Stewartville, Minnesota; Merceda Braun Weix, Antigo, Wisconsin; Orvetta Braker Moltzau, Detroit, Michigan; Evelyn Brown Henry, Marian, Indiana; Ruth Bubeck Voll, Shorewood, Wisconsin; Jane Cole, Silver Springs, Md.; Dorothy Darling Trudeau, St. Paul, Minnesota; Betty Ann Doyle Mevissen, Detroit, Michigan; Marie Erpenback, Brickner, Ellsworth, Wisconsin; Mary Finney Iverson, Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Ann Fuller Woodworth, Royal Oak, Michigan; and Mary Lou Funk Stubbins, Chicago, Illinois.

The list continues: Marguerite Hankwitz Hanson, West Allis, Wisconsin; Lillian Hanson McCormick, Shellsburg, Iowa; Marie Hanson Olsen, Racine, Wisconsin; Merle Hill Twosme, Arcadia, Wisconsin; Dorothy Howison Balfanz, La Crosse, Wisconsin; Viola Larson Bengston, Minneapolis, Minnesota; Phyllis Lauerman Wilken, Milford, Illinois; Marian McEachron Van Gemert, Los Alamos, New Mexico; Irma Miller Mann, Detroit, Michigan; Agnes Mullen Porter, Cuba City, Wisconsin; Ragna Mullen Nienast, Tomah, Wisconsin; Eunice Nelson, Naperville, Illinois and Lenora Paulson Gronseth, Minot, North Dakota.

The list concludes: Inez Pickering Siro, State Teachers College, Chico, California; Florence Ruesink Scheffner, Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Dorothy Salzmann Pulask, Brooklyn, New York; Marine Schultz Haase, La Crosse, Wisconsin; Joyce Schafer Fortin, E. Gadsden, Alabama; Catherine Skels, Eau Claire, Wisconsin; Ruth Spaulding Miller, Seattle, Washington; Agnes Steinke Resell, Eau Claire, Wisconsin; Carolyn Sturmer, Merton, Wisconsin; Edith Swan Reuban, Fountain City, Wisconsin; Elaine Thomas Charlick, Dearborn, Michigan; and Vera Torke Holmberg, Plymouth, Wisconsin.

It is a shame that a story can not be written about each individual in the questionnaire as summaries dull some of the most interesting details about individual members, but it may be interesting to note that five of the class are maintaining independent careers: three are teaching; one is a commercial home economist; and the other a personal director and housekeeper for a hospital. Of the married women, ten are supplementing their husband's incomes by full or part-time jobs outside their homes.

Nine of the women are married to school teachers, seven to men working in industry, six to salesmen, five to farmers, one to a student, one to a resident manager of a hotel, one employed by a rail road company, one employed by a bus company, one in tavern business, and one working for the State in Rehabilitation.

Seventeen own their homes. To date the class boasts of 70 children. (1.84 child per person or 34 boys and 36 girls.) It is hardly fair to be that scientific, as some of the women are single and some of the married women are childless. Also, for example Evelyn Brown Henry has a family of six children, four girls and two boys. Marine Schultz Haase has a family of five children, four girls and one boy. Irma Miller Mann and Marian McEachron Von Gemertt each have three sons.

It takes the questionnaire about two years to complete its rounds. The questions in each of the seven books have been fitting with the times. They have followed the women from their first graduate days into the teaching and business world, into marriages, including the birth of children, through the war and its complications of living. Yes, fourteen years away from college and the Home Economics class of '36 is still a unit.

H.C. RITZMAN WRITES ABOUT HENRY HARMON

Tells Of Injuries To Stout Football Player, Similar Accident At Superior State

An injured football player at Superior State Teachers college brought back memories to Herbert C. Ritzman, Case Supervisor, Vocational Rehabilitation, Superior, of a similar accident in Stout in the fall of 1929. In this letter to the Stoutonia he relates what happened.

"Back in the fall of '29, three promising Superiorites migrated to Stout. They were Herman "Lovey" Buros, Vern Wright, and Andy Borg. Andy had aspirations to play football, and therefore was among those who reported for practice the first day. Live tackling as ordered on this first day out, and near tragic results are still fresh in the minds of most of us who were in school that fall.

"Andy collided with Henry "Hank" Harmon, and suffered a fractured neck. He spent many weeks in the hospital in Menomonie, and was returned to his home in November of 1929.

"When, last fall, one of Superior State's football players received a similar injury, Andy was able to give him living proof that a comeback is possible. Knowing that Harmon was in Juneau, Alaska, I sent him a newspaper article telling of Borg's morale-boosting talk with Galgan, the SSTC player.

"Enclosed is Harmon's reply, which will interest many of those who knew him. It is particularly fitting that you have it since it tells of his recent promotion from the field of teaching to that of Public Welfare.

"No doubt Harmon would be pleased to hear from others of his class, and now they have his address.

Very truly yours,
Herbert C. Ritzman

Following is the letter received by Ritzman from Harmon.

"I certainly appreciated your short note and the clipping which you enclosed relating the incident in which Andy Borg and I came together on the football field at Stout Institute twenty years ago. I certainly was a scared rabbit that day and worried all the time that he was in his cast in the hospital. If I ever wanted to quit football or wished that I had never seen a football in my life, it was when they told me that Andy's neck was broken and that his chances for recovery were very slim. From time to time I have heard about Andy and have been assured that the injury did not stay permanent and that he had become active in sports after recovering from the injury. I hope that this man, Mike Galgan, has as equally a successful recovery as Andy had.

"It has been a long time since we were together back at good old Stout and lots of things have happened since that time. I taught Industrial Arts here in the city of Juneau for fourteen years and enjoyed every minute of it. Opportunities for better positions were coming at me from right and left, and I finally accepted the directorship of the Territorial Department of Public Welfare. I took over this position on June 1, 1949. I must say that it is very interesting work, but it is not nearly active enough for me. As age is also creeping up on me, however, I will probably be happy to have such a position in a few years from now.

"How about dropping me a few lines and if possible a snap shot? I would also be very interested in knowing something about the rehabilitation of handicapped civilians which you are working on. We have no rehabilitation program here in Alaska, and I do know that it is something which we should be looking forward to.

"Thanks again for the letter and clipping, and if you see any of my old acquaintances please greet them for me."

Sincerely

Henry A. Harmon

OSLO UNIVERSITY TO HOLD SUMMER SCHOOL

If you have a desire to spend a summer session abroad, here is the opportunity you have been waiting for. The university of Oslo, Norway, starts its summer term on June 26 and runs until August 5. At least 250 American students will be admitted and the classes will be given in English on subjects pertaining to Norwegian culture such as geography, history, language, literature, art and music. Six semester hours can be earned during the six weeks course.

Students must have two years college training by June to qualify. The cost is $80 tuition, $10 student fee, $20 excursion fee. The round trip fare on the Norwegian American lines SS Stavangerfjord is $360.

Further information can be had by writing to Summer School Admissions Office at St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minnesota.

STOUT LOSES TENNIS MATCH TO EAU CLAIRE

The hard fighting Stout tennis team suffered another tough setback when they lost to Eau Claire 4-3.

However, the match did provide some bright spots. The Bluedevil double team of Landgraf and Fish defeated Bulmer and Dufrane, the Eau Claire city champs of two years.

Stout's Sawyer and Bibb also won their double match.

Gene Sawyer was the only Stout man to defeat his man in the singles.

WAA HOLDS ELECTION, PICNIC AND MEETING

Elections, a picnic, and the regular May meeting of WAA was held from 5 to 7:30 p. m. on Monday evening, May 8, in the Stout gym.

The newly elected officers are Dorothy Hilton, president; Marge Fitzgerald, vice president; Catherine Magee, secretary; Ardis Manderfeld, treasurer; Ardis Olson, historian; and Hazel Nelson, social chairman.

The business meeting was held after an hour of entertainment and refreshments. The girls played two vigorous games of volleyball, deck tennis, shuffle-board, and basket shooting. The delicious refreshments included hot-dogs and buns, potato salad, baked beans, potato chips, pickles, and strawberry and grape Kool-Aide.

THREE GAMES LEFT TO PLAY IN INTRAMURAL BADMINTON

There are just three games left to play in intramural badminton before the final championship game. Of the games played last week, Pickering and Miller defeated Mosher and Christensen. Other victories were J. Christensen and J. Leeg who defeated Fleming and Young.

LA CROSSE DEFEATS STOUT TENNIS TEAM

The La Crosse Indians edged out the Stout Bluedevils tennis squad 4-3 in Stout's second appearance of the season.

Warren Fish was the only Stout man to win his match. However, the doubles teams, consisting of Landgraf-Tank and Fish-Bibb, were victors in both matches.

STOUT SKI CLUB HOLD SPRING PICNIC TODAY

The Stout Ski club will have its annual spring picnic at Wakanda Park this Friday at 4:00 p. m.

The refreshment and entertainment committees are promising the "ski clubbers" a swell afternoon.

This picnic plus the past events on the Ski club calendar should be a good incentive for this year's freshmen to join the Ski club and be in a club of good fellowship, good health, and good times.

DR. J. E. RAY HOST FOR "S" CLUB AWARDS

The "S" club will be the guests of p. m. Dr. J. E. Ray at his cabin on Lake Tainter, Tuesday, May 16, at 6 p. m. for the annual presentation of the varsity and intramural awards.

The award night program includes an out-side fire-place supper, and the presentation of letters, numerals, and intramural awards. The awarding of 'most valuable' trophy will be presented to the person receiving this award in football and basketball.

All members of the winning teams of the intramural leagues are invited to attend the outside fire-place supper. Transportation is available; those desiring it are asked to sign the notice on the P. E. bulletin board.

INTRAMURAL SOFTBALL GAINING SPEED

Intramural softball is gaining speed. Five games have thus far been played with all games to be completed by May 11. The championship game will soon follow.

The Blue Jays of the National league eked out the FOB's 14 to 13 only to be defeated 9 to 7 by the Sig Tau's.

In the American league, the KFS took a double beating when they lost to Ky Pay Znash and Sigma by scores of 10 to 3 and 9 to 5 respectively.

STOUT NINE FACES BUSY BASEBALL WEEK

The Stout nine meets La Crosse afternoon to begin a busy week of baseball. The game tomorrow will start at 1:00 p. m. at Wakanda Park.

On Monday, May 15, the baseball nine meets Winona here in a doubleheader followed by a doubleheader with River Falls on Thursday, May 18. The River Falls encounter will be played under the lights at Spring Valley. The game is scheduled to start at 6:00 p. m. Price of admission for the River Falls game is $.50.

A week from tomorrow, the Stout nine meets Eau Claire at Wakanda Park.

SMILO PICNIC HELD ON THURSDAY, MAY 11

SMILO picnic was held at Riverside park on Thursday, May 11, at 6:00 p. m.

The SMA's were in charge of the recreation, fuel, and cleanup, with Faye Lehner and Dot Krushas as heads of the respective committees, and all of the SMA's on cleanup.

The Philos were in charge of food for the picnic. Ruby Larson was chairman of the food committee, with the assistance of Lois Jensen and Ruth Voss.

THE GIRLS OBTAIN ADDED EXPERIENCE IN NURSERY

"My, but aren't there a lot of new teachers!" exclaimed one little girl in the nursery school to Mrs. Benita Smith. That really showed mental development for a three year old.

Yes, she certainly was aware of her environment because for the past two weeks Mrs. Smith's child development, H.E. 224, class was being given an opportunity to supplement its regular observing by use of closer contact with the children for an hour each week. As a result of the experience, each coed gained more understanding of all of the children as well as her assigned child and gained a greater appreciation of the nursery school teacher's responsibility.

NEWMAN CLUB TO HOLD PICNIC SUNDAY

So few members signed up for the Newman Club Brunch, which was to be held on Sunday, May 7, after 10 o'clock Mass, that it was cancelled.

However, plans for the picnic to be held at Boy Scout Island on the afternoon of Sunday, May 14, are going ahead. Pete Schellinger, chairman of the committee, has arranged for transportation for all members. He has also appointed a food, recreation, and clean-up committee.

RED CROSS OFFERING INSTRUCTORS COURSES

The Red Cross is offering opportunity for students to qualify as certified water safety and first aid instructors for recreational programs. Thirty-five Red Cross aquatic schools will be set up, with thirteen of them in the mid-west. The closest is the Indian Mound Reservation, Oconomowoc, Wisconsin, on August 16. A program for aquatic school grads to become instructors in swimming for disabled and handicapped will be held at Camp Heffernan, Towanda, Illinois, starting June 11.

For students not sponsored by a local Red Cross chapter, the cost is forty five dollars for the ten-day course. Complete information on all aquatic schools may be had from any Red Cross chapter or from the Midwestern Red Cross area office, 1709 Washington Ave., St. Louis 13, Mo.

CONVOS FEATURE FIVE FIELDS OF ART

Schedule Calls For Music,

Painting, Literature, Films, And Architecture

"Entertaining and educational" are the adjectives which the Stout Institute Assembly-Lyceum committee has given to the selection of convocations for the year 1950 and 1951.

A new idea in convocations is that of providing students with experiences in five fields—with lectures on "Films," "Architecture," "Music," "Painting," and "Literature." The series of five lectures will be presented to the Stout students through the University of Minnesota.

The outstanding musical convocation is to be the Mozart Trio—featuring Hendrik de Boer, tenor, who was born in Leewarden, Holland; Claire Wellman, violinist, who appeared over NBC with Phil Spitalny's All-Girl orchestra; and Vierlyn Clough Duerr, pianist, who has been acclaimed an outstanding pianist since the age of sixteen. This trio will present to the audience the immense talent they have in their given fields.

"Land of the Trembling Earth" is no "made-up" name, you will actually see this happen. You will see the land tremble under the impact of man's walking. You will see this in the all-color picture story of the fantastic Okefenokee Swamp, presented by Joe Ramsey as he explores wonders in South Georgia.

Another musical convocation will be Dr. Francis S. Moore, organist, choir director, and teacher, who will display his talent on the keyboard of Stout's new organ. Francis S. Moore is one of the few American-born musicians in whose career the best native endowments are happily blended with the highest European traditions.

Dr. Moore's artistry on the organ and his activities as vocal director and teacher are all enhanced by the great personal charm of the man which has endeared himself to everyone privileged to know him. He holds the degree of Doctor of Music and is Musical director at the Boguslawski College of Music in Chicago.

Back again with us will be Julian Gromer, who will take us this time on a thrilling trip to Africa. He will portray for us "African Life" and will take us to visit a chief and his five wives, and on a visit to a leper colony which is not at all repulsive, but a factual story of how American medical missionaries are conquering this disease. We will see scenery and typical African towns with the complete coverage of an important part of the world, all showing the many changes that art taking place in Africa today. You will remember Julian Gromer as a very entertaining speaker and perhaps he will bring his ostrich egg back again.

At long last, a concert marimba duo, augmented by a concert pianist, is being offered to music lovers. It will be headed by James Dutton, one of the very few great marimbists in this country. The interesting and musically-sound possibilities of this instrument are being utilized for the first time by this trio. The concert includes unaccompanied marimba duets by James Dutton and Dianne Andrews, piano solos by Harriette French, as well as ensemble numbers. The program covers the works of such masters as Chopin, Bach, Scarlatti, deFalla and contemporary composers who are writing original compositions for the marimba.

Beatrice Pitney Lamb—editor of the United Nations News, 1945-49, and a member of the United States Delegation to the 1949 conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations at New Delhi, India will speak at convocation next year. Beatrice Pitney Lamb is a well versed speaker on the United Nations and has made many global tours. Her life-long interest in foreign affairs was fostered at the Geneva School for International Studies.

Plans are still being made for a concert to be given by a dance band, through the Music Corporation of America. This will be one of the truly "entertaining" numbers.

Other entertaining numbers will include the Proctor "Marionettes" and the traditional Christmas concert presented by the Stout Symphonic Singers.

These "entertaining and educational" convocations were planned for the enrichment of our tastes for the better things. The program planned is one of the best, bringing some of the finest talent available to us from outside sources.

STOUT HE DEPARTMENT WELCOMES FHA GROUP

High School Students Attend Stout Elimination Contest; Five Girls Win Honors

The Division of Home Economics was happy to welcome members of the Future Homemakers of America to The Stout Institute on May 9, as well as Miss Kathryn Gill, State Supervisor of Rural Vocational Education, Miss Edith Johnson, State Secretary of the F.H.A. and Mrs. Jane Rosenthal, Sectional chairman.

Each year a state-wide demonstration program in Home Economics is sponsored by the Wisconsin Association of the F.H.A. High school students belonging to the association compete in demonstration programs throughout the state, and winning teams are selected. The program held at Stout was an elimination contest following previously-held local and district meets.

In determining a place to hold the final program, The Stout Institute was selected because of its modern facilities, because of Dean Kirk's interest in making these facilities available to high school students, and because home economics teachers in this region are predominately Stout graduates who wish to acquaint their students with Stout's program.

Five demonstrations were given by the district winners. In Division A, which consisted of freshman and sophomore girls, Mary Jane Bucholz of Gilmanton won first place with her demonstration "Lampshade Economy." Her teacher is Carol Brack Lindgren, '50. The second place winner was Nancy Wolske, Menomonie, who demonstrated "Bathing The Baby." Miss Olive Brownell, '49, is her teacher at the Dunn County Agriculture school.

In Division B, made up of junior and senior girls, Janice Wurtz from Elmwood won first place with a demonstration on "Textile Painting." Mrs. Evelyn Schreiber Burmeister, '46, is the teacher at Elmwood.

The second prize went to Barbara Howard, Mondovi. Her demonstration was "Filled Coffee Cake Desert." Mrs. Jane Chenoweth Rosenthal, '42, is her teacher at Mondovi. The third place winner was Anne Mae Anderson, Whitehall, demonstrating "Cottage Pie." Her teacher is Mrs. Evelyn Suomi, also a graduate of Stout.

Each demonstrator was introduced by Edith Johnson, Mondovi, state secretary of the F.H.A.

Judges for the demonstrations were: Mrs. Wm. Dresden (Frances Hartung), Durand; Mrs. Ray Doane (Shirley Waseen), Menomonie; Mrs. Lee Bedstead (Beverly Fjelsted), Menomonie, who are all Stout graduates, and Miss Clara Carrison, assistant professor of foods at The Stout Institute.

Cash awards were presented to the winners by Mrs. Della Loui, Wisconsin editor of the Prairie Farmer magazine.

SSA MESSAGE

The season for picnics, dinner dances, etc. is well underway; let's hope the weather can keep up with the season.

The P.A.'s and the Phils held their dances last weekend and several organizations had picnics and outings; I'm sure they all appreciated the wonderful weather.

This weekend the sophomore and freshman classes will hold their class picnics; the junior class picnic will be the following Tuesday. The EPT will have their spring picnic at Warren Thomas's resort at Birchwood, Wisconsin. I'm sure the men of EPT will have an enjoyable day fishing.

No all-school functions have been scheduled these past few weekends so that organizations will have fewer conflicts for their spring events. There will be, however, an all-school dance, the commencement dance, Saturday, May 27; this, the last all-school event of the year, is sponsored by the SSA.

Organizations have been consulted in planning next year's activity calendar. All organizations wishing to schedule events next year must have their list of dates in the SSA office today, Friday. Representatives of these organizations will meet Tuesday at 5:00 p.m. to establish their dates on the calendar and settle any existing conflicts on dates. Be sure your organization representative is at this meeting!

The Tower should be distributed May 26. The staff has done a fine job this past year; the '50 Tower is a publication to be proud of.

There's a possibility that two German vocational teachers will attend Stout next fall. The Menomonie Rotary club, The Stout Institute, and the SSA will help to sponsor these students. Here's a chance for Stout to help in an international program of democratic indoctrination.

Next year's Homecoming program is well on its way to completion. There will be no homecoming play next year; instead the crowning of the queen will take place in the auditorium. The queen and her court will lead the torch light parade to the bonfire and pep rally.

One more busy week of this school year and then exams. Lee's Drug Store sells Alka-Seltzer in case any students are bothered with headaches from cramming or from up-set stomachs form too many picnics.

Let's hope the weather man makes what's left of spring an enjoyable time.

LA CROSSE DEFEATS BLUEDEVILS 17 TO 4

The Stout Bluedevils were defeated by La Crosse 17 to 4 at Wakanda Park on Saturday, May 13. The Bluedevils started Bachmeyer on the mound in an attempt to emerge victorious, but La Crosse sent 13 men to bat in the first inning, scoring 7 runs to salt the game away. Bachmeyer had a streak of wildness, issuing four walks while his teammates committed three errors in the first inning.

Bachmeyer was replaced in the second inning by Cataldi, after another wild streak had netted the La Crosse nine 5 runs. Again Bachmeyer issued 3 bases on balls and a Bachmeyer at this point, allowing two runs to score on a walk and four successive singles by the La Crosse nine.

Cataldi finished the game, giving up 6 runs on 8 hits while his teammates committed 5 errors. Cataldi also registered two strikeouts.

Benedict hit a home run off Cataldi in the ninth inning to get the only extra base hit given up by Dom. Hitting honors for the La Crosse nine were shared by Retalaff, Cripentreg, and Knapton, all getting two for five.

Jerry La Borde led the Bluedevils at bat with two for three followed by Markley, Arnevit, Janikowski, and Tilleson and Fleming with one each. Bachmeyer was the losing pitcher, with Benedict the winning pitcher.

LSA GROUP ATTENDS MUSICAL PROGRAM

On Sunday, May 14, fifteen students of the Lutheran Students association journeyed to St. Olaf in Northfield, Minnesota, to attend the music festival. Transportation was furnished by members of the association. Those who took cars were Don Winters, Warren Wold, and Jim Halverson. Instead of having a conventional luncheon in a restaurant, a picnic lunch was prepared and served to everyone.

The St. Olaf music festival is an annual weekend event, and everyone is invited to attend. Stout students have attended numerous times, and it is becoming an annual trip of the LSA. Climaxing the weekend, was the concert given by the famous St. Olaf choir.

STOUT NINE PLAYS RIVER FALLS TODAY

The Stout Institute baseball team meet River Falls this afternoon in a conference baseball game to be played at Hudson, Wisconsin, starting at 3:00 p.m.

Probable starting pitcher for this afternoon's game will be Maxa with a 1-1 record or Janikowski with a 0-1 record. Bob Young will do the catching.

On Tuesday, May 23, the Stout nine will play host to Eau Claire in a double header at Wakanda park. The game is scheduled for 1:30 p.m.

A week from tomorrow, Saturday, May 27, Stout will visit the Stout nine in a scheduled double-header at Wakanda park. The game is slated to start at 1:00 p.m.

Through a cooperative arrangement with the Wisconsin State Board of Vocational and Adult Education, there will be a representative group of leaders on the Stout campus during the 1950 summer session. The following will be on the campus during this session to act as conference leaders, consultants or as teachers: Mr. C. L. Greiber, State Director of Vocational and Adult education for Wisconsin, and members of his staff including: Mr. R. L. Welch, supervisor of trade and industry; Mr. H. C. Thayer, supervisor of teacher training; Miss Dora Rude, supervisor of homemaking—city division; Mrs. Dorothy Johnson Barnett, teacher trainer in homemaking; Mrs. John Kubiak, supervisor of occupational information and guidance; and Mr. Martin Weslowski, teacher trainer, trade and industry.

Also included in the summer session visiting faculty are several members from the staffs of Wisconsin schools of vocational and adult education. In this group are Mr. T. H. Rees, director of vocational and adult education, Racine; Mr. Arthur Larsen and Mr. Herbert Bast, school of vocational and adult education, Sheboygan; Mr. Herbert W. Riegler, school of vocational and adult education, Milwaukee; Mrs. Alta Bethke, school of vocational and adult education, Appleton, and Mrs. Lucille Towner, school of vocational and adult education, Green Bay.

Special lecturers and conference leaders are scheduled for the summer session, all persons are especially well qualified to handle the major problems that arise during these sessions.

Mr. H. W. Teichroew, trade and industrial education coordinator for the St. Paul, Minnesota, vocational school, will teach the first unit of work in conference leadership during the first three weeks of the summer session and the advanced unit in conference leadership during the second three weeks.

Mr. Theodore Pierson, coordinator for the Salem Public Schools, Salem, Oregon, will teach the course in coordination and will assist with research work of graduate students.

Mr. Allen R. Pawelek, assistant professor of industrial arts, Ball State Teachers college, Muncie, Indiana, will teach the courses in principles of supervision and problems in supervision.

Dr. Claude H. Ewing, director, Chicago vocational school, will teach the courses in administration and education. See VOCATIONAL—Page 5

Stout Institute was represented by President Verne C. Fryklund, Dean Clyde A. Bowman, and National secretary Herbert Anderson at the Wisconsin Association of Vocational and Adult Education Convention, held at Green Bay on May 4-6.

President Fryklund had a busy schedule, attending the Directors and Coordinators meeting which was held on Wednesday and Thursday. Friday night he was present at the Association banquet, and Saturday morning spoke on "Progress at Stout" at a Stout Alumni breakfast held at Green Bay's Northland hotel.

In his talk, President Fryklund discussed with his audience the following improvements which have taken place on the Stout campus:

Re-equipping the Machine Woodworking shop with new power machines.

Providing the Hand Woodworking shop with new benches and a thorough redecoration.

Completely renovating the Electrical shop, so that now it is an electrical laboratory of the latest type.

Setting up new kitchens for the Home Economics division.

Remodeling of clothing laboratories.

Converting most of the college electrical system to the more adaptable AC current.

Redecorating many of the shops, hallways, and laboratories on campus. Addition of a new electronic organ to the facilities of the auditorium.

President Fryklund pointed out also two projects which are in the process of completion. One of these is the See PRESIDENT—Page 5

WHERE ARE YOU?

There is something which, should be brought to the attention of the college. It has been noticed that some of our SSA officers have been shirking their administrative duties. It must even though it is unpleasant, be remembered, however, that not all the officers are failing to fulfill their positions to the utmost. In the past it has been the common practice for the officers to arrange their time so that each is in the SSA office during specified hours. The students really depend upon this service. If the policy hasn't been changed, why aren't these officers there? When people are elected to represent the student body, it is taken for granted that they will do their utmost to serve the students. Maybe we take too many things for granted! Let us see in the future if this difficulty can be remedied.

NEWMAN CLUB PICNIC AT RIVERSIDE

"Fun, food, and more fun" describes the activities of the Newmanites at their annual spring picnic which was held at Riverside park, Sunday, May 14, from 2:30 - 6 p.m.

A game of soft ball both preceded and followed the food. The participants of the game were serious ball players, happy-go-lucky ball players, and spectators.

Hot dogs, potato salad, potato chips, pickles and pop composed the picnic menu for the day. The Newmanites thoroughly enjoyed the food on the bright Sunday afternoon on the lawns of Riverside.

STOUT GOLFERS SPLIT
TWO OVER WEEKEND

The Stout golfers split two matches at the Menomonie country club last Saturday and Monday. LaCrosse Teachers College captured 17 out of a possible 18 points to beat the Stout squad 17-1. This defeat was the second time the Indian golfers beat the Stout squad this year. Medalists for the afternoon were Levenhagen and Patterson of LaCrosse, both of whom shot 76's.

Last Monday the Blue Devils beat Winona Teachers, the Bi-State conference champs, by the lopsided score of 11 to 1. Lyle Johanson from Stout won medalist honors with a score of 75.

Hello Everybody,

Spring has finally sprung. Here's hoping it has, anyway. This summer weather that we are having seems to be pretty agreeable to everybody, especially to Kay Ziehm and Charley Schiferl. Saturday night we stepped out for an evening of enjoyment and relaxation, and while thus engaged we glanced out the window. Whom do you suppose we saw? Yes, Kay and Charley looking very seriously into the window of Anshus Jewelry store. Spring must be here.

Phyl Amacher and Jim Covey have been going around together recently. Noticed them out Saturday night. Spring is here!! Just got word that Noreen Kahl accepted a diamond ring from John Cook on Saturday afternoon. Sorry we didn't get the time and place where all this happened. Congratulations kids, and don't forget to invite us to your wedding.

We are glad to see Anita Clark and Don Tietz back in "circulation" this week-end. They had us worried for awhile; you know you can never tell.

Well, well, another engagement. This time the lucky girl is Grace Watson. She received her ring Friday night. The lucky fellow this time was Knobby Schiels, assistant manager at the National Tea store. Best of luck.

Here's a hard one to figure out. We've seen Bob Mackin out on week-ends, but no women. He just sits and watches television; what's up Mack??

Now to get at the dinner dances. The P.A.'s were out in force on Saturday night. Ann Banker imported her date from the U. of Wisconsin, namely Don Williams.

We would like to make a correction as to last week's column. It was stated that Bernice Danzinger was taking Frank Tank to the dinner dance. It should have read Dave Tank. So sorry. We missed Dave, Bernice, Jerri Pleszcynski and Danny Foltman after the dance. What happened???

Where did you go? hmmm. Dorothy Amendt and Gaylord Roe were also at the dinner dance, along with Madelyn Erickson and Russ Pollock.

Have you noticed Marlys Larrabee and Gordon Monsen around the campus lately? They are becoming a frequent couple. We'll have to watch them.

PHILO DINNER DANCE IS HUGE SUCCESS

"Rain Drop Rhythm" was the held at the Hotel Marion on Saturday evening, May 13. Among the forty people attending were Miss Marjory Elliott and Miss Hazel Van Ness, guests, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chaften and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lundin, alumni guests. The menu consisted of tomato juice cocktail, carrots, baked potatoes, stuffed pork chops, pear-peach-cottage cheese salad, and fresh strawberry sundaes. Arrangements were made by Gerry Raister, Ruthe Conjurski, Ann Seymour, Rosella Transgrud, and Viola Leiskau. The couples danced to the strains of George Soderberg's orchestra.

TWO STOUT GRADS TO BE MARRIED JUNE 3

The wedding of two Stout graduates, Miss La Verne Mertz, B.S. '46, and Jean A. Anderson, M.S. '48, both of Milwaukee, will take place on June 3 at 4 p.m. in the Bethlehem Lutheran church of Milwaukee.

The bride's twin sister, Mrs. Edward Resler, N. Murray ave., will be the matron of honor. Miss Dorothy Matthies, Lefebvre ave., will be the aide.

Best man for his cousin will be Ralph P. Knoernschild, N. Cumberland blvd. Mr. Resler will usher.

A reception at the Park lodge of Knights of Pythias will fete the young couple that evening. Following a trip through the west, they will make their home in Chicago.

Shirley Carlson must have been renewing an old acquaintance at River Falls. She traveled to River Falls to attend their prom. Shirley transferred from River Falls last fall. It looks as though the fellows at River Falls still appeal to her.

Shirley Evens and George Stegman are another couple that have been seen around the Anshus Jewelry store. Could it be that something serious is developing?????

The Philo's were also out in force. Ann Seymour and Armin Gerhardt were at the Philo dinner dance. So was Rosella Transgrud and Jack Rutherford. Barb Lovering took Ed Bergman to the dinner dance, and they also went to the Newman club picnic Sunday afternoon.

Gee, these engagements are taking place so fast that we can't keep track of all of them. The latest engagement to take place is Pete Schellinger and Joan Davidson. This all took place Monday night. We're wondering if the wedding will be this summer. Here is our congratulations and the best of luck in the future.

John Bicanich is quite a magazine reader. You can find him just about anytime in the library reading magazines. Say John, when you read all the magazines in our school library, there are more in the public library.

We just have to mention this next couple. Jean Archie took "Sweedie" Larson to the PA dinner dance. They sure make an interesting couple.

Have you noticed all the picnics coming off lately? A lot of lake banking too. Starting this week we are going to equip ourselves with a couple of flash lights.

We hate to stumble or step on somebody in the dark.

Well, nuff said for this week. We will be watching the Hyp's dinner dance tomorrow and the KFS dinner dance tonight. Hold it a minute. We just got a couple of scoops on the KFS dinner dance. Dave Hartzell will be taking Joan Braun and Bob Nichols will be escorting Mary Hickcox. We could give you a few more, but we'll save them for next week.

See you then,

WHEN

Remember when just one year ago Dr. Alice J. Kirk became honorary member of Phi Upsilon Omicron. Stout SSA officers discussed at convocation the advantages of Stout's becoming a member of NSA. Eichelberger women held their farewell picnic at Riverside park with Miss Miller, Eichelberger housemother, and thirty-three girls attending. Over 400 students, faculty, and guests attended the Junior Promenade, with Bob Hendrickson as king and Bette Rasmussen as queen. Big news was the engagement of Lila Nelson and Larry Kleven.

LSA HOLDS RETREAT:
MAKE OUT SCHEDULE

On Saturday morning, May 13, the officers of the Lutheran Students Association met at Riverside park and held a retreat to plan the program schedule for next year. The programs for the following year have variety and will consist of such things as hayrides, discussions panels, and trips. All LSA meetings must be planned ahead of time in order to allow time for preparation. After diligently working through the morning, everyone helped prepared the meal which was available (ala serve yourself). Jean Van Liew was chairman of the food committee. After lunch, the participating students discussed and settled all miscellaneous business.

COOS BY PIGEON

A city-bred girl (out in the country for the first time): "Oh, Mamma, look at the cute green snake."

Mother (also C.B.): "Put it down right away. It might be just as dangerous as a ripe one."

The following have been submitted by some of my friends who have come up on some rather good ones--and if these jokes are old--blame them on my friends. I always pass the buck on someone else.

Cute little co-ed: "I'd make a wonderful teacher."

Friend: "What makes you think that you would?"

C.L.C.: "When the little boys would be bad, I would make them sit with little girls, and when the big boys would be bad--I wouldn't let them sit with the girls."

"This is Mr. Finizi. He's a wine-taster."

The following definition is rather clever: "BLUSH": Something a girl attempts to do when she notices that she forgot to apply rouge to her face.

A girl usually has a fellow's number long before he asks for hers.

Practical Joker: "Did you ever see an elephant hide?"

Wise Guy: "Sure, Once I did."

P.J.: "Where?"

W.G.: "On an elephant."

A man can be compared to a lamp wick -- he is usually trimmed many times before he gets the correct flame.

I read somewhere that a college student is one who enters his alma mater as a freshman dressed in green; he emerges as a senior dressed in black. The intermediate process of decay is known as a college education.

According to some people -- the trick of making and keeping women beautiful is done with mirrors.

THE TOUCH -- Summer Style:
Son: (short of money) "Say, dad, have you any work you'd like me to do?"

Dad: (taken in surprise) "Why--no--but, er."
Sonny: "Then how about putting me on relief?"

Bashful man in a General Store to a pretty, sharp clerk: "I would like to see about fifty feet of your hose, please."

The Fair One: "What do you think I am, sir--a centipede?"

Quote from lover boy: "I used to love you, but it's all over now--all over school."

Placement Officer: "What are you going to do for a job?"
Job Seeker: "Look for one."

Remember fellows and gals: There are always two sides to every argument--yours and the other person's.

Math teacher: "Are you weak in mathematics?"

Stude: "I'll say. I get weak every time I come into this room."

CWIP SENIOR GIRLS INVITED TO CLOTHES CLINIC

State clothing clinic will be held at the four home economics teacher training centers of the state again next fall. Mrs. Edna Bryte Bishop will demonstrate principles and techniques of fitting at this clinic.

Your attendance at next fall's clinic is not in any way contingent upon your having attended one or both of the previous clinics. The clinic at The Stout Institute will be held on Wednesday, September 27. You probably will receive an enrollment blank which will enable you to attend the clinic which is nearest you. However, oversights may occur, especially among teachers who are new in their positions in September, so you are urged to take some initiative in seeing that you get registered for one of the clinics.

You may write for information to either Dr. Alice Kirk at The Stout Institute, or to Miss Hazel Manning, state chairman in charge of clothing clinics, University of Wisconsin.

Learn the date of your nearest clinic and at the first opportunity make arrangements with your superintendent for your attendance. These clinics have been outstandingly worthwhile, and you cannot afford to miss this one.

REGISTRATION OF HE STUDENTS COMPLETED

In line with the policy initiated by Dean Alice Kirk in 1948, students in the Division of Home Economics have completed planning their programs. This pre-registration is not only for the fall semester but for both semesters of next year and the coming summer session. Pre-registering gives a student a better opportunity to plan carefully and to discuss plans with their advisers.

Advisers who registered the freshmen girls, who will be sophomores next year, are Miss Amon, Miss Elliot, Miss Killian, and Mrs. Smith. Miss Carrison, Miss Grundemier, Miss Hain and Miss Noble are the advisers who registered the girls who will be juniors next year.

Seniors were registered by Miss Cox, Miss Jeter, Miss Shaw, and Miss Trullinger.

Pre-registration eliminates long hours otherwise spent in arranging programs. Registration day next September should take but a short time for the girls enrolling.

HYP DINNER DANCE TO BE HELD SOON

Apple blossoms will decorate the Country club on Saturday, May 20, when the Hyperians hold their dinner dance, called "Spring Fever." The chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Whydowski, Miss Clara Carrison, and Dean Keturah Antrim. The music for the evening will be furnished by Jack Pingle's orchestra. Patsy Webb and Harriet Homer are the general chairman for the dinner dance.

PA DINNER DANCE HELD AT COUNTRY CLUB

"Marvelous" is the word the Pallas Athene girls used to describe their dinner dance, held Saturday evening, May 13, at the Country club to the theme "Parasol Parade."

The menu of fruit shrub juice, T-bone steak, mixed vegetables, potatoes, sliced fruit salad, rolls, hord merigie alamode with butterscotch sauce, and coffee was enjoyed by everyone present. Soft, beautiful dinner music was played by Ardis Olson and Betty Worthington.

The candle-lit tables had centerpieces of small paper parasols containing the buttonaires the PA's presented their escorts and to Mr. and Mrs. Ruehl, who were the dance chaperones. The nut cups were little silver pipes for the gentlemen and little colorful parasols for the women.

Following the meal, the girls and their escorts enjoyed and danced to the music of Jimmy Knight.

SIG TAU NEWSLETTER ISSUED ON MAY 1

The first bi-annual Sigma Tau Gamma newsletter was issued on Monday, May 1, to all members of the organization, alumni, and the fraternity's national office, as well as to the other chapters in the organization.

Content, as in other newsletters, was details on the past and future activities in which members participated or which the fraternity sponsored as a group.

Members of the organization who cooperated to prepare the eight-page letter were Bob Berg, who compiled and wrote up the stories, Bud Ryder who did the art work on the cover, and Henry Tall who did all the typing.

As the Sig Tau mailing list is still fairly small, the ditto process was used, and preparations for next year's copies specify a two color ditto, thereafter, the work is to be reproduced in mimeograph form.

90 PERSONS ATTEND SIGMA TAU DINNER

The annual Sigma Tau Gamma pre-prom dinner was held last Saturday evening in the basement of the Methodist church, with approximately ninety advisers, members, Alumni, and their guests attending. Members of the church women's clubs served. Special guests of the fraternity for the occasion were the prom king and queen, Clancy Urankar and Barbara Pech.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was John Poellinger, organization president, who turned most of the program over to Bob Swanson who in turn entertained the group with several well-chosen anecdotes.

In charge of preparations for the dinner were Lorton Layman and his social committee. Alumni members welcomed back for the occasion were Richard Hogstad and Robert Crowley.

The May 4 meeting of Sig Tau was devoted mostly to preparation for the dinner and discussion of other pertinent business, including the fraternity stag picnic which is tentatively scheduled for May 27.

D. P. BARNARD RECEIVES A-V SCHOLARSHIP

Mr. D.P. Barnard, instructor of Audio-Visual Education and Photography, has been awarded one of the four Encyclopaedia Britannica Films scholarships to be issued at Indiana university for the 1950 summer session.

Each summer Encyclopedia Britannica Films, one of the nations leading educational film producers, makes available a certain number of scholarships in several carefully selected colleges and universities throughout the country. These are awarded to qualified persons working in the audio-visual field in order to promote increased utilization of audio-visual materials in the schools of the nation.

Mr. Barnard will be on leave from The Stout Institute for the 1950 summer session in order to take advanced graduate courses in Selection, Administration and Production of Audio-Visual Materials at Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana. During Mr. Barnard's absence, Mr. Richard A. Ibsen will teach the audio-visual courses. Mr. Ibsen has finished his course work for the Doctorate at Indiana university and has had much practical experience in teaching and visual aids for the Army Air Forces Material Command.

STOUTONIA MEMBERS ENJOY STAFF PICNIC

Wonderful weather blessed the Stoutonia staff when they held their annual picnic at Riverside park on May 10. Some 30 staff members gorged themselves with potato-salad, baked beans, hotdogs, potato-chips, coffee, and pop. After the lunch, the Stoutonia sluggers took on the KFS slammers in a game of kitten ball. The picnic was a resounding success.

In charge of the general planning for the picnic were Elizabeth Seufert, chairman; Dorothy Hilton, Geraldine Erickson, Dave Bieniasz, Jim Cook, and Bill Kocaj.

Fame is a vapor, popularity an accident, riches takes wings. Only one thing endures, and this is character.

LYNWOOD HALL HELD ITS ANNUAL PICNIC

Residents of Lynwood hall last Saturday, May 13, hailed the coming of spring by holding their annual spring picnic at Riverside park.

As a great many residents were to attend it was decided that the affair should operate under a stiff schedule, with the picnic proper and recreation starting at 1:00 p.m., refreshments at 2:00, and food at 3:00. After operating under a tight schedule all day, the boys found it hard to set a definite time of return, but the last few stragglers came in at about 6:30 p.m.

Preparations were carried on under the direction of Don Straw, dorm president, with Sig Ward and Paul Rauth on the food committee, Stan Kendall and Jerry La Borde on refreshments, and Fred Hodges in charge of recreation.

AAUW AND MENOMONIE GROUP HOLD JOINT TEA

Members of the American Association of University Women and the Menomonee Women's club held their respective May meetings at a joint tea in Harvey Memorial on Tuesday, May 9, at 5 p.m. Preceding the tea was a musicale presented by local talent. The musical selections, including several on the new electric organ, were presented in the Stout auditorium.

Question of the Week

Question of the week: What is your idea on having a name plate or some other means of identifying the people behind the counter in the Union?

Ann Banker: "I think it is a wonderful idea."

Dorothy Amendt: "That would be very nice."

Allen Ellingson: "Swell idea, as it is a place where you can meet a lot of people."

Don Gee: "Who is it you want to know and I'll introduce you."

Dean Antrim: "I know all of them, but it may make it easier for some of the shy ones to start a conversation. We may get some action on that in the future."

Henry Roesler: Good idea, I think I could letter up some name plates for them."

SOPHOMORES TO HOLD PICNIC AT RIVERSIDE

On Saturday, April 20, at 2:30 p.m., the sophomores will hold their picnic at Riverside park.

All sophomores are invited to attend to make it a successful affair.

Let every dawn of morning be to you as the beginning of life.

HUGH TYLER TELLS OF POSITION AND FAMILY

Hugh O. Tyler, '47, writes from Stewart, Nevada, telling about a new addition to his family and about his present position.

"This is one time that my efficiency is up to par and you will find my paper dollar enclosed. Believe it or not, but getting a paper buck in this state is a task. Silver cart wheels are accepted custom in this Silver State.

"Perhaps I should have written that we have a new addition to our home. Thus far all of our boys have turned out to be girls. Our second was born in Carson City on December 14, 1949, making her four months old now.

"Since writing to you, I have been elected chairman of our school placement committee. Now I wish that I had had some training in this line. We are working towards making our vocational department into an apprentice training school. We have the backing and cooperation of the unions and expect satisfactory results.

"I wish to extend an invitation to any of my friends who may be spending their vacations in the west to stop for a visit.

"Each week, I look forward to the Stoutonia, and it is nice to read the alumni section."

Sincerely,
Hugh O. Tyler, '47

MRS. W. ESTABROOKE TELL OF EXPERIENCES

A Stout grad of '42, Jane Seyforth Estabrooke has replied to a request for information concerning her work since graduation. Mrs. Estabrooke is a life member of the Alumni association. She writes:

"My teaching started at Washington high school, Massillon, Ohio, the famous football town. The work there was most interesting and enjoyable, as it was one of the most modern Home Economics departments in the state. After the completion of two years, I went to the Benley schools in Columbus, Ohio, to teach Home Economics and manage a cafeteria. Work towards my Master's Degree was done both at Ohio State university in Columbus and at Cornell university in Ithaca, New York.

On June 26, 1947, I was married to Walter Estabrooke of Columbia at the First Presbyterian church at Shelby, Ohio. A graduate of Wesleyan University at Middletown, Connecticut, and a former Navy man, Walter is with the American Pad and Textile company in Greenfield, Ohio.

Our son, John Davis, was born April 12, 1949, at Greenfield.

Our home and outside activities are a full-time occupation now and I thoroughly enjoy them. I am trying also to put the teaching of Stout into practical application.

Thank you for your interest and with best wishes to you and your staff, I am,

Sincerely,
Jane Seyforth Estabrooke

STORK VISITS TWO STOUT GRADUATES

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Schlosser, Arkansas, Wisconsin, announce the birth of a son Charles Edward, born April 11. Mrs. Schlosser is the former Isabel O' Meara, '40.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hamilton announce the birth of a son, born, April 4, 1950. The baby, Michael Carey weighed 7 lbs. 4 oz.

Mrs. Hamilton is the former Doris Streeton. The Hamiltons reside at 1308 A. St., Apt. 7, Hayward, California.

MISS ELIZABETH LYMAN GIVES DEMONSTRATION

Miss Elizabeth Lyman, representative of the Hot Point company of Chicago, Illinois, gave a lecture and demonstration for the food demonstration class on Friday, May 5, 1950.

"Give the acid test to all your demonstrations - A for attention, C for curiosity, I for interest, and D for desire. If your demonstrations can pass this test, they will be successful," stated Miss Lyman.

The lecture, included points on the preparation and the principals of giving a successful demonstration. Miss Lyman also told of several humorous and interesting unforeseen obstacles that she has encountered in her years of demonstrating.

By preparing a broiler meal, steam-broccoli, melting chocolate, and baking a cake, Miss Lyman demonstrated the uses of the Hot Point stove.

Assisting Miss Lyman were two graduates of The Stout Institute: Miss Rosamond Carlson, Director of Home Service, and Miss Betty Arnquist, Home Economist for the Northern States Power company of Eau Claire. Also assisting was Miss Alma Retelstorf, Director of Home Service for Northern States Power company, Menomonie.

Be sure you are right, then go ahead, and be sure you are wrong before you quit.

MAP GROUP VIEWS "DEATH OF A SALESMAN"

On Thursday, May 11, the Manual Arts Players group went to the Twin Cities to view the "Death of a Salesman," current hit at the Lyceum theater.

Thomas Mitchel, playing the part of Willie Loman, gave an outstanding performance. Everyone in the group had favorable comments, and it was decided that other such trips should be planned.

HYPs TO HOLD SENIOR DINNER ON MAY 23

Hyperian society will hold their Senior dinner at the Marion hotel, on Tuesday, May 23. Kay Thurston and Betty Severson are co-chairmen. Jeanne Douglas is in charge of the program and Dorothy Knutson is in charge of decoration.

Seniors who will receive the traditional "HYP" bracelet are Janet Rottjer, Marge Musil, Ruth Samdahl, Ardell Fish, Margaret Perman, Marilyn Erickson, Naomi Wendt, Helen Wolsey, Janis Oebser, and Gloria Kuula.

long-desired street closing project which will remove dangerous automobile traffic from the campus. The other improvement is that of renovating lighting facilities in Stout auditorium and providing a new front for the auditorium stage.

Dean Bowman, also an active convention delegate, had the pleasant responsibilities of attending the Alumni breakfast, participating in general convention sessions, and attending the Trade and Industrial luncheon.

In addition, he held many personal conferences in which he discussed aspects of the approaching summer session and regular school year and arranged for a number of commercial exhibits for the summer session. He, too, attended the Friday evening Association banquet.

To Mr. Herbert Anderson, national alumni secretary, fell the duties of attending convention sessions and managing the Stout convention booth. At the booth, he discussed the college with interested persons, distributed college catalogs, and greeted the numerous alumni who were in attendance.

Saturday morning he spoke at the Stout alumni breakfast and was responsible for many of the arrangements for that event. President Fryklund told the Alumni that they had made an excellent selection in choosing Mr. Anderson as secretary. The latter is doing exceedingly well and will continue to serve both the alumni and the home base in their mutual working relations.

VOCATIONAL —

tion and survey procedures. Mr. Richard A. Iblson will teach the course in Audio-Visual education during the summer session while Mr. Barnard is on leave.

Convocations during the summer session will be held on different days of the week and different periods in the day to avoid conflicting with the same classes. President Fryklund will be the speaker at the convocation the first week, speaking on the topic "Expanding Education Horizons." Dr. Robert N. McMurry, psychologist specializing in labor-management problems, will be the speaker the second week. Dr. McMurry is widely sought as a consultant. Captain Edgar A. Bundy, world traveler, soldier, journalist, will discuss "The Most Dangerous Threat to American Security" the fourth week. Dr. Cleo Dawson, famous writer and psychologist, will lecture on "Fear Takes A Holiday" the fifth week, and Mr. Clarence Greiber, State Director of Vocational and Adult Education for Wisconsin, will be the speaker the sixth week. Mr. Greiber will summarize federal and state legislation of the past year, affecting education.

Summer session speakers have been selected who, through experience, research, and direct contacts, are in a position to give the students and faculty of the summer session first hand information in those areas and on those problems which are of great concern at this time. Whenever possible, the lecture is followed by an open forum discussion period, giving students and faculty an opportunity to discuss the implications of the material with the speaker.

During the summer session, there will be a series of social events. These include all-school parties and picnics, teas, and a variety of group get-togethers. It has been the custom to have the summer business meeting of the Alumni Association of The Stout Institute at the time of the annual summer session picnic. There will be a number of professional conferences, demonstrations, and panel discussions in various specific fields during the session. From time to time during the summer session, there will be commercial exhibits of professional publications, educational supplies and equipment. Representatives of publishing houses and tool and supply houses will be on the campus.

The summer session bulletin will be sent on request. Anyone interested in attending the 1950 Summer Session at The Stout Institute who does not have a copy of the bulletin will do well to send in for a copy. He should address the Director of Summer Session, Stout Institute, Menomonee, Wisconsin. Advance enrollment blanks and housing application blanks are included in the bulletin.

WSF ARRANGE PROGRAM FOR THE COMING YEAR

The annual WSF spring planning retreat was held last Saturday, May 13, with over a dozen members of the old and new cabinets spending the day planning next year's program and activities, under the supervision of Herbert Anderson, faculty advisor of the organization.

Locale of the annual affair was Oleson's cottage on the Red Cedar river between the two Tainter lakes. Cabinet members departed by car from the Methodist church at 9:30 a. m. Saturday morning, and spent most of the day outlining the next year's program, with George Stegman, vice-president elect for 1950, taking charge for this part of the meeting.

Following the business of the day, members turned to such activities as hiking, swimming in the river, badminton, and volleyball, as they rounded out a full day of fun and achievement.

A development perhaps, indicating that the retreat was not all hard work, was the engagement of Noreen Kahl and John Cook. The two cabinet members had been going together for the better part of the school year.

The Sunday, May 14, meeting of WSF, consisted of a picnic, held on the banks of the Red Cedar river near the intersection of County highways "D" and "BB".

Approximately 20 members attended, with the picnic beginning at 3:00 p.m. and continuing until after dark.

ALUMNI BREAKFAST IS CONVENTION HIGHLIGHT

Northland Hotel Was Scene of Alumni Program Which Featured Stout Speakers

One convention highlight for Stout alumni attending the recent Wisconsin Association of Vocational and Adult Education meeting in Green Bay was perhaps the Stout Alumni breakfast held Saturday morning in the Northland hotel.

The following program was offered to the goodly number of Stout alumni attending the breakfast:

Carl Hasse (National President of SIAA) Master of Ceremonies.

Herbert Anderson (National Secretary Treasurer of SIAA) Remarks - "The Need for Organizing Local Chapters"

STOUT GOLF SQUAD TAKES SECOND PLACE

The Stout Institute golf squad placed second in the Wisconsin-Minnesota College conference tournament held at Winona last Friday. Winona teachers took first place in golfing, and Mankato teachers gained first place in the tennis competition.

Winona was low with 324 strokes in the golf meet. Stout placed second with 347 strokes. Mankato had 348 strokes, Eau Claire 353, St. Cloud 357, and River Falls 364. Medalist honors went in a tie to Gene Pellowski of Winona and Ken Bohks of Mankato, both of whom shot 76.

In the tennis meets Mankato placed first with 11 points, followed by Eau Claire with 9 points. St. Cloud had 6 points and Stout and Winona tied with 2 points for each team.

MR. HANSEN'S CLASSES CONSTRUCT CABINET

Notable progress is being made on the new art department cabinet which is being constructed by Mr. H. M. Hansen and his two classes in Elements of Machine Woodwork. This cabinet, which will be used for display and storage, was begun by the third quarter students in Machine Woodwork. The two classes that are now working on the cabinet, continued work where the third quarter class left off. The project is to be completed by the end of the school term.

The design of the cabinet, being very modernistic has a combination of plate glass and honey comb construction doors. The many drawers and shelves will provide the art department with ample storage space. The greater part of the cabinet is being constructed of red oak.

The golfers from Stout squad claim that the course at Winona, used for the Bi-State conference tournament, really separated the men from the boys. The Winona team won on their home course and they beat second place Stout by a total of 23 strokes. Then Stout turned around and beat the Winona team at the Menomonie Country club last Monday.

Last Saturday wasn't a red letter day for the Stout squads. The baseball team got into trouble in the first two innings against La Crosse and couldn't make up the difference.

I watched the golfers as they came in on long 9 in the first round. Johanson and Beaver both were robbed on long putts on the hole. In the second foursome, Takasaki had about an 18 inch putt that went in and out of the cup, almost back to where it started.

The way things shape up now, it looks as if the golfers are going to beat La Crosse to get the Teachers College Conference Championship at Oshkosh this weekend.

I never got to the tennis matches, but it is rumored that they were still playing at 7:30 at night. The tennis squad lost Frank Tank for the rest of the matches; the absence of the veteran puts quite a hole in Coach Hammerberg's squad. Wally has called upon Nooyen to help fill out the squad.

This coming week the Stout nine faces Eau Claire and St. Cloud in two doubleheaders. Tuesday they meet Eau Claire; game time is set at 1:30. On Saturday, May 27, the doubleheader between St. Cloud is slated to start at 1:00 p.m. Both games will be played at Wakanda park.

DR. GEORGE WATSON TO SPEAK AT GRADUATION

Rev. Reece To Speak At The Baccalaureate Program; A Record Number To Graduate

A record number of graduates will participate in commencement and baccalaureate exercises next week at Stout Institute. Featured speaker for commencement, Friday, June 2, will be Dr. George Watson, Wisconsin state superintendent of public instruction. The baccalaureate program, presented the previous Sunday, May 28, will be highlighted by an address by Rev. Ralph M. Reece, pastor of the Menomonie Centenary Methodist church.

A total of 296 names appears on the graduating roster this year, a greater total than last year's 219. Bachelor of Science degrees will be conferred upon 176 graduates. A total of 109 persons were granted similar degrees last year.

"Our Task" is the topic which Superintendent Watson has chosen for his commencement address. Dr. Watson, who was elected to his present position in 1949, has had a long career in education. Born in Neenah, he attended Lawrence college and the University of Wisconsin, from which he holds a Master of Arts degree. In 1949, Lawrence conferred upon him an honorary LL.D.

tion, he has served in Methodist churches in Nebraska conference, Trinity Methodist church in Superior, and now Centenary church in Menomonie.

Rev. R. Reece

Reverend R. S. Rawson of the Grace Episcopal church will give the baccalaureate invocation and benediction. Miss Geraldine Jurwitz, graduating senior from Milwaukee, will offer several piano solos and Miss Ramona Rathbun will play the Stout auditorium organ. Mr. Charles Frailey, Stout music director, will direct the Stout Symphonic Singers in two selections.

Present plans call for the commencement program to be held on Stout's Nelson Athletic field. In case of rain, however, commencement will be held in the Stout auditorium. Baccalaureate exercises will be held in the auditorium.

POP CONCERT IS ENJOYED BY STUDENTS

An entertaining Pop concert featuring the Stout band was presented at convocation Wednesday on May 17, under the direction of Mr. Charles Frailey.

The program presented was as follows:

- Black Hawk MarchCummings
- My Heart Stood StillRogers
- Ringling Brothers Grand Entry Sweet
- With a Song in My HeartRogers
- Toy TrumpetScott
- Raggy TromboneKiefer
- Thunder and LightningStrauss
- A Concert Polka

- Harlem by NightBennett
- Hot Lips Ebert Featured
- Bed Time Story or Dangerous Dan MaGrew Callen
- Don Winters acted as Narrator
- Bob Becker as the Lady known as Lou
- Neil Palmer as Dangerous Dan MaGrew

"A Bedtime Story" was presented with all the talent the Stout band has. Mr. Frailey introduced the number and had to keep talking while the three main characters put on their costumes for their performance. The number was much enjoyed by the participants and the audience too.

The two most entertaining numbers presented were "Harlem by Night" and "A Bedtime Story." The Pop concert was the final performance of the year for the Stout band. The year was brought to a close with a joint picnic with the SSS at Wakanda park that same afternoon.

SSA MESSAGE

Last week in the Stoutonia, an editorial appeared which stated that "some of our S.S.A. officers have been shirking their administrative duties." It then went on to the effect that in the past it has been the common practice for the SSA officers to schedule certain hours when the officers were not present at the specified hour. The SSA officers wish to answer this editorial as follows:

1. It is not always possible to remain in the office at the scheduled time during the full length of the hour. In carrying out the duties of our office, we are by necessity taken to other parts of the building. It has always been our policy, for reasons which are evident, to lock the door when we are gone on such an errand.

2. We have tried to keep our office hour schedule as strictly as our class schedule, and whenever it is imperative that we miss an hour during the day, we make it up at some other hour during the day. In addition to this, many more hours a week have been given to the office other than those scheduled, so that students who are not free those hours might find the office open at other times of the day.

3. It has not always been a policy of the past for the SSA officers to schedule specific hours at which time they would be in the office. This practice has been on trial since we (the present officers) have taken office. It was the policy last year to open the office at those times when an officer had a free period during the day. It is very possible that we made an error scheduling specific hours, but we did think such scheduling had its advantages.

These three points outlined above are not excuses; we do not feel obligated to offer excuse as such. This article is written to give some of the reasons why it is difficult to be in the office at all times under a rigid schedule such as we have tried to put in effect.

We appreciate the fact that this problem was brought to our attention. It is our belief that a question brought out in the open is Democratic, healthy, and deserving of suitable action. We welcome any suggestions or comments that anyone may have.

Now to get down to the regular theme of our SSA Message. This last week has been one of dinners, picnics, and dinner dances, and today is the last day of scheduled classes. Saturday night we hope to see you at the Senior Frolic. Then one might keep many of us from enjoying the wonderful weather that should be coming along. But the exams too will be over in a few days and then it's "homeward bound" for many of us. To the Seniors who will be leaving us we would like to extend our wishes for a happy and successful future, and to the rest who will be back next September we would like to say—Happy Vacation!

The SSA Officers,
Dorothy Krushas, Vice-President

STOUT'S SEASON CLOSER ST. CLOUD, SATURDAY

The baseball season will draw to a close tomorrow with a scheduled doubleheader with St. Cloud Teachers college at Wakanda park. The game has been slated to start at 1:00 p.m.

Stout met the St. Cloud nine in a doubleheader at St. Cloud during the '49 season, coming out on the short end of the tally. The starting pitchers for tomorrow's game will be Maxa and Janikowski, with Bob Young doing the catching. The Stout team is in high spirits after being victorious over the Eau Claire nine Tuesday, winning a doubleheader 3 to 0 and 10 to 5.

LARGE NUMBER OF 1950 GRADUATES ARE PLACED

List of H E and I E Graduates And Their Placements Given By Placement Chairman

A list of all placements of 1950 Stout graduates as they have been reported to date has been released by Miss Gertrude M. O'Brien, college placement chairman. All home economics education majors who are interested in teaching have already secured positions. A number of the girls are married, and several have indicated that they do not wish jobs at this time.

According to Miss O'Brien, "The large number of Industrial Education placements already made this early in the season is due largely to the active interest displayed by the men seeking positions." A very substantial group of the men have signed contracts, and others no doubt will have positions before commencement.

Names of the women and the location of their positions is as follows:

Bartolic, Phyllis J., Marshfield, Wis. Voc. School; Braun, Elizabeth K., Morgan, Minn.; Christensen, Ruth Ann, Hudson, Wis.; Cole, Norma A., Ogilvie, Minn.; Deetz, F. STS WAYZGOOSE TO BE HELD MONDAY, MAY 29

The printer's annual holiday will take place the afternoon and evening of May 29. At the regular STS meeting the members decided upon having chicken for the dinner and holding the party at Point Comfort.

Wayzgoose, as the celebration is called, is generally known as a yearly dinner, usually a picnic, and is given in the summer. The Wazygoose tradition comes from the dinner or picnic which an early apprentice gave for his fellow workmen.

New EPT Members Honored

EPT INITIATION HELD MAY 13

Thirty-three new members were formally initiated into Theta Chapter, Epsilon Pi Tau, on Saturday morning, May 13. Following the formal initiation, a banquet was held at the Marion hotel, where new members were welcomed into the organization by Dean Clyde A. Bowman, trustee of Theta Chapter.

The thirty-three prospective members had been subjected to a strenuous oral examination on the previous night. Examination results were disclosed to the organization Saturday morning and formal initiation followed. The new members of Theta chapter are Charles Ayers, Two Harbors, Minnesota; William Baer, Wisconsin Rapids, Wisconsin; Ellis Bibb, Weldon, North Carolina; Russel Boettner, Wyandotte, Michigan; John Brandt, Hibbing, Minnesota; Donald Chartraw, Cranston, Wisconsin; Robert Hartig, Baraboo, Wisconsin; William Hehli, Menomonie, Wisconsin; William Heinkel, Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Stanley Hoffman, Escanaba, Michigan; Stanley Iverson, Waseca, Minnesota; Warren Johnson, Rhinelander, Wisconsin; George Kinsler, Oshkosh, Wisconsin; George McGowan, Iron Mountain, Michigan; Thomas Miller, Rockmart, Georgia; Norman Mitby, LaCrosse, Wisconsin; Robert Morris, Ingram, Wisconsin.

Charles Mwbay, Fond du Lac, Wisconsin; Charles Mueller, Ironwood, Michigan; Fred Pollock, Glenshaw, Pennsylvania; Raymond Post, Cadott, Wisconsin; David Randall, Woodville, Wisconsin; Mathew Reneson, Menomonie, Wisconsin; Henry Roesler, Milwaukee, Wisconsin; John Rutherford, Tomahawk, Wisconsin; Ralph Schauer, West Allis, Wisconsin; Charles Schiferl, Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin; Leslie Springmire, New London, Wisconsin; Russell Tews, Jefferson, Wisconsin; Charles Thomas, Menomonie, Wisconsin; George Tinetti, Mosinee, Wisconsin; Donald Van Braemer, Two Rivers, Wisconsin; and Garth Wilcox, Wabeno, Wisconsin.

President of the chapter, Will Malone, introduced Dean Bowman, who gave the welcoming address to the new members. Mr. Norman Mitby, assistant director of the LaCrosse Vocational school, gave the response as a new member from the field. Mr. Mathew Reneson, The Stout Institute, gave a response as a new member from the faculty; Mr. George Tinetti as a graduate student; and Mr. Robert Hartig as an undergraduate student.

Dr. George Watson

Dr. Watson taught in Ironwood, Michigan, and Stevens Point, Wisconsin. He was principal in Fall River and Stevens Point, and held the superintendency of city schools in Waupaca, Marinette, and Wauwatosa, the latter position in which he was employed before becoming state superintendent.

A veteran of U. S. Army service in World War I, Superintendent Watson has been county commander of the American Legion in Waupaca county. He served two terms as chairman of the Wisconsin Council of Education and was also chairman of the Milwaukee County chapter of the American Junior Red Cross. He has been a member of the Milwaukee County School committee.

Degrees will be conferred by Dr. Verne C. Fryklund, president of Stout. Reverend Harris Olson will give the commencement invocation and benediction. Music will be furnished by the Menomonie high school band, directed by Miss Evelyn Knospe.

Reverend Ralph Reece has selected "Foundations Stones of Great Living" as his message for baccalaureate. Mr. Reece was trained at the Colorado School of Commerce, Iliff School of Theology, the Nebraska Conference Course of Theological Studies, and Superior State Teachers college.

He completed additional graduate studies in religion and social science through the Commission on Courses of Study, of The Methodist church, Nashville, Tennessee, under the direction of instructors at Oberlin College of Theology, Southern Methodist university, Columbia university, and Drew Theological seminary.

A veteran of the U.S. Navy in World War I, Reverend Reece was an accountant for the Great Western Sugar company before entering the ministry in 1936. After his ordina-

SPECIAL PLAUDITS FOR STOUTONIA

For the past thirty-six weeks, the editorial division of the Stoutonia has been explaining, complaining, and exclaiming on various activities around the campus. It is only fitting that thanks be given when it has been duly earned, and this writer thinks the Stoutonia reporting staff falls in this praiseworthy category. Some of us do not realize how much work is involved in meeting the Friday deadline which all staff members will agree comes too quickly. It wouldn't be half bad, if on Friday, everything were accomplished for the year. This is only a pipe dream because on the next Monday morning every department of the paper is preparing for the deadlines of the next week.

We should be proud that our college publishes a weekly paper which has as many pages and readers as ours does. It's no snap to accumulate enough stories to make an interesting eight page paper. For the benefit of you as readers, let's follow a story from the time it is written until it is printed. After the reporter brings the story to the main office, it must be checked for errors and then retyped. During this time a headline is also placed at the top of the story. After leaving the office, this story goes to the print shop where it is set up on the linotype machines for printing. It must also be proofread. This process is used for every story, regardless of its size. I hope that this illustrates what goes on in Stoutonia circles for thirty-six weeks of every year.

Even though the paper involves work, more is gained than just publication of a paper every week. There is a feeling of union and fellowship that comes from working together, for very few enterprises are successful unless the participants work hand in hand. It is easy to see that our staff members have been doing this. The training in journalism must not be under-emphasized either. Remember, the Stoutonia is the eyes and ears of the campus and is a necessary security if we are to be well informed on current events and on coming events of the year.

—D.L.

Greetings once and for all:

Yes, this will be the last "Thru the keyhole" column in this paper. Aren't you glad? We are. Now we can go out and enjoy life.

There was quite a bit of activity around the campus last week-end. What with the dinner dances and picnics, it's no wonder that we're glad this year is coming to a close.

Last Friday night we found the KFS boys out in full strength. Bob Houghton and his heart throb, Betty Neas were having a pretty good time at the dinner dance. Bob Hendrickson and Bette Rasmussen weren't doing so badly either. Didn't recognize Rog Gibbons' date; understood that she was from the cities. Speaking of the cities, Gale Woelfer's date was also from the cities. Burt Jaeger and Pauline Zweifel were pretty starry-eyed all evening. Another starry-eyed couple was Les Springmire and Ruth Conjurske. We can't omit Gene Landgraf and Bev Struck, or Bob McKay and Doris Eckstein. Well, we've just about exhausted our supply of KFS gossip.

Well, now for the Hyps. Saturday night we came across the Hyp dinner dance. Guess whom we saw there. We will start with Janice Oebser and Dick L. Johnson; they were doubled with Olive Brownwell and Bob Braun. What a lovely foursome. Barb Johnson brought her one and only Dick Krueger. Bea Sagstetter and Paul Axelsen were having a good time.

Well, guess the only other dinner dance that we can mention is the SMA's. They are having their dinner dance tonight. It's going to be a bit difficult to mention who will be there, but we'll try to predict a few of the probable dates:

Undoubtedly Mr. and Mrs. John Yount will be there, as will be Dorothy Groethe and Rog Landgraf. Joan Klienheinz and Jim Votsberger, and Ruth Ann Christensen and Vaughn Stai will be there. Faye Lehner and Dean Frey, along with Clarice Zarling and Frank Tank should be there. Well, if these people don't show up, don't blame us. We tried.

Noticed Jean Bulmer out quite often the last week or so. Her new flame is Bill Banks. Haven't seen Birdie Hutchinson and Ruth Quigley around much on weekends; could it be that Paul Revord and a certain "Ed" have been taking up all their time?

Saw Gene Traxler in town last week. He must have been the reason Pat Krause was so happy.

Jean Sterner was also in town for the week-end. Noticed Gordie Nooyen taking up some of her time.

We've seen Al Pomper and his girl from Downsview quite often since the weather got warm. Say, Al, what's your girl's name??

We see that Marilyn Erickson also had her fellow down for the week-end. For those that don't know, the fellow's name is Gerry Solie, a Menomonie boy who is working in Milwaukee.

Don Sargent is back in operation again. The lucky girl this time is Donna Krisik.

We notice that another freshman girl, Jean Worel, has a diamond. The lucky fellow is Dick Cook.

Kay Thurston is really, up in the clouds about a certain fellow from Eau Claire. Sorry we don't know his name, but maybe Kay will tell us.

We missed Rosie Grdzilewski, last week-end. We didn't see Wally Christensen either. We were just wondering if there could be any connection.

At this time we (Key and Hole) would like to express our thanks to everyone who helped to make this column a success. We may have stepped on somebody's toes during the past year, but we assure you it was unintentional and we're sorry. We hope you enjoyed reading this column as much as we enjoyed writing it. We were happy to do it, and believe us, it was an experience.

Here's hoping everyone will get "A's" in his exams, go home, and have a grand summer vacation, and be back here in school in the fall.

We'll be looking for all the familiar faces again next fall.

Bye now,

Key and Hole

STOUT BOW HUNTERS MEET, ELECT OFFICERS

The newest club at college at the present time is the Stout Bow Hunter's club, which was organized on April 25. At that meeting, the constitution was accepted and officers for the coming year were elected.

The club, which meets on the second Wednesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in room 25 of the IE building, was organized to perpetuate bow hunting among the students, and promote good practice in conservation in cooperation with the conservation department. The members extend a cordial invitation to anyone who may wish to join to attend the next meeting, or to contact anyone in the club to get further information about it.

According to the constitution, the organization is strictly for the promotion of bow hunting, and emphasizes that hunting, not archery, is the purpose of the club.

Officers elected for the coming year are, Bud Ryder, president; Al Spanheimer, vice-president; Ralph Ballinger, secretary; William Jokkel, treasurer.

Tentative plans are being made to hold a competitive shoot with the Menomonie Bow Hunter's club on the latter club's course north of town, the competition to be held before the closing of school. Other planned activities are trips to various competitive shoots, archery golf, and inter-club shoots.

Annual dues to the club are $3.00 which includes $1.50 for membership in the Wisconsin Bow Hunter's association, membership which is required by the constitution for membership in the local club.

ALUMNI TO PRESENT GRADUATES PACKETS

An attractive packet of material—including a membership card for next year, a handbook, and a bound booklet, will be presented to the 1950 Stout graduates by the Stout Institute Alumni Association. The presentation will be made during commencement.

Each year the graduates are given a year's membership in the Alumni association.

STOUTONIA STAFF HAS BANQUET AT MARION

In spite of a rather sullen, rainy night, May 16 witnessed one of the highpoints of the Stoutonia staff's year. Yes, the Stoutonia staff topped off a record year in quantity, as well as quality, with a banquet at the Marion hotel.

The dinner, consisting of baked ham, potatoes, corn, lettuce salad, rolls, and cherry cobbler, got under way about 6:30.

After dinner, Mr. Fleming, who acted as master of ceremonies for the banquet, brought the group to attention with the familiar ring of the water glass, and the program began. The various speakers of the evening were Mr. Whydowski, Dennis Foltman, Glen Sommers, Bill Kocaj, Jim Covey, and Bohumil Holub. Mr. Fleming concluded the banquet by saying that his job as co-adviser of the Stoutonia had been a "rich experience." He also thanked the members of the Stoutonia staff for the efforts and co-operation that produced the Stoutonia of the past year.

The committee for the banquet included George Stephenson, chairman; Dick Duthier, Donna Krisik, Ann Rossmiller, and Nancy Haertlein.

COOS BY PIGEON

Dear Readers

Maybe some of you readers recall the story of Paul Bunyan's Blue Ox crossing North America and leaving such deep tracks that a covered wagon fell into one of the tracks and in doing so disappeared. A baby that was in this wagon was an old man when he finally crawled out of the hole. Well, actually what happened to these craters was that a heavy rain fell and these holes are now the lakes of north Minnesota. If we get any more rain here - - the local citizens will be able to boast of private swimming pools in their front yards.

"Just what do you think you're looking?"

"Looking for my husband."

"But haven't you got a husband?"

"That's the one that I'm looking for."

I believe that the following statement will attempt to prove why some husbands don't try to argue with their wives. The statement is as follows: A smart man will never argue with his wife, because he knows that all he can prove is that he married a dumb woman.

Even lipstick has at last found a reason for existence in the educational scheme of things. A girl was writing a college examination when her pen ran out of ink. What did she do? She calmly reached into her purse, pulled out her lipstick, and finished her blue-book. And was her paper red!

Two chances:

You have two chances.

One of getting the germ and one of not.

And if you get the germ

You have two chances,

One of getting the disease and one of not.

And if you get the disease

You have two chances.

One of dying and one of not,

And if you die,

Well, you still have two chances.

Sweet young thing: "He says he thinks I'm the nicest girl in town."

Shall I ask him to call for me?"

Girl Friend: "No dear; let him keep on thinking so."

Then there is one about the fellow who felt like a small time band - - because he was in so many ONE NIGHT STANDS.

Usually around this college when everything is normal, students don't usually talk to themselves. But these aren't normal times because final exams are just around the corner, and if you notice rather carefully, if you aren't talking likewise, you will hear quite a few people talking to themselves. Usually the answers or explanation they will give you is that they like to hear an intelligent person talk, and they like to talk to an intelligent person. Some excuse! Some of these individuals are in bad condition.

Here's one about those strange breed of people—the golfers. A certain golfer came home rather late. His clothes were all in bad shape and were rather torn. The wife wanted an explanation right away about his belated appearance.

Golfer: "I lost my ball and it took me two hours to find it."

Wife: "So what! You found the ball and you still had plenty of time to get home in time."

Golfer: "Yeah, but I was lost after I found the ball."

I know of a man who had such a magnetic personality that every-time he lifted his foot to take a step that he lifted five nails-his toe nails.

I hope, as you read this column, that you are not eating your meal at the time, because some of you may lose something very dear to you—your meal and your money. This one is about two cockroaches who were lunching in dirty old sewer and excitedly discussed the spotless, glistening, new restaurant in the neighborhood which they had left.

"I hear," said one, "that the refrigerators shine like polished silver. The floors sparkle like diamonds. The shelves are clean."

"Please," said the second cockroach in disgust, nibbling at a moldy roll, "Can't you see that I'm eating, now?"

LAST MEETING HELD OF SGB FOR YEAR

The last student governing board meeting of the school year was held in the trustees' room at 6:30 p.m. with Warren Barberg presiding. Present at the meeting were the officers; Barberg, Krushas, Archie; past officers, Phillips, Waltzer, Poellinger; class representatives, Manson, Banks, Transgrud, next year's representatives, Ransler, Amacher, Schiferl; and Mr. Arneson, chairman of Student Affairs committee, and Dean Antrim, Dean of Women.

Warren Phillips, chairman of the Tower committee, presented several means of increasing Tower income as developed by his committee, which was made up of three Board members and the Tower editor and business manager. Phillips was given a vote of confidence on the following suggestions: selling local advertising for the Stout directory, charging a straight $15 per page rather than the present rate of $25 given to organizations using more than one page, and having a standard cover for the Tower which would save approximately $100 per year. A motion was made and carried that the committee meet with President Fryklund to discuss further these proposals. A motion was made and carried to charge $35 for the first 6 pages and $5 for each additional page used for class pictures.

Dot Krushas reported on plans for Freshman week next fall. The plans are well under control, with many school groups participating toward its success. Plans include a picnic in place of the corridor dance, which has proven unsatisfactory.

Barberg read the program for Homecoming next year. Instead of the usual Homecoming play the Dramatics department will present a one-act play later in the semester. In place of the Homecoming play the Board had decided to have a ceremony in the auditorium during which the Queen will be crowned. The Queen and her court will then lead the parade to the bonfire.

A motion was made and carried that the SSA secretary be reported to the Stoutonia, the article to be necked by the SSA president.

This article is presented in the interest of the students and any question about it we hope will be referred to the Board members. We feel these reports will help bring the work of the Board more directly to the students.

Sincerely,
Jeanne Archie
SSA Secretary

The physical structure for Stout's NSA committee has been established. The NSA committee will consist of two members of the Student Governing Board and three members from the student body at large. The three members at large will be elected by the Student Governing Board from the names of those students submitted to the SSA office. All students interested in being on the Stout NSA committee are urged to submit their names to the SSA office.

The chairman of the NSA committee will be elected by the committee itself. The stipulation has been made that the chairman be one of the members of the Student Governing Board. Bill Banks and Charles Schiferl will be the two representatives from the SGB on the committee. Banks and Schiferl will also represent Stout at the National NSA Congress at Ann Arbor, Michigan, next August. Warren Barberg will attend the Congress as photographer for the National staff.

GRADUATE CLASS TURNS OUT I A BIBLIOGRAPHY

More than 500 books and magazines in an Annotated List of Technical Publications for Industrial Arts Education, which was prepared as a class project in Research Procedures. "Credit for the success of this seventy-nine page mimeographed publication is due principally to the graduate students in the class," according to Dr. Stuart Anderson, instructor.

The work was organized on a committee basis. Criteria used to identify publications were: recency of publication; judgment of experienced teachers; and, recommendations of Stout faculty. No differentiation has been made between high school or college texts. Attractive covers were made in the Stout Printing department. Copies of this booklet may be obtained for fifty cents from the graduate office.

WINNERS OF SCHOLARSHIPS ANNOUNCED

Miss Eunice W. Brower, 316 South Seventh street, Escanaba, Michigan, and Mr. Larry Churchill, 804 Harrison street, Black River Falls, Wis., have been named as winners of the scholarship offered by the Stout Institute Alumni association, according to the scholarship committee for 1950. Final selection is pending acceptance of the winner's credentials by the Registrar.

If it should happen that the winner or winners are unable to attend Stout in September, 1950, they are to notify Mr. Herbert Anderson, secretary and treasurer of the Alumni association.

The committee is very much gratified by the number of applications received this year, and they thank the applicants most heartily. The applications are kept on file in the office of the secretary-treasurer. Those students not winning awards this year may apply next year. However, these awards are given only to students entering as freshmen.

The committee is also thankful to the alumni members who had students make application for the scholarship award. If any of the alumni members wish to suggest changes in the application blank, they are to make these to the committee chairman.

Thanks are also given to all those persons writing Stoutonia articles on the value and benefits derived from the scholarship awards.

The number of applications received was twenty-three (15 girls and 8 boys): Five states were represented: Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, and Washington. Fourteen of the students were recommended by alumni members.

The committee for 1950 and the chairman for the next two years are: Miss Belle G. Soukup, chairman 1950; Mr. Michael H. Timbers, chairman 1951; and Mr. Dewey F. Barich, chairman 1952.

CAROLINE LANZER, ACTIVE STUDENT

Who is this busy young lady we see dashing in and out of the Stoutonia office carrying a very important looking briefcase?

If you were to ask this question of one of the Stoutonia staff, you would undoubtedly get the quick reply. "Why that's Caroline Lanzer, the Stoutonia editor!" And a well qualified editor she is, for she has worked on the college paper ever since she entered Stout in 1946.

Caroline Lanzer

Miss Lanzer began her journalistic career with that thankless job of news reporter—chasing down news, interviewing students and faculty for stories, and meeting deadlines.

The following year, Caroline was advanced to desk editor, where she threw her efforts into holding newscasts, assigning stories and, in general, filling in whenever the editor was busy.

To conclude her journalistic career, Miss Lanzer accepted the appointment to editorship and during the past year has donated all her non-studying time to the editing of your school paper.

Besides guiding the staff through the many issues of the Stoutonia, Miss Lanzer is a member of the Phi Upsilon Omicron, the home economics club, and the Young Women's Christian association. She is a former member of the Stout library.

Caroline's hobbies include playing the piano and crocheting.

Miss Lanzer is a graduate of the Bloomer high school, where she was an honor student and president of the senior class.

While in high school, she was active in 4-H club work and held many positions in the club during her ten years of membership, including those of reporter, secretary and president, with major projects in clothing and foods.

Miss Lanzer plans to teach after her graduation this spring. She majored in home economics education during her years at The Stout Institute.

(At this time, the Stoutonia staff and advisers would like to extend to Caroline sincerest gratitude and very best wishes in all her future efforts. Ed. note)

DR. OETTING ATTENDS EDUCATION CONFAB

Stout Delegate Takes Part In Group Discussions On Professional Problems

"Current Issues in Higher Education" was the overall theme of the fifth annual conference on higher education, held in Chicago on April 17 through 19. Dr. Oetting, chairman of the Department of Education and key member of the department of Higher Education of the National Education Association on the campus, represented the Stout Institute at this conference, which was attended by about nine hundred men and women representing six hundred colleges and universities in all parts of the nation.

The conference was divided into thirty-five study groups, with from twenty to thirty members in each group.

Topics discussed in the groups varied from "Who Should Go to College?" to "Financial Support of Higher Education" and "Accreditation." Dr. Oetting was a member of a study group which was composed of members of various professions. The group, in five two-hour sessions in two days, discussed and came to some agreement on general topics. These agreements were brought out at the general meetings in which all participated. Typical of the topics discussed are these, which were given thorough study in the group with which Dr. Oetting worked:

1. What are the professions?
2. Evolution of professional education.
3. The professions in the United States census.
4. Supply of, and demand for, professional personnel.
5. Selection and admission of students.
6. Objectives of education for the professions.
7. Content of instruction.
8. Methods of instruction.
9. The role of general education.
10. Patterns of professional education.
11. Control and accreditation.

The topics treated by the whole conference group fall into four broad classes: the students, the curriculum, the faculty, and the organization and administration of higher education. Some highlights of the findings on these issues may be of interest to readers:

After much consideration of the question, "Who Should Go to College?" it was concluded that "post high school education should be made available to every qualified citizen," though the group recognized the need for careful selection of students in accordance with the purposes and facilities of the institutions which they are to attend.

The four common educational barriers—economic, geographical, racial, and religious—were considered and suggestion made for clearing these barriers.

Considerable time was spent on the subject of curriculum. Seven study groups spread their efforts over such areas as objectives, content and organization of general education, evaluation of the current programs in general education, and the teacher in general education.

Such problems as preparation of college teachers and preparing elementary and secondary school teachers received special emphasis in the work of the groups.

Professional education, it was pointed out, can well begin early in the college career and can sometime be presented concurrently with general education.

Education for civic responsibilities was recognized and student government was suggested as a "laboratory" for applying these responsibilities.

With respect to religion, it was suggested that "every teacher should treat with respect the religious convictions of his students, even if the teacher does not hold these convictions."

Under the heading of faculty, the groups discussed and agreed that the only way to meet this program was to carry on this evaluation in an intelligent and constructive manner, with the approval and support of the faculty members themselves. The conference also concluded that special teacher oaths are a threat to educational freedom.

The financing of higher education is a perennial problem. The study group advises institutions of higher education not to go into business ventures in competition with tax-paying and gift-giving enterprises.

Information regarding the program, significant addresses made by speakers, and complete preliminary reports on the conference may be seen in the library where the report is housed in the reserved section.

CLUB RIFLE CLUB ARRANGES FOR MATCH CIRCUIT

The ever-progressive Rifle club at Stout has taken the initial steps to form a Inter collegiate Match circuit. The proposed Northwestern circuit was sparked by the Rifle club's president, Curtiss Howard.

Thirteen colleges and Universities have been contacted by letters. Of the replies received, only one, a girl's team, have declined. The basic objective of the circuit is to place Match Shooting on a more competitive sports basis. The amateur plan calls for six matches a year. At the end of the season the winning team will be awarded a plaque, with individual medal rewards for team members. Each year's winner will keep possession of a traveling trophy until the next year's winner is determined. As it now stands, the traveling trophy will be permanently awarded at the end of five years.

Colleges and universities in six states now have proof of the leadership of The Stout Institute. Through the efforts of The Stout Institute Rifle club, competitive sports can be placed within reach of a greater groups of student body. While requiring as much skill as any collegiate sport, match shooting is not restricted to the male animal or to the large masses of muscle. Within reach of all the student body, match shooting affords opportunities to develop further and strengthen muscular coordination.

The rifle club extends an invitation to the student body to participate in next year's activity.

PHI U MEMBERS HONOR SENIORS AT BANQUET

For the first time at Stout Institute, Phi Upsilon Omicron honored their senior members at a banquet at the Hotel Marion at 6 p.m. on May 22.

Dean Kirk gave an informal talk to the girls on the topic "What it Means to be a Professional Home Economist." The farewell address was given by Dorothy Amendt, and the senior response by Ruth Ann Christensen.

The menu consisted of braised steak with mushroom sauce, french fried potatoes, buttered green beans, carrot gelatin salad, rolls, feather cake with lemon sauce, and coffee.

STOUT BADMINTON FINALS TO BE PLAYED

Intramural badminton is on its last round this year, with Fong and Wong playing Pickering and Miller for the championship.

Fong and Wong previously defeated Ahlin and Chachich. The winners then received a bye. Pickering and Miller previously defeatd Van Liew and Forsman and later John Christensen and John Leeg to obtain their position for championship.

Both teams are good and should provide a very interesting match.

KFS SPRING DINNER DANCE HELD MAY 19

One of the social highlights of the season was the annual KFS spring dinner dance, which was held on Friday, May 19 at the Menomonie Country club. Everyone who attended had a delightful time dancing to the music of the Royal Blackhawk orchestra. Sirloin steak and fish dinners were served in the beautifully - decorated Country club dining room.

MACHINE FOR TESTING MATERIALS PURCHASED

As a result of the efforts of two Stout students, Physics III (Strength of Materials) now has a new testing machine. The machine tests the strength of timber fastenings and glue joints, and tests the tensile strength of non-ferrous metals, wood, and steel. Compression tests can also be conducted on the machine.

Edgar Davidson and William Baer are the two graduation students responsible for the construction of the machine. The need for the machine arose in class. It is a machine to test what is learned in class or, in other words, to put theory into practice.

After receiving Dean Bowman's consent to construct the machine, Mr. Reneson, instructor for Physics III, and Edgar Davidson carried the responsibility of planning and designing the machine with the cooperation of Mr. Milnes and Mr. Betterly in the use of their shops. The only purchased parts of the machine are a hydraulic jack and a gauge measuring lbs. per square inch. Each part of the machine was individually designed before it was made, to increase the safety factor involved. Testing up to 10,000 pounds, the machine has a high safety factor of approximately 20 to 1.

Beginning construction in February, Davidson and Baer finished the machine in April. It is located in the trades building room 208 where it will be used for Physics III and General Mechanics for the first time next semester. Up to now a number of experiments have been conducted and have proved successful. Future plans include a series of tests to determine the amount of pressure needed for different types of glue and the different types of wood to produce the strongest glue joint possible. Without a machine for making tests of this sort, producing a strong glue joint is done through experience or by guesswork. Instructor Olsen has provided all of the various glue joints tested by the machine.

Many other applications of the machine can be made. Although it was designed mainly for wood, it can be used to test welded and riveted joints. The machine affords another step forward at Stout in the practice of students applying what they are learning.

HYP'S DINNER DANCE HELD AT COUNTRY CLUB

The Hyp dinner dance at the Country club on Saturday, May 20, proved a successful evening for all who attended. A menu of fruit shrub juice, salad, asparagus, parsley potatoes, sizzling steak, fresh rolls with butter, and cherry pie a la mode was enjoyed by everyone present.

The couples were charmed by the cozy atmosphere and danced to Jack Pingle's orchestra.

Mr. Daniel Green is shown explaining a drawing to two students at his desk placed in the corner of the Mechanical Drawing room located on the second floor of the Trades building.

DANIEL GREEN TELLS OF MANY LIFE EXPERIENCES

Drawing Teacher Tells Of His Background, Positions And Plans For The Future

The end of the college term this spring will mean more than just the conclusion of another school year for Daniel Green, drawing instructor at The Stout Institute. For him it will mean "goodbye" to his familiar desk and teaching equipment—a last good look at his classroom and drawing tables — and "hello" to retirement after 26 years of teaching at the same college.

For 26 years, Mr. Green has taught at Stout, and during that time, he has become known as a good teacher and popular neighbor to the college and community. He has been a friend to many and thus, in return, he has many firm friends.

Daniel Green was born in Fort Hale, South Dakota, in 1883. His father was an army officer, the sixth of eight generations of the family to serve in the armed forces. Because army families move around quite a bit, Daniel's early education was received mostly from tutors. His first formal schooling came only when he attended high school. Later he attended Whitewater Normal school where he received his elementary teaching degree in 1905.

Young Daniel then took up mechanical engineering at the University of Wisconsin, but left in his junior year to be married to the then Mabel Webber, whom he had met while at Whitewater.

After his marriage, Mr. Green taught at Des Moines, Iowa, West high school, where he stayed till 1906. From 1906 to 1917 he held positions as instructor of industrial education in Louisville, Kentucky; director of industrial education at Marquette, Michigan; superintendent of the complete industrial education system, both lower grades and high school, in Elgin, Illinois; and head of the Department of Industrial Education at Macomb Teachers college, Macomb, Illinois. During his stay in Illinois he commuted to Chicago where he attended classes and received his bachelor's degree.

When the first world war broke out, Mr. Green, then a married man with a family, was still head of the industrial arts department at Macomb. Feeling that he could better serve his country in industry than in teaching—and inasmuch as he was ineligible for the draft because of family responsibilities—he left his position and obtained a job as assistant superintendent at the Midland Chemical company in Chicago. Later he was advanced to head superintendent. He was with the chemical company for four years. After the war, he took a position as director of vocational educational education in Richmond, Indiana. He stayed in Richmond until the fall of 1924 when he took his present position in Menomonie at The Stout Institute, where he has taught ever since.

Once, however, during his tenure at Stout, he obtained a brief leave of absence during which he attended classes at the University of Minnesota and earned his Master of Arts degree.

Between school terms, Dan has held many positions, such as a carpenter and concrete worker, and has worked for such corporations as Allis Chalmers in Milwaukee so that he would be constantly aware of new techniques to be taught in his courses.

In Menomonie, Mr. Green has been a member of the Congregational church and has served as supervisor of the Congregational Sunday school. He is also a member of the Masonic Lodge. The Greens have what today is looked upon as a large family, four children: Dan Jr., a topographical draftsman in Vicksburg, Miss.; Mary, assistant to the head of household furnishings in Hudson's in Detroit; Jane, married to Colonel S. E. Smith, an army engineer stationed in Newport, Rhode Island; and Gracia, wife of Major J. H. Harper, army engineer teaching R.O.T.C. in Iowa.

Mr. Green is the author of "Drawing for Life and Industry," published by Bruce Publishing Company, and of many magazine articles. He has also served on a state committee to develop a course of study for drawing.

Though Mr. Green is leaving a job that has been rich in activity, his retirement days will be far from dull, for he has resurrected his boyhood hobby of collecting stamps and has worked it into a small mail-order stamp business.

He first became interested in stamps when he was 12 years old and visited the court house in which his grandfather was circuit court judge for southern counties in Michigan. His grandfather would let him go through the old files and remove the stamps from outdated correspondence. With this invaluable assistance, his stamp collection grew for several years—until his father's position in the army required that the family move to a new post. When they moved, Dan packed his collection in moth balls and forgot about it.

HONOR DAY AND SENIOR RECOGNITION DAY HELD

President Verne C. Fryklund presided over the impressive Honor Day program and Senior Recognition convocation which was held on May 24. The graduates entered the auditorium to the strains of the stately "March Pontificate" played by Mr. Charles Frailey.

The awards presented by the organizations were as follows:

Philomathean—Dorothy Messerschmidt

Sigma—Warren Phillips
Pallas Athene—Gerda Revenholt
FOB—Russ Pollock
Hyperian—Shirley Cox
Phi Upsilon Omicron—Beverly Henderson

Epsilon Pi Tau—Warren Thomas
Alpha Psi Omega—MAP chapter—Duane Lebague

Stout Typographical Society—George Norton

The Stoutonia—Dennis Foltman, Glen Sommers.

Warren Barberg presented certificates for membership in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" to Jean Waltzer, Ruth Ann Christensen, Rosella Trangsrud, Leona Sexe Goetch, Warren Phillips, John Rowe, John Poelminger, Warren Thomas, Gordon Wasinger, Milton Miller, Arnold Potthast, and Merlin Moore.

Warren Phillips presented a plaque to President Fryklund which is to be placed on the newly rebuilt stage front, which is a gift of the students of Stout.

A vocal solo, "Alleleju" from "Exultate, Jubilate" was rendered by Donna Jens and accompanied by Mr. Frailey.

The senior gift certificate of four sandstone benches for the new campus was presented to Warren Barberg as student representative by Herbert Watanabe, vice-president of the senior class.

Carol Hansen, a junior, gave a stirring tribute to the class of 1950.

In President Fryklund's address to the seniors, he congratulated the group and impressed upon them the need for more students in the field of Home Economics.

Earl Dehne, senior class president, passed the torch to Clarence Urankar, junior class president, and presented him with a challenge to uphold the tradition and high standards set forth by the class of 1950.

The program ended with the Alma Mater sung by the entire audience, and the Recessional.

SENIOR CLASS HOLDS PICNIC ON MAY 24

The last informal get-together of the Senior class was held on Wednesday afternoon, May 24. The occasion was the annual picnic, which is always a time of great fun and food consumption by members of the class. As is customary, class members meet at Wakanda park about three o'clock and participated in baseball games before the serving of the picnic lunch.

In charge of the games for the picnic were Fred Wentorf, Arnie Potthast, and Ralph Smith. Working in connection with Miss Kollian and the cafeteria staff, the lunch was arranged by Frances Gray, Doris Eckstein, Alice Oates and Les Springmire.

The picnic, as in previous years, was most successful, and will long remain in the minds of the Seniors who attended.

MR. GREEN —

He forgot about it until four or five years ago, that is. At that time Dan was enjoying his favorite sport, trout fishing. He had been wading for some time in a swift stream when he decided to head for shore but discovered he had waded into a wide spot in the stream. He had not realized how tired he was until he saw how far away the bank seemed and found that reaching it was "easier said than done." It was there and then that he decided to find a "little less strenuous" pastime. So when he keeping up his avocation but still not exceed his income. To accomplish this he started his stamp business, which today has become a thriving little mail-order stamp company.

"My business will give me plenty to do after I retire," says Mr. Green. "I've had a wonderful and happy time teaching and I have a deep personal gratification in having assisted in the education and training of many young men. Now, this new venture offers me still another opportunity for pleasure in a type of work which I like."

Mr. Green is pictured relaxing at his home with the favorite newspaper at hand and his loyal cocker spaniel seeking attention.

came across his stamp album one day he knew what the new hobby would be.

The majority of Mr. Green's collection is made up of United States stamps, although he does collect some foreign stamps. The collection contains several thousand stamps to date.

Aside from collecting stamps, Dan studies their characteristics, for he claims stamps are like people—each with individual characteristics. "Often it is only a minute detail—a watermark or an imperfection, or a slight change in scroll work—that differentiates a valuable, rare stamp from its common brother stamps," he says. "And it's a great way to fill idle moments."

Because of the expense involved in maintaining such a hobby, Mr. Green had to find some means of

O. J. DORR COMMENDED BY LABOR OFFICIAL

O. J. Dorr, who received his diploma from Stout in 1923, was commended by William F. Paterson, director of the bureau of apprenticeship, United States department of labor, Washington, D.C. in a speech given by Paterson at the annual apprentice graduation exercises for 61 students at the Fond du Lac Vocational and Adult school, of which Dorr is director.

Mr. Paterson said of Dorr: "Your director has done a great job for the community in directing this big business of apprentice training."

The above information is taken from the Fond du Lac Commonwealth Reporter, which also contained an editorial commending the school.

BRADLEY U. TO AWARD DEGREE TO STOUT GRAD

For the first time in its history, Bradley university, Peoria, Illinois, will award a doctor's degree at commencement exercises, June 12. William R. Sellon, Elk River, Minn., will receive the doctor of education degree, with a major in industrial education.

Several honorary degrees have been awarded by the university, but this will be the first earned degree.

Sellon entered Bradley in June, 1949, to complete work on his doctor's degree. Previously he had received a Bachelor of Science degree at The Stout Institute, 1943, and a Master of Arts degree at the University of Oklahoma.

His dissertation was entitled: "A Study of Methods of Evaluation and Their Application to Industrial Arts with Suggestions For the Content of a Course in Technique of Evaluation."

ALUMNI PLANS FOR '50 HOMECOMING STARTED

Tentative plans including a tea and dinner for alumni attending the Stout homecoming celebration, have been made by the Alumni association. Homecoming will be held October 14, with the Blue Devils meeting Platteville State Teachers college.

A tea for the alumni will be held after the parade, and dinner will be served before the game, according to present plans.

JOELENE CHRYST IS ALUMNI ASSISTANT

"I probably have found out more about Stout Alumni than has anyone else," remarked Joeline Chryst, Menomonie high school student who works in the Alumni office for Mr. Herbert Anderson, national alumni secretary-treasurer. Joeline is a junior in high school, and she has been working in the Alumni office for about a year. Plans are now that she will be back next year.

Her duties include correcting the address files, running the graphotype and address-o-graph, taking dictation, typing, and answering questions about the alumni.

She said that she finds her work very interesting, and she feels it is very good experience.

HELP!

It's housecleaning time—and a good time to protect your family by removing fire hazards in your home.

Every minute, day and night, some home is damaged by fire. The most frequent causes are (1) rubbish and trash . . . (2) defective chimneys . . . (3) combustible roofs . . . (4) defective heating . . . (5) matches and careless smoking . . . (6) gasoline and kerosene . . . (7) electrical defects.

When you houseclean — clean out the fire hazards too.

STOUT ALUMNI HOLD RECEPTION FOR SSS

The Milwaukee Alumni chapter headed by Joe Tonreck and his wife was responsible for a reception given for the Stout Symphonic Singers after their concert at the Kingsley Methodist church.

The lunch was prepared by the alumni in the basement of the church. Many of the members of the Milwaukee chapter worked to make the choirs' visit a success.

PANORAMIC REVIEW OF STOUT'S SPORTS YEAR

"An improved Stout team playing teams which have all improved since the end of the 1948 football season, and facing the same opponents of the 1948 season" was the outlook of Coach Tony Storti and the fighting Blue Devils as football workouts began last September, in preparation of the 1949 football season.

Workouts for the Blue Devils were held on a two-a-day routine, with 19 lettermen returning from the '48 squad. Coach Storti had the assistance of Wally Hammerberg and Arnie Pot-hast as the line coach and backfield coach respectively.

Mankato
Stout's season opener was against the Mankato State Teachers college, Mankato was rated as strong opponent. However, the air-minded eleven of Stout defeated Mankato in a hard fought game on the turf of Nelson field.

The brilliant and effective passing of quarterback Gale Woelfer with Vaughn Stai and Dom Cataldi on the receiving end, plus the educated toe of Bob Young, led the fighting Blue Devils to their first victory of the '49 season, when they defeated Man-kato State Teachers college 28 to 27.

Eau Claire
Stout opened their conference schedule against Eau Claire Teachers college in a hard fought game. The two evenly matched teams battled for the full sixty minutes, with Eau Claire winning the contest 7 to 6. The edu-cated toe of Bob Young missed the ex-tra point try for Stout as Eau Claire took the Blue Devils.

River Falls
On the Falcons' field the Blue Dev-ils led the River Falls eleven in all departments but the final tally, as the falcons defeated the Stout eleven 7 to 6 in the second conference en-counter for the Blue Devils.

Whitewater
The '49 Homecoming game was with the Quakers from Whitewater. The Quakers were the victims of defeat at the hands of the fighting Blue Dev-ils. Once again the educated toe of Bob Young proved to be the deciding fac-tor in the victory. Young was also re-sponsible for scoring all the points tallied by the Stout eleven. On a pass from Gail Woelfer, Stout's quar-ter-back, Bob raced across the goal line and in a few minutes later split the uprights to defeat the Quakers 7 to 6 for a successful homecoming encoun-ter.

La Crosse
A spirited, hard fighting Blue Dev-il eleven put a wet blanket on the homecoming festivities for the La Crosse Indians by defeating La Crosse 27 to 19 in what was the first foot-ball victory for the Blue Devils over La Crosse in the history of the inter-school football competition.

The brilliant field play of Jim Ooley and Fred Wentorf, with the passing of Gail Woelfer plus once again the toe of Bob Young, enabled Stout to defeat La Crosse 27 to 19.

Superior
In the annual "Dad's Day" en-counter, Superior was defeated by the fighting Blue Devils 35 to 19. The Stout eleven out-rushed, out-passed, and out-scored the Yellow Jackets to emerge victorious before an enthus-iastic crowd at Nelson field. The Su-perior game was also the last home game for the Blue Devils.

Oshkosh
For the second time in the '49 sea-son the fighting eleven from Stout spoiled homecoming activities for their opponents. The Blue Devils de-feated the Titians on their home field 14 to 0. This victory enabled Stout to take over second place in the con-ference standings.

Iowa
Once again, Bob Young proved to be the deciding factor in the Blue Dev-il victory over Upper Iowa U at Fay-ette, Iowa, to bring the curtain down on a successful football season as Stout defeated Upper Iowa U 14 to 13.

Co-captains of the team were nam-ed for the year. The two men to re-ceive the honor were Jim Ooley and Fred Wentorf.

The educated toe of Bob Young was enough to have his teammates choose him as the most valuable play-er of the year. Bob was directly re-sponsible for the winning of the games; Mankato, Whitewater and Up-per Iowa U.

The annual coaches conference de-clared the ineligibility of the River Falls and Platteville teams in the con-ference play and forced these two schools to forfeit their season ball games, thus enabling Stout to share the championship with Stevens Point and Milwaukee.

BASKETBALL SEASON A suc-CESS

Coach Ray Johnson started the bas-ket ball season with five returning lettermen, who included Vaughn Stai, Bill Amthor, John Debrauske, Russ Pollock, and Ed Nylund.

The Stout five began the season by dropping two close ball games to St. Mary's and St. Olaf. Bouncing right back they defeated Michigan School of Technology, and St. Mary's in the sec-ond meeting of the two teams.

La Crosse was the first conferece win for the Blue Devil five. After being defeated by Superior, River Falls, Milwaukee, Eau Claire, La Crosse, Oshkosh, and Platteville scored vic-tories over the Blue Devils.

The Stout five in turn beat St. Cloud, Whitewater, Winona, and Eau Claire to record a successful season of basketball.

Vaughn Stai, lanky Stout center, was chosen as captain and also as the most valuable player by his team-mates.

Baseball
In what appeared to be a big year for Stout in baseball, Paul Tilleson, baseball coach, began the season with a veteran ball club.

In the season opener at Mankato, Stout split a doubleheader, winning the opener 7 to 4 and dropping the second game 5 to 4. In two encounters with La Crosse, Stout was defeated 5 to 4 and 17 to 4.

Stout met the Blue Golds from Eau Claire in a doubleheader at Wankan-da, walking away with a double win 3 to 0 and 10 to 5.

Golf
The Stout golf squad, under the direction of Roger Windberg, winds up the spring season tomorrow after-noon against St. Cloud at the Country club.

Throughout the season the squau has participated in ten matches other

STOUT GOLFERS PLACE SECOND AT OSHKOSH

Stout golfers, led by Lyle Johan-son with a 145 as medalist for the Stout team, placed second at the State Teachers conference golf meet last week-end at Oshkosh. Stout posted a team score of 601, topped only by the La Crosse team with 597.

Takasaki, Stout freshman golfer, placed second on the team score, fol-lowed by E. Landgraf.

Ted Levenhagen, La Crosse Teach-er's golfer, shot a sizzling 133-seven under par to take medalist honors for the meet. Levenhagen also led the La Crosse team, to bring in a team total of 597. Levenhagen also tied the course record set by Roger Windberg in the 1948 teacher conference meet. At the present time Roger is coaching the golf team for Stout.

The total scores for the Stout team are as follows:

Johanson	34	36	36	39	145
Takasaki	35	41	39	40	150
Landgraf	36	44	34	37	151
Beaver	35	41	39	40	155
Friebel	39	41	44	42	166

schools in the conference. Of the ten matches, Stout has won six, defeating Mankato 14-4; Winona 11-1; River Falls 13-2; Eau Claire 9-6 and 14-1 and losin matches to La Crosse 9½ to 8½ and 17 to 1.

The golf team also placed second in the State meet at Oshkosh and taking send in the Bi State conference meet at Winona. At the State meet the squad was nosed out by La Crosse by four points. Lyle Johanson placed sec-ond in the individual scores with a State meet total of 145. Other Stout men that placed in the State meet are: Takasaki in sixth and 7. Landgraf in seventh place.

Tennis
The Stout net men made a good showing in the conference this year taking part in nine matches. The net-men opened the season at Mankato losing it 1-6. Other teams that scored victories over Stout were La Crosse 34, and 2-5; Eau Claire 2-5, and 1-5. The Stout tennis players defeat-River Falls 5-2. St. Cloud plays here tomorrow to wind up the '50 season. Throughout the season everyone on the squal scored a victory over the opponent. Members of the squad in-clude Frank Tank, Warren Fish, Rog-er Landgraf, Eugene Sawyer, Gordon Nooyen, and Ellis Bibb.

STOUT TAKES DOUBLE FROM EAU CLAIRE

The Stout nine defeated Eau Claire State Teachers college in a conference double header on Tuesday, May 23, at Wakanda park.

The Bluedevils scored their runs in the first inning on a hit by Fleming, followed by a double by Bob Young. Two runs were scored in the third inning on three successive hits by Cat-taldi, Markley, and Janikowski.

Proctor did the pitching for the Eau Claire team, giving up seven hits and one walk.

In the second game of the double header, Stout defeated Eau Claire again 10 to 5 to sweep the series from the Blue Golds. Janikowski did the pitching for the Bluedevils, giving up five runs, allowing six hits, walking three, and recording one strike out.

Stout scored 10 runs off of the of-ferings of Knutson and Gerber on 12 hits and four walk. Woelfer hit a home run in the second inning to

K-NINES, SNAFOOS TO CLASH IN PLAYOFF

The National league winner and the American league winner have yet to clash for the championship in intra-mural softball.

The winning team in the National is the K-Nines, who will play the winning team in the American league, the Snafoos. Both teams emerged from their league with five wins and no losses.

The box score results are as follows:

National League	won	lost

LAST CHANCE

The cowhand—ranchward bound—was blue
Until his weary glance
Spied the weathered, creaking sign
That simply read, "LAST CHANCE."
Don't blame him if he stopped again
To spread the swinging door;
To each of us there come—sometime—
a LAST CHANCE just before
Events occur which, once gone by,
Will happen nevermore.
Bob Mackin said, "Stoutonia will fold after this week."
And thus he gave us, happily, the one LAST CHANCE we seek
To wish to each Stoutonian
Who leaves its hallowed halls,
The courage, strength and fortitude
To meet what e'er befalls
Their paths of life, as out they go
To face lifes busy brawls
But most of you who read these lines,
Will once again return
To ramble through Stout's busy halls
And gossip, play and learn.
And when-you do, come, visit us.
It's happy we will be
To let you poke around the shop
To see what you can see.
So until the—enjoy yourself—
Relax—you'll soon be free.
